Louisiana Mob Lynches Negro Prisoner In Jail

MARYLAND PRISON CRUELTY TO BE PROBED Victim's Body Dragged Through Town Streets

SHOOTINGS, TORTURE, MARK TREATMENT OF NEGROES IN REFORMATORY

Baltimore, Md.—(CNA)—The shooting of Aubrey Brouson, an inmate of the Cheltenham reformatory, by a guard, Hurley (white) broke the Chinese wall of censorship surrounding the institution, disclosing its medieval tortures and slave rule. When the International Labor Defense learned of the shooting, it immediately organized an abolition Cheltenham committee, demanding an end to the slave rule and the dismissal and punishment of the guard, Hurley.

Whippings, clubbings and bread and water "diets" for the Negro inmates were common practices. The Cheltenham reformatory, located forty miles from Baltimore, was established by private wealthy individuals ostensibly to rehabilitate juvenile delinquents (ages ranging from 9-21). In reality it has been a source of tremendous profit for the board of trustees through the brutal exploitation of the inmates.

Atlanta—(ANP)—The records of the Association of Southern Women for the Revention of Lynching, with headquarters here, reveal the fact that Sheriff T. E. Early in November a member of the association, Mrs. Morton B. King, of Shelbyville, brought the matter to the attention of the sheriff, Deputy Sheriff J. E. Gant and Constable Ollie Watson. All three cheerfully signed the anti-lynch pledge.

George Maddox Says "Not Guilty" As He Returns to Atlanta for Trial For Murder of W. A. Scott, Publisher

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE EXPECTED IN CASE

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 18.—With both the defense and the state ready to go ahead, it appears that George Maddox, Jr., indicted for the mysterious murder of his brother-in-law, W. A. Scott, last January, will go on trial here during the March term of superior court.

The 27 year old former Morehouse college student surrendered to the authorities Tuesday morning with his attorney, Col. William Schley Howard, famous criminal lawyer.

Faces His Accusers

Maddox was in Chicago at the time the indictment was returned, but, declaring he had nothing to fear, he hastily left for his home and to face his accusers.

Deathbed Statement

Scott, husband of Maddox's sister, was ambushed last January just after he had stored his car in the garage and started to the house. He named "George" as the slayer in a deathbed statement. The charge was confusing because the defendant and his father have the same names and Scott didn't state whether he meant George Maddox, junior or senior.

Scott was editor and publisher of the Atlanta Daily World, and president of the Scott Syndicate, publisher of a chain of newspapers throughout the country.

son Gould who was then part owner. A member of the Maple St. Baptist church, Mr. Hall held offices in the U. B. F. and Masonic lodges and other fraternal organizations. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Frances E. Hall, son, Elbert, Jr., and brother, Mason Hall

Good Will Flyers Feted with Honors

FORSYTHE AND ANDERSON RECEIVE RIGOROUS WELCOME

New York—Dr. A. E. Forsythe and C. Alfred Anderson, Pan-American goodwill flyers, who made aviation history for the race in 1934, returned to their native land on the steamer Western World, which docked in Brooklyn on Thursday, January 3.

Although a series of mishaps, common to aviators who brave the perils of the air made it impossible for them to complete the ambitious itinerary wapped out when they took off on their memorable flight from Atlantic City last November 8th, they were welcomed home as conquering heroes.

Their plane, the "Booker T. Washington," which crashed in Trinidad, will be shipped to the United States. The aviators brought some of the more delicate parts with them. Dr. Forsythe and Anderson were feted and honored as racial ambassadors of goodwill by the governments and people of the Bahamas, Haiti, Santo Domingo, Jamaica, the Virgin Islands, Porto Rico, Antigua, Grenada and Trinidad.

Crocker Y Opens '35 Cage Season

Fourteen of the fifteen cage teams in the senior, intermediate and junior leagues began the title chase as the season's schedules were begun last week with opening basketball games on Wednesday and Friday evenings on the West High floor. Five games were run off on Friday, with St. Paul A. M. E., thrice champions of senior division, beginning a successful defense of their diadem by trouncing the Spiders, 22 to 14. The Cavaliers took a hard fought match from the Eye-Balls by a 13 to 11 score. Buddy Glass dropped in the winning counter in the closing seconds of the game to break a one point deadlock.

Corinthian Baptists' young team looked classy in downing the I. D. K. club, 11 to 3. The I. D. K.'s committed fourteen personal fouls, which worked to their disadvantage. Morton Graves garnered all of the three points made by the losers. In the intermediate league, the Monarchs defeated the S. K. club, 10 to 7, with Wade scoring seven of the winner's ten points. The scheduled game between the "Y" Stars and Burns M. E. was not played, since the latter was a latter date. Junior league scores are as follows: Aces 37, Giants 2; Conquerors 14, Blackhawks 6.

64 OUT OF 65 NEGRO COLLEGE HEADS IGNORE APPEAL ON ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

New York, Jan. 18.—In a letter to the N. A. A. C. P., Katherine Gardner, associate secretary of the department of race relations of the Federal Council of the Churches of America, scores the indifference of the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill now before congress.

President Howe of Hampton said they circulated a petition for the bill on the campus and have forwarded several hundred signatures. "Have you any explanation to give as to why there should be this evident lack of interest on the part of the sixty-four college presidents, who should certainly be more deeply concerned about the lynching evil than almost any other individuals in this country?" Miss Gardner states.

By Everett Wadsworth Staff Writer

With the opening of the forty-sixth general assembly of the Iowa legislature Monday loomed the usual party rivalry between the Republicans and Democrats, with the latter faction emerging victorious, as Harold L. Year's First Mob Party is Protested

FRANKLINGTON LYNCHING PROVES URGENCY OF ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

New York, Jan. 18.—"Mr. President, we submit that the body of Jerome Wilson cries out to you to demand of congress without delay that it pass the Costigan-Wagner bill and throw the full weight of the federal government behind the fight to wipe out this bestial crime."

With these dramatic words, Walter White, secretary of the N. A. A. C. P., closed a letter sent today to President Roosevelt, giving the complete background of the lynching of Jerome Wilson, Negro farmer, in the jail at Franklington, Louisiana. It was the first lynching of 1935.

Wilson was convicted upon a charge of slaying Chief Deputy Criminal Sheriff Delos C. Wood of Washington parry and was in prison awaiting a new trial, granted him by the state supreme court last Monday. Previously he had been speedily tried, convicted and sentenced to hang for the alleged crime within ten days.

Officers claim that the lynch mob "stole" into the sheriff's office and obtained the key to Wilson's cell. After lynching him, they dragged his body to an automobile, drove outside the town, and dumped it on the road. No investigation or arrests have been made.

Persons Unknown

After the lynch-murder a coroner's jury was empaneled Friday by Coroner A. W. Martin. It returned a verdict that "Jerome Wilson came to his death by a gunshot wound and by blows on the head with a blunt instrument in the hands of a person or persons unknown."

The murder of Wilson is his cell was witnessed by everybody in the jail but the jail officials.

Sheriff Denies Lynching

After the lynching Sheriff J. L. Brock stated: "There wasn't any lynching. Some men got into the cell somehow about 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning. They shot Jerome Wilson, apparently because he kept crying for help. Then they sawed through the lock of Jerome's cell. Someone beat Jerome over the head with a big hammer and left the hammer in the cell."

"They took his body out and threw it on the road. He was dead apparently before they took him out of the cell. There wasn't any mob either, or they would have taken Luther out, too. There were just about six or eight men who were going about their business."

Jerome Wilson, 28 years old, had been convicted last August of the murder of Chief Deputy Sheriff Delos Wood. The conviction and sentence of death had been appealed to the state supreme-court by the white lawyers, M. I. Varnado of Bogalusa and B. M. Miller of Covington, who represented him.

FERA Scholarship Students Must Not Do Menial Tasks!

CHARACTER BOOSTING PLANNED

FERA Head Declares Menial Tasks Must Be Abolished

WASHINGTON, (Special)—A special bulletin on the FERA student-aid program was issued this week by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins to strengthen and improve the character of work assigned to which college students must properly assume eligible men and women students.

The attention of Dr. Lewis R. Alderman of the United States Office of Education who is Director of the FERA Emergency Educational Program, has been directed to the misuse of funds allocated for student-aid by certain Negro college presidents in the South and the West as outside the spirit and intent of the program.

The bulletin states: "In the assignment of students to jobs it is highly important that they be given work commensurate with their interests and abilities."

The college and individuals connected therewith are advised to use student-aid beneficiaries as their servants. Specific rules and regulations specifically prohibit such regularly unskilled, housework, waiting on table, laundry work, janitor services, window cleaning, bell ringing, elevator operating, care of locker and shower rooms, painting, general carpentry, furniture repairing, lawn mowing, raking leaves, washman service, and office activities such as typing, grading, marking, stenographic, mailing, filing messenger service, library circulated service, etc.

Further, no work of a non-public nature, or private nature, is permissible under these latest rules and regulations issued by the FERA and the United States Office of Education.

The determination of the eligibility of the individual applicant for "FERA" is another point which is given classification. The FERA rule reads: "The student's financial status shall be such as to make impossible his attendance at college without this aid."

WITHOUT DEBT

RALEIGH, N. C. (Special)—Important among the purposes of the present Shaw University Anniversary Campaign is the execution of an educational program of improvements to the institution's plant. The chief changes contemplated affect the three dormitories and have in view their complete modernization.

Another important item in the repair program is the complete rehabilitation of the Leonard Building which formerly contained the classrooms and laboratories used by the more than four hundred graduates of the Leonard Medical School of Shaw University.

Shaw University is fortunate in possessing a plant valued at more than six hundred thousand dollars and encumbered with not a cent of indebtedness. The plant includes ten brick buildings, a modern central heating plant, six residences, most of which are occupied by faculty members, and an athletic field.

With the period for receiving applications for the second semester of the current school year almost closed, the Registrar at Shaw University reports that applications received from the opening of school up to the present time show an increase of 28 per cent over the number received during a similar period last year.

WILBERFORCE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Sociologists Listen To Address by Dr. R. R. Wright, Jr.

RAPS PREJUDICE

CHICAGO.—(ANP)—At the recent meeting of the American Sociological Society here in session and Palmer House, there were about twelve Negro delegates in attendance. Among them being Dr. R. R. Wright, Jr., president of Wilberforce university, Xenia, Ohio, and it was Dr. Wright who addressed the group during a discussion of educational sociology held on the first day of the conference at the Hotel Morrison. A digest of Dr. Wright's remarks follows:

"I realize in various economic fields such as labor, taxation, farming, housing, that sociology has contributed much to government. There is one problem, however, that I wish to mention which needs the social point of view more than any other, and that is the problem of race relations.

"Having been a student of sociology for more than 25 years, I have lived through some of the difficulties which the sociologist faces in trying to get people to consider facts rather than fancies and prejudices, and I appreciate all the more what has been done.

"The great need, which we have in America, indeed, the need of the world, is a technique of racial relations by which we shall get the highest social efficiency by inter-group association."

MAJORITY OF TEAM MUST BE WHITE, SAY SHENANDOAH

Clarinda Refuses To Bar Negro Regulators. Clarinda, Iowa.—"At least a majority of the players used at any time must be white," says a clause in a basketball contract drawn up by Shenandoah High school to Clarinda High.

Superintendent Dean McKee of Shenandoah schools verified reports that the two teams would not meet this year because of the differences in the racial makeup of the teams.

The question of the personnel of the Clarinda quintet has been under discussion for several weeks. Last year Clarinda administered a 34 to 9 drubbing to Shenandoah, which went against the country folks' grain.

An increase of 127 members in 1934, making a total of 755, was announced by Mrs. Sarah Jett, church clerk, at the annual board report meeting held Thursday at the Corinthian Baptist church.

The Johnson Funeral Home, 811 Fourteenth street, was formally opened to the public Sunday from 10:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m.

Dog's Education Should Start With Proper Manners

If Not a Gentleman, He Surely Will Be a Social Flop.

It is not hard to make a dog obedient. He will respond to much more and love you not one whit the less if he is rigidly trained to heed when called.

Being a native of the woods and fields he must first be taught indoor manners. Cleanliness in personal habits is the most important, so he should be housebroken first of all.

His relations to strangers should next be considered. The aim is to train him to a general attitude of "friendly reserve," neither surly and vicious nor over-affectionate towards

BEHIND the SCENES in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD. — Any motion picture fan would have paid good money to see the excitement put on by the Black-Foxe academy. Appearing on the stage together were the sons of many of Hollywood's most famous citizens: Charles Spencer Chaplin, Jr., and Sidney E. Foxe. The latter became the first to be crowned king of the night.

Joseph and Jimmy Keaton and a dozen other heirs to film fortunes. One of the men in charge of this academy is Earle Foxe, who used to play heavies in the silent pictures.

School authorities won't give out the names of the participants in the plays. Hollywoodites shun publicity for their children. They live in eternal fear of kidnappers and cranks.

The best place to see Dick Aronson these days is the nearest open air tournament. Next to Bing Crosby, Dick is the most serious offer among the stars. He is one of the few who has the nerve to Low practical jokesters have topped Sid Gramann. For a gag, Hollywood's best known showman agreed to play a big part in "The Call of the Wild" at 20th Century. He donned the rough garb of a rough-hewn miner and asked for his script.

As for Bing, his dearest ambition, you know, is to improve his game and have a crack at the national open next year.

Darryl Zanuck framed him. Sid found his only closeup was in a poker game. The man ahead of him was supposed to say, "I bet two dollars."

The showman gave one look at his cards and jumped to his feet. "I'll be — if I'll pass with this hand," he cried.

Chief George J. Matowitz

Years of police experience has led Police Chief George J. Matowitz of Cleveland, one of the nation's outstanding crime experts, in formulating a set of rules; shown above, for the safeguarding of property from fakers, burglars, robbers and other types of criminals. Chief Matowitz believes that if these rules were followed closely, petty crimes would be decreased throughout the country.

The same holds true in the case of the bidding of a major suit, whenever a player can count tricks to make the bid of a suit over a game contract, then why not go on into the slam contract?

Now I don't want you to put me wrong in what I am saying. I am speaking of the cases that you have watched in suits with both hands and you have left a game bid.

Contract Bridge
By A. J. McKEEVER
Two No Trump and Major Bid of Five

Frequently at the bridge table, players make a practice of stopping their bidding at a contract of two no trumps, or a contract of five in a major suit.

I have seen, whenever such contracts have been reached, the declarer usually makes extra tricks. This shows that if a player could really count eight tricks in his hand to make a bid of two no trumps, he could just as well bid three, having his decision on the distribution of the cards.

This though is not usually the case, because players fail to really count the honor tricks in their hands.

The same holds true in the case of the bidding of a major suit, whenever a player can count tricks to make the bid of a suit over a game contract, then why not go on into the slam contract?

Now I don't want you to put me wrong in what I am saying. I am speaking of the cases that you have watched in suits with both hands and you have left a game bid.

Here east made the bid of two no trumps after his partner had responded with a bid of two diamonds over his one no trump bid. West should have seen very easily that if his partner could even open his mouth after he had bid, then there was a game in his hand. But this was one of the many instances that just the thing happens.

In the course of playing the hand, east was the loser of only four tricks, thus making one over-trick.

With the distribution of his hand and the good count in his hand, he would have been doing no harm whatever in bidding to his partner, had responded to his one no trump bid. He could even open his mouth after he had bid, then there was a game in his hand. But this was one of the many instances that just the thing happens.

"KINGFISH" NO FOOL

Senator Huey "Kingfish" Long says he plans to admit Negroes to membership in his "share the wealth" organizations but insists they must be Northern Negroes because they can vote. Huey is not as foolish as many people think he is. In other words his policy will be to admit the fellow who can help him accomplish his end.

WATCHING FOR RESULTS

The Bystander desires to remind the Democrats of Iowa of their complete control of the state government and the promise made our group through Negro Democratic leaders that more patronage would be given during this administration should they be victorious.

Some events have occurred during the past few weeks which don't look promising. We no longer have a messenger in the full sense of the word in the chief executive's office. No additional patronage has come in the legislature over that of former years.

Without condemning them from the start, these instances are sighted as straws which show the course of the wind.

Among the Negro Democratic leaders are some fine young men qualified for worthwhile positions. They should be recognized in these additions. It will be interesting to watch for them.

POOR SPORTS

Shenandoah high school announces that it will not play Clarinda basketball team unless a majority of the members are white. What a foolish request! They don't want to play Clarinda's best team but some of the best white boys and some of the best Negroes.

The Bystander places the whole responsibility for this disgraceful announcement upon the officials of the school. Here these boys are being sent to school to learn to be good American citizens; but the public finds they are being taught by a group of narrow bigots parading in false colors—a class of people who are doing more to disrupt peace and harmony between nations and races than any other group.

Just what penalty can be inflicted on Shenandoah for such conduct the Bystander does not know, but Clarinda should ignore the request realizing that they are dealing with poor sports.

A BAD START

Before many people have had an opportunity to know the lynching record of 1934, some states have begun lynching human beings in 1935. In Louisiana a mob entered the jail, shot the prisoner through the bars, took the body out and dumped it on the highway.

In spite of all the publicity calculated to arouse public sentiment against lynching, and the killing of a few mobbers in Tennessee, this barbarism goes on without much attention from officials who are in a position to curb it.

Killers for ransom are punished, but killers for satisfaction of ignorance and cannibalistic instinct in most cases go with-

STEEL TETH FOR NUDIST

German Dentist Establishes "Empire"

Not long ago the papers were telling of the finding of two nudists in the South Sea Islands off the coast of South America. Their tragic end was linked with the sudden disappearance of the suffered "empress" of the islands and of her past affairs with the members of the colony.

The first nudist to attempt to colonize these few islands was a German dentist from Berlin named Dr. Retter. He had planned his life in this enchanted area to such an extent that he had visualized the lack of modern conveniences and what substitutes he could make. Being a dentist, he had considered the possible care of his teeth and the probable diet that could be obtained away from civilization and realized that he would have plenty of toothaches and pains unless he went prepared. Dr. Retter therefore, had all of his teeth both good and bad extracted before he left Germany.

Then his false teeth were made from stainless steel which will resist the wear of any kind of food he might have to eat as well as other conditions that prove detrimental to the teeth. The woman and children often pictured with Dr. Retter in the colony made no previous plans for caring for their teeth therefore you can notice the marked decay and deterioration present in their mouths not only from lack of proper brushing and care but also from an improper diet.

Questions and Answers

Dear Dr. Dean:
You are continually writing that patients should see their dentist twice a year and not only you but the papers are full of such urgings and even the radio but none of you say at what age a patient should begin going to the dentist. Will you please answer this for me because I would just like to get your idea.

Mrs. S. M., Boone, Iowa.

Ans. In order to safeguard the health of the mothers as well as that of the child it is but for the expectant mother to see the dentist during her second or third month of pregnancy. Then begin again when the child is about three years of age as the dentist can preserve the "baby teeth" and aid the eruptions of the permanent ones.

THOUGHTS ON PASSING

In '33 he asked me to pass for white. I pondered and told him I thought I might,

To pass for white I had to cross a bridge,
Which was about as bad as a real hard quiz.

I knew I would be considered not real bright.

If I ever attempted to pass for white, I thought quite a bit of those several out even a word of condemnation.

These lynchings continue to emphasize the necessity for federal action but still we are yet to see whether our officials have the courage to tackle the problem. Words mean little to an angry mob armed with sticks, rocks and guns. They must be fought with the same weapons they use. Until the government decides to act on this basis lynchings will continue unabated.

Health Talks

SCARLET FEVER

Scarlet Fever is an affection of the throat which begins as a redness and soreness in the pharynx which is at first slight but which becomes gradually severe until the act of swallowing becomes excruciatingly painful. The redness which is at first slight grows deeper until the color becomes uniformly a deep scarlet. The symptoms at first are those of an ordinary sore throat, that is there is only slight pain and tenderness on swallowing but later on in the course of the disease there is nausea and vomiting and instead of clearing up as an ordinary sore throat would do with gargles the pain on swallowing becomes intensified; the fever remains, there may be chills, and within a short time an eruption breaks out on the body. Scarlet Fever is contagious and those who have the disease must be quarantined to prevent its spread. The seriousness of Scarlet Fever is not appreciated because its complications are not anticipated. The seeming recovery that is the complete absence of any symptom which would indicate that any vestige of the disease remained causes the patient to leave his bed and disregard any caution as to his convalescent course. The cases which are not typical, those cases with mild symptoms are the ones which are sometimes likely to show complications later on and these complications are in most cases concerned with the heart or with the kidneys. Kidney and heart disease from Scarlet Fever will come on usually from one to four weeks after the throat infection after all other symptoms have cleared up, so that it is necessary first of all to know that the disease has been present and further necessary to take all precautions in convalescing and plenty of rest to ward off any complications which might possibly ensue.
