Board Drops Case Against Lloyd McGuire

Convicted on 1861 Southern Carpetbag Code

Atlanta, Ga.—Angelo Herndon, a 19-year-old Negro Communist from Cincinnati, came south last year with a message of communism. He took a major part in a protest meeting of a committee on unemployment and was arrested.

The state charged he had attempted to incite insurrection and literature identified as his advocated self-determination of Negroes in the "black belt" and the state used that advocacy in its attempt to send him to his death.

"Do With Me As You Will" The state said communism, by advocating self-determination for Negroes, sought to overthrow white supremacy in the south, abolish state lines, confiscate property and make the south a Negro republic with authority to secede from the Union if so desired.

Herndon's defense said his only crime was his color and argued that some of the literature in his possession was considered classical and found in the "great libraries of Atlanta."

Turning to the prosecutor, Assistant Solicitor John Hudson, who demanded the death penalty Herndon said, "Do with me as you will; there are thousands more to take my place."

Convicted But a jury convicted him in two hours and sentenced him to 18 to 20 years of imprisonment, based on an ancient law of the Code of 1861, to prevent slave uprisings. Attorneys J. H. Greer and Benjamin Davis, Jr., employed by the International Labor Defense, have filed a motion for a new trial.

Claim Violation In 1930, six other persons—two white women, two white men, and two Negroes—were arrested on charges of attempting to incite insurrection and await trial. Authorities said they had circulated inflammatory literature. Their defense contended the literature was not inflammatory and argued that the old statute violated the Constitution of the United States and Georgia.

Aged Provision Forgotten The law obviously was designed to protect the reconstruction government that seized this state when the confederacy collapsed. The reconstruction regime eventually was overthrown, however, and the law virtually forgotten until groups migrated to Georgia and preached a doctrine of communism.

Medical Leaders Survey Hospital

New York, Jan. 27.—A committee containing many of the most distinguished medical men and laymen in the United States will make a survey of Harlem hospital here, at the invitation of the N. A. A. C. P., according to an announcement of Walter White, secretary.

An indication of the caliber of the committee is seen in the membership upon it of the president of the American Medical Association, the dean of the New York university medical school, a former president of the American College of Physicians and Surgeons, an instructor in the Harvard medical school, a professor of clinical medicine at Cornell university medical school, and the surgeon-in-chief of Johns Hopkins hospital.

The committee has been invited "to determine the character and extent of opportunity to colored physicians and surgeons by Harlem hospital, the quality of work done by them as members of the staff, and to inquire into the charges which have been made during recent months against the hospital."

Southern Negro Farmers Ill-treated

Charges that James McGuire, patrolman and world war hero, is beyond the civil service age limit were dropped by the civil service commission Thursday night.

The board's action followed filing of an affidavit by Mrs. Dora McGuire, the patrolman's mother, that her son was born on December 8, 1897, which was submitted the board by his attorney, James B. Morris.

Robert Bailey, city treasurer and pension board member, had filed charges that McGuire's war records list him as being born December 8, 1895, making him beyond the 35-year limit for civil service examination.

"After investigation the board has decided to accept as final the birth date shown by Patrolman McGuire in his civil service application, which is verified by his mother's affidavit," Chairman Charles Guth declared in announcing the commission's decision.

Peonage Probe on Senate Calendar

Washington.—(CNS)—The Wagner resolution authorizing the appointment of three senators to go to Mississippi and personally investigate conditions among the Negro workers on levee contracts has been reported out of committee and is on the Senate calendar. The proposal for an inquiry came out of complaints made by the N. A. A. C. P., prior to the November election that Negro workers were compelled to work under conditions bordering on peonage by the contractors along the lower Mississippi river.

Color Bar at "Green Pastures"

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Ironical conditions in the nation's capital will prevent Negro theatergoers from seeing "The Green Pastures," the Marc Connelly play, which deals with the Biblical account in Genesis as seen through the eyes of the religious southern Negro, which will open at the National theater here Feb. 13 for a limited run.

There are no segregation or racial discriminatory laws in force here, but colored persons are barred from public amusement and hotels and cafes as effectively as if there were. Persons discriminated against on account of race or color may sue in the courts, but in case of a verdict in their favor would be given only nominal damages.

DuBois to Teach At Atlanta U.

New York City.—(CNS)—Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, editor of the Crisis, went to Atlanta University, Atlanta, Ga., as a professor, according to an announcement made by President John Hope, of the Atlanta institution. Dr. DuBois took up his work at the University as a guest professor.

Former Instructor Dr. DuBois returns to Atlanta as an instructor after an absence of more than twenty years. He was professor of economics and history at Atlanta University for fourteen years—1896-1910—and during that time edited a series of twenty studies on the Negro. These studies are known as the "Atlanta University Studies of Negro Problems," and are a source of valuable information to students and social investigators.

Remains "Crisis" Editor Since 1910, Dr. DuBois has been the director of publications of the N. A. A. C. P. and editor of the association's official organ "The Crisis." It is understood here that Dr. DuBois has obtained a leave of absence to serve at Atlanta University for approximately five months or until the end of the 1932-1933 school year. He will remain as editor of The Crisis, and have supervision over it even during his absence in Atlanta. The leave of absence granted Dr. DuBois comes as a part of the plan to reduce the salary budget of the N. A. A. C. P. general office.

Los Angeles, Calif.—The marriage of Dr. Eugene C. Nelson and Helen Lee Worthing (white), former Follies beauty, was annulled last week by Superior Court Judge Thomas Gould in Los Angeles after the prominent Negro physician agreed to pay Mrs. Nelson's expenses while she is in a sanitarium trying to regain her health. WE KNEW IT

Georgia has convicted a nineteen-year-old Negro of attempting to incite an insurrection by disseminating Communistic literature and organizing Communism.

At the trial the state said, "Communism, by advocating self-determination for Negroes, sought to overthrow white supremacy in the South, abolish state lines, confiscate property and make the South a Negro republic with authority to secede from the Union if it so desired."

This charge is what we already know, i. e., "white supremacy" rather than constitutional law governs in Georgia. Georgia wants Communism kept out of that state for the reason that it advocates equality of races and that strikes at white supremacy.

INTEREST IN THE FARM BILL

The average citizen is interested in the farm bill (domestic allotment plan) passed by the lower house recently. City people are interested not only because it may cause them to pay more for foodstuffs but also because their economic recovery depends upon better farm conditions.

This week Henry Wallace, editor of Wallace's Homestead, discussed the bill before several hundred people at the Adult Forum. While few understand the mechanics of the bill—and there is no assurance what it will provide when finally passed—suffice it is to say that everybody will be affected.

The Bystander desires to call attention of Iowa Negroes in particular that the bill proposes to deal with cotton—a product grown by most of the Negro farmers of the country. Their experience in dealing with national farm legislation has not been good. Consequently, the Negro farmer is interested not only in a good farm bill but also one from which he can benefit even in the South.

Obviously, in order to get this protection very little authority should be invested in local agents. Undoubtedly, the N. A. A. C. P. will be interested and may be calling upon local individuals and organizations to get this across. It would be well to take every opportunity to learn about this legislation—even to the extent of having it discussed in local clubs.

UNFORTUNATE—BUT HOLD ON

The New York Urban League reports that 64 per cent of the male population in Harlem (New York City) is out of work; that unemployment in this small but thickly populated section constitutes the city's most pressing unemployment problem. There are 250,000 Negroes in Harlem. This situation must necessarily constitute a great menace to the race—a setback which it will take years to overcome.

Recently the editor of the Bystander picked up a man, he was white, in his car and carried him a few blocks. Quickly the conversation drifted to unemployment. The stranger said, "I have lived in Des Moines twenty-five years, have a wife and three

HEALTH TALKS

Dr. H. H. London

STOMACH

The stomach is very often the seat of a gastritis of an inflammation occurring within the organ, which comes about exclusive of any infectious process and is due to an alteration in the secretions which are there produced resulting in an oversecretion or an undersecretion from the glands, which are normally present there.

This condition does come about on a diet of food to which the person has been accustomed to ordinarily; so it seems, but it is no doubt true, that some article of food not ordinarily taken has been ingested to help produce this form of acute gastritis which is so commonly observed.

Indiscretions in diet are prone to set up some alteration in the digestive tract and they do in a great many cases produce a reaction in the stomach which is known as acute gastritis. All of these indiscretions do not produce pronounced and disagreeable reactions because the stomach is very often able in conditions of perfect health to compensate for an overfunction, which takes care of overfilling or unusual and undesirable articles. Once started, however, this overproduction of secretions continues with no desire for further food with the apprehension that the taking of further food will produce the same condition.

Stomachs, which have cooperating with them organs which are functioning as they should, recover very quickly from these conditions and very rarely show any reaction to these articles when all other organs are working properly.

children. I have not worked for two years. I've about come to the place where I feel like taking my shotgun and going out and getting mine. The only thing is the county has been helping me and that counts some."

We here in Iowa are fortunate—but we don't know it. Think of this man in the same situation living in a large city. It explains much of the crime today. But like the man who felt like shooting for his, we must anchor our hope in something which may permit us to hold on until conditions improve. The situation puts us to a test. We must meet it.

The Child Reader

by MARJORIE BARROWS
Editor, Child Life Magazine.

I met Bill's father today. "Bill's six years old," he said. "He's a hard-headed young man and he treats fairy tales with a withering contempt. He likes real stories. He likes simple books about how things happen. Are there any new books that will fit Bill?" I gave him the names of several new ones, for there are lots of Bills in America today and many authors are writing just the sort of books they like.

Real Adventures Best.
If your Bill doesn't take to fairy tales, to legends, to fables, don't force them on him. Offer him instead Charles Kuhl's delightful "A Train, A Boat, and an Island"—the story of a real family's real trip to Bermuda. Offer him Helmut Washburne's fascinating "Letters to Channy"—a real mother's letters of a trip around the world written for her own little boy back home. Offer him "The Pilgrim's Party" or "The Cruise of Mr. Christopher Columbus" by Sadybeth and Anson Lowitz, two humorous and very interesting picture books that acquaint younger readers with stirring history.

Perhaps Bill wants to know more about motorcars and firemen and what they really do. Mrs. Kuhl's books for small children will help him out there. Perhaps he would like "How It All Began," a book that is delightfully written and illustrated by Janet Smalley. It will tell Bill how primitive man watched the lightning and found he, too, could make fire by twirling two sticks around together. Later man found other ways of heating and lighting and at last we got our matches, gas, oil and electricity. The book goes on, in the simplest fashion, to show the beginnings of messages, of travel, clothing, houses. It is a thrilling sort of real fairy tale that particularly appeals to boys like Bill.

Travel Stories Are Good.
What happens to a real letter after it gets posted may also interest some of our very youngest readers. William Siegel, a Russian artist, tells a simple story about that in "Around the World in a Mailbag." Bob and Betty's letter to their father doesn't reach him in San Francisco. So it is forwarded to China, Russia, France and even to Egypt. But though the various postmen do their best the letter does not finally reach him until he is back in New York again. The pictures make this book especially attractive.

Here are just a few of the new books for fairy-tale-striking. Many more are to be found in the libraries and bookstores. Just exactly the book your Bill is looking for is waiting for him there. And it is just the right book for him at the present time.

Take him along and let him help find it!

HOW A BLIND MAN REGAINS HIS STOLEN MONEY

A blind man hid some money at the foot of a tree in a field belonging to a rich farmer. Visiting it one day he found it gone, and suspecting the farmer, went to him and said, "Sir, as you seem an honest man, I have come to ask your advice. I have some money in a very safe place and now I have just so much more, and do not know if I should hide it where the other is, or somewhere else." The farmer replied, "Truly, if I were you, I would not change the place, it being as safe as you say." "That's just what I thought," said the blind man and took his leave. The farmer hurriedly put back the money, hoping to get it doubled, and the blind man in his turn dug it up, greatly rejoicing at recovering what he had lost.

LITERARY SPOTLIGHTS

By Senator Ernst Whitaker

For Sunday—

Thaddon or Country Without God. O fallen! lost! land of Czar! Why turn your eyes from the stars? Is their light no longer bright, Their twinkle divine in your sight? No cloud shall ever their light efface, Tho' all mankind sink in Munk disgrace. Your empty minds destroy the church, With strength of Balk for proselytes search Prostrating God Who rules above, And blesses all men with mercy and love. Were all earth's family to turn from God, Still would He reign with staff and rod. Heaven is not vexed by your stiffened neck, She laughs as you sail on doomed deck. God has given you the mind and pomes with which you break down His Holy Toner. You made out God or can destroy Him who made man as making a toy. You're footing a race that was never run and soon shall stop before 'tis done. France, in rage worshipped Reason. In every age the devil has his season! With no God, who shall save your soul? With no heaven, what is your goal? With No Sunday, when shall the laborer rest? When in sin to whom will you confess? Alas! Dead! Who shall bear you to the grave? O Russia! for you the world does pray!

The above poem, written two years ago by the author of this column, is a satire on Russia.

The spotlight of the world is still focused on Russia. Still plodding through the darkness of time she meets every arising problem with a sagacity that astoundes the world.

First, it was destroying her churches. Next, her first five-year plan proposal and confiscation of property. Now, her second five-year plan and her exile.

WEEKLY REVIEWS

John Masfield, England's poet laureate, is visiting America. When only a boy of 17 Mr. Masfield came to America and worked in a Greenwich village saloon for ten dollars per month and board. Later, a friend got him a job in a rug factory in Yonkers, N. Y., for $1.05 a day. It was here he decided to become a doctor, but his earnings and surroundings discouraged him and he fled back to England. He chanced upon a book of Chaucer's poems which incident led to his becoming a poet.

Masfield's reputation as a poet was made after the war and only a few of his poetical productions have met international esteem. John Masfield is accredited as the poet who brought the common reader back to poetry. That is he re-introduced violence, crude realism, and bad language into English verse. A typical passage of his earlier work which has no special virtue is as follows: "You bloody liar," "This is my field," "This is my wire," "I'm ruler here," "You ain't," "I am," "I'll fight you for it," "Right, by damn!"

By critics, Mr. Masfield's work, is considered crude, sordid and prolific. The modern critic, Mr. Edward Davidson, says, "Haste and carelessness in workmanship leave their marks all over his collected works. He has never learned the whole lesson of poetic economy. In spite of the poetic weaknesses found in much of his work Mr. Masfield is said to have great command of the picturesque and descriptive qualities lacking in the productions of contemporary poets."

Many people have become famous and experts through their hobbies on which they gave a few minutes of their time daily. Mrs. Gertrude Brown, 1218 Stewart St., has her living room, facing the street east, decorated with three pictures, two of which were painted by her. Without a doubt, there is not a more attractive picture of Christ, the Resurrection, in Des Moines than the gift framed one hanging in her living. The background is black intercepted directly behind Christ with silver and gold gilt paper. The picture is a marvel. Another beautiful picture of hers is a "Spanish Dance" or Tango. The man and woman in the dance are in their native costume. This, too, has a silver and gold gilt background which sets the scene off very attractively.

Mrs. Brown's most unique work of art is her burnt needle picture of an Indian maiden in silence alluringly adorned with poppies, tulips, and lilies. This picture is an impression taken from the statue of Pocahontas in Minneapolis. It was first drawn from memory on a piece of board about three feet long and two feet wide, also the border. Then with her needle Mrs. Brown worked in her various rain-like impressions and colored her flowers. The wood on which picture is drawn is especially made for painters and with skilled hands such as belongs to Mrs. Brown, one is able to produce lovely paintings with which to adorn this home.

PINEAPPLE TAKES NEW ROLE

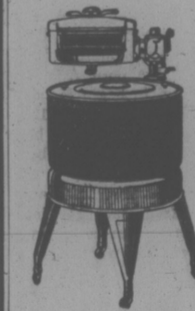

Canned pineapple, familiar food delicacy on the American table for so many years, is seen today in a new role. New food research has found that canned pineapple is a valuable source of five necessary minerals and vitamins A, B, and C. Authorities recommend two slices or an equivalent amount in crushed pineapple or tidbits in the daily menu as an aid in maintaining health. In addition to its mineral and vitamin content pineapple has been found to be a valuable aid to digestion of proteins such as meat and eggs and to the prevention and relief of acidosis. A beneficial dietetic change wrought by temperatures during the canning process is said to make these findings true of the canned rather than the raw fruit. Smart hostesses following the new dietetic advice, are serving the new pineapple cup made from the canned crushed fruit or tidbits as the first course for dinner or two slices for the breakfast fruit, luncheon salad or for the dinner dessert. And their guests proclaim it delicious.

NATION TO PAY TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF JULIUS ROSENWALD, FEBRUARY 5

Chicago, Jan. 20. (By the A. N. P.)—Members of all races, creeds and colors throughout the nation will pay homage to the memory of the late Julius Rosenwald, internationally known philanthropist, Sunday Feb. 5, according to announcement made by the local Julius Rosenwald Memorial committee here this week.

Programs will be held in practically every city, town, village and hamlet at which time the highlights of the life of the man who did so much for humanity in all parts of the world, will be cited by those who knew him and many of whom were his beneficiaries directly or indirectly.

According to the plans of the committee, a more substantial memorial will be established in the form of a "Julius Rosenwald Scholarship Fund", which will be raised in various cities and administered by local committees. It is the expressed opinion of the members of the local committee that such a memorial would be most fitting in that Mr. Rosenwald's greatest interest was in the advancement of education.

The Y. M. C. A.'s of the country, constituting another of Mr. Rosenwald's major interests, are leading the movement in cities where they have branches.

College Degree Worth $100,000, Experts Find

Statisticians and research investigators have at last run down the elusive and much discussed dollar and cents value of a college education and have fixed it at $100,000. Their survey reveals that the average untrained boy goes to work at the age of 14, earns less than $1,700 a year, so that his income from 14 to 60 totals $94,000. The high school graduate, they find, starts work at 18, reaches his maximum income of $2,800 at 50 and by 60 has earned a total of $88,000. The college graduate, they learned, starts his career at about 22, has caught up with the high school graduate by 30 and at 60 is earning from $6,000 to $8,000 a year with a total earning of 90 of between $100,000 and $200,000. Figures from the same survey produced by the statistical department of Union Central Life Insurance Company show that out of 1,000 children entering grade school only 23 graduate from college. Lack of funds is revealed as the main reason for leaving school and educational insurance is now advocated as a means of giving a higher percentage the "break" which a college degree assures.

Lucky Scrap Jelly

Chip up pieces of candied fruit—you must have at least one-half cupful and you can use twice that amount if you like. If no candied fruit is around, use broken nut meats, or small bits of candy or raisins or dates stoned and finely cut.

Make 2 cupfuls of lemon or orange gelatine. Pour the gelatine into a mold and, when it is cool and begins to "set," add the diced candy. When serving time comes, turn the mold upside down over the serving dish. Wrap it tightly with a cloth wrung out of very hot water and the jelly will fall onto the dish.

A garnish of whipped cream or condensed milk, whipped, makes the dish prettier.—Child Life Magazine.

Size of the Stars

How large are the stars? To the average individual their size is hard to comprehend, but Dr. Edwin B. Frost, famous blind astronomer in Child Life Magazine, solves the problem. The sun, he says, is 330,000 times as large as the earth, and yet some huge stars are forty million times larger than the sun.

Beauty Hints

By "Bebe"

Last week I told you that correct cleansing is the first step to beauty. Too few women realize that the success or failure of their beauty treatments depends largely on the right cleanser. When you choose a cleanser, choose one that works deep into the pores, dissolving dirt and impurities and replenishing the skin with rich, soothing oils.

Since no two skins are alike, cleansing creams must be specialized. You must choose your cleansing cream according to your individual requirements. There is a lovely pasteurized face cream on the market for the normal and oily skin. It not only cleanses but also protects and preserves the beauty of the normal skin. It is the only cleansing cream that actually benefits the oily, blemished skin, corrects blackheads and normalizes the condition. For the dry skin use a cleansing cream that has "body"—a cream which in addition to cleansing "gives" something to the skin.

A question that very often arises is whether or not we should wash our faces. Most beauty specialists say that we should. The oily skin must be washed regularly and even the very dry skin derives benefits from an occasional washing. However, soap and water do not go deep enough. There are a number of specially designed washing preparations on the market. You must use a preparation that works beneath the surface of the skin.

Make 2 cupfuls of lemon or orange gelatine. Pour the gelatine into a mold and, when it is cool and begins to "set," add the diced candy. When serving time comes, turn the mold upside down over the serving dish. Wrap it tightly with a cloth wrung out of very hot water and the jelly will fall onto the dish.

"Keep the Telephone to get work" . . .

. . . says Employment Bureau Manager

"It is imperative that telephone service be maintained at all times while a man is seeking employment," declares the manager of an employment bureau who has been unusually successful in placing men. "A man's telephone should be kept even if other things have to be sacrificed.

"Employers are apt to take the path of least resistance when the time comes to get in touch with men they want to hire. The telephone offers this means. If an employer can reach a man readily by telephone, it may make the difference between getting and just missing a job."

COPS MURDER NEGRO WOMAN IN COLD BLOOD

Birmingham, Ala. (L. L. D.)—Mrs. Edna Davis, Negro, was shot down and killed in cold blood by three police officers in her home here on New Year's Eve. Coroner Gip M. Evans rendered a verdict of "justifiable homicide," last week.

The three uniformed cops entered Mrs. Davis' home allegedly looking for someone who had been in a fight shortly before. They kicked down the door, and ordered four men and two women to stick up their hands. Then Mrs. Davis, who was kneeling facing up her shoes to go out did not immediately comply, one of them threw her over, struck and kicked her, pushing her down between a trunk and a bed. They then pumped two bullets into her, a third going wild.

They refused to allow her husband or anyone else to go near her, and she died within a few minutes.

Blakey, reported to police they killed him when he tried to escape from their car as they were bringing him into town. B. C. Crook admitted having fired the shot that killed him. All three were technically charged with murder.

After the death of Mr. Chiles, the Plaindealer was under the new management with J. A. Hamlett, Jr., managing editor. Lansing, Mich., Jan. 20.—Another indictment was placed against the inhuman penal system of Georgia Friday when Governor William A. Constock refused to permit Jesse Crawford, 20-year-old "fugitive from a chain gang", to be returned to Georgia.

Governor Refuses to Aid. Governor Constock refused to permit the extradition of Crawford on the recommendation of Assistant Attorney General George Murphy, a brother of Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, who presided at the hearing as a representative of the executive. Attorney Maurice Sugar, white, representative for the defendant, declared that the extradition papers were defective inasmuch as they did not state any charge against Crawford other than that he was a fugitive from justice. He read from the Michigan statutes to support his argument. He said that the charge against Crawford had merged into the sentence of the court.

Another defect in the extradition papers was that the Georgia officials, through a clerical error, had the man sought escaping from the chain gang before he had been committed. The papers showed the man escaping in May, 1932, and that he was committed to the chain gang in September.

A Squawk

We can't understand the attitude of our local sport followers. When some outside Negro club in any sport comes to the city to play the local white teams, every Negro who can raise the price of admission goes to see "his boys go". When his boys win, they have won a great victory, and if by chance the margin of victory is small, his boys just played with them. Race pride and loyalty is a fine thing, and we don't want to appear as saying anything against it, but our cry is this: We have Negro clubs here of local boys in almost every sport except baseball who hold their own with the best white outfits in the city. Yet these same sports followers will say we are no good, discredit our victories and make up a list of teams we ought to play. Why don't they put the other teams to the same test? If Joe's Giants win ten straight games they have a great team and if our local Negroes win twenty straight he hasn't played anybody.

We had a football team that held its own all fall. We have a basketball team that is doing well. Why not support these local boys? Our basketball team plays every Wednesday night at West High. We haven't lost any games and yet we haven't had a corporal's guard out to see us play. If we were the Hell Twisters from Devil's Bend, we'd be the talk of the town. We try to play all the leading teams in the city, that we can get to meet us. We expect to lose some games and when we do, we expect to hear how rotten we are in spite of the fact that we have won eight straight, averaging about 45 points per game. Why not come and see your home town boys go?

Crocker "Y" Big Five

The Big Five added two more victories to its rapidly growing list last week. Wednesday night at West High they took on the Highland Park Merchants. James Allen had one of the biggest nights of his career, scoring twenty-eight with fourteen baskets. Melvin Overton scored seven baskets and two free throws for sixteen points. The whole team played great ball, the final count being 61 to 29, the Merchants doing most of their scoring after the death of Mr. Chiles, the Plaindealer was under the new management with J. A. Hamlett, Jr., managing editor. The publication office has been moved to this city since May, 1932, and The Plaindealer has made marked and rapid strides since moving here.

ter the regulars went to the showers.

Thursday the gang went to Beech and handed the home team its first defeat in fifteen games 38 to 34. We didn't know until the last eighteen seconds who would win, but a couple of quick baskets broke a 34 all tie. Kenny Palmer celebrated his return to the basketball wars by getting 13 points while chasty Bus Brown got a like number. Our guards Webb and Overton, got their usual five each while the Captain, Jas. Allen, was held to two free throws. The largest crowd ever assembled in the Beech high school gym saw the battle.

The Five went to North high Monday afternoon and worked out with the high school team. They acquitted themselves well enough to get an invitation to practice with the school boys every Monday.

Big Bunny Wilson fell on the ice Wednesday and hurt his shoulder, missing two games with the Big Five last week. However, he was able to take part in the workout with North High Monday and looks as if the rest did him good. Kenny Palmer filled in nicely during the Rabbit layoff.

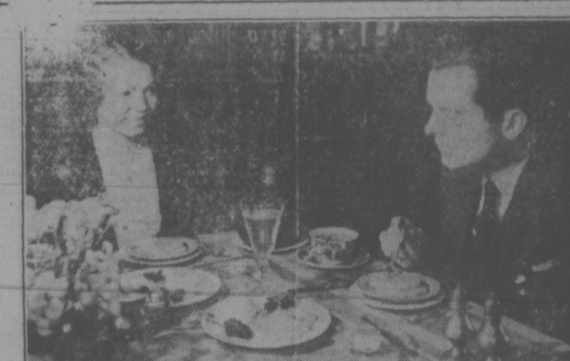

The key to the present success of the Big Five is the fine spirit of fellowship and team spirit among the fellows. Everybody wants to win and everybody is willing to put the team ahead of individual honors. A rare spirit in teams of this sort.

The Trojans and Wildcats made last week at West a clean sweep for "Y" clubs. In preliminary games to the Big Five's battle, the Trojans beat the classy Neal Drug team in a 22 to 20 thriller. Linford Willis and Morton Graves looked good for the Trojans. We hope these boys have hit their stride. They can play a lot of ball when they want to.

The Wildcats outroughed the Free Methodist team 14 to 8 in a wild and wooly encounter.

TO GLORIFY BREAKFAST

Toast and coffee and the morning paper! Coffee and toast and the morning paper! Ho hum! That's the great American breakfast—prepared with misgivings, swallowed in haste, not remembered long enough even to be repeated. It is perhaps a great pity that the days when American breakfasts were mighty affairs, suited to pioneering activities, are gone forever. Yet there are still ways to arouse even lagging modern breakfast appetites. One is to add the delicious tang of

NOTED ORCHESTRAS TO GO TO EUROPE

Paris, Jan. 27.—Irving Mills, manager of the Mills-Rockwell outfit which sponsors Duke Ellington, Cab Calloway and the Four Mills Brothers, is over here making plans for an early arrival of the famous Ellington gang. Following the Duke's appearance in this city will come the Four Mills Brothers and then when those combinations have finished Cab Calloway will be shot over here.

Wants Ellington. Europe is particularly interested in Ellington's outfit since they have been reading so much about his conquest of America's dance halls. They are likewise interested in the Mills Brothers and will accept any of the others, but Duke must be first. Mills sailed late in November, but will be back by the time Duke completes his present tour of the country.
