Usual "Rigid Investigation" Is Promised by County Officials

Tupelo, Miss.—In two separate lynchings in separate parts of Benton county, two Negroes, Robert Jones and Smith Honey, were taken from deputy sheriffs and lynched by mobs of 3000 Monday, Aug. 13. Local Tennis Players Compete In Valley Meet at Kansas City

By Allen Ashby
Sports Writer

We came and we saw. That's all of which means that Chet Williamson, Bill Ashby and your humble servant played in the Missouri Valley Tennis Meet at Kansas City last week. The men's singles title was won by Charles W. Graham of Tulsa, Okla., for the third time and the women's title by Ruby Laurence of St. Louis.

Williamson went to the quarter final round, losing to "Duck" Bell, last year's runner-up, in a match that kept this illustrious scribbler trying to himself for an hour and a half. Bill ran into Milligen of St. Louis and left the meet after a lively tussle. Yours truly also vacated things on the opening day, losing to Greer, last year's junior champ. Bill and Chet paired to reach the semi-finals in doubles, where they got a tennis lesson from the championship set of Earl Cole and Greer. "Pat" Patterson, formerly of this city, and your Uncle Dudley received their lesson from these same birds earlier in the affair.

Jealous-Crazed Suitor Goes Mad

Chicago.—(ANP)—In view of several witnesses, Frank Mattick, Sr., 52 years old, veteran sausage manufacturer and one of the founders of the famous "Uncle Jerry" Sausage company, stabbed attractive Miss Sarah Duncan, 32-year-old landlady, to death on Wednesday night and then succeeded in making his escape. The woman, a sweetheart of Mattick who is separated from his own wife, was killed in front of 2442 Vermont avenue, a short distance from her home. A week prior, the woman had "killed" the "Sausage King" and it is believed the murder was the outcome of a desire for revenge. The Sausage company has been in the hands of the receiver and it is also thought that Mattick brooded over the financial reverses of the company.

Chicago Minister Honored in Berlin

New York.—(ANP)—According to Berlin dispatches to the New York Times, Dr. Lacy Kirk Williams, president of the National Baptist convention, Inc., was elected vice-president of the World Baptist Congress which met in Berlin. Dr. Williams was not present at the sessions of the congress. The congress was significant from the standpoint of the stand taken on important public questions in spite of the fact that there was some agitation not to hold the sessions in Germany, due to Nazi propaganda against so-called non-Aryan races.

Monarchs Lose to Davids 2-0, In Baseball Title Battle

Denver.—House of David, the people's choice, wins? Champions of The Post tournament with seven victories and no defeat, the first team since 1922 to go through undefeated. That's the record the Bearded Beauties took down the road with them Tuesday as they resumed their series of one-day stands.

Showing the same brand of pitching, timely hitting and defensive skill that marked most of their games, the Beards shut out Kansas City Monarchs, Negro champions of the world, 2 to 0, before another overflow crowd of 8,200 paid admissions at Merchants park Monday night.

House of David won with virtually its own lineup, too. Every man in the lineup with the exception of Cy Perkins, colored catcher, wore a beard. Satchel Paige, great Negro right-hander, did not pitch the championship contest. Spike Hunter, ace of the regular staff, did, and he had a fast one the Monarchs couldn't do anything with when hits meant runs. Chet Brewer, star right-hander, worked for Monarchs, but wasn't effective as he was in his 2-1 duel with Paige last week. As a matter of fact, the Monarchs lacked the fire they showed in that game. Evidently the Beards took something out of them on that occasion they never recovered.

PAIGE BESTS BREWER IN FIRST TILT

Denver.—With a record-breaking crowd of 11,120 occupying every available inch of space in Merchants park Friday night, Aug. 10, and many other thousands jammed to capacity, Satchel Paige shaded Chet Brewer in a baseball battle of the century as a House of David defeated the Kansas City Monarchs, 2 to 1, and emerged the only undefeated team in the Denver Post baseball tournament.

It was the largest gathering since the bullwhip was fringed 12 years ago, with stands jammed to capacity and fans hauled many deep in a semi-circle around the playing field. Other occupied points of vantage atop the outfield fence and from their precarious perches gazed down upon a night baseball. Citizens called it the most game in the 18 year history of the "Little World Series."

War Against Vicious Films Told by NAACP

Stirring Chapters from the 25-Year History of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People

For twenty years the Association has waged an unrelenting and determined fight on moving pictures holding the Negro up to ridicule or calumny, distorting and falsifying the facts of history to the detriment of the race, and exciting subversive and anti-social organizations, like the Ku Klux Klan, presenting programs calculated to crush the hopes and aspirations of colored people and increase race hatred and proscriptio.

The most vicious of these moving picture dramas, "The Birth of a Nation," presented the Civil War and the Reconstruction Period from the viewpoint of the Confederates and depicted the Negro as a rapist. Even before this picture was shown anywhere, the Association fought its presentation. It has been doing so with marked success ever since.

In April 1915, colored citizens of Boston were refused tickets to the first showing of "The Birth of a Nation." They persisted and eleven were arrested but later discharged. On May 2nd, the Boston Branch staged a mass meeting in Tremont Temple protesting against this photoplay. Dr. Charles W. Elliot, Dr. Samuel McChord Crothers and other distinguished speakers took part. This campaign resulted in an amended censor bill for the City of Boston, but the newly appointed censors refused to prohibit the film.

At the succeeding city election three city councilors who opposed the film were re-elected by large majorities. The Mayor of Quincy, who favored it, was defeated. State Senator Doyle who was usually offensive was badly beaten at the primaries.

Lawrence, Springfield, West Springfield, Everett and Chelsea refused exhibition permits to the film while the State Chief of the Triet Police withheld license for any Sunday exhibition in Massachusetts. This vigorous campaign of the N. A. A. C. P. brought thousands of friends to its assistance. The film was also fought in New Bedford, Massachusetts, and Providence, R. I. and a score of other cities, and during the same year it was egged in New York.

The Albuquerque, N. M. Branch kept the film out of its city, as did the branches in Philadelphia, Tacoma, Washington, Toledo, Ohio, Topeka, Kansas, Wilmington, Delaware, Gary, Indiana, and Columbus, Ohio branches, that succeeded in having objectionable scenes removed from the film were Des Moines, Iowa, Detroit, Michigan, Kansas City, Mo., Orange, and Springfield, Ohio. The Columbus, Ohio Branch succeeded in having the film excluded from the entire State of Ohio, and the Toledo branch accomplished the same thing for Kansas Territory.

So much for one single year: 1915. Everywhere Negroes rallied to the campaign against "The Birth of a Nation" and other films of similar nature, like "Free and Equal" and "The Cross and the Switchblade." Because so much hostility was aroused against them, they were shown in many parts of the country no further attempt was made to show them.

The Association had to renew its campaign in 1918. The Louisville, Kentucky and Gary, Ind. Branches prevented showing, while the Lincoln, Neb., Springfield, Mo., Los Angeles, Calif. and Washington, Pa. branches had objectionable portions of both "The Birth of a Nation" and "Free and Equal" removed before exhibition.

In October 1918, the National Office addressed letters to the governors of all states and to the state Councils of Defense, asking that they use the power of their offices to prevent the films being shown. It pointed out their vicious character and cited their harmful effects on national moral. Governor James M. Cox of Ohio barred "The Birth of a Nation" again from the state. It was also kept out of West Virginia, Carolina, Kansas, California, North Carolina, Kentucky and Alaska. Favorable replies were received from other governors and councils of defense, promising action should the film appear in their states.

During the year the Hamtramck, (Michigan) and the Riverside, (Calif.) branches blocked showings of "The Birth of a Nation" and "The Cross and the Switchblade." This disposed of the problem until after the war.

On May 6, 1921, the film was shown at the Capitol Theatre in New York City. The theatre was promptly picketed by a number of overseas veterans in uniform and three women A. E. F. Y. W. C. A. workers who distributed N. A. A. C. P. leaflets describing the vicious activities of the Ku Klux Klan. These leaflets were eagerly accepted by the public. This method of protesting against the "Birth of a Nation" was resorted to after various protests had been made to the theatre manager and the city officials to halt its presentation.

Although there was no disorder, five of the picketers, including three colored women, were arrested. The magistrate offered to dismiss the charges against them if they would cease their picketing. They declined, through their attorneys, Aiken A. Pope and James C. Thomas, Jr. to do this. They were found guilty

Rivers Barlow of Fort Worth, Texas, instructor in Health and Sanitation, and Rev. George D. Hancock of Kansas City, Missouri, Business manager of the school.

The response of the ministers is shown in the following statement taken from the report of the Committee on Findings: "One of the outstanding features of our session was the Forum held at 7:00 o'clock each evening when such speakers as Dr. W. A. C. Hughes who discussed, "Unemployment and the Present Economic Situation as it Relates to the Negro," President Charles W. Florio, whose topic was "Education and the New Deal," J. C. McMorris, dean of Men at Lincoln University, who spoke on "Some Problems of Race Relations."

"Knowing that these courses are of vast benefit to our churches and the communities in which we serve, we earnestly ask the Board that this School of Practical Methods be continued in the year 1935, and that it be located again at Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Missouri, which has proved an ideal place for study."

WIFE SEES HUSBY DIE!

ATLANTA, Ga.—An argument over an old debt of $31 ended fatally for Marion Slaton, 26, of 14 Howell street, when he was shot in the back and almost instantly killed by J. W. Anderson, 61 years old of 499 Houston street, on the old Morris Brown college campus, on North Boulevard at Houston, about seven o'clock Monday night.

Mr. Slaton, who is said to be an employe of the Coca Cola company, was slain by a bullet fired from a 44 Winchester rifle. Officers Burden and Tuck who investigated the shooting, said that the trouble arose over an argument over a debt of $31 that Anderson is said to have owed Slaton. The younger man is said to have met the elderly man and to have demanded payment then and there.

Not having the required amount, Slaton, the officers were informed, jumped on the older man and beat him severely, setting him down on the ground and stomping upon him with his feet.

Following the assault in which he was beaten, Anderson went to his room which is located in one of the old dormitories of the old Morris Brown college just as he was running away from the scene of the fight.

Anderson, who was placed under arrest on suspicion of murder, was employed as a caretaker for Emory grounds to Morris Brown college. At the present time, the old dormitories are being used as a center for serving that section of Atlanta as a relief headquarters.

CONDEMNED MAN IS GIVEN A NEW TRIAL

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Ruling that Attorney Lester Dickson of Fayetteville had used prejudicial words and statements during the trial of Archie Barfield, Clayton County Negro who is now under a death sentence for the slaying of Mrs. Eva Evans, wife of a Clayton county white farmer, the Georgia Supreme court ordered a new trial for Barfield.

The Fayetteville lawyer was acting as a special prosecutor in the case which was reversed by the high tribunal.

During the hearings Monday another case involving Negroes that attracted considerable attention ended at the supreme court upholding the action of the Toombs superior court in dismissing a suit brought by the heirs of Caroline and Sarah McIntyre. The fuss, which grew over the division of a large amount of land, according to the lower court which was sustained by the higher tribunal, was no basis for a suit.

VERNON LOVE SOUGHT BY POLICE

Mrs. Daisy Love Dies After Mate Fires Two Shots at Her Following Argument

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Mrs. Daisy Love, age 53, who lived at 1233 Avenue L, Ensley, was instantly killed Saturday night about 9:30 by her husband Vernon Love on the front porch of their home when she was shot two times in the chest.

According to one of the eye witnesses statement the argument was started in the house when Mrs. Love asked her husband about a woman that he was alleged to have been going with. The argument became heated then Mrs. Love went out on the front porch where she said "All that I want is my clothes and you won't see me again." At these words Vernon Love shot her.

KEEP ALL LAWS

The beer permit commission has ruled that beer parlors operating in Negro districts have no right to exclude Negroes.

The commission has the authority to revoke permits for violation of laws. Violation of law includes not only illegal possession of alcoholic liquor and gambling, but also other forms of lawlessness.

HAITI STARTING RIGHT

At the invitation of President Vincent of Haiti, a Negro Commission is leaving New York, Aug. 17, to study conditions there with particular reference to how the American Negro and Haiti may be of mutual help.

It is interesting that this is being done at a time when America is withdrawing marines who have run the civil government for years, operated the custom house and held a whip hand over these people generally.

Haiti has argued that she can take care of herself—now is a chance to prove it. And it is fortunate that the officials have been smart enough to invite a group of practical men—we know this is true of our fellow townsman, A. A. Alexander, a member of the commission—to come down and help devise means of proving their argument.

Health Talks

HEART DISEASE

Heart disease assumes a variety of forms and all may be said to be serious. The least serious forms are those which are discovered in the course of examinations for other ailments and their characters which may be giving trouble at the time.

Heart disease may exist without giving any sign of its presence. There are certain things that must be done whenever the presence of this condition is known and some of these are a regulated period of rest and a certain treatment designed to restore the heart to its normal condition.

In the mouth, the first indication of trouble to the patient is generally pain or swellings. This condition is the result of some decay or diseased condition which has been developing for quite some time.

The latest addition to the thoroughness of the preventive dental examination is the use of the X-ray. By this means developing abscesses and bone infections can only be found at their earliest stage.

Temporary Fillings and Treatments. Along with these periodic examinations must be included the temporary treatments brought on by the present scarcity of employment.
