Happenings and the People

ROBERT R. MOTON
(Excerpts)

By Claude A. Barnett

Chicago—Robert R. Moton was a friend to mankind. The thousands of alumni of Tuskegee and Hampton institute—students everywhere of whatever school—men and women of every race and color—presidents of the United States—educators, capitalists, working men and women—humble sharecropper—all these knew, respected and loved Robert Moton. In him they knew they had a friend.

Washington—Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell of Illinois, who once was office boy to Booker T. Washington, spoke in memory of Dr. Robert Russa Moton.

"While it is true that Dr. Booker T. Washington laid the foundation of the racial structure and built nobly, it was for Dr. Moton to assist him during the lifetime of Dr. Washington, and, like Elisha, take up the mantle and responsibility of carrying forward the work at the passing of Dr. Washington. Dr. Moton did the real job," said the Congressman in part.

Says William Pickens

"He finally did what Booker T. Washington never had the opportunity to do: he retired, helped to select his successor, saw the school going forward in good hands—and died in peace and in great honor. Booker T. Washington died in great honor, but could have had no such feeling of the certain future of Tuskegee, beyond his bare faith in the friends who had stood him to the last. Moton is dead. Long live Tuskegee Institute.

"Much could be said in praise of Robert Moton, much could be written; but it is not necessary to do either when accomplished deed speaks so loudly."—New Orleans Sentinel.

Simple But Beautiful Moton Rites

Hampton, Va., (ANP)—Robert R. Moton, educator, statesman, leader of his people, and a great American, was laid to rest Tuesday, amid the scenes of his beloved Virginia and his cherished Hampton. Simple, tender and reverent were the beautiful services held over the remains of Tuskegee's president-emeritus, whose passing was mourned by two races, marked by presidents, and which left a void in the hearts of countless thousands, regardless of creed or color, men and women who recognized the greatness of the man Moton.

Dr. Moton's body, brought to Hampton Institute chapel, Tuesday morning, had lain in state while friends from near and far, wended their way into the stately interior for a last glimpse of and visit with the man whom so many loved. The gorgeous, almost lush, verdant and flowers of Hampton were at their height; the campus, green carpeted, presented a vista of unexcelled beauty, and a perfect June day completed the setting as the church, seating 1,200 filled.

Amid a great array of flowers, his massive coffin lay, a blanket of red carnations across the top, with simply the word, family, attached. In its button hole was another of these his favorite flowers. Standing at attention before the casket were two cadet officers in dress uniform, one from Tuskegee, the other from Hampton, signaling its long career as commandant at the Virginia school.

The family, driving in from their home at Capahosic on the York river, arrived just before the services began. Mrs. Moton, on the arm of her son, Robert, Jr., displayed remarkable fortitude.

He was committed to jail and later released on a $5,000 bond pending hearing, June 25.

Democratic League Asks That Negro Regiments Be Restored to Combat Duty

"We believe the United States today is faced with a crisis in world affairs such as never before confronted us. The situation calls for strong and courageous leadership," delegates attending the Iowa Negro Democratic league, which met here at the Billiken Hall, Saturday, June 8, agreed.

Father's Day Is Sunday

"Dad has to pay for it anyway, so should we give him anything?" says sister to her mom.

Has sister got a point there? Or hasn't she? Let's take a look.

Remember that time you searched all over for the right kind of a masher-bibber for his birthday? He acted like a kid for a week afterwards. Ticked to death.

He's still wearing the sports coat last. Still boasting about it to his you gave him the Christmas before friends. And if he spotted it on the January bills do you think that lessened his pleasure?

A father may be touchy at times. And he may act hardboiled. But when he opens a package on June 16, addressed to "Dear Dad," he feels—well—just like any guy feels whose family is fond of him and isn't afraid to show it. He feels swell!

So let's not forget dad on his day, Sunday, June 16th.

policy," warned A. Phillip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters at the seventy-fourth commencement exercises at Lincoln University of Missouri, last Monday morning.

Motor Car 'Adventuring' Taxes Resourcefulness

Not until he is better equipped to meet emergencies will the motor traveler be able to enjoy the more distant touring objectives successfully, according to veterans who know from experience that nothing is more important in motor adventuring than resourcefulness. They see in the present lack of ingenuity and experience in outdoor life the principal barrier to more extensive motoring off the beaten track.

With an experience kit no better equipped than the average car's tool kit, today's tourist often is badly licked before he starts out. He assumes there is a gas station on every corner and every highway is lined with telephones. Not until he is faced with a breakdown or loses his way does he realize the importance of self-reliance backed by preparedness. It is then he appreciates that his automobile has suddenly made this a much bigger country than he thought it to be.

When everything depends on you some of the simplest steps are likely to be overlooked. Why, for instance, let the engine idle when trying to get your bearings? This wastes gasoline and may be a short cut to being unable to proceed. Why not drive up to the top of the nearest hill to get an idea of the lay of the land? You may be able to sight the main road from this point. Your directions can be determined from such a lookout and you may see a nearby town. If there is no handy hill and the fuel supply is low it is a good plan to send a member of the party on a foot expedition to look for a house or a more heavily traveled road. Some one should stay in the car and sound the horn from time to time. This is an excellent way to mark the point at which the party has become lost.

California Health Set-Up Helps Migrant Laborers

The California department of public health credits health education and wholesome immunizations with preventing epidemics of communicable diseases among migrant workers coming to California from the southwest "dust bowl" area.
Dr. Walter M. Dickie, director of the department, says: "It was the first of several great migrations to California that has not been accompanied by epidemics."

QUARTERLY MEETING AT BURNS' SUNDAY

LINCOLN POST

By LeRoy P. Bird
The three boys, Morrow, McQuerry and McGuire, who were sent to Camp Dodge to attend the Boys State Camp, have returned home with sweaters and pins they won there.
One boy will be sent to the C. M. T. C. from the state.
The Post members are forming a uniform club who will work to get Legion uniforms reasonable. They lack six members of having their quota.
The members of the Post miss Comrade Elmore, who is employed at Good park as a park policeman.

The state's public health record has never been better, he said, despite lack of sanitary provisions, crowding exposure and malnutrition of migrants.

The state's public health record the health of the migratory workers, Dr. Dickie explained, includes operation of three station wagons fitted as traveling clinics and stationing field health workers in agricultural areas.

Each of the clinics carries a physician, a public health nurse and a sanitarian. Field workers include medical school workers and sanitary engineers.
The department workers have given a total of 23,701 smallpox vaccinations, performed 74,257 inoculations against typhoid fever, conducted a tuberculin test campaign that included examination of 2,500 selected migrants and have held numerous health classes among workers.

'Best Seat in the House'

Americans in Rome can't get over the Italian paradox of asking for the "best seat in the house" at any of Italy's leading motion picture theaters and being sold a seat in the gallery. It's the result of an old Roman custom going back to the days of the Caesars. When nobility spoke to the people, nobility spoke from a balcony looking down on the populace. When "nobility" visits the theater today, nobility watches from the balcony. Thus an "orchestra seat," third or fourth row center, is considered a poor choice in Italy although it's the best in the house in America.

Washing Shades

To wash window shades, lay them open on a flat surface. Wash and rinse over a small area at a time. Rub with a sponge and wipe quickly with clean dry cloth. Keep the shade on the flat surface until it is perfectly dry and then rehang.

EASY NOW TO CORRECT BAD BREATH

No need to offend others—Listerine, quick deodorant, sweetens breath

Now there is no excuse for offending others with halitosis (bad breath). The quick, easy treatment to counteract this condition is Listerine. Simply rinsing the mouth with it makes the breath cleaner, sweeter, more wholesome.

Most cases of bad breath, says one dental authority, are caused by fermentation of tiny food particles the tooth brush has failed to remove.

When Listerine is used to rinse the mouth, it halts fermentation and overcomes the odors it causes.

Smart men and women realize that it is easy to offend others and take the pleasant Listerine precaution against bad breath. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo.

War Situation Will Outline Sharply Question of Civil Liberties and Negro

WAR SITUATION WILL OUTLINE SHARPLY QUESTION OF CIVIL LIBERTIES AND THE NEGRO AT

New York—The present international situation, officials on the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said today, will reflect itself in the organization's thirty-first annual conference to be held in Philadelphia's Tindley Temple, June 18-23 with perhaps a more sharply defined discussion of the Negro and his fight for full citizenship rights in this country, than has ever been true in the history of the association.

The fight to obtain the right to vote will occupy an important place in the conference deliberations, it was said. Strong delegations from Texas, where the forthcoming primary test case represents the spearhead of the voting campaign in the South, will make themselves felt at the conference. Delegations from Alabama, and Oklahoma also will place the fight for the ballot and the Anti-poll tax bill high on their must agenda.

Other important topics which will come in for wide discussion include: The Negro and his relationship to the War, including his attitude toward national defense, the Anti-Lynching bill and the failure of the Administration to put force behind its passage, President Roosevelt and the third term, John L. Lewis and the third party movement, discrimination in labor unions, health, housing, the wages and hours law, the National Labor Relations Act and its relationship to the Negro worker the status of the Negro domestic and agricultural worker, and the relationship of the rise of the Ku Klux Klan to the Negro.

Fairbanks was born of gold fever in 1902, when an old prospector named Pedro stuck it rich along the creek which now bears his name. Today Fairbanks is still a growing town, no longer entirely dependent on its major industry of gold mining. As the metropolis for a vast hinterland it is an important trading center, as well as headquarters for a rising lumber business, and something of a mecca for summer tourists.

Telephones, telegraph, electricity and radio, together with a hospital, chamber of commerce, schools, churches and clubs, indicate an active civic life that belies its size. It is expected that the new army air base will add some 2,500 people to the city's census figures, and make air-minded Fairbanks a center for nearly 2,000 more planes.

Remodeling the Attic

A remodeled and modernized attic offers one of the best solutions to the old problem of providing another room for a growing family with a very modest pocketbook. Unfinished or unused attics can easily be transformed into complete livable rooms. Insulating board is one of the many materials that may be used for an economical, neat and quick remodeling job on the attic. Requiring no painting, papering, or finishing, insulating board keeps the room warm in the winter and cool in the summer. Scrubbing or scraping, followed by a couple of coats of shellac, will make the floor look like new. When finished, the family has an additional room, adequate and comfortable, to be used either as a room for a growing child or as a cozy den or study and relaxation or a particularly suitable playroom.

Alabama's 'Cow-Eaters'

Coyotes are fostering a new legend of the supernatural in east Alabama. Negroes are telling tales of huge, voracious beasts that "will jump on a cow's back," and the coyotes have come to be called "cow-eaters." The legend began about 10 years ago, when fox hunters imported what were supposed to be young foxes from the West, releasing them in the east Alabama woodlands for future sport. Too late, it was discovered that the animals were coyotes. Despite efforts to exterminate them, the "cow-eaters" have multiplied.

Igloo With Electric Lights

An igloo with its own electric light plant is one of the sights at Akilavik, diminutive arctic metropolis at the mouth of the Mackenzie in Canada's northwest territories. The proud Eskimo owner of the plant tells his neighbors that he has the moon at his beck and call by simply turning a switch.

Good Planting Methods

Efficiency in planting in the field windbreaks of the Prairie States Forestry project has aided a high survival of trees in spite of drought, grasshoppers, jackrabbits, and other hazards of the prairie plains, the forest service of the federal department of agriculture reports. Under approved procedure the roots of young trees are not exposed to the air for more than 90 seconds from the time they are dug from the nursery beds or river bottoms until they stand in the windbreaks.

DELEGATE

W. L. OLIVER

One of the delegates to attend the National Colored Democratic Convention July 12-14 in Chicago. Attorney Oliver was named at the state meeting of the Iowa Democratic League which was in session here last Saturday.

Although every care is taken of the young trees, high-speed planting has been maintained. At the nurseries, the little trees are packed and wrapped so that their roots are guarded from injury by wind and sun. When the trees arrive in the field, they are unpacked by WPA workers under supervision of trained foresters. The young trees are placed roots down in tin or wooden carriers and the roots covered with water or mud or both.

Trees are not watered at planting time nor afterward and must depend upon soil moisture and future rains if they are to survive. For this reason the trees are all grown from seed collected locally, so that they inherit their capacity to withstand plain environment. It has been found, the forest service explains, that trees develop capacities for survival in a given environment and transmit these capacities through the seed.

More than 42,000,000 trees in 4,500 miles of new windbreaks were planted last year. Plantings since 1935 total more than 127,000,000 trees in over 11,000 miles of field windbreaks on 20,000 farms in eastern counties of the Dakotas, central and western Nebraska, central Kansas and Oklahoma, and the Texas Panhandle.

22 Years of Blindness Ends for Canadian Man

After 22 years of blindness, the veil of darkness has been cut away from the eyes of William Hunter, 68-year-old news agent of Vancouver, B. C., by the magic of a surgeon's scalpel. For the first time "since the mist came over my eyes in 1918," the onetime soldier can see again. He is reveling in his rediscovery of a world whose imagery had dissolved through the long years through lack of prompting.

"It was a miracle," he exclaimed happily, telling of the operation that restored his sight. "On the fifth night after the operation I had a hemorrhage in my right eye. 'I thought I had lost my sight forever. To be quite honest with you, I cried. 'But then the doctor examined me and told me I was going to be all right. Then they took off the bandages. 'I walked to the hospital window, not daring to hope for too much. But I looked out and for the first time in 22 years saw green grass. It was wonderful. I think I cried again.' Now the days are a series of astounding discoveries: That the cars are shaped differently than he remembers; men wear strangely-cut suits; the new buildings don't have curves and domes, they're built on the square, with sharp corners and straight lines—everything is different.

Idaho's Dog Derby

Although airplanes are fast supplanting sled dogs in Alaska and the Yukon, they can never completely replace the animals which have had such a large part in developing and making the Far North accessible. To keep alive the traditions established by the malamutes and huskies in opening snowy wildernesses even within continental United States, the city of Ashton, Idaho, holds an annual American dog derby. This event attracts thousands of visitors from surrounding states, Canada and Alaska, including many former sourdoughs and trappers who experience a touch of nostalgia as they watch the 25-mile race and listen to the accompanying cries of "Mush," "Gee," and "Haw" as the drivers urge their stout-hearted charges on. Three times the dogs circle the eight and one-third mile course leading through the forests, up and down hill, over windswept ice and through waist-deep snow.

Brutal Sealers

Seal "pirates" who operated around the Pribilof islands for two years after the United States purchased Alaska from Russia, were so cruel that they often skinned the animals alive. In their hurry to slaughter, they often killed the animals with clubs, then skinned them before they recovered consciousness. These pirates were soon put out of business when the United States government leased the sealing rights to independent companies, according to the American Wildlife Institute.

Amateur Paper Hangers

Hint for amateur paper hangers: When patching wallpaper, tear the piece you need out of the roll instead of cutting it. This will give it a feathery edge that will not show as much as a sharp edge. Also, in cleaning your wallpaper, you have taken the color out, you can successfully touch it up with water-color paint.

'Voice Reflector' Gadget May Cut Auto Accidents

Wives who go to bridge clubs but want to leave messages for their husbands with the proper emphasis on "don't," take heed.

Husbands who think their wives might change their sound tracks if they could only hear themselves as husbands hear them, give ear.

Sidney K. Wolf, New York acoustical engineer, has solved both problems and many others with a device he calls a "voice reflector."

The British and French governments are interested in it because it might help cut down traffic accidents during blackouts and might permit railroad trains to run safely without visible signals.

Railroads believe it will make possible the delivery of telegrams, news reports and stock market tables to crack trains while they are speeding across the country.

The gadget consists fundamentally of a thin strip of steel tape and a device which readjusts the molecular pattern of the tape as one speaks into a microphone. The tape, without other preparation, may then be run through the voice reflector and reproduces whatever has been spoken into the microphone. The words or sounds may be repeated endlessly, since the tape never wears out, or the molecular pattern may be erased and the tape used over and over again.

The allied governments have consulted with Wolf about using the device to control traffic during blackouts. Attached to traffic posts along a highway, a loop of the tape might broadcast on a specified wave length the words "stop" and "go" at regular intervals, thus eliminating the need for traffic lights.

By radio control, with the tape broadcasting audio signals, a railroad engineer might have in his cab red and green lights which would duplicate the signal lights along his route. The tape, directed from a central control tower, could change the signals in the cab by radio, Wolf said, avoiding the necessity for outside signal lights visible to enemy bombers and giving the position of a strategic railroad.

95-Pound Woman Driver Operates Large Trucks

Driving a 12,000-pound truck is a cinch for Mrs. Katherine Rainville of Providence, R. I., who weighs 95 pounds.

Averaging 50,000 to 75,000 miles a year, Mrs. Rainville is known to truck drivers as carries new automobiles between Buffalo and Providence in all kinds of weather. When loaded, the weight of her truck is doubled.

Mrs. Rainville not only drives the truck, but makes whatever repairs are necessary. She also loads and unloads the vehicle after getting the 200-pound runways in position. Most truckmen know and like Ma, but occasionally she meets someone who doesn't approve of women truck drivers. "Then," she says, "I just act a little high bar-toc."

Industrial Motion Picture

The motion picture camera, which doesn't miss a movement, is being used to show industrial engineering students at the Pennsylvania State college how to speed up the assembly of common industrial products. Using strictly factory methods, the students assembled small fixtures having 12 or more parts, while the unfailing camera records their movements and the time. A clock-face in front of the students pictures the passing of time on the film, even to 1/2,000th of a minute. After the films are completed, minute studies are made to find ways of speeding up the process. A simple but unnecessary wrist motion might mean the difference between turning out 40 fixtures an hour or 50 fixtures, and hence is a waste of time and effort.

Planing Wood With a Press

Wood surfaces can be planed to a smooth finish on the drill press with a rotary planer. It is a die-cast disk with three high-speed tool-steel cutting knives and fits into the chuck of any powered woodworking drill press. Any size plank that can be moved on the drill press table can be handled and the tool will plane a plank two feet by eight inches in 25 to 30 seconds. Blades are adjusted with feeler gauges so they extend .002 below the center face of cutter body and it is recommended that the drill press depth gauge be set to take a cut one thirty-second of an inch or lighter, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A patented set-screw arrangement holds the cutting blades securely, so it is impossible for them to get out of adjustment while in operation.

Aluminum Priming

Aluminum paint, because of its high resistance to water penetration, is an excellent paint to use for exterior priming or for any other place where a surface needs such protection. If the building budget permits, it is wise to have the backs of all clapboards or other wood wall covering painted before erection. In this manner the life of the outside paint will be prolonged.

Air-Minded Alaskan City Gets Army Flying Base

With plans reported under way to begin work on a U. S. army air base near Fairbanks, Alaska, a new kind of boom is in prospect for this former gold-mining camp of "Uncle Sam's Far Northwest." The "Golden Heart of Alaska," Fairbanks is set almost exactly in the geographic center of the territory. Already it is reached by railway, motor road, and air service.

More than 30 planes come and go at the local airport of this little town, whose population is estimated to be little more than 4,000. One of the more dramatic activities of the pilots is to deliver by parachute supplies of bread, bacon and beans, mail and medicines to gold miners working in the vicinity.

We wonder who has the highest bid since Violet is back, Samuel G. Oh, say Sam, what about L. M. Wonder if E. L. and Harold T. are hitting it again, at least they were Tuesday night. It seems that Mattie has two pursuers—R. Lavender and Ira S. Stone's Restaurant and the depot have a certain lure for all the boys. They think it's fun, but we know it's work. Wonder why V. L. B. and C. B. want to see "If I Had My Way." I know you do. All girls that aren't hipped want to get hipped at least to one certain Jim Dawson. I can't blame you girls. I'd try to bug Jim hipped, so take advantage.—B. R.

FASHIONETTE

By Hazel G. Reed

Dresses presenting fashion trends of the season shown this week indicate that lace once again is in for news, for lace touches do something for a dress which no other frills seem to equal, and lace and chiffon combinations for summer are perfect.

One captivating model shown used the lace and chiffon mixture in a very intriguing way. The frock, designed especially to add to a matron's a siege of popularity. Feminine and fragile with real charm and appeal, lace as a fashion highlight is good charm, combined grace of the line with dignity and youthful flattery in a skirt of Alice blue chiffon topped by a bodice of nut brown lace. The skirt was softly draped and the bodice had a square neckline and brief sleeves. If it is a wedding you're attending, this is a lovely dress.

R. T. C.—My problem is a serious one to me. My wife and I have two children. I turn the money over to her and let her run the house. She doesn't know how to care for the children. Doesn't know how to cook at all. Can't clean up or do anything. What shall I do?

Ans: Sit tight and let her run the house to best of her ability. She never had any work of this kind to do before she married—and since she married she has her hands tied with two children. Get some young girl in the neighborhood to watch the children for her each morning so she can do her work. You have a good wife but you must be more patient with her.

S. B.—I need and love my wife. Is she coming to me? I can't hardly bare it any longer. Must I break up housekeeping and sell these things?

Ans: No, not yet. Your wife isn't satisfied either. She thought that she wanted to make a change, but is finding out that she acted a bit too hastily. Hold the home together for awhile longer for it seems to me she will be back.

T. Y.—Should I hold on to this job that I am on and go back to work there after my vacation? Will the work continue to be harder?

Ans: Yes, the work will be a little harder—but you will get a raise in pay. You couldn't better yourself by taking another job, and I recommend that you do go back to work for this lady. After your vacation you will be glad to get back.

G. C.—Would you be kind enough to tell me what I should do since things have happened as they are? I'm terribly worried.

Ans: Go back to mother while you are still upset. If you don't make the change immediately, you will have a strong tendency to stay. You aren't doing right to be with this man under the circumstances, and get away as soon as you can.

Political clubs will spring up. That cannot be helped. But generally they are found to be the idea of some fellow who wants to get himself a job and takes this method to show political leaders that he really has a political following...

The Bystander believes that Negroes can do better by working out their problems through the regular political organizations rather than through small detached groups with no official status...

Say What You Mean

Announcement comes from Washington that America has found a way to circumvent the neutrality act in order to aid the Allies. Army supplies owned by the United States are being sold to manufacturers who in turn will sell them to the Allies.

The Bystander believes every effort should be made by America to furnish the Allies all possible aid of the much needed war supplies as well as food and other necessities. This should have been done long ago.

But why take this back door method to do it? When Congress passed the neutrality bill recently, no such procedure was contemplated.

MORTON GRAVES SUSPENDED BY A. A. U.

Morton Graves, who holds the undisputed amateur featherweight championship of the state, was suspended by the A. A. U. for appearing on an exhibition with a professional. The rules state that if an amateur boxer competes with a professional, or appears on the same card with one, the amateur is subject to suspension.

The whole thing amounts to this, as we see it. Graves is in the way of the development of some likely youngster as a local featherweight prospect. He is too old to have much time as a professional, and, being a Negro, they don't want to build him up too much anyway.

Arturo Godoy, Arturo stayed the distance the last time out by doing things that would have got anyone else fighting none but Joe Louis suspended for a while. The Iowa Negro Democratic league meeting in Des Moines Saturday, named delegates to attend the National Colored Democratic association to be held in Chicago.

The Bystander does not believe such an organization is necessary whether it be a Republican or Democratic group. The idea of creating a bunch of political clubs with no official connection simply gives some fellow a chance to be at the head of something, emphasizes the charge that the Negro is divided into a lot of factions and does nobody any real good.

Table with 2 columns: Team Name and Points. Roadside Settlement 73, East D. M. Com. Center 66, Crocker Y. M. C. A. 43, Northside A. C. 23, West D. M. Com Center 21, Carbondale School 15, Central Y. M. C. A. 7.

Roadside Settlement, with a well-balanced squad that scored heavily in every division, captured the first annual Crocker "Y" Inter-Community House track and field meet at Drake Stadium last Thursday afternoon with a total of 73 points.

The Southside athletes, while failing to cop many first places, piled up points in the relays to maintain a steady scoring attack. Ray Dille, star member of East High school's 1940 state champions, and Bob Springer were the Settlement house's individual stars, winning the 880 yard run and the 220 yard dash, respectively. The two white boys also were members of the Roadside relay teams.

Clinton Carter, former East High track star and competing for the East Des Moines Community Center, was the individual star of the meet, taking his specialty, the high jump, with a mighty leap of 6 feet 1 inch to set a mark that should last for some time to come, and putting the shot a distance of 39 feet 8 inches to make a double win. Bill Mash, East High's star sprinter, could not get going in the century dash and finished a poor third behind Lawrence Jackson, former North High ace, and Springer of Roadside. Mash was running in gym shoes and could not make the grade against his rivals who were torched in spikes.

Another Class A star was Claude Ellison of the Crocker "Y" team, who took first place in the pole vault with a height of 10 feet 4 inches, and placed second in the shot put and third in the high jump.

Approximately 150 athletes took part in the meet which was the first of its kind to be sponsored by the local "Y," replacing the Memorial Day meet held for the past seventeen years in the East High Stadium: The Central Y. M. C. A., Carbondale School, and the Northside A. C. all had squads composed of white boys, while Roadside Settlement had a mixed aggregation.

The summaries:

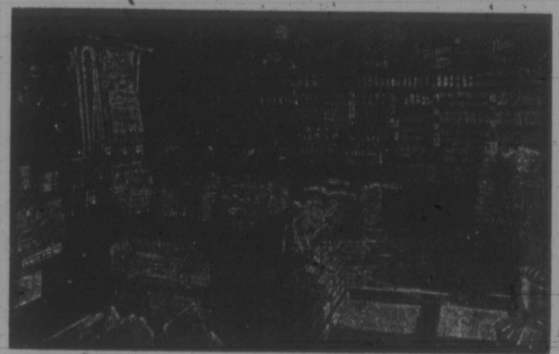

Class A High jump—Carter (East Des Moines C. C.), first; Springer (Roadside); Dille (Roadside); Ellison (Crocker "Y") tied, for second. Height, 6 feet 1 inch.

Broad jump—Griffin (West Des Moines C. C.), first; R. Dille (Roadside), second; Morrison (Crocker, third. Distance, 19 feet 5 inches.

Pole vault—Ellison (Crocker "Y"), first; Grunder (Central Y. M. C. A.), second; Fellman (Northside A. C.), third. Height, 10 feet 4 inches. Shotput—Carter (East Des Moines C. C.), first; Ellison (Crocker "Y"), second; Gustafson (Carbondale)

MORTON GRAVES SUSPENDED BY A. A. U.

Morton Graves, who holds the undisputed amateur featherweight championship of the state, was suspended by the A. A. U. for appearing on an exhibition with a professional. The rules state that if an amateur boxer competes with a professional, or appears on the same card with one, the amateur is subject to suspension.

In the first place neither he nor any of the fellows who appeared on the card, with him knew that the fellow Tiger Louie, who fought Louie Taylor at Riverview. Then there were several boys who were on the same card whose names we do not care to reveal, who were all amateurs. Some of these boys were as well known as Graves. Yet, Leo Lucier, when asked why only Graves was suspended, said that he didn't know who the others were.

He claimed to have spent several days tracing Morton in order to make sure that there was no mistake, but, yet, in the course of tracing this one man, he could find nothing about whom the others were. Then there was no sign of a hearing. Before being suspended from the A. A. U., everyone is entitled to some sort of a hearing, no matter how farcical the hearing may be.

The whole thing amounts to this, as we see it. Graves is in the way of the development of some likely youngster as a local featherweight prospect. He is too old to have much time as a professional, and being a Negro, they don't want to build him up too much anyway.

Next Wednesday night, Joe Louis, world's heavyweight champion, will lay his title on the line in a return bout with Arturo Godoy. Arturo stayed the distance the last time out by doing things that would have got anyone else fighting none but Joe Louis suspended for a while. Yet the South American has been made into somewhat of a hero because he crawled fifteen rounds with the champ, and because one judge was so rotten with race prejudice that he voted against the champ in spite of his clear margin. The fight will be a drawing card with the millions who never saw the fight but who heard the radio account and saw the pictures. These made the South American crayfish look a lot better than the sports writers who were at the fight will say he looked. In fact, the sports writers won't tell you how bad the last "fight" really was because nobody would believe it. The public wants Joe taken so badly that they will make a hero out of face at him. If Godoy made Louis anybody who just makes an ugly look silly, and Louis won the fight, had you ever stopped how much sillier Godoy must have looked if the truth were told? But if the truth were told, there would be no cash customers to see the second edition of the Merry Widow waltz, and that would mean no potatoes for Uncle Mike Jacobs, Joe Louis, Arturo Godoy, and also, just think of the sports writers who would have no place to go on the night of June 20 and the hen-pecked husbands who would have no excuse to go over to Joe's and listen to the fight. Yes, these fights must be held, no matter who hollers. But we are betting that the brawl, scheduled for fifteen rounds or less, goes the less.
