Washingtons Inherit $5,000 from Will of Former Gov. N.E. Kendall

Negro Couple Remembered for 'Faithful Service and Integrity'

PROMISE MADE BY MRS. KENDALL 26 YEARS AGO IN ALBIA

A promise made 26 years ago in Albia, Iowa, was amply fulfilled Saturday when a will was filed for probate in a Polk County district court in Des Moines.

"If you come to Des Moines and live with us you won't lose by it and we'll see that you'll be taken care of," the late Mrs. Kendall told her friend and neighbor, Mrs. Washington, in Albia back in 1910.

"We also promise to share whatever good fortune comes to us with you folks," Mr. Kendall added, to which agreement he carried out faithfully thru life until his untimely end.

Operated Beauty Parlor Mrs. Washington operated a beauty parlor there which she closed to come to Des Moines when Mr. Kendall was elected governor in 1920 to which he served Iowa for two terms.

The home in Albia, which they still own, was left intact when removal to the capital city was necessary. After Mrs. Kendall's death in 1926 he became the retired state official's valet, cook and handyman.

Always a willing advisor and counselor, Mr. Kendall expressed interest in the Washingtons' welfare. On one occasion the governor's home was thrown open for a party celebration honoring the couple's wedding anniversary.

"Our families were more like old friends than employer and boss," Mr. Washington said. Mrs. Washington served as housekeeper and maid. The feeling of cordial relationship remained even after Mr. Kendall's second marriage. The new wife was as kind and considerate to the Negro couple as the first one was.

"Our loss is heartfelt, it seems as though one of the family is gone, a brother or a father," Mr. and Mrs. Washington said in tribute. They had no idea as to the amount they were to receive; but they knew that the former governor would remember them "even unto death," according to the pact between the two devoted families.

"A faithful and efficient" houseman who has been in my service for many years and where industry, integrity, and fidelity have earned my deepest gratitude," was the retired official's last thoughts of Mr. Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Washington, devoted friends and employees in the household of former Gov. N. E. Kendall, who died Wednesday, Nov. 4, are shown leaving the funeral services at Dunn's Funeral Home Friday.

Race Must Benefit Switch Engine Hits Scott Street Bus

WARNS THAT "NEGROES ARE NOW FREE AGENTS AND MAY SWITCH TO OTHER PARTIES"

New York, Nov. 12.—The heavy vote for President Roosevelt by colored people November 3rd does not mean the race is now the property of the Democratic party, it was declared here today in a statement by the N. A. A. C. P.

Pointing out that the size of the vote frees the president of obligation to the south, Walter White, N. A. A. C. P. secretary, warns that something must be done about lynching, discrimination in the civil service, relief and employment, or else the Negro is likely to vote with some other party or group in 1938 and 1940.

PRESIDENT TOLD HE NOW HAS CHANCE TO HIT LYNCHING

New York, Nov. 12.—A telegram of congratulation to President Franklin D. Roosevelt expressing confidence that he will live up to the great opportunity—to take decisive action against lynching and racial discrimination," was sent by the N. A. A. C. P. November 4th. The telegram was signed by Walter White, secretary of the association.

The association also congratulated Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York, Frank Murphy, governor-elect of Michigan, Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska and Mrs. Caroline O'Day and Matthew J. Merritt, congressman-at-large from New York.

Governor Lehman is a director of the N. A. A. C. P.; Governor-elect Murphy and Senator-elect Capper are also directors of the association. Mr. Murphy will be remembered as the judge in the famous Sweet case in Detroit in 1926. Mrs. O'Day and Mr. Merritt performed valuable services in the fight in the last congress for the passage of the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill.

Frank Diggs Death Report Is Mistake

WILLIAM MAHOGANY DIES

OF AUTO INJURIES

Funeral services for the Rev. William Mahogany of 1729 Walker street, who died Tuesday at the Broadlawn General hospital of injuries suffered in an accident on the University avenue bridge Saturday, were held at the Union Baptist church Thursday afternoon, where he served as assistant pastor.

The Rev. J. W. Tutt, pastor, officiated. The body was in charge of L. Fowler & Son, funeral directors. Police said the Rev. Mahogany's car was struck from the rear as it was parked on the west end of the bridge by a car driven by Ray Chrenen, 1315 Fifth-avenue. According to the police, Chrenen said the car was parked with no lights and appeared to have been in another accident. The injured man never regained consciousness and was unable to state the details of the crash.

Through a mistaken identity, the police reported the injured man found as Frank Diggs of S. Union street. Telephoning his relatives to inform them, Diggs answered the phone himself. Mahogany's relatives missed him from home, however, and after reading the false report that the minister had fled from the scene of an accident, they searched for him. After insistent inquiries at the police headquarters and hospital, the Rev. Mahogany was identified.

Switch Engine Hits Scott Street Bus

EIGHT INJURED RETURNING FROM CHURCH SERVICES

Returning from evening services at Shiloh Baptist church, eight people were injured as the Scott street car bus and a Rock Island switch engine collided at S. E. Seventeenth and Scott street Sunday at 9:30 p. m. The bus was completely demolished.

Eight other-passengers were not injured. Lawrence Williams, 17, of 1515 Buchanan street and Margaret Jackson, 18, of 1800 E. Racoon street, leaped through the window for safety.

The following suffered head cuts, bruises and body injuries: Charles Crawford, 18, of 1620 Walker street; Margaret Jackson, 18, of 1800 E. Racoon street; Gussie Brown, 17, of 221 S. E. Twenty-eighth street; Margaret Fields, 23, of 808 S. E. Twenty-eighth street; Stephen Fields, 34, of 808 S. E. Twenty-eighth street; Clinton Marshall, 16, of 4421 University, and Alvin Manuel, 18, of 1531 Maple street.

According to A. H. Day, 40, of 2904 Hull avenue, bus operator, who was uninjured, he saw the switch engine and thought it had stopped and proceeded slowly across the tracks. F. A. Bogan, superintendent of the Rock Island lines, said the train crew told him the engine tender light was on and the automatic crossing bell was ringing.

Ford is a Fisk graduate, and spoke on "The Negro in the 1936 Election," to a fair sized audience of students, faculty members and white and colored citizens of the community.

After the speech there was a forty-five minute question period. Later in the evening Ford spoke over the local radio. No disturbance marred the visitor's appearance at either the Fisk chapel or at the radio station.

Star Back Is Irritated by Coach Solem's Criticisms

"Simmons May Play If He Wants To, Whether He Apologizes or Not," Ozzie Solem Said Thursday

By the Staff Writer

Iowa City, Iowa.—The sport world received a severe jolt Wednesday night when it learned that Ozzie Simmons, one of the greatest halfbacks of all time, announced that he had quit the Hawkeye football squad; was thru with the State University of Iowa's team and had stood all of the abuse from Coach Ozzie Solem that he intended to.

However, at midnight, to the great relief of his millions of admirers who want to see his last home performance against Purdue Saturday, Simmons announced that "everything had been settled satisfactorily . . . and I will play . . ."

Monday Night The trouble began Monday night when Coach Solem assembled the Iowa team in the university dressing room when motion pictures of the Minnesota-Iowa game were shown. The coach is said to criticized the Negro star on a play to which Ozzie is said to have replied: "Huh, I suppose I lost the game, 52 to 0."

Simmons was ordered out of the room and returned Wednesday to turn in his suit. Solem asked for an apology which Ozzie refused. After a conference with Prof. C. M. Updegraff, chairman of the board of control of university athletics, and the coach, "oil was poured on the troubled waters."

Jealousy What has made the Hawkeyes a mediocre second rate class C college team these past years is evidenced by a rebuff by one of the members of the team, "Most of the players don't care if Ozzie Simmons plays or not."

Experts and critics throughout the nation disapproved of the failure of the management to authorize an election of Captain Simmons, Iowa's outstanding amateur athlete of 1935 by popular vote, would have been chosen. "Ozzie has been temperamental and sulky all season," some of the members reported of their star back.

A group of Des Moines ex-service men, consisting of Harry E. Wilson, J. L. McGuire, Mathew Johnson, Chas. P. Howard, Robert T. Dacus, James E. Morris and James W. Mitchell, celebrating Armistice day at a smoker in the home of Mr. Mitchell, talked to Simmons late Wednesday night. He told them that the coach accused him of "laying down on the job" but everything was O. K. now.

"To See Me Play"

"People don't come to Iowa to see the Iowa team . . . they came to see me play . . .", he is reported as saying. "I had offers in my sophomore year from Northwestern, Michigan and Ohio State." Witnesses say Don tried to quiet the angered outbursts of his younger brother.

Simmons said Monday's incident was the climax of a number of criticisms fired at him at various times by Coach Solem.

Italian Immigrants Sailing for Ethiopia

PREPARE TO TAKE OVER CONQUERED LAND IN FAR-OFF AFRICA

Rome, Nov. 13.—The greatest immigration movement of the twentieth century is about to begin, with thousands of Italians eagerly awaiting the completion of the road from Asmara (Eritrea) to Addis Ababa. Then the vast plateau and plains of Ethiopia will be populated with a new people. The crown lands in the fertile provinces will be the first settled. The most fertile country in regions most accessible will be opened first. In these the first choice of land will be given to soldiers who have expressed a desire to remain in Ethiopia.

Of the regiments of Italians recruited abroad (outside of Italy) 700 already have decided to remain, while the percentage is equally high for the soldiers who came from Italy proper. Natives will not be deprived of their lands without due process of law, it is claimed.

Negro Units Parade in Roosevelt Honor Guard

CADETS GIVE PRESIDENT BIG N. Y. WELCOME

Dunbar and Armstrong High Schools Mingle With Cavalrymen

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—All residents of the president's home city for the next four years gave him the welcome of a conquering hero last Friday morning on his arrival from Hyde Park, N. Y.

Cadets from Dunbar and Armstrong high schools and a detachment of Ninth and Tenth cavalry were among those who formed an honor guard proceeding to the union station plaza, where the president stopped momentarily on his way to the White House.

Pennsylvania avenue. It was estimated that more than 100,000 people lined the streets all along the way to the White House. In grasping the hand of Mrs. Elizabeth McDuffie, wife of Irvin H. McDuffie, his valet, President Roosevelt exclaimed enthusiastically, "How is the White House's chief campaigner, who helped me swell the party's majority in three states? Won't you accept my thanks?"

In Chicago, St. Louis, Springfield, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Ohio, and Gary, Ind., at mass meetings and special women's gatherings, it is estimated that Mrs. McDuffie spoke to more than 50,000 people.

Lesson for November 15

THE HEROISM OF CHRISTIAN FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Acts 21:12, 13, 27-34; Romans 9:15.
 GOLDEN TEXT—Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. John 15:13.
 PRIMARY TOPIC—On the Castle Steps.
 JUNIOR TOPIC—On the Castle Steps.
 INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Taking Risks for Christ.
 YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Risking All for Christ.

We now come to the close of the third missionary journey of Paul. As he came to Jerusalem for the last time in his eventful life he was warned by a prophet, Agabus at Caesarea, that if he went up to Jerusalem he would be bound and given over to the Gentiles.

Heroism of the highest and noblest type has characterized the followers of Christ in all times. Paul was not one to be deterred from what he believed to be God's will by the probability that he would suffer. Like all who follow the Lord Jesus Christ in truth he was I. Fearless in Practice as well as Theory (Acts 21:12, 13, 27-34).

Many there are who sing, "I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord, I'll be what you want me to be," or smoothly repeat consecration vows, who are frightened away at the slightest difficulty, and who feel that they must have been mistaken about the Lord's will for their life at the first indication that the guidance would interfere with their comfort or convenience. No such cowardice or vacillation was found in Paul.

In the first place, he did not intend to hinder the holy purpose weakened by disheartening talk. How many young men and women have left a place of sacred meeting with God aglow with the purpose of serving Him in the foreign mission field, and then permitted an uninterested friend or relative or employer to talk them out of it.

In the second place, we find Paul carrying through his purpose. When he came to Jerusalem he was counseled to enter the temple to take a Nazirite vow, and thus to satisfy his enemies. Some have commended Paul for thus pacifying those who withstood him, others strongly condemn him for yielding. His purpose was good, but his act led to unfortunate results. An infuriated Jewish mob saw him in the temple and wrongfully accused him of defiling the temple by bringing a Greek into this holy place.

A riot ensued, and Paul would have been killed had not the Roman captain and his band rescued him. Was Paul afraid? He immediately turned his arrest into an unsurpassed opportunity to give a testimony and to make a defense of his ministry (See Acts 21:40-22:22). He admonished others to "be instant in season and out of season" (II Tim. 4:2); he practiced what he preached. He constantly urged faith in God, steadfastness in the midst of trials; he gave full proof of these things in his own ministry.

In all this he did not seek his own glory, or any honor for his own name. The Christian hero knows nothing of heroism for publicity's sake; he does not serve with an eye on the "grandstand." Paul was actuated by a deep and a genuine concern for the Salvation of His People (Rom 9:1-5). The Christian worker who knows nothing of "great sorrow and unceasing pain" in his heart over the plight of the unsaved does not follow in the Pauline succession; nor does he know the heart of the Man of Sorrows.

Paul surely did not wish himself separated from Christ, but was so deeply moved that he said he "could die"—if it were not wrong—in order to save his brethren.

Do we need a revival of compassion in our churches, and in our own hearts, a yearning over the multitudes about us who are as sheep without a shepherd?

A Golden Link
 A mother's love is indeed the golden link that binds youth to age, and is still but a child, however time may have furrowed his cheek, or silvered his brow, who can yet recall with a softened heart, the fond devotion, or the gentle childings, of the best friend that God ever gives us.

Love of Our Work
 It is only those who do not know how to work that do not love it. To those who do it is better than play—it is religion.

Life
 Life is not made up of great sacrifices of duties, but of little things of which smiles and kindness and small obligations given habitually, are what win and preserve the heart.—Sir Humphrey Davy.

Prejudices
 Prejudices may be intense, but their lives are limited to discover when they are dead and to bury them, is an important matter, and no unseemly tears should be shed at their funerals.

CARD OF THANKS
 We thank the friends for the kindness during the illness and at the death of our loved one, William Hampton; beautiful floral display, donation of cars; Rev. Hackley for his inspiring remarks and L. Fowler & Son funeral home for their efficient service.—Mrs. Hampton, widow; and relatives.

OBITUARY
 Beatrice Lorene Fine was born in Muckakinoe, Iowa, June 24, 1900 and died November 3, 1937 at Broadlawn Hospital in Des Moines, Iowa. She was a member of church while in Chicago and a member of Bethel A. M. E. church here. Mrs. Fine was married to Arthur Fine in 1922. Her husband preceded her in death two years ago. Her children, parents, one brother, two nephews survive. Funeral services were held November 5 at Bethel A. M. E. church with the Rev. Ben H. Lucas officiating. Interment at Laurel Hill cemetery.

Irish Celtic in Origin

The Irish people, with a mixture of races, are largely Celtic in origin, descended from the Celts, part of the great Aryan race which swept over Europe many centuries before the Christian era. They are not Semitic in origin. There are various traditions and poetic fables to account for the early inhabitants of Ireland, before the Celtic invasion. Constantia Maxwell's Short History of Ireland refers to the legends of invasions and colonizations by five different peoples, the Partholons, Nemedians, Firbolgs, Deidannans and Milesians. The Milesians, last of the Celtic-speaking colonies to come to Ireland, are supposed to have arrived between 1700 and 1000 B. C. from Scythia, through Thrace, Egypt, Gothland, Britain and Spain.

DRAKE TO BATTLE TULSA IN FINAL HOME GAME

Drake's football forces, disappointed, but not downhearted, after their defeat by Denver's powerful Pioneers, turn this week to one of the most important Missouri Valley conference assignments of the year, the game with Tulsa's Golden Hurricanes, at the local stadium Saturday afternoon.

The Bulldogs, badly crippled in last week's encounter, are expected to be back at full force this week for the invasion of Tulsa's "Aerial Circus," rated one of the strongest teams in the southwest.

Drake showed plenty of power in the first half of the Denver encounter, rolling up a 13 point lead, but the margin melted when Denver's decided edge in manpower began to show later in the game. The big, burly men of Navy Bill Saunders overpowered the weakened Bulldogs to turn defeat into a 27-13 victory.

HEARST TOURNAMENT TO JIM CROW BOXERS

Washington, Nov. 12.—(CNA)—The "All-American" boxing tournament sponsored by William Randolph Hearst will be a strictly Jim-crow affair, according to information obtained at the office of the District of Columbia Amateur association, under whose auspices the affair will be held. No Negro boxer will be permitted to fight a white boxer, it was said.

A flood of protests is being sent by Negro and labor groups to Avery Brundage, Dr. Singer, local A. A. U. chairman, and James H. Ryan, president of the Catholic university, in whose gymnasium the bouts will be held.

SCOTLAND ONCE LED IN WITCH BURNING

Palm Given to Northland in Revived Discussion.

London.—Although several antiquarians have presented evidence in London papers giving the American colonies a clean bill of health in regard to repeated accusations that alleged witches were once actually burned there, a mooted question still remains and its discussion has mounted to fever attitude: What part of the United Kingdom was most culpable in this respect, England, Wales, Ireland or Scotland?

Scientific opinion is making out a good case for Scotland, with a record of 4,000 executions, although one writer declares that strangulation (worry), and not fire, was used as a means of exit at the stake. Another writer, however, while admitting that strangulation was sometimes used, declares that the stake with fire was a much more popular form of execution, and he writes:

"Rev. Dr. Lauchlan MacLean Watt, Glasgow, tells that in 1658 a warlock, duly condemned, was 'worry'd' (strangled) at the stake on the Castlehill of Edinburgh. But in that same year four women were burned to death in the same place, all confessing their covenant with hell, while presently nine witches from Tranent all went the same way, with confessions in their mouths."

School Master Done to Death.—"Then there was the noted case of Dr. Fian, school master, Saltpanns, 1591, who was first strangled, then 'put into a great fire' and burned on the Castlehill of Edinburgh."

"Or we may take what is known as the wittiest representation of a witch trial in the English language—the sketch, 'The Devil to Pay' in the 'Table Talk of Shirley,' by Skelton. There the minister of Cudde-stane declared that the witch on trial had no title to be burned alive. She was not, he said, a first-class witch. She must be 'worry'd' first. But even there, out of ten old women, although two were strangled, eight were burned to death."

"From the official records—and many are available—it is clear that of the 4,000 so-called witches burned in Scotland only a fraction underwent the minor horrible death by strangulation before the burning at the stake."

"But I shall confine myself to the case of Aberdeen, a dreadful example, where the records are clear and full, and where, in 1596-97 alone, 22 women and 1 man were burned to death. Says the minister of Aberdeen: 'They were, of course, condemned to the flames, and in order to make a due impression on the minds of the people their sufferings took place at short intervals at the Castlehill.'"

Last Execution in 1722.—"These shocking occurrences went on in Aberdeen well into the Seventeenth century, although the last person to be tried by a lord of justice was brought up at Dumfriesshire court as late as 1709 and the very last person to undergo trial for witchcraft in Scotland was an old woman who was brought before the deputy sheriff of Sutherland and condemned, at Dornoch, in 1722."

"Not everybody in Scotland was pleased by the cessation of witch burning, and the repeal of the statute of King James authorizing the same, 1735."

"In 1743 the Associate Presbytery of Scotland—the noted Erskine Seceders from the Church of Scotland—declared that the penal statutes against witches have been repealed by Parliament contrary to the express law of God; and more singular still, even in 1815 Rev. James Paterson, M. A., minister of the Associate Congregation of the upland parish of Midmar, Aberdeen-shire, felt it necessary to issue a pamphlet, 'A Belief in Witchcraft Unsupported by Scripture.' It was printed by Chalmers, of the (still existing) Aberdeen Journal, a strange production, very rare, but an item in the local collection of this library."

N. C. ELECTION BOARD ORDER GIVES BALLOT TO NEGROES

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 12.—Upon orders from L. P. McClendon, chairman of the state board of elections, the registrar in Northampton county, North Carolina, allowed Miss Amanda Peele and Miss Naomia Person to vote in the November 3rd election. Miss Peele and others had been denied the right to register last spring and again on October 24th because the registrar stated that they did not satisfy the educational requirements of North Carolina law.

Miss Peele is a college graduate and an instructor in Hampton institute, Virginia. The action of Chairman McClendon was taken on complaint from North Carolina citizens and upon telegraphic protest to Attorney General Homer S. Cummings by the N. A. A. C. P. in New York.

North Carolina members of the N. A. A. C. P. are now attacking the practice of registrars of requiring colored people to make repeated trips to register so as to discourage them from attempting to vote. It is the regular habit of some registrars to tell colored people to "come back next week," even though the registrar's office at the moment may not be doing anything.

Key to First Americans Found in Mummy of Sloth

San Francisco, Calif.—Finding of the well mummified remains of an ancient ground sloth—extinct for 1,000 years—and human remains indicating the existence of an American race contemporary with the animal was announced recently by the national park service.

The find was made in the lower grand canyon of Arizona. The announcement said it was the first time anything other than the bones of such a creature had been found in this country.

The big animal, resembling a bear, lived 30,000 to 100,000 years ago, the announcement said.

R. Chester Stock of the California Institute of Technology and an associate, E. L. Furlong, went to the scene and confirmed the significance of the find. The human remains were found near a cave in which the mummified animal was unearthed.

"These human remains and pictures on the walls of cave dwellings," said Dr. Stock, "give proof that the earliest American people were contemporary with the sloths."

Loggers Tackle Virginia Timber of Minnesota

Grand Portage, Minn.—Logging gangs in the Grand Portage area are clearing a 100,000 acre tract—A camp of 15 buildings has been constructed, and the first trees are being felled to make roads for logging operation, officials of the George C. Meade company, Port Arthur, Ont., owner of the land, said.

The Grand Portage area, until two centuries ago, teemed with wild life, and was visited seldom by white men. Today many lakes, imbedded deep in the forests, have been reached only by Indians.

The timberland was purchased by the Meade company at an auction after northeastern Minnesota Indians relinquished their title to the territory, which had been made a reservation by an act of congress.

The task of clearing the large tract will require at least three years, officials of the company estimate.

Monkey Glands Popular With Women of Britain

London.—English women seeking rejuvenation from monkey glands outnumber by far the women doing so in any other country, according to Dr. Serge Voronoff, "monkey gland" expert, who is now visiting London.

"Women of other countries are satisfied if their faces look young, but English women must be young," declared Dr. Voronoff. "They want to ride, golf, and dance on equal terms with their daughters and even granddaughters."

"It is possible for a woman, who spends a painless half hour in having the glands of a monkey transferred to her, to retain 15 years of her life."

Ten men undergo rejuvenation treatment to every one woman, Dr. Voronoff said.

Town People Catch Fish Around Their Doorsteps

Milton, Pa.—Fishing from the doorstep is a common thing on Milton's lower Cameron avenue, and citizens report some fairly good catches in a well stocked fishing hole left by the floods. Water collected in a railroad undergrade to a depth of 12 feet during the flood and receded only to the level of the river when high water subsided.

GAY FEATHERS DON'T ALWAYS WIN MATE

Expert Gives Some Facts on Bird Courtship.

New York.—Are male birds, which are the most brilliantly colored and adorned the most successful in obtaining mates? In the mating contest, does the female bird select the male of brightest plumage? Darwin advanced this idea in his theory of sexual selection, but it has been widely criticized. If it is not the resplendent appearance of the male that decides the female bird in her choice of a mate, what is it?

Mr. H. N. Southern, in "Natural History" published by the American museum, makes some interesting observations on this question.

"While there is no doubt that sexual selection can actually be observed in operation in some cases, there are a number of difficulties that arise. Many instances are recorded of cock birds with poor plumage getting mates while more brightly colored competitors are condemned to bachelorhood. The hen in many cases seems quite oblivious of the display that is going on and seems pointedly to look the other way. This is curious if the stimulation is by a visual image.

"As with most zoological controversies the correct answer seems to be a compromise, an acceptance of the fact that sexual selection has been seen to occur with the proviso that many other factors may be equally if not more important."

Mr. Southern tells of a visit to the Shetland islands, at the extreme north of the British Isles, where he had the good fortune to make some close-up observations of bird courtship. The birds on these barren islands were two species of skuas, the great skua being called bonxie by the Shetlanders.

"In making a survey of one small island," he says, "we noticed that the bonxies tended to collect upon one particular ridge. We decided to watch what was going on at this particular 'club,' and after a few hours we found that events were so interesting that we put up a 'hide' and managed to take some photographs of the proceedings.

"The books informed us that the courtship of the bonxie consisted of mutual wing-raising by both sexes, displaying the white webs of the proximal part of the primaries and flashing them as a sort of surprise, like as do many birds with hidden patches of color in their plumage. What puzzled us was that this could be seen going on all over the nesting colony, and did not appear to have any special courtship significance. It was used for greeting, for remembrance when one bird intruded into the territory of another, and as a general expression of excitement or self-assertion."

Changes Tactics.

Returning to the ridge, Mr. Southern found several of the bonxies sitting in obvious pairs. "One of these especially," he says, "was very active, the female brooding an imaginary nest with great solicitude, while the male stood by her and raised his wings at the slightest provocation. Soon she stood up and the two birds stood breast to breast calling and wing-raising. This happened several times and fizzled out, but finally the male started to adopt entirely different tactics; he puffed out his neck feathers until they looked twice the normal thickness, and strutted with head in the air in front of the female. Up and down he went in a kind of sentry-go, until the hen who was standing up and calling reciprocally at first finally sat down and mating was accomplished. On several occasions we saw this procedure end with the refusal of the female to take part and the male was driven off."

Chicago Zoo Sets Mark in Acquiring of Animals

Chicago.—The Chicago Zoological park at Brookfield set a new pace in acquiring animals during the period beginning June 1, according to Robert Bean, assistant director and curator of animals at the zoo. Figures compiled for the board of directors by Mr. Bean showed that 23 mammals, 103 reptiles, and 97 birds were received at the zoo in that period.

"Electric Chair" Devised for Fowl

San Francisco.—An "electric chair" for chickens, turkeys, geese and squabs has been invented by two San Francisco technicians and is being subjected to tests here.

The inventors are confident that it will revolutionize the preparation of birds for market.

With the new machines, which have a voltage of from 1,000 to 1,500 volts, according to the size of the chicken or turkey, the legs of each bird are clamped on a moving belt. Then a clamp reaches out, seizes the fowl's head and presses it against an electrode with a minimum of 1,000 volts.

A more humane and sanitary system of preparing poultry for the market is the goal of the inventors.

Telephones are more common in the United States than in foreign countries. In city, town and country you find telephones near at hand because Americans are the greatest telephone users in the world. In proportion to population, people of the United States have six times as many telephones as Europeans make nine times as many telephone calls.

It is natural that Americans should use the telephone more than the people of other countries—you can get more and better telephone service for your money in the United States than anywhere else in the world.

About one family in every 40 in the United States has savings invested in the Bell System.

Walda Goetz Round & Round

Well, my fans, this week we have my "across the street neighbor" doing the honors.

He's a gentleman for true, Who knows all about me and you.

When he's 'dishing the dirt' Some of it is bound to hurt.

But 'tis strange, and oftentimes to win us to our harm, the instruments of darkness tell us truths; win us with honest trifles, to betray's in deepest consequence.—Shakespeare.

The instruments of darkness among the younger set have caused more hard feelings among the socialites than the columnist dare admit. In writing this column I am reminded that it is impossible to throw dirt without getting your hands dirty.
