63 Murdered by Mobs in United States in First 10 Months of 1919

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 70 Fifth avenue, New York, today made public a statement showing that sixty-three were murdered by mobs in the United States in the first ten months of 1919. Of the victims sixty-one were American citizens and two were Mexicans. Fifty-nine of the Americans done to death were Negroes, of whom eleven were burned at stake.

"Among the causes for lynching were circulating incendiary literature, and talking of Chicago riot," says the statement of the Advancement association. "Four Negroes were lynched for 'intimacy' with white women, one for not turning out of the road for a white boy in an automobile, one for an altercation with a white man and one for being a leader of his race. Georgia led the states with seventeen lynchings, Mississippi followed with ten, Alabama and Louisiana dividing the honors of third place with eight lynchings each. The tabulations follow:

Wilberforce Retains Military Department

WILBERFORCE RETAINS MILITARY DEPARTMENT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 28.—The report, which gained considerable circulation, to the effect that Wilberforce university, Wilberforce, Ohio, had lost its military department by failure to measure up to government requirements has proven erroneous, according to files in the war department. An order issued by General Peyton C. March, chief of staff, and signed by P. C. Harris, adjutant general, reads as follows, and offers conclusive proof that Wilberforce still retains its military standing with the war department:

"By direction of the president, Lieut.-Col. John E. Green, infantry, is relieved from his present duties with the military intelligence division, to take effect upon his arrival in this city, in detail under the provisions of section 56, of an act of congress approved June 3, 1916, as professor of military science and tactics at Wilberforce university, Wilberforce, Ohio, and will proceed to that point an dreport for duty accordingly."

Anti "Jim Crow" Bill Loses in Congress

Washington, D. C., Nov. 28.—The amendment proposed by Martin B. Madden of Illinois, abolishing Jim Crow cars in the south precipitated a stormy debate in congress and lost by 142 votes to 12. Singular, but true, it received no support from northern and eastern republicans. Representative Snider, republican of New York, joined with the southern democrats in defeat of the Madden amendment. Speaking for the amendment Mr. Madden declared that separate accommodations for the amendment Mr. Madden declared that separate accommodations for our group cost the railroads twenty million dollars a year. He condemns discrimination and said the service given by the race during the war entitled it to equally and fair treatment in this country.

The 368th Exonerated Negroes Launch Greatest Commercial Venture of Age

Washington, D. C.—Failure of the Three Hundred Sixty-eighth Negro infantry regiment to function properly in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, which led to the predicament of the famous "Lost Battalion" was due mainly to the fact the Negro unit received unauthorized orders to withdraw, according to a special report made to Secretary of War Baker by an officer of the inspector general's staff.

Careful investigation has failed to reveal the origin of the mysterious orders. No such instructions were sent from American headquarters, the report which was made public today said. Company officers had been warned that "no withdrawal order, not in writing and signed by the battalion commander, should be obeyed."

The investigation was ordered by Mr. Baker in order that he might obtain all the facts regarding the participation of the Three Hundred Sixty-eighth infantry in the action, in view of the severe criticism of the regiment's failure to hold. Allegations were made, the secretary said, that the morale of the regiment had been broken by race discrimination, that the white officers fell short of their duty and that the troops were not properly equipped.

With the exception of the criticism relating to equipment, all the charges were unwarranted, the inspector's report said. The officers involved were Capt. Daniel Smith, Lieutenants Crawford, Cheers, Cross and Johnson. Capt. L. H. Godman, in civil life an attorney in Columbus, Ohio, and Lieutenant Goodloe of Washington, were the attorneys in the case.

Mammoth Corporation for Development of Insurance Among Negroes Charted by Successful Negro Capitalists.

(Associated Negro Press.)

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 28.—Following a series of important conferences here between some of the race's most successful and representative business men, a charter has been issued for the incorporation and license of the Supreme Life and Casualty company.

This organization bring together men who have demonstrated their ability in conducting successful insurance enterprises. T. K. Gibson, of Atlanta, Ga., secretary and founder of the Fire-side Mutual Insurance about this organization. The purpose of the company is set forth in the following statement taken from its announcement.

"The company is formed for the greater development and expansion of insurance along casualty lines among our people, and for the acquisition by legal and departmental supervision of life, health and accident organizations in various parts of the country.

Admittedly our greatest commercial advancement has been achieved in insurance. And while our few old line legal reserve companies and our many health and accident organizations have shared bountifully in the tremendous industrial expansion, yet, our greatly increased wages and highly enhanced standard of living have outgrown much of the insurance now in vogue and have created a demand for policies better adapted to this period of reconstruction. The supreme life and casualty comes to answer that demand.

"A carefully conceived campaign for the nation-wide sale of these securities will be followed by the completion of the organization and the public presentation of the supreme life and casualty policy. The policy is the result of years of scientific study and actual experience, and has been prepared exclusively for this company by one of America's most eminent actuaries."

Among the names of those who are sustaining Mr. Gibson in his efforts to organize this insurance company are such men as: G. W. Hayes, U. S. Court, Cincinnati; G. R. Davis, Cincinnati; C. S. Smith, Jr., D. G. Chandler, Columbus, H. A. Boyd, Nashville; W. S. Cannon, Atlanta; J. M. Pollard, Dayton; A. P. Bentley, Memphis; H. R. Butler, Georgia; C. S. Smith, Detroit; and others.

National Y. Notes

NATIONAL Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

New York, Nov. 28.—The record of the colored men and women who were sent overseas by the Young Men's Christian association, who served as secretaries during the world war is dotted with brilliant bits of patriotic, Christian achievement, courage, and self-abnegation. Like the colored soldiers, they went forth to do battle against the enemy until the last armed foe laid down his weapon of warfare.

The total number sent was eighty-four, sixty-one men and twenty-three women. Of this number two died on active service overseas and two died in this country. Frederick D. Ballou, of Richmond, Ky., and the Rev. E. A. Pritchett, of Philadelphia, who served with the forces in Africa were drowned at Dar-es-Salaam, in East Africa. The two men who died in the home service were the Rev. H. E. Levi, of Talladega, Ala., who died at Camp Wheeler and Hiram H. Wheeler, of Urbana, Ill., who died while on furlough. The Y. M. C. A. and the colored race have many times recorded their pride and satisfaction for the loyalty and efficient work done by the colored secretaries.

Those cited for bravery were Edward Terrell Banks, of Dayton, Ohio, Hugh Oliver Cook, of Kansas City, Mo., and M. W. Bullock, former Dartmouth football star.

Mr. Banks won his citation for bravery while serving the Three Hundred Sixty-eighth infantry of the Ninety-second division. This division received word that scout had been wounded and was lying helpless between the lines. Banks immediately set out to rescue the wounded man but in the attempt was caught by a terrific barrage and could not get back. With a determination to save his man Secretary Banks stayed with him through the night and brought him back the next morning when the firing was less severe and carried him to safety. For this he was recommended for a citation by Captain Smith, commanding Company K, of the Three Hundred Sixty-eighth infantry.

For gallant conduct in the Champagne offensive of September 26 to Oct. 6, Hugh Oliver Cook, of Kansas City, attached to the Three Hundred Seventy-first infantry was thus recommended by Col. P. L. Miles, commanding the regiment, "for heroic conduct in volunteering to aid in administering to the wounded on September 26 near Hill 188. He worked tirelessly until he himself was gassed.

M. W. Bullock, was cited by Col Hayward, of the old Fifteenth New York regiment for gallant service with that regiment throughout its service.

The Mme. C. J. Walker Mfg. Co. Has Great Opening Monday Evening at Its New Branch and Show Room

Indianapolis, Ind.—The Mme. C. J. Walker company manufacturers of all kinds of hair and toilet articles, the best of their kind it is claimed by experts on the market, and operating under the management of F. B. Ransom, its general manager, threw open its doors Monday night to one of the largest gatherings that has been seen in this city for many years.

The opening commenced at 5 o'clock and there was a steady coming of the town people until 10:00 o'clock when the doors were closed.

The opening was the departure in this line of the company, where the headquarters and executive offices in this city are located this will be the show office and branch where the many patrons of the company can be accommodated in any line of the company's goods, and at the same time can save the pleasure of being served by the best experts in the country in the way of treatment of the hair and expert maniere work, as the parlors are the best equipped west of New York and the Alleghenies.

The parlors are located at the corner of West and North streets, right in the heart of the business district of the northwest part of the city.

Mrs. Lulu Alexander, one of the oldest and most respected traveling representatives of the company was in active charge and displayed her splendid sagacity and great ability in keeping with her many years of travel and experience in handling and presenting to the great throng many adaptations of the company's many preparations.

The refreshments were profuse and the hundreds went away charmed in every way, for the like many had never seen before, and was amazed at the progress of the great firm right among us that thousands did not know about or even dreamed of right in our midst, where many had lived all their lives, but will always remember this great firm's opening.

Mrs. Helen Swanson, an up-to-date operator, will have charge of the hair-dressing department and Mrs. Cora Jackson, who is considered one of the best manieurists in the country, will be in charge of the maniere tables.

The officers and management are not only pleased at the appreciation of the public, but are all happy.

COMPLIMENTS NEW MANAGEMENT

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 24, 1919.

Mrs. E. Mash,

Madame Editor: It is with great pleasure that I take this opportunity to compliment you in your new field of labor. You have made the start where few men succeed. You have taken over a newspaper where men of ability have established its worth. With twenty-five years of experience they leave it in its infancy, comparing to its worth.

From the beginning of your first issue I saw a new light in your paper and that made my heart leap with joy, and gave me a new inspiration to read every thing in the Bystander.

May I say to you? Don't get discouraged. This world was not made in one day. It will take time for you to

Negro Enters Drama Goes from Clogs to Drama

(New York Tribune.)

Gone are the days of Negro minstrelsy! End men and interlocutors who one shuffled their way 'round the country are turning into Romeos and Caesars, not to mention your true Othellos!

The Lafayette players herald the new day. This versatile trope of Negroes, starting from Harlem, will tour the leading cities of the north and south, playing "Faust," "Madame X," "Tribby," "The Fortune Hunter," "Resurrection," "Doctor Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "The Rosary," "Seven Keys to Baldpate," and a hundred different dramas, ranging from the classic to Broadway farce. Recently night after night, they have been drawing record-breaking crowds to the Lafayette theatre, in the very heart of

New York's populous Negro section. Tragedy in other sections of the town may play to empty houses. In Harlem, the home of musical shows, Hamlets are still rare enough to be popular.

Three years ago every one who went to the Lafayette tired of its perpetual burlesque and Negro vaudeville. An unprecedented run of bad business set in, and to tempt a very indifferent Harlem back again the manager decided to form the first Negro stock company that should play for Negro actors in New York. As fast as that little factory turns out fresh Camilles and Sven-galis the players, who now number seventy-five, will be increased and then regrouped into several troupes, one is time for each thater along the new circuit.

build up the Bystander to a high class newspaper. So people will not begrudge the cost of the paper.

As my subscription ran out last month you'll find a P. O. order for the sum of $1.50.

Yours truly,

Maj. N. Clark Smith given great Ovation at White Sparrow

MUSICAL NUMBERS HIGHLY ENTERTAINING

A concert of unusual attractiveness was given under the auspices of the White Sparrows on last Sunday afternoon at the University church auditorium.

The whole program was given by colored people and they again demonstrated the ability of their race along music lines.

Maj. N. Clark Smith, musical director of the Lincoln High school of Kansas City and bandmaster and song leader of the high school cadets, U. S. A., gave a very interesting address on the "Elements of Negro Melody." Major Smith has traveled extensively in Africa and his address was listened to with great pleasure by the large audience of more than 5,000.

"Steal Away" Chorus.

The first musical number was an arrangement of "Steal Away" by Major Smith, sung by an octet composed of Ethel Bowmer and Aurora Brooks, sopranos; Colleen Jones and Mattie Woods, altos; Shelton and Ernest Knox, tenors; George Mason and Emmett Burger, basses. This number was given a beautifully artistic rendition, the voices blending well and while we expect this particular song to be well sung by colored people, the reading of it yesterday afternoon was unusually good and brought forth much applause. Later in the program they sang two other great favorites, "I Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray" and "Suwanee River." The former made a fitting close to the afternoon program.

Pianists Pleading.

Two pianists appeared, Clyde Le Roy Glass, a former West High graduate of the New England conservatory of music now instructor in Western university of Kansas City, Kan. Mr. Glass played a funeral march composed by Major Smith, displaying a fine music intelligence and an excellent technique. The march was played with much dignity. Malcolm Griffith, a student at Drake conservatory, besides playing the accompaniments, played the "Scenes From an Imaginary Ballet," by the celebrated Negro composer, Coleridge-Taylor. He gave a good account of himself and received liberal applause.

Male Soprano Surprises.

Carroll Curtley was perhaps the surprise of the afternoon. A fine strapping fellow of over six feet came upon the platform in a quiet easy manner. As the accompanist began to play the prelude of the famous Arditte Kiss Waltz many in the audience began to think that some mistake had been made and as the singer began the opening they began to wonder still more, for here was a real soprano voice of unusual smoothness and quality. Higher and still higher the voice rose until the A natural was reached as clear as a bell. At the conclusion Mr. Curtley was given an ovation and for an encore sat down at the piano and played his own accompaniment to "Sweetest Little Feller."

May Smith gave an illustrated lecture on Negro melody at the Union Congregational church Sunday night, to an audience composed principally of his own people.

Prof. Clyde L. Glass, pianist, demonstrated the various themes discussed by Major Smith. An offering was taken for the memorial to the late Frederick Douglas, who Major Smith says gave him his first inspiration to make a scientific study of Negro folk music.

This affair was arranged by Mrs. S. Joe Brown a trustee of the Frederick Douglass memorial committee, to which the proceeds from this went.

CONTINUING TO MALREAT THE NEGRO RACE

In a recent issue of the "Reconstruction," Charles Edward Russell says: "The Negro did not run in Chicago nor in Washington, and in my judgment, he is not going to run anywhere. Do we really and conscientiously desire to have in this country a surplusage of race riots? Do we truly relish the spectacle of a part of our citizenship hunting out with guns another part of our citizenship and shooting it down? Is the thought of street fighting dear to us?"

Because, if this is what we honestly wish we may be of good cheer; this is what we are practically certain to have if we continue to allow the relations of white and black in this country to drift along the road to battle and murder.

We will take, as an example, the city of Chicago.

You are all familiar with what recently happened there.

NEGROES A CHANGED PEOPLE.

The Negro did not run in Chicago nor in Washington and in my judgment he is not going to run anywhere. And the reason is that he has found himself. He knows now that he is a man. That makes the difference. He knows that he has under the constitution of the United States certain rights declared to be inalienable and that these rights are denied to him. He knows that merely because of the color of his skin he is put at a disadvantage with his fair skinned brother, and he knows that the discrimination is an indefensible wrong. He knows that no matter what may be his character, his attainments, industry, skill or worth, every avenue of advancement is closed to him because of his color. He knows that because of his color he is debarred from making his livelihood by any except the most menial occupations. He knows that he and his children are branded by that one mark of color and consigned by it to the pit of a caste from which there is no escape, and he feels in his heart and knows in his mind that all this is contrary to elemental justice, to the American tradition and to the law of God.

Ladies! Do you want a diamond ring? Enter the circulation contest.

SENATOR CAPPER TO JOIN BOARD OF NEGRO ADVANCEMENT ASSOCIATION

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored people today announced that Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas had consented to serve as a member of the board of directors.

Mr. Capper's colleague from Kansas, Senator Charles Curtis, is sponsor for a resolution now before the senate, calling for a nationwide investigation of race riots and lynching.

MAJOR SPINGARN PROTESTS TO GOVERNOR OF ARKANSAS Urges Commutation of Death Penalty Imposed on Eleven Negroes.

Urging as a service to the nation, the commutation to life imprisonment of death sentences imposed upon eleven Negroes in Arkansas, Major J. E. Spingarn, late of the A. E. F. in France, has telegraphed Governor Charles H. Brough of Arkansas. Major Spingarn urges the commutation in order that further light on the recent race riots in Arkansas may be obtained before "irreparable wrong" is done.

The telegram reads:

Hon. Charles H. Brough, Little Rock, Ark.

As one who has always had high faith in your courage and sense of justice, and who has admired the liberal attitude which you have expressed in regard to the negro, I am appealing to you to commute to life imprisonment the sentence of the eleven negroes recently condemned to death. From testimony obtained by two persons actually on the ground, I am convinced that the interest of justice would best be preserved by this commutation, in order that an irreparable wrong may not be done before further light on the whole subject is obtained. As a patriotic American I should hate to have the fair name of Arkansas subject even to the suspicion of having done a grave injustice, at a time when more than ever the relations of white and black men should be on a basis of fair play and mutual understanding. You have it in your power to perform a national service at this crisis, and I feel sure that you will not shrink from doing it.

—J. E. Spingarn

Prince Dedpagmatch Nadoo, head of the Abyssinian mission to America has issued a statement which will be received by ambitious young colored Americans with keenest interest at this time. The country needs young men of intelligence and training and will lend them every encouragement, he declared. He said that there is no demand for unskilled labor, but that tradesmen and professional men will find unexcelled opportunities. ## OUR REVISED VERSION.

God give us Negroes; a time like this demands Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands; Negroes whom the lust of office cannot kill, Negroes whom the spoils of office cannot buy, Negroes who possess opinions and will, Negroes who have honor, men who will not lie, Negroes who can stand before a demagogue, And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking. Negro men, sun crowned, who live above the fog In public duty and in private thinking."

WEEK'S EDITORIAL OF INTEREST A BETTER UNDERSTANDING

(Editorial of The Clarion of Nov. 8.)

Few Negroes like to admit that the harsh prejudice against the race has proved a blessing since we like to think of blessings as pleasant and enjoyable occasions. The colored man is selfish, but at least, when it comes to dealing with his own; there is no absolute love of race pride that will make him sacrifice to help his comrade. He is looking for a bargaining at all times and color does not enter his mind when he looks for the best results. American caste in the south made the black man and himself and forced him into avenues of trade which a free-to-spend-wherever-you-please policy would have made a race of paupers and ignorance mass. Had the Negro accepted his offerings there would be no drastic race antipathy, for the Negro would have taken no thought for the future, being content to work and spend. Regardless of the great prejudice and humiliation, we must admit these conditions were blessings in disguise which are present sources of strength for contending for advance standing in the better understanding between black and white must be along the line of economics. Civilization and power must rest on sound business and economics. A big business man or woman will gain a quicker recognition in the realm of men than the person who has nothing but his pedigree and words of thought. Luxury is an end product of profitable business. If the Negro wants a better understanding with the white man, he must seek introduction in the way that interesting and worth while to the white man. The average man and more especially the business man, has no time to listen to tales of woe; for he has troubles of his own. The solution is up to the colored man, not the white man. The colored man will gain admission only as he receives support from the masses, not the classes of his people FIRST. Other people will seek him, when he has become a part of the community as a necessary business factor. No man cares to listen to your failures or what you intend to do. Every man is ready and willing to hear of your success in any line of endeavor; it may give him a suggestion to feature your idea in some part of his business. A better understanding will come when we prove ourselves men ready to serve and be served, as big factors in the life of the community as big business men. Social equality and the many other bogeyisms will adjust themselves to economic equality. When we get out of our own way, stop stumbling over ourselves, maybe we will see clearly that business knows only the rule of supply and demand, and will open doors that are closed to all other accomplishments, and will secure favors that other assets will not touch. Economics point the way for a better understanding.—St. Louis Independent Clarion.

ANTHOLOGY OF DES MOINES. A. J. B.

The newcomers of a town and those of restive natures often wonder why more things have not been done and why affairs have not moved along with a swifter pace. This applies to all towns, villages and cities. There is the comparison of small places with large ones, the pointing out of defects and the eternal harping upon "what ought to have been done" and "what we ought to have."

To the student of the development of human affairs, socially, politically, financially and intellectually, progress has been slow and painful. The march has been marked by the sufferings of the pioneers—dreams, hopes and higher endeavors mark the mile posts for those who follow. It is only as the old timers get together that one knows of the blasted hopes the good plans which went by the board.

If one has had the years and the fortune to see small frontier towns in the making, to see the village grow into the metropolis, to see the steady trend upward in convenience, from the tallow dip to the tungsten, from the laying of logs to cement, from the backboard and stage to the automobile and the limited; has seen the meeting house evolve from the "sitting room" to the many departmented edifice of worship, the little red, or not painted at all school house develop into the many activities of the modern school house; has known what the hunger of social intercourse was so that any man or woman was welcome to join the circle, so long as they were not notoriously bad or had not been convicted when the mantel of charity had not shrunken to the width of ones calling list or to those whom we owed a great more than we would ever pay—if one has had the fortune or years to witness all these things there is a little more tolerance and patience than is found in those who came into the heritage of telephones, paved streets, electric lights and inspected plumbing.

It was not lack of character in those who wrought so apparently little, it was not want of vision to the extent of blindness, it was not sterility of hope, it was not being without imagination but rather the times which account for much, which those who are wise without knowledge, lack lacking.

We must look back with the idea of "from every man according to his ability" ever in our minds, when we would have things different. It is with this idea that we are going to talk about some of the older citizens of Des Moines and make clear the fact that they have made possible that which in perhaps we will not find that anyone of them made wonderful contributions to human progress or race development but it is to the very favored few, to those upon whom the gods have smiled most feelingly, that this can be said; for the most part we do little but take our place in the ranks, wove when the mass moves, mark time or halt when the body gives signs of stopping or of merely being in motion without progressing.

Few men are perfectly satisfied with conditions and those in the past had the same feeling of unrest as we now are troubled with, only there was more control exhibited. Some people mistake chronic grouches and ingrown nastiness for the surge of uplift; a flow of words and loud complaining seeming to them to settle conditions. It takes long hours, hard work, concerted action, and an esprit de corps to change things, then the change comes gradually and suffers from danger of sudden relapse.

It is the genius who does the wonderful and the admirable, most of us are grubs, following paths of least resistance; the difference between the doer and the complainer is that the kicker has the loudest voice generally and can stir up most discontent.

What the one must admit is the fact that the older men usually had a finer friendship with the men of other races than the young fellows' ear now boast of with their contemporaries. There were the struggles of families to live, often the still numb sensibilities from the cruel days of slavery. If we look at present times and see the unrest and destruction from a war which did not touch our shores it does not take the wildest imagination to picture what the sensation must have been to those who were the sons of contention and took with them the advertisement of their condition.

Those who are continually comparing northern communities with southern towns and cities ought to go where things are more to their liking. It is both a waste of time and breath to mention conditions which no efforts are being made to change. This mode of conversation makes people restless and unhappy and no one has a moral right to make another restless, when that restlessness must be digested or the effect felt by some irresponsible or helpless creature.

The lives of those who have gone before us have made us better if we look for the good in them. As our little sketches will show all the men and women who came in the old days have left some monument; we can see the evidence of their work. The writer, alone, is responsible for the test. No one knows as many people as they

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS.

There is one field in which the black man stands on equal footing with his white brother. That is in the field of athletics. People recognize ability in that line without discrimination and the black men often excel.

North Des Moines High school has just won the city championship. They have a splendid team. The young men on it are on their toes all the time and their sportsmanship is highly commendable. But the success of the team this year is largely to be accredited to the work of two Negroes, Morton and Fredericks. These young men have done unusually brilliant work, and the young people of North High recognize the fact and have accorded them their just amount of praise for the laurels they have brought to their school.—Des Moines Capital of Nov. 24.

(Letter received by Miss Sidney J. Davis, superintendent of the Young Women's Christian Industrial Mission in Keokuk, from Mrs. Eva C. Robinson National Representative of the W. C. T. U.)

Wapello, Ia. Oct. 28, 1919

Miss Sidney J. Davis, Superintendent of the Young Women's Christian Industrial Mission, Keokuk, Ia.

My dear Miss Davis:

I cannot tell you how many times I have thought of you and your splendid work in Keokuk. One of the departments of the W. C. T. U. work is work among colored people, therefore I was especially interested and want to contribute something towards it. So enclosed find my mite.

I shall not soon forget my visit to your mission. How kind of you to send the taxi for me. This and other little acts of kindness to me, proves that you well know how to treat the "Stranger within your gates." Those in lower walks of life will too, I am sure, always be kindly received by you.

I was greatly impressed with your work and in my imagination can you see the mottoes and pictures on the wall all of which were of an uplifting nature. They can not but be a real inspiration to all who enter your little sanctuary.

Your mission is one of the most nicely furnished I have ever visited. You have the right idea. Hold on and do not let anything discourage you. In way of encouragement I want to tell you (for I do not believe in keeping all of the flowers for the casket) that I heard a Keokuk woman say that you were doing a wonderful work there and that your mission had meant more to the town than anything that had come that way in a long time. I am truly glad to know that your work is appreciated and sincerely hope that you may have the hearty co-operation of all Christian people regardless of race or color. Sometimes we meet opposition and find Christ's own professed followers criticizing and making it hard to carry on His work.

We have found it so in our work for the overthrow of the rum power—the great soul destroying business, and you too will no doubt meet it in your work. But be not dismayed. Remember the divine promise: "When thou passest through the water, I will be with thee; and through the rivers they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest

Everyone that heard him here were well pleased and desire for him to return to the tri-cities sometime in the future. ANOTHER FOOTBALL STAR.
Another star has been added to the already glowing line of football heroes in Saturday's game between North and East High. Fredericks, North High's half back, saved the day for the pink and green. Morton, North High's wonderful fullback played under numerous disadvantages, first he was badly battered in the game the previous Saturday; second, he was the object of attack from the entire East High eleven. "It is an ill wind that blows no body good," and while Morton was being watched from all sides, Fredericks continually got away for good gains and in the last quarter pushed the ball over East's goal for the only touchdown.

A WONDERFUL VIOLINIST.
Mr. Bell of St. Joseph, Mo., who has recently accepted a position with Dysart's jazz orchestra, has proved to be a violinist of unusual ability. Although still in his teens Mr. Bell gives the impression of a finished artist with rare technique and remarkable executive ability. Still Soaking Sapsleigh.
Sapsleigh—"They say one should learn from the mistakes he has made and the foolish things he has done." Miss Keen—"If you followed that advice, Mr. Sapsleigh, you'd be one of the brightest men on earth."

(Los Angeles, Cal., Times.)
Through it all white people should keep their minds clear and not permit unliking that all Negroes are alike. When some degenerate Negro assaults a white woman and is lynched for it, white people who do not think deeply come to the conclusion that every Negro would assault a white woman if he did not stand in fear of lynching.

Now, nothing could be farther from the truth than this conclusion. Any one who knows the Negro people knows as good an average as white people can claim.

The fact is that the average Negro is not at all attracted by white women. He much prefers his own women. We are to remember that there have been and still are white men who prefer Negro women to their own race. One of the greatest lawyers America has ever known was one of these.

Neither are we to forget that during the civil war the cultured white women of the south were left wholly at the mercy of Negro guardians while their men folks were away in the battlefields. And these women were not violated. The Negro then answered for himself and his answer was sublime.—Negro Associated Press.

TRAIN STRUCK AUTO TRUCK.
 Brunswick, Mo., Nov. 21.—Willie Edenberg, a colored boy about 17 years of age, was probably fatally injured and Roscoe Hopkins, also colored and about the same age, had a narrow escape from death Wednesday afternoon of last week when an auto truck owned by the produce firm of W. H. Jaquet and company of this place, was struck and demolished by Brunswick and Omaha passenger train No. 3. The accident occurred at the railroad crossing near the light plant and the elevator of T. Miller & Co., commonly known as the mill crossing. The two boys had started to cross the track with a load of junk which they were loading into a car nearby. The front wheel of the truck was upon the track before they saw the train and Hopkins, who was driving the truck, attempted to reverse the machine and back off. In the momentary delay the engine hit the truck squarely smashing it to scrap iron, and carrying a part of it some seventy-five yards up the track. Edenberg was dragged along the track for some distance, his head and hands striking the ties and rails and producing injuries which it seems must prove fatal. A piece of the skull bone about an inch wide was picked up after the accident.

Hopkins was thrown clear of the truck, and in some unexplainable manner, landed on the cow catcher of the engine where he rode till the train stopped. He was uninjured. Edenberg died the next evening.

Funeral services were held at his home Saturday morning at 10 a. m. by the A. M. E. pastor, Rev. Meadows.

The people unite with the bereaved family and relatives in extending their sympathies.

Mrs. Ollie Crowley, Master Edgar H. Doney and Geraldine spent Friday with their sister in Slater, Mrs. Inez Thompson.

THE OBITUARY OF THOMAS JACKSON

Thomas Jackson was born June 10, 1842 at Jackson, Miss., and died at his home, 609 Ninth avenue, Oct. 23, 1919, at the age of 77 years, 4 months and 13 days.

He was brought to Washington, Iowa, by Dr. Seofield an army physician. After living there a few years he decided to do for himself and went to Sigourney, Iowa, and started a barber shop. In 1874 he was united in marriage to Hatie Black of Washington, Iowa. To this union six children were born. His wife and four children preceded him in death. He resided in Sigourney, Iowa, thirty-two years. In 1897 he was united in marriage to Amelia Gomer. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, Amelia Jackson and two sons, Arthur A., and Thomas Raymond and a host of friends.

He united with the A. M. E. church in 1917 under the Rev. J. P. Sims and as long as he was able he was to be found at church services. He was a kind considerate husband and an indulgent father. He was perfectly willing to go and said it was alright with him and the Lord. After awakening from a sleep he would express disappointment that he had not gone home. After advice to his wife and sons he said, "That's all I have to say my work is done, it is alright."

Mrs. Amelia Jackson, Mrs. Arthur Jackson and family and Mr. Raymond Jackson and family wish to thank the members of Mount Olive lodge No. 17 and Silver Leaf chapter O. E. F. No. 5, also for the consoling remarks of the pastor, the choir for the rendition of their beautiful selections and the many friends for their expressions of sympathy during the illness and death of their husband and father, and for the beautiful floral offerings and Mr. Simon Floyd for donating the services of his car.
