NOTED PHYSICIAN PASSES.

Word has just been received of the death of Dr. C. A. Cabanis which occurred at his home in Washington, D. C. Feb. 7 of acute indigestion. He was in apparent good health and his sudden death comes as a shock to the entire country.

Later he was secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Camp Meade, where he remained until the close of the war. His work during the entire period of the war was untiring and very effective.

HOWARD DREW AND SOL BUTLER ASKED TO BOOST EVENT RACE'S GREATEST ATHLETES TO PARTICIPATE IN NEW YORK EVENT

New York, March 4.—An invitation that has been extended to Howard F. Drew and Sol Butler to come east and compete in the big meet of the 15th Infantry, to be staged at the 2nd Regiment Armory on the night of March 15. Besides these two stars of the track, entries are coming in from all over and the affair should turn out to be one of the most successful of its kind. Aside from the object in staging this athletic carnival, support should be forthcoming from all quarters as an attempt will be made to bring together the best that we have from all over the United States. Since the days of the Smart Set club of Brooklyn we have not had a meet of the kind planned and those who will remember those banner affairs cannot afford to miss the biggest of coming events in the world of athletic endeavor as all the best to be had in the way of athletes throughout the U. S. A. will participate. Many of the boys who starred in the land of France in many athletic events, from hurdle racing to "Hun chasing" will be on hand to demonstrate their ability to do things big and little.

By Census of 1910 showed a Negro population of 50 per cent or more, the South could not object, because it would relieve the radical tension by destroying the fear of possible attempts to "dominate" on the part of the numerous Negroes. This method of obtaining labor for the Northern manufacturers should also offset the objections made by Southern employers who are located in districts where the percentage of the Negro population is smaller. (Note: Article for publication next week on front page.)

LEFT HALF MILLION TO SECRETARY

Harrodsburg, Ky., Feb. 26.—Miss Bessie Garland, white, private secretary to the late "Dr. J. S. Anderson, noted herb doctor, who died here recently will get the bulk of the dead man's estate unless two sisters who were left a house and lot, put up a fight. Bessie came to the doctor as a patient, was cured, and became his private secretary. The "doctor" was a pure-blooded Negro and worked by means of herbs. His estate consisted of four lots, six buildings in Kingston, Tennessee, $37,400 worth of farm lands in Pulaski county and an auto.

WILBERFORCE UNI GOES OVER THE TOP

Wilberforce, Ohio, March 3.—Wilberforce university went "over the Top" with its "Victory Rally" last week on Founders' Day, by raising $50,000 in one day. This is the largest sum that has ever been raised for education among our people in the history of the race. By the first Sunday in April the sum is expected to be $100,000. Money raised by districts: Fifth Episcopal, Bishop C. S. Smith, $3,500 Fourth Episcopal, Bishop L. J. Coppin, $8,000 First Episcopal, Bishop Evans Tyree, nothing; Third Episcopal, Bishop Joshua Jones, $33,500 and in pledges $35,000. Bishop Jones' President of the Trustees' board, and presides over the third district, is responsible for this great awakening among the Methodists.

The Best Laxative.

"My sedentary habits have necessitated the use of an occasional laxative. I have tried many but found nothing better than Chamberlain's Tablets," writes George F. Daniels, Hardwick, Vt. Mr. Daniels is proprietor of the Hardwick Inn, one of the model hotels of New England.

FOREIGN IMMIGRATION CREATES JOBS FOR NEGRO HELP IN THE NORTH

By Charles E. Hall
Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—That the labor situation is again becoming acute, and that there will be a further draft upon Southern negro labor by the large industrial concerns located in the North, is indicated by the statistics, on file at the bureau of immigration, which according to the daily press reveal the startling fact that this year there will be 100,000 or more foreigners departing from than arriving on the hospitable shores of the United States, and that it is principally those who are now engaged in manual labor who are taking their departure.

On account of this condition, it is thought that the fear of Negro domination in certain sections of the country will soon be a thing of the past, because it is inconceivable that the Northern manufacturers will bank their fires while there is a world-wide demand for their products. It is thought by those who have studied the problem that if the Northern employers would systematically draw their supply of labor from each of the 264 counties which

DO COLORED EDITORS MEAN TO PUSSEYFOOT?

(By Edgar G. Brown.)

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9. —As I have been a constant reader of your splendid paper for over a year I would like to submit to you the following statement which I hope you will find space in your paper to print.

I have received one hundred and two letters from editors all over the country which on the whole expressed this sentiment, "I am not particularly interested in who the nominee of the Republican party. It matters not what his name may be or what his vocation may be, if he is right on the question affecting my race and the business of this country, he is my candidate."

I am in complete sympathy with the thought that he (candidate) must be right on the race question, I would be a traitor if I were not, and I, also, believe that the candidate of the Republican party must be an out and out American concerned primarily with the business of this country like Lincoln of old and the late Theodore Roosevelt.

I take direct exception to the statement that it matters not what his name (the candidate's) may be; because, first this statement means nothing but evasion of the issue and savors of the usual political pussyfooting, and secondly because back of a candidate's name is the man and his record both of which can be studied.

One hundred and twenty-three editors have fearlessly chosen General Wood as the Champion of the Square Deal to all men. What is the matter with the one hundred and two? The facts, the past records, and the present utterances, and platform of General Leonard Wood are open to all alike. Are we to forever go on leading only where there is darkness?

I think the colored people of the United States are entitled to know that General Wood is right on our question, that he is the only candidate up to date to openly champion the cause of every American white or black who is in trouble and it does matter to two million colored voters what the candidate's name is for president of the greatest Democracy in the world.

ATTORNEY S. JOE BROWN DISCUSSES MAYORAL CANDIDATES

Editor Bystander: Since the primary election at which we are to select a candidate for mayor and councilman is to be held next Monday and because of my being compelled to be out of the city during these last three days of the campaign when voters are really making up their minds whom they will support, I am requesting the privilege of saying a word through the columns of your valuable paper concerning the three candidates for mayor.

They are Ernest Quick, a young bricklayer who says he is twenty-eight years of age and who was a candidate a few years ago for the same office and in his campaign speeches made a bid for the liberal vote by ridiculing the churches and church people, but got very little support.

Another is H. H. Barton, a contractor in University place, who has been a candidate for county treasurer but failed to secure the nomination and has been little heard of since.

The third Mr. John Gibson, formerly of the Gibson Coal company but at present president of the Iowa Auto and Supply company is to my mind the candidate of mayor who should appeal to the Negro voter not only because he is a prominent businessman and will in all probabilities be nominated and elected; but also because he knows Negroes has been associated with them both as a miner and an employer of miners and other help.

I have been associated with him in a business way and have also served with him on political and civic committees and have always received from him the same courteous treatment as have the men of his own race.

Mr. Gibson has had experience as a member of the council of Des Moines and I believe that if elected he will not only give our city a clean business administration; but will also treat the members of our race with the same fairness and courtesy that he does other citizens.

S. JOE BROWN.

To Editor of Bystander:

Permit me to offer a few more thoughts on this most important on those men who feel their calling to preach." A democrat century may shatter the pedestal on which priest-hoods formerly stood, but high tablelands of idealism and service are as dear to our rough-and-tumble age as to any age before us. It will be the ministry's own fault if these upper levels are deserted by him as a profession, and his own fault if men's eyes look in vain for sentinels on the lofty battlements of truth and hope and prophecy. In desiring to behold her watchman there, humanity is simply expressing its deep-seated and sometimes agonizing cry that true motherhood and Godhood shall be forever connected and that neither shall fail from among men. Individually, every minister's charter and license to preach goes back to this same source and matrix, and thus he receives his first ordination. It comes from the hands of universal humanity, not from sect or bishop or local church. The wisdom of mankind's instinct in thus choosing her own prophets is apparent at once. By prior claim she demands that their message be as universal as motherhood instead of being local or sectarian. Here is the only charter by which a man is allowed to preach, and if he has any narrower charter the world, large or small, will not really license him for his message. The hands of some Hannah on some Samuel's head takes precedence over all other ordinations and the process is about as near as could be imagined to St. Paul's declaration—"For I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it." If such a background and historical origin exists for the ministry, if instead of counting gain and loss in choosing his life, as other men do, the preacher is carried by a tidal wave into his profession, if in almost literal fashion he always hears his task saying in the voice of humanity, "Ye have not chosen me but I have chosen you," it becomes clear that he possesses, in trust for all men, some inner goods which make the ministry well-deserving of its title, the greatest profession. Its greatness, however, is not personal but a delegated and dedicated greatness, and wrote the prophet who claims anything else. The first mark of supremacy in the ministerial calling is a beautiful combination or harmony between the personal and the delegated aspect of the clerical life. This hall-mark lies in the magic phrase, fulfillment of youthful ideals. To no man under the sun is it given as to the minister to have a continual consciousness of doing what a man exactly what he always wanted to do when a boy. In the plodding years of his ordinary novitiate in preaching. In the days when he hardly knows whether his sermons are airy and vapid nothing of fragments of eternal truth he is still able to remind himself that it was this he longed to do and nothing else. Sometimes on a weary Sunday morning, when he beholds a half-filled instead of a "packed" church," the thought will even then grip him, as by a mighty outstretched arm, that after all, this task is his first love irrespective of numbers and statistics. In later periods when the ministry to a special community becomes a treadmill of petty duties, of insignificant appearances at committees, just in order to show his interest when the level of his high calling sinks not only down to but apparently below that of the life about him, even then there will sometimes sweep over him the salt-sea air of the old tidal wave and he will recall that once in the mythica and dim beginnings of his choice his real desire was just to live a human life, just to touch, with a differing touch from other men, the usual interests of humanity as they one by one in annoying detail show their heads above the surface. Somehow he will remember that in the petty round he is after all doing what he once dreamed of doing, just being a man; a man with no one interest lording it over another, but with a touch of divine light for interest, one to whom it has been given to accomplish little that is definite, but who wastes of organization and detail.

—Rev. J. E. Roberts.

CENTERVILLE NOTES.

Sunday was a beautiful day. It was also a big day for the Second Baptist church as our big rally came to a close. The pastor, Rev. Alford, preached two soul-stirring sermons to large crowds both morning and evening. After a thirty days struggle we succeeded by the help of God in raising more money than in any other such short time in the history of the church.

There were two clubs one of the tribe of Judea the other of the tribe of Benjamin. Deacon J. W. Martin was captain of the Judea club, Mrs. Mattie Ridgely, president; Mrs. Bessie Lee, secretary and Mrs. Galford, treasurer; Deacon Clay Noah was captain of the Benjamin club; Mrs. Ada Childs, president; Mrs. Emma Hicks, secretary and Mrs. Lizzie D. Price, treasurer. The total amount raised by the clubs, pastor, Sunday school and other organizations amounted to $1,119.21. The general church collection was $22.65. A special collection of $16.20 was taken up for the pastor in recognition of his good work. The entire collections for the day amounted to $1,158.60. Much credit is due to the pastor and his wife for their loyal work although they have only been with us four months.

The money was raised for the purpose of buying a parsonage, which is now bought and paid for, and a few repairs are being made. The pastor and family will move in this week. He is well pleased with his members and the friends of the Second Baptist church. We thank everybody for their support.

The church, Sunday school and Mission Circle are all doing good work. We thank them and all other auxiliaries that have helped.

Why Colds are Dangerous.

You are often told to "beware of a cold," but why? We will tell you: Every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and paves the way for the more serious diseases. People who contract pneumonia first take cold. The longer a cold hangs on, the greater the danger, especially from the germ diseases, as a cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of consumption, diphtheria, scarlet fever and whooping cough. The quicker you get rid of your cold, the less the danger of contracting one of these diseases. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation as a cure for colds and can be depended upon. It is pleasant to take.

For Diseases of the Skin.

Nearly all diseases of the skin such as eczema, tetter, salt, rheum and barber's itch are characterized by an intense itching and smarting, which often makes life a burden and disturbs sleep and rest. Quick relief may be had by applying Chamberlain's Salve. It allays the itching and smarting almost instantly. A Pleasant Physic. When you want a pleasant physic give Chamberlain's Tablets a trial. They are mild and gentle in their action and always produces a pleasant cathartic effect.

How to Save Money On Your Long Distance Calls

This advertisement is intended to explain the different classes of long distance telephone service and how they may be used to the best advantage.

When you make a long distance call, if you are willing to talk to anyone at the telephone called, you will be using what is known as station-to-station service. This is considerably cheaper than other classes of service. Station-to-station rates are based on a charge of about 5 cents for each six miles up to 24 miles and 5 cents for each 8 miles beyond that distance, with a minimum charge of 10 cents.

How to Place a Station-to-Station Call

When using station-to-station service you should give the long distance operator the name and address of the business or the individual with whose telephone you desire connection. In addition you should give the telephone number if you are sure it is correct. On this class of service the charge begins when the telephone called is answered.

The charge on a station-to-station call cannot be reversed; that is, it cannot be charged to the telephone called.

This is how you would place a call with the long distance operator on a station-to-station message: After giving your own telephone number and name, say, for example, "I want to talk to John Brown's residence at Blue Springs, Iowa," or "I want to talk to George Anderson's store at Burehard, Iowa." Care should be taken to make it clear to the long distance operator that you do not want to talk to a particular person or persons at the telephone called as in that case it would be a person-to-person call and you would be charged a higher rate.

By the very nature of your requirements for long distance telephoning, no doubt a great many of your business and social calls permit the use of station-to-station service. And in addition you can more often use this cheaper class of service if you make special arrangements with those with whom you desire to talk, either frequently or occasionally, to be ready for your call at a given time.

How to Make a Person-to-Person Call

If you ask to talk to a particular person or persons over long distance, you will be using person-to-person service. The charge for this service is about one-fourth greater than for station-to-station service because the operators may have to spend considerably more time and hold the wires ready while they make an effort to locate the particular party. This class of service is not only more expensive but naturally slower than station-to-station service.

If you desire person-to-person service at a particular hour, and wish to make an appointment to talk at a given time, the appointment rate will apply.

If you wish to talk to a person who does not have a telephone and for whom a messenger must be sent, the messenger call rate will apply.

How the Rates Are Applied

The following is an example showing the station-to-station and person-to-person rates for distances up to sixty-four miles.

Miles.	Station-To-Station.	Person-to-Person.
0-12.....	$0.10	$0.15
12-18.....	.15	.20
18-24.....	.20	.25
24-32.....	.25	.30
32-40.....	.30	.40
40-48.....	.35	.45
48-56.....	.40	.50
56-64.....	.45	.55

While the messenger call rate and the appointment rate are not shown in the above table they are each about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate. The report charge, which also is not shown, is about one-fourth of the station-to-station rate.

The Report Charge

When you place a call for a particular person and for any reason not within the telephone company's control the call is not completed, or if you make a call and are not ready to talk when the other person is ready within one hour, a report charge is made. This is to cover a part of the expense of the operator's time and the use of the wires while we are trying to find your party.

Special Night Rates

The special evening rate between 8:30 p. m. and 12 o'clock midnight on station-to-station calls is about one-half the day rate and the night rate between midnight and 4:30 a. m. about one-fourth the day rate. The minimum evening or night charge is 25 cents, the day rate applying where the charge is less than that amount. The evening and night rates for person-to-person calls are the same as the day rates.

The rate for any class of service may be obtained by calling "Long Distance."

Further information in connection with our long distant service will be gladly furnished on request.
