

Pastor and Choir Chaplain Die Same Day

CHURCH LOSES OFFICIALS

W. H. London Falls Dead In St. Paul Choir While Singing: "Whither Shall I Go"

One of Oldest Secretaries Iowa Masonic Grand Lodge. Served Office in 1896

After having been greatly moved by the passing of their pastor on Sunday morning, the congregation of St. Paul A. M. E. church received a greater shock on Sunday evening when Mr. W. H. London, chaplain and one of the oldest members of the choir, fell dead while carrying the bass solo in the quartet, "Whither Shall I Go?" just before the evening sermon.

Not knowing that life was extinct, he was rushed to his home, where Dr. J. Alvin Jefferson was summoned. The physician reported that he had passed.

Long Time Iowa Resident

Mr. London was one of Iowa's oldest and most highly respected citizens, having come to old Muchakinock, Iowa, when quite a young man. For a number of years he was in charge of one of the departments of the Wells & Co. the general store of that community. Later, when old Muchakinock was abandoned, together with his brother, now the Rev. E. A. London, pastor of the Wayman A. M. E. church of Minneapolis, he operated a general store of his own at Buxton, Iowa, where his wife was a teacher in the public schools.

For many years and at the time of his passing he was a member of the custodian's staff of Younker

Bros., Iowa's largest department store, of this city.

Active Mason

He had been active in the Masonic fraternity over a long period of time, having been elected grand secretary in 1896 in old Muchakinock and as senior grand warden in 1928 in Buxton.

At the time of his passing he was a member of North Star lodge No. 2 of Des Moines, under whose auspices his funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at the church where he fell. The service was in charge of the Rev. W. H. Thomasson, pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church, assisted by two lady evangelists, Mrs. Estelja Broomfield and Miss Pauline Coffee. The Rev. Dr. George M. Robinson, pastor of the Corinthian Baptist church, delivered the funeral sermon.

Among the relatives present from out of the city were his daughter, Mrs. Valetta Fields, and her husband, Atty. M. F. Fields of Waterloo; Rev. E. A. London and sister, Miss Susie London, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Mr. Robinson, brother of the widow, of Lexington Mo. Other members of the family present were his son, Dr. H. H. London, Mrs. Jennie Brooks, sister of the widow; her daughter, Mrs. Mary Jones, and her son, Alonzo. Interment was made at Glendale.

LARGEST NEGRO Y CAMP IN THE U. S.

Crocker "Y" Camp

SPEND HAPPY AND HEALTHY WEEK IN WELL SUPERVISED CAMP LOCATED NEAR BOONE, IOWA

A record breaking group of 148 boys and leaders returned to their homes Monday morning after spending the past week at the Des Moines "Y" camp as members of the Twentieth Anniversary Crocker "Y" period. This year's number exceeded the 1937 total of 146 campers and again placed the Crocker Street Branch in front position with the largest Negro camp period in the United States, a title which it has held for ten of the past twelve years.

Chapel Point Services

Climaxing the week's activities were the customary services at Chapel, and Honor Points on Sunday. Featuring the services on Chapel Point as guest speaker was Mrs. Helen Dameron Beshears, Polk county probation officer, who addressed the large number of boys and visitors on the subject, "An Invitation To Life." The speaker, who is a strong supporter of the camping program and annually makes it possible for a number of boys to attend camp, is the first woman to appear before this group on Chapel Point, and after hearing her inspiring discourse, every one agreed that it was another precedent well worth shattering. Ozzie Morrow, 15-year-old veteran camper, was chosen by the leaders and directors as an "outstanding camper" and presided over the program.

Honors Awarded

The always impressive services at Honor Point, which are sacred to the heart of every camper, were more outstanding than in the past, due to several additions to the program, chief of which were the candle lighting services and procession from the Point, which was observed in strictest silence. The perfect spirit of fellowship and comradeship was further exemplified by the fact that all but one of the 134 campers received ratings of "satisfactory camper." Honors of varying description were awarded to 132 camper.

EDITORIAL POLICY

It shall be the editorial policy of the Iowa Bystander to voice the convictions of the Negro. Praise and criticism will be constructive in its nature, with a definite regard for the progress of all. We are under obligations to no one organization, but we are free to print what we honestly believe, and we propose to do so with independence and fearlessness in defense of the principals of right as we see it.

LELAND W. GREEN.

THINGS DO CHANGE

There was a time when a candidate for public office soft-pedaled his record of favors to Negroes for fear of reprisals from other groups. And in explaining their achievements, such statements as "friend to the Negro"; "believes in equality for all" and the like appeared in publicity printed in Negro newspapers.

During the campaign in several states this year the Bystander has checked publicity of candidates appearing in Negro papers and find that instead of the old stereotype statements, such items as "appointed first Negro stenographer in state capitol," "appointed Negro assistant Attorney General"; "appointed first Negro inspector" and the like. In other words, candidates are coming to realize more and more that this is the type of thing Negroes want and must have in return for their vote; that they gain in the long run because they take such a position.

Within a few days the fall campaign will be on in full swing. In view of the close margin with which the Democrats won in the state in 1936 and the apparent uncertainty of the Negro vote, that vote will be very important. It is susceptible of forming a LEVEE to get the Negro more consideration than ever before provided that the leaders selected to line up that vote on each side are intelligent and sufficiently experienced to deal with party leaders.

During the past few years hundreds of employees have been added to the Iowa state payroll and we are yet to see a single job worthy of note given to a Negro. This is the big issue in this campaign. It ought to be stressed at every opportunity.

NEGRO VOTE IN

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES

Following the example of Texas, other states' Democratic organizations have barred Negroes from their primary elections. They do this on the strength that the United States supreme court has ruled that a political party is a private institution and may admit to its membership such persons as are desired and of course exclude people in the same manner.

During the primary election in Texas several hundred Negroes are known to have voted, for Democratic candidates. So surprised were some people that an investigation is in progress to determine how such a thing could have happened.

And the Negroes of Texas are not going to stop fighting this supreme court ruling for any intelligent person can see that the position taken in the opinion was entirely erroneous. If a political party is no more than a private club, what right does it have to get its expenses paid out of the public treasury which even those excluded from membership are forced to maintain by taxation? Absolutely none. The time must come, and not far distant, when this rule will be changed.

Some economic adjustments are in progress in the south and along with them will come political changes. The two go along together and the Negro is bound to benefit materially by these changes.

Tennis Ratings

Making our 1938 tennis ratings was about the toughest job we ever tackled. So many of our better players didn't compete in any meet but our own. There were five tournaments, including ours, that were held around here this summer, and we figure that a player should play in at least two of them each year if he really wants to rate. When a

Negroes Will Open $2,000,000 Scott Street Bridge With Big Fun Festival

Thursday, September 8th, on the beautiful new Scott street bridge one of the most outstanding fun events of the summer will be staged. There will be a floor show, bingo games, several free attractions, speakers, refreshments and good music. The occasion will be open to the public for the small admission fee of fifteen cents. Many things for your entertainment await you. Avail yourself of the opportunity to see this new bridge and the set up for this gala event, which sort of serves as an informal opening of latest span to be built in the city, which has not been open to traffic as yet.

Harry Wilson, exalted ruler of Hawkeye Lodge No. 160, I.B.P.O.E. of W., Caldonia Williams, daughter ruler of Rose Temple No. 33 are co-operating with Ed. Morton, master of social sessions, and his committee, consisting of James Scott, Ben Wellington and James Shade, to make this a great affair.

MISS JESSIE MAE ROGERS MANAGER OF WALKER BEAUTY SCHOOL IN TULSA

Miss Jessie Mae Rogers, former instructor of the South Side Beauty College of this city and who later went to Kansas City to supervise the M. C. J. Walker Beauty College in Kansas City, has been transferred to Tulsa, Oklahoma, as general manager, supervisor and instructor of the Walker Beauty School of Tulsa.

While Miss Rogers was in charge of the beauty college in Kansas there were thirty-one graduates, many of whom were from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Iowa. All of the graduates successfully passed the state board examination and received operators' licenses.

Miss Rogers, an accomplished beautician, is artistic and creative. She introduced two hairdresses in the recent style show and tea sponsored by the cosmetologists of greater Kansas City, of which she was an active member. She was also a member, supervisor and instructor of the M. C. J. Walker Beauticians of Greater Kansas City. Miss Rogers, who is a graduate of a number of schools of beauty culture and instructors' colleges, holds instructors' licenses from Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Oklahoma.

lot of them don't, it brings the ratings down to a matter of guess work, where one guess is as good as another.

It happens that the two contenders for top honors among us played in just about all the tournaments held here. One is a brother and one is a pal, and their records are so even, yet so far apart, that we have decided to split the number one position and let the facts speak for us. Chet Williamson established himself as the best Negro player in town. He hasn't lost a set in our city meet since 1935, which is some record. So as far as we are concerned that makes him tops among Negroes.

The other half of this case is just this: In competition against outside players in other meets than our own, Bill Ashby has compiled the best record of any local Negro tennis player in our memory. He played tougher players and got further than anyone else. In five meets this summer, Bill has won nine matches and lost six, losing in each instance to some high ranking white player. In our own meet Williamson beat him in the finals, which ought to settle it except for the fact that our singles champ in four of those five meets has won but six matches and lost three, winning four of them in our meet. Against outsiders, their records stand—Bill won six and lost five. Williamson won two and lost four. Williamson has everything necessary to make a tennis player. He has size, good form, a variety of service second to none in the city. He covers plenty of court and has a fine fighting spirit. His biggest weakness is his temper on the courts and his unwillingness to change his game when he should. These things are what makes him lose to players who shouldn't be on the same court with him in outside meets. If our champ could bring himself to display the keenness, strategy and all-round ability against outside players that he shows in our city meets he would rank as one of the leading players of either race in the city. Bill, who never plays his best tennis in our city meets, has a gang of flaws, but has developed a good net game and instead of a disgusted, weary player that he seems to be in our meets becomes alive with a flaming desire to win and shows a keen tennis head against outsiders. If one could transpose him and Williamson, giving Bill Williamson's physical asset and strokes, or place in Chet, Bill's mad desire to win from outsiders, one of them would make himself a power in local tennis. So there you have it.

Paul Williams ought to rank very high on the men's list, but he preferred to stay in the juniors, where he was tops. Your writer had a peculiar record failing to win a match in singles, yet with three different partners winning five doubles matches and losing three. Figure that one out.

"Y" Camp

During the ceremonies, which were very effectively presided over by the venerable dean of the camp, Howard W. Crawford, who in the closing services remarked of the splendid conduct of the boys during the period, the many new friendships made, and most important, the changed opinions members of the staff had gotten from their associations with the boys. Mr. Crawford exhorted them to continue to conduct themselves in a manner that will win new friends and new opportunities for the race.

Track Events

Despite the slowness of the track due to recent rains, practically all marks set during the summer by earlier periods were wiped out in the track and field meet Thursday morning and afternoon. Principal point makers in the senior division were Lawrence Jackson and Wallace Hill North High athletes, who captured the sprints and jump titles respectively. Ralph Johnson won a trio of first places by grabbing the 50 and 100 yard dashes and the broad jump in the intermediate division. Joe Howard took the high jump in this section. Bobbie King was a double winner in the younger boys division, topping the 50 and 100 yard titles, while Lonnie Howard did the best leaping for high jump honors and Harold Crewse taking the broad jump crown.

Aquatic Meet

Charles Howard, Jr., Ozzie Lewis and Claude Ellison won individual titles in the senior division of the aquatic meet, the former taking the 20 and 40 yard events, Lewis stroking his way to victory in the 100 yard free style and the back stroke, while Ellison displayed best form in the dives. Honors in the intermediate section were taken by Fred James in the dives, and Henry Holt and Harvey Johnson in the racing events.

Ball Tournaments

The Love Birds, captained by Clifford Lovelady, scored a "double" section I, the older boys' division, by waiking off with the baseball and volleyball championships. In the younger boys' section, Calvin Garland's Bonerushers nailed up the volleyball pennant while Elwood Simmons' team came through to clinch the baseball title.

Championships were not determined in tennis and horseshoes because of the rain on the day the finals were to be played, though individual championships were won by Langston Hardaway in the dance contest, followed by Harold Crewse and Bobby Butler, who won second and third prizes respectively. Lonnie Howard won, without a dissenting vote, the title of the longest-winded person in camp. Handball honors were assumed by Leonard Lomas, who for the second successive year returned from northern Arkansas for the period.

Varied Programs

Various programs were presented on each night of camp, the favorite one being the campfire on "Moon-tickers," where Cleatie Devine gave his annual rendition of "Sam McGee," which was received with session of the bicameral, and as state senator from the Fifth district.

Consistent Record

His record is the most consistently progressive of any Nebraska state senator. He led the fight for relief at the last session, introducing a series of bills designed to raise more money for the state assistance fund. In addition he introduced a bill for the ratification of the child labor amendment, which was shouted down by tory senators and on which a voice vote was finally taken after the assistance of liberals and progressives throughout the state.

Adams wrote and introduced the bill which made possible Nebraska's taking advantage of the federal housing act, and he devoted a good deal of time to the preliminary work for the first housing project in Nebraska—the Logan Fontanelle homes in Omaha, which replaced one of the worst slum areas in the crowded Twenty-fourth street area.

Progressives Back Nebraska Negro Senator

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 24—(Jane Richards for CNA)—One of the most important races for Nebraska unicameral (one house) legislature is occurring in the Fifth district, where John Adams, Jr., Nebraska's only Negro senator, is running for re-election. Adams' district includes an important working class section, and the largest Negro area in the state. Unicameral elections are on a non-partisan ballot, with the two highest in the primaries appearing on the November ballot.

Adams, who has been endorsed by both the Union Voters' League (A. F. of L.) and Labor's Non-Partisan League, has served two previous terms—as representative in the last

ASSOCIATED IOWA CLUBS' SECOND ANNUAL NATIONAL CONVENTION

"Where Old Friends Met"

One of the greatest demonstrations of a peaceful and friendly bond that could be shown among a group of people was displayed among the more than 3,000 Iowans and former Iowans who assembled for their second annual national convention in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, August 13 and 14. At one time these men and women of the "tall corn" state lived or worked in the mining town of Buxton, Iowa, and now are members of an organized body, known as the Associated Iowa Clubs. A "hello Louie," "how are you, old pal," and "I haven't seen you since the war" could be heard from morning until evening.

The Iowa-Des Moines club, under the leadership of Mr. Henry U. Mease, was well represented. Iowa had the second largest delegation.

The convention was climaxed with a picnic and a program held in one of Milwaukee's magnificent parks. The principal speaker on the program was the first lady of the state, Mrs. Phillip LaFollette, who was pinch hitting for her husband, Governor Phillip LaFollette, who was attending a Legion convention. She highly commended the members of the clubs for their efforts in trying to create employment for the Negro and to ameliorate the economic conditions.

REST, PLAY AND SLEEP

There are many ways of resting the brain and nerves; and people

Some are rested by a change of work. In general, any occupation which calls for varied kinds of mental activity is much less of a strain than doing the same thing all their rest needs. They differ greatly in the time. Many people get their rest or recreation by turning to some hobby, such as gardening, studying birds, or collecting stamps or insects. These hobbies keep the mind active and interested, by calling for the use of different brain cells from those which are used in daily work. People who do much brain work like to rest the nervous system by vigorous physical exercise, such as tennis, golf or long walks in the open air.

The only complete rest for both body and mind is sleep, and no one can be completely healthy without satisfying this need. In sleep, the blood supply going to the brain is so decreased that we lose consciousness; that is we do not think or feel any knowledge of what is going on about us. The depth or completeness of sleep varies. During the first part of the night one usually sleeps soundly, while toward morning it becomes easily to wake up to full consciousness. Half way between sleep and waking is the land of dreams, in which, as the blood flows back into the brain and the nerve cells begin to act again, strange memories and associations of all kind form a curious, confused picture in the mind. In a state of deep and dreamless sleep the cells of the nervous system are best able to free themselves of their waste products and build up again for the work of the coming day. Children who are growing fast and leading an active life need at least ten hours sleep, and babies sleep from fifteen to twenty hours out of the twenty-four. It never pays to reduce the hours for needed sleep, except now and then for some special emergency

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear son, Mack Wilson, who passed on two years ago, August 11, 1936.

Launch out my son, into the deep Where purer waters roll, Where waves of rapture ever sweep Around the trusting soul,

Though here the ocean's wrath is spent While dangerous schools ensnare; But farther out is sweet content,

'Tis sweet and pleasant there Nurse not the shores in doubt and fear, But trust our God to keep The waves that break so furious here

Are calmer in the deep. Though you tried so hard, my Son Through shadows of defeat Launch out, and cast your net again, But cast it into the deep.

Sadly missed by mother, Mrs. Rosa Wilson; sister, Fannie Wilson; sister, Adeline Jordan, and brother, Kermit Wilson.

Amusement Zone Of New York Fair Biggest in History

NEW YORK (Special)—An amusement zone designed to accommodate at one time the entire population of cities the size of Akron, Atlanta, Birmingham, Dallas, Denver or St. Paul will greet the millions of visitors to the New York World's Fair 1939, Grover A. Whalen, president of the Fair corporation, announces.

By far the largest entertainment structure ever constructed, it will contain enough shows, devices, restaurants, villages, shaded rest spots, secondary streets and plazas to handle more than 250,000 fun-seekers.

One huge theater-restaurant will have seats for 5,000. Another music auditorium will seat 2,500. An amphitheater to contain huge crowds will be built by the state of New York at a cost of $1,500,000; erected at the head of one of the lakes it will be the scene of operas, aquatic exhibitions, pageants and other extravaganzas.

The visitor to the Fair will walk about two miles merely to pass through the amusement section which will be laid out in the form of an oval loop with no "dead end" streets.

The 280-acre tract will be divided into at least thirteen villages or zones and every concession will conform in design and atmosphere to the particular zone in which it is located.
