Despite Crisis, the Emperor Celebrates Throne Accession

Addis Ababa, Nov. 8.—The Ethiopian board of military strategy announced this week, through Emperor Haile Selassie's personal adviser, that 500,000 native soldiers, amply supplied with ammunition and trained in the latest mode of warfare, are moving cautiously to check the Italian advance in the Makale and Magdala sectors.

The greatest mass assault on General De Bono's columns, it was hinted, will come within two weeks, in the wild mountain region between Makale and Magdala, 150 miles to the south, the halfway mark in the drive from Adowa to Addis Ababa.

Although faced with the gravest crisis that has ever confronted a sovereign, as a pleasant interlude in the routine of war, Haile Selassie celebrated picturesquely his accession to the throne made vacant by the death of Empress Zauditu. The coronation ceremony marks the fifth year of his reign; he ascended the throne on November 2, 1930.

D. M. Churches Plan City Survey

The Ministerial Alliance, under the leadership of Rev. J. A. Alexander, president, will conduct a city-wide religious survey beginning November 29th and ending December 2nd. The alliance is asking the co-operation of the churches, their members, their friends and the people of the city. It is hoped the people will give the information asked in helping to put over this much needed piece of work.

Joe Louis' Trainer is Absolved of Killing

BLACKBURN IS RE-LEASED BY CORONER Chicago—Death of Enoch Houser was further enshrouded in mystery Friday when a coroner's jury in the county morgue said the aged Tuskegee Institute alumnus had come to his death at the hands of "persons unknown," and exonerated Jack Blackburn, Joe Louis' trainer, and three others. Six hours of inquest were consumed to reach this verdict, the hearing being recessed twice by Deputy Coroner Benjamin A. Grant as attorneys for the various interested parties wrangled bitterly over each statement of the testimony.

State Relief Survey Nears Completion

PROJECT COVERS TWENTY-ONE COUNTIES IN IOWA

The FERA survey of white collar and skilled Negro workers, which opened its state office in the Iowa Emergency Relief Administration headquarters, 314 Eighth street, in Des Moines, on June 4th, under the direction of Chas. P. Howard, was set up to ascertain the educational and occupational training of all Negroes in Iowa over fifteen years of age, their employment experience, income, marital status, nativity, etc.

This information will be used for comparison with the findings in other parts of the nation. Nebraska and Minnesota have just completed a similar survey, according to the Georgia experiment conducted by Dr. Ira De A. Reid, upon which nationwide plan the one in Iowa is based.

The Des Moines office is now interviewing the employers of all business houses and factories in the principal Iowa cities where the survey is under way. That unemployed Negroes may find clerical or skilled work of some nature is the result hoped for in this industrial survey.

It is contemplated that the project will be operative in twenty-one counties in which are concentrated the Negro population, as follows: Polk, Black Hawk, Woodbury, south and north Lee, Scott, Linn, Pottawattamie, Wapello, Dallas, Des Moines, Monroe, Marshall, Appanoose, Cerro Gordo, Webster, Clinton, Page, Mahaska, Marion and Harrison. A one hundred confidential interviews.

Large Crowd at Monarch's Show

Curtis (Hit That Line) Morton, North High 1919 all-state fullback dash, and Speck (Pork's Gone Up) Howard, the Locust street butcher boy, were the high spots of the 1935 Monarchs Minstrels at the Jewish Community Center on Monday.

A large crowd attended the show, which was staged by fifteen of the members. Al G. Fields (if he is dead), the old minstrel king, would probably roll over in his grave if he had heard some of the spics that was dished out—the audience did roll over in the aisles, or is my face red!

Music and dances of the burnt cork variety were the evening's diversions, with Dr. W. J. Ritchey, Ed. Morton and Morris DeSteele coming in for a full share of the honors. The after-piece, "Shuffling Sam's Last Stand," was the final scream of the evening's entertainment.

Slim Davis, Des Moines' own lazy bones dancer, kicked over a few dusty steps, pleasing the audience with a nice specialty, and the Harlem Hot Shots quartette was forced to encore. Dudley Black and his Congo Rhythm band provided the music and the personality man gave a request interpretation of "Minnie the Moocher."

Norman Blagburn whose bulldog tenacity and iron nerve make him a great competitor when stakes are high, Harold Wilkinson, the most improved young player of the year, who two years ago wasn't playing billiards and was the sensation of last year's meet. Warnell Rhodes and Sam Jordan, both steady players.

Jordan has never failed to win a prize in any meet, and "Buck" promises four real prizes for this one. Jack Burns, who has played his best billiards before each meet, has promised to do his shooting off the ide box and on the table, and if he does he will be dangerous.

Mr. Scott for years has enjoyed the reputation of having one of the best and most up-to-date billiard parlors in the Midwest. An efficient, modern business man, Scott is over

Editor Irked By Insults to Negro Football Players

EDITOR WRITES TO HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

In protest to the phrases like, "Kill that nigger," "Hit that Black Ethiopian," "Get that black so and so," and other epithets hurled by the crowd at colored members of the opposing team in a recent city football game, Attorney J. B. Morris, editor of The Bystander, this week wrote a sharp letter to Principal A. C. Hutchens of Lincoln High, calling attention to the fact that "unsportsmanlike conduct and belligerent attitude of students destroyed fair play and understanding between races."

Lincoln-North Game Les Jefferson, halfback, and Chet Simms, fullback, both Negroes, are first string players on the North High squad. In the Lincoln-Polar Bear contest, at Drake stadium two weeks ago, the Railsplitters team directed its attack on these boys rather than trying to concentrate on winning the game, which drew shouts of approval and roars of encouragement from the South Side crowd seated in the west bleachers.

It is true, as many agree, that every crowd or gathering will have the unruly ones who persist in trying to make trouble, preferably race friction, but no school should sanction widespread and open race sentiment and prejudice among its students, as was displayed that night. Des Moines fans, as a rule, are rather fairminded in athletic contests.

Hutchens Reply In his reply, Principal Hutchens stated that he was very glad to have his attention called to the affair and would "take it up with the student council and would reprimand the students at the next pep assembly." Race relations in the high school contests have been on a very high plane with very few exceptions. In many instances, however, Negro fans have turned deaf ears to insults rather than to create a riot.

Chesterfield Has Sanctified Church

REV. M. J. CRANSHAW ORGANIZES GROUP ON S. E. SIDE Appointed by Elder C. O. Brown of Sedalia, Mo., state overseer of Kansas, Iowa and Missouri, the Rev. M. J. Cranshaw organized the Chesterfield Sanctified Church of Christ at 809 S. E. Twenty-seventh street.

Services will begin Sunday at 11 o'clock. Sunday school at 1 p. m. Preaching service at 2:30 and Young People's service at 6:30 p. m. The Rev. P. Turner is the assistant, the pastor said.

The Rev. Cranshaw, graduate of Shelbyville, Mo. school, the Woman's Institute at Scranton, Penn., and attending East High in Des Moines, served for twelve years as secretary-treasurer of the general assembly and an ordained executive board member. In recent years the pastor has been engaged in successful evangelistic work and has done much research work in Bible literature and Christian ethics.

"We solicit the co-operation of every church group, the general public and we extend an invitation to all church pastors and congregations at all times," the Rev. Cranshaw said.

is the subject for discussion at the Bible Lyceum course, 1150 Thirteenth street, Sunday. Meetings have been conducted for a fortnight by Evangelist R. T. Hudson, formerly of Chicago. Preceding the sermon Professor Kromer will present a musical program. Crowds are attending meetings, held every night except Monday and Saturday. Admission is free and the public is invited.

REV. HUDSON DRAWS CROWDS TO LECTURES Definitions of sin do not begin to portray it in its monstrosity. So prevalent is it that the world at large has forgotten its existence. So alluring are its products, so fascinating are its perishable, false charms that one, of himself, can scarcely discriminate between that and the genuine. With such a wily instigator as it has, there is grave danger in venturing into its field. When one stops to consider its fruitless reward, and dire consequences, it is sad, indeed, to note its great following.

Talent Week Stars Great Attraction in Harvest Festival

NEGRO STARS PLEASE RADIO AUDIENCES

By Everett Wadsworth Staff Writer

More than one hundred radio personalities appeared in the three days' performances of the radio harvest festival at the Shrine auditorium Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday three daily Fibber McGee and Molly, Maple City Four comedy quartette, Happy Jack Turner, Gale Page, Joe Parsons, bass profundo of the Sinclair Minstrels, with Don McNeill, N. B. C. Breakfast club announcer, as master of ceremonies, represented the nation's leading coast to coast stars in the mammoth entertainment.

The Iowa Broadcasting system came in for their full share of honors with Hank Richards and his Farm Hour, starring Grandpa Jitters, eccentric dancer; Three Jays, Orville Foster's orchestra and several of the KSO and KRNT maestros of the "mike." These two stations, owned and operated by the Register and Tribune, sponsored the radio funfest.

Slim Davis, the streamlined dancer, who can take those steps with the "greatest of ease," and the Three Red Peppers (Crewse Kids to you) stopped the show with the rhythmic routine of the torchbearer act a la Harlem. These four sensational dancers, all in modern brilliant costumes, were the tops of the "jig time" program, all Negro revue.

Dora McKay, Mood Indigo, stress, upheld the vocal class of this big time act with "Rosetta." Heavy applause greeted all of these performers. These stars were prize winners in the recent Bystander talent contest. The Harlem Hotshots quartette also made a creditable showing. Kenneth Palmer provided the musical background.

Rev. Riley Attends Youth Conference

REV. RILEY ATTENDS YOUTH CONFERENCE The Rev. S. M. Riley, Jr., of Burns M. E. church returned Saturday from the annual Iowa Youth conference, held at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, October 31, November 1 and 2, where he was the group leader of two group periods on "Youth Action With Other Racial and Cultural Groups." He reports the meeting was a decided success, with over 500 registered delegates.

The youths protested smoking, drinking, dancing and card playing. The Rev. Mr. Riley further reports he was accorded the finest type of treatment, courtesy and hospitality. The only question question he asked was, "Where were the young Negroes who were cordially invited to be a part?"

Locked Out Scribes Win Partial Victory

OWNER FORCED TO REDUCE PRICE TO FIVE CENTS New York—(CNA)—The "locked out" editorial staff of the Amsterdam News won a partial victory last week when Mrs. Sadie Warren Davis, publisher and owner, was forced to reduce the price of the newspaper from ten cents to five cents.

In an effort to regain a forty-five per cent loss in circulation, Mrs. Davis announced last week the beginning with the November 1st issue of the paper the price will be "five cents everywhere."

The circulation drop was due to the fight conducted by the New York Newspaper Guild to obtain union recognition of the editorial employees and reinstatement on their jobs. The Amsterdam News unit is a member of the New York Guild.

Booker T. Washington is Honored on NBC Network

Tuskegee Institute, Ala., Nov. 9.—Dr. F. D. Patterson, recently inaugurated as Tuskegee's third president, will speak in connection with the observance of American Education Week, appearing on a radio program on the education of Negroes, which will be broadcast Thursday, November 14, from 3:00 to 3:45 p. m., eastern standard time, and 2:00 to 2:45 central standard time. The broadcast, which marks the anniversary of the passing of Booker T. Washington, founder of Tuskegee Institute, will go on the air over the Columbia Broadcasting system's chain of stations and will feature a program of music by the Tuskegee Institute choir, under the direction of William L. Dawson.

The program, which is one of the many activities of the office of Education, United States Department of Interior, Washington, D. C., is designed to invite attention to the vital need of education on the part of the Negro population of the United States. Schools, colleges, homes and other interested groups and organizations are urged to provide opportunities for small and large groups to "listen in" on this program.

Other features of the program, announced by the Department of Interior, are remarks by the United States Commissioner of Education, Dr. John W. Studebaker, and by a representative of the National Association of Teachers in Colored Schools, together with selections by the Tuskegee Institute choir, which appears three times during the afternoon. Dr. Ambrose Caliver, senior specialist in the education of Negroes, United States office of education, will serve as master of ceremonies and station announcer.

Disrespect for law and order there balked justice this week when the lifeless body of Baxter Bell, 45, was thrown into a muddy thicket, after the victim had been wrested from the hands of officers by a savage mob, who with full display of firearms had their will. Bell had been arrested and was being taken to the Ashville city jail on a charge of assault after allegedly "snapping" a white woman.

With the prisoner City Marshal Louis Donnelly and Deputy Sheriff Clyde Petty started on the journey to the Ashland city jail, when they were halted on a busy downtown street by a small band, who, with full display of firearms, took the victim and drove off with him.
