CYCLONE COACHING STAFF

Kneeling in front: Head Coach Earle Bruce.

Head Coach Earle Bruce is in his third year at Iowa State and after 20 years of coaching on the high school and collegiate levels is recognized as one of the finest coaches in the business.

Bruce, who won his 100th career victory last year, was three times named the Ohio prep "Coach of the Year" before becoming an assistant at Ohio State. He became head coach at the University of Tampa in 1972 and led the Spartans to a 10-2 record and bowl victory.

Keith Kephart has been on the ISU staff since 1968 and for the past two years has been the junior varsity head coach. The 1966 graduate of Dubuque has also played a major role in the Cyclones' recruiting efforts since his arrival.

Tom Lichtenberg coaches the Cyclone quarterbacks and wide receivers. He is in his second year on the staff after coaching at Morehead (Ky.) State and spending 13 years in the Ohio high school ranks. He is a 1962 graduate of Louisville.

Randy Hart directs the ISU defensive tackles and middle guards, his second year with those duties after coaching the freshman team for one season. He had previously coached at Tampa for one year. He is a 1970 graduate of Ohio State, where he played in the Rose Bowl.

Tom Harper begins his second year as Iowa State's defensive coordinator and linebacker coach. A former head coach at Wake Forest, he has also served assistantships at Eastern Kentucky, Oklahoma State and Wake Forest. He is a 1955 graduate of Kentucky.

Glen Mason is the newest member of Bruce's staff and coaches the offensive tackles and tight ends. Mason came to Iowa State from Ball State and had also coached at Allegheny College after graduating from Ohio State in 1971.

John Wiley heads the Cyclone recruiting effort and also assists in coaching the tight ends, a position he played at the University of Pittsburgh. He coached at Iowa following his 1969 graduation from Pitt and came to ISU in 1974.

Tom Backhus is in charge of the offensive guards and centers at ISU after coming from the University of Tampa with Bruce in 1973. He is a 1970 graduate of Ohio State, teaming there with assistants Randy Hart and Glen Mason.

Charlie Lyle coaches the Cyclone secondary, his fourth year on Bruce's staff and third year at Iowa State. A 1962 graduate of Tampa, he had coached in the Florida prep ranks before going to Tampa.

Tom Vaughn a former All-America at Iowa State in 1964, returned to the campus in the spring of 1975 to direct the ISU running backs. Vaughn spent seven years with the Detroit Lions in the NFL and one year coaching in the World Football League before joining Bruce's staff. He is considered to be the best all-around back in school history.

Bob Tucker coaches the defensive ends at Iowa State. He came to Iowa State in 1973 after four years as an assistant at Wichita State. He is a 1965 graduate of Wooster College and coaches Ohio prep ball before moving to Wichita.

Season Finale for Cyclones

Iowa State will get one more try at that elusive victory No. 5 today as the Cyclones meet Oklahoma State.

The two clubs were at opposite ends of the spectrum last week as ISU was beaten by No. 2 ranked Nebraska, 52-0, and the 6-4 Cowboys were pasting Kansas State by a 56-3 score.

Nineteen Cyclone seniors will be playing their final game today, headed by co-captains Sy Bassett, Ray King, Jeff Jones and Bob Bos.

The other seniors are Rick Chiaculas, John Fritsch, Pierre Gelinas, Mike Gnade, Greg Grove, Doug Lenth, Les Leonard, Tom Mason, Ed Morton, Joe Palmisano, Greg Pittman, Clive Sands, Forry Smith, Jim Wingender and Randy Young.

It shapes up to be another test against a physically powerful team. The Cowboys' record may well be even better than 6-4 had not injuries to their top quarterbacks proved costly in mid-season. But Charlie Weatherbie, hurt early in the season, bounced back last week against Kansas State and regained his starting job from Scott Burk, who played well as the starter after starting the year on the third team.

The Oklahoma State offense has a host of top players at the "talent" positions. Running backs Terry Miller and Robert Turner are one of the league's premier combinations and split end Gerald Bain is a crafty receiver.

Defensively, OSU's defensive tackles are intimidating -- 256 pound Phillip Dokes and 251 pound James White. And linebacker Brent Robinson could be the best in the Big Eight at his job.

The Cyclones will once again play without the services of quarterback Buddy Hardeman, whose thumb injury last week capped a tough-luck injury season for the swift sophomore. Tom Mason will get the starting call for the fourth time this year.

Jim Wingender will be completing a supurb senior campaign needing just 78 yards rushing to hit the 1,000 career mark -- where only George Amundson and Mike Strachan have been before. He will be rejoined by fullback Mike Williams, the team's No. 2 rusher who was out last week with a leg injury.

It's been an unusual week of practice for the Cyclones, too, as it has been final examination week at Iowa State, which is on the quarter system. Instead of the normal 3:30 practice time, ISU has worked out at noon or other odd times in order to get as many squad members as possible on the field at the same time.

Go Cyclones!

A History of Cyclone Football Last of a Series

NEW STADIUM USHERS IN NEW ERA

Johnny Majors resigned after the 1972 season and Iowa State hired Earle Bruce as its head coach. Bruce had just finished leading Tampa to a 10-2 record and a bowl championship.

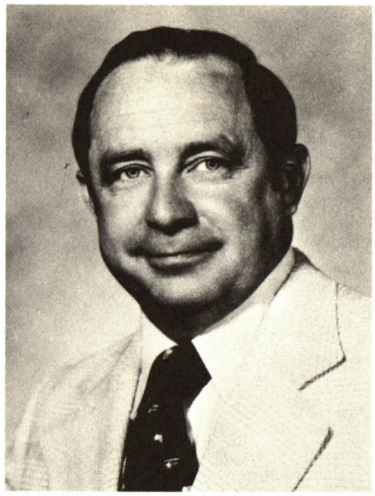
Bruce's first season was 1973 and after a rousing 48-0 romp past Idaho in the opener, ISU was involved in one of the oddest games of the season at Arkansas. In the fourth quarter of the hotly contested battle, Arkansas scored the decisive touchdown with a 12-man offensive play, which featured a full Wishbone backfield and two wide receivers -- one of whom was obviously wide open for a scoring pass. The final 21-19 score was a bitter disappoint for the Cyclones.

The Big Eight season didn't have many good breaks in store, either, with several two point losses and the Cyclones entered the final two games still looking for their first league victory.

Missouri's Tigers came into town with a shiny 7-2 record and an invitation to play Auburn in the Sun Bowl. Iowa State responded with a 17-7 win in what Bruce later called his greatest coaching victory.

The next week the Cyclones were once again involved in a controversial play that attracted national attention. In the process of whipping rugged Oklahoma State, 28-12, ISU freshman quarterback Buddy Hardeman found running room down the west sidelines, in front of the OSU bench, and seemed to be heading for another Cyclone score. As he was whizzing by the frustrated opponents, S.L. (Deacon) Stephens stepped from the sidelines and decked Hardeman with a neck-high tackle. The stunned stadium broke into confusion and after brief deliberation, officials ruled Hardeman's run would be a 74 yard touchdown. The play was shown coast-to-coast and made both players well known and the target for numerous fan letters.

The 1974 season was highlighted by victories over Brigham Young, featuring the nation's top passer, and New Mexico, and Big Eight wins over Kansas State and Kansas. Against the Jayhawks, a 22-6 romp, ISU safety Barry Hill was named the national defensive player of the week with four pass interceptions and breaking a Big Eight career record held by Texas Coach Darrell Royal in the process.



Earle Bruce

Cyclone Head Coach

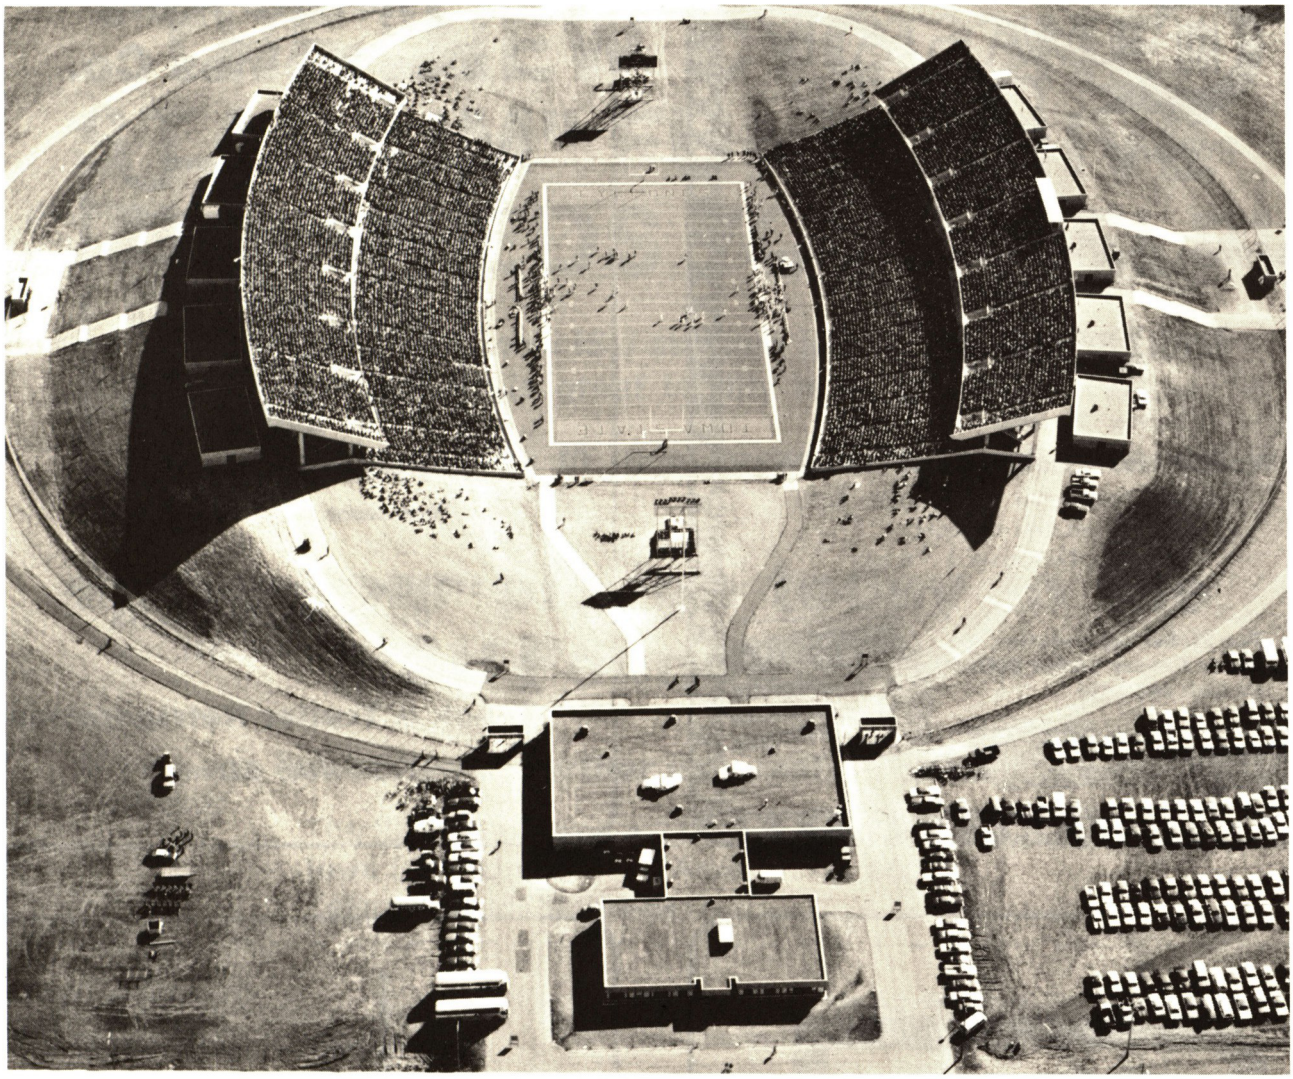
And while the Cyclones took no pleasure in losing 29-10 to national champion Oklahoma, the game would have to be regarded as one of the team's best efforts.

The powerful Sooners came into Clyde Williams Field leading the nation in nearly every offensive category and rated highly in many defensive categories as well. Ranking as one of the best offensive teams in collegiate history, they had barely been challenged and had seldom played their first team more than a half.

Not only the ISU challenge the Sooners into playing their first team the entire game, the Cyclones actually outgained Joe Washington and company for the entire game. The defensive charge of freshman Mike Stensrud and seniors Rick Howe and Andre Roundtree forced OU into a rare exhibition of passing, which it had seldom ever had to use.

Iowa State bid farewell to Clyde Williams Field the next week in another bruising game with Nebraska, marking the end of a 60-year playing era in the stadium.

With the completion of the school's beautiful, new stadium, the 1975 season took on historic note.



A capacity crowd watches Cyclone Homecoming

Gone were the days of crumbling cement and splintery bleachers. A new era of Cyclone football was on tap. The new stadium had 42,500 sideline seats with design capabilities to expand in future years. Included in the stadium were a large number of comfortable seat-back chairs, a first-class pressbox and a quality club section.

The complex also featured a new facility building, complete with dressing rooms, training and equipment rooms, conference rooms, offices and a plush Letterman's Lounge.

The opening game was with the Air Force Academy and was played before a school record home crowd of 42,000. Cyclone running back Mike Williams broke into the history books with a one yard run late in the first quarter to record the first points in the stadium and help propell the team to a 17-12 victory.

Air Force helped add to the historic occasion with an amazing 62 yard field goal by Dave Lawson -- the first field goal in the complex and an NCAA record, no less!

Bruce's Cyclones followed with three more wins over Florida State, Utah and Kansas State for a winning streak unequalled in 15 years. The mighty Big Eight schedule took its toll on ISU and key injuries to such defensive stalwarts as Mike and Maynard Stensrud and offensive aces Luther Blue and Buddy Hardeman hindered the victory effort.

Today's game concludes the first season in the new complex and with growing crowds and continued competition in the nation's best football conference, more thrills are sure to come in future years.

Football just wouldn't be football without the Pigskin

Because of the great strength and durability of Pigskin, it was the material used to make the original football, and today it still is the standard ball used in thousands of collegiate and pro games every fall.

BUT MORE IMPORTANTLY, THE GREAT NUTRITION, VARIETY AND TASTE OF PORK HAS MADE IT A FAVORITE MEAT ON TRAINING TABLES THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY!

That's right...athletic trainers and nutritionists know that today's high-quality lean pork provides many essential elements and basic proteins that are required for strong healthy bodies...without adding lots of fat forming calories. And football players obviously need to be strong, healthy, and durable!

FOOTBALL PLAYERS TRAIN ON PORK, IT'S GREAT FOR SPECTATORS TOO!

.....without pork, where would this great sport be?

Oklahoma State University

Entering the 85th year since its first class of 45 students met in Stillwater's Congregational Church 16 years before Oklahoma became a state, Oklahoma State University this fall goes into its 10th year of the administration of President Robert B. Kamm.

Resident enrollment was 19,281 last year. Students may enroll in OSU's College of Agriculture, Art and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Engineering, Home Economics, Veterinary Medicine and the Graduate College.

Salient facts about the great land-grant university of Stillwater include:

There are 914 full-time-equivalent teaching faculty, and the non-academic staff includes 404 administrative and professional employees. Teacher-to-student ratio at OSU is 1 to 19, In graduate study, the university grants the Ph.D. and Ed.D. degrees in 43 fields, master's in 67 and bachelors degrees are offered in 86 major fields. There are some 5,000 graduates annually.

O-State's central campus now includes 415 acres with 175 permanent buildings, the evaluation now nearing $200 million. Adjoining experimental farms cover 2,352 acres and the university's Lake Carl Blackwell area to the west covers 19,364 acres, including the 3,380-acre lake. OSU has 16 agricultural experiment stations around the state.

Campus housing in the 13 major dormitories has a capacity of 6,360 single students in addition to 820 apartments in married student housing. Additional housing is provided just off campus by 24 fraternities and 12 sororities.

Following its earliest athletic endeavors, OSU became a charter member of the Southwest Conference in 1914, resigned to join the Missouri Valley Conference in 1925, then became affiliated with the Big Eight Conference in May, 1957. The Big Eight is composed of only state universities, including: Oklahoma State, Iowa State, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, Kansas State, Colorado and Oklahoma. Since opening its doors in 1891, OSU has won more NCAA championships than any school in the United States with the exception of Southern Cal.

Iowa State University Department of Intercollegiate Athletics Recognizes With Appreciation the following Iowa Automobile Dealers

Twenty-two Iowa automobile dealers are playing a big part in promoting the Iowa State sports program this year. These fans—and they are rabid backers of all forms of athletic activity—provide the use of automobiles to the department throughout the year. Their program permits Iowa State to make more efficient use of its funds. The department of intercollegiate athletics is deeply grateful to these sports-minded boosters.

IOWA ROAD BUILDERS'

CYCLONE SCOUTING REPORT

Recent Oklahoma State teams have been described as punishing, rugged and physical and it's safe to say the same things about the 1975 Cowboys.

The Pokes were predicted to finish high in Big Eight standings and although they are 6-4 with all the losses coming in league play, there is no question about the talent.

The key today could be the return of quarterback Charlie Weatherbie to the lineup. He was the starter early when OSU won its first four games but was injured, as was his backup. That left Scott Burk to call signals and although he did a good job, Weatherbie's play in last week's 56-3 win over Kansas State shows what was missing in midseason.

Coach Jim Stanley also has a number of quality running backs, headed by Terry Miller and Robert Turner. They will run primarily out of the Wishbone but also use the slot—I formation to throw more effectively. Split end Gerald Bain is the top receiver.

Defensively, the unit is veteran with tackles James White and Phillip Dokes the line leaders. They rank with Colorado and Missouri for sheer size.

Linebacker Brent Robinson is regarded by many as one of the top men in the league at his job.

Last year's game was a 14-12 win for the Pokes but two years ago it was the Cyclones, 28-12, in a game that included everything -- including an off-the-bench tackle by S. L. Stephens of OSU against Iowa State's Buddy Hardeman.

6,500 men and women are going to find college a little easier next year.

It takes more than desire and intelligence to make it through college today. It also takes money.

An Army ROTC scholarship pays for all books, lab fees, and tuition...plus $100 a month. Depending on the college and major selected, a scholarship can easily be worth $10,000 or more . And next year over 2,000 new one, two, three, and four-year scholarships will be awarded.

Army ROTC offers other programs, too. If you have a son or daughter ready for college and you're not, look into Army ROTC. It pays in more ways than one.

For more information contact Army ROTC at 294-1852 or Room 132 of the ISU Armory.

Iowa State Center Offers Variety In Entertainment

There's something for everybody in the coming weeks at the Iowa State Center in a schedule of events that contains a variety of entertainment.

Tonight in the Hilton Coliseum high school musicians will be in the spotlight. More than 1,100 students selected in auditions conducted around the state will participate in the All-State High School Music Festival. In a concert beginning at 7:30, music will be furnished by a chorus, band, orchestra and chamber orchestra. Tickets will be on sale at the Coliseum for $2.50.

Thursday, Fred Waring and His Young Pennsylvanians will return to Stephens Auditorium for the fourth time in six years as the Thanksgiving Day attraction. Now in his 60th year in show business, Waring has a large following here that finds his concerts always new. This year's production features music from motion pictures with the fast pacing, precision choreography, original arrangements and beautiful voices characteristic of the Waring troupe. Tickets are $5, $4 and $3, and curtain time is 8 p.m. The Waring show is a happy way to top off the November 22 holiday.

"The Old Woodchopper and The Thundering Herd" will heat up Stephens Auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday, December 4, for the Second Annual Jazz Jamboree. That's Woody Herman and His Orchestra, of course. The Jazz Jamboree will include three clinic sessions for young musicians in the afternoon and a performance by the Cedar Rapids Washington High School Jazz Band. Sharing in the evening concert will be the ISU Jazz Ensemble. In the big-band era, Herman's band dubbed "The Thundering Herd" because its jazz style was so overpowering. Their record of "Woodchopper's Ball" is still popular and has sold more than 5-million copies. Tickets for the concert are $4.50, $3.50 and $2.50. There is a $1 discount for students.

The 1975-76 Artist Concert Series opens in Stephens Auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday, December 5, with Dimitri, the Swiss mime who is making his first tour of the United States. Though pantomime festivals, circuses and television, Dimitri has become one of Europe's best-loved artists. His shows have been called "pure magic," combining the talents of the virtuoso musician, circus clown and classic mime. Tickets are $4, $3.50 and $3, and students receive a $1.50 discount.

And you might want to mark December 14 on your calendar. That's the day the University Chorus Oratorio Choir and ISU Symphony Orchestra will present the annual Christmas Festival of Music at 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. in Stephens Auditorium. How time flies!
