Roosevelt Retains Jas. Cobb as Judge

Washington, D. C., July 6—Before leaving the White House for a month of relaxation in tropical waters, the President failed to make a recess appointment of any of the candidates seeking the judgeship now held by Judge James A. Cobb on the Municipal Court of the District of Columbia.
It was rumored here last week that Richard R. Horner, who has been a candidate for the Municipal Court bench with every change of administration, would be given a recess appointment. It was reported that the appointment would be made to placate Senators Carter Glass and Harry F. Byrd, both Democrats of Virginia, who have vigorously opposed some of the administration's policies. The rumor, however, never materialized into anything more substantial than street gossip.

Negro Athletes Star In National A.A.U. Meet

METCALFE LEADS OPPONENTS TO TAPE IN BOTH 100- AND 200-METERS CHAMPIONSHIPS
Milwaukee (ANP)—High scorer in Saturday's finals of 47th Annual National A. A. U. championship meet here at Marquette university stadium, Ralph Metcalfe, husky speed demon of Marquette, has compiled a record which, on past performances by others, has no basis for comparison. He has won the National Collegiate, National A. A. U., Central Intercollegiate and Drake relay dash titles for the past three years. Nosing out the bid of Jesse Owens, Ohio State university freshman flash, by a scant half yard, Metcalfe scampered home in the 100 meters in 16.4, tying the record for the event set by Eddie Tolan of Michigan in 1932. Eulace Peacock, Shore A. C., Elberon, N. J., another septa runner, came in third.
Metcalfe, Marquette's captain, achieved the distinction of winning both the 100- and 200-meter races for the third successive year, tying the record of Bonnie Wefers, coach of the New York A. C., who in 1905, 1906 and 1907 won both the national A. A. U. sprints. Metcalfe had a romp of it in the 200-meter dash, around one turn, winning in 21.3. The former Chi-

Crop Reduction Program Hurts Southern Farmers Cites Recovery Official

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 29—The two most elaborate and powerful pieces of New Deal machinery, the AAA and the NRA, have not improved the lot of Negro workers, and, indeed, have left some of them worse off than they were before, it was declared here Thursday by John P. Davis of Washington, in an address before the 25th annual conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Mr. Davis, secretary of the Joint Committee on National Recovery, composed of representatives of twenty-two national Negro and interracial organizations, said his committee had submitted briefs and oral arguments in behalf of the Negro workers in more than 60 NRA codes of fair competition.
He declared the AAA, created by the Roosevelt administration to ease the credit burden of the farmers and raise farm prices, had left the Negro farmers, to the mercies of "the very men who heretofore had charged them exorbitant interest, and who held the mortgage on their fertile farm lands." The Negro farmers with credit problem were directed to these local functionaries, the speaker declared, "with the hope that they would forego their lucrative exploitation and aid them in securing easy credit from the federal government. Justice was too much to expect in such a condition as this."
His NRA Differential Wage Scales—Passing to the NRA, Mr. Davis said 1,500,000 unorganized Negro industrial workers had looked in vain for aid from the recovery machinery. He cited the cotton textile code, the first to be adopted, as expressly omitting from its maximum hours and minimum wage provisions more than 12,000 Negro workers employed in the industry as outside crews and cleaners.
The speaker scored the geographical wage differentials which he said was being used in more than 100 codes in industries employing 50,000 Negroes. He said the code of the laundry trade contained six different wage rates based upon geography, with the lowest of these—14 cents an hour—in states where the labor is predominantly Negro.

Williams Gets Spingarn Award

Presentation Speech Made By Wm. Pickens at Oklahoma City
Oklahoma City (ANP)—As the presiding officer at the Friday night meeting of the N. A. A. C. P. conference when the Spingarn medal was being awarded to W. T. B. Williams, dean of Tuskegee institute, William Pickens, field secretary, pointed out that one of the chief services of the medal award is to help rescue colored Americans from the "inferiority complexes" into which nearly every other thing in America tends to lead them.
He pointed out that segregation and "Jim Crow" tend to mark everything "for colored people" as inferior; that stubbornly prosecuted cases like the Scottsboro case and the Jess Hollins case (in Oklahoma) "are really persisted in by the prosecution, not because of mere vengeance against the individuals involved, but to prevent the Negro population from ever getting the notion that they can have their way against the great white world, whether the Negro be guilty or innocent,—to drive it into the Negro's nerve-system that he is really helpless,—that he might as well surrender when the white man is opposed to him.

dean of the Howard university law school, at the opening session of the 25th annual N. A. A. C. P. conference Friday.
Dean Houston said: "The only thing left to do is to unite with the poor white man who is just as bad off as the Negro—at least little better off. It will be hard. There will be suspicion and even enmity at first. The minds of both the poor whites and the Negroes have been poisoned against each other, but the attempt must be made. The Negro must carry his case to the poor white. Together, they can win against the forces which are seeking to exploit and keep them down. Separately, they will lose and the other fellow will continue to win."

Jury Can't Agree on Slaying of White Ins. Agent

Group to Ask For Release of Herndon

ATLANTA, Ga.—A Committee of prominent North-Georgia liberals, whose mission is an investigation of the Herndon case and other cases under Georgia's "insurance" law arrived in Atlanta Saturday morning. The committee, under the leadership of the Atlanta Committee for the Release of Political Prisoners, includes John Howard Lawson, noted playwright and author of "Process-Plant" and "Success Story"; Willam Hollins, Jr., whose recent novel, "The Shadow Before," has won widespread acclaim; and Winnifred Chappell, secretary of the Methodist Federation for Social Service.

The committee intends to call on Governor Tammidge, Chief Justice Russell, Assistant Solicitor General Hudson, and other officials, and will also visit Herndon, in an effort to learn the truth of reports that the prisoner is being discriminated against, that literature and that he is not receiving adequate medical attention.

The members of the committee, while of varying political views, state that there are widespread reports that Georgia's old insurrection law is being used as a means of interfering with the ordinary civil rights of American citizens; that free speech, free protest and free assembly are threatened by the indiscriminate use of this law against alleged radicals.

Herndon, who was prominent in organizing the unemployed and was active in demonstrations for relief, was sentenced to eighteen months in prison, and the sentence was recently upheld by the state supreme court. An appeal is now being taken to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Following its stay in Atlanta, the committee will proceed to Birmingham to investigate conditions there and will later publish a full report of its findings.

Charges of Misconduct Are Found Groundless; Judges Do Not Leave Bench

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—Disbarment proceedings which had been preferred against Leonard P. Henderson, attorney, 265 1-2 S. High street, by the grievance committee of the Franklin County Bar Association on charges of unprofessional conduct involving moral turpitude were found to be groundless by the six common pleas judges hearing the case Saturday.

Immediately upon the completion of the evidence presented by Henderson, Presiding Judge Duncan S. High street, by the grievance committee of the Franklin County Bar Association on charges of unprofessional conduct involving moral turpitude were found to be groundless by the six common pleas judges hearing the case Saturday.

The case was brought out when Mrs. Lillian Marcus employed Henderson to prosecute a damage suit against Frank S. Monnett and Charles R. Doll, both attorneys, for injuries claimed to have been received by her falling down a stairway in a ten-story house owned by Monnett and Doll. Several months later Henderson discovered a case in 118 Ohio State Reports which was identical with the Marcus case. With this fact in mind Henderson advised her that the law was against her and after some difficulty, it is said, got her to listen as he read the law to her.

"Nuisance Value" Given. Monnett offered to settle, it is alleged, for what is known as a "nuisance value" admitting no liability but agreed to pay fifty dollars to Mrs. Marcus as a kindness. Doll refused to pay any money but agreed to cancel two judgments he had already had against Mrs. Marcus for attorney fees when he formerly represented her.

It was brought out that Mrs. Marcus gave Henderson authority to settle with Monnett, which Henderson used all professional means to confer with her on the use of registered mail which she refused to receive. Mrs. Marcus in effect to have it appear that she did not give Henderson authority to settle.

WIFE TELLS OF LOVER; KILLED

Wife-Slayer Says Mate Promised Her Lover Would Kill Him

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Taunted into a frenzy of murderous rage Wednesday morning at dawn, Charles Lewis, 44, of 507 Buntyn, shot and killed his wife, Leora, whom he said had a momentary fit of jealousy, and then told her "lover" of Lewis' abuse, and have him kill Lewis.

Lewis told police that for some time his wife had been "going out" with a man he said was Gus Bawden. He said his wife had consistently ignored his pleas for her to give up the other man and had even dared to admit being intimate with him.

A month ago, in a fight over Mrs. Lewis between her husband and Bawden, Lewis said Bawden cut him severely.

The memory of his injury over the affections of his own wife, Lewis admitted, but he tried to keep out of further trouble by letting the matter drop, and by trying to keep his wife from associating any more with his rival.

Apparently he was unsuccessful, because Wednesday morning Mrs. Lewis came in at daybreak, Lewis said he ordered her never to see Bawden again.

"I'll see him when I get good and ready," his reckless spouse is alleged to have told him defiantly.

A hot argument ensued with people heaping rebukes on the other, until finally Mrs. Lewis said: "I'll show you you can't treat me this way. I'll have Gus kill you before night falls."

This threat on the part of his wife, Lewis said, was too much for him. The spectacle of his wife promising to have the man who had stolen her affections from him to kill him drove Lewis into a blind rage. He ran to the other room where his shotgun was reached, loaded it and discharged the weapon at close range into her body in the region of her heart.

35,000 Colored Voters Alarm An Investigator

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Mr. Clifton B. Walters, white citizen of 3008 Coleman, wants plenty of help—white help, presumably to help him, as he says "Check the honest" of the biggest potential voting strength in the history of Shelby County."

Mr. Walters has discovered, he says, and apparently to his great alarm, that of the 77,000 registered voters in the county, 35,000 are Negroes.

Mr. Walters is said to believe that the colored voters' "footsteps" carefully guided to the registration booths, which would seem to indicate that Mr. Walters does not think much of the type of civic pride which would lead colored folks to register so that they might vote against the type of leadership, "illy white," very likely to be sought in unusual cases with fees for his services increased in proportion to the character of the disorder.

Mistrial Declared in Case of Nashville Woman Who Slew Insurance Agent

SHE CLAIMS ATTACK

NASHVILLE, (By Herman J. Carter, for ANP)—An all-white jury concluded after an hour's deliberation on the case of Mrs. Mary Bush, 29, 917 Pearl St., who shot and killed L. A. Mitchell, a white insurance collector for the Income Life Insurance Company April 2, 1934, because she repulsed his indecent advances, that they could not reach a decision.

The trial lasted two days, beginning Wednesday morning in part of Criminal court, presided over by Judge Charles Gilliam.

The defense, in an effort to select an unprejudiced jury, asked of each venireman, "Is the fact that the defendant happens to be a colored woman and the deceased a white man enough to prevent you from rendering a just decision on the facts in the case?"

The answer was "No." Twenty-three prospects who "radiated light upon their faces" were excused before the jury was selected.

The defense held that on the second day of April, 1934, one L. A. Mitchell, came to the house of Mrs. Bush, for the purpose of collecting the insurance due his company.

Upon learning that she did not have the money, he is alleged to have remarked, "Well, how about going to bed with me for the part of the insurance due me?" Mrs. Bush rebuked him. He pushed her across the bed and a fight started.

He struck her in the stomach. After receiving the blow, she ran to the kitchen to secure a plate "to scare him with." Mitchell, according to her testimony, "grabbed a lamp sitting on the table and threw it at me missing me and hitting the floor."

She added: "He then broke at me from around the door, I got scared and ducked behind the bureau door and shot him and he caught his ear and fell backwards out the door on his back and died."

The state, in an effort to secure conviction of murder in the first degree, represented that Mrs. Bush had no money. That she got nursing and brooding with her gun, planning to do something, and that something was to kill L. A. Mitchell. That she was not telling the truth when she said that Mitchell tried to force her to go to bed with her.

Twelve character witnesses were brought from Sparta, Tennessee, where Mitchell formerly lived to testify that Mitchell was a man who did not get with Negro women. They were the sheriff, ten deputies and U. S. postal clerk.

COURT HITS PRACTICE OF GYP DEFENSE

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—What can be interpreted as a "solar plexus" blow to the practice of the American Life and Accident Co.'s Cleveland office in chiseling and refusing to pay claims of Negro policyholders by resorting to a "recovery" in "Maha" court by Judge Frank J. Lauseche in the case of Anna-Bell Frier against the American.

The case grew out of a claim to recover $228. The face value of the policy issued by the American on the life of Ellen Hatch, which the American refused to pay on the ground that the insured had not stated her age correctly in her application for insurance, an excuse which it is claimed the company often offers as reason for its refusal to pay claims against it.

Judge Lauseche, in entering judgment against the American Life for the full amount of the face value of the policy, stated in his written opinion that he was opposed to the practice of omitting hospital records from court for the purpose of defending suits for insurance claims—a practice for which the American has become widely publicized, and that the court was not convinced that the insured DID PERSONALLY misstate her age.

Attention was also called to the judge's decision to the fact that the American, although refusing to pay the claim on the ground that the insured misstated her age, did not offer any evidence to show "how, from and by whom the information of the age of the insured was obtained."

MEDICAL ADVICE

By Dr. M. T. Ashery The "Come back" of the "Family Doctor" The Economic depression has done much to restore the general practitioner of medicine to his former eminent position.

While the medical profession has been studying the problem of too many specialists within the ranks, the depression seems to have contributed a good bit toward relieving the situation. Dr. Lewis' opinion. He said that the general practitioner has actually fared better during the depression than the specialist. This is because many persons have learned that they can be treated satisfactorily in their own homes by their family physicians.

The look of dishevel on a person's face when the physician tells him that he (the physician) will make chemical or functional tests would be humorous were it not for the seriousness of the situation, and shows how far the average person has been weaned away from the general practitioner. The fact is any medical doctor who has finished from a Class A medical school in the past twenty years had to complete his laboratory work satisfactorily before he could graduate, and in many instances prefers to make his own tests as often as possible and to the extent that his equipment will permit, as a check on the work of the laboratory technician.

There are many services the general practitioner performs just as efficiently and more economically than the specialist. The specialist's work is supposed carried on, seeking to perpetuate the publications as monuments to the dreams of the man who dared to attempt what others had deemed impossible—a successful Negro Daily Newspaper.

REWARD FUND NOW TOTALS $1,000

Additional Rewards Lead to Recreation of Fund for Slayer's Apprehension COUNTRY INTERESTED

ATLANTA, Ga.—Appalled by the seeming lack of action in bringing to justice the slayer of the late W. A. Scott, founder and publisher of the Atlanta Daily World and the Scott Newspaper Syndicate, friends of the murdered newspaperman, during the past few days, have increased to $1,000 the reward offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the guilty party or parties according to announcements by the management of the Atlanta Daily World late Saturday night.

Among the contributors to this fund are the Atlanta Negro Chamber of Commerce, the Atlanta Baptist Ministers' Union, C. P. Cochran, the T. I. C. club, the Atlanta Daily World Employees club, Prof. A. S. Scott, members of the Scott family, and other relatives and friends, some of whose names are being withheld at the present time.

Recently, this fund, which tallied more than $600, was reported as abolished in order that an investigation fund might be created, but the recent action of the latest donors, along with the reward fund by set up once more, has led to the reestablishment of the reward fund. Much of the reward fund is already on hand and is awaiting claimants.

The fatal shooting of Mr. Scott as he was leaving his garage to enter his home on the night of January 30, 1934, was a crime that created nationwide interest. It is still the topic of conversation throughout the country whenever newspaper, men and those close to the press gather to converse about the latest developments in journalism for the progress made by W. A. Scott in founding the only successful Negro daily newspaper as well as the only successful chain of Negro newspapers in less than five years, is a feat that is regarded as phenomenal.

Coming to Atlanta, practically penniless, the young ex-Morehouse student converted a disused old printing shop into a plant that printed a weekly, then a semi-weekly, a tri-weekly, a tri-weekly in two cities, and a semi-weekly in another; a daily in Memphis and Birmingham; and then a daily, two semi-weeklies, and weekly papers from points as widely separated as New Orleans, La., Cleveland, Ohio, and Fort Worth Texas.

That this murder should remain unpunished is not the wish of hundreds of persons who accorded to statements coming in from all parts of the country, regard the shooting of W. A. Scott in the back as one of the most atrocious and cowardly crimes in recent history and who asserted that the Negro race has lost a man who should be justly rated among the geniuses of the present time.

Since the death of Mr. Scott a few days after the shooting, the Atlanta Daily World and Scott Newspaper Syndicate staffs have

BUSINESS UNDER NEGRO MANAGERS IS TRIPLED

NEW YORK.—(ANP)—J. A. Jackson, formerly employed in the United States Department of Commerce, but now with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, reported this week upon the significant achievement of two colored men brothers, who, early this year qualified to take over a $30,000 filling station belonging to the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana.

The two brothers are Irby and Clem Boggsman. One month after they had assumed the management, E. W. Roy, white, manager of the Tennessee branch of the company, wrote the New York office the following letter:

"As you will likely recall, the above service station (Lauderdale and Beale streets) is located mostly in a Negro neighborhood, and the revenue derived from the outlet in the past has not been satisfactory. We recently appointed a Negro operator and the business at the station has increased nearly 200 per cent."

Mr. Jackson points to the filling station business as attractive ventures to qualified Negroes throughout the country. Seven of the eleven Negro-owned service stations in Washington Standard Oil connections, as are most of the 799 stations throughout the country which do an annual business amounting to $3,429,000.

FATHER DIVINE'S FLOCK PARADES IN CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES (WS)—In what is believed to be the largest religious parade to ever take the streets in Southern California, the adherents to the faith of Father Divine turned out en masse here last Sunday morning.

With more than 300 automobiles, trucks and other vehicles from many sections of Southern California, the parade lasted over an hour as the large number passed the corner of Vernon and Central avenues in addition to those riding in automobiles there were countless numbers walking.

Pictures of Father Divine and posters proclaiming him God were much in evidence as the crowd of worshippers walked to the tune of a 25 piece band composed of white men. Many kind of banners were in evidence but the most prominent were those carried by one man and with strings attached to keep in unfiled as two men walked on each side of the one who carried it.

Racial lines were delineated as a mixture of colors rode the automobiles and trucks chanted songs and sang praise to Father Divine. Old men, old women, young men and young women, children ranging from babies to maturity walked and rode and praised the man whom they called god.

In the long parade of cars were seen cars from Fresno, Long Beach and other towns outside of Los Angeles. The number of persons who were in the parade are estimated at 2000 and they gave Los Angeles the largest religious turnout that has ever walked down Central Avenue for many months if not for all times.

Will you kindly convey to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People my felicitations and best wishes on the occasion of its twenty-fifth annual conference.

No one can glance even casually at the progress which Negroes have achieved in the past sixty years particularly in the past fifteen years since the end of the World War, without finding hope and inspiration for the future. I sincerely hope that you will have the most successful conference in the history of your organization.

Very sincerely yours, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT. HOLD GIRL, 9 AND BOY, 12 IN DOPE RAID years old, are in custody of police here following a raid by narcotic agents. The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Zanco are in the custody of the police also. The raid was perpetrated at their home where the police claim they found almost a thousand ready-made marijuana cigarettes and other dope. The girl and boy were in the place.

TO PROBE HEALTH CONDITIONS IN WASHINGTON

(By EDWARD LAWSON For A. N. P.)

WASHINGTON.—As the result of an address made last week by Dr. W. J. Thompkins, Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia and former superintendent of the General hospital in Kansas City, Missouri, a special committee of the Federation of Civic Associations of this city will be appointed immediately to look into charges that health conditions among the Negro residents of Washington are extremely poor, it was announced Saturday by George W. Bentley, president of the Federation.

Roundly scoring both the District health department and the U. S. Public Health Service, Dr. Thompkins charged that the health of Negro children in this community has been consistently neglected over a period of many years. Unless preventative steps are taken, he stated, the District of Columbia will continue to have an alarmingly high death rate from tuberculosis. If rapidly increasing child mortality is to be checked, he continued, close clinical supervision by colored nurses and doctors is essential for all colored children from the prenatal period up to six years of age.

"It would have required only $50,000 to save the lives of 250 of the 500 colored babies that died here last year from improper care," he said, "and expenditure of $100,000 for three years would decrease the death rate to a point below that of cities of comparative population and climate."

Early symptoms of tuberculosis, Dr. Thompkins further charged, are often disregarded by the health department here, with the result that many cases are not rated as positive until they have reached a well-developed stage. As a consequence, he estimated, instead of the 2,300 cases now rated as positive, the District actually harbors more than 10,000 tuberculosis cases.

The Federation committee, to be appointed in the near future will make inquiries into the attitude of such men as may be considered for the position of health commissioner here, and seek to commit them to a definite policy of up-building the department by the appointment of colored assistants, physicians in child hygiene, in the tuberculosis department and in the department of child pathology."

Bandit Waves Hand; Woman Loses Memory

Speaking of hands, here is one for the books—Lamar Martin, 61 Piedmont avenue, was arrested at the corner of Butler and Edgewood about two o'clock Sunday afternoon by Officers H. E. Carroll and W. C. Patrick and lodged in the city jail on charge of suspicion for burglary and robbery.

It all happened this way... Mrs. Mery Johnson, of 21 1-2 Daniel street, claims that Martin robbed her of three dollars in cash, a chicken, a ladies' wrist watch, a pound of cheese and a pound of pork chops.

The woman stated that it all happened Saturday night when she went to the Municipal Market, located on Edgewood avenue between Bell and Butler. On her return home, Martin followed her. Suddenly, the man waved his hands in front of her eyes. Following this act, she says that she doesn't remember anything until she woke up in a basement of a Fourth ward house sometime Sunday morning.

ABBEVILLE WOMAN FINDS LIVE TIE

ABBEVILLE, S. C.—In the future, Mrs. Arthur Pressley will look twice before stooping to pick up her husband's neckties if they have fallen to the floor.

Wednesday she went into her dining room to turn on the radio. She saw something striped on the floor and thinking it was a necktie, stooped to retrieve it. But before she touched it she looked closed—and found the "tie" was a high-land moccasin.

Mrs. Pressley straightened up and ran for help.

SELFISH INTERESTS: The settlers belonging to the union affiliated with the A. F. of L. are on strike on a St. Louis, Mo., building because the contractor plans to hire some tile setters belonging to another union.

The Bystander cannot say whether the members of the union to which they object could have joined the A. F. of L. affiliated Union or not—they happen to be Negroes—but the serious question is "Will organized labor be permitted to arbitrarily exclude certain groups from membership in their unions and at the same time strike because the contractor is willing to hire other union men equally efficient?"

Section 7a of the Industrial Recovery Act attempts to guarantee employees the right to follow the organization of their own choosing. Much effort has been made to show that that choice should be the A. F. of L. affiliation. Most of the strikes have been due to an alleged denial of that right charging that election to choose representatives have not been fair or that company unions have been given the preference.

Unfortunately most Negroes oppose the unions; not because they do not believe in their principles, but because in too many cases unions have either excluded them from membership or used unfair tactics to keep them off the job. The St. Louis case is one in point and yet the NRA has done what the unions demanded even though those unions maintained unfair principles. Eugene Kinckle Jones said that the test of the fairness of Roosevelt's social program is whether he will insure that the Negro be treated squarely. We agree to that and also agree that the NRA has not insisted on fairness to the Negro except on the surface. If it did, such a strike as occurred in St. Louis would not be tolerated.

LAX ENFORCEMENT: Writers, black and white, agree that the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is working great hardships on the Negro, particularly the administration of the cotton and tobacco reduction features. In an effort to place responsibility for the enforcement of these laws on local people in the respective communities, the white official of the south will take advantage of the ignorance of the Negroes and poor whites and intimidate the former to the extent that the Negro farmer will take just what they want him to have rather than that which the law gives him. The intentions at Washington may be ever so good but the practical application will be as inequitable as other treatment the poor and ignorant get.

SCOTTSBORO CASE: The Alabama Supreme Court has upheld the conviction of the Scottsboro boys. The cases will go to the United States Supreme Court.

A lot of time and money have been spent on these cases. The fight will last a long time to come. The Bystander hopes there will be no letup and that eventually justice will be done.

INFANT CARE

When we see babies disporting themselves, clad only in the briefest of suits or a diaper during the hot weather, we are apt to say (to use a slang expression) that the babies get all the breaks. But do they? Because baby is too young to speak aloud his thoughts or put his complaints into words, is no reason for anyone to carry the misguided idea that they stand the warm temperatures better than adults. Babies, especially those under one year, should be under the constant surveillance of the parents. Perhaps the most common condition which we find in very young children and infants is Heat Rash. It is not only unsightly, but also very disagreeable to the child. It will cause lack of sleep, and discomfort such as will impair the normal appetite of the healthy child.

While there is nothing serious in the heat rash itself, proper attention should be given the infant so affected, to insure him a good rest and reasonable comfort. Cool baths, several times a day, will go far towards reducing this undesirable condition. There are a number of powders and solutions that may be used in connection with the cool bath, however, it is the soothing qualities of the bath itself and its tendency toward reducing Rash fever, that really assure one of Rash reduction and comfort for the baby. If new foods need be added to the diet at this time of year because of the age of the child and his ever increasing bodily demands for greater nutrition, they should be given in very small quantities at first and Baby's reaction should be carefully noted. Baby should have plenty of rest, at regular intervals; lots of fresh air; and most of all, a strict diet; during hot weather.
