Files Case Against U. S. Rubber Co.

Girl Charges Company 'Delaying Defense Work' By Showing Discrimination

Legal action was begun in the federal district court Wednesday when a petition was filed by Elizabeth Shackelford (by her next friend, Julia D. Shackelford and Zella Cassell) against the United States Rubber company.

The plaintiffs charged in the petition that the company, which operates the plant under contract with the war department, has refused to employ them "in the capacity for which they are best qualified."

It contends that this alleged refusal is in violation of an executive order issued by President Roosevelt in June, 1941, reaffirming the government's policy of utilizing all available labor in defense plants regardless of race, creed, color or national origin.

NAACP Membership Drive Opened by N.Y. Speaker

"Colored Americans are the test of this thing called democracy. If it doesn't work with and for them it can't work with and for anybody else," spoke E. Frederic Morrow of New York, Monday night, to nearly one hundred guests who had attended the kickoff dinner and meeting of the membership drive of the Des Moines branch National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"It is the belief of our organization today," the national coordinator of NAACP branches continued "that a well-informed public is one of the best defenses this nation can have. I don't want you to brand me as unpatriotic for the things I am going to say, but whether we like it or not we must face the issues fairly."

"Fence-straddling has not stopped the thrust of the Nazi columns into any nation and fence straddling will not save our country," Mr. Morrow declared as he pointed out jim-crow policies in the army and navy.

"We Negroes have sweated and died to make America great and we are proud of it and we have a stake in it," he stressed as he praised the record that Negroes have made in all of America's battles. He added that "we have no traitors, no rebels, no Fifth Columnists and God helping us and with your help we can and shall keep this record clean."

The speaker pointed out that Negroes meet even more discrimination in industry. In the 40,000 miles he has traveled, he said "I have not seen Colored Americans given an equal break."

"Thousands and thousands of Negro youth who are embittered are beginning to wonder just what is in this struggle for them and they ask 'should not we have the privilege to live for America as well as die for it?'"

Mrs. Georgine C. Morris, chairman of the program, presided.

In launching the membership campaign for 500 members in Des Moines Ike Smalls, urged the workers to go out and get members to join in order to help the NAACP fight the Negro's problems. He introduced officers of the branch and workers in the drive, and presented Mrs. Georgine C. Morris, program chairman. Atty. S. Joe Brown introduced the guest speaker, F. O. Morrow, membership drive chairman and Rev. John C. Bain appeared in pleas for new members.

Musical numbers were offered by Drake University students, Yigal

Stadalin violinist; and Edward Bales, baritone. Both were accompanied by Miss Roberta Maupin.

Mrs. Morris was commended for the unique arrangement of the dinner tables to form a double "V" in the spacious dining hall of Central Y. W. C. A. where the dinner and program were held. The double "V" stands for "Victory at home—Victory abroad."

Special guests included members of the Des Moines Interracial Commission and representatives from the Marshalltown branch of the NAACP, in the persons of Rev. S. A. Nelson, branch president, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Johnson, Mrs. Anna Burton, Miss Jessie Walker, Mr. Samuel Gilliam.

Following the meeting a group of the members went to radio station KSO where the guest speaker, E. F. Morrow, Mr. Smalls, Mrs. Helen Beshears and Mrs. Morris, participated in a fifteen minute radio discussion.

T. Arnold Hill, NYA Director, Visits Here

T. Arnold Hill of Washington, D. C., assistant director of the National Youth Administration's Negro Affairs, was in Des Moines this week conferring with persons interested in furthering the Negroes' social and economic status.

One of the major problems with which the NYA is concerned is "seeing that the Negro people get opportunities to work on the NYA and then get opportunities to find employment in industries," Mr. Hill informed a group which met with him on Wednesday at the NYA headquarters.

He stressed taking advantage of training that is being offered.

For a quarter of a century Mr. Hill directed the department of industrial relations of the National Urban League of New York.

NAVY TO ACCEPT NEGROES FOR GENERAL SERVICE

Washington, D. C.—The Navy Department Tuesday announced that Negro volunteers will be accepted for enlistment for general service in the reserve components of the U. S. Navy, the U. S. Marine Corps, and the U. S. Coast Guard.

All ratings in those three branches of the Naval Service will be opened to them, and recruiting is to be begun as soon as a suitable training station is established. A public announcement will be made when actual recruiting gets under way.

In making the announcement officials stated that the same physical and mental entrance standards required of all Navy personnel is to be required of Negroes.

It was added that Negro sailors are to be utilized for duty in District craft of various kinds, in maritime activities around shore establishments, in Navy Yards, and in the Navy's new construction crews and companies which will be employed in developing bases outside the United States' continental limits.

Recruiting of Negroes for service in the Messman Branch is to continue without change or interruption.

K. C. Newspaper Woman At Youth Forum Sunday

The Negro Youth Forum will hold its second monthly public meeting Sunday afternoon, April 12, at 3 o'clock at the Maple Street Baptist church, at which time Miss Lucille Bluford, news editor of the Kansas City Call, will be guest speaker.

Miss Bluford has been prominent in youth work on a national scale and has become nationally known from the results of her suit against the University of Missouri for refusing her admittance to the state's school of Journalism. The result was that the state of Missouri built a new school of journalism in Lincoln University, at Jefferson City, Mo., for Negro students, at a cost of $300,000.

As a young newspaper woman, Miss Bluford has figured prominently in many of Kansas City's battles for the welfare of the Negro citizens.

The Forum audience will hear John Coleman, newly elected president of the Negro Chamber of Commerce, who has been leading a fight for months to get Negroes in local defense industries. Mr. Coleman also heads the industrial committees of the local NAACP and the Brotherhood, Inc.

The sanitation department of the Des Moines Board of Health has planned a short health program in observation of Negro Health Week.

Other features of the program will be musical numbers from Drake University music students.

Freddie Hawkins, chairman of the Forum, will introduce the program chairman, William Bailey. Rev. C. Lopez McAllister, Maple Street church pastor, will give the invocation.

One-half hour will be allotted to a discussion period on questions that will be written by the spectators.

The Negro Youth Forum held its first public meeting last month.

The unprecedented increases in service and equipment requirements for residence and business customers for the defense and military activities, and the protection and safeguarding of the service and property in wartime have all necessitated more people on the payroll.

MR. BROOKS IS RECOVERING

Mr. Addison Brooks, 3011 Bowdoin street, is recovering at his home from a recent operation at Mercy hospital.

ABBE WALLACE

Cutie—I'm in love with Z boys. One is in the army. The other is at home. Both have asked me to marry. The one at home wants me to marry privately and stay on with my mother until I finish school. The other one in the army wants me to marry him and go live with his brother in a distant city. Which one should I choose?

Ans.—It is unthinkable that a girl your age should even consider marriage. Neither man is in a position to marry you and provide a home. What would you gain by getting married? Let both fellows know that you intend to get a little fun out of life and you can't do it after you are married, even if you do keep it a secret. Go ahead and make friends and enjoy the socials of your community as they come and get over the marriage bug.

M. V. W.—My small son is in the 3rd grade at school and I am much concerned over him. He is of a nervous, fidgety type, inattentive and therefore resulting in unfinished classroom work. Oftentimes he brings home grand marks and again he slumps into a state of doing nothing. Do you have any suggestions in this case? He is somewhat of a problem.

Ans.: Never should you let the boy know that you believe him to be a problem. Place him on a firm basis there at home. Insist that he do certain small duties around the home and see to it that he finishes every job he attempts. Make the boy realize that he can't start a job and drop it before it is finished regardless of whether it is picking up his toys or putting an aeroplane together. Allow him ample time to do these duties and see that he finishes them during this time. If you can accomplish this task in the home, I really don't think his teacher will have as much trouble getting him to finish his class work as she is right now. Talk to the teacher and let her know you are cooperating with her one hundred percent. The boy is unusually smart and is advanced for his age, and it is up to you as his mother to learn to handle him.

I. B. W.—What can I do to stop this man from going with me if he don't marry me as he should? I have two children for him and I think he should want to marry me. What can I do to stop loving him?

Ans.: Talk to your children's father and try to appeal to his sense of duty and encourage him to take his place as their father. The whole trouble seems to be that he's young and doesn't want to settle down. But on the other hand, these are his children and he should be made to claim them if he doesn't want to do it willingly. He's fond of you and very fond of the children and you must try to make him see the importance of doing right by both you and these youngsters. If he won't marry you — stop going with him.

In time with the rhythm you march back to your desk or vanish in some store to continue your shopping tour.

But on Monday during and after the Army Day parade very little singing was heard and no shopping as the majority of the stores were closed early.

There were tunes—plenty of them—mostly on the wailing side. Feet were hurting—bunions were burning. Mothers were tired and bent from lifting small children to see the soldiers, the trucks, the guns.

Traffic was jammed as 75,000 persons tried to get back to their home. There was nothing like getting back home.

USUAL SYMPTOMS
The most usual symptoms of tuberculosis are tiredness, loss of weight, indigestion and a cough that hangs on.

COLORED SOLDIERS DANCE AT POST

Two army trucks carried young women and chaperons from the Girls' Service Organization to Ft. Des Moines Army post Wednesday night to be guests at the Post's entertainment for the forty or more Negro soldiers of the Quartermasters' Company who will be stationed at the post throughout the war.

The dance was held at the newly built Non Commissioned Officer's club house, where a small post orchestra furnished the "jive" as the guests danced, and "jittered" on the slick-as-glass floors under beautiful fluorescent lights.

Though the soldier boys had spent the day in drilling, exercising, and some preparing from coming relays, they were not too tired to go through grand marches, drills and then swing out into dances to entertain the girls. There was much merriment as many of the guests sat by at individual tables until the tag dances began. The floor show was an impromptu jitterbug contest in which four soldier boys selected their partners at random—staged and offered many thrills as they showed off jitter-bug styles from their home towns. The best couple turned out to be Pvt. Tommy Wilson of St. Louis and Miss Martha Floyd. Wilson is a dancer by profession.

Refreshments consisted of cookies which were passed by soldier boys. Soda water was served from a bar at the end of the hall.

As eleven o'clock neared the guests got their wraps from a check stand, and were escorted in the trucks which awaited at the door of the post.

There were some other escorting done during the dance of guests who tried to "crash" the door. If the guest had not been registered by the G.S.O. club and did not leave from the Community Center she did not gain admittance—but was escorted back to the gate of the post.

"Bronchitis symptoms call for a chest X-ray examination," says the Iowa Tuberculosis Association. "Too many elderly people's 'bronchitis' is in reality tuberculosis."

Tuberculosis presents a hospital bill to this country for its victims of $200,000 a day, or $140 a minute.

COOLED CREAM and GOOD BUTTER GO HAND IN HAND

Cream which was not cooled immediately after separation and which was not kept cool all the time it remained on the farm has "three strikes" on it by the time it reaches the butter-making plant. If there is one thing the butter maker has learned over the years it is that the best butter is invariably the product of properly cooled cream on the farm.

Experiments at the dairy department of Purdue University show that through "temperature control" the farmer is enabled to hold the quality of his cream as many as three days and collect a premium price over the next grade product. The creamery striving to manufacture quality butter is glad to pay the premium for cream kept well-cooled on the farm and delivered clean and fresh.

Cold temperatures will not prevent bacterial growth, unless the cream is cooled immediately. Bacteria start their work of destruction in the warm milk and cream. Air cooling, even in cold weather, is too slow to retard bacterial growth. If milk is allowed to stand before it is strained and separated, the damage will be done. Or if the cream is allowed to stand before being put in the cooler, another opportunity will be made for bacterial growth. Water cools cream a great deal faster than the coldest air. A cold water cooling tank will quickly bring down the temperature of warm cream. It will slow down bacteria so that their rate of multiplication will be kept at a minimum.

An efficient cooling tank can be made on the farm from an old barrel. Placed between the pump and the watering trough, with an inlet and outlet pipe, cold water can be kept flowing. Cream cooled in this way as soon as it is separated will have a low bacterial count. If all the other steps necessary to the production of quality cream have been observed, and if the cream is marketed every two or three days, it will grade No. 1 and be bought on quality.

To Telephone Users—

The increasing costs of the past several years have reached a point where, in order to continue to furnish adequate and reliable telephone service it is imperative that additional revenue be provided promptly.

The revenue increases from growth in the business and from some increases in local service rates have been more than offset by substantially higher wage and material costs and greatly increased taxes and, although we are applying every practicable economy in operations additional revenues are necessary.

The unprecedented increases in service and equipment requirements for residence and business customers, for the defense and military activities, and the protection and safeguarding of the service and property in wartime, all have necessitated more people on the payroll. The dislocations resulting from the present emergency also are adding greatly to the costs of furnishing service. Present indications are that we cannot expect reductions in costs but, on the contrary there may be further increases.

In order to meet the needs of this situation, a general application of a surcharge of fifteen per cent will be made on rates for local telephone service, effective with the next bill, and on charges for long distance calls between points within the state, on and after April 10.

Your cooperation, which has helped so much throughout the years in our efforts to meet your telephone requirements, is greatly appreciated, and it is the purpose of this statement to present the facts regarding our present situation in order that we may continue to merit your confidence.

THIS NEWSPAPER, IOWA'S OLDEST NEGRO WEEKLY IS AN INSTITUTION DEVELOPED FOR AND BY THE PEOPLE OF IOWA AND THE MIDDLEWEST TO PRESENT THE NEWS OF THE DAY, FOSTER BETTER RACE RELATIONS, LEAD PUBLIC OPINION AND TO CONTENT FOR THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF ALL THE PEOPLE AT ALL TIMES.

THE NAVY RELENTS SOME

There are those who have criticized the Negro for the fight he is carrying on even during the present emergency for his full rights as an American citizen. In fact, even some of those who have heretofore called themselves friendly to the Negro have become somewhat bitter and have expressed themselves urging that such matters should be held in abeyance until the war is over.

With such a position of course the Bystander does not agree for the war is supposed to be carried on to guarantee people outside of the country the very things for which the Negro is contending. And it is ridiculous to expect us or any other sane American to fight and die for anything less.

Frankly, these people are either ignorant of the whole world program or are not friends they propose to be. Or, they don't understand what it requires to gain all-out effort by all the citizens in behalf of this country.

One of the serious criticisms we have made of our war effort has been the refusal of the navy to enlist Negroes in any other capacity than that of mess attendants. And this position has been maintained in spite of the fact that every available type of advertising has and is being made to enlist men for navy service.

However, this week Secretary Knox has announced that enlistment had been ordered for Negroes in all branches of that service and that promotion to higher grades would be made as the men learned the work.

It is highly gratifying that the navy has reversed this long standing policy of exclusion to some extent against the Negro; it is encouraging to those who have made the fight for the abolition of discrimination that the justice of their cause has been recognized and something tangible done about it.

Many people white and black never knew this rule existed. They have expressed general satisfaction at this forward step which smacks of more democracy in America.

Possibly the program will not be entirely satisfactory in the beginning. But it is at least a start in the right direction.

NOW OTHERS SEE IT

The Justice Department has begun to round up many men and women identified with the "bund" and other organizations which have for their program the very thing for which Hitler and his gang stand for. Much criticism has been leveled at the Dies Congressional Committee which has been working to expose subversive organizations in America, which in fact has been shielding some of them—notably the Ku Klux Klan.

Negroes and their friends have opposed these groups in the beginning. The government has permitted them to carry on in the name of free speech but in so doing some have allowed them to get a pretty strong foothold.

Given enough rope, we were certain these groups would get tangled in the net of the law.

Eventually we are going to learn that any organization formed to oppose any group on the basis of race, religion or origin is dangerous to a democracy; that the abuse of free speech in the name of patriotism is just as dangerous in these instances as free speech to plan murder, pillage or plunder.

The department ought to clean up these groups now and keep them on the run for they are as dangerous in peace time as at war time.

A FEW MINUTES OF APRIL

We are writing this today, not in terms of welfare of the nation, the state, the county or the city. We are writing this in terms of our own individual well-being.

There is a certain investment we can make for ourselves in "a few minutes of April." This investment might pay only a small dividend and yet it might pay the biggest dividend possible—our very lives.

Throughout this month the Polk County Tuberculosis Association is holding its Early Diagnosis Campaign in conjunction with the 15th annual nationwide drive. This month-long concerted effort of tuberculosis associations throughout the country is to drive home to us the life-saving facts about the treacherous onset of tuberculosis and the necessity of early diagnosis.

Tuberculosis can be in an advanced state before any symptoms appear. A person can be losing his health—his very life—to tuberculosis, as well as spreading it to others, without knowing he is a victim of the disease. And the symptoms, when they do appear, are treacherous. Too easily can they be assigned to a "run-down condition." The most usual symptoms are a cough that hangs on, tiredness, loss of weight, and indigestion.

Medical science has perfected the means of detecting this pernicious onset of the disease by means of the chest X-ray examination. The X-ray will show whether the tuberculosis germs—and 50 per cent of us are infected with the germs—have succeeded, in spite of the resisting powers of the body, in starting active disease.

Correctly made, well-interpreted chest X-rays are imperative in the diagnosis of tuberculosis. Such an examination can find the disease in its early stages when it is readily amenable to cure. The chest X-ray examination should be to all of us a matter-of-fact precautionary measure against the treacherous disease. We can well spend a few minutes of April on such an examination.

WHO AM I?

By H. N. Wilcott BISHOP AND STATESMAN

I was born in the "Old Dominion" in 1825, and was brought to the state of Ohio merely as a boy. I was converted and licensed in the M. E. church in Hannibal, Mo. Sometime later, however, I joined the A. M. E. church, and took up my first charge at Muscatine, Iowa. After being ordained deacon by Bishop Quinn W. P., in 1857, I entered Wilberforce U. My second charge was at Brooklyn, N. Y. and 1862 I was ordained elder by Bishop Payne, in Washington, D. C.

1865, I was sent to the South Carolina Conference where, I was placed in charge of some of the most outstanding churches of the state, "Emanuel" that had a membership of 3,000; "Morris" with a membership of 2,000, and the great church at Charleston, where I was instrumental in building the membership to 10,000.

I served on the Constitutional Committee at the convention which revised the Constitution of South Carolina. Amid all the disadvantages of slavery, I was able to push my way upward. I represented my state at Washington both to the Forty-third and Forty-fifth Congress. I was sent to the state Senate two consecutive times from the Charleston district.

Of all my laborious efforts my duties as president of Paul Quinn College, Waco, Texas, was the most loved. It was in 1880 after I had been made Bishop and assigned to the Louisiana and Texas district that I was called to Paul Quinn. And among my most devoted friends were the poor, the rich, the white and the black, of all creeds and denominations.

Who am I? Answer: Bishop Richard Harvey Cain.

RELATION BETWEEN BEST BUTTER AND CLEAN SEPARATOR

It's hard to believe, but it's absolutely true: Washing and sterilizing the cream separator every time it is used not only means cream and butter of the highest quality but also a maximum amount of butterfat from each separation.

A curious investigator, Dr. D. R. Theophilus, working in a dairy college laboratory, found a simple explanation why the best cream and butter always come from the cleanest separators. The results are shown in the graphic chart above. Dr. Theophilus first separated milk in an absolutely clean separator. He found, which was later churned into fine butter. He left the machine unwashed and used it again for separation in 36 hours. Now he found 60 times as many destructive bacteria as he counted when the separator was clean, and the resulting butter turned out to be much lower in quality. He ran a third trial in the unwashed separator after 60 hours. This time he found 480 times as many bacteria in the cream as in his first trial—so many of them that leagues will open their schedules about May 1. For information concerning entrance requirements, call or see a member of the staff at the 'Y'.

Plan for Annual Membership Dinner

The annual Board of Management election and membership dinner of the Crocker Street Branch Y. M. C. A. has been tentatively set for the week of May 11, according to an announcement today by Dr. L. R. Willis, chairman of the Board. Atty. W. Lawrence Oliver, chairman of the Program committee, is making arrangements for the appearance of a nationally known speaker to head the well-rounded program planned for this affair.

Announce Dates for Annual Camp Period

The dates for the 1942 Crocker 'Y' Period at the Des Moines Y. M. C. A. Camp have been set for August 19 to 26, the camp committee, of which W. C. Bulce is chairman, announced this week. This answers many inquiries received from many boys who feared that camp would be discontinued during the war. A number of major improvements have been made during the fall and winter months that will make this already magnificent camp "Bigger and better than ever." A Camp Savings Fund has been instituted at the Branch for those boys who want to insure their going this year. Boys are urged to come in now and get further information on this savings plan.

Camp Roundup Slated for April 24

Good news for all older campers, as well as those "Hope to be" campers this year is the annual Spring Camp Roundup will be held on Friday, April 24. This is not to be confused with the Camp Pow Wow that always precede the Period in August.

the resulting butter was almost unusable. The dirtier the separator the higher the bacteria count, and the higher the bacteria count, the poorer the butter quality.

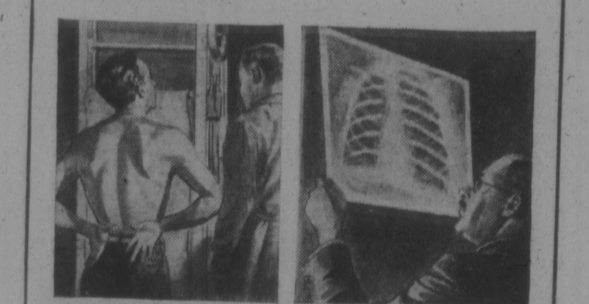

Other tests have proved that the amount of butterfat found in skim-milk when a separator is washed only once a day is greater than when it is washed twice a day. In some cases, the amount of butterfat lost was twice as great in the morning as in the evening. The reason was soon discovered: The separator had been washed in the morning and was clean when used in the evening; it was not washed at night and was used in its unclean condition for the morning separation. The small particles of curd and slime sediment adhering to the crevices of the separator bowl lowered the efficiency of the machine and slowed up the free flow of the milk and cream. This condition, which takes money right out of the farmer's pocket, is easily eliminated by the simple practice of thoroughly washing the separator as soon as the separating job is finished.

A full evening of entertainment and features is being whipped into shape and the boys are eagerly looking forward to this event, which is just a prelude to the grand and glorious eight days spent in vacation thrill.

WANTED FOR MURDER!

1. This Killer is one of billions of tuberculosis germs now at large. He and his fellows flourish in war-time. Striking without warning, they will eventually, according to statistics, kill one out of every twenty people who are reading this warning!

2. The Victim usually doesn't even know when he's been attacked—he may feel fine until months later when it's too late. Eight out of ten persons don't reach the doctor soon enough.

3. The Safest Thing is to have a periodic check-up with your doctor. He can make a simple, painless test in a few minutes. And if you should happen to have T.B. you can catch it in time.

4. Right Now, your local, state, and national T. B. associations are conducting their Early Diagnosis Campaign. Cooperate with them—arrange to see your doctor today. Remember, T. B. kills more people between 15 and 45 than any other disease.
