Building Service Strike Ends After 5 Weeks

Men on Picket Duty Since August 2 Have Opportunity to Collect Public Opinion

The five-week strike of a group of building service employes at Younkers was settled Thursday morning. The store and the union came to an agreement on a contract that will be drafted later. The picket line was disbanded after an early morning conference at the home of Henry Frankel, president of the Younker Brothers, at which the agreement was reached between a committee from the building trades union and negotiators for the store. The agreement calls for the renewal of last year's contract for building service employes—but there will be some new contract provision. "If I had a dollar for every step I have taken while on picket duty since August 2, I would be a wealthy man," was the opinion of one of the strikers who had been walking back and forth in front of the Younker's store carrying signs that "this store is unfair to Building Service Employes," a member of the A. F. of L. union. Each man or woman picket walked one block on one-half hour duty for about three or four hours a day. An estimate of the steps taken is a problem of mathematics that should have been sent to the radio character, "Professor Quiz," to figure. Thousands of Steps One man on picket duty made 340 steps in one trip; 14 trips during an hour or 4-760 steps; approximately four hours per day or 19,040 steps; for at least 30 days since the strike began, or 571,200 steps. Some pickets while on duty under the rays of a 100-degree sun did not feel the heat of the sun as keen as they did the favorable or unfavorable comment of some passerby—some person who favored or disfavored the union or the duty of the strikers. "More discouraging remarks came from our people," one man remarked. "Some who know nothing about the unions or their purposes have taken public stands against us—and they have nothing to offer for or against our problems." One small-stature man was quite pleased because he had added seven pounds to his weight. Comments From Public "One guy will tell me to get off the street and go to work while right behind him another will encourage me to stick—fight on for my rights. The percentage for and against us is about fifty-fifty," was the consensus of opinion. One picket said if it had not been for the peace of the union that had to be preserved he would have "mashed-in several faces and wiped up the sidewalk with their leavings," after some unsolicited remark from one or two not yet acquainted with the abolition laws. Among the frequent favorable comments ran like this: "Stay out there because the understanding public is with you." To lend encouragement to his members' Burns Methodist minister conducted private prayer service with his members involved in the strike. Ninety percent of the white strikers' say: "Stick to it. We are behind you," another striker said and added, "they are proving it in action. They see it that we get the necessities of life—and a little money each week to 'carry us on.'" "I've got plenty of shoes and I feel just like I did on the first day," were words of another.

HAS HOPE

Paris—The "King of Kings," Haile Selassie, hears cheering news from loyal Ethiopians who are waging a guerrilla campaign against the invaders. News of the most disaster that has yet befallen Italian armies in the still unfinished struggle for Ethiopia for national independence has just leaked through the strict censorship imposed from Rome on all news coming from the East African country.

Let The School Bells Ring, Floyd Calvin Noted Writer Dies in N. Y.

Washington (By Mary McLeod Bethune for ANP)—We often overlook the real thing in life and chose the shadow. I am particularly interested in knowing whether young people realize the why of education and the fundamental objectives and reasons why we have schools. In a Democracy young people should give more time to the choice of a vocation and a study of the great social and economic changes which are taking place before their very eyes. More attention should be given to the old adage of "Know thyself," what are your aptitudes, interests and specific abilities and how do these relate to the law of supply and demand in my chosen field of work? Why do I go to school? Youth must ever keep before them a reason for doing things which places the ideal on the mountain deep where the air is pure and clean, but comes down into the valley to work with men. Keep your feet on the ground.

These are golden days and my daily touch with "Youth" makes my later years grow lighter because I have faith in Negro youth. These are challenging times, depressions, recessions, fascism, communism, nazism and a host of threats to democracy. They should fill our blood streams with added men of war to defend our democratic ideals. Bells, those school bells, haunt me as I greet Negro youth, answering the call of "back to school." I am happy to salute you for I know you will keep the faith of the fathers and return to school days with new energies, to answer the why do I go to school, with a determined effort to fit your lives to the world in which you live for service and an advancing human cause; to bring the ideal and the practical nearer together and to do in social action what has been done in science, the ultimate goal, the conservation of human resources and the reality of the democratic concept of a way of life.

New York—Floyd J. Calvin, editor of the Calvin's news service, died Friday morning at Medical Center and Neurological Institute, at the age of 37. The veteran newspaper man had been ill seven weeks and in the hospital the last three. A brain tumor and blood clot complications were reported the cause of the editor's death. Born July 13, 1902, in Washington, Ark., he was a prominent figure and known throughout the country having toured the United States visiting schools, colleges—and businesses while working as a feature writer. His news service will be carried on by his heirs and the New York staff of the Calvin news service.

Baptists To East & West For Parleys

Philadelphia—Special trains from the East, West, North and South unloaded thousands of Baptists here Monday and Tuesday for the annual meeting of the National Baptist convention, Inc., which opened sessions on September 6 at the Convention hall. Dr. L. K. Williams, president, delivered his annual sermon to the Baptist brotherhood. In spite of the fact that Father Divine and his host plan to meet at Philadelphia at the same time, it is believed by leaders that it will in no wise lessen the attendance of the Baptist group. Another feature of the convention will be the publication of a daily paper which will publish those ministers and churches that represent in this session of the convention. The Woman's Auxiliary of the convention is being led by Mrs. S. W. Layten of Philadelphia while

Tots Enjoy State Fair

The families of Masseys, Lewises and Kemps were much upset last week and early Wednesday morning when two small sons in each of the families had been missing all day. Alarmed at midnight when they did not find any traces of their offspring the police department was notified, and began a search for six small boys, between the ages of 4 and 8. All were much relieved when a motor car drove up in front of their doors and the voices of young Kenneth and Robert Kemp, Ronald and Donald Lewis and two Massey children got out, sleepy, tired and cold. They had walked to the State Grounds and spent the day seeing the sights. It was 2 a. m. when Miss Doñaelva Mackay, returning to her home from work, recognized her small neighbors as they shivered and stumbled along Nineteenth and University, walking home from the State Fair.

Pope Pius To Consecrate Two Bishops

New York (CNA)—The consecration of two African Negro Bishops by Pope Pius XII at Rome next October will mark a new policy of the Catholic Church "for areas in which the population is not of the white race," according to speakers at the annual convention here at the Hotel Commodore here of diocesan directors of the Society for Propagation of the Faith. Mgr. Thomas J. McDonnell, national director of the Society, told the delegates: "The church is ever becoming more conscious of the fact that her work will only become effective when she is established upon a permanent basis in each country with her own native clergy ruled by a native hierarchy." Appointment of the two Africans, Bishop-elect Joseph Kiwanuka of Masaka, Uganda, East Africa, and Bishop-elect Ignace Ramarosandra of Miaranarivo, Madagascar, was announced several weeks ago by the Vatican. Mgr. McDonnell said they probably would be consecrated on Oct. 16, or at least before Mission Sunday, Oct. 22.

PROVE ALL RACES HAVE SAME SKIN COLOR PIGMENTS

Cambridge, Mass. (ANP)—A thorough, scientific study of human skin colors, now being conducted at Massachusetts Institute of Technology under direction of Dr. Edward A. Edwards of Harvard Medical School and Dr. S. Quimby Duntley of MIT, has revealed some hitherto unknown facts concerning pigmentation. Regarded as outstanding among their findings, declared the scientists, is proof that all races have the same five color pigments and that variations in skin color are due to the proportions in which they are blended.

Whites Stone Negro Home

Covington, Ky. (ANP)—A crowd of disgruntled whites, totaling 3,000 during the evening, last Tuesday night milled in front of the newly-acquired home of Andrew McIntosh in the Byrd street "white district" and did considerable damage to the house before being dispersed by police. A fusillade of rocks was thrown at the house, mostly by youths, it was said, but the family had left before the stoning started at 8 o'clock. McIntosh, his wife and 11 children had moved in last Monday, which immediately angered his white neighbors. A formal protest was made on Wednesday to Mayor Henry A. Knollmann, by a committee representing the neighborhood. Police Chief Schild said that the Covington Housing commission had recently purchased several houses at a site set aside for low-cost Negro housing project, McIntosh faintly, it

National Negro Business Men Make Encouraging Report of Progress at Session

Oklahoma City (ANP)—Thrilled by the liberal and encouraging address of Gov. Leon C. Phillips of Oklahoma and the rising tide of interest in the practical development of business among Negroes, exhibited by the large delegation of business men who came from widely scattered sections of the country, members of the National Negro Business league ended its 39th annual session here Thursday night. Nearly 200 members were enrolled, the largest number in recent sessions. Oklahoma City had been deliberately selected for the meeting because one of the most thriving

Negro business communities in the country exists here. C. C. Spaulding of Durham, N. C., the beloved president of the organization, resigned because of his physician's orders. Mr. Spaulding, amid a rising vote of thanks and appreciation from the great gathering, pledged his unwavering loyalty to the organization, and his continued activity in the less arduous office of president emeritus, to which he was elected. Dr. J. E. Walker, Memphis insurance executive was elected president. Governor Phillips, speaking in the beautiful municipal auditorium, gave hearty praise to the Negroes of Oklahoma as he welcomed the league to the state and expressed pride in their accomplishments. Roscoe Dunjee, in presenting the governor, had spoken of the liberality of white Oklahomans, pointing to the fact among other things that both senators and every congressman had supported the Wagner anti-lynching act. Governor Phillips said there was no need for such an act while he was governor, since he was elected by and was serving all the people of the state, and would use every ounce of the police power to pro-

PROPAGANDA AGENTS BUSY

Now that the war is on in Europe, agitation has started already to fix the blame for it. And Hitler has talked and bluffed so much already, that a lot of people chuck full of theory are placing the blame on England and France.

Those arguments come principally from those people who cherished and fought for the League of Nations; who argue that the peace terms of the World War were too severe and that Germany was driven to desperation by those terms.

True, the peace terms were severe but practical people know that Germany had them coming. The central powers acted like mad criminals killing women and children at will and destroying an untold amount of property of France and Belgium and yet some people think Germany should have been dealt with like Sunday school children.

The situation reminds us of the propaganda agents who to this date are complaining about the mistreatment of Confederate soldiers and the destruction of property they attempted to preserve, by the Union army during the Civil war, all of which happened more than seventy years ago. And still the book, "Gone With the Wind," along with many twisted thinkers are keeping up the struggle to prove that everything the Union soldiers did was wrong.

It further reminds us of the German machine gunners during the World War who killed all the allied soldiers they could during the great drives and when they found they could kill no more and were about to be captured, held their hands up and begged the advancing soldiers for mercy.

The Bystander would like to know why a defeated people whose cause was wrong, but who were losers at war, should be placed in any better position than the criminal who goes out, robs and beats his victim and when the law catches him not only asks for mercy but complains that the penalty provided by law is too severe.

No, the trouble is that Germany thinks she can whip the world and has tried it several times. There is no use fooling ourselves about them further. The blame is not on Hitler's shoulder alone; he has a lot of help otherwise he could not carry as he does.

War is a terrible thing. Nobody other than the fellow who has actually been in it can fully appreciate that fact. Germany should be left where it cannot repeat its periodical efforts to conquer the world.

BACK TO SCHOOL

This month, millions of students will return to their schools for the first time. Living in a country where educational advantages are available generally we do provide greater advantage over people of many lands for which America should be thankful.

With employment conditions at a low ebb during the past few years, many have become discouraged thinking it useless to take advantage of the splendid educational facilities offered in our schools. This is a mistake and while everybody can't go to college no child ought to grow up without a normal educational preparation necessary to enable him to be a good citizen in his community.

IS YOUR CHILD JUST BEGINNING IN SCHOOL?

By Dr. C. R. Bradford

Those children who start to school this fall for the first time should have the advantage of all preventive medicine possible. A reasonable routine would be to begin protection against smallpox, diphtheria and whooping cough between the ages of 6 mo. and 1 yr. or even earlier when necessary, against scarlet fever before entering school, and against typhoid in the face of a threatened outbreak.

Proper diet and good health habits are essential for growing children when starting to school the minimal daily diet for a healthy growing child should include 1 1/2 pt. milk, a generous supply of vegetables, fruits, and fruit juices, especially orange or tomato, an egg or two, a moderate amount of meat, cereal and breadstuffs, water in sufficient quantities and cod liver oil or its equivalent.

Good habits should be taught at home such as regular schedules for eating and bodily evacuations, regular times for play, rest and sleep, bodily cleanliness, care of teeth, training in obedience and cooperation, social adjustments and numerous other details of living. All that has been written tends to emphasize the importance of properly caring for the child entering school in order that he or she may grow to be healthy men and women. This is not only a problem of the school teacher but the greatest burden should rest on the father and mother where the fundamentals of these things should be taught leaving to

GRAVES AND ROBINSON WIN STATE BOXING TITLES

We missed our clean sweep of state boxing titles by one last Monday. Morton Graves headed the list. He established himself as the class of the featherweights. Included in the list were the boys who have fought in Golden Glove bouts around state and—Morton came through by whaling the tar out of Martin Fredrickson. Previously he punched Johnny Dudley of Albia full of holes while Fredrickson was working his finish over Bill Heath. Bill who really should have been a bantamweight just can't whip Fredrickson. Only Clayton Johnson of Sioux City has any right to dispute Graves. Claims to complete state honors, Louie Taylor, twice W. H. O. feather champ, was under suspension and Graves holds a win over him.

the teacher the job of further developing these good traits. If your child has not had all of these advantages begin now to give them to him.

Eddie Robinson took the flyweight honors after having quite a session with a boy from Newton in his semi-final bout. Ozzie Lewis had real scuffle on his hands with a clever boy, Jack Duree from Oskaloosa. Ozzie came out first for the welter weight crown and the white spectators couldn't take it, although, there was no question as to Ozzie's superiority.

Archie Greenlee who sort of scored a surprise win over R. C. Nord last week ran into too many left hands and lost his light heavyweight bout for that title. Greenlee also had a good left but the white boy's packed a little more power.

A Winterset former, Maurice Cleveland, trained all winter to get even with Don Turner who posted him in the W. H. O. Golden Gloves finals last spring. He didn't train long enough, however, and Don blasted him again to take the state heavy title. Cleveland had a long string of quick kayos, and the Winterset crowd hoped he would add our boy to his list. George Bourland's Nulife A. C. tied for team honors in the thing.

House of David Beats Monarchs
The House of David baseball team took the measure of the Kansas City Monarchs at the League park Monday, 3 to 1. Satchel Paige hurled part of the game for the Monarchs and they say he acted rather bored with the proceedings.

Tennis
As is probably well known, Jimmie McDaniels of California won the Negro National tennis single's title, breaking Dr. Reggie Weil's grip.

He and Richard Cohen, an old friend of Williamson, Bill Ashby and your writer, finally collared the Jackson boys to take the doubles. This marks the beginning of a new era in Negro tennis. An era of hard hitting, terrific service and smashing net play. This is the only sort of tennis that can stand up with white competition, and must be developed by that kind of competition.

Frank Brady in his column last week in the evening Tribune bore out our competition that tennis is a habit game developed only by strong competition. He mentioned the fact that McDaniels had met Bobby Riggs, number one white player in a match in their high school days and lost after a long close match. If McDaniels had the same opportunity as Riggs to meet the best players there is no telling how far he would go. This is also true of our local net players.

About Golf

Wonder what happened to our city golf tournament? This used to be one of our sports highlights and along with the Central States meet, gave our golfers something to look forward to. But apparently the boys have let golf slip into the rut that our tennis was in until 1929.

Entrenous

We are here again . . . with nothing new and yet nothing old . . . Everything is at its dullest point now, but with the reorganization of old club, and organizing of new in about two weeks, the fall activities will live this town up . . . It is definitely understood (so I'm told) that the "Mighty F. O." will need rejuvenating on his return . . . An embarrassing incident—Johnnie L. waited patiently in his car for the lights to change on West 7th Street, Wednesday noon, and when they did, his car decided not to go . . . It was quite a traffic jam . . . A recent report—Allen Ashby won by a technical knockout in his duel with the bartender . . . Edythe A. G. has a charming new steps to display . . . five steps of trucking, Susie Q. shag, and the jitterbug combined making the "Gray Stomp" . . . This dance made its debut September 2 . . . A group of girls were earnestly discussing just what they would do if United States entered the war and took all the young men . . . After deep meditation M. L. Watkins said "Let's marry them right now and go on our honeymoons, then send them to war . . . Oh! (she said after second thought) What will we do if they come back? . . . We might have changed our minds then? . . . On my way home the other evening, I saw a young lady waiting for a street car. She was dressed in the latest fall attire . . . After several glances I discovered who she was . . . Roberta M. That's a sure sign of an early marriage . . . That's all for this week . . . I'll be seeing you . . ."

FASHIONS

Red is being seen with grey and, surprisingly enough, with a new shade of autumn green called Robin Hood green. This is a soft shade of green—a sort of bright olive, and mixes beautifully with piquant red touches. Green, drawingstring bags lined with red taffeta are popular for use with the Robin Hood green dresses and suits.

Besides the bright, glowing charcoal ember red, other shades, too, are current fashion first, namely lipstick red, scarlet and the ever lovely wine. All shades of red dominate and plaid and tweed materials, and wine red accessories with a red and blue tweed mixture is in high fashion favor. Fashion, definitely, says be bright and cheerful despite the state of world affairs.

H. P. L.—Am a follower of your column. My husband goes around a lot and don't take up much time with his family. Do you think he will ever stop bringing up "my past"? His past is worse than mine.

Ans: It seems that he must find something to fuss about and he can't very well accuse you of not doing your best right now, so he has to bring up things that happened before he knew you. Don't worry and fret about what he says as it doesn't mean anything in time he's going to settle down and be a decent father to your three children.

L. B. H.—I am planning on going to Chicago or either Indianapolis to live and want to know which would be the better place for me?

Ans: You had better stick around until spring before making this change . . . as long as you have a pretty good job and no debts, you are much better off than the average. A little excitement will come into your life this winter that will bring you happiness.

L. B. H.—I am planning on going to Chicago or either Indianapolis to live and want to know which would be the better place for me?

Ans: You had better stick around until spring before making this change . . . as long as you have a pretty good job and no debts, you are much better off than the average. A little excitement will come into your life this winter that will bring you happiness.

Ans: I feel that if you went back to the farm and took up where you left off, you would be happy again. You have very modern conveniences on your farm and both you and your wife would enjoy being back out in the open and free to breathe again.

W. C. C.—I am a married man and have fallen in love with a married woman and want to know if she will ever be mine?

Ans: Oh, what suffering some people bring on themselves. In the first place you shouldn't have encouraged her knowing you were married. Neither should she have accepted.

Elmer Barker spent the holiday visiting friends in Mason City and Waterloo, Iowa.

MR. BELLOW HAS DONE PIONEER STOKER WORK
Mr. Bellow of the Bellow Coal company has done much of the pioneering in the coal stoker business in Des Moines. Today the "stoker" is recognized as a real necessity as a convenience and a fuel saver in every well furnished home or apartment.

Last year Mr. Bellow brought to Des Moines the first "oil treated" stoker coal. For some years past, Chicago and other metropolitan centers have featured oil treated coals, which are clean, dustless and possessing greater heat values than untreated coals. For further details of the Wonder Oil Treated Coals for stokers and other grades of furnace coal see their advancement which appears elsewhere in this issue.

Message To Burn's Youth

"Stay with mother and father until you are full-grown. Don't grow up too soon. Somebody out in this world—not Hitler—is going to nip you in the bud," was the advice of the Rev. J. C. Bain to the youth, Sunday morning, September 3, in his young People's Day sermon at Burns Methodist church.
Using as a theme, "Christian Growth," the Rev. Mr. Bain pointed out marks of spiritual growth, which he emphasized to his young listeners.

"The first mark of spiritual growth is consecration to one's task," the minister spoke and listed two other measurements which he discussed under headings of "breadth of vision," "range of one's interest and appreciation."
"If our minds are narrow, our thoughts will only be in one direction," he spoke and urged them to "have a mind that can conceive an idea and at the same time give an idea."
"When we say we are men and women we must be able to judge the facts and the arguments that this world will present to us," he added.

"I suggest that you write a motto, somewhere high in your room. Tell yourselves what you want to be," he urged.

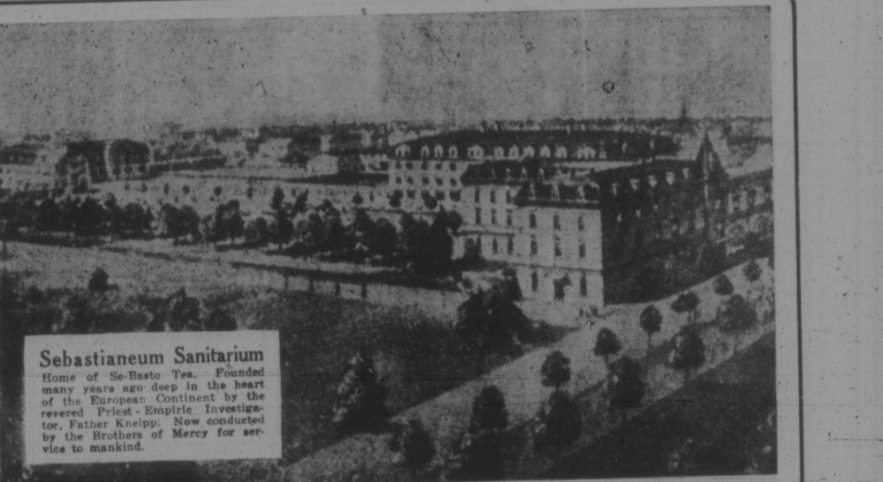

Following the sermon a young people's choir, under the direction of Miss Roberta Maupin, sang "Must Jesus Bear The Cross Alone," and throughout the services of the day offered appropriate hymns.
Afternoon Speakers
During the afternoon Mrs. S. Joe Brown and James Thompson were guest speakers. A large number of visitors were present.

One of the features of the day was an impressive candlelight service with the junior choir carrying lighted candles during processional. Concert prayers were led by Mrs. J. C. Bain, Miss Olga Bibbs, Messrs. C. Bain, Miss Olga Bibbs, Messrs. Luther Smith Jr., James Thompson
