OFFICIAL CALL.

Nashville, Tenn., July 1, 1914. To the Members of the National Negro Press Association: All members of the National Negro Press association are hereby respectfully requested to meet in annual convention in the city of Muskogee, state of Oklahoma, from Monday, August 17th, to Tuesday, August 18th, inclusive, 1914, for the purpose of taking into consideration matters of importance affecting the welfare of the Negro newspapers, magazines and second class publications throughout the United States.

Every member of the association is earnestly requested to do his best in arranging to be present. This has been a great year for the craft. Many things that will redound to the betterment of Negro journalism have been accomplished. Much more is now under way. While some of it is in embryo, it will come to a happy culmination at the next annual session. If the members will make themselves a committee of one, serving on that committee to see that they are present and that they lend their support and co-operation throughout the sessions.

Please write the corresponding secretary at Nashville, Tennessee, whether you can or cannot attend. Respectfully yours, John H. Murphy, President. Henry A. Boyd, Cor. Secretary, 447 4th Ave. N., Nashville, Tenn.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA.

Rev. J. H. Ferrabee, pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church, left Saturday morning for Sioux City to administer the Lord's supper.

Mrs. Glover, evangelist, of Omaha, delivered a most excellent sermon at Bethel A. M. E. church both morning and evening during the absence of our pastor.

There will be an old fashioned barbecue and picnic Monday, July 20th, at the old fair grounds, under the auspices of the stewards of Bethel A. M. E. church. Program at night.

Thursday evening, July 16th, will be the Trip Around the World, stopping at Japan, Italy, France, China and other places of importance. At the Tabernacle Baptist church, Fourteenth and Avenue A.

Mrs. F. Walker will entertain the women of the McClennen club of South Omaha on Tuesday, July 14, at her home on Eighth avenue.

The Misses Richardson, Cave, Turner and the Messrs. Herndon, Parks, and Cave spent a very pleasant 4th of July at Avoca, Iowa, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Collins.

The picnic given the 4th by the Tabernacle Baptist church was a success.

Mrs. Alice Davis, president of Bethel A. M. E. choir, is sick at this writing at her home on Seventh avenue.

Mrs. Chas. Davis went to Clarinda on Sunday to spend the day with her husband, Mr. Chas. Davis, who is G. C. W. of A. F. and A. M. She was met by Mrs. R. T. Lane, W. M. of O. E. S.

A rare and curious mezzotint portrait of George Washington in the library of the late Lafayette S. Richardson of Lowell, Mass., was auctioned off last year in Boston. It is entitled "George Washington, late president of the United States of America, etc." and was published March 14, 1801, by J. Hinton Lindon. It is a small folio and is colored by hand. It looks as much like George III. as it does the Father of His Country. Baker, who wrote the "Engraved Portraits of Washington," says that only one impression of this mezzotint has come under the notice of the writer. It was neither the Clarkson nor the Carson sale of Washington portraits.

Wheat on Yellow Flour. Charles Christodoro, an expert on flour and grains, sounds the keynote of the new situation brought about by the bleached flour decision when he says in a communication to the editor commenting on the bleached flour decision: "The housewife will now in a flash on yellow tinted or creamy flour and will learn to realize that a natural flour very white can in no manner compare with the creamy or yellow flour in so far as gluten and muscle building values are concerned."

"As from 85 to 90 per cent. of the large flour mills of the country were using this bleaching process, the decision is far-reaching."—National Foot Magazine

Streplococcus. A good remedy for streptococcus is to wet a towel and apply to the back of the neck, pressing it hard up against the base of the brain and fastening over this cloth to prevent too rapid evaporation. The effect will be prompt and pleasant, cooling the brain and inducing a sweet and peaceful slumber. Warm water is better than cold for the purpose. This remedy will prove useful to people suffering from overwork, excitement or nervousness.

HEALTH HINTS.

A. J. Booker, M. D. And no power shall say me nay. The young men and women who are so fortunate as to finish school, or to have the finish in sight would do well to get this idea fixed in their minds: "And no power shall say me nay." Whatever your purpose, whatever your ideals, you can achieve them. But it must be your ideal; your idea, for all must come from within.

No one can live your life for you, no one can make a success for you. It is up to you to decide what you want to be. It is as well now as any other time to get some decision in your make-up. If you have your mind made up along a certain line of endeavor it is not necessary to ask Tom, Dick or Harry what he thinks about it. No man can think another man's thoughts, no one can do your work for you—and after all it is said it is the work you do preparing yourself that counts. There is no royal road to accomplishment. The rich, the poor, the black, the white must all put in the time at hard work to get the reward of power. One man is superior to another along certain lines because he has given more time to the subject.

Some people get the idea that a diploma is the thing. You can buy for a hundred dollars; but diplomas are not knowledge; if they are rightfully earned they represent evidence of supposed work, but many underserving get them. There is only one thing that counts more than anything else, after ability is ruled out, and that is love of the work selected. If you love the thing you want to do no power can hold you back, there will be no such word nor feeling as hardship. When a man is marching toward the goal of success he sees roses all along the way. It is only when you do not love your work that it is hard.

Money seems to attract some people to different callings. As a rule the man that goes into a work merely for the money is not happy and does not make a grand success in the true sense of the word. There are things in life bigger than money, but it takes a big soul to see beyond the dollar. Love of work makes a man go on because he cannot stop doing the thing he loves. Pick out something you love and dream it and think it and keep it close to your heart and you will be if you pay the price of time and effort—if you love it this will be a joy.

The only difference in occupation or work is the excellence with which the work is done. One man is better than another only in proportion as he sticks to his ideals. The matter of spending time is what puts one man ahead of another; and there is no man who would not rather be the undisputed owner of five acres, or the best winter in the country, or the finest window washer in the world that to be a mediocre doctor, or a poor preacher if he could get the idea out of his head that the one was a little better than another. Men are superior only in the ability to excel in their work; clothes and wind power do not make men; if in your heart you desire to be a man no power can say you nay.

A Chance for a bargain. An Irishman who had begun to praise the photography went into a shop to purchase a small bottle in which to mix some of his solutions. Seeing one he wanted, he asked the chemist how much it would be. "Well," said the chemist, "it will be twice as it is but if you want anything in it, I won't charge you for the bottle." "Then," said Pat, "put a cork in it."
