Will Rogers, Comedian, Insults Negro Race; Calls Radio Hit "Nigger Spiritual"

Thirteen Colored Students Graduate from Four City High Schools

National Broadcasting Co. Remains Silent on Affair

New York (CPS)—Despite a flood of protest which poured in upon them by telephone, telegram and post officials of the National Broadcasting Company, Radio City, refused to issue any statement repudiating the use of the term "Nigger" by Will Rogers, white comedian in his broadcast Sunday night over a national hookup of the NBS chain. Commenting on the popular song "The Last Roundup," Rogers said that while the words were undoubtedly a cowboy lyric, the music was really a "Nigger" spiritual.

He repeated the term three times during the course of his broadcast. Rogers has been appearing on every Sunday night on a program offered by the Gulf Refining Company. The program emanated from Hollywood.

M. W. Aylesworth, president of NBC could not be reached Monday. However, Frank Mason of the staff informed the Cooperative Publishers that the company exercised no censorship over the artists and speakers broadcasting over their chain. He added that the company will make no statement concerning the incident.

Letts Admitted to Frosh Cage Squad

MASS PRESSURE SMASHES MICHIGAN "U" COLOR BAR
Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 26—Spirited protests from outraged University of Michigan alumni and wide publicity in the Negro press have forced F. C. Cappon, Michigan's basketball coach to allow Franklin Letts, star athlete to continue workouts on the freshmen team from which he had been previously barred because of an "unwritten gentlemen's agreement" between the Big Ten schools. After a conference with Coaches Cappon and Yost on January 11, young Letts was told he could report for the squad. They said he could go out, that it was just up to him.

The barring of Letts from the Michigan freshman team was brought to the attention of the N. A. A. C. P. by Dr. Adonis Patterson of Battle Creek, Mich. Strong letters were immediately dispatched to the Michigan authorities and state officials. The association's release widely carried in the press was instrumental in changing the mind of the university coaches. The association is now directing its attention to fighting the unwritten agreement of the Big Ten schools against Negro basketball players. Protests have already been made to the presidents of Wisconsin and Minnesota universities. Alumni of other Big Ten schools are asked to protest to their universities on this alleged agreement.

Funeral Rites for Richard Oliver Noted Musician, Held Friday

Richard Oliver, 58, 833 Tenth St., died Tuesday afternoon at the Mercy hospital following an illness of two weeks. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at Union Baptist church with Rev. J. W. Tutt officiating. The body was shipped from the Wilson Funeral Home to Lexington, Mo., for burial. Mr. Oliver, nationally known composer and band leader, was the most distinguished musician in the state. He organized bands throughout the country including Lexington, Cleveland, Evans, Colfax and the noted Buxton band. Every circus and road show included some of his former musicians and pupils.

In 1920, Mr. Oliver directed the Community Center Band which was awarded second place in the Elks Grand Lodge at Chicago. The Des Moines Concert Band was awarded first prize in the Elks Midwest Convention held at Kansas City in 1928. Mr. Oliver was awarded first prize in the Wanamaker Foundation music contest held in Philadelphia in 1930 for his march "Prestidigitation." His best known works were "Ninth Cavalry" March, "Center Street Rag" and "Mountain Echoes," waltz overture. The late John Philip Sousa, Patrick Conway, Arthur Pryor, Karl King and other famous band leaders praised his work and used his compositions.

The later years of his life were devoted to private studio instruction and choir work; Mr. Oliver had charge of Shiloh, Mt. Olive, Maple Street church choirs. At the time of his death he was directing the Union Baptist church choir. For the past twelve years he was employed at the Rock Island shops at Valley Junction. Mr. Oliver organized the well known Rock Island quartet and other musical organizations in the city. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rosa Oliver, four brothers and two sisters.

Sports By Allen Ashby

Our boys did fairly well on the courts last week. Heywood Brewer and Redrick at East turned in good games against Lincoln, and when East finally went on a spree against Valley Junction these boys were cited for outstanding defensive play. At North, George Robinson was high point man for his team getting half their points in the battle with Roosevelt. The "Y" leagues opened last season with a bang, Corinthian, St. Paul and the Trojans winning their initial battles. Corinthian with a strong lineup trimmed the I. D. K. club by a top heavy score, 24-5. If Corinthian can keep their team intact and cut out the muscle basketball, they will have a good year and might win the league title. St. Paul with the two pint sized forwards, Buddy Glass and Scotty Rowland took the Famous Five into camp 21 to 8. The Trojans lit on the Harlem A. C. and dusted them 20 to 13.

The Big Five opened their season Tuesday night at Westminster church by trouncing the Atlas Beef team. Bunny Wilson appears to be headed for a bigger year and was in rare form, making 20 points. Jas. Allen celebrated his return from the Hot-tentots by getting 15 points and Brown, last years high point man got 11. Al Webb and the coach who had to be the fifth man also scored.

Police Called to Stop Church Riot

MEMBERS THREATEN BISHOP HEARD

New York, Jan. 26 (Special)—Once more police arrived on the scene to save Bishop William H. Heard of the First district of the African Methodist Episcopal church from possible death when the entire membership of Bethel church in W. 132d St. threatened his life at the Sunday morning services.

A riot call brought a squadron of police to the church in time to settle a row which had been caused by the unannounced arrival of the A. M. E. prelate. Bishop Heard, it is said, insisted on counting the number of members present at the service. This was against the wishes of the pastor, Rev. Edward Clarke.

When the bishop on taking a place in the pulpit, one of the church officials is said to have blocked his passage. Then, it is said, angry threats were hurled at Bishop Heard. Rushing to the pastor's study, one of the trustees called the police in an effort to prevent trouble which seemed inevitable.

Bishop Heard was saved from a mob of angry Bethel members last May when he transferred Rev. Clarke from Bethel to a post in New England. The congregation objected and threatened to split from the parent body before they would submit to Rev. Clarke's transfer.

Taking the case to the supreme court, Rev. Clarke won a decision and was reinstated after having been ordered to the New England church. It has been hinted that church officials will seek an injunction to prevent the bishop from interfering with the church services.

Congressman's Secretary Is Refused Cafe Service

Washington, D. C.—Oscar DePriest of Chicago, the only Negro member of congress, representing the first Illinois congressional district, flew into a rage here Monday when employees of the house restaurant refused to serve Morris H. Lewis, DePriest's private secretary and his son. When DePriest was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of the late Martin E. Madden, there was much speculation on the part of congressmen from the South as to where DePriest would eat and what course would be pursued if the Chicagoan demanded service in the house restaurant.

"No Negroes Eat Here"

Monday's refusal came when Mr. Lewis, who before his service as secretary to Mr. DePriest had been secretary to a Chicago millionaire and had traveled extensively in Europe with his employer, had seated himself along with his son at the counter in the grill room and ordered food. The Negro waiter, after showing signs of nervousness, hid himself to the office of the manager of the restaurant, P.

Fighter

Lindsay C. Warren, representative from North Carolina, chairman of the accounts committee, issued a statement Monday night to the newspapermen. He said "In refusing to serve two Negroes today in the house restaurant, P. H. Johnson, manager of the restaurant, was acting upon my orders and instructions. It has never served Negro employees or visitors, nor will it so long as I have anything to do with it." Mr. DePriest, always known as a fighter, said he would call for a showdown.

"The Green Pastures" Drama Enjoyed by Capacity Crowds

"DE LAWD" AND DANIEL HAYNES MEET INTERVIEWERS

At the conclusion of Tuesday night's performance the curtain fell on the one thousand four hundred nineteenth performance of Marc Connelly's "Green Pastures," 1930 Pulitzer prize play, which appeared Monday and Tuesday at the Shrine Auditorium. Critics predict that "Green Pastures" will pass into history among the classics as an American folk drama. It is an impressive religious play of a simple conception of the first five books of the Bible with the voices of the heavenly choir blending in the theme.

Richard B. Harrison, 69, "DeLard" who recites 1,500 lines in the play, was interviewed following the Tuesday matinee performance by several students and reporters including Miss Evelyn Brooks of the North High Oracle, Everett Wadsworth of the Bystander, and Owen Robinson. Mr. Harrison, portly, pleasant-faced gentleman with long flowing white hair and with a clear, resonant voice resembling thunder, welcomed each and every visitor with a cordial smile saying "Sure I'm glad to know you, what can I do for you, young man (or lady)? Sit down, be comfortable and let's talk." A visitor in his presence is immediately made to feel at ease.

Southern Hospitality

"Young folks, I must tell you, we had the most glorious trip through the South," he exclaimed most enthusiastically. "Colored and white people alike accepted our play with open hearts and we were treated splendidly!" Churches, schools, and public buildings which had previously been closed to Negroes, welcomed this group, Mr. Harrison said. Governors senators, railroad officials and other prominent people were eager to entertain the "Green-Pastures" company.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA

Mrs. Emma O'Neil, 1151 Fifth St. N. W., gave a birthday party in honor of her daughter, Jacqueline, who was five years old, Jan. 20. She received many presents. Covers were laid for 18: Nina Mae Lee and Henry Woodson, both of this city were united in marriage Jan. 20. Miss Mildred Green, Louis Smith and Victor Lewis were in the Grant high school graduating class at the memorial building, Jan. 18. Nina Mae Lee and Henry Woodson home after two weeks in Mercy hospital. Frank Smith has returned to work after several weeks illness. Paul Rogers has returned home after several weeks visit with his mother in Tennessee.

H. Johnson. Service was then denied the two colored gentlemen. Monday, Mr. DePriest said he often had guests, both Negro and white, in the house restaurant and that he had always been served, presumably because he was a member of congress. He was at loss to understand why Negroes should be refused in the part of the restaurant set aside for the public. He could have understood had the refusal come if Mr. Lewis and his son taken themselves to the part reserved for members of congress.

Fighter

Lindsay C. Warren, representative from North Carolina, chairman of the accounts committee, issued a statement Monday night to the newspapermen. He said "In refusing to serve two Negroes today in the house restaurant, P. H. Johnson, manager of the restaurant, was acting upon my orders and instructions. It has never served Negro employees or visitors, nor will it so long as I have anything to do with it." Mr. DePriest, always known as a fighter, said he would call for a showdown.

Born in Canada

Mr. Harrison, born in Canada, was formerly a teacher in Greensboro, N. C., and chautauqua reader. His home is in Chicago where his wife and daughter reside. The largest crowd at a single performance in his career was here in Des Moines in 1932 when the receipts netted over $6,000. Asked about retiring, Mr. Harrison stated thoughtfully, "I don't know when that will be, but I have several honors awaiting me and some day soon I may stop and gather them up." In answer to the inquiry of the road to success he said "Study, study, study, suffer, experience the gamut of human desires and passions, imagine the literary insight and try to understand what the author meant; above all strive to be clean and upright and keep your heart right." Concluding the interview with joking remarks and laughing aloud at some of his experiences, "DeLard" expressed great delight in meeting his young friends.

Daniel Haynes

Daniel L. Haynes, who takes the dual role of Adam and Hazzel, told the reporters to "come right in, boys, glad to know you." He expressed pleasure at having so many visitors in his dressing room. The six foot two giant of 189 pounds, whose great big bass voice boomed in the motion pictures "Hallelujah," "The J. J. Mile" and musical comedy "Showboat," was born in Atlanta and studied for the ministry. "I am proud to be in this drama to help my people if possible, and to give the unborn Negro children an inspiration to strive for," Mr. Haynes said. Arthur Porter, music director, who has been on the stage for 25 years with "Shuffle Along" and "Smarter Set," spent some time conversing with the Bystander reporters while awaiting the interviews.

Protest Holding of A. S. S. Bishops' Meet in Jackson, Miss.

BISHOP MEET A. S. S. FIGHT

Attitude of Jackson Mayor Objected to by Northern AME Church Officials TOO LATE TO CHANGE

JACKSON, Miss. (ANP)—Reports emanating from the headquarters of Rt. Reverend S. L. Greene of Little Rock, Ark., president bishop of the eighth Episcopal District of the A. S. S. church, this week indicated that plans were being rapidly perfected for the meeting of the Council of Bishops of the church at Jackson, Miss., Feb. 6-9. These preparations were going on despite the fact that considerable comment has been aroused throughout the country by the action of the mayor of the city who according to the New York offices of the NAACP told a Negro delegation seeking GWA allotments recently, that he would "not do a damned thing for the Negroes," who came to him protesting unfair allotment of jobs being issued in Jackson under the CWA.

Citizens of Mississippi and Louisiana have been expecting the Bishop's Council to be held here next month, to be one of the outstanding meetings ever conducted in this area. It has been predicted that between 4,000 and 5,000 visitors including the outstanding ministers and laymen from throughout the country would be in attendance.

In contradiction to the NAACP reports of the mayor's attitude, local citizens say they have received every encouragement from city authorities in bringing the meeting here. For the first time in the history of the city, the new city auditorium, one of the finest and most modern convention halls in the south has been turned over to the colored people for the sessions of the council.

The Ministerial Alliance of Chicago at a meeting last week passed a resolution urging the removal of the Bishop's Council from this city. Copies of the resolutions were sent to each of the 15 bishops of the church. Rev. George Washington Williams, president of the Chicago Ministerial Alliance, had received only one reply up to Monday from the various bishops whom he had addressed. This came from Bishop Green, the presiding bishop in the district. He pleaded that the meeting be held as scheduled despite the attitude of the mayor. In his letter addressed to Rev. Williams, Bishop Green said:

"Your communication of recent date through President G. W. Williams, protesting the meeting of the Bishop Council in Jackson, because of statements alleged to have been made by Mayor Scott to a committee of local citizens asking that a fairer distribution be made to colored unemployed, of the work made possible through certain Federal Agencies, has been duly received by me and is herewith acknowledged.

"May I say that in principle, we are agreed so far as our attitude towards unfair treatment of our race grows as regards funds appropriated by federal government and personally I have heartily joined all agencies in our effort to bring this matter to the attention of all federal, state, county and municipal authorities throughout our country and I beg to call your attention to resolutions published generally from the matter of the convening of the Bishop's Council in Jackson, Miss. I could not agree with you, in Jackson, Miss., was far more an exception to the rule which prevails all but universally throughout our entire country.

"I trust to be definitely understood that my position on this matter is not by any means to defend even the slightest injustice against my people but it is my hope to be definitely understood to be opposing any effort toward the removal of the Council because of a matter which none of us can prevent and which exist elsewhere, but almost everywhere, as I can serve throughout the whole country.

"In simple justice to the people, white and colored, in Mississippi and Louisiana in general and in Jackson in particular, I feel I should state with all possible firmness that the removal of this Council at this time, if such could be influenced, would be the greatest injustice and disappointment that we have experienced from members of our own denomination ever within a generation and I do hope and pray that our most distinguished and illustrious Association, many of whom I know personally and for whom I have the most profound regard will receive said protest and get ready for one of the most enthusiastic receptions that has ever been planned for you."

In view of the shortness of time before the convening of the session and the attitude of the President Bishop, it seems probable that the session will be held here in Jackson as originally scheduled.

FLORENCE, S. C.—The Florence County Teachers' Ass'n held its regular monthly meeting at Wilson High School Saturday, Jan. 13 at which time they were favored with a splendid discussion on the fundamental of routine school activities led by prominent instructors. He took for his subject, "Vision of which he very ably portrayed. Being entered upon his subject he commended the County and State Teachers' Ass'n, stating that it is a worthy cause if only for its fellowship and friendship between the teachers of the State. He then went on to say that "where there is no vision a nation falls. Lack of vision has placed us where we are today. Teachers though their salaries have been greatly reduced, have been endeavoring to hold things together. The creator of vision in this country are the ones who have to suffer most. Notwithstanding they are holding their own. Their efforts have been the results of saving the nation 18 to 20 years through their teaching in the public schools. If it were not for their accomplishment in educating the youth this nation would have been thrown into revolt and chaos. Lack of vision has resulted in dictatorship and revolution in other countries. Wealth has never created idealism. Men who have suffered most are those who have created idealism. Where there is a lack of idealism and vision the people perish. The teachers stand for character in education. For lack of vision parents in the homes expect the teachers and the churches to train their children where they are living unmorally themselves. They can't make their own children do but expect the teachers to do the impossible.

"They are not willing to stand up for the things that are right. They back up the children in what ever they report from school for lack of vision. But only consolation the teachers have is that, 'whatever a man sows, that also will he reap.' In the case of the unjust, lack of vision on the part of the parents is what the teachers have to fight against. The ignorant deferring to the teachers as to what they should do. When the time comes for me to have to play politics to adhere to the classes, to hold my job, will be the time for me to go back to my log cabin in the mountains of Tennessee to live. College men are becoming heads of departments which men of wealth formerly occupied. I think God that we have a man as president of this country who is doing away with the men of wealth and placing the government in the hand of irresponsible persons. Roosevelt has stepped into place to cast the Money Changers out of the temple, and to give men a fair and just living wage."

The accident occurred at Georgia avenue and Washington street. The child after being treated at Grady hospital was permitted to return home.

SIGHT SEEING IN THE HOLY LAND

George F. Bennett, White Illinoisan Now Living in Atlanta, Writes of a Trip Recently Through the Scenes of Most Biblical Stories in the Holy Land. This feature Will Appear in the Church Edition Every Week.

Article IV.—There are so many places in Palestine that are merely traditional especially in Jerusalem, but here in Capernaum we know was home of the Master after being driven from Nazareth by a mob, and far from us know no one visited Nazareth again, although He probably saw the place from a distance on His way back and forth from Cana, Galilee and Jerusalem.

From Mt. Tabor one can see Nazareth plainly. He lived at Capernaum and the immediate surrounding for 3 years. There has been no great change as to the ground and the rock formation. These are the same as when He taught here. Apparently the Master visited this beautiful little lake and truly He might for it is a perfect picture of loveliness.

The brown, chocolate covered hills and mountains ancient and new looking on all sides, interest and excite the eye. The north and northwestern side where the ground comes down to the water's edge quite gradually.

Speaking of this old synagogue, nothing remains except portions of the walls four or five feet in height. The building lies north for protection but when being viewed a portion sufficient for observation is swept clean. This mosaic floor is the same as we saw the ruins of Pompei near Naples, which was destroyed 79 A. D., which of course was Roman.

Upon the floor is where the speaker stood and at the southeast corner, a few feet from this spot are five or six stone steps. The portion in the center of the steps has been worn down several inches. These apparently are the steps of the Master, though at this time the edge of the Lake is some 75 feet away. To my mind most sacred in all Palestine, as history shows us that seldom do mountains, rivers, lakes or seas name rocks ever change. There are no underground traditional places but we do have the actual Sea of Galilee before us. We have these old worn down mountains and we know this is Capernaum. According to Numbers 31:11 and Deut. 3:12 in the Old Testament, this lake was called Cinneroth or Cinnereth, and in John 6:1 it is called Sea of Tiberias, but being located in the land of Galilee, it was called the Sea of Galilee.

We were told and from my own observation we can see the inhabitants' customs, and their mode of dress are the same as during the period of the Master. With just a little vision as to the land on the north shore of Galilee we can see the Saviour wading out in the water and getting into Simon's boat (fishing boat, Luke 5) which was near the water's edge.

Where Savior Taught.—He taught the people as they sat along here on the ground. The elbows resting on the knees and the palm of the hand along side the face. They can see in this position, "Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand."

The ancient Aramaic language was used by the Master in all His discourses and teachings. One can easily hear the Master speaking, as He taught across the water (Matt. 13:25) to Peter, James and John were having trouble with their ship (boat) as the winds were contrary. "In our every day language the Master says, 'Heavenly Father, I have said to the winds, 'Be still, and obey my voice.' And the winds obeyed me.'"

The Faith of Peter.—Being afraid, he started to plead for help and surely the Master smiled when he said to boys, "Peter, where is your faith, Peter, don't you believe in me any more?" I illustrate this to my readers in order that they may look these people not in a mythical way but in a natural way. They were human, just as you and I. They became tired and enjoyed a good night's rest; they probably appreciated a good joke; they became hungry and enjoyed food; they were human, and all the things which we fear.

I can imagine the Master walking along by these old jagged stones and hedges; a pebble gets in between his foot and his sandal, and hurts his foot; somewhat of humor every possible, reason for which he whipped the money changers in the temple at Jerusalem) sits on this large stone along the road side and he was right here many times) taken off this singular, dislodging rock which is in fact, the Master looking up at the sky and the little flinkey clouds, mopping the perspiration from his face, saying to himself "This is sure a hot day!" Human? Yes, very. From childhood I have always thought of the people, and places as mythical.

Bible Stories Human.—Millions have and still think as I did—but these people lived and were human beings, while the ruins of most of all the places mentioned in the Bible are being torn down and disappearing entirely, but the location of most of these places are becoming established through scientific research.

As we proceed around the Lake to Tiberias (John 6: 1-21) for luncheon we stop to view the mountain side where the swine (the devil within them) came to disaster in water below. There are no swine in this country to this day.

As we leave Capernaum on our way to Tiberias located on the western shores of Galilee we pass through a number of Bethanias, the home of Peter, James and John. As we come to the northwestern portion of the Lake we view the old stone houses of Magdala, the home of Mary the Magdalene.

We continue now in a direction a little east of south about one mile north of Tiberias, the Lake at this point is at its widest breadth and an abrupt canyon leads off to the westward. I mention this now as it will describe the Mt. of Beatitudes in this article later.

Ancient Tiberias.—Tiberias was built by Herod A. D. 20. I don't remember that the City of Tiberias is mentioned in the Bible, but the Sea of Tiberias is mentioned in number of times in the Book of John. This town abounds with fleas, and caused considerable amusement among those who were easily annoyed. We had lunch here and pet some of the fleas. My one wish was that muton would not be served, as the very odor of goat and muton had become nauseating to me.

We had fish (Peter's fishes.) They were small, served with a sauce. Fruits such as ripe olives and figs and dates are always on the table. There is a large collection of rice, peppers and eggs. We bought water in bottles all through this country as a preventative from disease, the natives being immune. The charge was 30 or 40¢ per bottle. There were no ice we were obliged to drink our water much below the freezing point.

I would like to explain that here we are 600 feet below sea level with a temperature variance of 100 to 115 degrees; palm trees and semi-tropical fruits, while in a few moments by motor there would be a complete change of atmosphere.

Leave for Cana.—We are now ready to leave for Cana and Mt. Tabor, but we can't find Ah. He is finally located down by the Lake under a palm tree asleep. He comes up with a smile and says, "We are off, going west up over the mountains to the north shore of this beautiful little Lake to say good bye. Many descriptions I have read of this site but words are insignificant.

We have gone only a few miles from the Mt. of Beatitudes and we are given the old road running a short distance south. At a distance the mountains have a flat top and at the sides a slightly increased elevation giving the impression of a horn on each side, hence the name Horns of Hattin or Beattitudes. From the south side the elevation does not seem significant coming abruptly out of the plains, the top being flat and covered with short stubby oaks but the north side the canyon spoken of in early part of this article makes rather a formidable descent on the north side.

The top covers possibly an acre or two of surface and easily accessible the ground south of the mountain slopes nicely and evenly toward the south. Between the old road and the mountain is where the 5,000, not including women and children, were fed and here the famous Sermon on the Mount was delivered.

All religious denominations agree that this is the place where Jesus delivered the Sermon on the Mount. This is the famous miracle, transparent, also one of the greatest of all religious battles took place at the battle of Saladen of the Saracens and the Crusaders in 1187 A. D.

End of Crusades.—The chief officers of the Crusaders were executed and the remainder were sold into slavery to the Muslims. This ended the Crusaders' campaign in Palestine, being a complete victory for Saladen. We are now arriving at Cana of Galilee, home of Nazareth, which proves to be a village of some 100

BOXCOTT BEST WEAPON

Will Rogers, famous stage and screen star took it upon himself to insult the Negro race by repeatedly using the word 'nigger' in one of his broadcasts. When one knows that Rogers is a half breed Indian, born in Oklahoma, the presumption is that he would have little hesitancy in using such a term. But when one considers the prominence and training he has had—and there is no excuse why he has not had it because the federal government has financed Indians liberally—he ought to have sense and decency enough to abstain from such practice.

Protests have been made to the National Broadcasting Company which carried the radio talk and the sponsors of the program, the Gulf Refining Company, demanding an apology over the radio. But the Bystander suggests that Negroes buy no products from the Gulf Refining Company; see no show where Will Rogers appears or read none of his articles until such an apology is made.

DE PRIEST BALKS

The grim teeth of race prejudice at the nation's capital bobs up in print again. Those who are acquainted in Washington know that it is thick at every turn at all times. The secretary of Rep. De Priest accompanied by a friend went to the House restaurant for service and was informed by the manager that the chairman of the House Committee, Rep. Warren, (Dem. N. C.) had ordered that no Negro employee should be served. Rep. Warren said this would be the rule as long as he had anything to do with the matter.

Of course there is no question as to Mr. De Priest himself, because the restaurant is maintained for Representatives. It is a question whether employees may eat there. Mr. De Priest says he is going to demand a showdown by record vote in the House on the question. This should be done.

Either all employees will be barred or all will eat in the restaurant. However, we are inclined to believe that the southerners will forego the privilege for their help in order to bar the Negro just as they have made slow progress at home in an effort to keep the Negro down.

ELECTRIC RATES REDUCED

The Des Moines Electric Company has reduced electric current rates in Des Moines and Valley Junction. The reduction was made voluntarily in keeping with the policy of the company to give the public good service at a reasonable charge and at the same time return a fair investment to its stockholders.

Few people realize that Des Moines electric current rates are less than any town of its size for the average consumer. Of course there is possibly some excuse for failure to know these facts for all public utilities have been held up by certain groups of politicians as gougers of the public simply because most of them are large concerns; because some have been found to conduct unfair tactics. This method of reasoning is erroneous. The public should get the facts which are at all times available.

The public utilities are large taxpayers and in the case of the Des Moines Electric Company it maintains a very high regard for the interest of its customers and the communities it serves. Des Moines is fortunate that it has a company and a management such as this one.

WHOOPING COUGH

Every year, at this particular time there is a prevalence of those diseases (contagious) which are commonly called children's diseases—and among which is Whooping Cough. Due to the fact that at this particular season most children do have a cold and coughing, Whooping Cough is often overlooked until it is well developed. In its early stages Whooping Cough is very like the common cold, there being a hoarseness, sneezing, watery eyes, discharges from both the eyes and nose and an unusual tendency toward sleepiness. After the disease becomes more advanced, there occurs a whooping sound as the air enters the lungs during prolonged coughing spells. Generally there is an appearance of suffocation and the child struggles for breath. When the coughing becomes very severe, it induces vomiting, and in some cases involuntary bowel action. Vomiting is beneficial in this way; in very young children much of the plegm is swallowed and vomiting expels it from the stomach. Older children expectorate the plegm which rises in the throat with each fit of coughing. The act of vomiting not only throws off the plegm swallowed, but has a tendency to relax the windpipe and lungs. As a rule there is little fever, however, in severe cases there is sometimes a violent and dangerous fever. While Whooping Cough in itself is not considered especially dangerous, care must be exercised to prevent the development of complications such as pneumonia and inflammation of the lungs. Children with Whooping Cough should, by all means, be isolated to prevent the spread of the disease to other children as it is prone to run in epidemic form.

In Memory of Dr. C. A. Adams who departed this life, Jan. 26, 1926.

"Eight long years have slowly passed Since your dear hand we gently clasped,
Each month, each hour, each day a prayer
Is sent by us to meet you there
In the great beyond to part no more
When all our tasks on earth are o'er."
Mrs. C. A. Adams and Mrs. Milbra Adams Pope, Georgia State College, Savannah, Ga.
