'NAACP Has Striven To Continue Lincoln's Ideal'

New York—That "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," has in it the expression of the democratic ideal which a great president of the United States tried to translate for the benefit of all racial minorities in America, was the sentiment expressed today by Robert E. Sherwood, author of the Broadway success now playing at the Adelphi Theatre.

Sherwood issued the statement in connection with the forthcoming special performance of the play Thursday, November 16, for the benefit of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. "Abraham Lincoln dedicated himself and his life and his immortal works to the proposition that all men are created equal. The N. A. C. P. for the past thirty years has striven to continue Lincoln's ideal of Democracy as it must operate to the full advantage of all racial minorities in our commonwealth of states. "Those who support the N. A. C. P. are practicing what Abraham Lincoln preached."

Is Held for Assaulting N.C. Woman

Rocky Mountain, N. C., Nov. 5 (ANP)—Burgess Whitehead, star second baseman for Bill Terry's New York Giants baseball team and a Phi Beta Kappa student while attending the University of North Carolina, faced a preliminary hearing Tuesday on charges of assault and battery preferred by Hazel Grimes Alston, local housewife.

The entire community, remembering how in 1938 Outfield Jake Powell of the New York Yankees said over the radio that his chief sport in the winter season was "beating niggers' heads," is aroused over the alleged attack by the big athlete on the petite local woman which resulted in a blackened eye. Powell talked, they say, while Whitehead acted.

According to Mrs. Alston, she was walking along the street in front of a local drug store two weeks ago when she passed Whitehead, who was cursing and went into a dime store. The athlete followed her and asked if she passed his car. Mrs. Alston told him she passed many cars. Immediately, according to the housewife, Whitehead struck her in the eye and she fell to the floor. When she arose, he struck her again and knocked her down. Going out the door, he told her "call a cop and see if I care."

This was the occasion of the musical festival in which many choirs and choral groups of the city participated.

The judge stressed that people are constantly being told to "be good." He talked at length upon the "proud look," as one of the great evils. Ninety per cent of all evil and failures, the speaker accredited to "pride."

"If we could teach in church—not to be proud and obey that law—we would have a heaven on earth," Judge Powers said.

H. E. Hubbard, chairman of the program, presided and presented the following musical groups and persons who participated in the festival: Miss Sarah Steele and Mrs. Oneda Stone, soloists; the Kyles A. M. E. choir, St. Paul A. M. E. choir, and the Burns Male chorus.

Omaha Man Is Held for Murder; Killed Woman and Dismembered Body with Ax

Omaha, Neb.—Jess Lowe, known as Jerry Lord, 35, was taken into custody of the law on Friday, October 27, and is being held for the slaying of Mrs. Abraham Schwackzin, wife of a cantor, here last Wednesday.

According to the report of Sheriff T. J. Fitegan of Carroll county, Lowe confessed the crime which resulted during an argument over an $8 bill for his work around the Schwackzin home.

The body of the woman was found Thursday in the Schwackzin home, dismembered and mutilated.

Lowe was arrested near Glidden by Town Marshall Jack Carty and was brought to Carroll. He was returned to Omaha Friday night by officers of that city. A charge of first degree murder was filed against him.

Lowe told the sheriff that Mrs.

Schwackzin who had employed him to do some odd jobs, threatened him and that they had scuffled over a kitchen knife.

During the scuffle the woman was cut and died as the result of a throat wound, he was alleged to have related.

Further sheriff's information revealed that Lowe said the woman asked that he take as part payment for his work some coal in the basement.

"I slapped her and she began screaming."

The sheriff's report stated further that Lowe said "the woman struck at me with the knife, cutting my finger. I grabbed the knife away from her and stabbed her several times in the throat."

While the body still lay on the basement floor, Lowe was said to have confessed, he heard Schwackkin enter the front door upstairs.

Lowe said in his confession that he dragged the body into the coal bin. When Schwackzin left the house, Lowe's story continued, he again entered the basement and with a knife and ax, dismembered the body, and hid the arms, legs and head in the chimney. After wrapping the torso in rags he carried it to the attic and placed it on the rafters, the confession continued.

Leaving the home he went to his own home, boarded a freight train and went a short distance from Carroll. He was arrested a mile west of Glidden.

"Good Americans are Good Neighbors" is the slogan of the annual Community Chest Campaign which will open on Friday, Nov. 10. The Negro Women's team is headed by Mrs. A. A. Alexander, with Mrs. Gwendolyn Fowler as co-captain.

Other state heads attend were: Attorney General Fred Everett, Mr. Anderson, state custodian.

From the county attorney office were: James Irish, Thomas Banister and Joe Potosa.

Arthur T. Wallace, Republican Polk County chairman, spoke on personal contacts within the Republican party and Negro patronage problems in Polk county.

Erwin W. Meyers, Iowa Young Republican state chairman, spoke on the cooperative work between the race branch and the young Republican group. He also presented several of the young Republicans appointees. Among this group were: William Bailey, assistant chemist in the department of agriculture; Murray Walder, post office department; William Martin, post office department; and Miss Evelyn Brooks, city assessors department. Mr. Myers pointed out that these appointees were an example of what could be accomplished through cooperation.

A speech was delivered by Sen. George Faulk on the danger of the European war to the Republican party. He stressed the important part Negroes are going to play in government in the future.

The meeting closed after a discussion in which Allen Ashby, sixth district young Negro Republican chairman, and Erskine N. Warren, attempted to answer Gray Anderson's question "Why so many Negroes voted the Democratic ticket in the last six years in the state of Iowa?"

THE NEGRO LOSES

Governor Earl K. Long of Louisiana is reported to have removed 32 Negro employees from the state payrolls and given the jobs to white men in order to build up his political machine. Heretofore, the name of Long has meant friendship for Negroes in Louisiana according to well informed residents and a resolution sent to the governor by the First District Baptist Association representing 40,000 constituents states that it is at a loss to see a logical reason for this mass firing.

This turn of events is unfortunate for it simply reminds other southern politicians to do likewise. They don't permit the Negro to vote and consequently he can deliver the politician no votes; the tradition of giving Negroes the menial jobs in the south is gone and he finds whites competing with him for these places.

Unfortunate as this situation may be, it is just practical politics stripped of justice or sympathy. And until Negroes can vote freely in the south this continued loss of jobs in public places will prevail.

THE LABOR SITUATION

A dispatch from the Associated Negro Press says "Boom in Industries Not Aiding Negroes." Two paragraphs from this release state the case and one is bound to look upon the situation with some degree of alarm. It says:

"Increase in the industrial production shown in business indices throughout the country has not brought any large reduction in the relief rolls or waiting lists of eligibles for WPA that naturally was expected, according to WPA officials, and the situation as far as the Negro is concerned is more acute than ever."

"The number of Negroes dropped after the 18 months clause in many instances is proportionately larger than the number of whites since the Negroes find it harder to find employment in private industry than do the whites."

"This hardship has caused many Negroes to remain on the rolls far longer than the 18 months they are supposed to remain and when they are dropped, it is increasingly more difficult for them to find similar work at the same rates of pay."

"Some of the advantages of the W. P. A. as far as Negroes are concerned are that it gives them employment in better type jobs with higher pay; it is not necessary to join a union to get these jobs."

Most employees absorbed by industry in this increase of employment has been the skilled type; most of these jobs have been in unionized industries in which membership in their organizations is closed to Negroes. Consequently when the call is sent for help, it goes to union headquarters. This lets the Negro out.

many other such agencies are—his policy of giving almost unlimited control of the labor market to unions without requiring them to be fair in admitting competent men to their ranks without regards to color, is doing untold damages to the economic structure of the race.

BIBLE THOUGHT

"The God of Israel said, the Rock of Israel spake to me, He that ruleth over man must be just, in the fear of God." Second Samuel 23:3.

Looking Over the Hawkeyes

Perhaps I'd better begin this week by saying a little bit about the Negro Forum which held its election of officers last Sunday night. The nominating committee was composed of Paul Haughton, of Waterloo, Miss Mabel Jackson of Dallas, and Alfred Woolridge of Baltimore. The following officers were elected: James B. Morris Jr., President; Mrs. Carolyn Stewart, Vice President; Miss Betty Arnett, Secretary; and Mrs. Helen Lemme, Treasurer. Miss Ola McCrane was appointed program chairman for the ensuing year. The program consisted of a report on the origin of the ancient custom of Halloween by Miss Hazel Craddock and a short explanation of the housing program which is now beginning to get under way by C. T. Simpson.

The young ladies at the Iowa Federation Girl's Home gave a Halloween party last Saturday night at their house. I must compliment the young women because I sincerely believe that it was one of the best parties that this town has ever seen. The house was beautifully decorated and the refreshments were really tops. Everything from cider to apples. We played games, danced and ate to our heart's content and to utilize that popular expression "A fine time was had by all."

Now for a little bit about the athletic situation. We beat Wisconsin last week thanks to Nile Kinnick, Al Coupez, Bill Green and Dick Evans. Kinnick had a field day with his passes and that's what we were counting on to bring us a victory. He has a badly swollen hand now but we hope that all will be ready for Purdue's Boiler-makers Saturday. Jim Walker's knee wouldn't allow him to play so he had a good time listening to the game with the rest of us. Fred Smith started the game and turned in a fine game at end. He played almost all of the first half. We are hoping that he and Walker will see a lot of service Saturday against Purdue. It will be a contest between Iowa's passes and Purdue's running attack with Kinnick and his forces facing Brown, Bock and Bylene and their supporters.

So Long!!! See you next week.

Health Hints

By Dr. C. R. Bradford

GOUT

Gout is a disease thought to be caused by defective excretion of uric acid by the kidneys.

An individual, who has apparently been in quite robust health, is suddenly awakened in the night by a severe pain in one of great toes, a pain that gradually becomes almost unbearable, then at about day-break great relief is more or less suddenly experienced and the patient usually falls into a heavy sleep.

On awakening later in the morning he finds that the affected toe-joint is somewhat swollen, is red and has a glistening appearance, and the veins around it are somewhat distended. Throughout the day the swelling is likely to increase and the joint becomes very tender, with a moderate amount of fever, when night comes there may be a recurrence.

An attack of this sort usually lasts only a few days but occasionally a period of weeks. The patient will then be symptomless for a period of months or years, the average time is about one year, and the second attack occurs. Thereafter, attacks occur with increasing frequency until the state of chronic gout is reached. This is characterized by a marked swelling and deformity of the joints.

WHITERS WINS AT COLISEUM

Johnny Whitters, our latest addition to local heavyweight ranks, grabbed a six round decision over Elza Thompson, giant 230 pound Indianapolis Negro last Monday night. Fighting in the semi-windup of the Buddy Baer-Lee Savold card, Johnny showed all of us why he has been called the best Negro heavyweight aside from Joe Louis. He handled the big boy with surprising ease in the clinches, and pounded out a convincing win, growing tougher as the fight went on. Whitters works so smoothly that he seems not to be trying, but he is really a superb boxer who throws plenty of short jolting punches. Thompson was billed as the man too tough to be a sparring partner, but Whitters cut his mouth, nose and eyes and suffered a cut eye and bloody nose himself. If you think all that bloodshed was the result of cream puff tossing, better take time and think again. But the nickel seat fans who are too far from the ring to see what goes on in it bood. Why, we don't know. Let's see if as many Negroes can rally behind Whitters as there were behind Johnny Paycheck, for he is definitely a big time boxer. For the main event Lee Savold matched a left hook and an iron heart against a long left and every physical advantage in the book and finished second.

College Football Only Michigan escaped the ax on the Big Ten front last week as all the teams went under. Everyone is still talking about Iowa whose amazing band of youngsters just won't stay beaten. Jim Walker couldn't even make the trip, but Fred Smith got in the first quarter at end in the Wisconsin thriller.

Anderson of Ohio state did grab a few passes in the first half of that Cornell rout, but the Big Red took charge of things in the second half and about all there was to catch was the breeze from Cornell backs as they went by.

Illinois seemed destined to fill Iowa's place in the Big Ten cellar as the five end play of Alphonse Anders went for naught. Smith of Northwestern was labeled a good end by the critics. They kept Tom Harding of Butler under something last week and he lost his position as the nations high scorer.

Out on the Pacific Coast the touch down twins of U. C. L. A. scored another win to stay unbeaten. Kenny Washington threw the apple two blocks well fifty yards to Jack Robinson for a score after a sixty yard gain on the play. Robinson then lit out on an eighty two yard jaunt to score the other marker on Oregon State a field goal made the score 17-6.

As North high was glad to get off with a tie against Lincoln. Bob White got into exactly five plays, and Elliston earned the name of the "two play kid," for that was the extent of his service.

This Briggs guy from Cedar Rapids just won't stay off the Tribune weekly honor roll. He scored five markers last week all that his team scored. That ought to rate a big picture, but we don't print the page.

Comets Win 33-0

Duke Slater brought his Chicago All Stars here to engage the Comets last Sunday. The Comets had a two week's rest and were extremely tough. Bob Vandever was in his best running form of the season as he scored the first two touchdowns, and after a while realized a desire to play end. The stars didn't have much. They were small, poorly organized and lacked both a kicker and passer. They did battle all the way and a couple of boys, Nettleton, a back, and Smith, an end gave the Comets some busy moments during the game.

BEAUTY AND ROMANCE
SPONSORED BY
L'ARIEUSE BEAUTY FOUNDATION

The L'arieuse Beauty Foundation was established by the Godefroy Manufacturing Company to study methods of preserving woman's natural beauty, and to make the results of this research available to the public.

With the first touch of chill in the air, most of us are beginning to think about fall clothes. There are so many attractive things in the shops that it is hard to make a choice. A number of new shades have made their appearance this fall, purples, greens, reds and the winter blues. For this reason the wise woman will carefully plan her entire wardrobe before she plunges into a shopping spree. If you start without a definite scheme worked out, you are likely to find yourself with a purple dress, red hat and green bag, with perhaps a pair of blue shoes thrown in. Each looked so irresistible in the shop that in your enthusiasm you overlooked the general effect.

Color Scheme Important
The sensible thing to do before you buy so much as a pair of shoes is to pick out a basic color and then limit yourself to the various shades which will harmonize with that color. Suppose, for instance, you have a green suit which is going to do heavy duty this fall. Green is a very practical color since it looks equally well with black or brown. Thus, you may choose a hat in black, brown or one of the new rust shades which blend so well with green. From there you can go on to choosing the other accessories which go to make up the outfit. Remember, the odds and ends of your ensemble are as important as the dress, coat or suit.

Harmonize Make-Up With Fall Shades
And when you've completed your fall wardrobe, don't forget your fall make-up. The shade of powder, rouge and lipstick which has been so becoming with your summer pastels may prove altogether inadequate with the heavier hues you are wearing this autumn. Experiment with a variety of colors until you decide which is best suited to your skin tone and the colors you are wearing. And remember, the make-up which is most natural looking by day is not necessarily the one that will make you most glamorous by night. Many women have two complete sets of make-up, one for day and one for after dark. At night you can get away with more vivid colors which by day might make you look artificial.

Bear these things in mind while planning your fall glamour. A little forethought will save a lot of complications later on.

What are your beauty problems? Write Marie Downing, L'arieuse Beauty Foundation, Room 521 - 319 North Fourth St., St. Louis, Mo., and she will be glad to answer them. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

CANNING

By the Sampler

Mrs. John Wade, 1510 Dixon street, plans to have some delicious sweet potato dishes this winter. She canned several jars. Here is her recipe. Boil sweet potatoes in jackets. Make a real thick syrup and pour over them in jars. Seal up and they will be ready for use when you want candied yams or sweet potato pies.

SWEET POTATO PIE
One of the delicious, old time recipes for sweet potato pie which "just melts in your mouth" was offered this week by Mrs. Dora Keyes of West Des Moines.

Boil yams or potatoes until done; if stringy press through sieve. Add 2½ cups sugar; from 2 to 3 eggs for three pies; one-half pound of butter. Flavor with nutmeg or lemon or whatever flavor you prefer. Pour in pie crusts; sprinkle with sugar. Then bake.

Their popular appeal has been growing by leaps and bounds since the first one appeared worn by Carmen Miranda, the exotic singer, and now they may be found gracing smart ladies everywhere. Sweeping skyward into spirally bows or huge rosettes, they wrap the head in a new glory, and are almost universally becoming long earrings glimmering from beneath give added touch of

G. B.—I love my wife dearly but I found out that she has been going with an old school chum. We have a nice home and I hate to burst it up so tell me what to do?

Ans: Don't break up your home for she too loves you. Your wife is young and has had a year to get out this one time with this friend . . . it wasn't so easily stopped. She realizes her mistake and will not repeat it again. By the way, the school chum that she has been going with has a WIFE AND FAMILY that he wouldn't part with for the world.

D. F.—Will I get over my sickness soon. I am not helpless but my knee gets stiff and sore when I sit awhile.

Ans: Regular treatment from a good doctor will bring about a marked change for the better in your condition. You are acting quite right in not giving in to your feelings . . . keep on the go and exercise your limbs constantly for it helps the condition. Look forward to a marriage next year.

K. B.—I have a place of business and always have had lots of company that hangs around. While I was out someone took my money or I lost it one and I want to know if I will get it back?

Ans: You won't see the money again . . . one of the individuals who was in or around your place on the day you missed it helped themselves while your back was turned. It happened before you left.

D. M.—Will I ever become a mother? Tell me how to send the quarter for the Astrology Reading?

Ans: Right now is a wonderful time for you to get dozens of new customers on your route. Tell those who already subscribe to help you . . . people appreciate their paper more in winter and now is the best time to canvass your vicinity for a larger circulation.

J. M. C.—My boy friend calls me Miss High Pocket because I don't go for sex. When I refuse he gets angry and fuses but he always kisses me goodnight. Am I doing right?

Ans: Emphatically yes . . . and you see that he always comes back for more. If you gave in to his wishes, it wouldn't be but a short time until he would tire of you and give you up. Tell him you want to be Miss High Pocket . . . at least you are different from the other girls that he has been associating with.
