WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE

PARTY POLITICS AS AFFECTED BY WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE An Address Delivered by Mrs. Laurence C. Jones, President of the Mississippi Federation of Women's Clubs, During Her Official Tour Visiting and Organizing Clubs.

FIRST: It will affect the numbers in both the leading political parties as well as the minor ones.

Since time immemorial man has realized the value of union or organized effort. Organization means construction and construction means order and method; and no club or business will prosper without order and method.

A rich planter living in the Delta of Mississippi one time employed a strange colored man as his mule driver. He handed him a brand new black-snake whip, climbed upon a nest behind a pair of mules, and asked the man if he could use the whip. Without a word the mule driver drew the black lash over his head, and flicked a beautiful butterfly from a clover blossom along side the road over which they were traveling.

"Well, that isn't so bad," remarked the planter. "Can you hit that honey bee over there?"
Again the colored man swung his whip as before, and the honey bee fell dead.

A short while after this he looked around and noticed a pair of bumble bees on still another blossom, switched them out of existence with the cracker of his new whip, and thus brought further admiration from his employer.

A little further along the planter espied a hornet's nest in a bush along side the road. Two or three hornets were assembled at the entrance of the nest.

"Can you hit them?" he asked by the man, pointing to the hornets."
"Yes, sah, I kin," replied he, "but I aint agoin' to." He then organized the bees to organize against evil. Therefore, ever since this Nation became the Federated States we have the same great ideal; simplified democratic laws, justice to all men and a greater republic. Not since the day of the Tories and Whigs and the Abolitionist and Pro-slavery parties has there been such enthusiasm displayed in politics as happened when the Susan B. Anthony Bill was up for ratification by the various States, this past summer.

Last summer I had the extreme pleasure of visiting the State legislature of Iowa when this bill was up before both houses of this splendid state. The greatest enthusiasm was displayed here by every boy, and with men as well as women. There were women from every walk in life; laughing young girls with rosy cheeks, neatly attired spinsters, dignified matrons, sweet faced young mothers and gray-haired grandmothers. The business woman, the society woman and the factory maid all were eager to see woman, the crowning masterpiece of God's genius placed in her rightful position; not in front of man nor behind him, but by his side where God intended her to be. When it was finally ratified every one felt that a new era had dawned in American politics.

planks in both party platforms today which are there because women have instigated their husbands, fathers, brothers and sons to propose them for the benefit of the people. The more intelligent women of the Nation. These are women who love research work and who will enter politics only when they have thoroughly mastered the great principles involved in maintaining such a government as ours.

THIRD: It will bring more intelligence to beat on the leading questions of the day.

The more ignorant women will not want to give the time to study and the society mother will not give the time from mere frivolity or trivial things to become posted in this very important work. Again woman's nature is naturally curious and before she enters into a political campaign of either party, she is going to see what either party has to offer her. Many women also have more time to become enlightened on the various leading subjects of the day because of the nature of it on the various leading subjects of the day, because the nature of their work does not demand as their time is so men. They have more time for reading in the home, and can assimilate it and apply it.

FOURTH: The selection of the right kind of men and women for public office.

Women are not liable to place men in office or vote for them if their moral character will not bear close investigation. While men very often know a man's character is just as crooked as a snake in the grass, the concept of Mother however is one who is always near, knows all about it, and shares its griefs and joys.

POEM.
Portrait of a Politician.
Isn't he beautiful, riding there
In his pearl-gray car, with this nose in the air;
And a hat such as only diplomatists
wear
Tipped so at the well known angle!
Why think of the things that he never has done;
And his place in the world that his grandname won
A family place, as it were, in the sun
With never a hint of a wrangle.

Women will never for an instant go into these great political parties without bringing with her all the wonderful knowledge - which she has gained - first, because she is a mother and secondly because she is a helpmate of Man. I feel safe in saying there is no political party with a broader or so great that it cannot be broadened to good effect by the addition of women and understanding of the things which come from the heart of woman.

away
For ever and ever and ever!
And he looked so wise that the Laborites said:
He must really be picked as their Peace League's head;
And he was; and he quietly choked it dead;
And that's what I call quite clever.

Don't call him a Tory. His great mind lowers
So loftily over this world of ours
That you never could limit its liberal powers.
Or fetter his thoughts to that form;
And nobody knows how the thing was done,
But the anarchists, after their fight was won,
Blinked their eyes like owls in the sun.
He was there!
In the chair!
On the platform!

And the parliaments come and the parliaments go;
And the empires perish like last year's snow;
But it makes no difference to him, you know;
For he sits on a sure foundation;
And the whole of the world may be fashioned anew;
But since he has never expressed a view
He will sit on the top of the new world too;
And smile, at his own creation.

Unscrupulous men and office-seekers without principle will vote very careful in the future about their methods of securing votes since they had they must control the ever-watchful eyes of woman. Perhaps the reason why they are so watchful is because of their associations with their husbands, fathers, brothers and sons. They mean well. God bless them, every one; but some times they slip a cog, when they think that woman have no business knowing about the affairs of the nation. They used to really believe that she did not have sense enough to comprehend these weightier matters, but they have long ago abandoned that idea.

SIXTH: It will bring about the installation of more police women.

No man has or ever could know how to deal with wayward girls or women like another woman would. Then, too, a woman knows better just what kind of advice to give to girls who are committing the most heinous crimes, or the kind of punishment to inflict on those who are chronic offenders of the law. Some of these have become hardened! No doubt because when they would try to get up there is always some man to drag them down again. When the installation of more police women White Slavery will be diminished to a great extent and our own colored girls will be taught that they can and must be just as virtuous as others, and that the old condition of slavery with Negro women as the white man's chattel has no place in these modern times.

SEVENTH: They will help to enact laws which will be more favorable to America with regard to the products raised here and the prices charged for the same to citizens of this country.

spoiled and had to be dumped into some river or canal. No indeed! They would not—they would throw up their hands in holy horror at such wanton waste of our productions. Then, too, they love to cook too well for that. Do you suppose they will permit for any length of time a situation which causes them to pay more in their own country for home-grown and home-made products than they would if they went to Europe? No indeed! If there must be a high tax, let it be on the exports out of this country, and not on things sold here.

EIGHTH: It will have more impetus in the passing of Pure Food Laws and the enforcing of the same.

A father might stand for his offspring to drink adulterated milk with chalk, water, and everything else in it under the sun, but never a mother; that child flesh and bone of her bone is too close to her own heart to permit such an injustice to be done. How often was a mother taken a highly colored piece of candy away from her child which the father or some male friends of the family has unwittingly given it! How many, many times has the storekeeper insisted on the housewife taking a certain spurious brand of something which she knows is genuine with the old saying that "it is just as good" as the other, only a little cheaper. Why have women established little home bakeries and tea rooms and cozy corners where they did some baking or other words, baking without alum and other chemicals which inflate the bread but give you less for your money? Because they wanted to establish better food laws! Why is it that sometimes they will walk to the store to get the other to get what they want while every storekeeper displays before their eager and anxious gaze beautifully embellished articles with fine labels but not the real and genuine? When women help men to be food inspectors, as a great many women are doing today, and more will enter, it will not be an easy task to bribe the inspector, for the woman is always looking out for the health of her family.

NINTH: Good Roads.

All women love beauty and symmetry, a poorly kept house, dirty yards, unclean unsightly alleys and streets are to the average woman things of disgust and to be changed. It is the same with the roads and more of them since people are traveling on the highways so much by auto in these modern times.

TENTH: Greatest of all these which I have mentioned—More emphasis will be put on Social Conditions.

Child Labor—Many a boy is driven away from home because his parents put him out to labor when he is hardly more than a baby and then take all his earnings to help keep up the family while the father often spends his for other things. I remember when I was in Colfax, Iowa, once I had the pleasure of going down into a coal mine, two hundred and ten feet below the surface, where my utter astonishment I saw little boys (this however was before they passed the child labor law in Iowa) down in this dark dungeon way from God's blessed sunlight, away from the pure fresh air which all children should enjoy in their growing years, where they could not either see the flowers or hear the song of birds. What a travesty on our great government which believes in justice and freedom to all men! Here was the making of a part of future America being denied the privilege to grow in body and mind as children should grow. Tears came to my eyes when I saw these little spraggers, for that is what they were called, because their work, ran along and spragged the trains as they traveled along the down-grade to the mouth of the shaft. All day long their little backs were bent as they ran along and placed these wooden sprags under the train load of coal to keep it from going too fast for fear it would lose some of the coal and thus the miners would lose some of their greedy pelf. But think, my friends, of what each one of these little boys were losing as vigorous growth—not only of the body but of the mind as well—getting a bent form instead of an erect one, a loss of all ideas of the beautiful, getting weak lungs, associating with miners who are not always the best moral men in the world—all this for what? A few paltry dollars!

children in school so they may grow to be fit Americans. Yet what do the greater part of the colored fathers and mothers do down here? At the very time when the child can learn the most, when the teacher has struggled along a winter to get the child to grasp the concept of learning and he is just dimly beginning to see the fruits of his labor, the parent comes along and says he or she will have to take their child out of school to help them with the farm. Some times the whole family is taken out. What preposterous selfishness! What darkness of vision! What aimlessness! But this is the situation. Everybody must run out to cut down the cotton stalks or as we say down here, knock stalks and clear the land for the next year's crop. But you ask, what about the child's education? Why, that is laid upon the shelf until the next fall and more often winter rolls around and he is given another three or four months to see if he can master the three r's. Do you wonder there is illiteracy among our people and that it is yet to change? Well, be too, until the babe whom they will so carefully nursed at their breast and so tenderly fondled in their arms after the long weary days under the broiling sun in the field is ended, is given a show in life. It is our privilege, women of the Southland, as well as our duty, to sound this note of alarm for our children that they may have a chance to spend a longer time in the schoolroom under the guidance of kind and wise teachers that they may grow into the healthy animal God intended them to be.

ELEVENTH: Proper Housing Conditions.

Proper housing conditions have for some time engaged the minds of the strongest men and women of America. Our own great and lamented ex-president Theodore Roosevelt, a number of years ago in the city of New York made a tour to exchange for the better in the tenement buildings of that great city. And today we are confronted with this question more than ever. During the last great World War thousands of colored people left their farm homes in the South to exchange for the better in the uncertain weather of the North in the large commercial centers of traffic. They had always been used to plenty of fresh air because the houses are not built close, and to wide fireplaces, giving an ever so good opportunity to let in the free ozone. Then, too, they are usually not crowded because there is always plenty of room outside and in fact, most of them stay outside as much as inside. They live a happy go-lucky and care-free life. But when they move to the great cities of the North all this is changed. The large sized rooms to the squalid little hall-bedrooms of the city, the good healthy pine wood fuel with its rosin oozing out to the stifling black and dirty coal, which because of their environment is soiled down to their lungs and because of the fertile field it remains there until it has nourished or engendered some dread lung disease as it usually does. Then, too, because our folks must root hog or die, and partly because they are like the odium cast upon them but do for good sake let them not make it, they congregate, many of them in a house far too small to hold such a large family because it is cheaper to live this way and rather on the colony plan. The results are terrible to witness and sadder than the simple farm folk of the Southland, ravaged by disease, often by hunger and in dire want and wretchedness.

I once visited the slum districts of the city of Louisville, Kentucky with one of the noted surgeons there on his daily calls. Many of these homes were situated in alleys, with the worst kind of sewerage system imaginable and other excellent facilities of these places of beggarly description. How can a people who live like that ever become thrifty and moral, when they live in such quarters? I am perfectly in favor of our people living in sections to themselves if that is the law in any place but do for good sake let them have the same kind of sanitation as for all other people. I do not believe the humane heart of woman will say in Woman's Suffrage that a building is all right for one race of people to live in until it is dilapidated and then it is plenty good enough to turn over to another set of people to spend the balance of their days in. I believe it will establish where it can well constructed tenement buildings with plenty of ventilation and sunlight for the poor, and not only this, will also demand that the poor keep their premises just as clean as their more favorable neighbors with the right kind of surroundings.

The Use of Tobacco.

During our recent world's war the use of tobacco was encouraged to a very great extent, because it helped to while away the lonely hours of the soldiers on the battle-field. I was passing down the street one day in a city and I overheard two soldiers talking. One said, "I wish I could break myself, and was smoking. Woman's Suffrage will help to stamp out the tobacco habit among our boys and especially that of the cigarette."

School Laws.

times is influenced more by what it sees and hears in the school-room than at home. It has sought, asked, lectured whether or not kindergarten work, vocational training and music and drawing. Another important item in the consideration of this subject will be the proper location for the school house.

Modes of Penal Punishment for Minors.

More Branch Libraries.

Play Grounds.

Public Bath Houses.

More Stringent Health Laws, and Enforcement of the Same.

Last, and One of the Greatest: Greater Justice Towards Subject Races.

it has thousands of them, this beloved Southland of ours today would not have these blackets of stains against its history. No country in the world has a greater ideal than America and it is because of its ideal that all races and nations flock to its shores for moral support as well as religious, prosperity, and riches.

It is up to Woman's Suffrage to uphold the great ideal of a square deal to all men, which the Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln immortalized in his Gettysburg speech that: The government for the people, of the people, and by the people should not perish from the earth.

BOMB THROWERS AGAIN ACTIVE
(By The Associated Negro Press.)
Chicago, Ill., May 10.—Two flat buildings at 701-703 East Fiftieth street were rocked by a bomb exploded last Friday night in an alleyway between the structures. Both buildings are owned and occupied by Negroes. Young women and girl students tumbled from their beds by the force of the detonation at St. Xavier's academy, 4928 Cottage Grove avenue. Many of the children rushed down from the academy in their night garments, believing the dormitory wrecked.

Explosion Shocks City.
The explosion was heard for several miles. Residents near Washington Park thought at first the bomb had been set off at the home of Jesse Bina, Negro real estate dealer and banker living at 5922 South Park avenue. His home had been bombed a number of times. The two structures attacked by the bombers are owned by Mrs. A. M. Polk and by C. A. Robinson. White families, who formerly occupied the flats, were instructed to move several months ago when the Negroes took possession.

Negroes Visit Mayor.
More than 200 Negro ministers and business men, headed by Mr. Bina and the Rev. W. S. Braddon, last Friday sought an interview with Mayor Thompson to ask that the city offer a general reward for the apprehension of bomb vandals. The delegation, which was unable to see the mayor, announced that it would appeal to the city council at its next meeting, asking that $100,000 of the city's money be set aside for the rewards. Alderman J. B. Anderson of the Second ward, colored, will introduce the proposal and unless he and the mayor help the delegation promised to be against them.

WOMAN HOLD MOB AT BAY
(By The Associated Negro Press.)
Jersey City, N. J., May 10.—Miss Mary Lauder, police detective, held at bay a mob of 200 angry men and women who tried to wrest from her a prisoner who a few minutes before had beaten her almost to insensibility. Miss Lauder went to the home of Abraham Johnson, a colored man, to arrest him. He seized her and was choking her when a fire captain came to her rescue. Johnson fled. Miss Lauder followed and found the fugitive surrounded by the mob shouting "lynch him." She drew her pistol and ordered the crowd back.

CURTLEY'S RECITAL A SUCCESS
The recital given last Friday evening at the Successful Farming Publishing company's plant went off as scheduled, although a report was circulated by some "interested parties" to the effect that the meeting had been postponed, causing a great number who had purchased tickets to miss the recital. However, according to Mr. Curtley a neat sum was realized above expenses, due largely to the efforts of Mr. Fred Langford, who proved himself a good "booster" and ticket seller. Mr. Curtley is deeply grateful to his friends who helped make the affair a success.

UNION CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH NOTES

Tenth and Park streets, B. F. White, pastor.

Mother's day was faithfully observed and the attendance upon the service was splendid. The pastor's theme was "The Mother of Nations." Another feature of the morning service was the baptism of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Edmunds and the reception of the mother into the membership of the church. The family have recently returned from the south where they spent the winter.

A report for the first stage in the financial campaign of the church was made and a number of the members were prepared to give a good account of themselves with respect to the parts they were to play in the effort. Others who were not fully prepared will be before the campaign terminates, July 3.

A splendid program is being prepared by the Sunday school, which will be presented on children's day. Sunday morning the pastor will speak along the line of denominational organizations and program. His evening subject will be "The Power that Accomplishes the Impossible." A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

ST. PAUL, A. M. E. SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES

There was a good attendance of children on the 8th, and the adult classes were fairly well attended by those of the middle age, but these of whom we like to think and on whom we like to look as fathers and mothers in Israel, were scarce to be found there. All who were out enjoyed the talk by Miss Banks, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. center.

The Bible class is growing. We hope to have a special room for this class soon.

At our teachers meeting Friday evening, May 6 we elected two alternate delegates to the district Sunday school convention, which convenes at Okaloosa, June 16 and 17, as follows: Miss Georgie White and Master Harold Burnhugh, both of the normal department of our school. Mrs. S. Joe Brown and a special committee are busy laying plans for the grand and picturesque pageant to be staged in our church early in July in the interest of the Sunday school. Bro. Harrison Gould has consented to take charge of our base ball team, if confidence and enthusiasm count for anything we have the winning team.

should get a hearty reception. All parts of the race in Sioux City should do their utmost to maintain this worthy young lady's services as a teacher of piano. We are satisfied that after years of hard study and practice that Miss Fisher is prepared to give the best in a modern way because Mrs. Booth stands among the foremost ranks of the best teachers in the state of Iowa and there can be no ambiguity about the efficiency of one so studious as our new musical debutante.

Under the few conditions named we are hoping a great reciprocity may come later after this "formal announcement."

As a young lady capacitated with the essentials towards success, I am sure that all who know Miss Fisher will be agreed with me, that she is wholly prepared for a vocational view alone, but as a character, she is a very commendable example in sedateness, modesty and grace and is highly esteemed in the class of the elite of society.

A most persevering and patient student in the school of music has our vocational debutante been. Not one to take exception to inconvenience and the usual or unusual disadvantages of life enough to dislocate her purpose, but one who looked upon these things as human tests and that by overcoming, they would make the victor better fitted for service in life.

Would, for the sake of Divinity and for the necessity of the elevation of this portion of the human race so sorely and bitterly oppressed and in need of useful young men and women, that more mothers and fathers use Miss Fisher as an example and inspiration for their children.

The Bystander requests all its subscribers to be prompt in their remittance of subscription, as they are endeavoring to erect a new building for the purpose of publishing every dollar available. If your subscription is not due a remittance in advance would be greatly appreciated.

TO ALLEN CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR LEAGUE GREETINGS. (By Osceola Taylor.) Spring is here with its many activities and we believe the Allen C. E. league is also ready for religious activities, after the passing of the very pleasant winter months of indoor work.

We believe we are fairly bursting the frosted prison walls of winter's over-crowded rooms and we hope the beautiful approaching days will enable you to carry out your much stored plans that will give freedom to mind and body alike.

While we were yet unable to visit you and had to leave you entirely upon your own merits, we earnestly and steadfastly believe you did your level best to please your Maker in having a society second to none.

We must pray for "The Strength Within." It is always possible to be honest and upright, and it is even more easy when we have that "inner strength," which only comes by faith in the Christ.

"If God be for us, who can be against us?" Our years and feverish anxiety subsides when we know we are in the hands of God, and in this consciousness do our duty.

We hope to meet you in Okaloosa June 14-17. Come with a 100 per cent society and help to make this a 100 per cent district.

Let us not become discouraged because our district is small. As a rule the most precious gifts are found in small packages. Efficiency is what counts, not numbers.

"One with God is a majority."

Indians Good Orchardists. The American apple owes much to the Indian farmers, for the Indian was an able pomologist. It was not unusual 150 years ago for Indian orchards to have 1500 trees, which all had been duly pruned and cultivated by the people we are prone to regard as nomadic savages. The peach and quince were also cultivated by them in later years. To the world the Indian introduced such fruits as the persimmon, the pawpaw, the pineapple and the Virginia strawberry.
