WATERLOO, IOWA.

(Special to the Bystander.) Evangelist D. Turner Cary has been conducting meetings at the A. M. E. Bess chapel for the past three weeks and with her high ideals of Christian character borrowed from the courts of heaven, she has had a wonderful success. She spoke Sunday afternoon to a large audience of men, which gave her the best of attention, and with her master mind and unfolding the wonderful truths of the Bible several young men were made to realize their undone condition and claimed Christ as a Saviour. Her meetings will close tonight. She has the prayers and best wishes of the Waterloo people.

Best Monument.

The best monument that a child can raise to his mother's memory is that of a clean, upright life as she would have rejoiced to see her son live. Sparrows Eaten in England. Sparrows are often eaten by English country persons. They are captured easily in fine mesh nets stretched over the ground and baited with grain, or in nets hung at night around their roosting places in ricks, hedges and ivy-clad walls. Also, the ground can be baited and a crowd of feeding sparrows laid low with a gun, using fine shot for the purpose.

HOW TO REDUCE.

High Cost of Living During These War Times—What Every Woman Can Do.

Look over your old clothes. You can never appreciate how much you can brighten and freshen up your wardrobe until you use Dy-O-La-Dye. Take some of your discarded blouses and dresses, dye them with some of the sixteen different colors of Dy-O-La, change the trimmings a bit and you will be astonished at the result. Dy-O-La is the modern dye made by skilled chemists who have removed all the difficulty from home dyeing in order that you may get perfect results. Old style dyes require a separate dye for each kind of goods. That makes trouble (as you probably know), for if you get a package for the wrong kind of material the goods are spoiled. You can't make such a mistake with Dy-O-La Dye. Take some garment that you have grown tired of, or that you desire to color the fashionable shade of the moment, look over Dy-O-La Dye color chart at your nearest druggist or storekeeper select the one that pleases, and follow the printed directions. They will look as if they had just come from the dressmaker. And remember—the colors will be just as fast and durable as they are beautiful. They won't rub off or bleach out. Buy it of your nearest druggist or storekeeper, but if they have not the color you want we will send it to you on receipt of ten cents and at the same time include direction book and color chart. Dy-O-La Dye is made in Black, Blue, Navy Blue, Brown, Seal Brown, Light Green, Dark Green, Scarlet, Yellow, Orange, Cardinal Red, Pink, Purple, Dark Wine, Old Gold, Turkey Red, and from these sixteen colors a great variety of other shades and colors can be made. Dy-O-La Dye Company, 700 Sixth Ave., Des Moines, Iowa.

Teaching Child to Read.

A child is best taught to read in the natural method, by means of objects. His words or short sentences containing the same words repeated in different connections, are written on the blackboard, and he quickly learns to recognize these and to read at sight. When he is made to copy the blackboard words at each lesson, he learns to read and write both at the same time. Apes From Ceylon. Apes mentioned in the Bible in 1 Kings 10:22, and II Chronicles 10:21, were brought to Palestine from Ceylon, the same country which supplied ivory and peacocks. Making Play of Work. Making play of work is often a good idea when getting children to help. Thus, when seeking the aid of a youngster to pick up the pins from the floor, let him or her use a horse-shoe magnet for the purpose. You can get such a magnet for ten cents.

Developing Self-Control.

Self-control may be developed in precisely the same manner as we tone up a weak muscle—by little exercises day by day. Let us each day do, as more exercises of discipline in moral gymnastics, a few acts that are disagreeable to us, the doing of which will help us in instant action in our hour of need.—W. G. Jordan.

Many Candles Made.

Though candles are not so generally used as they were before the days of mineral illuminating oils, gas and electricity, they still constitute an important article of manufacture. The candle is an ancient form of lighting. The word comes from the Latin word, "candere," which means to "glow."

Where We Are.

A clergyman, in musing on our common morality, gave vent to his feelings in this remarkable apothegm: "We're here today and away tomorrow."—Christian Register.

Enforced Labor.

"Providence has so ordered it that a state of rest and inaction, however it may flatter our indolence, should be productive of many inconveniences; that it should generate such disorders as may force us to have recourse to some labor as a thing absolutely requisite to make us pass our lives with tolerable satisfaction."—Edmund Burke.

HOW TO KEEP WELL.

J. Alvin Jefferson, M. D. In considering the essentials of good health, we cannot afford to overlook the important part played by the teeth. Without good teeth, you cannot have perfect mastication; without perfect digestion, you cannot have perfect assimilation and without perfect assimilation, you cannot have perfect health.

There are two sets of teeth, the milk and permanent sets.

A tooth is divided into three parts, first the crown, second the neck and third the root. The crown, which is the biting part, is covered with enamel, the hardest substance in the body. The milk teeth are twenty in number while the permanent teeth number thirty-two. The permanent teeth were constructed to last through life, but the life of this set depends on the care they get, and that care refers to the condition in which the mouth is kept. Good teeth and poorly kept mouths are diametrically opposed to each other.

More than fifty kinds of germs inhabit the normal mouth, but the foul mouth may contain a million. In the corners and crevices of the teeth food particles lodge and within twenty-four hours decomposition sets in, changing the natural alkaline reaction of the mouth into an acid one. This acid erodes the enamel of the crown causing the dentine to become exposed. After the enamel has been removed infection through the teeth becomes easy. Enamel itself is very resistant to bacteria. The infection travels down the side of the tooth to the lymph spaces in the sockets and from there to the lymph glands just below the lower jaw. Various kinds of acute infections, such as tuberculosis, smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria, rheumatism, and a host of others may travel this route. The best way to prevent such infections is to keep the mouth and teeth clean. Clean teeth are evidence of refinement.

The teeth should be inspected twice a year by a dentist in order that cavities may be detected and corrected. Many diseases of the stomach are made possible because the germs which are deposited in the cavities and crevices of the teeth are swept into the stomach by food and water.

The part you play in spreading disease depends upon the condition in which you keep your mouth. Keep your mouth clean, for you owe it to yourself and the community in which you live. The fact that your mouth is a splendid harbor of disease germs emphasizes the point that you should keep it as clean as you do your face. Foul mouths spread disease by spitting in public places and kissing innocent children. Kissing children on their lips is a dangerous practice. Mothers, you should allow no one to kiss your innocent baby on its lips, in fact some people's mouths are too filthy to be allowed to kiss baby even on its cheeks.

Children lose their teeth from decay, while adults lose theirs from that intractable mouth disease known as pyorrhea. Pyorrhea causes the gums to become soft and spongy, the teeth loosen and finally fall out. If your gums are soft, spongy and bleed easily, see your dentist before it is too late.

The teeth should be brushed after each meal. The teeth given you by nature are better than any that can be devised by the most skillful dentist. Do not pick them with metals; do not crack hard nuts with them and above all keep them clean.

Indiana Utilized Irrigation. The Indian discovered for himself the science of irrigation. Many of the tribes, such as the Crows and the Apaches, early made use of the river bottoms for the cultivation of their staple crop—corn. When the condition of dryness came they would construct a rough temporary dam of logs, with which they could divert the course of part of the stream into their lands. There were primitive ditches which distributed the water.

Abdications of History.

Ever since dynasties have existed there are records of kings having abdicated from one cause and another. Far back in the misty past one monarch gave up his throne because he was "weary with dominion;" another retired out of preference for the freedom of private life; a third laid down his crown because his schemes failed; still another abdicated in a fit of melancholy; and there are two instances in which kings left their thrones because they were unable to cope with national crises.

The Majestic Magnolia.

There is no suggestion of timidity or coyness about the magnolia. It never appears in the role of offering an apology for being alive. No explanations are required. Like an independent, self-respecting citizen it faces the world unflinching. In kingly majesty it stands, an inspiring masterpiece of grandeur, an unparalleled display of nature's sublime work.

EDITORIALS

NEW PASTOR HERE.

Rev. H. E. King of Atlantic City N. J., arrived in our city last Thursday and preached his first sermon last Sunday morning as pastor of Union Congregational church to a large crowd, both morning and evening. The Rev. Mr. King is a highly cultured Christian gentleman, very able and enthused his hearers. He held a conference prayer service Sunday morning just before the regular service that was good, at 10:30. Services being promptly at 11 o'clock; everybody is invited to come out early. Evening services at 7:30 prompt. Rev. King speaks at 3 o'clock before an open meeting of the Army Y. M. C. A., which will be for both ladies and men.

ARMY Y. M. C. A.

The new Park Street Y. M. C. A. for our soldiers is developing very nicely. Secretary Ross announces that the Y. M. C. A. doors will be open every day and evening in the week, also that next Tuesday evening is an evening set aside for a conference with the boys and their fathers from 14 to 18 years old—a father and son nut cracking evening. And on Thursday evening there will be a conference with the young men over 18 years of age. A specially arranged program will be arranged by the secretary and he urges every young man to come out, as he wants to meet you. On Sunday, January 27, at 3 o'clock there will be a public open meeting for both ladies and men. A fine musical program by the soldier quartet will be furnished. The principal speaker will be Rev. H. E. King, the new minister, who has just come from New Jersey. Everybody invited.

WOMEN AND WORK

World Getting New View of the "Limitations of Sex."

Even in Japan Feminine Workers Are Invading the Factories, Stores and Offices.

A writer in the New East pictures the coming of Japan's "new woman" in ways that would be impressive were there no Europe and no world war. We have heard before that bound feet are no more in China, that Peking believes in education for girls and that all through the Flowery land the American sewing machine is giving a good account of itself, we are now assured that Japan, politically modernized for well nigh half a century, is deep in the task of completing the emancipation of her women from the patriarchal system, says a writer in the Boston Herald.

Vast numbers of them have found occupations in the factories; other contingents are at work in the offices and in that newest innovation of all, the department store. The age of business has at last dawned for the island empire, and the click of the typewriter is heard in the land. Meanwhile there is a rush of women to the professions. It is the women now who are sought for the stage, and the demand has been found large enough to warrant the formation of dramatic schools attached to the large theaters. A woman doctor used to be an impossibility in Japan. At this year's examination for medical practice in Tokyo 27 out of 39 candidates who passed were women. And the call for woman teachers in the schools grows apace.

Compare this peaceful type of evolution with the changes which have come to the western people under the stress of war. In our own land the women, once socially active mainly through their churches and clubs, are now fast closing up into a great co-operative organization which has food conservation for its detail and national defense for its unifying spirit and end.

At a demonstration given the other day by English women in Hertfordshire 1,000 of them gathered to show their proficiency in trimming ditches, hoeing roots, carting, and a dozen other kinds of farm work which they had taken up to liberate the men, and an eyewitness describes the remarkable showing made by these "bands of lithe-limbed maidens, with brown faces under slouch hats, marching in knee breeches and leggings or 'puttees.'" On the battle front American women are helping the allies as drivers of ambulances and motorcars; in both France and England women run buses, conduct trains and function in scores of occupations that have been hitherto reserved for men. What would the war amount to were it not for the army of woman workers in the munition factories? Then think of Russia, which sends out woman warriors to show her men how battles are won.

It should be plain that after this struggle the world will never again be exactly the same for women. We shall have the steady evolution of social and industrial structure such as Japan is now displaying, but we shall also have a new view of the so-called "limitation of sex." Complete recognition of the fact that women are also human beings is assured beyond peradventure.

Put the Dollar to Work.

When a manufacturer or other producer of real wealth does a profitable business and turns his profits back into the business, he gives employment to men and creates more real wealth as he progresses year by year. He does more real good for his fellowmen than he would if he gave all his profits in charity, because it is better to make people self-supporting and independent than it is to give them something for nothing no matter how worthy the motives may be.

Getting Worried.

Clarence constantly played with Marguerite, one of twins, until his parents teased him about his "girl." One afternoon Clarence's mother was sitting on the porch. Clarence, Marguerite, and a few other children were playing in the yard. Suddenly he left the group and coming to his mother said: "Mother, when you marry a twin, do you have to marry both of them?"

BACK TO FIGHT THEIR KIN

"Rainbow" Division Contains a Company of Pennsylvania Germans Who Still Speak Mother Tongue.

Easton, Pa., the mountainous little city which guards the eastern entrance to the Lehigh valley, suffered recently the deeply moving shock of pathos and patriotism which must come to the towns and cities of America, one after another, as the flower of their boys in organized array march off to war, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Easton's military organization, affectionately known as the City Guard, is now the One Hundred and Forty-ninth machine-gun company. It left for Mineola, N. Y., to join the "Rainbow" division, the first stage of a swift journey to France and the battle front.

In the ancient city of Speyer, upon the Rhine, is a line of tombs in which repose the old warrior emperors of Germany. The legends say that they arose by night over a century ago, ferried the Rhine, and caused the defeat of Napoleon at Lepsic; and that they will arise again to protect Germany in her greatest crisis. This company of Pennsylvania soldiers, heavily treading through the streets of Easton, presented a far more impressively impending fatality, for these were Pennsylvania German boys. Their names were Ridenour, Lehr, Richenbacher, Kocher, Darmstadt, Kiefer, Scherf, Seiple, Volkert, and so on.

Two hundred years ago their forefathers came to America from the Pfalz, of which Speyer was the capital, and these boys, notwithstanding their education in our greatest schools and colleges, and their two hundred years of family history upon American soil, still speak with fluency the ancient dialect of the German Palatinate, locally known as Pennsylvania German.

Fate is sending these boys back to the land of their forefathers to overcome by their living presence the spiritual assistance of the ancient kings of Speyer. It is Rhinish legend against Pennsylvania machine guns. And theirs indeed is soldier blood. Their names reflect many soldiers of distinction from this county in the Revolutionary, Mexican and Civil wars, their fathers having made in their time the same march of the same route as that made by the boys on their way to camp.

To Make Screws Hold.

When screws are driven into a plaster wall they may be made firm enough to hold considerable weight if they be withdrawn, wrapped with cotton string and dipped into plaster of paris until sufficient adheres to fill the hole in the wall and to permit some of it to be forced behind the plaster. This latter forms a plug that holds the screw firm.

Worrying Always Weakens.

Worrying is always weakness. It is always danger. In a sense, though often excusable and sometimes unavoidable, it is cowardice; and cowards, as Shakespeare tells us, "die many times before their death." We may regard worry as the price paid by humanity for advance in education and in refinement of feeling; but it is a higher price than need be paid—Exchange.

How to Teach a Dog.

Kindness, firmness, and patience are necessary qualities in teaching a dog. Nothing can be done by cruelty, and if you lose your temper you will never teach him anything. It is very little use trying to teach an old dog. Begin when he is young and do not overtire him. Also do not overfeed him, for most of the lessons have to be taught by a system of small rewards in the shape of tit-bits of food.

Jewish Armies Conscripted
On the approach of an enemy the Jewish army was recruited by a conscription made from the tribes under the direction of a muster-master, by whom also the officers were appointed. The army was divided into thousands and hundreds under their respective captains (Numbers 31; 20:14; Numbers 2:34; II Chronicles 25:5; 20:12).

WAR! What Is It All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armour glistening just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia? Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, history of the past one hundred years, as written by some of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

FREE—"Europe at War"

A big book and over 300 pages, size 10 x 7 inches, handsomely and durably bound in cloth, containing the dramatic history of the great events leading up to the present time; over 50 important and timely special articles by experts on the different phases of the conflict; hundreds of graphic pictures, portraits, photographs, diagrams, specially drawn war maps, illuminating statistical records, copies of official documents and diplomatic messages exchanged between powers—a clear, vivid, accurate, permanent, interesting and valuable record—a record which once seen you will not willingly be without. Europe's past and present are here dramatically pictured and presented. Hundreds of illustrations graphically tell their own stories. More fascinating than any romance, more stirring, so fascinating, so realistic, so wonderfully presented, so thrillingly told that it leaves an indelible impression.

It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos and the "Review of Reviews" will do it for you.

SPECIAL TO BYSTANDER

From 317th engineers, Camp Sherman, Ohio.

This regiment just bought a set of band instruments, all silver and gold bell, costing two thousand dollars, all but $800 donated by colored citizens of Cincinnati. Madam Walker of Indianapolis gave a check for $100 and Mr. Willcox of New York $50, a lady of Pennsylvania who doesn't care to have her name mentioned, $47. Your humble servant raised the money. The colored school teachers of Cincinnati, headed by Prof. Francis Russell, principal of the Frederick Douglass public school, gave a fine ball at the Music hall to the officers and men of the 317th engineers. The decorations were magnificent and beggared description.

The 317th engineer regiment orchestra furnished music for the occasion. About 500 guests from points in Kentucky, Indiana and Cincinnati attended. Col. Earl I. Brown and his officers, 317th engineers, were the special guests. All speak of the ball as being the event of the year. Geo. J. Austin, 1st Lt. & Bn. Adjt. 317th Engrs., Asst. Adjt.

Our city collector will start out next week upon his annual city subscribers delinquent collection. Please be prepared to pay up on the first call. Don't put him off. Look for and pay for your paper now when we call.

Organization of Roman Army. The Roman army was divided into legions, the number of which varied. Each was under six tribuni or "chief captains," who commanded by turns. The legion was subdivided into ten cohorts, the cohort into three maniples, and the maniplo into two centuries. The century originally contained 100 men, as the term implies, but subsequently from 50 to 100 men, according to the strength of the legion.

What They May Claim. Pennsylvania claims to contain the Hercules of the nation as well as the Vulcan. New York will no doubt put in a claim as the Midas of the land, Washington as the Jupiter, Boston as the Minerva, and Oklahoma, Iowa, as the Venus. And Chicago, with ten changes of weather at each performance, will put in its claim as the Mercury.

Children's Bedtime. Interesting statistics showing the time at which the children of Beverly, Mass., between the ages of eight and twelve, go to bed, disclose that 13 go to bed between five and six o'clock, 5,240 between eight and nine; 156 between 11 and 12, and 45 between 12 and 1. It is to be hoped that there are no Beverly children who are not in their nighties, safely tucked up, by one o'clock.—Boston Globe.

Japanese Have No Beds. The Japanese do not sleep on European beds, but on many thick, soft puffs piled one on top of each other upon the floor. For bed covering they use more of the same kind of puffs. It is said that the Japanese emperor has 20 such puffs. One of those which cover him is made in the shape of a kimono and has a velvet collar. Probably he creeps inside of this, if he feels cold in the night.

Simplest of Cements. Condensed milk applied to the edges of the pieces of broken china will keep the article as intact as the majority of cements on the market today, writes Edwin W. Ely in a letter to the Electrical Experimenter. Mr. Ely adds that he has mended saucers that have withstood washings in hot water, and has mended a telescope lens of fairly large size with this unique cement.

The Art of Kissing. Don't kiss all over, as grasshoppers walk. Don't sit down to it. Stand up. You needn't be anxious to get into a crowd. Two persons are plenty to corner and catch a kiss. Stand firm. It won't hurt you after you're used to it. Don't be in a hurry. Providence will give you strength for the ordeal. Take good aim—the lips meet, the eyes close, the heart opens, heaven itself opens before you, and the art of kissing is learned.—Exchange.

For Round Shoulders. An excellent exercise to straighten round shoulders—good for girls or women who have to sit a good deal—is performed by placing a thin stick or wand across the back and letting it run out through the bent elbows. The arms are bent so that the hands rest on the chest. Keep the arms and shoulders pressed back and down and walk about the room in this way for five or ten minutes.

Polish Aids Shoes.
Some women do not realize that a walking shoe wears better and appears well for a longer time if it is frequently polished. A new street shoe ought not to be worn much until it is polished once, for without the polish it is much more liable to be scratched than with a good polish. Especially is this true of tan shoes.
