THE EDITOR'S OBSERVATIONS

(By John L. Thompson.)

We next rested our weary feet in Fairfield for only a few hours. Here we found a small number of colored people. Yet they are a nice class of citizens, most of them owning their homes. Mr. Coalson is still working at the Mable Iron factory. He owns a nice home. Mrs. Dadney is working at the hotel. She owns a nice home. Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Hubbard lives here. Mr. Samuel Sykes is still here. F. A. Anthony is working in the factory. Mr. Dan F. Detwiler, the faithful and useful hotel man is still at the Liggett hotel. Mr. E. Greenup is still here doing well. Ottumwa, county seat of Wapello county with a population of 20,000 people of which 1,000 are colored people. Most of them doing well. We believe that a first class restaurant and a good physician, also an undertaker might all do well. They have two church organizations, the A. M. E. pastored by Rev. Waters and the Second Baptist who recently had the misfortune of having their church burned down as yet they have not rebuilt, but are considering plans on getting them a home. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alexander are still here. J. B. Bradshaw is working at the same place. Mr. and Mrs. H. Downey are living in their pleasant home at 236 Baskaw street. Mrs. Downey was enthused over her tag day report in regard to the home for the student girls at Iowa City. Mr. S. A. Herald is still working for the Ottumwa Courier. Rev. G. W. Rhinehart and wife is living here. He is a retired minister. He is one of the pioneer ministers in the middle west. The Owen's children have rebuilt a very beautiful and modern home on the sight where the old one stood that was burned last year. Miss Besie, a teacher in Kansas City is spending the summer here. Mrs. Luella Spicer has recently married a man named

Johnson. They are doing well. W. H. Thompson and U. M. Thompson are both here. The latter's wife is very sick at her home on Ferry street. Mr. Zack Taylor, one of the landmarks and early pioneers here is still driving the express wagon. Mr. Taylor is a well to do highly respected by both races. He is quite old yet active in both church and secret society. Charles Wilson is still here doing well. H. E. Williams is still a clerk at the large automobile service station. J. Weeks is still here doing well. One of his sons will enter the state university this fall. His niece from New York is visiting here. Mr. and Mrs. Rose are doing well. Mr. and Mrs. Casen are doing well. Mr. and Mrs. William Bailey are here doing nicely. Mr. E. Milligan is still here as is also George W. Bailey. Miss Ida Davis is our new agent. She is a sister to our former agent, Miss Marguerite. Rev. M. Carrington has moved here from Centerville and has taken charge of the Baptist Church. Mr. C. T. Gooch is one of the reliable citizens here. He is doing well. One of his sons is a student at Wesley college at Mt. Pleasant. J. T. Henderson has opened up an ice cream and confectionary parlor at 602 Grant. We next stopped in Albia. Here we found the people quite well and doing well. There is one church the A. M. E. pastored by Rev. J. W. Dowden, who is doing well. Mr. G. W. Hollingsworth still lives on his truck farm just out of the city limits. R. A. Grayson is now living in his new home that he is remodeling at 221 C avenue west. B. Thomas is still working at the garage. A. L. Allen is still working for the large store. C. L. Washington is still here. He is working at the same place. L. E. Franklin is doing well as usual. He is one of the pioneers here as also is Mrs. Mary F. Ward. Henry Jones is another pioneer citizen here. Walter A. Benning is doing well. William Richards is here doing nicely. They own a nice place. J. W. Allen is still living here doing well. ### PRINCIPAL JONES TO OMAHA.

In interview tells of his "all the year school." Prof. Laurence C. Jones of the Piney Woods school, who has been making his headquarters in Des Moines for the past two months, left last Tuesday for Omaha, where he will have headquarters for a few weeks while calling upon his Piney Woods friends in western Iowa. In explanation relative to the opening of his institution Principal Jones said: "Our plant does not need to have a formal opening inasmuch as it is open the entire year. It would be unbusinesslike and very unsatisfactory to close down a seventy-five thousand dollar plant for three or four months in the year. The buildings would stand very well but we have thousands of dollars worth of machinery that it would not be wise to leave idle for instance our electric light plant, the printing office, the grist mill and saw mill. But greater than this is the desire of many boys and girls to continue their development. Principal Jones stated that about sixty students and five teachers are on the campus all summer, but a general opening will occur the first of November, when the school colony will reach a mark of one hundred and fifty boarding students and eighteen teachers."

The South Has No Charms

Encouraged by the recent troubles in northern communities numerous southern delegations from various communities, have recently visited Chicago, and other cities, with the most glowing inducements to colored people, urging them to "come back to the land where they are best loved and most understood." In a great massmeeting held in the Eighth regiment armory on the night of Labor day, a question was asked by one of the speakers: "How many of you wish to return south?" In every portion of the audience of 4,000 could be heard the expressions "none," "no one." In very truth, this is the universal sentiment. Reports from employment bureaus, the Urban league, and from members of commissions and delegations themselves, from the south, declare that little or no encouragement has been received, in the matter of returning south. One man expressed the sentiment of thousands when he said: "I would rather live in Chicago if they had a riot here every week." Another typical individual made a very amusing comment. This happened in the assembly room of the Chicago Urban League, and is vouched for. The big white southerner was present, before an assembly of more than one hundred Negro workmen. He described enthusiastically that on his plantation there are many legs that needed sawing up. Railroad transportation would be furnished and four dollars per day paid to the laborers. "How many of you wish to go?" he asked. There was painful silence. Finally, one brother spoke up and said, deliberately, "I tell you what you do, you send the logs up to Chicago, and we'll saw 'em here." So, that seems to be the one way out,

THE PERISCOPE

"They Shall Not Pass"

Since the Washington and Chicago riots, the daily newspapers of the south, have been having a glorious time joshing the north. They have been saying, in effect: "While we lynch Negroes in the south, we never bother other than the one lynched, all others are safe." Now comes Knoxville, Tenn., knocking the sex out of that flimsy argument. In a riot in that southern city, Negroes were called upon to defend themselves and their homes, as they were called upon in Washington and Chicago. That they manifested a remarkable spirit of self-defense, all reports concur. The time has come when the American Negro has taken up the famous expression of Marshal Joffre, and made it their own: "They Shall Not Pass." The American Negro has been of the most patient and long suffering group of people ever known to history. He is in perfect love with all that is just and righteous. "Perfect love casts out all fear," and therefore, in defense of his manhood rights, death, today, has real charms. This being the case, and since it has been a long time custom of the rough element of the American whites to hold the race in subjection by fear, it seems most prudent, wise and timely, to "come let us reason together." In many communities, north and south, this is being done with fine effect. It may as well be understood, and nothing else should be expected whether this is regarded as a "white man's country"—even though it was stolen from the red man, who has always been friendly to the black man—or not, the American Negro today has a new point of view, which all hates cannot wipe out. Listening to the siren of righteousness, justice, liberty, freedom and democracy, he has accepted the tenor of their way, and with keen eyes, set face, steady tread, open mind and strong arm, asks nothing more, and certainly will take nothing less. Neither the aggressor nor the oppressed, the American Negro places his cause before the right thinking people of the nation, who, in every crisis, have been the victors.—Negro Associated Press.

Nominated For Candidate for Assembly

Bolden of our race.—Associated Negro Press.

Said committee shall have power to attendance of the same, and to hold subpoena witnesses and compel the hearings in any part of the United States. The sum of $50,000 is hereby appropriated out of any money in the United States treasury not otherwise appropriated to defray the expense of such investigation.

Colored Women HOME AT IOWA CITY IS PURCHASED

The work of colored women during the mobilization of women power to fill men's places proved that the colored woman has her place in industry and is capable of maintaining high principles of efficiency. In many cases the unskilled labor fell to her lot and we found her doing very heavy work in brickyards, sawmills, and glass factories. The railroads employed her in great numbers to do yard-work and track-cleaning. But then she also found that she was needed in labor which required more skill, in knitting and clothing mills, in underwear, button, embroidery, and feather factories. In one place which was working two shifts, white women had the day shift and colored women the night shift. During a given length of time the output of two shifts was compared and the colored women averaged 1,500 more shells than the white. A group of colored women in one city were found dipping clay in glaze and stacking, chipping impurities from clay, shoveling and wheeling rock, trucking brick, and loading scrap iron. In some of these cases the women were being paid less than men whose places they were so efficiently filling. The wages paid to men were three dollars a day for shoveling in a clay bank, but the women who released them for the army were given a dollar or half dollar less. To prevent conditions like these and the lowering of labor values means that colored women must be organized, just as our white women need organization. Women have come into industry to stay, and "women" means colored as well as white. Their industrial problems are the same—conditions of work, pay, hours, housing, and recreation. The adjustment of labor includes the colored women. To meet her needs the Young Women's Christian Association has already established eight industrial centers.—Southern Workman.

NEGRO PRESIDENT IN AMERICA

New York, N. Y.—C. D. B. King, president-elect of Liberia, arrived here yesterday on the steamship Carmania, on his first visit to the United States. After a short stay in New York he will go to Washington to pay his respects to President Wilson. He was met down the bay by H. F. Worley, United States government receiver of customs and fiscal agent of Liberia, who represented the state department in receiving the president-elect. Mr. King said that a credit of $5,000,000 granted this country by the United States, which is the first loan of consequence ever negotiated by Liberia, would be used for public improvements which would tend to make the country still more productive and create a larger import and export trade. While in this country, Mr. King will address the World Christian Citizenship Conference in Pittsburgh in November. This engagement was made while he was attending the peace conference as a delegate from Liberia. President Wilson and Queen Marie of Rumania also will be speakers.

Making Play of Work.

Making play of work is often a good idea when getting children to help. Thus, when seeking the aid of a youngster to pick up the pins from the floor, let him or her use a horse-shoe magnet for the purpose. You can get such a magnet for ten cents.

That the Des Moines women were well organized and ready for this drive which was carried on the past week was evidenced last Sunday afternoon when the reports were made at the massmeeting at St. Paul's A. M. E. Church. Mrs. Lillian Smith, president of the H. B. S. Society called the meeting to order. Mrs. G. G. Nichols led the community singing for fifteen minutes and after a number of selections from the Girl Reserves, the chairman of Des Moines drive, Mrs. S. Joe Brown, was presented. Miss Mamie Diggs president of the colored University Girls Club was then introduced and in a very fitting manner told of the need of a home for girls at the university and on behalf of the girls expressed deepest appreciation for what the women of Des Moines and all over the state had done for them. Attorney S. Joe Brown, who had recently returned from Iowa City, where he had been called by Mrs. Martha P. White, president of the Iowa Federation of Colored Women's Clubs and Mrs. Helen Downey, state chairman of the home committee was present and gave a detailed report of the purchase of the home which was bought last week at a cost of $5,300.00. ### THE GIRL SCOUTS FAVORS NO COLOR

(By Associated Negro Press.) Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 12.—The Girl Scouts being a thoroughly democratic and American organization, it favors neither color nor creed. Owing to this advantage the number of Negro Girl Scouts is on the increase, showing a splendid roll to date. Nearly 150 have enrolled under leadership especially chosen. The roster shows that the Euclid Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church has twenty scouts, under Jessie Blair, captain. As a mark of force of the new movement in the education of girls, a glance at the July report from National Girl Scout headquarters, just received here, shows that during last month 258 girls, new scouts, have been added to the national roll, and this does not include the unregistered scout girls. TROTTER AGAIN.

(By Dr. W. H. Lewry.)

The great William Monroe Trotter has broken out in a new spot. But an analysis of the eruption shows that it is just Trotter.

This time, he and a few of his faithful followers have called upon a limited portion of republican congressmen and laid before them certain demands for recognition of the Negro by the league of nations clause in the peace treaty. We agree with Mr. Trotter that the Negro should have better treatment at the hands of his own government but we rather doubt the effect of Mr. Trotter's comment along this line.

Mr. Trotter's songs are set too much to jazz music. Waving a bloody shirt is a poor method to adopt in subduing an angry bull. We are not prepared to enter the arena and grasp the bull by the horns and conquer him by a mere twist of the neck as Mr. Trotter would have those few republican gentlemen believe. Those men who listened to Mr. Trotter represent a very small portion of the G. O. P. and Mr. Trotter and his would be followers represent a smaller portion of the Negro race.

The best thing for Mr. Trotter to do is to stop his solo work and come down and organize his race into a grand chorus and with the proper financial backing the song will be heard, not by a few members of one political party, but by the people of the United States.

The Standard of Furnace Value

The salesman who says "just as good as" pays what he knows to be the highest possible compliment to the thing he is trying to sell. But unconsciously he gives still greater praise to the standard by which the substitute is gauged. Wise shoppers know this to be true—no matter what they are about to buy.

GREEN COLONIAL FURNACE Has Green's Dome Heat Intensifier When you hear a furnace salesman say "just as good as the COLONIAL," you know he is advancing what he hopes will be his clinching argument. But you also know that he gives the best of all reasons for NOT accepting the "Just as Good," and the best reason for your deciding in favor of the furnace whose reputation and performances have placed it where it becomes the natural standard of furnace value.

Despondency.
Sufferers from indigestion are apt to become discouraged and feel that complete recovery is not to be hoped for. No one could make a greater mistake. Hundreds have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Tablets and can now eat anything that they crave. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you have not tried them do so at once.

Children's bedtime.
Interesting statistics showing the time at which the children of Beverly, Mass., between the ages of eight and twelve, go to bed, disclose that 13 go to bed between five and six o'clock, 52.40 between eight and nine; 156 between 11 and 12, and 45 between 12 and 1. It is to be hoped that there are no Beverly children who are not in their nighties, safely tucked up, by one o'clock.—Boston Globe.

Influenza.

(La Grippe, Flu, Spanish Influenza.)
My object has been and is to make these articles as simple in composition, using as few technical words and terms as possible in order that there may be an applicability of them to everyday life. I shall confine myself in this article to giving simply what the disease is and its effect on the mortality of last year.

To discuss such a broad, inclusive and important disease in the limited space allotted for each medical article in our paper, I feel would not be doing justice to my readers, hence shall continue the discussion in a subsequent writing.

Influenza or la grippe is a pandemic disease appearing at irregular intervals, characterized by extraordinary rapidity of extension and the large number of people attacked.

Following the pandemic there are a rule, for several years endemic, epidemic and sporadic outbreaks in different regions.

It does not necessarily follow, however, that we will have an epidemic this fall and winter, but there is certainly no assurance that such will not be the case, and I don't think there is any better time than now to prepare for eventualities.

To acquaint you with the ravages of this particular disease it is necessary only to state that the number of victims was ten times greater than the number of American soldiers killed in the world's war. Over one-half million people passed into the "great beyond," not being able to withstand this "monster giant of the men of death."

The rate of mortality which the American life insurance companies had to meet in 1918 was about 32 per cent greater than in 1917 and 14 per cent greater than the average death rate for a score of years. Thirty-eight life insurance companies paid $93,000,000 more than in 1917 for death claims and endowments.

There are several types of influenza that is classifying it as to its modes of onset—respiratory, nervous form, gastro-intestinal form, and the febrile form.

In the respiratory form the disease resembles very much an ordinary acute cold in its onset, and individuals pay very little attention to it because of this fact, hence I am lead to believe that, many of the cases of influenza that developed serious consequences could have been averted or the severity of the attack lessened if this fact had been known and a physician called in at the beginning.

The nervous form sets in with an attack on the nervous system with little or no symptoms of the form just described, and again some among us might be misled because of the absence of a cold. The nervous symptoms usually manifest themselves in the form of a headache, pains in the back and joints and profound prostration. Among the more serious complications may be mentioned meningitis and encephalitis, the latter leading to hemiplegia or monoplegia.

The onset of the fever in the gastrointestinal type there may be nausea and vomiting, or the attack may set in with abdominal pain, profuse diarrhea and collapse.

In the febrile form the only marked manifestation is the fever which may resemble most any kind of febrile condition.

In all cases of even suspected influenza consult immediately your physician, for it is a disease that baffles the most competent and the best is none too good to treat or ward off its deadly attack.
