Ask to Alter Health Bill

N. A. A. C. P. WOULD HAVE PROVISIONS INCLUDED TO SAFEGUARD DISTRIBUTION OF HEALTH MONEY TO MINORITY GROUPS

New York, April 18—Amendments to the National Health Act of 1939, which would safeguard the interests of colored Americans were suggested this week by the NAACP.

The health act, which was introduced by Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, February 28, proposes to appropriate eighty million dollars of federal funds the first year to the states to assist them in health work, and to increase the amount annually over a period of years.

ZETA PHI BETA SPONSORS RECREATION CENTER

St. Louis, Mo., April 19 (ANP)—The Zeta chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta sorority is making worthwhile contributions to the community, with a program embracing the following phases: spiritual civic, educational, charitable, sunshine, social and cultural. An interesting feature of the 1939 program is the division of the group into four teams. March 17 the team of which Soror Vivian Hayes is chairman gave a carnival for the benefit of establishing a Xi Zeta scholarship fund.

As its civic program which will embody several phases, the chapter is now sponsor of the Dickson Recreation center, with Soror Carolyn Williams as general chairman. Some of the sorors will serve as teachers at the center.

Burns Closes Church Year

Sunday services at Burns M. E. church brought to a close Rev. J. C. Bain's pastorate during the past sixteen months. He left Tuesday for the annual conference, held this year in St. Louis.

Before coming to Des Moines last February, Rev. Bain was pastoring at Murfreesboro, Tennessee. He is an honor graduate of A and I State College, Nashville and also a graduate of the Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta. Because of his high scholarship he was elected as a member of the Phi Beta Tau Honorary Society, and is also a member of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. At the present, Rev. Bain is doing graduate work at Drake University toward his Master's Degree in Philosophy.

Mrs. Bain is also enrolled in Drake University, and is a classified junior student in the Bible college majoring in Religious Education. She is a pledge of Phi Chapter of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

The H. L. Overton club of Burns church gave a surprise social in honor of Rev. Bain and family Thursday night at the parsonage. Many lovely gifts were given to the family as a token of appreciation.

Members of the church say that one of their most successful years was experienced under Rev. Bain's leadership and they are looking forward to his re-appointment.

Library of Congress Chinese Authority Is a Negro

Washington, April 18 (ANP) With in recent years, research workers in certain industrial plants in the United States have tried to discover what makes Chinese lacquers outstanding in their brilliance and durability. Delving deep into the mysteries of the Orientals, it was found that one of the basic ingredients of these fine lacquers was a substance known as "tung oil." It is derived from a tree of the same name. Where could further information of this valuable subject be obtained.

Upon suggestion, letters were sent to the Library of Congress and found their way to Desk 38, where the chief of the division referred them to a junior librarian, Barry Armstrong Claytor (graduate of Hampton, agriculture, graduate of Howard, law) for information and reply.

Has Experience

Hidden away back in the midst of the Oriental section is this young man, whose rating sheet says "12 years of experience gives him a valuable knowledge of the Chinese language." And quietly he works in his sanctuary, a valuable adjunct to the library and surely a very valuable man to anyone seeking information on the Chinese.

Mr. Claytor is a veteran of the World War. Employed in the library previous to his army service as a messenger, he re-entered the library on his return to the United States, where on the recommendation of a well-known educator he was transferred to the Chinese division. Speaking lightly of his work in the division, Mr. Claytor disclaims any particular knowledge, but his familiarity with the volumes entrusted to his keeping belies any statement he may make concerning his own inability to cope with Chinese language.

Claytor has spent 23 years on the job and on April 8 celebrated his first appointment. Engaged in cataloging, searching of records for unknown Chinese works, assisting readers seeking information, general library work and statistical work, Mr. Claytor has sufficient work to keep him occupied.

CHICAGO WPA HOUSING PROJECT TO BE NAMED 'IDA B. WELLS HOMES'

Chicago, April 19 (ANP)—Swayed by the recommendation of various civic groups and women's organizations, the Chicago Housing Authority, with Robert R. Taylor as the only colored member, this week announced that the WPA low-cost housing project to be built at 87th Street and South Parkway will be named the Ida B. Wells Homes in honor of the colored woman who devoted her life to betterment of her race.

Born in Hollywood Springs, Miss. Ida B. Wells worked her way through Rust College, later taught in the rural schools of the south, then went to Memphis where she founded and edited the Free Speech. During the fight for the Bill of Rights her fiery utterances roused the ire of certain Memphians and one night a mob destroyed her newspaper office. She fled to New York where she became affiliated with Frederick Douglass and later came to Chicago.

Dewey Urged to Enforce Civil Rights Law in N. Y.

New York, April 18—Thomas E. Dewey, New York city's nationally known prosecutor and racket-buster, has been urged by the NAACP to give special attention during the New York World's Fair to the enforcement of the state's civil rights law.

Pointing out that New York City will be host to millions of visitors during the fair, many thousands of whom will be colored, the NAACP suggests that special attention be given to the laws which will insure these visitors enjoyment of the public facilities of New York City without embarrassment.

Charles Buckner, 9, 701 S. E. 11th Street, is suffering serious injuries from an explosion resulting from his dropping a lighted match into the intake pipe of an empty underground gasoline storage tank.

The accident occurred at the former Shell Filling Station, corner of S. E. 6th and Allen Streets, which had been closed for more than a week. The padlocks that had been placed on the intake pipes had been removed and during the noon recess at Curtis public school across the street, Charles was investigating the open intake pipes. He lighted a match and dropped the match. The resulting explosion caused a gravelike hole in the ground beside the station. He is confined in Broadlawn's General Hospital.

Nick and Clyde Weston, indicted bosses of Motion Picture Operators' Local 143 (white) and they reportedly told James the contract between the union and his theatre could be carried out by colored union operators.

Lawrence Whitson, business agent of Motion Picture Operators' Local 143A (the colored union) said his members were taking no active part in the controversy. He said all members of the colored union were employed at present in 10 theatres in St. Louis and East St. Louis. The secretary of the N. A. A. C. P. also urged organizations and individuals to write their senators now, urging them to vote for limitation of debate (cloture) when the bill comes up for consideration in the Senate.

THE BYSTANDER IS GRATEFUL

The Bystander is grateful to all who took part in making the Cooking School possible. It has been a pleasure to cooperate with both the sponsors and the public without neither of which the venture could have succeeded.

Incidentally, the Bystander feels that it is well to call attention to the very fine support that the public is giving the paper. We appreciate that and will continue to improve and serve the people of Iowa. After all the Bystander is a paper printed and published in Iowa by Iowa people.

FIGHTING THE WRONG MAN

The legislature has created a safety department under which has been grouped the highway patrol, bureau of investigation and other inspection departments. Unquestionably this is a good move because it eliminates much duplication and enables better coordination.

Unfortunately most of the force behind the bill was directed toward removing the highway patrol from Secretary of State Miller's office. Some of the bills sponsors were interested in this feature more than in economics and efficiency of the department. But whatever produced the legislation the results are the same.

The Bystander realizes that much of the criticism of Secretary Miller grew out of his policy of replacing workers who had held office under the previous administration with people who had helped him get elected. It was the natural thing to do and no sensible person ought to criticize him for it as long as the office is run in an efficient manner.

There is one among many things the Bystander has admired about Secretary Miller and that is that he has kept his word with his Negro friends. This has not been the case with most of our officials under neither Republican nor Democratic administrations. The sponsors of his campaign said he was of the common people and would see that they got a square deal. He fooled a lot of the so called big folks by securing the nomination in grand style and coming through the general election.

The gang that is fighting Miller just don't poll a lot of votes. We are inclined to believe that their selfishness will just make him stronger with the rank and file of the voters.

EXAMINATIONS FOR PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN

At recent meeting of several organizations cooperating with the Parent-Teacher Associations of Des Moines and Polk County, plans were made for the 1939 Summer Round-up of pre-school children. This campaign will include all children from 1-5 years old. Dates for examinations of children in this group are on Tuesday morning, from 10 to 12 o'clock during the month of May. Avail yourself of this opportunity and have your children examined and given necessary immunizations by your family physician; if you are unable to pay, the same service will be given free at the health center.

A healthy child means a happy family. Let's give our children a chance to be healthy men and women.

Of Interest

By Clara Fant

For your interest this week we have a thumb nail sketch of Mrs. Mattie Dameron's life. Born into the Martha and Ceasar Winston family, Mrs. Mattie Dameron was the third and youngest child. There were two other sisters, Sally, who died at an early age and Barbara. When she was four years old her mother died and four years later, Mr. Winston married Miss Helen Jefferson of Tipton, Missouri, who took over the rearing and education of the two girls. Because of her poor health and the death of her sister, Barbara, Mrs. Dameron did not get to continue her education any further than the 10th grade. Her sister had two children, Fred and Sally, which she took full charge.

In 1885 at the Bethel A. M. E. church at Iowa City, Miss Mattie Winston was married to James T. Dameron, who was the first colored student to enter the Iowa City College of Liberal Arts. To this union was born one child, Helen.

About two years after her birth, Professor and Mrs. Dameron moved to Golconda, Illinois, where Professor Dameron was to take charge of a school. This position had been given him by Atty. S. Joe Brown, who at that time was teaching in Marshall, Texas.

In 1917 Professor and Mrs. Dameron came to Des Moines. For a short time they lived with Mr. Dameron's mother, the late Mrs. Laura Mason, who lived in East Des Moines. In 1926 they moved to the west side at 1127 11th Street, which is their present address.

"The happiest moment of my life was at the birth of my only child, Helen. I wanted a girl, but I think my husband wanted a boy, but we were both happy and pleased even though it was a girl," Mrs. Dameron said.

When asked some of the positions she has held, Mrs. Dameron said, "I was the first matron at the Alpha House for girls at Iowa City. The Dean of Women had decided the colored girls could stay where they worked and had no need for a colored girls home, but told them if they could secure a colored matron to stay with them all the time they could have it. Thus, when Helen came home for me, I closed my home in Indiana and came to Iowa City. Mr. Dameron followed me later."

Because of her poor health, Mrs. Dameron has been unable to attend her church and participate in club activities. She is a former member of the Senior Choir of the St. Paul A. M. E. church, a member of the

Of course nobody expects Hitler and Mussolini to consider the proposal seriously except to explain in language suitable to their constituents why they cannot accept it.

But the Bystander does not believe that President Roosevelt is in a very good position to call on Hitler to talk peace in view of the many denunciatory speeches that he has made about the dictator. It is not easy to induce a fellow to talk peace if you yourself have made him mad before hand.

The fact that the proposal to keep the peace puts Hitler on the spot makes no difference with him. Anything goes as far as he is concerned and undoubtedly his answer on April 28 will bear this out.

S. L. Birt club and of the S. M. N. Social Worker's club.

Mrs. Dameron was dressed in a beautiful flowered wine colored house coat with black and wine house shoes. Reclining in a large sofa chair, she made a charming picture.

TRACK

The Valley Relays finished the chief track news of the week as East High defended her title. Frank Kaiser finished one jump ahead of Jewell Thompson of Oskaloosa in the hundred yard dash, and also anchored the East short relay teams to win. Waley Hill grabbed the high jump honors for North and Jim Morrow evidently didn't care for the low weather so he finished fourth. Harold Miller of East was a broad jump point winner as were Jim Thompson of Roosevelt who also ran on the Blue and White mile Relay Team. Jim placed in the shot put and Claude Elliston made some points in the pole vault.

DRAKE RELAY NEWS

Looks as if Mozzlee Ebrles, of Tuskegee and Ed Smith of Wisconsin will be the chief Negro attractions at the Drake Relays next week. Reports are that Wilber Moore of Compton is becoming quite a short dash man and may be heard from in the century. Western University of Kansas City will bring along Bob Coffman, former Fort Dodge ace sprinter and a lot of others that we will tell you about next week.

to Marshalltown where they fought the finals of the Central State Boxing Tournament. Lawrence Strothers won the flyweight title from a hard punching boy from Oskaloosa. Lawrence was having his troubles in the third round when Bill Heath, Gene Cooley, two young boys from Marshalltown and your writer, aided by the shrill voice of George Bourland Junior, formed a rooting section that yelled down the entire audience that was all white.

Bill Heath fought Gene Cooley who was having his third ring fight and didn't bear down to hard to win the 126 pound class and Wayland Heath really conked some white boy to win the light heavy honors. Heath caught the boy going down, ducking, with a left hook. The boy straightened up and went over backwards on his head, through for the night. George also had two white boys who won titles. Othel Green, a lightweight, and Enos Williams, a heavy-weight. These five champions and a runner up out of eight bouts gave Bourland the team trophy and steak dinners all round.

This week the boys go to Newton and we will go along. Morton Graves, Ozzie Lewis and Wayland Heath fought at a stag party at the Tromar last Monday night. Graves punched Artie Fredrickson, a Newton white boy, silly for three rounds. Ozzie whaled the daylight out of his man and Wayland had his hands full with George Hayes, WHO Golden Gloves Champion. Heath out of condition got tagged pretty hard for awhile, but scored a few tags himself.

The headline professional fight of the week was the fight at Cedar Rapids between Jackie Gans of Des Moines and George Houston of Cedar Rapids, Golden Glove winner. Houston upset Gans after four hectic rounds in a bout that should have been a headline instead of a semi windup.

Can Grow New Coats, Legs
Many creatures of the wild have the power of changing their coats, for when they get too fat for their skin it bursts open and there is a shining new dress underneath. Other animals are able to grow limbs or tails when they lose them.

If a spider has an accident which deprives it of a couple of legs, it soon gets two more in their place. Certain lizards when attacked shed their tails, and as these continue to wiggle after they have left the body, a bird or other enemy usually attacks the tail, while the lizard escapes. Snakes shed their skins, and in places where reptiles are common we often come across their shrunken remains, notes a writer in London Tit-Bits Magazine.

All insects grow in the larva stage. Grubs and caterpillars increase in size by shedding their skins and it is not until they reach full size that they change into the chrysalis stage to emerge eventually as the perfect insect. We sometimes see undersized bees or flies which will not grow larger, because in the larva stage they were probably underfed, or came from a stock which was not robust.

The rattlesnake, a denizen of tropical South America, has a number of cups at the end of its long body. These fit into each other, and the curious rattle is made by their striking together.

When the snake is ready to shed its old coat a new rattle is added with the new dress, but as the older cups fall off when they become worn, the number of rattles does not increase to any great extent. If this snake loses one or more of its main fangs, which are really miniature hypodermic syringes, others grow in their place.

Conestoga Wagon Drivers

The drivers of the early Conestoga wagons rode the left wheel horse. Turning out to the right when meeting another vehicle was more convenient in spite of the fact that it was the custom to pass to the left, as in England. Drivers riding the "lazy board" of the wagon—a board that pulled out and could be ridden when driving from the side of the wagon—preferred turning out to the right when meeting oncoming traffic.

The deep wagon ruts in the single-track roads made by the Conestoga drivers were also followed by other traffic. This explains why vehicles now pass to the right of the road when meeting in the United States, notes a writer in the Indianapolis News. The Conestoga trail was the road from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh where, in 1830, more than 3,000 of these wagons were constantly running. They

Inaugural of First President

On April 30, 1789, George Washington was inaugurated at New York as the first President of the United States. Elected on February 4, he was not officially notified of this fact until April 14, and left his home, Mount Vernon, Va., two days later. Although he wrote that he made the journey "dispatch as possible," he did not reach New York until April 23. In his inaugural address he gave thanks for "the tranquil deliberations and voluntary consent of so many distinct communities," which had brought the new government into being by the ratification of the federal Constitution. The crystallization of public opinion which resulted in this "voluntary consent" was made doubly difficult by the slowness of communication between widely separated parts of the country.

Printing His First Bible

The first Bible printed in the United States in any language was that of John Eliot, the Indian apostle, who in 1661 printed the New Testament and in 1663 the whole Bible with the Psalms in meter, and a catechism, in the Algonquin language. The first complete English Bible printed in America and bearing an American imprint, was the Aitken Bible. The title page reads: "The Holy Bible, newly translated out of the original tongues and with the former translations intelligently compared and revised. Philadelphia, printed and sold by R. Aitken at Popes Head, three doors above the Coffee house in Market street, 1762, approved and recommended by the U. S. Congress, assembled, September 12, 1782."

Just Say Adrenalin

There's dichlorodifluoromethane in your kitchen, even if you don't know it, and there's probably diphenylparaphenylenediamine, and paraisopropoxydiphenylamine and tetramethylthiuramdisulfide in your car. That first jawbreaker is the probable refrigerant in your refrigerator. The next three are curing, or accelerating or anti-oxidizing agents in auto tires. And if the doctor says so, you better get some 3, 4-dihydroxyphenyl methylaminehydrochloride, from the druggist—but say adrenalin—it's easier, says an authority in the Philadelphia Record.

Old Lith. BY Prints

Return of Development

The record of American development would be incomplete without the lithographic advertising prints of the Nineteenth century. Although originally published to be given away by the company or business man whose name they bore, they are not of inferior work and, in some instances, are the only pictorial records of their kind.

Although generally disregarded by collectors, these advertisements supply graphic information as to what was happening in the United States during the lithographic period, writes Thomas Hamilton Ormsbee in American Collector. For instance, the English print makers depicted many coaching scenes in their sporting subjects; practically all of the American prints showing this mode of transportation were brought out to spread the reputations and gain coach lines.

Clearly shown, many of the most interesting phases of the gold rush development would be totally lacking were it not for the prints issued for advertising purposes. Further, one has only to observe the commercial information contained in the titles of some of the clipper ship and early steamship prints to realize that they must have originally been produced as advertisements and distributed as such.

Stonehenge Riddle Dates

From the Fifth Century

The imagination of American visitors to the British Isles has been captured in recent years by the mystery of Stonehenge, one of the most baffling of all archeological riddles.

Ten miles from Salisbury, the huge stone pillars and beams may be viewed by the public. All around is a great plain, treeless, and almost uninhabited, relates a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

Some scientists say Stonehenge dates from the Fifth century, others believe it was built in the Neolithic age, and still others consider it a temple of the Bronze age. It has been observed that on midsummer day the sun rises in line with the avenue of stone, and this has given rise to the theory that it was a temple built by sun worshipers, one estimate placing its construction at 1680 B. C.

When complete, Stonehenge consisted of two circles, enclosing two stone rows in a horseshoe position. The outer circle is slightly more than 100 feet in diameter and consists of 30 upright stones (16 of which are still in position), each having large lintels. The inner circle, nine feet distant, originally consisted of 30 smaller stones, 19 of that congress shall have power "to promote the progress of science and the useful arts by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive rights to their respective writings and discoveries." The first act of congress, passed April 10, 1790, placed the granting of patents in the hands of the secretary of state, the secretary of war and the attorney general. Thomas Jefferson, as secretary of state, personally examined many petitions for patents. By act of July 4, 1836, the patent office was established under a commissioner of patents and the general outline of the patent law fixed. When the department of the interior was established by act of March 3, 1849, the patent office was transferred to its jurisdiction. On April 1, 1925, it was, by executive order of President Coolidge, transferred to the department of commerce.

Ball, 'The Enchanted Isle'

Ball, "the enchanted isle," belongs to the Dutch East Indies and is separated from the island of Java, to the west, by a narrow strait. It is about 85 miles long and 55 miles wide, has an area of 2,995 square miles and a population of over 1,500,000. The inhabitants, who are Brahmans in religion, are skilled agriculturists, and gold and iron workers. The territory is the scene of the most terrible superstitions, and many visitors.

Use of Gregorian Calendar

Britain was neither first nor last to adopt the Gregorian calendar. The modern calendar was promulgated by Pope Gregory XIII in 1582 and adopted at once by Spain, Portugal and part of Italy, the remainder of the Catholic world soon following. Great Britain adopted the new style in 1752 and Sweden and Russia about the same time. But Russia clung to the Julian calendar until after the 1917 revolution and the Greek church did not give it up until 1923.

Piratical Emblem

The marine research society of Salem, Mass., says that it has no exact information as to how the name Jolly Roger originated, but it was in use as early as 1720, when it was employed by Captain Robert Roberts. In early times Roger was a canting term for rogue, and a Jolly Roger, therefore, would have its meaning as a jolly rogue.

Ride in Sleeping Cars

Once Not So Pleasant

There was a time when trains were crude and even sleeping car equipment was far from what it was made later, according to a railroad employees' magazine. In the early days of the sleeping car, a journey on one was regarded as a hazardous undertaking, and a medical journal of that period carried this bit of advice for those intending to "sleep on the cars."

"For men, a light cap, one that will cover the ears, so as to serve as a nightcap, will be desirable. In cold weather, a woolen cap is best. This cap should be put on as soon as the car is entered. A loose blouse should take the place of the coat usually worn. If there is a draught in the car, face it; do not let it strike the back. Have the bed made with the head toward the engine; the dust will then be driven to the foot where it will do the least harm. But be sure to have sufficient quantity of bedclothes to keep warm."

"A soft, loose-knit woolen hood is the best headwear for women; this should be worn at night also. It should be warmer in winter than in summer months. The corsets should be removed at night and a loose woolen wrapper worn for the night-dress. The stockings supporters, as well as every constricting band around the waist, should be loosened. Every adult should take from five to ten grains of quinine on going to bed. It will be well to rub the hands, feet, face and neck with a little vaseline at the same time."

One-Time Papal Throne

Is a Magnificent Palace

High above the strong, swift tide of the Rhone, at Avignon, in southern France, there stands the Palais des Papes, the most magnificent and imposing structure of its kind in the world. It was built in the fourteenth century, mostly during a period of 25 years. The walls are 13 feet thick.

There are 39 towers to the Palais

one of the huge Romanesque edifices, part of it merging into the fortress-chapel guarding the famous Pont d'Avignon, (and the road to the Mediterranean, incidentally,) reigning proudly over the beautiful Rhone valley with its verdant, fertile plains, makes the turbulent days of medieval France seem real, relates a writer in the Los Angeles Times.

Avignon is within a few miles of the French Riviera and accessible to the many medieval Roman towns of southern France, all of which present a never-ending pleasure to the traveler.

The building of the Palais des Papes was really begun by Benedict XII and finished 25 years later by Innocent VI, after Clement VI had added the beautiful conclave gallery, the Pontifical chapel and the audience chamber, as well as rebuilding the church of his former abbey, La Chaise Dieu, in the Forez mountains. Here he also built his own magnificent monument.

Mediterranean the 'Great Sea'

There is only one sea that has been contemporary with all history. The Mediterranean has been "the great sea" ever since the dawn of civilization. The ancient nations that ruled the waves—the Phoenicians, Carthaginians, Greeks, Romans and Venetians—were all Mediterranean peoples. Nearly everything we boast of in this age can be traced back to the seeds of culture planted by those peoples, matured under their guidance, and then transplanted to more barbaric lands.

As an amusement for the people of the city of Fulton, Mo., the new Fulton Market will be the largest entertainment structure ever constructed. It will contain shops, restaurants, village, shaded rest spots, secondary streets and plazas to handle more than 250,000 fun-seekers.

One huge theater-restaurant alone will have seats for 5,000. Another music auditorium will seat 2,500. An amphitheater to contain huge crowds will be built by the state of New York at a cost of $1,500,000; erected at the head of one of the lakes it will be the scene of operas, aquatic exhibitions, pageants and other extravaganzas.

The visitor to the Fair will walk about two miles merely to pass through the amusement section which will be laid out in the form of an oval loop with no "dead end" streets.

The 250-acre tract will be divided into at least thirteen villages or zones and every concession will conform in design and atmosphere to the particular zone in which it is located.

An example will be the "Little Old New York" village, where the theater will be a replica of the famous old Park theater, the principal cafe will duplicate Steve Brodie's saloon and the attendants will dress in character. All architecture will be attuned to that picturesque period. Admission to the zones will be free.

Demand for Meat as Old As Most Ancient People
In the story of food, meat is of prime importance. For thousands of years, men have eaten meat, bought meat, traded for meat, hunted for meat, and fought for meat.

The demand for meat is as old as the human race. Old China enjoyed roast pork and sausages before the dawn of the Christian era. In all countries, meat is a highly valued article of food.

We Americans are hearty meat eaters. It takes 142 pounds of meat each year, per person, to satisfy us. More than 47 per cent of this meat is pork and 48 per cent is beef and veal. Poultry and eggs, too, are produced on nearly 6,000,000 farms of this country, to the extent of billions of pounds, asserts an authority in the Wisconsin Agriculturist.

In our plans for securing a supply of meat, we have come a long way from the time when the head of the house went out with club or spear to hunt the wild game. The gigantic job of supplying meat for our table is so carefully planned and these plans so thoroughly carried out that scarcely any

Old Lith. Prints
The record of American development would be incomplete without the lithographic advertising prints of the Nineteenth century. Although originally published to be given away by the company or business man whose name they bore, they are not of inferior work and, in some instances, are the only pictorial records of their kind.

Although generally disregarded by collectors, these advertisements supply graphic information as to what was happening in the United States during the lithographic period, writes Thomas Hamilton Ormsbee in American Collector. For instance, the English print makers depicted many coaching scenes in their sporting subjects; practically all of the American prints showing this mode of transportation were brought out to spread the reputations and gain passengers for individual stage-coach lines.

Clearly shown, many of the most interesting phases of the gold rush development would be totally lacking were it not for the prints issued for advertising purposes. Further, one has only to observe the commercial information contained in the titles of some of the clipper ship and early steamship prints to realize that they must have originally been produced as advertisements and distributed as such.

Ride in Sleeping Cars

Once Not So Pleasant

There was a time when trains were crude and even sleeping car equipment was far from what it was made later, according to a railroad employees' magazine. In the early days of the sleeping car, a journey on one was regarded as a hazardous undertaking, and a medical journal of that period carried this bit of advice for those intending to "sleep on the cars."

"For men, a light cap, one that will cover the ears, so as to serve as a nightcap, will be desirable. In cold weather, a woolen cap is best. This cap should be put on as soon as the car is entered. A loose blouse should take the place of the coat usually worn. If there is a draught in the car, face it; do not let it strike the back. Have the bed made with the head toward the engine; the dust will then be driven to the foot where it will do the least harm. But be sure to have sufficient quantity of bedclothes to keep warm."

"A soft, loose-knit woolen hood is the best headwear for women; this should be worn at night also. It should be warmer in winter than in summer months. The corsets should be removed at night and a loose woolen wrapper worn for the night-dress. The stockings supporters, as well as every constricting band around the waist, should be loosened. Every adult should take from five to ten grains of quinine on going to bed. It will be well to rub the hands, feet, face and neck with a little vaseline at the same time."

By Ferry to Sweden
Sweden and Denmark lie nearer to each other than many people realize. At some places in northern Denmark you can go to Sweden in 20 minutes by ferry, and the Swedish coast is distinctly visible from Elsinore in Denmark.

Avignon is within a few miles of the French Riviera and accessible to the many medieval Roman towns of southern France, all of which present a never-ending pleasure to the traveler.

The building of the Palais des Papes was really begun by Benedict XII and finished 25 years later by Innocent VI, after Clement VI had added the beautiful conclave gallery, the Pontifical chapel and the audience chamber, as well as rebuilding the church of his former abbey, La Chaise Dieu, in the Forcuz mountains. Here he also built his own magnificent monument.

Mediterranean the 'Great Sea'
There is only one sea that has been contemporary with all history. The Mediterranean has been "the great sea" ever since the dawn of civilization. The ancient nations that ruled the waves—the Phoenicians, Carthaginians, Greeks, Romans and Venetians—were all Mediterranean peoples. Nearly everything we boast of in this age can be traced back to the seeds of culture planted by those peoples, matured under their guidance, and transplanted to more barbaric lands.

Use of Gregorian Calendar
Britain was neither first nor last to adopt the Gregorian calendar. The British calendar was first suggested by Pope Gregory XIII in 1582 and adopted at once by Spain, Portugal and part of Italy, the remainder of the Catholic world soon following. Great Britain adopted the new style in 1752 and Sweden and Russia clung to the Julian calendar until after the 1917 revolution and the Greek church did not give it up until 1923.

Piratical Emblem
The marine research society of Salem, Mass., says that it has no exact information as to how the name Jolly Roger originated, but it was in use as early as 1720, when it was employed by Captain Roberts. In early times Roger was a slang term for rogue, and a Jolly Roger, therefore, would have its meaning as a jolly rogue.

Just Say Adrenalin
There's dichlorodifluoromethane in your kitchen, even if you don't know it, and there's probably diphenylparaphenylenediamine, and paraproxydiphenylamine and tetramethylthiuramdisulfide in your car. That first jawbreaker is the probable refrigerant in your refrigerator. The next three are curing, or accelerating or anti-oxidizing agents in auto tires. And if the doctor says so, you better get some 3, 4-dihydroxyphenyl methylamine, from the druggist—but say "adrenalin"—it's easier, says an authority in the Philadelphia Record.

A. C.—Are the tales which my sister and kids tell about my man friend true?

Ans: There seems to be some basis for truth in the tales which have been told you concerning the man. More than a little will remain as truth after shaving off a few corners of exaggerations. I would like to suggest that you go back to your home city this Summer, even if only for a visit.

Lonesome Lover—I have been going with a girl for nine years. I have made numerous attempts to quit her, but each time I come back. Has she got me trickled?

Ans: No... she does Not have you tricked, neither could she do so if she wishes to. But she certainly does have you eating out of her hand. Your failure to stick to your decision is due to your will power. So long as you are willing to be a mouse, instead of a Man, she will continue to use you for a good thing.

M. L. C.—I am a constant reader of your column and it really tickles me the way you get folks told. Is my boy friend as serious as he pretends and will we ever marry?

Ans: Within a period of ONE YEAR you will be Mrs. F. D. Jr.

O. J.—Please tell me will this idea I have in mind ever bring me success and tell me just what to do about it?

Ans: This little idea of yours will cost a small fortune to put over. Your only hope, then, is to secure the backing of someone with influence and capital. You can't ever hope to handle this thing entirely by yourself... see if you can't interest the right party to back you.

G. K.—God told me in a dream to write and ask you if I should sell my home and move to California?

Ans: You certainly had an unusual dream. My advice would be to keep your home. You don't know anything about California and don't know a soul out there. You have a little cash in the bank. Why don't you take an excursion trip to the Worlds Fair in San Francisco and you could find out for yourself what life in California was like.

"SWEET SIXTEEN" A Column for You Alone

The time has come, I think, for the teen-age girl to come into her share of the limelight. We've concerned ourselves with the woman of forty, the housewife, the working girl, and the thirty-year-old, but "sweet sixteen" has been left to them. So we will devote this column entirely to her.

Your Charms Are Natural

Many years ago someone gave me this bit of advice which I am going to pass on to you. Just because you are in high-school now or possibly even on the verge of graduating and are allowed to go out at night and have "real dates" don't imitate your "elders" too much. There's time enough to be "grown up." Your youth is your biggest drawing card. If you will only realize it. Don't cover your fresh young skin with thick coatings of make-up. A light dusting of powder and a faint tracing of lipstick should be sufficient to set off your youthful charms. Wait until you are a little older to use mascara and eye shadow. Your eyes are clear and sparkling enough without artificial aids.

Now is the time to build up habits of cleanliness and beauty which will serve you well in later years. Make it a rule never to let stale make-up clog your pores. Always cleanse your skin thoroughly before "doing your face over." And never, never go to bed without first removing your make-up. One good cream should be sufficient for the teen-age girl, both for cleansing and lubricating.

Start Your Routine Now Start taking care of your hands now. Get a good hand-lotion to keep them smooth and soft. Scrub them thoroughly with a nail brush. File your nails with an emery board rather than with a steel file. And use your colored polishes, pale shades are more youthful and appropriate for the school girl than the brighter shades.

Set aside a special time to brush your hair and stick to it. If you keep it faithfully, it will become a habit that will stay with you through the years and reward you with healthy shining hair. Watch your diet. The growing girl has a tendency to prefer sweets and starches to the exclusion of all else. Eat plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables and drink lots of water. Proper diet can become as much a habit as anything else.

And get at least eight hours sleep. Everything seems so new and exciting when you are sixteen that it is hard to waste time sleeping. But actually it is time well spent. You can't burn the candle at both ends and expect to remain always fresh and charming. Try to be sensible. Remember, if you take care of yourself, you will stay young and lovely much longer.

What are your beauty problems? Write Marie Downing, Larieuse Beauty Foundation, Room 521 — 319 North Fourth St., St. Louis, Mo., and she will be glad to answer them. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

County Relief, was guest speaker. Mrs. Joan Bullock was in charge of the program. The next meeting of the club, will be Monday night with a social meeting and Mrs. Pearl Thompson as hostess.

The April meeting of the City Federation of Colored Women's clubs will meet Friday night at the center. All members please be present. The Drake Keyes will hold their regular meeting Saturday night at the Y. W. C. A. It is urgent that all members be present.

TWO INTERNATIONAL "Y" SECRETARIES ADDRESS LOCAL GROUPS

Delegates from five middlewestern states were in attendance at the North Central Area Y. M. C. A. conference, which convened in the city last Friday and Saturday at Hotel Savery and the Central "Y" building. Tracy Strong of Geneva, Switzerland, International General Secretary, made the main address on Saturday evening's program, giving in graphic detail the turbulent state of affairs in Central Europe and their effect on foreign Y. M. C. A. work. Judge Eskill C. Carlson, president of the National Y. M. C. A. Council, discussed the present status of Association work in the United States in a talk before the conference at Friday's luncheon meeting. J. E. Sprich of New York City, National Council program secretary, also spoke at several sessions of the conference. Several members from Crocker Street Branch attended the sessions.

A campaign for the raising of funds by local Y. M. C. A.'s for the support of foreign work was inaugurated at a dinner meeting at the Central "Y" Thursday evening of this week. Walter C. Carter, for twenty years general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Mexico City, Mexico, was the speaker of the evening. Crocker "Y's" pledge of $25 to World Service will be subscribed in conjunction with the regular finance campaign in October.

BALL MEETINGS SCHEDULED

Three softball meetings for as many leagues have been called for this week to map out plans for the coming season. Junior league managers and captains will meet at the "Y" Monday evening to enter teams and discuss rules and adopt a schedule. Tentative plans call for the playing of junior league games on Saturday mornings until the close of school, and then three days a week to the end of the season.

The meeting of senior league representatives has been set for Friday evening to complete the setup for the season. Two senior hoops will be operated if last year's number of ten team's is exceeded. Games will again be played on the West High Stadium and Amos Hiatt diamonds. If a sufficient number of entries warrant, an intermediate league will be organized at a meeting called for Wednesday night. All meetings are scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

"Y's DOINGS"

A grand job of radioacting was turned in by Allen Ashby, Crocker "Y" board member and athletic official on Gayle Hayes' sports slants program over KSO Saturday night. George Robinson, associate "Y" secretary and former star Drake U. sprinter, is coming along in fine shape with his North High School track squad and expects great things of his boys before then end of the season. Lawrence Strothers, classy little flyweight, came through to win his first title at Marshalltown last week in the Central Iowa tournament.

CHURCH TRUSTEE FEDERATION

Rapid progress has been made toward the federation of the several church trustee boards of the city for mutual aid and development. At a meeting held last Thursday evening representatives of Mt. Olive Baptist, Union Baptist, Kyle A. M. E. and Burns Church prepared an outline of the organizations program. The meeting was addressed by the Rev. John C. Bain. The next meeting will be at Union Baptist Church Thursday evening May 11th. A cordial invitation is extended to the members of Des Moines Church trustees.

FIVE PRIZES HAVE BEEN WON FOR ACTS

The winning of the 2nd prize of the "Pep and Pepper Steppers" dance act of the East Community Center and the 3rd prize for the one act playlet, "Sokta" by the Little Theatre group makes the 5th prize won by acts for the Delta Theta Sorority "Jabberwock" that were directed by Mrs. Gertrude North, WPA traveling Dramatic Supervisor of the Recreational Project. Former prizes were two first prizes by the Mary Church Terrell Jr. club and first prize by the H. Q. B. club.
