CIO Acts to Aid Strikers

New York, April 12 (CNA)—The nine months' strike of 300 Negro workers against the Spring Products Corp. 47-39 Austel Place, Long Island City, was supported this week by a one-hour stoppage of all locals of the United Furniture Workers of America, CIO, and a mass demonstration before the struck plant.

Max Perlow, vice-president of the CIO union, said the stoppage and demonstration were in protest against the continued refusal of the Spring Products management to bargain with the strikers, member of Local 91 of the union.

Among the men heading the demonstrations was A. Phillip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters. The strike, believed to be the longest and largest strike of Negro workers in this city, is being supported by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Urban League and other groups.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY STUDENTS PACK HALL TO HEAR EDITOR OF CRISIS

Minneapolis, Minn. April 12—Students of the University of Minnesota jammed into a meeting in the Minnesota Union, April 3, to hear Roy Wilkins, editor of The Crisis and assistant secretary of the NAACP, talk on the newest aspects of the race problem in America. The speaker drew a parallel between the treatment of Jews in Nazi Germany and the conditions under which Negroes live in the United States. He called for support of the NAACP program which is designed, he said, not only to free the Negro from persecution, but to strengthen the system of democracy in the United States. During his stay on the campus of the University of Minnesota (which, incidentally, is his alma mater) Mr. Wilkins had a twenty-minute interview with President Guy Stantop Ford on conditions affecting colored students and visited other student

Wisconsin U Hits Jim Crow

Madison, Wis., April 11 (CNA)—The University of Wisconsin track team withdrew this week from a triangular meet with Notre Dame and the University of Missouri because of controversy over the entrance of Ed Smith, Wisconsin's star Negro hurdler.

Tom Jones, Wisconsin coach, said Wisconsin's withdrawal was decided upon in a telephone conversation with Don Faurot, athletic director at Missouri. Earlier the University of Wisconsin faculty, had gone on record as opposing the engagement of a university athletic team is barred because of his race.

Marion Anderson Sings for 75,000 People in Open Air

An audience of over 75,000 persons stood spell bound as Marian Anderson, internationally acclaimed contralto, sang from the steps of the Lincoln Memorial Easter Sunday afternoon.

The crowd began to gather around the memorial in front of the 20 feet stature of Abraham Lincoln about two hours before the recital began at 5:00 p. m. Before Miss Anderson arrived the steps and park with persons of both races. The area around the shrine and extended almost completely around the mirror pool.

Ickes Introduces Speaker

Secretary Ickes, host to the vast audience, introduced the singer, his first sentence being "when God gave us this wonderful outdoors and the sun, the moon and the stars. He made no distinction of race or color or creed. And 130 years ago He sent to us on of His truly Great in order that he might restore freedom to those from whom we had disregarded fully taken it." Ickes was speaking of Lincoln.

Miss Anderson began her program with a series of three numbers, the first of which was "America," followed by an aria sung in Italian "O Mio Fernando," from "La Favorita," by Danizetti. Next came Schubert's "Ave Maria," sung in German.

The second part of the concert consisted of spirituals, "Gospel Train," arranged by Burleigh; "Trampin' by Boatner; and "My Soul Is Anchored In The Lord," by Florence Price.

Miss Anderson Speaks

After her concert Miss Anderson, in a voice filled with emotion said, "My friends, unfortunately I am not a speaker. I am just so overwhelmed today that I cannot express myself properly. You don't know what you have done for me. I am sure that I shall always be grateful for your support. The immensity for this affair has had such an effect on me that I am not quite up to a speech.

"I thank you from the bottom of my heart. Again and again I thank you."

Just before leaving the platform, she turned and added:

I want to thank Secretary Ickes, especially, from the bottom of my heart for his excellent work in this affair."

Justice Hugo Black and his wife arrived during intermission and were loudly applauded by the crowd. Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, National Youth Administration official.

Five Held in Coat Theft

James King, James Crowder and Melvin Eubanks, were arrested Saturday and held on the charge of breaking and entering. Burton Vaughn and Guy Woodson were arrested on the charge of concealing stolen property.

King, said to be the ringleader of the group confessed, to the stealing of sixteen coats, most of which were ladies fur, from the home of Mrs. Leo Cato, 1127 12th Street. He told police that he entered through the bedroom window of the house and took the coats. The property is alleged to have been taken over to Vaughn's house in Crowder's car with Melvin Eubanks assisting. All Crowder got out of the deal was a hat and thirty-five cents.

Later the stolen goods were removed to a garage and on Friday taken to a house on Day Street where they were recovered by police.

The thieves were arraigned in the court Tuesday and trial set for April 19. Detectives McGuire and Rich uncovered the robbery.

TEXANS DEFEATED IN ELECTION FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Houston, April 11 (ANP)— Although making a spirited campaign, the group of which was the mysterious burning of a cross on his front lawn, J. B. Grigsby finished eighth, in a field of 17 candidates in Saturday's election for members of the Houston school board.

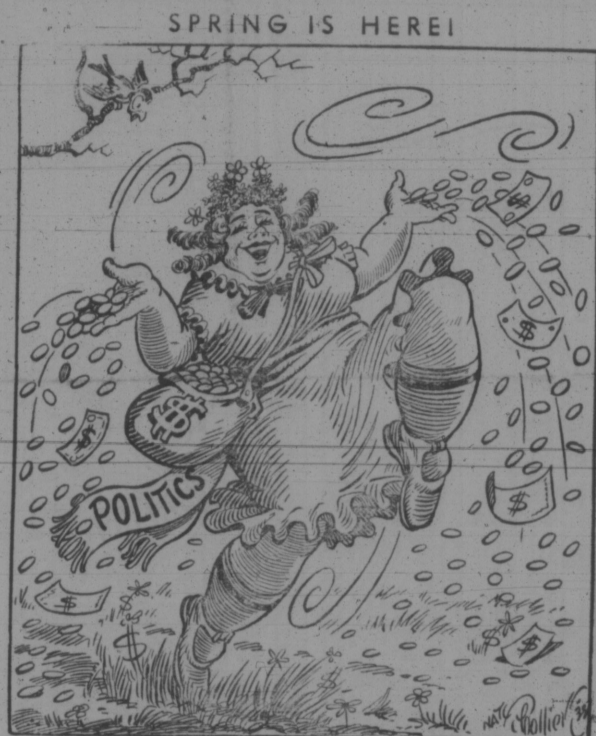

This year's vote, 9,500, was the largest since 1932. All candidates except Grigsby were white. During the heated campaign it was charged that anonymous letters endorsing two white candidates had been sent out on local YMCA stationery. This was denied by the candidates and by YMCA officials.

Urbana, Illinois, April 12 (ANP)

An interesting and comprehensive picture of conditions at the University of Illinois here as they relate to colored students and the reaction of Negroes generally to campus life is embodied in an interview given ANP by Reginald F. Fisher, honor student prominently identified with many extra-curricular activities and member of Tau chapter, Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

Student Fisher's comment is timely because of present agitation for admittance of Negroes to Southern state colleges in accordance with the U. S. supreme court Dec. 8 ruling in the U. of Missouri-Lloyd Gaines case, which ordered Dixie state institutions to either admit Negroes as students or "provide equal educational facilities within the states."

Concerning the notorious Mrs. Strother case, Fisher says she did not figure much in the life of colored students, as her business did not "enter to Negroes." She stands charged with conducting a brothel, recent scene of the alleged fatal shooting of a white student during a brawl.

Conditions at University

What would you find, should you visit U. of Illinois campus and make a study of conditions there? Some of the things Student Fisher lists are as follows: that on the campus constant attempts to secure the interest and participation in campus activities and organizations such as the YMCA, YWCA, University Church foundations, the large number of clubs of the various colleges and interests, the Interfraternity council in which Negro organizations once participated until they lost interest and other activities too numerous to mention meet with almost absolute failure. Also, you would find that at the numerous recitals, concerts, lectures, art exhibits and social functions of various kinds, many of which are free and at many of which world-famous celebrities may be heard, seen and talked to, the Negro students are almost entirely missing.

The Iowa Bystander

Established in 1894
Published in Des Moines, Iowa, Thursday of each week by the Bystander Publishing Company, Room 302, Chemical Bldg., 208 Seventh Street, Dial 3-2822.

THE COOKING SCHOOL

Thursday and Friday of next week, the Bystander will conduct its annual Cooking School and Home Makers' Institute. This project is offered as a service to the community enabling the public to learn modern methods of Homemaking by experts.

A newspaper nor any other business institution should overlook the fact that it owes a duty to the community to perform some public service for the benefit of the people. It has been the policy of the Bystander to fulfill this obligation and this Cooking School is a part of that program.

JUST WHAT CAN WE DO

No sane person in America ought to want this country to enter a war. We hope this is true in Europe, but as the situation stands today no country is immune from becoming embroiled in a conflict.

The dictator countries have become desperate; they take reckless, unlimited chances knowing full well that they have all to gain and nothing to lose. And as a result all other countries are frightened, realizing that war today would be a terrific jolt to civilization and that every means must be used to avoid it.

Of course the mistake was made when dictator nations were permitted to begin this program without any serious opposition from those who are trying to stop them today. Some people still hope for the best but nothing short of death stops a desperado.

STATE JOBS

Upon request of the Iowa legislature a booklet has been issued showing the salaries paid by the state to all of its employees. The list is being published in the Des Moines Tribune. While we realize that the state is a big institution, the list is certainly illuminating. Not that salaries are too high nor the number of employees too many, but if simply surpluses most people, the information produced is valuable.

The thought struck the Bystander that with all these hundreds of jobs, still it takes committees, all the Negro leaders and the support of a dozen white politicians to land one of these places for a Negro. We are more insistent than ever that Negroes have not received adequate consideration for their political activity.

Health Hints

(By Dr. C. R. Bradford)

HEALTHFUL LIVING IMPORTANT FOR NURSING MOTHERS

A quiet state of mind for all nursing mothers is very important. An over-wrought, nervous condition will definitely interfere with the secretion of milk. An over-worked mother will not supply breast milk satisfactorily in either quality or quantity. The mother should have pleasant exercise, out of door life, pleasure, cheerful society and as far as possible be surrounded with things that interest her. She should have from one to two hours sleep in the day, and at least eight hours at night. A busy mother may add to the rest period by lying down, while she is nursing the baby. Plenty of fresh air and sunshine are always desirable.

The amount and kind of exercise should depend upon her habits. Some find a walk beneficial, but a good rule to follow is to exercise only to the point of a sense of pleasant stimulation. A warm bath daily will definitely help body elimination.

DEMONSTRATION SCHOOL By Clara Fant

Two weeks ago my column dealt on the activities of the Crippled Children's Association which is a newly organized body. This week I bring you my interview with Mrs. Margaret Patton, executive secretary of the East Side Community Center on the progress of their Demonstration school. It is connected with the Demonstration School Mother's Club which is a part of the Educational Staff's program.

"The purpose is to teach the mother about the proper care and training of children as well as teaching the children how to play" stated Mrs. Patton. "The children come to school at 9:00 a. m. and are allowed to play until 11:30 a. m. Then lunch is served. The lunches are prepared at home and each mother pays 10 cents a week for soup, cocoa and other small items that are added to their lunch. Then comes their rest period."

At the beginning of this project under Mrs. Patton's administration at the Center there were nine students enrolled. They now have an enrollment of fifteen. The school is under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Holmes, assisted by two N. Y. A. girls.

There is one other in Des Moines at the West Side Community Center where Mrs. Patton secured her idea and also at West Des Moines, Iowa. These schools are for pre-school children. Their hours are 9:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. All mothers with children of this age are cordially invited to cooperate with their nearest community center and help these schools grow.

Meaning of Name Malcolm

Malcolm is a very old name of Celtic origin with the curious meaning "disciple of St. Columba." This Sixth century Irish saint (also called Colm) with his 12 disciples traveled about on missionary work and did a great deal of good, writes Florence A. Cowles in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Malcolm MacDonalld was a king of Scotland in the Tenth century. His grandson, Malcolm MacKenneth (Mac meaning "son of") became king in 1005 and Malcolm MacDuncan Canmore ascended the throne in 1054, on the death of Macsineith, who slew Canmore's father. Yet another Malcolm, called The Maiden, ruled Scotland in the Twelfth century. So the name, popular in Scotland, has a long and honorable lineage.

SPORTS

By Allen Ashby

The sports front was deadlier than confederate money. Even the daily papers are hard pressed for news and we are no daily. The boys are adopting several novel ways of attracting the faithful to the Louis Roper set out on the coast. Reports have it that the posters advertising the fight show pictures of Louis being counted out in the Schmooling fight. The caption reads "It Happened Once-See It Again." There are other posters advertising Roper as the "next heavy-weight champion." Every pound of pressure is being applied and every appeal to race prejudice is being made to insure the sell out crowd. The coast writers no matter what they are thinking are pounding out the idea that Roper really has a good chance. They say he is smart, game and can really punch. They stress the fact that Louis can not take a punch very well, and speculate as to what will happen "if Roper connects." Of course that is all a matter of opinion and it isn't hard to see how the same writers will build Tony Galento up next June. Louis will be pictured as lacking in courage and determination. Galento will become a great puncher, a shrewd, crafty ring general over night and poor Joe just scared stiff! Don't let the stories and the ravings of those who predict only what they wish would happen, bother you. We repeat our former prediction. Three rounds for the Roper-Galento faces together.

Local Fight News

The difficulties of George Bourland operator of the Nu-Life athletic club have been added to George's club is out on the East side, quite a way from town. So the boys open up the old Seventh Street Gym and get everyone to train there. George has had more troubles with his club than a fly in a spider web.

Financial troubles, differences with his fighters, and just one thing after another have added a few gray hairs to his head. But through it all George keeps scuffling. We don't know where he will end, but he can't be called a quitter.

We didn't attend the fights last week, but our scouts tell us that they can't see how George Hoston lost the decision in his fight. They say that he appeared to have much the better of it. Of course the Butler boy who lost to little Paychek was just another lamb led to the slaughter. Hoston appears to be destined to become cast in the same role. If the boy wants to fight for a living, let him get out of Iowa.

V. L. R.—I am a graduate from High School in May and I love music, dramatics, dancing and adventure. I am love hungry too. Do you see any success in any of these things for me? I thank you in advance.

Ans: This summer you will have your longing for love and adventure satisfied. A young man engaged in educational work will be spending the summer months in your little town . . . and will you two have a BIG TIME TOGETHER.

M. O. Where can I order some medicine for pyorrhea of the gums? Ans: Many preparations are on the market for treating gums, but you would be playing safer to call on a dentist and let him treat you as well as prescribe the right kind of medicine.

M. B. R. I have two small grandsons and their father died. My daughter has married again and should I let her have them or must I keep them?

Ans: Keep them if the daughter will permit it, as they have grown attached to you now. If she prefers to have them with her then there is nothing left to do but consent. The children will be well cared for with her and they will no doubt spend a lot of time with you.

A. L. L. I love my church and have made quite a name for myself here, but I have the urge to go away as I am sure that as long as I remain here I will never marry and I would like a home of my own with a nice Christian husband.

Ans: You are mighty deserving of a home and a good husband. A change would do you a world of good. You could take up your church ac-

Benjamin, a Name Given To Many Prominent Men

The name Benjamin, of Hebrew origin, means "son of my strength; son of the right hand; fortunate." The prefix "ben" means "son of," recalls Florence A. Cowles in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Benjamin Franklin (1706-90) statesman, scientist, philosopher, newspaper owner, was the greatest person to bear the name in this country, perhaps best remembered for his discovery that lightning is electricity. Many namesakes has Franklin had, among the most famous being B. F. Keith (d. 1914) founder of a chain of vaudeville theaters.

Benjamin West (1738-1820) one of the founders of the Royal academy, painted his first picture when seven (of his baby sister smiling in her sleep) using colors made of berries and a brush made of hairs from the tail of the family cat. He left about 400 paintings. "The Death of Wolfe," etc.

Benjamin Robbins founded the science of gunnery, devising the first method of measuring the velocity of a cannon ball. Benjamin A. Gould (d. 1895) astronomer, discovered the difference in longitude between America and England.

Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield (1804-81), prime minister of England, was jeered when he made his first speech in parliament. He sat down, saying: "You laugh at me now, but the time will come when you will listen to me." It did. Benjamin Harrison (1833-1901) was the twenty-third President of the United States. The late Benjamin N. Cardozo, was an associate justice of the United States Supreme court.

Beer Was Known to the Man of Stone Age Days

"It is amazing the lengths to which the human race will go to avoid drinking water," observes an official of the Bureau of American Ethnology. According to this authority beer has been found in late Stone Age men's jugs, but distilling came later. The oldest record of it is Aristotle's reference to "burning water." All over the world these drinks have names that mean fire water, not because of the fiery sensation in the throat but because they can be set afire with a light. Speakeasies where people secretly drank tea, coffee and chocolate were a social problem in Europe within recent centuries. These three drinks were introduced into Europe during the exploration era around 1500 A. D. All first were used as drugs and then as habit-forming drinks of supposedly wicked powers. Chocolate, considered the most vicious, was the subject of stringent prohibition laws.

Beer gardens and bars flourished 2,000 years ago. A bar with all the familiar features except the foot rail, was unearthed in ruins of Ostia, seaport of Rome. The bar in Ostia has a marble top, shelves for the stock, a storage cellar for wines, two stone seats for casual customers and a garden at the back where people evidently tarried to drink, since there were bronze hooks on a marble slab for hanging wraps.

Marie Downing BEAUTY AND ROMANCE

SPONSORED BY LARIEUSE BEAUTY FOUNDATION

The Larieuse Beauty Foundation was established by the Godfrey Manufacturing Company to study methods of preserving women's natural beauty, and to make the results of this research available to the public.

The fast tempo of modern living is fine for mass-production and getting things done in a hurry, but it is fatal to the woman who wishes to retain her beauty unless she learns to take the hurly-burly hubbub in her stride. There is no more unlovely word in the English language than "hurry" and there is no one word which causes more unloveliness.

When you get yourself in a jam and have only fifteen minutes to accomplish a half-hour's work, try to remember that you can get things done more easily, more efficiently and more quickly if you go about the whole thing systematically and without rush. Haste not only makes waste of time, it wastes energy, effectiveness and above all, beauty. It is "hurry, hurry, hurry" which puts those little frown lines between your brows, gives you a tight-lipped expression and is a drag on your vitality. Before you know it your nerves are jumping, you are snapping at anyone who is so unfortunate as to come your way and, if you keep up the high tension, you are close to hysteria. Before you know it you will be a tired old woman regardless of your "calendar" age.

Nerves Fatal to Beauty Nerves are deadly enemies of beauty. But you can't, of course, control your nerves simply by saying "I will." You must do something constructive. The next time you have spent the day making yourself and your house look lovely for a special party and are pretty well worn out to start with, make up your mind that no matter what emergencies arise at the last minute, you will not lose your calm. If the dog decides to chew his sunniest bone on your clean slip covers, or the baby spills a bottle of ink on your new dress, take a deep breath before flying into a tantrum. Losing your temper is just a waste of time and strength—and what is worse it etches little lines in your face.

One Working Girl's Formula Not that the little lady at home has a corner on nerves. Think of the working girl whose boss is waiting, hat in hand, for her to finish typing a manuscript to take to an important appointment, while her phone rings incessantly and the rest of the office force choose that moment to ask where she has fled every manner of letter. I know a very wise and efficient young woman who refuses to let those things rattle her. At a time like that, she stops typing—stops doing everything in fact—and stares straight in front of her while she slowly counts to one hundred. She says it does the trick and I am inclined to believe her because she looks as young today as she did when she started working some years ago.

And so the moral of my little sermon today is "Down with nerves." Acquire a calm and untroubled frame of mind and your actions will be equally untroubled. You'll get more done and done better and you'll save a world of wear and tear on yourself. And remember the most beautiful things in nature are calm.

What are your beauty problems? Write Marie Downing, Larieuse Beauty Foundation, Room 521—319 North Fourth St., St. Louis, Mo., and she will be glad to answer them. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Activities some place else just as well as you are doing there and I feel that new acquaintances will bring joy into your life.

T. T. I am contemplating ordering a tombstone from a distance and I wish to know if it would be alright for your own district.

EASY NOW TO CORRECT BAD BREATH

No need to offend others—Listerine, quick deodorant, sweetens breath.

Now there is no excuse for offending others with halitosis (bad breath). The quick, easy treatment to counteract this condition is Listerine. Simply rinsing the mouth with it makes the breath cleaner, sweeter, more wholesome.

Most cases of bad breath, says a dental authority, are caused by fermentation of the food particles the tooth brush has failed to remove.

When Listerine is used to rinse the mouth, it holds fermentation and overcomes the odors it causes.

Smart men and women realize that it is easy to offend others and take the pleasant Listerine precaution against bad breath. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo.

"X" MARKS ONE SPOT WHERE COSTS WERE REDUCED

When Bell System research workers discovered how to attach wires to the telephone receiver by machinery and without solder they saved over $300,000 in the cost of providing telephone service.

This improved process is only one of many Bell System developments which help us improve service and keep down the cost to telephone users. All economies, however, have not offset the great increase in our taxes and wages. With present revenues, it is becoming more difficult to provide the service telephone users require.
