Clarence Muse Is Optimistic About '37 Talent Week

"HEARTS IN DIXIE" STAR BELIEVES IN D. M. YOUTH

By Everett Wadsworth Staff Writer

"Small cities are always producing stars, and if you continue to do your bit with the aid of the Bystander I know you will have your quota of great personalities." Clarence Muse, movie actor, told Spencer Elliott, Bystander advertising manager, in the latter's visit to Los Angeles and Hollywood, California, in July. They were former partners in a song and dance act in Chicago over thirty years ago.

Muse, the writer of "A-Talkin' To You," a column in a Los Angeles weekly, waxed enthusiastic when told of the annual enterprise of Iowa's only Negro newspaper, and exclaimed: "The Negro actor is fast coming into his own here and you can do so much to advance the creative talent in Des Moines." The star in "Hearts in Dixie," all-Negro film, asked to keep posted as to the "outstanding artists" discovered in these contests and wants to help them to get a start in a career.

All of this indicates the widespread popularity of the third annual Bystander Talent Week to be given at the Jewish Community Center, Ninth and Forest streets, Monday evening, October 4th. Amateurs and professionals alike in music, drama (both instrumental and vocal) will again vie for awards, cash prizes, contracts and careers. Through the co-operation of leaders, critics and directors in fine arts of the stage and radio, this year's show promises to be the "tops."

Venerable Major Lynch has had a distinguished record of public service equalled by few Americans. He is a former (1871) speaker of the Mississippi house of representatives; three times (1872-83) representative in the United States congress; paymaster (1906-1911) of the United States army and auditor (1885-1893) of the U. S. treasury for the navy department during President Harrison's administration. He is also widely known as a lawyer, author and republican political leader.

Klan Activities of Supreme Court Justice Being Aired

New York, Sept. 16—(ANP)—Spurred by the first of a series of articles published in daily newspapers showing U. S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black of Alabama is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, Senator Royal S. Copeland issued a statement Monday calling on the supreme court and the senate to find some way to prevent the new appointee from sitting as a member of the court.

When Black was first nominated, Copeland led the fight against him, charging Black's Klan membership and Klan prejudice against large groups of American citizens made him unfit for the nation's highest tribunal.

The first article appeared in the daily press with the copy of a document purporting to show Black became a member of the Klan in 1923 and there is a letter of resignation in the new justice's handwriting dated in 1925. However, it is declared this was a subterfuge without official meaning and was placed in Klan files to be shown if ever the Klan issue came up against him. This was when he first ran for the senate.

Since the issue was not raised, it is charged that in Birmingham on September 2, 1926, Black was made a life member of the hooded order and was presented with a golden card denoting this.

Must Have Had The Devil in Him

DRUNK MAN GOES TO CHURCH, WRECKS PULPIT; MEETING BREAKS UP

Burlington, N. C., Sept. 16—(ANP)—Sunday afternoon services in a small church at Oak Grove were broken up by a drunken man who made his exit by shouting "Jesus Christ's in front of me and the devil's behind." After he had dashed up the aisle waving a four inch knife, knocked down a pulpit, fought with a worshipper and overturned numerous chairs before being ousted by the excited congregation.

Clifford Green, according to witnesses, broke into the church unexpectedly from a rear entrance and before they knew what he was up to, started a fight, beneath the pulpit. Called to the scene, officers found Green outside a short time later. At the county jail he was booked on a charge of drunkenness and breaking up a public gathering.

Scottsboro Boys Are Ill in Prison

POWELL PARALYZED—TWO ARE IN HOSPITAL FOR OPERATIONS

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 16—(CNA)—A new menace, chronic illness, brought on by almost seven years of harried and continuous confinement in Alabama jails now threatens the lives of four of the five imprisoned Scottsboro boys, it was revealed this week.

Mrs. Ada Wright, who has just returned from a trip to Kilby prison in Montgomery, Ala., said this week that two of the boys were now confined in the prison hospital. Mrs. Wright's hurried trip south was due to a request from her son, Andy, who was recently operated on for acute hemorrhoids.

Charlie Weems, sentenced to seven-and-a-half years, has tuberculosis, while Heywood Patterson, also sentenced to seven-and-a-half years, is suffering from a dangerous infection in his leg, Mrs. Wright stated. Patterson underwent an emergency operation about ten days ago.

Gould, and a brother, Clayborn, survive.

Rev. R. H. Hackley, pastor of St. Paul A. M. E. church, said that Mr. Gould was apparently in good health earlier in the morning, as he trotted up the church steps to attend the services. At that instant he slumped down into his chair, semi-conscious.

Ike Smalls Seeks to Aid Poor In Securing Medical Attention

ALL RACES, CREEDS INCLUDED IN BENEFIT OF JEWISH GROCER

Ike Smalls, grocer, 1500 Second street, is sending the following letters to all hospitals and charitable organizations:

Dear Friends: In the past few years I have been able to aid many of our people in Des Moines, regardless of race, color or creed, in the financing of blood transfusions. This work has given me so much personal pleasure and satisfaction that I have decided to add several more items on my aid list, feeling that there must be many people who need certain medical attention and paraphernalia and who are too destitute to obtain them. I mean to make it possible for these people to obtain the things necessary for their ailments so that they may share with us some of the joys of living. I am therefore adding the following list of paraphernalia to my relief list, and those wishing aid are at liberty to write me to the above address, stating their cases, and I will do whatever possible to be of service to them. I will not accept phone calls; all applications must be in writing. Financing of blood transfusions; for diabetic people, automatic injectors; for invalids, invalid cushions, ice caps; for cripples, crutches, sanitary back rests; obstetrical sutures for immediate repair of perineal lacerations; for infants, ear and ulcer and regular infant syringes; ladies' breast pumps. It will be necessary for a patient to receive any of the above items to send in an order from the attending physician with the application. Mr. Smalls said, and urges all who know of any cases worthy of aid to advise them to write him immediately.

TENNIS SEASON ENDED

The 1937 tennis season was officially ended Sunday when a group of the leading white players of the city staged a series of exhibition matches against Negro players at Godd's park. Dr. Julius Swartz, ranking about fourth in the city; Frank Wegener, another ranking player; Ben Beckerman, present city champ, and Frank Brody, co-holder of the city doubles title, appeared on the program.

Dr. Swartz engaged Chet Williamson in a lively one set duel that produced some fine tennis. Wegener, who has been called the smoothest stroking player in Iowa, turned on the steam against your scribe and we had a ball swatting good time. Then Brody and Beckerman, city doubles champs and twice state titlists, took on Bill Ashby and Williamson for two sets in as fine a display of doubles as has ever been played at the park. The match had everything, hard shots, good volleying and rapid-fire exchanges at the net.

The people who saw the matches saw that Negro tennis was not far below the caliber of the best white players, many of whom get in many more tournament sets than our players do. This was the first time anything had ever been attempted like that and the size of the crowd was encouraging; more matches on a larger scale are planned for next year.

In writing up the matches the Tribune reporter referred to Bill and Chet as the Negro doubles champs. This wasn't fair to Paul Woods and Earl Newcomb, who won that honor recently. The reporter was merely trying to give the matches a big send-off and meant no harm of any sort. He is sorry; Bill and Chet, who certainly don't seek unearned laurels, are also sorry, and even though we had no part in the write-up, we are sorry also. Incidentally, Earl and Paul were scheduled to appear on the program, but for some reason stayed home. Paul Williams subbed for Woods and paired with Octavia Roane to trim your scribe and Wilda Mullins in a mixed doubles match.

Next week we will present our 1937 rankings based on the season's play and our recent tournament.

Football

The old urge to go out and grab the pigskin has gripped the nation's young men again. Everywhere can be heard the boom of cleated shoes against the oval and the rasping thud of shoulders driving into thighs as players block and tackle each other in scrimmage. There will be quite a few Negroes scattered around here and there. Jefferson and Hinton at Northwestern, Reed and Bell at Minnesota and then here at home there will be Captain Homer Harris of Iowa. These boys will make headlines this fall for all of our leading newspapers. There will also be others who will crop up from time to time. We'll give you a full report on all of them next week.

In our local high schools there will be several of our local youngsters heard from. Ike Miller, the one man riot, Tom Avant, who has almost drowned himself out of a position, and Bub Hill at North will probably be news. Eddie Maupin and Harry Saunders will head the list of colored boys at East, and who will keep them company we don't know yet. Charlie Swink will try to carry on for Valley Junction, who will miss Booker King greatly.

VANDEVERE LOOKS GOOD EVEN IN CRUSHING DEFEAT

By Everett Wadsworth
Although the Des Moines Comets, local professional football team, was crushed by the Chicago Bears, 39 to 0, in an exhibition game at Peoria, Illinois, Sunday, Bob Vandevere, Negro flashy halfback, drew the praise of critics and coaches with his all-around excellent playing.

Coach Archie Johnson, a former East High and Drake grid star who coached Ankeny High school to five years without a defeat, was enthusiastic about his team's prospects and especially praised Vandevere.

Coach Johnson, who is instructor at North High, is brother of Johnny Johnson, former North High mentor who directed Pink and Green teams to more victories during his regime than at any other period in the school's history. The elder Johnson is now supervisor of physical education of the Des Moines schools.

Reign of King Charles V Recalled by Landmarks

King Charles V, the monarch known as Charles the Wise, constructed many of the most famous landmarks in Paris.

The Louvre museum, whose marble halls are known to visitors; the Chateau de Vincennes, just outside Paris; the Palais de Justice, or town hall, and the Place de la Bastille, where the famous prison once stood, are among the landmarks in Paris whose origin dates back to the days of Charles V. Even the French National library, the Bibliotheque Nationale, which is known to thousands of foreign students attending the Sorbonne and other Paris universities, had its start with a donation from Charles V of more than 1,000 historic manuscripts.

Charles V did not actually construct the palace which later became the Louvre, but he ordered the original structure to be enlarged and renovated. The famous Palace de Justice was built following the instruction of this French monarch—but six centuries ago it was known as St. Paul's palace.

The prison of the Bastille, which was destroyed by mobs during the French revolution, was built by Charles the Wise "to keep Parisians in order," according to a history of that epoch. The Chateau of Vincennes, the palace where the king was born, was enlarged and redecorated during his reign.

Other significant events in his rule, which were celebrated with fitting ceremonies in Paris, were the establishment of a French merchant marine, the placing of France's taxation system on a business basis, and the expulsion of the English from French soil.

Writer of "God Save the King" an Open Question

There is room for debate among British patriots and musicians as to who wrote "God Save the King," as several persons have claimed the honor of writing both melody and words. However, notes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, in Dr. John Julian's dictionary of hymnology, credit for writing the melody is given Dr. John Bull, who is said to have played it on the organ in the Merchant Taylor's hall in London in 1607, when James I dined there as a guest of the guild.

Henry Carey is often accepted as the author of both words and music, and the air is said to have been sung by him at a dinner in 1740 to celebrate the victory of Portobello. Carey's son repeated his claim in 1795, hoping to get a pension for his father's patriotic effort, but he did not get it.

What is certain is that George II was the first king to be mentioned by name in the song, and that it became suddenly and widely popular after having been sung in the Drury Lane theater in London in 1745, soon after the proclamation of the pretender at Edinburgh. It was sung at Covent Garden and other theaters immediately after and soon everybody was singing: "God save our noble king; God save great George our king."

Uncrowned Rulers

The fact that a king has not been crowned does not mean that his rule is unacknowledged. Whitaker's Almanac says that from the time of King Henry the Eighth it has been a recognized principle that immediately upon the death of a monarch his heir becomes his already constituted successor. The solemn and elaborate ceremony of coronation is the formal public ratification of an event which is already of binding force. Listed among English kings and queens in Whitaker's Almanac are two rulers who never were crowned: Edward V and Jane (Lady Jane Grey). Edward V reigned only a few months and Lady Jane Grey only a few days.

Story of Govett's Leap Explodes an Old Legend

Another gem of Australian legendary lore was exploded with the true story of how Govett's Leap received its name, says a writer in the New York Herald Tribune.

William Romaine Govett was supposed to be a bushranger of the Sixties who roamed the hills and valleys, murdered police and trackers in the bush, plundered on the highways and robbed banks and taverns in the townships. His career supposedly ended when he was cornered near the falls by the police, and, preferring death to surrender, he jumped over the falls.

But that is not the true story. Govett joined the surveying staff in New South Wales under the surveyor general in 1827. He surveyed much of the wild terrain lying between the Grose and the junction of the Capertee and Colo rivers, and from Springwood to Mount York.

While he was attached to a working party in the Blue mountains he jumped across one of the ravines or chasms. When he related his experience to Sir Thomas Mitchell he told that the spot would be called Govett's Leap. After serving several years on the surveyor general's staff Govett returned to England, where he died in 1845.

Popular imagination readily takes in a tale so full of spirit and adventure as that woven around Govett's Leap, and so the bushranger epic was evolved. A visitor to the falls is struck by the wild beauty of the place. Situated near Blackheath on the saddle of the Kanimba and Grose valleys, the falls are in rough and barren country surrounded by a rugged tangle of gorges, ridges and unfathomable chasms, with precipitous and craggy sides in every direction.

Columbus Gave Corn Name It Will Always Retain

The pre-eminence of corn in the economic life of this country goes back to prehistoric times and the Indians. "Greece gave us art, Rome gave us government, the Indians gave us the great and enduring gift of corn." So reads a line from a writer of some years ago.

A recently published handbook on the starches, syrups, sugars and other industrial products made from the corn kernel contains a brief historical sketch about corn. The sixty-four-page pamphlet entitled "Corn in Industry" was printed by the Corn Industries Research Foundation. While in a way it is a technical brochure, it is so free from the shop talk of the industrial laboratory and so full of interesting facts concerning the making of the kernel into many products in common use that it might well be given a prominent place in school libraries, observes a writer in the Chicago Daily News.

"Corn, like tobacco, squash, tomatoes, lima beans, the pumpkin, and the misnamed Irish potato, is a native American," writes the unidentified writer of the historical sketch. "Columbus noticed it on his first voyage to America and called it 'corn,' a word which, at the time, meant grain in general. The Spaniards, greatly impressed by the size and appearance of this cereal, failed to understand its value; but the Indians made no such mistake. They worshiped it, offered human sacrifices to it, and, in spite of their pagan blindness, were probably more logical than the conquistadors, for corn shaped the destiny of the new world and is still an important factor in the economic reasons for our prominence among nations."

In every part of the seven seas jellyfish are torn to pieces by an under-sea creature—more vicious than the fiercest fish, says Pearson's London Weekly. It is a shellfish of the Lanthina family, with sharp, razor-edged teeth, and a long, rasping tongue, and jellyfish are powerless against it. Unlike other molluscs which crawl along the sea bed or anchor themselves to rocks the Lanthina floats on a tiny "raft" which is formed from a substance exuded by the mollusc's shell. It is supported by air bubbles which the mollusc blows, and this tiny "raft" can stand up to the wildest weather. The mollusc itself is blind so the pirate craft also carries a passenger, a minute shrimp-like creature which guides the "ship" alongside the jelly fish and tongue of the "pirate" to do the rest.

Flowers of Heaven

Japanese flower arrangement is an accomplishment every girl in Japan learns along with her regular education. The manner of arranging a bouquet is symbolic in that country. Flowers represent "heaven," "earth," and "man" to the Japanese. There are always these three divisions in every Japanese bouquet. "Heaven" is the tallest flower, "man" the next size and "earth" the shortest. Man is placed in the center between heaven and earth, because he is influenced by both.

The Holy Alliance

The Holy Alliance was an alliance ostensibly for conserving religion, justice, and peace in Europe, but used for repressing popular tendencies toward constitutional government, entered into by Alexander I of Russia, Francis I of Austria, and Frederick William III of Prussia at Paris, on September 26, 1815, and subsequently joined by all the sovereigns of Europe except the pope and the king of Great Britain. It ended after the revolution of 1830 in France.

Italics in the Bible

In several early English translations of the Bible many words not intended to be emphasized are printed in italics. This is because the translators of the Scriptures were unable to find English words equivalent to some of the words in the Hebrew, Greek and Latin texts. Whenever they were compelled to insert extra words to make the translation intelligible to English readers they put these additional words in italics to indicate the insertion. In later translations italics were used for emphasis.

Duck Hawk Kin of Falcon

The duck hawk is a close relative of the European falcon which was trained to sit blind-folded on the gantlet of king or noble until released to capture game fowl while hunters watched the thrilling chase. Like its European relative, the American peregrine-falcon attains staggering speeds, sometimes as high as 70 miles an hour—this speed has earned for it the popular name of "bullet hawk."

East Indian Influence

Much of British Guiana's colorful character is traceable to the East Indian influence. There are more than 136,000 Hindus in the colony, mostly the descendants of indentured laborers brought from India in the Nineteenth century, when the freeing of slave labor made it imperative to find a new source of cheap man power to operate the plantations.

First Zoo in China, Was Operated About 1100 B. C.

Caged animals have always fascinated man. It's probable that even primitive man had menageries of a sort. The first recorded zoo, however, was in China, advises a writer in the Washington Post.

Set up about 1100 B. C., it was named "Intelligence Park." Ancient Chinese scientists thus learned zoology.

Even before that, the idea of collecting animals had taken root. The easiest way to win the favor of an ancient ruler was to present him with a wild beast.

From China we jump a long way to the next organized zoos. Although Romans kept lions, they weren't for everybody's amusement, as many an unfortunate captive discovered before being fed to the beasts. It was in the Middle Ages that zoos, as we know them, began. Henry I of England probably had the first zoo of note in the Twelfth century. Years later, France's Philip IV followed his example.

On this side of the water zoos started at about the same time. Spanish conquerors in Mexico found that Aztec rulers had had menageries.

We switch back to Europe for what is usually conceded to be the oldest zoo still attracting crowds.

Foreign Files

The Constitution of the United States does not forbid American citizens to take titles or honors from foreign governments despite an agitation in the early part of the last century to put one there. Congress in 1810 submitted to the states a proposed amendment which would have forfeited the American citizenship of any person "who shall accept, claim, receive or retain any title of nobility or honor, or shall, without the consent of Congress, accept and retain any present, pension, office or emolument of any kind whatever, from any emperor, king, prince or foreign power." The amendment could not muster sufficient ratifications among the states, and after 1814 expired without further attention.

Deadwood Dick From England

Deadwood Dick was born on December 18, 1845, in England and came to the United States when he was sixteen years old. While he was still a young man he joined a party of prospectors in Illinois and went overland to the Black Hills in search of gold. His real name was Richard Clarke. He was a typical plainsman, swaggering, always ready for excitement, chivalrous and handy with his fists or guns. He drove a stage coach, worked as a miner, rode the Pony Express and was a member of a vigilante.

Dacres Commanded the Guerriere

Capt. James Richard Dacres commanded the Guerriere, defeated by the Constitution on August 19, 1812, in one of the most famous naval engagements of all times. Dacres and his crew, made prisoner by Capt. Isaac Hull, were taken to Boston by Old Ironsides. News of Hull's brilliant victory electrified and inspired the nation; the legend of British naval invincibility had been dispelled.

"Wet the Ropes!" Sailor's Advice to Hoist Obelisk

Visitors to St. Peter's in Rome will recall a tall Egyptian obelisk standing between two fountains on the piazza in front of the basilica. In 1586 the obelisk was being slowly raised into position under the watchful eyes of Pope Sixtus V and a huge crowd of spectators. The tall shaft, 93 feet high without the base, weighed 332 tons. Aided by 15 horses and many rollers and cranes, 800 men strained at ropes to hoist the large monolith upright from a horizontal position. To prevent noises from distracting the engineers, spectators were strictly forbidden to speak. They watched breathlessly, but silently, relates a writer in the Washington Post.

At a tense moment the ropes stuck and couldn't be budged; the obelisk threatened to come crashing down. "The silence grew more tense."

"Wet the ropes!" shouted a sailor in the crowd.

When wet, the ropes tightened enough for workmen to settle the obelisk safely on its base. But as soon as that excitement was over, the sailor who had defied the order for silence was hurried before the pope to be punished. Instead of any penalty, he was offered a reward, whatever he might ask. The favor he asked was that his native town, Bordighera, henceforth should have the exclusive right to supply the Palm Sunday palms for St. Peter's. It was granted, and has been in vogue ever since.

BUILDING TESTS WALLS FOR FAIR

NEW YORK (Special).—Although the opening date of the New York World's Fair is still almost two years away, the Fair site already has one building that mystifies all persons who pass that way and one that is of great interest to the contractors and builders of the whole country. The big sign says it is the "test building."

The building can be made to do a lot of things just short of a late dance step. It can be made to twist, heave, buckle, sag or otherwise contort, all at the will of the Fair's engineers. It has a sawed-off tower arrangement on one end. Some sections of its walls are dazling under the sun and are, obviously, encrusted with bits of broken glass. Its four walls in fact, comprise 43 different set-ups of material, supports and surface coatings. When its day is done it will be made to fall by the turn of a screw.

L.K. Williams Is Heard By Throng at Convention

BAPTIST HEAD ATTACKS CRIME AND LIQUOR

Los Angeles, Sept. 16—(ANP)—Before an assembly of five thousand Negro delegates to the fifty-seventh annual session of the National Baptist convention, meeting this week in Shrine auditorium, Dr. L. K. Williams, president of Chicago, decried the spread of crime among his people, gave poverty as a contributing cause and declared the increase of liquor traffic an undermining force in American life, when he delivered the opening address of the convocation.

"America is often styled the world's greatest nation. But this estimate is greatly reversed or lowered when America's crime record is revealed," Dr. Williams said. "In the scale of murder and crimes, it rises higher than any other so-called Christian nation. While this is true, the Negro as a minority group has a crime rate that is disproportionate and staggering. This thing is so hurtful that it requires careful study and the employment of the best efforts of the church to check it."

GETS $700 IN FIRST CALL TO NATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL

Los Angeles, Sept. 16—(ANP)—The power of the personality of Nannie H. Burroughs manifested itself in the crowds that waited patiently just to shake her hand and in the response of her call for help in the work of the National Training School for Girls in Washington.

Thursday evening in the first call for aid to the training school of which she is founder and president, Miss Burroughs received $700 contributions ranging from $1 to $100. Mrs. H. M. Gibbs, chairman of the committee for promotion of the work of the training school, said that the fund would probably reach the $2,000 mark before the meeting ended.

NOW HORSES DO THE BIG APPLE

Washington, N. C., Sept. 16—(ANP)—Even the horses have joined in the latest dance-craze, "the big apple," which originated in this section. Saturday Downie Brothers circus introduced it during the afternoon performance and it became an instant sensation.

Louis XIV Called Halt on Wearing Blond Wigs

The period when men wore powdered wigs began at the palace of Louis XIV of France. Louis had beautiful long, curly, blond hair of which he was very proud. One day his courtiers gave a surprise party in his honor, each appearing adorned in a wig resembling the king's magnificent coiffure. But instead of feeling pleased at this intended tribute, Louis was piqued and gave orders that in future no one but himself was to appear in long blond curls and that if the courtiers wished to wear wigs, they must choose a different color. The courtiers accordingly, not wanting to pick a darker shade for the reason that their natural hair was dark, chose white. And henceforth, observes a writer in the Chicago Tribune, the wearing of powdered wigs became general in Europe, spreading from Versailles to the court of Charles II in England and from there to America. Under Queen Anne in England wigs reached their climax of development, commonly being worn so long that they covered the back and shoulders, with corkscrew curls even floating down over the chest.

During most of the white wig era men wore knee breeches, a tight fitting garment that clearly revealed the shape of the legs. But when George IV came to the throne in England, he was so fat that he looked a sight in breeches and it was a problem what to do about it. The solution at last came from Beau Brummel, who proposed that the king should wear long pants. The king accepted Brummel's plan and the world has been wearing long pants ever since.

Utah Was First Settled by Company of Mormons

Utah was first settled permanently by a company of Mormons or Latter-Day Saints in 1847. The migration began in April from what is now Florence, Neb., and there were 148 persons in the first company. In the following year the land became part of the United States and was organized as the Territory of Utah. Immigration from the East was systematically carried on by the Mormons with wagon trains, before the opening of the Union Pacific railroad in 1869, says the Detroit News.

The attitude of the Mormon church to polygamy delayed admission of Utah to statehood until 1896, some years after that church had abandoned polygamy. The state is tenth in area and was fourth in population in 1930. The Latter-Day Saints form a large part of the population. Utah is rich in mineral resources; in 1935 her gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc production exceeded $32,000,000. Chief farm crops are wheat, oats, potatoes, alfalfa, sugar beets, while there is also a large livestock industry, with a big wool production. The state has a low percentage of illiteracy; the Mormon church maintains the Brigham Young university at Provo, while the state University of Utah is in Salt Lake City.

Jules Verne, Writer, Was Born at Nantes, France

The name Jules Verne was not a pseudonym. This famous novelist was born at Nantes, France, in 1828. In keeping with the family tradition, he was trained for law, but soon turned to writing. During his lifetime, states a writer in the Detroit News, he wrote nearly 100 books, many of which were translated into most of the civilized tongues, including the Chinese, Arabian and Japanese. His first literary work appeared in 1850, the dramatic piece in verse, "Les Pailles Rompues." He became secretary to the director of the Opera Comique and wrote the books for several operas. About 1859, he visited Scotland, England and the Scandinavian countries. Later he made a trip to the United States. His real career began when he originated a new literary form, the "scientific and geographical novel." The first book of this type, "Five Weeks in a Balloon," was published serially in a magazine in 1861 and appeared in book form two years later. Other popular books included "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" (1870), "From the Earth to the Moon" (1864), "Around the World in Eighty Days" (1873), and "Michael Strogoff" (1876). According to Waldemar Kaempffert, writing in the New York Times, "The secret of Verne's success lay in the piling up of one exciting incident on another." He died at Amiens in 1905.

Blue Whale in Antarctic

The blue whale is common in the Antarctic. It is the largest of living creatures. It has been reported at a length of 100 feet, with a calculated weight of from 150 to 200 tons. Baleen whales, which are little prawns about two inches long which they sift into their toothless mouths in great quantities. The sperm whale, the kind that carries about five tons of oil in its head, prefers a diet of squid. Epic battles have been reported between the sperm whale and the giant squid. It is said that as a last resort the whale will plunge to the bottom and crush the squid against the ocean floor. Powerful beyond conception in the water, the whale is helpless when stranded. He is so heavy and his skeleton is so flimsily constructed that he quickly succumbs by pressure of his own bulk on his lungs.

Few Hazards From Birds, Animals

Elephants are not responsible for elephantiasis; spotted fever does not come from a leopard's bite; if you are so inclined you may handle toads without fear of disgusting warts. But parrots can transmit parrot fever, says Collier's Weekly. Birds have contributed their quota to man's pleasure, the canary with his cheery song; the falcon, the pet of kings; to sport in hunting; the cormorant, who more practically seizes fish for his Oriental master's supper. With the exception of parrot fever, or psittacosis, the hazards from them are few.

Gold Most Malleable

According to Stimpson's "Popular Questions Answered," gold is the most malleable of all metals and the minimum thickness to which it can be beaten with patience and skill is not known for certain. A single grain of gold has been beaten into a leaf having an area of seventy-five square inches and a thickness of less than 1/100,000 of an inch. Based on that figure and the fact that one ounce troy equals 480 grains, it would require about 174 ounces troy to cover an acre.

DABNEY HEADS INTERNATIONAL MASONIC GRAND MASTERS

Cincinnati, Sept. 7—(ANP)—Fred W. Dabney, well known fraternal leader of Kansas City, Mo., was elected president of the International Conference of Grand Masters of the Masonic Order at their convocation held here. This is Mr. Dabney's third term.

The Sabertooth Tiger

Sabertooth tigers, that howled bloodthirstily in western woods a million years ago, did not invent the sabertooth idea. The same long, curved, murderous weapons projected from the jaws of an entirely different kind of animal, 50 million years ago, long before the cat family had even begun to develop. So cat-like was this early sabertooth animal that only an examination of the internal tooth structure proved it to be a counterfeit cat. Prof. William Berryman Scott, noted paleontologist, has given it a scientific name from the Greek, which means "just that." "Apat," meaning false or counterfeit, and "acelurus," meaning cat, combine into Apatelurus. The creature, which lived in early Eocene time, belonged to the mammal group known as creodonts, a primitive, quite generalized carnivorous type. One line of descent of these creodonts "independently acquired the characteristics of the true sabertooth tiger," Dr. Scott said.

Digestible as milk itself!

... this cheese food with the deliciously mild Cheddar flavor

Let the family have this nutritious cheese food often... in sandwiches, in casserole dishes, and, melted, as a smooth sauce for eggs or sea food.

Millions prefer this "flavor that is different"

It's a skillful cross between mayonnaise and old-fashioned boiled dressing—with a special piquancy all its own! Miracle Whip is totally different from all other dressings—smoother, fluffier, more delicious. Try Miracle Whip—soon!

MIRACLE WHIP CONTAINS MORE—FAR MORE—OF THE COSTLY INGREDIENTS!

TO REGAIN ENERGY AFTER THE FLU

When the Flu has left you weak and discouraged, you need something to put a new edge on your appetite and to brace up your digestive system, to turn your food into strength-giving, red blood. Hostetter's Stomachic Bitters speeds up recovery. You'll feel better with the first dose. Thenceforward, you'll sleep peacefully and get started quickly. America's tonic since 1853. Tastes good, does good. 18 oz. bottle, $1.50.

RIGHT THIS VERY MINUTE How Do You Feel?

Tired? Irritable? No ambition? Look at your watch—note the time. The same time tomorrow, compare how you feel then with the way you do right now! In the evening, stop at your drug store and tonight, drink a cup of Gorfild Tea. Gorfild Tea—Clean Up Your System—Feel Different Tomorrow! Gorfild Tea—Clean Up Your System—Feel Different Tomorrow! Gorfild Tea—Clean Up Your System—Feel Different Tomorrow!

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife who is kind and kindless three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time. No matter how your back aches—how your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband. For three generations one woman has sold another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature long up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three or four years of life. 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age." Don't be a three-quarter wife. Take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

MEN LOVE PEPPY GIRLS

You can become peppy this easy way. If you are happy and peppy and full of fun, more will take you places. If you are tired, they will invite you to dance and parties. BUT, if you are cross and lifeless and always tired out, men won't be interested in you. Men don't like "quiet" girls. Men go to parties to enjoy themselves. They want girls who are full of pep. LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND helps give you pep and energy. For over sixty years girls and women have been taking this famous old medicine to pep them up... to help give them strength, energy, sparkle. Notice the girls and women about you who are full of pep. Ask them what makes them peppy. If they are honest, many of them will give the credit to LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND. You should give LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND a try. Girls with pep are more attractive to men.

Lesson for September 19

CHOICES AND THEIR CONSEQUENCES IN A NATION'S LIFE LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 11:16-17, 26-32

Nations as well as individuals are responsible before God for the manner in which they live. They enjoy the blessings of right living and suffer the penalty of wrong moral choices.

Right Choices Result in Blessing Making the right choice is in fact a simple matter, for it means only obedience to God's commandments.

God Encourages Right Choices Our God is the great and alluring "giver of every good and perfect gift." We need but to lift up our eyes and look at His handiwork.

Right and Wrong Are Fundamental and Eternal It needs to be repeated over and over again in these callous and indifferent days that there is laid down in the very constitution of the entire universe a moral distinction between right and wrong.

JUSTICE BLACK SHOULD QUIT

The disclosure which to date clearly indicates that Justice Black was at one time an active member and still believes in the principles of the Klan is terribly embarrassing to President Roosevelt who nominated him, the senators who voted for his confirmation—particularly those who insisted that his name be voted on in spite of the fact that no hearings were had at which those desiring to make objections might be heard. No doubt it is embarrassing to Justice Black because he assured his friends in Congress when his name was under consideration that the charge was not true; on the other hand in spite of insistent requests he has refused to either affirm or deny the accusation. While it is doubtful that any legal grounds will be found to unseat Justice Black, the fact that he either told an untruth about matters questioning his nomination or by silence allowed Congress and the President to be misled brands him as unfit for the very high duty involved in his service as a justice of the highest court in the land.

As a member of the Ku Klux Klan, in his written resignation as an active member of the organization and in the alleged acceptance of membership for life Justice Black pledged his loyalty to the principles of the organization. Nobody knows better than he what that meant. Imagine a Negro, Roman Catholic, or Jew bringing a case before the court with him as a member. Nothing but contempt could come into his mind. He would be suspicious that justice would not prevail. And not only because Justice Black was and is a Klansman but also because he was so dishonest as to tell a falsehood about it.

The appointment of Justice Black will hound President Roosevelt during the balance of his term. It is a thing that is difficult to explain.

OFF TO SCHOOL

From all indications more youngsters are entering colleges from Des Moines this fall than for several years past. This is due somewhat to general economic improvement and a willingness on the part of parent and student to make the necessary sacrifice that is bound to follow the payment of the expense involved in securing an education. And at that many worthy chaps will be left at home. When students graduate from schools the great problem arises "What will they do?" However, this question should be asked when they begin. What we ought to ask at the beginning is, "What preparation is being made to provide places where they may be employed when they finish?" For the probability of finding a place where one may secure employment is an incentive to make the sacrifice to get an education.

In spite of the times we are making some progress. We are getting new places, we are getting more business, we are gradually raising the economic standard as a whole so that there is more money to be spent for the fine things in life. This is being done with the help of our social, political and economic organizations and individuals who like other groups, have been on the job for a long out of season to see that these matters were properly looked after.

And the press, the clergy and the business interest must take a leading part in this education process. They can lead the way. They are in a position to cooperate with these agencies in teaching the masses that only in proportion that they combine and support their own institutions and the white institutions which give them recognition will the Negro youth get the economic opportunities to which he is entitled and make his life a useful one.

HARRISON GOULD

In the death of Harrison Gould, Des Moines has lost one of its highly respected and useful citizens. Mr. Gould came to Des Moines several years ago soon connecting himself with the church, lodges and other worthwhile organizations of the community. He was an indefatigable worker and loyal at all times to his cause.

Young people were his hobby. He was always up in front in their organizations both religious and recreational and did much to insure their success. Mr. Gould will be missed by the community but his friends and acquaintances can take comfort in the knowledge that he was a useful citizen.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THE NEGRO CHURCH?

Rev. Jordan W. Tuttle, Pastor
Union Baptist Church

This question is one of the major problems of the Ministry and the officials of the church, who has to do with the solutions of the church's programs, methods, and procedure.

Does the separate workings of our Christian institutions add to or detract from the spiritual progress of our churches, or in other words, can a divided Christianity cope with a united world of sin? What would your answer be? I feel that a united drive of the Christian forces will be necessary for the meek to inherit the earth.

One of the troubles with our churches is, that we as church members have the wrong conception of the purpose of the church in the world. The purpose of any church in any community, is to help that very community in which it is planted. Help the community, and not merely certain persons in the community, as friends and relatives. Christ the head of the church, went about doing good, whenever and wherever it was necessary. Necessity requires certain things to be done, but duty demands certain things to be done. "Knowing these things, Blessed is the man that doeth them."

The sooner the church finds out that it must be a GIVING STATION as well as a RECEIVING STATION, the sooner the people will wake up to the importance of the church in the community and will be willing to lend it their support.

Incompetent and inefficient leadership means or spells the downfall of any people. No race or group or organization can rise above its leadership. "TIME MARCHES ON."

MIGRAINE

Sometimes called hemicrania because it is a recurring type of headache.

It may occur as a hereditary disorder. Women are more subject to the disease than men and it usually begins shortly after which is usually situated in one side of the head. The cause of this condition is not definitely known though it is after puberty.

Symptoms—Headache may be the only manifestation, and usually involves the entire half of the head. It is of a boring, throbbing character. Nausea is usually present and coming frequently occurs. Blurred vision and blindness sometimes occur with weakness of one side of the body. These attacks are frequently associated with the menstrual period. Various drugs are used to treat this condition, just a few giving any appreciable results.

West Africa, and from 1912-20, bishop over the Mississippi and Louisiana district. In 1920 he was first assigned to the First district, which covers Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and New England and parts of Canada.

Crossed Atlantic 29 Times

Bishop Heard had crossed the Atlantic twenty-nine times, had written much on church subjects, including a story of his life, and was a forceful speaker and well respected among churchmen. He was for ten years a member of the continuations committee of the World Faith and Order Conference, and attended this year's meeting last month in Edinburgh.

It was while in Edinburgh that he was refused hotel accommodations on account of his color, a situation which led Sir John Simon, British chancellor of the exchequer, to offer his personal regrets to the bishop and which drew much condemnation from Scottish papers. At Edinburgh he was the oldest delegate to the conference and was called the father of this important body of leading churchmen.

F. R.—Is there anything to the dream I have about my friend and my husband? He just can't stay away from her house and there are other little things that make me think something is wrong also.

Ans.—He admires her more than any other woman that he knows of. Her husband is fully aware of the interest your husband has in her. However, it is up to you to make life interesting and pleasant for him at home and he will not take up so much of his time with this party.

R. E. C.—How long must I suffer and will I ever get over the sickness that I now have?

Ans.—It really isn't necessary for you to suffer at all. A good physician could bring about an immediate change in your health as well as perfect a cure, but it will be up to you to consult one.

M. A. H.—Could I be successful in doing the work that I have in mind at this particular time?

Ans.—Without a doubt. Boarding children will give a pleasure to you as well as net you enough income to live in comfort yourself. You love children and have lots of patience with them and they will be happy staying with you.

R. E. C.—I would like to know if I am going to receive any money within the next few months from any property?

Ans.—It seems to me that an oil company is going to offer you a sum of money within the coming six months that will equal up to you. Study the proposition carefully before signing, as it is very easy to be misled in this way.
