The Department Of Labor Has Issued An Important Monograph on Negro Labor in the United States

(By The Associated Negro Press.) Washington, March 15.—The department of labor has just issued a second study on Negro labor consisting of a monograph of 144 pages giving data about occupations in which Negroes were most generally employed during the war period, the average number of working hours, opinions of employers who employed Negroes and the Negro workers records as to absenteeism, turnover, etc. The report also gives full account of the plans, policies, methods of handling the problems dealt with by the Department of Labor during the past three years for increasing the efficiency of Negro workers and improving the relations of Negro workers, white workers and employers.

Figures showing the distribution of Negro men in unskilled occupations in twenty-six states, comprising 62,340 Negro workers in 292 firms in the different war industries in 1918 are given. The large percentage of increase of Negroes in meatpacking establishments from 1916 to 1919 and an analysis of the occupations of 24,648 Negro workers in the shipbuilding plants under the jurisdiction of the United States Shipping Board, studies of Negroes in iron and steel plants and other basic industries during the war are included. The opinions of employers who have had experience with Negro workers, have been ascertained and tabulated.

A brief summary is given of the large shift of colored women from domestic and personal service into industrial and clerical occupations during the war period.

In commenting on the publication Dr. George E. Haynes of the Department of Labor said, "The facts given in this second study of Negro labor have been very carefully gathered, collated and analyzed. The tables and figures and other data while limited in quantity and scope are accurate and probably the most available and almost the only material covering these problems."

Colored Women Hold Conference At National Capitol

Women in Charge of Frederick Douglass Home Receive Inaugural Visitors at Cedar Hill

On Thursday, March 3 on the eve of the inauguration of President Warren G. Harding, in whose election they had taken a conspicuous part, the colored women state campaign directors from practically every state in the union including Alaska, assembled in Washington at the call of Mrs. Letha C. Fleming, national director and Mrs. C. Fleming, Clay-Haley and Mary Church Terrell, assistants, and held a conference in the John Wesley A. M. E. church.

The Iowa Colored Women were represented by Mrs. S. Joe Brown, who gave a splendid report of political activities of the Negro women of Iowa, not only in pre-election campaign, but also in the part taken of them in acting as judges and clerks at the different elections held throughout the state, as jurors in the courts of Iowa since the beginning of the year and of the citizenship study classes that are being conducted throughout the state.

Mrs. Mary Church Terrell was hostess at luncheon to the state political directors in the parlors of the church and in the evening they were honored guests at a musicale at the Dunbar High school. This courtesy was arranged by the club women of the city with Miss Hallie Q. Brown as the principal speaker and at this social function the officers of the National Association of Colored Women were each presented.

Friday morning, March 4, Mrs. Brown witnessed the imposing spectacle of the inauguration of a president of the United States. With the sun beaming brightly upon the thousands that thronged Pennsylvania avenue, President-elect Warren G. Harding accompanied by Ex-President Woodrow Wilson and their escort moved up to the capitol and was inaugurated president, after which he delivered a memorable address in which he gave hope to our group that justice would be meted out to all American citizens, was an impressive occasion that will never be forgotten by Iowa's representative of colored women.

As a member of the Frederick Douglass board of trustees, Mrs. Brown, on Saturday afternoon attended a meeting at Anacostia. A joint session of the present and former board of trustees, and president-elect Dr. Archibald Grimke, was held and the building was formally turned over to the new trustees. Mrs. Brown presented to the hos-

Evanston, Ill. to Have Community Center

(By The Associated Negro Press.)

Evanston, Ill., March 15.—The colored people of this city are to have a community home. Plans for the building are completed and provide for a community store, office and a lodge hall. Twenty-two colored men have contributed $100.00 each and the three story structure will be erected before early summer, according to the present program. Forest E. White and William H. Gill are the sponsors of the idea.

Y. M. C. A. Drive Opens

The Crocker Street Branch of the Y. M. C. A. will launch a financial drive Sunday afternoon, when a big massmeeting will be held at Corinthian Baptist church, corner Fifteenth and Linden streets. The campaign will be often days duration. The object of the workers will be to raise $2,000. Senator Perry C. Holdoegel of Rockwell City will be the principal speaker.

The famous Wyatt boys quartette will sing and the Corinthian choir will render several selections. It is hoped that the church will be filled to capacity. Let everyone attend this meeting and listen to an excellent program and encourage the "Y" officials in their efforts.

Home of Frederick Douglass Is Opened To Public

(By The Associated Negro Press.)

Washington, March 15.—Anacostia, the historic home of Frederick Douglass, is now the property of the colored people of the United States. Mrs. Mary B. Talbert, president of the Frederick Douglass Memorial and Historical association, has just announced that the mortgage against the building and land has been lifted by her society. Hallie Q. Brown, Meta Pelham, Nettie L. Napier, Laura Brown, Alice Dunbar-Nelson, Dr. Mary Waring, Mary McLeod Bethune, Elizabeth Carter and Nannie H. Burroughs are among the prominent women who helped to bring the campaign for the mortgage fund to a successful issue.

Frankfort, Ky., March 14.—Gov. Edwin P. Morrow today offered $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of each member of the mob that early yesterday took Richard James, a Negro, from Woodford county jail and lynched him. The governor also issued a proclamation removing Jailer John H. Edger of Woodford county.

The governor's proclamation is the first under the anti-mob law of 1920. It gives the jailer ten days in which to appeal for reinstatement. The governor also instructed County Judge Edmond Mulcahy to institute a court of inquiry, as the grand jury will not meet until May.

Many-Notable Events At Washington During Inauguration Week

(By The Associated Negro Press.)

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Social Washington among colored people was prepared with many notable events to receive the large number of prominent visitors to the Capital City to attend the inauguration of President Harding. Each day of inaugural week was taken up with dinners, luncheons, and teas, and each evening's program was filled with numerous receptions and balls. From the first part of the week until inaugural day visitors from all sections of the country arrived and soon crowded the Whitelaw Hotel and other places of accommodation as well as filled the homes of nearly every prominent colored resident.

Of the out of town guests who participated in the festivities of inaugural week were: Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Malone, St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. J. R. L. Crossland, St. Joseph, Mo.; Hon. Robt. L. Springfield Quite, Troops Ready To Suppress Riots. No More Trouble seems Imminent

(By The Associated Negro Press.)

Springfield, Ohio, March 16.—The attempt of a drunken policeman to maltreat a Negro who did not get out of his way quick enough, when ordered to step off the sidewalk by the officer, caused the death of the policeman and about eighteen other black and white citizens last Friday night. Rioting continued through the night but quiet was restored in the early morning hours after the militia had been called to the scenes of strife and the streets fortified with machine guns.

It was in the early evening time when the fighting began. No one seems to have a clear idea of how the trouble started. It was confined wholly in the Negro district, where it began, and is believed to have had its origin in a series of minor clashes that have occurred between police officers and alleged rowdy Negroes during the past few weeks. The killing of the policeman was the culmination of these smaller fights.

Before the Friday night clash had continued far large crowds of whites joined the officers called to the Negro district to quell the rioting. The Negroes, regarding the invasion of the district as an effort to punish them for the results of the riots of two years ago, resisted arrests and calmly engaged the police and their allies in the sanguinary street battle which lasted through the entire night.

Several attempts to dynamite homes of the Negroes were frustrated by them. One white man discovered in the act of placing a bomb near the residence of a Negro was roughly handled but was rescued by the police after a desperate battle in the course of which several combatants were severely wounded and as many more killed.

The police department declare that the origin of the trouble is to be traced to an attempted rape of a young white girl by a Negro several days ago. This is stoutly denied by Negro citizens of all classes who declare that the police have been assiduously seeking to create trouble in the Negro district for political reasons.

There has been no serious recurrence of the rioting since order was restored by the National Guard last Saturday morning. The public resorts ordered closed by Major Rescott are, in the majority of cases, still shut. There is no general fear that the rioting will be resumed.

Bonus Bill Passes Both Houses

With the soldiers' bonus now safely through both houses of the legislature in a form satisfactory to the American Legion and its signature by the governor but a matter of form, the whole question of paying the war veterans adjusted compensation will be decided by the people at the general election in November, 1922.

Inasmuch as the measure carries a bond issue of $22,000,000 to provide funds for the payment of the bonus and for the disability fund, the question will have to be voted upon by the people at the next general election.

The following gives the substance of the bill passed by both houses of the general assembly, and transmitted to Governor Kendall for signature:

Who are eligible—Any soldier, sailor, or marine who served in the nation's fighting forces between April 6, 1917 and Nov. 11, 1918 (including officers of Iowa at the time of his or her enlistment. S. A. T. C. students excepted.

Amount to be paid—Fifty cents a day for each day in service between April 6, 1917, and the date of final discharge, but in no case more than $350.

Money to be raised—By a state bond issue of $22,000,000, the bonds to run for twenty years. This fund will be administered, and bonuses paid, by a board composed of the state treasurer, the state auditor, the adjutant general, and the adjutant of the Iowa department of the American Legion. Bonds will be retired by a special tax levy sufficient to cover principal and interest, spread over twenty years.

People must approve—None of the provisions of the bill will be effective, the bonds will not be issued, and bonus applications will not be received, until the measure has been approved by vote of the people at the general election in 1922. Bonus warrants probably will not be available until early in 1923.

Applications received by—The clerk of the district court in your county of present residence, in the county in which you enlisted, or by the adjutant general direct. No bonus paid except upon application.

Disability fund—Any amount remaining in the bonus fund, up to $2,000,000, after all bonuses have been paid, will go into a disability fund, to be administered by the bonus board and to be spent in relief of Iowans disabled through military service.

Too Much of a Good Thing. It is a good thing to have a good thing, but too much of a good thing is frequently injurious.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

A THOUGHT ON NEGRO HISTORY

(Rev. W. H. Griffin, D. D., St. Paul's A. M. E. Church.)

It is frequently remarked that "The Negro is making history," which statement we admit to be true.

But if this history is only an oral account of events, much of its truth, power and inspiring effect will be lost through corruption and error and its authenticity questioned.

The Negro has already enriched the world with his contributions of thought and deeds to an extent and of a character far beyond our ability to determine or calculate and for which we receive no credit because he has failed to chronicle events and record achievements in a manner that would identify them as the product of his genius and skill.

Who among us have not read the glowing descriptions, of the Nile Valley with its mighty kingdoms, magnificent cities, buildings, etc., without suspecting or at least cherishing the hope that his ancestors might have been the lords thereof? For example "Thebes, the magnificent and stately, was known as the hundred-gated city of upper Egypt.

It is said to have extended over twenty-three miles. On its sides are the villages of Karnak and Luxor, where ruins of magnificent and spacious temples, splendid palaces, colossal statues, avenues of obelisks, and lines of sphinxes, tombs of kings hewn in solid rock, subterranean catacombs, and gigantic buildings still bear witness to the immense size and splendor of this great and celebrated city whose ruins extend seven miles along both banks of the Nile.

These ancient people had a wonderful building instinct.

The outstanding feature of their architecture was massiveness and grandeur, in which respects they have never been surpassed.

Explorers and missionaries have brought from the interior of Africa implements of agriculture and warfare wrought in iron, brass and copper, also pottery and articles exhibiting art and skill of a rare quality pointing backward to an age of superior attainment and civilization.

Many Negro scholars have claimed these Nile cities as the accomplishments of Negroes.

One of our great weeklies has worked into its title-design, the sphinx as a race symbol.

Dr. Wm. Ferris, author of "The African Abroad" claims for the Negro much of the ancient history accredited to the Egyptians.

Could we know with certainty and teach our children that the account of the city of Thebes is an excerpt from the pages of Negro history; that the pyramids of Cheops; the Labyrinth of Faioom with its three thousand rooms; the great libraries of the valley (dispensaries of the soul) dealing with religion, history, theology, mathematics, love-songs, medicine and astronomy, etc., were the work of Negroes, what greater inspiration could be given them to awaken race-consciousness and pride.

Could these be linked with the achievements of the present day they would inspire our people to redouble their efforts toward the goal of success.

Many of our children know but little if anything of our race history beyond the period of American slavery and to most adults the vague conceptions of their progenitors dies out in the deep thick jungles of Africa amidst heathenism and ring-nosed cannibals.

With an authentic history of a glorious past, the Negro of today may look optimistically to a more glorious future.

We must not only make history: We must write it!

MR. HARDING AMERICAN

TWENTY-NINTH PRESIDENT

Warren G. Harding, is the first newspaper publisher and the first business man by occupation to serve as president of the United States. He is the twenty-ninth chief executive, reckoning Cleveland's two terms as separate ones because he was the only president serving twice who was not re-elected.

Nineteen presidents were lawyers at the time they were elected. Three were classified as statesmen, two as soldiers, two as farmers, one as a public official. Mr. Harding might also fall within the class of statesmen, as he had served six years in the Senate when elected, and was the first senator to be elected president.

Virginia leads in the nativity of presidents. Eight of her sons—Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Harrison, Tyler, Taylor and Wilson—have held the highest office in the gift of the nation.

Ohio has given seven native sons to the presidency—Grand, Hayes, Garfield, Benjamin Harrison, McKinley, Taft and Harding.

Eighteen presidents have been college men, one was graduated from West Point, nine had no college education.

GILPIN INVITED.

It is worth recording that the Negro actor, Gilpin, who is one of the season's sensations in New York, and who was named by vote one of the ten who have done most for dramatic art in the last year, was invited with the other nine to the complimentary dinner of the Drama League and was handsomely received by the more than 600 guests who gathered at Hotel McAlpine.

The World says in its report: "If any members refused to attend because of the presence of the black actor it was not apparent, for the number on hand was so large it became necessary to place twenty additional tables in the ballroom adjoining the main banquet hall where the dinner proper was held."

 Among the ardent champions of Gilpin was Gilda Varese, between whom and Lee Simonson of "Heartbreak House" he was seated. Miss Varese had said:

"If you invite Gilpin I will be proud to sit behind him. If there is any place on earth where race should be permitted it is in the church and in art. God is God, and genius is genius, and race ought not to make a distinction."

At an informal conference of members and guests of the Civic club Gilpin talked on the Negro in America: "It is not a case of social equality, but of the brotherhood of man."

The New York Evening Post speaks of the matter editorially:

"By a fine interpretation of a single role Mr. Gilpin has proved that the title of artist is his due. The Negro, famous for his mimic powers, ought to come to hold an esteemed place on the stage. Already the race has produced a comedian of talent in Bert Williams. Poets like Paul Laurence Dunbar and James Weldon Johnson; composers like Coleridge-Taylor of African birth, and Harry T. Burleigh; prose writers like Du Bois and Booker Washington; a scientist like Edward Everett Just—these men show that the Negro will surely though perhaps slowly build up a record of contributions to the arts. There is no color line in the world of culture. An appearance of hesitancy on the part of the Drama League to welcome Mr. Gilpin evoked a protest in which were coupled resentment over a palpable injustice to a colored man and resentment over a palpable injustice to art itself. Those who lead in music, letters, sculpture and painting cannot hitch a Jim Crow car to the muses' chariot. Every new achievement by the Negro fitly recognized helps in the general upliftment of a race. It inspires multitudes of colored people to strive toward a better estate."

This recognition of merit in a colored man, made formally and on full consideration, sets a new mile post for the race, for it will be easier from now on

The Way It Appears To Me

Robert Durr

MEDITATING.

The prison wall magnifies the vision. Thousands of crimes could be averted if human beings were given to see from the inside as they see from the outside: Think of it! In prison, no sunlight, no chairs, no books, no bed, your food moulded bread and putrid water thrown to you as if though you were a dog and you do not even see the hand that flings it to you.

A twinkle of madness, a spasm of jealousy; a desire to get even; the fire of a pistol—then, the prison walls. And in prison you have time to exercise that power that differentiates man from the lower animals—"reason." Time to bitterly recall days of innocence before the glare of the bright lights dazzled the vision and the underworld life saturated the moral sense.

You think of the life lived in the old abode where simple virtues satisfied and peace dominated, that, and other things you have spurned when "right" dared not whisper. You weigh values and see people unceremoniously slammed behind the bars because they acted before "reasoning," this condition fetches human being face to face with the sequel of wasted opportunities.

Freedom was never so sweet; right never so beautiful; self-control never so fascinating; honor was never so wonderful as when looked upon from behind the prison walls. Why not reason before acting?

Capital Plus Education Will Help Us.

No man can be independent or support his lodges, churches, schools, own his home, operate business enterprises unless he has capital. It is that tool that enables a man to cut his ideas even though the world leans from him. We hate the Uncle Tom Negro—lynching and burning at stake, but, often these conditions are brought about due to dependence. Some man trying to earn a living has to work in places where others can commit a dirty crime and place the blame on the innocent man. Often some sap-headed colored man allows himself to be caught in some unbecoming act and his associate yells out they are being intruded upon to hide their dirty work, doings in which both are equally the blame, but, the black man without trial is given a "neck-tie party."

I have never heard of a colored man who had finished the eighth or ninth grade ever intruding on a woman of any race. I have never heard of a wealthy Negro with education ever being mobbed. When a man is trying to accumulate wealth and is educated he has little space in his mind for degrading things "they do things in the best way." Capital is the skeleton of progress while learning is the flesh thereon. It takes both to make the best of us.

CHURCH NOTES
 Tenth and Park street, Rev. B. F. White, pastor.
 The inclement weather conditions of the past Sunday affected the attendance at all services of the church of the day. At the 11 o'clock hour there was a representative company of earnest souls who had braved the storm and were present to greet the pastor. By the time the Sunday school hour had come, there was on hand almost the usual number for that service. What we lacked in numbers throughout the day was made up for in interest and spirit. The special features of the Sunday-school program from Sunday to Sunday are very attractive. Preparation is now being made for every phase of the church program on Easter to present special and unusually attractive features.

Our efficient president of the Christian Endeavor, Mrs. Miles, is able to be at her post again and the society is looking forward hopefully to a career that will eclipse anything it has done in its past history. Its meetings are held every Sunday at 6:30 p. m. The vocal duet given the past Sunday by Secretary Robison of the Y. M. C. A. and a representative of the Corinthian B. Y. P. U. was much enjoyed by all. The society will serve an "April fool's" dinner on the evening of April 1 and it is earnestly expected that even many wise persons will be on hand to partake of this dinner.

 The church will conduct a series of special meetings every evening at 7:45 p. m. to begin Wednesday, 16th continuing through Passion Week to Easter. Christian friends are invited to be with us, and sinners are especially urged to be present and let their needs be made known unto the Lord.
 The home-like church. Everybody made welcome.

NOTES FROM THE MT. OLIVE BAPTIST CHURCH
 Rev. G. E. Sanders, pastors. This will be the closing week of the three weeks revival. The church has been greatly benefited and an addition of eighteen members, twelve for baptism, six by restoration. The baptism will take place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Maple Street Baptist church of which Rev. S. Bates is pastor. Among the candidates are two fine young men, Mr. William Saunders and Mr. Willie Thompson, both were overseas soldiers.
 A sermon on baptism will be preached by the pastor Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. We were glad to see Dr. W. H. Lowry, the dentist in our service last Sunday. The doctor spoke briefly in regards to the work of Y. M. C. A. He showed the work of Y. M. C. A. and the progress that has been made in the last two years.
 We will be glad to see you Sunday in our 11 o'clock service and the 7:30 p. m. service.

 We regret very much to have to announce the loss of another one of our primary teachers, Miss Lavera Wilson, who has been attending Drake university, but has been compelled by illness to discontinue her course and return to her home in Ottumwa, Iowa. The school will miss Miss Wilson.
 Co-operation of parents with the program committee will insure an excellent Easter-day celebration. Our exercises will start at 2 p. m. sharp. The finishing touches are being rapidly put on. Lesson XII—Jesus on the cross, Matt. 27:33-50.
 Golden text—God commandeth his love toward us in that, while we were yet sinners Christ died for us, Romans 5:8.
