Texas White Primary Case To Supreme Court

"About Town" Archie A. Alexander Elected President Local Branch N.A.A.C.P.

By a strange coincidence, the initials of Winnie Ruth Judd, trunk murderer, are in part those of the three murderers, William Hickman, Ruth Snyder, and Henry Judd, all of whom were executed for particularly fiendish crimes.

Well, the jig's up for Capone, but he wants it thoroughly understood that he is not "digs" of corn beef and cabbage fame, as he turned up his nose at this lowly dish which was served him in a Chicago prison the other day.

Ostensibly the Japanese are in Manchuria to "protect their interests," a very elastic and convenient phrase they've borrowed from America, who has used it extensively for years as a smoke screen to cover up its invasions of weaker countries.

A Des Moines white woman who took in "Green Pastures" in Chicago recently, writes that Negroes were given seats of their choice to witness this much heralded play. Perhaps this fact does seem nothing, but those of us who've visited the Windy city, find that one's only drawback is greenback.

In an article published in the October issue of the Iowa Sheriff, William M. Hammond, of the Bureau of Identification, thinks fingerprints should be classified and filed according to race. Below is an excerpt from Mr. Hammond's article.

"These individual fingerprints should be divided into various classes in order to subdivide them into smaller groups so as to limit the number necessary to be searched. Negroes' prints should all be in one file for it soon happens that a Negro has been seen near the scene of the crime, or the break-in is near a Negro neighborhood, or the modus operandi suggests a Negro's work. Other foreprints might be grouped separately for similar reasons."

After all these years as full-fledged American citizens, Mr. Hammond very adroitly and casually classes us along with "Other foreigners." He also infers that there are some crimes inherently and traditionally "Negro," such as the theft of watermelons and chickens, I suppose. May I say, Mr. Hammond, that certain crimes like certain jobs are no longer traditionally of our race. Perhaps the depression has had something to do with this fact. For example and by way of refuting your theory, I cite the watermelon rinds, pilfered by whites last summer, and the increasing number of white janitors, coalhandlers, shoe-shiners and what not. Then too, Mr. Hammond, there are so many Negroes who look like white people, and not a few whites who occasionally use artificial means of acquiring an ebony hue to baffle policemen, that to specify racially who was seen near the scene of the crime by noting that external complexion of color is not always conclusive. Last, but not least, one is not so much impressed as amused at the ludicrous fallacies in argument and judgment apparent in Mr. Hammond's article, which is best, aptly and charitably explained by the fact that he is the son of a chip of the old block, as it were—of that man Hammond, whose warped judgment and fanaticism directed him to wage a crusade against the sale of near beer in Des Moines in an effort to curb the consumption of alcohol. 'Nuf said.

Following the election, reports were given by Mrs. S. Joe Brown and Miss Eugenia Shepperd who attended the National Conference at Pittsburgh last summer; Mrs. A. A. Alexander, chairman of the membership; James B. Morris of the Legal Redress Committee, were made.

Huntington, Tenn., Oct. 27.—At an impressive public meeting here today the bridge of courage was pinned on the breast of a little woman who last spring successfully defied a mob and saved a prisoner in her keeping, on the very night when another mob in a nearby city took a prisoner from the jail and sacrificed his life.

The recipient of the decoration, which took the form of a handsome medal, was Mrs. J. C. Butler, wife of the sheriff of Carroll County. On the evening of April 18 Mrs. Butler looked into the grim faces of fifty men seeking the life of Henry Wauford, accused of wounding an officer, and told them pointedly "where to get off."

Hon. J. Sam Johnson, of Huntington, presided at today's meeting, and the presentation was made by Dr. J. E. Clarke, of Nashville, editor of the Presbyterian Advance and Chairman of the State Interracial Committee. Mrs. Catherine A. Grimes of Nashville spoke on behalf of the women of Tennessee, and Prof. J. L. Seets of McKenzie expressed the appreciation of the Negro for Mrs. Butler's heroic stand. J. D. Burton, field secretary of the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, spoke on behalf of that body.

Thomas, former assistant United States attorney, with offices at 11 Park place, New York city. The action is predicated upon an alleged article appearing in the Daily Mirror dated August 11, 1931, wherein it is alleged that false and defamatory matter, to-wit, "one Garland Patten—now the sweetheart of a 'high harlem' (meaning Miss Chase) kept in a brand new car, bought by a white racketeer who thought he was giving his colored sweetheart the present she most desired," was published of and concerning her. Miss Chase is very much incensed and claims that this means to protect her rights.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT

Now that the war department has carried out its part to disband the 10th Cavalry, it appears perfectly plain that the program to discredit Negro officers and soldiers during the World War has been pretty well carried out. It is further clear that this program could not have been carried out had not the head of the department been in sympathy with the movement. The 1932 Campaign is not far off and this matter will be brought up again. Negroes spotted the senators who voted to confirm Judge Parker as an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court. Some of these senators are still trying to explain their vote to their Negro constituents, but in most cases without any degree of success. About unjust discriminatory willment which Negroes have received from the War Department reminds us that in the future we must be more particular about the type of man who heads the War Department. Certainly the present one has embarrassed the Negro to the limit.

Louis Cook, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator against Senator Brookhart, accuses the senator of practicing Neapotism to an excessive degree. No doubt a loud retort will be forthcoming. It looks as if we are going to have a real live campaign during the coming months.

VALUABLE REPRESENTATION

Fortunately a Negro is included on the President Hoover's National Unemployment Commission. That representative is Dr. John W. Davis, president of West Virginia State College. There as a special representative of the Negro group, Dr. Davis has felt that it is his duty to bring to the committee problems which apply to the Negro in particular. It is perfectly plain that cognizance has been taken of his suggestions because the following resolution has been adopted by the committee. "Much suffering exists now and will exist this winter among the underprivileged groups, economic, social and racial—in urban centers and in some rural areas. For advantage in offsetting this, it seems advisable to use leading persons of the underprivileged groups in connection with existing welfare organizations on problems involving the location of need and administration of relief among such groups."

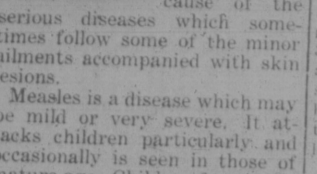

Obviously in time like these minority groups suffer more than the majority. For instance it is generally known that Negroes holding the non-essential jobs are fired first and hired last; that many white employers are doing the job formerly held by Negroes because the better class jobs are less. Statistics compiled by the Urban League show that there are more Negroes out of work in proportion to the population than whites. Now that the National Unemployment Committee has pointed the way, local committees which in the final analysis will be called upon to do the real hard work, should be impressed with this situation and take it into account in administering these duties.

MEASLES

Any breaking out on the skin requires attention and a diagnosis because of the seriousness of some diseases which so manifest themselves, because of the contagiousness and infectiousness of the same and because of the serious diseases which sometimes follow some of the minor ailments accompanied with skin lesions.

Measles is a disease which may be mild or very severe. It attacks children particularly and occasionally is seen in those of mature age. Children frequently pass through the disease without much attention and to those accustomed to seeing the disease its recognition presents no particular difficulty. Now and then however it looks very much like other skin disease and when some more serious disease is thought to be Measles and so called without the services of an expert in such diagnosis the aid might come to late to be of curative value. Measles itself occasionally takes a form which is indeed serious. Not rarely when it thought to have passed off entirely a Pneumonia occurs as a result of the disease which is just passing. The undesirability of the latter disease in children needs no emphasizing—it is bad enough at any age.

The recognition of the disease as Measles and the proper procedure will almost always without a doubt prevent such an occurrence. After the child has passed Measles it takes added precaution to prevent the occurrence of Tuberculosis in some of the cases, especially if there is a predisposition to such a disease in the particular family or in the ancestors. And for these reasons every care should be observed that the disease is not spread to other members of the family or to any person.

MRS. WALKER TO HEAR DRIVERS' LICENSE BUREAU

Mrs. Grace Walker, widow of the late William C. Walker, who died last December, shortly before he was to become sheriff, has been appointed by Sheriff Charles F. Keeling as head of the new drivers' license application department.

In an open meeting at Community Center at which the Ladies Auxiliary, Troop 59 of Boy Scouts and a number of the members of Argonne Post No. 60 and Baldwin-Patterson Post No. 274, were honored guests on Tuesday evening, the new officers of Lincoln Post previously announced in these columns were formally inducted into office. Post District Commander Ralph E. Kittinger, acted as installing officer.

Atty. S. Joe Brown, the newly installed commander, announced the appointment of S. J. Walker as membership chairman, Spencer Elliott as Service Officer, Atty. J. E. Morris as Employment Officer, Atty. Chas. P. Howard as Program chairman and Thos. Garnet and Paul DeBris as color bearers.

Among the distinguished visitors introduced were Col. Chas. W. Dickson, former adjutant of the 89th Infantry composed of Negroes, met trained at Camp Duffie, Atty. Fey H. Moody, past commander of the Polk County Legion—Assn and of Baldwin-Patterson Post; Dr. L. V. Feike, past commander of Argonne Post, Ed. Lindson, Commander of Argonne Post, and the whole "gang" of Troop 59 Boy Scouts who did such excellent service in assisting in the entertainment of the delegates to the National G. A. R. Encampment last month.

At the conclusion of the program, a committee of the members of Lincoln Post composed largely of past commanders in charge of retiring commander H. Manuel, served the entire assembly with a repast.

THE EARLY TRAINING OF A DOG IS MOST IMPORTANT

Tuskegee, Ala., Oct. 19. (ANP).—Thomas Harris, one-time popular student at Tuskegee institute and a member of the Tuskegee Tigers football team, who was arrested last July as a suspect in connection with the murder of Miss Mary Booth, sister-in-law of Dr. Robert R. Moton, principal of the institution, escaped an indictment when the Mason county Grand Jury, which heard testimony against him Thursday, refused to return a true bill.

Miss Booth, who was superintendent of nurses of the school hospital, was shot to death August 1, 1930, while crossing the school campus to visit some friends. She was taken to the hospital, where first aid was given her, and although she lived for several hours and indicated that she recognized her slayer, in the face of certain death, she refused to name him.

Simple Facts of Dog Feeding Told

If the feeding of your dog presents itself as a weighty problem, take heart! According to the Chappel Kennel Foundation, Rockford, Illinois, here is all that you need to know about his feeding:

1. Feed one heavy meal a day, preferably in the evening. Feed the lightest to five meals a day, depending on their age. Feed at the same hours each day.
2. Meat is the dog's natural diet. If you feed your dog a prepared, well-balanced meat food, with dog biscuits for variety's sake, he will need nothing else.
3. Don't feed table scraps, potatoes, boiled eggs or pork, and don't serve soupy foods. Beware of chicken and fish bones. Dogs care nothing for sweets until taught to like them.
4. Provide plenty of water.
5. Never allow violent exercise directly after feeding.

If a dog does not take readily to biscuits, which are essential to keep his gums hard and teeth clean, it is suggested that kibbled or broken biscuits be gradually incorporated into his regular ration until he gets used to eating them.

PATIENCE IS KEY TO DOG TRAINING

Use Tact and Kindness to Bring Out the Best of Animal's Ability.

A properly trained dog is a delight to himself and his master. He loves to do his master's bidding, and were every dog well-trained, there would be little complaint about dogs and their deeds, states the Chappel Kennel Foundation, Rockford, Illinois. Probably 95 per cent of dogs have the ability for training and only require effort, patience and repetition to bring it out of them.

The Early Training of a Dog is Most Important

By nature the dog is a meat-pot eating animal, but under today's domesticated conditions, fresh raw meat from the butcher's is much too concentrated a diet. Research workers who have given thought to this problem in recent years have been able to develop scientifically-balanced canned meat foods which have taken all the guess out of dog and puppy feeding. They contain all the elements necessary for proper growth and development. Both puppies and dogs especially relish those made from horse meat. A part of every puppy's ration should be some dry food which has been softened with milk or water. This may be only a teaspoonful at first, but should be increased with the size and condition of the animal. As the puppy grows older and its teeth stronger, dog biscuits a kibbled or whole form may be substituted. The biscuits afford the exercise demanded by the puppy's jaw and serve to keep his teeth clean. Teach your puppy to eat at a regular place and time. Having regular feeding times will be a big aid in breaking him. Make it a practice to take him out for a walk short after feeding.

Favor Getting a Puppy to Buying a Mature Dog

Hints on Care and Training Given by Kennel Foundation.

Dog or puppy? The choice of one or the other must be made by everyone who contemplates adding a canine pet to his household, states the Chappel Kennel Foundation, Rockford, Illinois. While some prefer a perfectly-trained grown dog, most people are inclined to agree with Albert Payson Terhune that a puppy is more desirable. For one thing, a puppy does not cost as much as a grown dog, and its future is entirely in your own hands. Eating is the biggest thing in a puppy's life, and what and how he eats will either make or break him, according to the foundation. "Little and often" is probably the best rule of successful puppy rearing. Feed four or five times a day from weaning time till four months of age and no more than four times a day at six months. Increase the ration as you decrease the number of feedings, but never serve more than just a trifle over what the puppy will eat up quickly. When the average puppy is at the end of twelve months ready to enter full doghood, he should be getting no more than two meals a day, and preferably one. If the puppy does not finish the meal provided for him, what remains must be removed in a few minutes and nothing else should be given until the next feeding hour.

"Dog Days" a Strain on Dogs

Suggestions for Care of Canines in Hot Weather Are Made by Foundation.

"Dog days" need be no more dangerous for Buster, Prince or Sport than any other days, unless the Chappell Kennel Foundation, Rockford, Illinois, in discussing the care of the dog in hot weather. The dog faces summer weather under two handicaps unknown to man. He has his natural coat, and perspires from limited areas of his body, the tongue, nose and the pads of the feet. Aged dogs feel the effects of heat much more than young dogs, and sick dogs more than dogs in good condition. But much of the distress of dogs may be eliminated if their owners would give a little extra thought and attention to quarters, exercise and diet. Some of the best practices designed to reduce the strain on dogs in warm days and prevent overheating, prostration and other summer ailments have been summed up by Dr. Edwin Reginald Blaney.

The outdoor kennel should be sheltered from the midday sun as much as possible. A better way is to keep the dog quiet and in a cool place during the heat of the day. A tiled floor or cellar floor is excellent. The room should be air-circulated, and care taken to see that an abundance of air be provided. Quarters for sleeping should have large windows, and the bedding reduced to a minimum. The ideal dog bed for summer is a raised frame covered with canvas. This enables the air to circulate freely beneath the body, and the animal is much cooler than if he were sleeping on a solid bed.

Both dog and kennel should be washed occasionally. Use of a small amount of disinfectant will tend to keep away flies and other insect pests which cause so much trouble during the summer.

Exercise should be cut down to a minimum or entirely stopped. If the dog is to be walked or run, it should be done in the cool of the early morning or evening. If the dog is broken in on out only long enough to attend to its needs.

Food during the summer should be of the same well-balanced nature as fed during the cooler months, but in somewhat smaller quantities. A dog's natural food is meat, whether it be the fattest toy dog of the highest breed. Meat and protein are not "heating" to the blood, and a substantial portion of a prepared meat food in the evening and some biscuits in the morning will keep the dog well satisfied. Occasionally weevil will get into biscuits made of the finest ingredients. They are not harmful to the dog, but may be killed by putting the biscuits into the oven for a few minutes or immersing them in boiling water. The addition of fresh vegetables occasionally helps to maintain physical condition but starch in any form is to be avoided. Encourage the dog to drink plenty of water by putting a little salt to each meal. Attention to diet will help to do away with periodic eczemas and other summer skin complaints.

In many so-called cases of overheat ing worms may really be the cause of the trouble. These should be removed by an appropriate medicine under the guidance of a veterinarian. Contrary to popular belief, rabies actually is more prevalent in winter than in summer.

The Educational Committee, in answer to requests, announces the organization of a dancing class for children which will meet each Thursday at 4:00 P. M., and a combination dancing and gym class for adults meeting each Monday evening. If there are sufficient registrations, classes will open on November 6th and 12th respectively. The fee for each class is $1.50 for ten lessons, payable in advance. Register at the Y. W. C. A., 1227 School Street. The hospitality committee invites all adults—men and women—to a masked Halloween party at the Y. W. C. A., Monday, October 26th, eight P. M. There will be games, prizes and refreshments. No charges will be made. Mrs. Gus Nichols is chairman. Other members are Mesdames Earl Hughes, Essie Davis, Mattie Dameron, Lizzie Thomas, Alice Perry, Margaret Patten, J. A. Jefferson and Maudie Howard.

Friday, October 30th, at the regular meeting of the Book Lovers, Miss Ruth Marie Brown will review the ten outstanding magazine articles, the month of October, as selected by the council of librarians. groomed horses, immaculate in their smart khaki uniforms, with pennants streaming and trumpets blasting a farewell, the detachment on their last review, presented a pretty but pathetic spectacle when one realized that one of America's finest military units was being broken up.

While hundreds looked on, unquestionably moved by the scene, Colonel Sherburne, as fine a commanding officer as ever put a boot on, with a heavy heart, roamed to and fro trying to shake hands with as many as possible for perhaps the last time. When the troop train carrying the departing first section passed Naco, Sonora, Mexico, it was late and very dark, but these Mexican men, women and children who knew and loved those troopers, were waiting in the darkness to give them a farewell hand.

Mexicans, ranchers, citizens and officers—all of whom had learned to idolize the Calvarymen for their sterling, manly qualities, joined with the Twenty-fifth Infantry band, which came from Nogales to give a memorable final serenade to the departing

GARVEY IN CONFERENCE WITH OFFICIALS OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS
 Geneva, Oct. 29.—Marcus Garvey, colorful West Indian leader, who was deported to Jamaica by United States immigration authorities some time ago, appeared before the League of Nations officials here last week to present claims of the darker races throughout the world. Garvey styled himself "Commissioner to Europe representing the Black People of the World" when he appeared here.
 He called on Sir Eric Drummond, the League's secretary general, and conferred with officials of the mandate section concerning the petition of the Universal Negro Improvement Association and the African communities of the League for action on behalf of "the struggling and oppressed black people," which he submitted to the League in 1928.

 Assured that the League had the petition under consideration and that it would come under the agenda next year, Garvey left for London, from where he will sail November for Jamaica, where he has resided since his expulsion from the United States. He stated that a convention of Negroes would be called in Jamaica early next year to name a delegation to represent them at the League.
