PROVIDES TRAINING

Nashville, Tenn.—While medical training is among the costliest of educational processes, Meharry Medical College of this city now enrolling more than half of all the Negro medical students attending Grade "A" institutions in this country, has been enabled in the past by philanthropic support to provide training for both physicians and dentists at approximately one-fifth of its actual cost to the college, it was revealed today by Dr. Edward L. Turner, Meharry president.

TO CONDUCT FIGHT

New York—A long and bitter fight, reminiscent of the campaign waged against Judge John J. Parker, that kept the North Carolina jurist off the United States Supreme Court in 1930, will be conducted against Senator James Byrnes, if President Roosevelt nominates the South Carolina Representative to fill the post left vacant by retiring Justice James C. McReynolds, officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said today.

Young GOP's to National Parley Here This Week

Freddie D. Hawkins and Mrs. Gladys Carr were elected as national delegate and alternate to the national young G. O. P. convention being held in Des Moines, Jan. 21 and Feb. 1, at the Savery hotel.

Mr. Hawkins is the delegate and Mrs. Carr is the alternate. This is the first time the G. O. P. has recognized the Negro to this extent as Iowa has never had a national delegate to any national G. O. P. convention. Several members of the Negro young G. O. P. Central Committee plan to attend the convention as guests and to try to promote Mr. Hawkins to the national chairmanship of the Negro division of the national young G. O. P.

The son of Mrs. Alice Clinton, the 20-year-old youth worked and saved his money to attend college, he told a Bystander reporter. After finishing his high school work here he secured a NYA job and was able to accumulate enough to enter college. "Then I decided I wanted to go to Howard University and I went," he said. Negroes Take Part in Inaugural Parade

NEGROES HAVE PROMINENT PART IN INAUGURAL PARADE

Washington, (ANP)—Thousands of white and colored citizens lined up on Washington's streets Monday to witness the impressive though drab parade (compared with the spectacles of other years) marking the ceremonies attendant on the inauguration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt as the first man to be President of these United States for three terms. Lined along the streets in the bitter cold, they saw the crack units of the 10th Cavalry leading the parade along the avenue; saw the white and colored WPA workers wind up the parade and laughed at the antics of the colored worker who waved his hand jubilantly as he passed the President's reviewing stand; saw the gaily clad colored NYA workers, dressed in flaming red; the masses of CCC lads, white and colored, pass in part of the two hour parade.

Thronged every available place in the city and as a general holiday had been declared, workers from the various governmental departments joined in the celebration and were part of the estimated half million who saw the triumphant procession.

Railroad trains were crowded and late Monday the trains leaving the capital were loaded to capacity as the tired sightseers returned home-

Dawson, music director of the Institute; and the first registrar and first treasurer of Tuskegee, contemporaries of Mr. Washington, as well as President F. D. Patterson, will be present as Mr. Malone tells the dramatic story of Booker T. Washington's life.

Joseph Spell Denies On Stand He Attacked Socialite

Bridgeport, Conn.—Joseph Spell, 31 year old chauffeur-butler, stolidly told a jury trying him on a rape charge Tuesday that he had been "led on" by his socially prominent employer, Mrs. John K. Strubing, Jr., Greenwich, Conn.

He denied Mrs. Strubing's charge that he thrice had raped her after surprising her in her bedroom, forced her to write a $5,000 "ransom note", and threw her into a reservoir.

After two days of selecting veniremen, the case continued with an all white jury composed of six men and six women.

Mrs. Strubing appeared in court Wednesday for the first time, accompanied by a uniformed nurse, her private attorney, Michael Bradley, prominent Connecticut politician; her brother, also an attorney, and her husband. She went through a lengthy examination at the hands of Mr. Friedman.

Obviously angered at the manner in which Defense counsel was pursuing the story told by the wealthy society woman, whose husband sat in court watching her intently, William Spell asked the Court to advise Friedman about "torturing and badgering" the witness. Judge Foster immediately asked the jury to step out of the room, when Friedman insisted that this request constituted a mistrial. The court reprimanded the prosecutor, but refused to allow the trial to stop.

According to Mr. Marshall, the trial is expected to consume the balance of this week and run well into next week.

Chicago Council Plan Drive on Jim-Crow

Chicago, (ANP)—"Jim crowism in America must go," delegates of the Chicago Council of Negro organizations declared at their meeting Monday night at the Wabash YMCA, as plans for the conference which the council is sponsoring, Jan. 31, were discussed.

In rendering its report, the committee which is in charge of the conference, criticized severely various national organizations for failing to coordinate their efforts and work out a plan of cooperation which will bring about a realization of the hopes and aspirations of Negro citizens. Criticism was also leveled at leaders in Washington, and in southern states who are accused of allowing their personal interests and complacent attitude of apathy to prevent them from agitating for a social equality.

"This committee," the report stated, "is absolutely and unalterably opposed to all forms of discrimination and segregation; including separate schools, separate armed forces, disfranchisement and everything which denies to Negroes all of the rights and privileges of American citizenship."

Extinction of Salmon, Lumber Sources Foreseen

Complete extinction of the Pacific Northwest's two lifeblood industries, salmon and lumber, is not far off if drastic regulatory conservation measures are delayed too long, two scientists of the American Association for the Advancement of Science have declared.

Need for regulation of catches in the salmon industry in Washington, Oregon and Alaska was sounded by Dr. Henry B. Ward, professor emeritus of the University of Illinois, considered the nation's outstanding salmon authority.

"The end of the salmon fisheries is in sight, at the rate we are going now," Dr. Ward declared. "The reduction of salmon already has gone beyond the point of safety."

"Elimination of fish traps in Washington was a fine thing, but if unrestricted fishing of other types is to be permitted the good done is lost."

"Alaska salmon fishing was in a bad way a few years ago. Restrictions were put in and the number of fish increased. But now the restrictions have been broken down again."

Fishing everywhere should be restricted so there is a sufficient escapement to allow for a gradual increase each year in the number of fish, the scientist declared.

A warning of "eventual bankruptcy" in the lumber industry was voiced by Robert W. Cowlin of the Pacific Northwest Forest Experiment station, Portland.

In making his predictions Cowlin pointed out that the present annual drain on Douglas fir resources in western Washington and Oregon is approximately 10,000,000,000 board feet.

Despite restocking operations, new growth to offset that used amounts to only less than 3,000,000,000 board feet a year, he said.

"Of the 5,400,000 acres of cut over forest lands in this region which were not converted to non-forest use, about half was adequately restocked," Cowlin said. "The other half has been poorly restocked or not at all."

Because of great fertility, the Douglas fir region has a potential annual growth of nearly as much as is cut each year, Cowlin said, but added:

"Under a continuation of the crude treatment given the region's forest resources in the past, it is doubtful if half of its estimated potential productivity could ever be achieved."

THE RAMBLIN' KID

The Denver Dip dipped into the pocket of Promoter Archie Davis last Sunday night. He says he will try again with his Elite Dance club. Maybe this week.

Laugh of the week: He hit policy for twenty bucks last week. His mistake was having the dough brought to his house. There was a brief skirmish and Friend Wife put on a confiscation act that would have made Hitler jealous. He was lucky to have half a dollar the next day.

The wives of a couple of Capitol Hill employees would be awfully mad if they saw what I saw last week. There is going to be a terrific explosion in a very nice family unless Friend Hubby stops buying two-dollar stockings for that dafy High school chick.

More Natural Silhouettes

Nellie was a lady—back in Victorian days—but not a bit more of a lady than her great-granddaughter Helen will be the winter of 1940-41. The important note in women's wear news is the slimmer, more graceful—and more natural—silhouette. Shoulders and sleeves are straight—not exaggerated; skirts are slim-looking but sufficient for a natural stride. Untrimmed coats are important, fur is used less lavishly on dressy coats, collars are smaller, prettier and often detachable.

Costume suits, matching dresses and coats are top fashion, and the coats are made so that they can be worn with other dresses as well. Skirts stay at 15 to 18 inches depending on the wearer, dress necklines are high, hats tend more to fit the head.

Gold is the leader in jewelry, but it is never bold or garish. It, too, goes for the quiet elegance that suits the lady of fashion best. Only on the Americana note does the jewelry style trend become bold, with jeweled military pins, insignias, lapel ornaments like medals, and the American flag over and over again for every belt, neckline and lapel, enameled or twinkling with true red, white and blue stones.

Turkey Yields to Women

Tradition, custom and law has been scattered to the winds in Turkey. No longer are the women kept secluded in harems. Today, about the only thing a Turkish woman can't do is join the military forces. It all came about because the men had so much to do in building a new nation that they needed "the women's help." Today there are women judges, city officials, legislators and dentists. They have the right to vote and sit in assembly. There are women law students, women in the college of pharmacy, in engineering schools and in agricultural schools. There are more jobs for women than there are trained women to take them. The few restrictions against women workers are in the kind of work they may do. They are not allowed to work underground, under water, or in dangerous industries such as poison gas and sulphur plants.

Jean Cabbell led the scoring with 29 points with Phyllis Cabbell and Lola Mae Cheatdom playing a great game as forwards. Eleanor Cabbell and Captain Jane Banks and Wilma Banks starred in the back court. The winners substituted freely, the second team playing the greater part of the second half.

A winter hike is being planned for next week by the Top Hatters club. Miss Lola Mae Cheatdom, president, announced Monday.

Attempt to Invade Isles Halted 352 Years Ago

Cables brought the news that wave after wave of German raiders were attacking the British Isles, fighting fierce air battles over the channel and the coast. Once before on a Monday, July 29, England was engaged in a great struggle. Cables, had there been any, might have brought this news. The year is 1588.

With the British Fleet at Sea, July 29.—Her Majesty's navy fought a major engagement with the Invincible Armada today and by nightfall the Spanish fleet was in disorder and fleeing to the North seas.

No estimate of the casualties could be made immediately. Sixteen of the Spanish vessels, cut off from their main body, escaped capture only because of a change in the wind and the British ammunition shortage.

The battle, it was believed, would end the threat of invasion of England by the Spanish army now in The Netherlands under the command of the prince of Parma. Fireships were sent against the huge Spanish fleet, numbering more than 130 vessels, as it lay at anchor in Calais Roads last night. Cutting their anchor cables, the Spaniards put to sea in confusion. Their great crescent formation was reformed off Gravesines to the northeast and there the English in four squadrons closed today, fighting desperately.

Tuesday they met again off Portland, where Sir Martin Forbisher narrowly escaped capture, English reinforcements arrived Wednesday and had their first taste of fire off the Isle of Wight Thursday.

Most negroes and fair-minded white people have been amazed that those charged with our national defense have been practically nothing about the part negroes are to play in this great scheme. And yet we are told that America faces one of its greatest tasks in history, requiring the wholehearted assistance of all good citizens.

By all means such a resolution should pass and the whole matter be done thoroughly. Of course we don't expect the resolution to pass. It is loaded with too much dynamite, which not only will expose the selfishness of the army and navy, but will give Hitler and his crowd a chance to poke fun at our democracy.

However, even though such a bill is not passed, if some debate can be had in Congress on the question, we are bound to have focused upon this hypocritical stand the scrutiny of those who don't like the situation. By all means, let's have the resolution introduced in Congress.

WE NEED INDEPENDENT REPRESENTATIVES

It often happens that when a Negro is appointed to represent his group as a part of a movement, an effort is made to select not the best man but the most unobjectionable man; not in the independent man but the one who is bound by ties of one form or another to keep quiet.

Considerable complaint was heard in Washington over the small part Negroes were permitted to play in President Roosevelt's inauguration. And it so happens that the chairman of the Negro group for the inaugural committee was an employee of Howard University; an institution which receives a large share of its income from the federal government.

Now, this representative may be ever so capable but the fact that his livelihood was coming from this institution prevented him from making the forceful fight for his group that he may have desired.

This same situation prevails in many other instances which tends to emphasize that we need more men in public life who do not depend upon some agency or governmental department for a livelihood for invariably such positions tend to close the mouth of these people when it becomes necessary to fight for the rights of their group.

SPEAKING OF ENGLISH FINANCE

England tells us that she has no money with which to purchase supplies in America, but it does have money to send an ambassador to this country in a big battleship. And while the amount it cost to make the trip was not large when we think of war expenditures, it was too much to spend on any one man's family in these perilous times.

And, speaking of England's finances, the Bystander thinks that Senator Taft of Ohio has the right idea about aiding. Whatever we loan England will not be repaid anyway so why not as Senator Taft says give Britain a billion and a half dollars worth of supplies and not have the bad feeling that existed over the World War debt? Then too, if helping England is indirectly helping us, then maybe after all we would be spending the money on ourselves. At least if Senator Taft's suggestion is followed, we shall not be carrying large sums on our balance sheets as assets which we know can never be collected.

BOOK REVIEW

(By Louise Glass)
AN EVENING WITH A GIRL CALLED CELIA
(New Yorker—Aug. 31, 1940, By Joseph Mitchell)

Those who are especially interested in child development will enjoy this article about Celia, a twelve-year-old daughter of George Gandy, a well-known journalist and Mrs. Gandy.

Periodically she is checked at the New York Clinic for Gifted Children at New York University. Although she is only nine years old, according to the caretaker her mental age is sixteen.

Having begun composing music at the age of three, she now has to her credit sixty pieces. Her first public performance was made at the age of six. She gave two very successful recitals at the world's fair in New York. In turn the fair gave her a day—Celia's Duke DeWeyer Day.

The reporter who called at her home for an interview with and about this remarkable child was a little self-conscious—he didn't know how to "talk down" to her. Noticing a set of Plutarch he asked her about the books. From then on he was at ease because she plunged right into a discussion of them—most of which she had read.

She read "Arabian Nights" at the age of three. At the age of 29 months she could spell five hundred fifty words. She attends school at the Convent of the Sacred Heart—6A grade. She could do ninth grade work but her parents prefer that she have most of her social contact with children her own age. Of course she is an honor student. She likes to skip the rope and her mother told the reporter that she makes very nice doll clothes.

Some other details about this little prodigy will be taken up next week.—L. Glass.

YOUTH COUNCIL

The Youth Council met Jan. 29 to plan the program of the Youth Forums. Members of the council are: Louise Bruce, Bernice Wells, Ava Cassel, Charles Howard, Jr., Harry Stewart, Wellington Howard and Harold Robinson.

Y. M. C. A.

The committee heads of five departments attended the dinner meeting at the Central Y. M. C. A. building Wednesday evening at which Clifford Carey of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, program director of the North Central Area of the Young Men's Christian Association, was the principal speaker. Mr. Carey spent the fore-part of last week in the city conducting an analytical study of the program activities of the Des Moines Y.M.C.A. and reported on his findings and recommendations at Wednesday's meetings.

Among the reports of committee chairmen was, Atty. W. Lawrence Oliver, chairman of the program board of Crocker Street Branch. Mr. Oliver reviewed the program and activity work of the Branch for the consideration of the 50 Y.M.C.A. leaders present, emphasizing the lines along which the work will proceed in the future.

Others present at the affair were: Dr. L. R. Willis, chairman of the board of management; F. O. Morrow, membership chairman; W. C. Buice, chairman of the Religious work committee; John M. Estes, physical department chairman, and Quentin R. Mease, executive secretary.

FAVORITES WIN

The field was considerably narrowed at the end of last week's matches in the young men's billiard tournament as the pre-tourney favorites came through unscathed. Ernest Dixon, defending titleholder, breezed through his opening round match with Marion Diggs winning handily 50 to 13. Dixon's second round opponent, Harry Edwards, furnished more resistance for the Champ but finally succumbed 50 to thirty-four.

Bennie "Silas" Elmore, formerly of this city but now residing in Omaha, Neb., arrived in town just before the closing of entries and got under the wire. Elmore established himself as an "odds-on" favorite by knocking out Luther Ligon 50 to 24 in his initial match, and then showing up under Eugene Wright by the humiliating score of 50 to 6. Other winners were: Theydon Brown defeating William Owens, 50 to 8, and Amos Holt, who trounced Art McCune 50 to 38. 16 players are still in the running.

VITAMIN D DEFICIENCY

At present the mild or latent forms of Vitamin deficiencies are the most important in practice than are the fully developed cases. The latter is uncommon, is easily recognized and is usually promptly and adequately treated. There is reason to believe, however, that minimal or mild forms of these diseases because of their insidious effect constitute a serious problem in as much as their diagnosis is often difficult and uncertain. Scurvy in adults (due to Vitamin C deficiency) is undoubtedly not common in most countries, in contrast a mild or a slight deficiency of Vitamin C is very common. Scurvy is characterized by debility, anemia; malnutrition, swollen and bleeding gums, loosening of teeth, hemorrhagic tendencies and lowered resistance to infection. Delayed hearing of fractures and wounds may occur in the presence of a Vitamin C deficiency.

LINCOLN POST

By Roy Bird

The post starts out the month with a business meeting on the 3rd, regardless of the weather. It is remarkable how the old timers are renewing their membership in the post, also the new veterans who are joining. There must be a reason.

Comrades Tools Elmore and Don Parker are proud of the fact that they got their jobs at the state house during the sitting of the legislature by being legionnaires. The legion does things.

Comrade Elmore is also for the post sponsoring the boys juvenile delinquent dinner, to be held some time this month. Let the boys know what can be done.

Members are invited to attend the Valley rabbit feed at 6:30 p. m. Monday night.

BASKETBALL

It meets every Wednesday at the Central Y. W. C. A.—9th and High who wish other sports such as badminton, ping pong, and valley and from nine to 10:30 p. m. For those roller skating, call the branch and get information.

This meets every Friday from two to four p. m.—On February 7, 1941—the following program will be presented:

NEGROES WIN OPENING GLOVES BOUT

The large crowd that attended the opening of the fourth Golden Gloves meet here saw something. The entire evening was one of sepians getting up out of the resin and maitenning their white opponents. It got so that the crowd, which usually goes wild whenever a Negro hits the deck all Negroes won nine out of four would wait to see if he was really down for keeps before letting go. In ten bouts and six of them were won by boys who lit on the backs of their laps at least once during the fight.

Wallace Smith, a lanky boy from Perry set the pattern for the evening when he got his chin in the way of a whistling right cross in the first minute of his fight with Clifford Stump. Smith got up and proceeded to treat Stump as if that was just what he was, stepping around the white boy and punching him full of holes to carry off the decision. Then Donald Johnson, a short, very short lad from Oralabor, took a grand pasting for two and one-half rounds. Then he landed his Sunday punch and that session was over with Johnson the winner over Gem Reed.

Bob Jackson came on next and then the white folks got their first chance to cheer. Jackson tackled Bob Martenze from Newton. Jackson confined himself to a little too much fancy boxing in spite of the fact that he could hit his opponent just about when and where he pleased. He lost the decision, one that he seemed to have been able to win beyond a doubt. Clarence Strothers put on a neat exhibition of offensive boxing and carried off the nod over Tommy McCoy. Bill Heath got a default to complete the lightweight division.

In the welterweights, our favorite, Ozzie Lewis, tossed a right hook into the midsection of Joe Heonig, stepped over his fallen foe and called it a day. There wasn't even a count—because the lanky boy, blasted out Bob Clarke with a wild flurry of punches, and Bill Dysart of Perry got himself well punched around and lost a decision to Norman Davis. Howard Taylor never got started against Wilmer Vernie and this Perry lad went out in the first round. Roland Taylor, fighting as a novice, made his ugliest face, crouched and batted his badly frightened opponent on top of the head with a lusty right. The boy went out in no time and at the count of ten, got up with a sigh of relief.

In the middleweights, Al Winfrey caught the eyes of the experts when he did a neat job of disposing of Elmer Amundsen in the second round. The boy was cut at the end of the first session but the bell saved him. Winfrey picked him up, helped him to his corner, and went back to work on him in the next round. Lorenzo Brown of Ankeny had a rough way, but slammed the kayo on Bill Mead for another sepiu win. Lloyd Snathorst belted Max Guinn with everything but the waterbucket and went home after that, but couldn't keep Guinn down. Finally Guinn got together and busted the white boy with a couple of hefty wallops. That was that. The fight was over with one more Negro winner.

Ralph Johnson of East High football fame just wasn't long enough to reach his opponent. Johnson, not much taller than a bantam weight, was floored several times but kept toying. He lost the decision but earned a lot of applause by his game try. Jesse Smith of Ankeny was belted out in a round by Irvin Schuller. Our best bets as we see them are Bill Heath and Wallace Smith in the lightweights; Ozzie Lewis in the welter and Al Winfrey of the middleweights.

BASKETBALL

Joe Howard and Bob White ended their prep careers in a blaze of glory as North split even last week, beating Lincoln and losing a thriller to Centerville. Centerville had a Negro, Mayfield, who was tough. Henry Holt kicked in his share of points in both battles.

Jess Hill of East led his team to a win over Roosevelt in what was called a grand upset as the scarlet and black took the lead in the city series.
