En route to Buffalo, New York, with her husband for a visit with his relatives, Des Moines' own sapho movie star, the former Catherine Williams, (now Mrs. Charles Atkinson of Los Angeles, California), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guffy Williams of 1108 Twelfth street, here, stopped off last week-end to see her home town and to renew her girlhood acquaintances. The former North High school girl, who has "made the grade" in Hollywood as a professional dancer, has just-completed a picture, "You Can't Have Everything," a Twentieth Century Fox production, about a month ago.

In January of 1935 Catherine went to the Grand Terrace Cafe as one of the Bronze Artists with Earl Hines band, remaining there until its closing the following summer. She later appeared in a chorus number with Ethel Waters at the Regal theatre. In a return engagement to Dave's Cafe she told the reporter that it was one of the happiest occasions in her life. "There I met my husband," Catherine recalled proudly. They were married and went straight to Hollywood, where her rise to "fame" continued.

BOXING

It won't be long now—Some time next week Tommy Farr of England will be introduced from the ring side as the worthy opponent of the "Champion of De World" Joe Louis. There hasn't been too much written about Farr. Now and then some writer has suggested that he might bother Louis and has a chance to win.

We recall some time ago the mystery surrounding one George Carpenter, a Frenchman, who came over to fight Dempsey. The boy was so good that he lasted four rounds. We think that will happen to Tommy. He will be good enough to last few rounds, not over six.

The English have an idea that Max Baer is our hardest puncher and since Farr took a few of Baer's punches and didn't wilt, they think he will do the same by Joe. Our point is this: Max Baer can't box strawberries, and is no part of the puncher he used to be, even with only a right hand. Yet he hit Farr more than once.

If Baer could do that, what will Joe Louis do when he turns loose the crushing power in both dukes with more speed than Farr ever faced before; there can be but one answer. Write your own ticket and name your own round, but it will be Joe. He'll still be the world's best and champion after August 28th.

TENNIS

Even though we are at camp, there are some entry blanks for our tennis tournament which starts August 29. These blanks are at 320 Locust and in order to be considered your entry must be in by August 27.

Medical Men Send Protest on Appointment of Senator Black

St. Louis, Aug. 20—"The forty-third annual convention of the National Medical Association in session assembled here, representing the organized profession of medicine, dentistry and pharmacy among the Negroes of the United States, desires to respectfully call the public's attention to the lack of judicial temperament, proper professional qualifications and reputed affiliations with the Ku Klux Klan of the state of Alabama of Senator Hugo Black, and respectfully desires to go on record as protesting this appointment as inimical to the best interest of the country at large and the American Negro man in particular, and argues that you use your vote and influence to prevent his confirmation."

Future Bright

The Negro's future in movies is much brighter, Mr. Atkinson (he'd rather be called Charles) replied to a question, "the all-Negro casts give a larger field for dramatists and really show what colored actors and actresses can do." His praise was especially high for Ralph Cooper, Negro writer and producer, who has finished "Bargain With Bullets," which is slated for a premiere this week.

Leaving high school at an early age, Charles decided to try his luck at the song and dance game, which has tricked many an aspirant. His first attempt was at the Hotel Vendome there in 1931. He played several cabarets, finally working his way to the west coast. Charles was selected for a part in Eddie Cantor's "Strike Me Pink" on August 23, 1935.

Sebastian Cotton Club

The "Singing Kid," "San Francisco," the recent "Artists and Models" (the Louis Armstrong and Martha Raye scene) and several shorts with the Hall-Johnson choir are some of his successes. For the past two years he and his partner, William Porter, have been featured at the well known Sebastian Cotton club. They will be headlined with Earl Hines at the Grand Terrace in Chicago on October 10th.

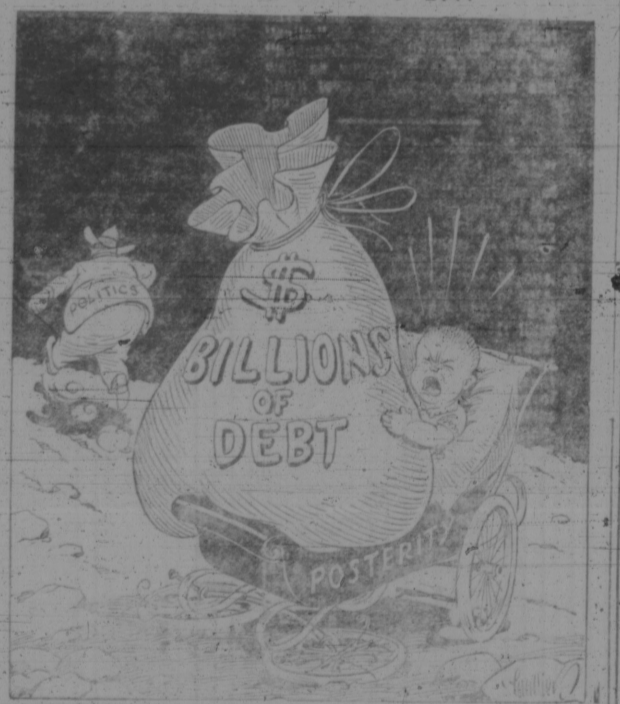

When not busy at the studios, the Atkinsons are entertaining at Sebastian's and other night spots. He will work in some more Hall-Johnson choir pictures and Catherine expects to be cast with an all colored musical flicker this fall.

"I must act as governor of Massachusetts, and in so doing must respectfully decline your request." Governor Rivers, incensed because other states are refusing to send back escaped prisoners from the Georgia chain-gang, has dug up an old "full faith and credit" clause in a federal statute which he hopes will help him reclaim Cunningham, now in Boston, who escaped from Georgia in 1924, and Robert Elliott Burns, white, who wrote the famous "I'm a Fugitive" book, now living in New Jersey. Governor Rivers, in a statement Friday, said: "We are going after any others the other states may be holding from us."

Famous Twelfth Century Teacher Peter Abelard (1079-1142) was the most famous teacher of the Twelfth century. Like all teachers of that day he was trained for theology and his fame rests largely on his ability as a disputant. He was an opponent of William of Champeaux, whom he seriously worsted in the theological debate. He became a hermit in Champeaux, where hundreds of students flocked to him. He is one of the important forerunners of the school of theology which afterward became the University of Paris.

LOWE BROTHERS "HIGH STANDARD" HOUSE PAINT 814 Walnut Phone 4-5297

The inventor of the telescope—usually attributed to Galileo, who first exhibited it, in its completed form, in 1609—aroused new interest in communication by visible signals. By the end of the Seventeenth century, these instruments were fairly common throughout Europe, and several signal systems, based on their use, had been suggested. About 1690, Amontons, a member of the French academy, devised a system, the simplest form of which consisted merely of hoisting flags or placards bearing large letters, to be sent by telescope and relayed from station to station. He demonstrated his system before the Dauphin in the Luxembourg gardens, Paris. Shortly before this, Hooke, an English physicist, had invented a system made up of a line of high towers, each holding a frame on which twenty-six figures representing the letters of the alphabet were to be hung and the message spelled out.

Grease Paints Oldest Grease paint may fairly claim to be the oldest kind of paint. It is only reasonable to suppose—and this is borne out by the present practice of savage tribes—that the earliest paints may have been pigments mixed with grease or fat. Such a paint adheres to the human skin with considerable persistence, yet it may be removed by thorough washing. Of this nature are the grease-paints used by actors.

Vandyke Brown Pigment Vandyke brown is an earth pigment of a rich, deep brown. It takes its name from the old Dutch master, Vandyke, who used the color with remarkable effect. It is of bog origin and contains iron and bitumen. It is excellent for glazing old bronze effects and for staining to imitate old English, antique and bog soils. When used to color a white base, the tint has a lavender tinge.

ALL-DAY CHURCH MEETING FEATURED BY KILLING SNAPE

Melbourne, Ark., Aug. 12—(ANP)—An all-day church meeting held at LaCross, six miles from this city, was climaxed last Sunday by a violent argument between Roosevelt Brown, 30, a farmer, and his nephew, Oliver Davidson, 29, the clash ending, according to police, when the younger man hurled a rock at Brown, striking him on the head and killing him instantly.

The victim's wife died last week, leaving four small children, now orphaned by the death of the father. Davidson escaped, but is being sought by Sheriff W. E. Billingsley.

Dog Days Traced to Egypt

Dog days, so often misinterpreted, go back to ancient Egypt, for on the Nile the star Sirius (named in honor of the dog) denoted the hot flood season. Its rise was the signal for lowlanders to move to higher ground. The fact that Sirius rises in the summer has brought dog days to mean something entirely different. This oft-recounted story has a counterpart in the tale of Maera, the dog of Icarus. After disclosing to Erigone the place where her murdered father lay, Maera died of grief. For his faithfulness Maera was rewarded by being taken up into the heavens and becoming the constellation Canis. This is the Greek version of an earlier Babylonian legend.

"I WANT TO BE A DOCTOR AND MUSICIAN" WRITES FREED SCOTTSBORO BOY

London, Aug. 12—(ANP)—Olin Montgomery, one of the four liberated Scottsboro boys, said he wanted to be "a doctor and a musician" after describing prison conditions in Alabama in an exclusive story written by him last week for the London Chronicle, a leading British daily newspaper.

"Hanging Stones" May Be Work of the Phoenicians

There are "hanging stones" or Stonehenges in Southern America and Southern Africa, all believed to be the work of the Phoenicians, whose city, Atlantis, lies, so we suppose, beneath the waters of the Atlantic. So it is possible that Stonehenge and other similar temples were erected by people of the Phoenician Empire, who were sun-worshippers and members of a great civilization, states a correspondent in Pearson's London Weekly.

After the destruction of Atlantis, it is thought that the Venetians descended from the Phoenicians, for the names are remarkably similar. Stranger still is the fact that the people of Biddulph Moor, in Staffordshire, are "different." Their red-gold hair and straight features seem to prove that they do not come from the native stock.

It is said that, centuries ago, a Lord of Biddulph engaged Venetian stone-masons to build a church, and they settled down in the district and formed a colony, so it is possible that those living on Biddulph Moor are descendants of those Venetian masons. It has been said that the Phoenicians were a race of people with red-gold hair and fair, straight features, so that if all this is true, there is the startling possibility that descendants of the inhabitants of the Lost City of Atlantis are living in England.

Coal Ages in Forming

Millions of years before the age of man, nature sowed the land with great forests and dense jungle, rank with fern and moss. Millions of trees grew and died, fell and partially decayed. Heavy rainfalls and overflowing streams, formed swamps and ponds and new growth developed. In the course of time, successive layers of decaying vegetation were packed down under immense pressures—and coal was formed for man to discover later and burn. Each pound of coal has been ages in the making. In some regions where nature has been particularly lavish, coal of a superior grade will be found. Often in the same field, there will be good, medium and poor grades of coal.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for August 22

THE PLACE OF RELIGION IN A NATION'S LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 25:1, 2, 8, 9; 26:43-46; 40:34-38.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord, Ps. 33:12.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Meeting House.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The House of the Lord.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why a Nation Needs Religion.
ADULT TOPIC—The Place of Religion in a Nation's Life.

The nation of Israel was under the direct government of God—a theocracy as distinguished from a monarchy, or a democracy. God spoke to them through his servant Moses, but his relationship to the people was far more intimate than that of a distant power delivering laws through a representative. God dwelt in the midst of his people, and today we consider how he made provision for a place in which to meet with them, for a holy habitation to meet before him, and made known his personal presence by a manifestation of his glory.

I. A Place to Meet God (Exod. 25:1, 2, 8, 9; 26:43-46).
Every place of worship, whether the tabernacle in the wilderness, or a church on a busy city street, testifies to the fact that man is indeed "incurably religious." He is a spiritual being, made by God for fellowship with himself. He is never satisfied until he meets God.

The pattern or plan for the tabernacle was given by God (v. 9), and was to be followed in every detail. But note that the people were to make a willing offering of all that was needed for its construction. God gives man the glorious privilege of partnership with him. Short-sighted and foolish is the man who grumbles because the church needs money. A father might just as well grieve because his children outgrow their clothing. Thank God if your church is alive and growing, and be glad for the opportunity to buy it some "new clothes."

Sacrificial gifts and faithful building according to God's plan, brought to completion a place of meeting which God sanctified and accepted.

II. Priests to Minister to God (vv. 44, 45).
Note, first, that they were men called of God. Those who stand to minister to him for the people dare not appoint themselves, or seek an appointment by men. They must be "God-called."

They were also sanctified, or ordained, by God. Only as men act in true recognition of God's selection and setting apart of his chosen servants does ordination have real meaning.

Finally, notice that the priests were "to minister to God." His servants are to serve him, and thus to meet the need of the people for whom they speak. They are "put in trust with the gospel," and therefore to "speak; not as pleasing men, but God" (I Thess. 2:4). If you have that kind of a pastor, praise God for him, and give him your earnest support and encouragement.

III. The Presence of God (Exod. 29:45, 46; 40:34-38).
He dwelt in the midst of his people. Christians also know what it means to have "God with us," for such is the very meaning of the word "Immanuel" (Isa. 7:14; Matt. 1:23). He it was who "lived" and here "became flesh and dwelt among us" (John 1:14).

For our further instruction and blessing let us observe that when God dwelt with his people his glory "filled the tabernacle" (v. 34). Is that true of our churches? Have we so loved God and so fully yielded ourselves and our churches to him that he is free to fill the place with his glory?

The word "abode" in v. 35 is significant. What blessed peace and assurance must have come to Israel when they knew that God had come to abide with them. In this world of transitory things we need such an anchor for the soul—God's abiding presence.

But God's people must move on. There are victories to be won, a promised land to take. So we read that the cloud arose when they were to move forward, and when it was "not taken up, then they journeyed not until the day that it was taken up."
The Psalmist tells us that "the steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord" (Ps. 37:23). I believe it was George Mueller of blessed memory who inserted three words "and the steps." The man, or the church, or the nation, that "trusts" will have both "steps" and "steps" "ordered by the Lord."

Beginning of Eternal Life
Eternal life does not just mean that when our bodies die our souls last on. It means a kind of life which we can begin to live here and now, and which cannot be destroyed by death because it is united with God—A Day Book of My Prayer.

Always an Answer
A little girl was once teased by a skeptic, who remarked that God had not answered her prayer.
"Yes," she said, "the answer had, but I was not listening."

The Y Star club is the toppest club of cats in town. They rule supreme on both hardwood floor, the basketball floor and the dance floor. They can do anything from pushing baby carts to running ice houses and driving cars. When it comes to dressing they are the sharpest cats on Center. That's no five. When it comes to rug cutting the boys are tops. Some of the boys say the Y Stars aren't from where—but just let the Stars throw a party and these same boys will dog their heels begging for an invite. They are the only group which has a special cabin at Y camp. The club is now planning to throw a dance at the Tromar sometime during the fall with some big band playing (Jive). Any poor neglected dancier who isn't getting those correct plays should apply in person at Chops Bandbox in order to get some Y. Star to fill the position. There will be no charge for this advice.

STATUS OF THE ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

Sponsors of the Wagner-Vah Nuyta anti-lynching bill in the senate have not succeeded in getting it voted upon on its merits in the present session of congress but by a process of parliamentary maneuvering have placed it in a position where it will be considered immediately following crop-control legislation at the January session or at a special session if one is called before that time.

While we have heard much about this bill in the senate during the past few sessions, congress, opponents have taken advantage of parliamentary procedure to prevent a vote on its merits. In fact its opponents know that their only chance to beat the bill is to prevent a vote on the measure itself.

During debate over the plan to give the bill its present position of advantage, Senator Barkley, majority leader said:

"Mr. President, I have attempted all during this discussion to impress upon the Senate the fact that I had no desire to delay or prevent the consideration of this bill. I have felt all along, and I feel now, that it is entitled to be considered on its merits, free from entanglement with any other legislation.

"The importance of the subject and the interest of millions of persons in it entitle it to consideration. I think those who oppose the bill are compelled to recognize the fact that it ought to be considered during this Congress. I certainly think it ought to be considered during this Congress, and it is my desire that it be considered during the present Congress."

Senator Barkley faces the fact that "the subject is important, and that millions are interested," and he knows that these millions consist of millions of white people north and south who recognize that lynching is not purely a race issue, is not confined to any one section and is a blot on the chin of this country that it is a free nation.

On the other hand Senator Connally of Texas, in the course of an extended argument against the bill accused its sponsors of trying to satisfy a few people and to get the vote by that certain group and of course termed them Negro lovers.

Fortunate for the friends of the anti-lynching bill Senator Barkley is the majority leader in the senate. At least he wants the measure considered and believes that is important, to millions. And that from him got us a long way.

SENATOR BLACK OF THE SUPREME COURT

President Roosevelt has appointed Senator Black associate justice of the United States Supreme Court. Following a short debate he was confirmed by the senate with only 57 63 to 16. Ordinarily when a senator is nominated for office, the custom is that he has been to act on confirmation without referring the nomination to a committee. However, the feeling was so bitter against Senator Black that the custom was not followed.

Anticipating that Negroes would object to Senator Black's confirmation, an article evidently intended to show that the Senator believed in a fair administration of the law even when a Negro was involved, appeared in the daily press Sunday. It cited a case which arose while Senator Black was a police judge in Birmingham

O Negro defendant was haled in to court for beating a white collector who had already collected ninety-two dollars on a fifty-dollar bill and was insisting on more. The case was dismissed with the admonition that if the Negro was caught paying the collector any more money he would be sent to jail; that if the collector, attempted to collect any more on the account he would be sent to jail.

This is all well and good. Southern white people are charitable to individual Negroes as long as their charity remains with the individual. But when it comes to a question of broad human rights it is unusual to find many who include the Negro in their thinking. What Senator Black did in the case cited above was commendable, but when he is considered for a place on the Supreme Court then it becomes important what he thinks about the Negroes right to the ballot, his right to a fair trial instead of the procedure adopted in his home state in the Scottsboro case, whether he believes in a differential of wages between whites and Negroes doing the same work. These things are the real tests of a white man's attitude on the Negro question.

Justice McCreynolds of Tennessee who holds a place on the court now has generally dissented in the recent cases coming before the court involving the rights of the Negro. On the other hand Chief Justice Hughes, Justice Stone, Cardozo and Brandeis termed the liberal group of the court have upheld the rights of Negroes except in the last Texas primary case. Mr. Justice Black is a liberal there, but he lines up with others of the liberal group on the bench when the rights of the Negro is involved as well as when New Deal legislation is in question. There will come the test. And it is not far off for we are to have another Scottsboro appeal before the court soon.

Iowa Day

Speakers at the picnic held at Glenwood park Sunday were: Dr. Carter, Mrs. Brown, Mr. Carey, Jackson Brooks and Laurence Lee. Community singing, games, athletics were some of the events. The Central States Golf tournament was held at the Kellar golf course.

The next convention will be either at Chicago or Milwaukee to be selected by the executive board. Among the Des Moines folks attending were: Messrs. and Mesdames Oval Carter, V. L. Jones, W. C. Rhodes, Art Wilson, and C. B. Brinker and Mrs. Alonzo Brooks, Mrs. Mary Miles, Mrs. James Chapman, F. O. Morrow, Jr., G. Smith, J. B. Morris, Jr., L. T. Johnson, Jack Howard, Harold Wilkinson, Dorothy and Orville Emanuel.

NAACP Rep rt

Martin of the UAW and John P. Davis of the Negro Congress. She said the outstanding sessions of the convention was the presentation of the Spingarn Medal to Walter White, secretary of the association, and the mass meeting which was addressed by Congressman Joseph Gavanagh, author of the anti-lynching bill which passed the house of representatives.

The junior organization included as many delegates as the senior branches. They held their sessions separately and conducted the meetings very creditably. The training received in the junior work will fit these young people admirably for future tasks with the seniors the speaker said.

Besides the Des Moines branch, Iowa was represented by the Waterloo branch whose delegates were Atty. M. F. Field and Br. L. W. Ferguson. Music at the local meeting was provided by the Union Baptist church choir, A. P. Trotter, presided.

MALARIAL FEVER

Those who go to sojourn in the Southland should ever be mindful of the mosquito whose bite may cause these fevers. The parasite that causes the disease is inoculated through the skin by the bite of a female mosquito of a particular species.

For those traveling south the prevention of malaria is preferable to cure. Small doses of quinine taken at regular intervals will usually prevent the disease. Avoid sleeping in unscrubbed houses. Ascertain if there are any cases of malaria fever in the vicinity and if so, be doubly precautions. If after you have returned home from a trip down south and become acutely ill, always notify your family physician that you have been south and it may save some time. Physicians do not often see a case of malarial fever in some sections of the U. S. because the disease is seldom ever seen away from its usual habitat.

Falconry as Recreation in Many Parts of World

Hawking was introduced into Europe from the East in the Twelfth century, but its history goes back much farther than that. In the Old Testament there is a mention of hunting "with trained birds." Homer, Aristotle and Pliny all speak of the sport. The Chinese and Japanese were passionately devoted to hunting with hawks and falcons is practiced in their countries, as well as in India and in North Africa by natives, relates a correspondent in the New York Times.

All medieval European aristocracies played with hooded birds of prey. The sport persisted into modern times in Hungary and in England and sporadically in various other continental countries. Falconry is probably the most highly formalized recreation in the world. Its methods and customs are by immemorial custom rigidly prescribed, and it has a vocabulary of its own. How completely this old terminology is lost to the public is illustrated in the very name of the sport; the average person is quite sure that a falcon is a species of bird, while actually the word merely denotes the female of any of a number of breeds. The female hawk is about one-third larger and heavier than the male, and is a superior hunter.

Persons who may care to take up hawking must do some work on the venerable lexicon pertaining to it, use the birds. A falcon does not have wings, for example; they are "sails." And one must know what "haggards" and "cadgers" are, as well as what it means when the hawk towers, stoops, pounces and jinks.

Great Horned Owl Named "The Tiger of the Air"

Sometimes called "the tiger of the air" and the "evil genius of the woods," the great horned owl is by nature sullen and savage. If placed in captivity, it never forgives its captors and may even be treacherous. In the wild, its food consists of rats, mice and gophers, fish, birds, and even an occasional skunk. It likes to feed on chickens in settled areas. To offset this damaging evidence as far as man is concerned, the great horned owl is an avowed enemy of crows and grackles. The crows themselves recognize this by gangling up on an owl whenever they find one in the woods.

The young of this bird sometimes feed on night-flying insects. Since the young are said to begin hooting when they are about four months old, the insect-hawking owls will utter a screaming cry. When this is heard in the dark, the cry is often puzzling to listeners.

Despite its general disfavor among men, the owls deserve high praise in their devotion to eggs and young at nesting time, asserts a writer in the Detroit Free Press. Sometimes, the young nesting early in February, when they may be exposed to fierce storms and low temperatures, often for days at a time. It is a marvel how the eggs are kept from freezing in a nest-exposed, as it usually is, in the top of a tall, bare tree. Only the most devoted, unwavering attention to duty can save them. J. W. W.—What about this man's clothes my wife washed this week and claims she don't know who they belong to and I want to know all about it sir just as soon as you can put it in the paper?

Ans.: There isn't anything for you to worry about for she doesn't know the party intimately. Your wife is interested in making a few pennies and she has something more to do than get out and hunt up some man's clothes to wash gratis.

E. L. M.—I am in love with a boy in Chicago and wonder if I will get a chance to visit him as I have hoped to do this summer?

Ans.: No—you won't be able to make the trip to Chicago. It will be fall when you two meet again, and at the same COLLEGE you attended this past year. He is very fond of you but isn't at all ready to settle down and get married.

X. A. C.—Will my husband and I live together again or what must I expect?

Ans.: He is terribly upset over the whole thing and at this time I believe he is trying to DISPOSE of your home. He is a little too stubborn to try to convince that there has been a mistake made, and you may as well let him have his way.

W. W. J.—Will my daughter visit me anytime in the near future and does she want to see me?

Ans.: You bet she wants to see her old dad again. Just as soon as she can arrange to be away from home a few days she is going to make you a visit of a few days. It will probably be Nims before this visit can be arranged.

J. M.—Is there a chance of my getting the job that I applied for at a recent date?

Ans.: Several people are after this same job, play safe and look around for something else while you are awaiting news of just who is the fortunate one. You are going to work in the month of September on some kind of job.

M. L. J.—How can I make a success of marriage and prove to my husband that I am not guilty of the neighborhood gossip that goes around about me?

Ans.: By minding your OWN affairs and sticking close to your nose you are doing at this time. Your husband doesn't doubt you and your neighbors are JEALOUS of you therefore they talk. Be kind to your husband and jinks.

BEAUTY AND ROMANCE

THE CLORY OF LOVE

My mail this morning brings a forthright question from a young lady, "Why don't you write more about romance?"

That is a very good point. We have given you lots of talking about beauty aids that we have almost forgotten to mention romance.

Regardless of its importance, after all our skin deep while romance thrives in the deepest recesses of us all.

We have been brought up on the doctrine that the bride's month is June that most weddings take place in that month of blossoms.

This is indeed a pretty thought but it is not altogether accurate. Statistics tell us that June does not bring the most marriages and that as a matter of fact it is the least average month. September and January stand near the top of the months for couple's success.

So in discussing romance at this late summer season we are not after all, getting too far out of step with tradition.

A young man recently wrote me that he was tremendously interested in a pretty girl but that he was having trouble in that success. The girl, he said, had his letter as "oh so poetic, well-tailored and beautiful with straight and shining black hair, beautiful hands and a great talent for wearing clothes."

This young man had obviously made with the girl but had been given varying advice when she had wanted to see her. His suspicion that another young man had seduced her against him, and he wanted her.

I am not in the business of writing advice to young people regarding their affairs of the heart but in the course of my writing the young man has the wisdom to send the girl a nice present of beauty aids and to have other things to show his sincere interest. If she is as fine as he thinks she certainly should be grateful enough to thank him the next time he calls or whenever they meet on the street. Then he would have the opportunity to ask again for a date under more favorable circumstances.

These summer nights make romantic telephone calls of a virtual all out romance. Nature in summer, from her face, love and sympathy of beauty, and the sun that possesses neither of these attributes is dead indeed.

It was with this thought in mind that I named my column "Beauty and Romance." One is seldomly inspired without the other for beauty inspires romance and romance inspires beauty. How often do we wonder whether it is in the natural wonders about us or in the fact of the eye love.

You will pardon me for hoping that my hints on the subject of beauty and romance have been of some benefit to you. I am sure you will be glad to see her. His suspicion
