TELLS SENATOR TROOPS WILL NOT BE MOVED

Washington, D. C. (ANP)—Northern troops will be kept in the south "whenever necessary in the furtherance of our war efforts," Gen. George C. Marshall chief of staff, told Sen. John H. Bankhead in a letter Wednesday.

Recently the Alabama senator had asked that northern troops be stationed in the north in order to keep down racial friction. There have been several outbreaks in southern camps when northern recruits resented the attitude of southern whites.

"The only sound basis upon which we can proceed in the prosecution of the war is to station our troops in accordance with the dictates of military necessity," Gen. Marshall replied.

"Although requirements of the military situation must take precedence over other consideration during the emergency, the war department appreciates the sentiments of the civilian communities near our army posts and will deviate from the policy as outlined only when necessary in the furtherance of our war effort."

ELECTED TO BENCH

Knoxville, Tenn. (ANP)—Boyd B. Browder, janitor of the county court house here, was elected to the county court in the general election of last Thursday. He will serve as a justice of the peace with two other members, both of whom are white.

PICKET MOVIE

Los Angeles—A picket line was thrown around Loews State theater when the 40-star movie, "Tales of Manhattan" was being shown. The picketers objected to the final sequence in the picture in which Paul Robeson, Rochester and Ethel Waters use dialect.

CLARKE STEWART AT GREAT LAKES STATION

Great Lakes, Ill.—Clarke D. Stewart, 32, 907 16th street, Des Moines, Iowa, entered training here at the U. S. Naval Training Station this week as an apprentice seaman, under the Navy's recently inaugurated program for enlisting men of the Negro race.

He is now undergoing an intensive training course in naval procedure before assignment to active duty either with the U. S. fleet at sea or at a naval shore station.

Men taken into the Navy under this program are quartered in Camp Robert Small, named in honor of a Negro who delivered a Confederate ship to the U. S. Navy during the Civil war and subsequently served in Congress.

OVER 500 NEGROES IN MARINE CORPS

Washington, D. C.—Five hundred and forty-two Negroes had enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve by August 13, 1942, the Office of War Information announced this week.

These volunteers have been placed in an inactive duty status until the first battalion of Negroes, numbering about 900, has been recruited. The recruits will then be sent to New River, North Carolina, where barracks and training facilities are now being constructed.

The Negro Marine unit will form a composite battalion which will include all combat arms of the ground forces composed of artillery, anti-aircraft, machine guns, tank and infantry. The unit will also include billets for recruits who are skilled in various trades and occupations such as radio operators, electricians, accountants, carpenters, draftsmen, band musicians, riggers and blacksmiths.

When the new training center is ready for their reception, the new recruits will be ordered directly from their homes to duty in the training area. Approximately 900 men will be recruited for the first battalion.

NAACP TELLS SECRETARY STIMSON

Racial Quota System Is Bottleneck

Says Hundreds Remain on Waiting List; Ask That Training Be at All Bases

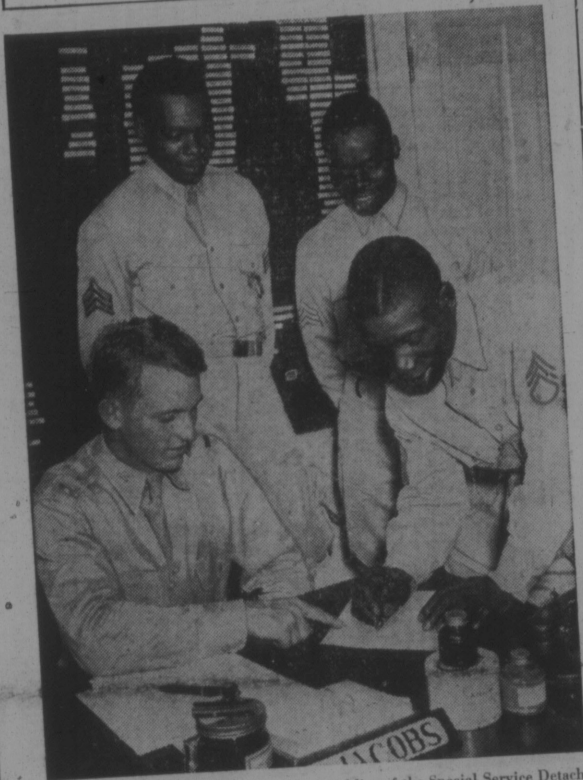

New York—The quota system for training Negro army pilots at Tuskegee Institute has resulted in "hundreds and hundreds" of young Negroes being put on waiting lists "a year and a half long," the NAACP said this week in a letter to Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War.

Also urged was the training of Negro and white flying officers together, just as army officers are trained together for other divisions of the service.

The NAACP renewed its request that Negroes be allowed to train wherever there is a training base and mentioned the "discouragement, despair and cynicism which the limited segregated facilities at Tuskegee are spreading among Negro young men eligible for service in the Air Corps."

In making the suggestions, Stimson was told, "this Association wishes to emphasize that it does so in a sincere effort to assist in mobilizing the maximum fighting man power of our nation to assure the quickest and most decisive victory over the Axis."

Doughboys Go 100% For Bond Pledge

FORT BENNING, GA.—Every Negro soldier of the Special Service Detachment of the Academic Regiment of the Fort Benning Infantry School has subscribed to the United States Army War Bond drive.

The photograph shows Staff Sergeant John Brown, of Charleston, S. C., signing his pledge while his commanding officer, Lt. Robert V. Jacobs, looks on. Sergeants James Williams, of Birmingham, Ala., and Willie Frederick, of Lafayette, Ala., are awaiting their turn to sign on the dotted line.

The 79 soldiers of this special detachment have subscribed to $2,500 worth of War Bonds, every man signing up for at least one War Bond.

War Show Cavalrymen Talk of 'Horses' Names

By MARIE ROSS

Though there were many thrilling moments in the Army War Show which closed here at the Drake Stadium Wednesday night, some of the more realistic scenes were found in the wide open spaces at Forty-eighth and Franklin where the army show men were encamped in their tents.

Small groups of citizens found their way out to the encampment during the daily visiting hours and had an opportunity to meet the men of the show personally, and see their equipment.

In the Ninth Cavalry, originally from Ft. Riley, Kas., were soldier boys from all parts of the country. Many of them did not know how they had come to be with the horses—but as much as that was the only branch of the army service they knew—they liked it. Others said it was "easier on the feet."

One interesting little cavalryman, in the person of Corp. Ed Cardwell, who was born in Des Moines and reared in Sioux City, talked at length on the horses and equipment of his company, while his wife, Mrs. Venita Woody Cardwell, listened, during one of the visiting hours.

"Horses Like People"
Cardwell who has been in the cavalry for 18 months, revealed that every soldier of the cavalry had his own horse which he gave a name to his own liking. He informed that "horses are like people in that they have a mind of their own."

pany possesses. Aside from the horse are: saddle bag, bridle blanket, bed, canteen roll which holds the blanket, rifle, rifle boots, a-45 automatic, a steel helmet, a campaign hat, gas mask, hatchet, wire cutter, flashlight. Then, there is the clothing for summer and winter, which included underwear, socks, shirts, boots, spurs, and mess kit and a grooming kit and other articles.

Cardwell called his horse by the name of "Susie." Other soldiers had favorite names for their steed, many of the names beginning with the letter "B" in keeping with their company B.

PFC. Johnny Phillips of Helena, Ark., who has been in the cavalry for eighteen months, likes this branch of army service. "It is easier on the feet," he smiled. His horse he calls "Bruno."

Because Pvt. Willie Beasley's horse has a "bad look in his eye—one on the romantic trend," he is called "Badeye," the soldier boy from Shelby, Miss., informed.

Pvt. Thomas Hamilton of Kansas City, Mo. said nothing was more fitting for his half-breed, than the name of "Biscuits," as he liked nothing better to eat than hot biscuits.

Pvt. Houston Watkins of Newark, New Jersey, once owned a pony which he called "Billy," and in memory of his favorite boyhood playmate he calls his cavalry horse by the same name.

Pvt. Ernest London of Jefferson City, Mo., preferred to call his horse "Dan," for a friend; while Pvt. Erby Abram of Chicago, wants to remem-

Negro Auxiliaries Due at Ft. Aug. 24

Eight Negro women are scheduled to arrive at Fort Des Moines army post this week end to begin training as auxiliaries in the women's army auxiliary corps, officers reported Wednesday. This will be the second group of Negro women to come to the fort since the opening of the training school in July when thirty-nine officer candidates came.

Graduation exercises for the officer candidates are set for Saturday, August 29, when the candidates will receive their commissions the press relations bureau revealed. The graduates will remain at the training center for two more weeks of advanced training as commissioned officers.

On her third visit to the training center, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, director of the WAAC, came to the fort Monday for inspection tours, informal visits to the barracks and checking up on building construction and class work.

Cafe Hostess for WAAC Arrives

Mrs. Geneva B. Turner, cafeteria hostess at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., arrived in Des Moines Tuesday to begin duties as permanent hostess in the service club for eleven months. Under her supervision was a personnel which included a bookkeeper, storekeeper, two cashiers, two fountain persons, six waitresses, four cooks, three dishwashers, and four bus boys she described.

A resident of St. Louis, the wife of Rolla R. Turner, Mrs. Turner comes from a long line of army people she revealed in an interview on Tuesday. Her father, William Bulger of St. Louis who died three years ago at the age of 111 years, had fought in four wars—Civil, Spanish American, Boar and Indian.

Born in the Indian territory in Oklahoma, Mrs. Turner went to elementary and high schools in Topeka and Wichita, Kas., and attended Tuskegee Institute, Ala., and the Washington Technical school in St. Louis, Mo.

She is stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Drew 955 Sixteenth street.

ber a friend too, "Gardenia."

Des Moines Boy in Kitchen
Back into the mess tent where soldier boys were stirring large vats of food and in the act of preparing dinner for the cavalry, was another Des Moines boy in the person of Pvt. Farris Harris, nephew of Mrs. Anna Mitchell, 1061 Fifteenth street. He was serving as first cook and was cooking beef "for the men who ride as they eat plenty of food."

Harris did not prefer to talk about his horse. "Yes, I have one too," he laughed and added that "I want him to stay out there too." He has been with the cavalry for two years.

Comparing the quantity of food consumed by an army horse with what the soldier eats, Technical Sergeant Patterson of the medical department of the veterinary service, informed that a horse ate twelve pounds of oats and fourteen pounds

MRS. HOBBY

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, director of the women's army auxiliary corps, expressed her appreciation of an editorial which appeared recently in the Iowa Bystander written by the editor, James E. Morris. She wrote in a letter August 12:

"Your recent editorial, entitled 'WAAC Gets Fine Start,' has come to this office.

"May I express my appreciation for your thoughtful assessment of the organization and aims of the WAAC?"

"It is heartening to know that we have your editorial support."

War Dept. Orders Charges Filed Against Two Texans

Washington, D. C.—Attorney General Francis Biddle announced this week that, acting upon the request of the War Department, he had ordered the filing in the U. S. District Court at Houston, Texas, of an information against Clyde and Billy Brown, police officers of Beaumont, Texas, charging a violation of the civil rights of a Negro soldier, Private Charles J. Reco, on July 28.

The information charges that Reco was ordered off a Beaumont bus because he had taken a vacant seat in a section reserved for white passengers; that after he had alighted from the bus, one of the defendant police officers struck him several times with a nightstick and forced him into the back seat of a police car; that during the trip to police headquarters one of the officers shot him through the shoulder and once through the arm. After being booked at police headquarters, Reco was removed to a hospital. Reports to the Department of Justice indicate that Reco had caused no disturbance on the bus and that he had not resisted the police officers until after he had been struck several times.

The defendants will be taken into custody as soon as practicable. They will be charged with a violation of Section 52, Title 18, U. S. Code, which provides that a citizen shall not be deprived of his civil rights under the color of state laws. Maximum penalties provided by the statute are imprisonment for one year or a fine of $1,000, or both.

(NOTE—The offense mentioned above is a Federal misdemeanor. In such cases a charge may be brought directly into court through the filing of an "information" without recourse to grand jury proceedings.)

MIXED NEGRO, WHITE ARMY POLICE PATROLS

London, England—Mixed Negro and white American military police patrols appeared in Britain Saturday as the United States army moved to prevent clashes between Negro and white soldiers on leave.

Several minor incidents have been reported in a few rural areas, particularly between white southern soldiers and Negro troops quartered in the same districts.

Rev. Lucas Speaks At Bethel Church

"The Negro can either be made or broken upon the wheel of fate," the Rev. W. H. Lucas, Chicago A.M.E. minister, spoke before a crowd on Sunday afternoon, August 16, at the Men's Day services of the Bethel A.M.E. church.

Using as his subject, "Dangerous Opportunity," the former Bethel church pastor, pointed out that in a crisis, the Negro, by assuming a reactionary attitude—an attitude of disloyalty or traitorism, "his lot will be—if not worse—equivalent to his status before emancipation."

"But if he will do as he has always done—bear arms, gloriously and honorably for the defense of his country, without regard for the mistreatment that is his to endure—the world must take a different attitude, as regards to his well-being." He added that "discrimination, ostracism and Jim-crowism will be so weakened that they will be as no material barriers to his upward trend socially, politically and economically."

The Rev. Mr. Lucas preached at the morning and night services. He and Mrs. Lucas are on a vacation trip from Chicago where the Rev. Mr. Lucas is pastor of the St. Mary's A.M.E. church. They left the city Tuesday for Cedar Rapids to visit friends and members of his former pastorate at the Bethel A. M. E. church there.

Burns' Pastor Is Son of Minister

The Rev. Ennis M. Whaley, new pastor of the Burns Methodist church will speak Sunday morning, August 23, at the 11 o'clock services from the subject, "Patching Old Clothes."

The Rev. Mr. Whaley began his pastorate here on August 9, coming to the city from Little Rock, Ark., where he held a charge at the Duncan Chapel Methodist church.

Born in a parsonage in Hannibal, Mo., the son of a Methodist minister, the late Rev. Q. E. Whaley, his thirty-two year old pastor began his ministerial career five years ago. His first pastorate was at the St. Paul Methodist church in St. Charles, Mo.

Like his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Whaley who now teaches at Lincoln school in Hannibal, Mo., the young minister has taught in the public school in Marion County, Mo. He received his bachelor of arts degree

Expectant Mothers Are Advised to Drink Milk

Recent experiments at the University of Iowa indicate that liberal amounts of milk, along with other protective foods, in every meal, protect the prospective mother from a loss of teeth during pregnancy.

The calcium, phosphorus and nitrogen metabolism of five pregnant women was studied during the last five months of pregnancy and during early lactation.

The results of the experiment indicated that this diet furnished adequate quantities of calcium and phosphorus. At the beginning of the test, all five of the women had dental caries (tooth decay).

Youth Jam Interubrans to YM-YMCA Camp at Boone

TO Y. W. C. A. CAMP

Bound for Boone, Iowa, the Y.W.C.A. camp for a week of fun seventy girls of the Blue Triangle branch Y.W.C.A. packed and jammed interubrans on Wednesday afternoon.

Registered for camp with cabin leaders, nurse, staff members of the camp, including the secretary, Mrs. Marie Roberts, were the following girls:

- Vennessee Boyd, Beverly Brown, Leora Brown, Joanne Brown, Florence Carter, Jean Christopher, Dorothy Collier, Maxine Cooley, Myrtle Cooley, Phyllis Carr, Vivian Crockett, Gwendolyn Davis, Marguerite DeSleet, Elsie Mae Evans, Zeda Belle Hall, Catherine Hardiman, Betty-June Hayes, Lucille Hayes, Willa Mae Hayes, -Bettie Jackson, Gwyneth Jackson, Wenanah Jackson, Phyllis Lighon, Marguerite Langford, Clara London, Gwendolyn London, La Vaughn Martin, Doris Mayberry, Delcie Mease, Rose Marie Meeks, Delores Morrow, Gloria Nelson, Elaine McFralnd, Delores Miller, Barbara Oliver, Beverly Oliver, Cleota Proctor, Mildred Randall, Patricia Randall, Lillian Robinson, Alberta Rogers, Gloria Scott, Pauline Scott, Ida Smith, Nancy Smith, Jwendolyn Smith, Virginia Taylor, Jetty Jean Thomas, Leslie Mae Turner, Janice Lee Wadsworth, Delores Weston, Dorothy Williams, Gloria Williams, Lottie Williams, Doris Singleton, Doris Rife, Maxine Harlan, Betty Jo Estes, Emma Ration, Delores Duncan, Margaret Ann Ashford, Kathleen Frazier, Ariene Rooney.

The branch Y.W.C.A. entertained the girls at a camp party last Thursday afternoon. The recreation leaders, Mesdames Gertrude North and Martha London, had charge of the games. A talk was given by Mrs. Roberts, branch secretary.

RECORD REGISTRATION

With the registration passing the 145 mark Monday afternoon, a record-breaking over-capacity camp loomed as a definite prospect for the twenty-fourth annual Crocker 'Y' period at the Des Moines Y.M.C.A. camp opening Wednesday afternoon Aug. 19.

Quentin R. Mease, executive secretary of the 'Y' branch and director of the period confidently expects the final enrollment to surpass the 1937 record of 145. The camp is located on a 100-acre tract in the Negro section of Des Moines, Iowa.

Not a Caveat Repeat

Some trees are in much greater haste and do not even wait to acquire autumn coloring before disrobing. The ash, for instance, may be found one morning with all its leaves discolored, although there was not the slightest sign of tinting in their summer green, says the Times of London.

District of Columbia Not Part of Any State

The Constitution provides that the presidential electors and members of congress shall be elected to represent states. The tract of land known as the District of Columbia, which is co-extensive in area with the City of Washington, is not a state, nor a part of any state, and its citizens do not have the right to vote in the congressional and presidential elections any more than do those other citizens of the United States who live in the territories.

That there could be no conflict of authority, it was provided that the government of the District of Columbia should rest in congress. In former times Washington and Georgetown were provided with municipal governments, with elective officers, similar to those of other cities.

Collecting Fungi

Mushrooms and toadstools are always objects of interest, if only for the question of edibility they present. But mushrooms, and other fungus growths in general, are excellent things to collect as a hobby.

Collecting fungi is as simple as collecting mosses. Just pick them, lay them out in the open on sheets of newspaper until they are dried, and put them away in your boxes.

Present Generation of Collegians Physically Tops

For more than 20 years it has been the practice of most universities and colleges to examine students physically. A few institutions have been making such examinations for 50 years.

Dr. Lawrence B. Chenoweth of Cincinnati has reviewed the literature, made more studies of his own, presented the conclusions in The Journal of the American Medical Association and made it clear that with nurture counts for as much as nature in this improvement of the American type.

As far back as 1921 Clelia Mosher noted that the height of Stanford university women students had increased one inch in 30 years. Ten years ago Horace Gray published his article on "Increase in Stature in the Last Fifty Years," in which he reached the conclusion that American boys of American-born parents were two inches taller than boys of the same type in 1877.

PERSONAL TOUCH

By MARIE ROSS

Mrs. E. Williams, 1524 Garfield avenue, ran into one of "life's darkest moments" this week when she discovered her three-year-old granddaughter had given herself a coat of tar from a can that the child's father had safely put out of her reach. Little Jean was covered from head to feet with the black, sticky, oily substance. When grandmother gazed upon her she was befuddled. "Jean, she pleaded, 'don't move—just stand there until I can think of something to do.'" Jean stood, like a statue, with her hands outstretched.

Getting in readiness for the blackouts—Mrs. Mattie Scott purchased some oil the other day—to have her lamps ready.

Housewives are taking advantage of the summer-resort weather by getting their canning and preserving done early—and at a time when food-stuffs are plentiful.

Mrs. A. P. Trotter had one of her busiest days in the cafe this week—and to top it off—she put up thirty-five glasses of plum jelly.

Mrs. Burdett, 1543 E. Eighteenth street, took time out from her canning to take a friend a basket filled with fresh vegetables from her garden which has an abundant supply. The collection included tomatoes, which if canned now, will make a stew—fit for a hungry king—on one of the cold days of the winter.

Mrs. George Franklin on Twelfth has been busy with peaches, vegetables and berries for her family. Out in West Des Moines, Mrs. Dorothy Holmes is raising some mid-summer chicks for her war winter supply of eggs and poultry. Others here and there are busy putting up a jar of fruit or vegetables—with the idea that canned goods may be out of sight this coming winter.

DELEGATES TO CALIFORNIA TELL OF NAACP CONFERENCE FEATURES

The two delegates of the Des Moines branch NAACP who returned recently from Los Angeles, Calif., where they attended the national NAACP conference, related some of their impressions of the Golden Gate city and the highlights of the conference.

"Thrilling and interesting are two words that to me best describe this most recent conference of the NAACP in Los Angeles," Miss Clara Webb, one of the delegates, describes. "From the opening night at the beautiful massive Second Baptist church which was conference headquarters, and at which time Roy Wilkins, assistant secretary of the NAACP and editor of the Crisis, sounded the keynote of the conference, to the closing session on Sunday afternoon, July 19, at the huge Shrine Auditorium, where 10,000 persons heard Wendell Willkie.

Special Awards "It was indeed thrilling to me when special awards were being given out, to receive for our own branch president, Ike Smalls, a certificate of merit for his humanitarian services to this community as well as for his activities as president of the Des Moines branch. Our branch name was also on the honor roll of the conference because of the memberships turned in."

"Another rare experience," continued Miss Webb, "was the sight-seeing tour through the Warner Brothers Studio arranged for the benefit of the delegates. The Los Angeles people themselves seldom get such a privilege. We were also privileged to see quite a few movie stars and to receive their autographs. The front of my program is so filled with names of notables including the heads of our NAACP that I think I shall cherish it forever."

Miss Webb will give more of her trip at the public NAACP meeting this fall. She was extended many special courtesies on her second week, which was a "round of sight-seeing and gaiety."

F. O. Morrow, chairman of the membership committee of the branch commented briefly upon his trip to the national conference, of which he was the other Des Moines delegate.

He informed that he attended all sessions of the convention and "took special notice of convention highlights" and will elaborate upon addresses by Roy Wilkins, Wendell Willkie at a later date.

Sgt. Harris has been in the army 29 years and is line for retirement next year. Prior to being attached to the Ninth cavalry at Ft. Riley he was a meat inspector for the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

Cavalry Men Dance

At one of the dances during the week end, sponsored by the Y.W.C.A., Y.M.C.A. and Negro Community center at the center, many of the cavalry men with the Army War show came in town early last Saturday to meet some of the citizens and especially the members of the WAAC as they were invited guests, also. Prior to the arrival of the WAACs the cavalry men stood about the center talking with hostesses—and getting all the information they could gain on the WAACs.

"Who are they? What do they do? How do they act?" some of the soldiers asked until a few of them arrived in WAAC uniform.

Some of the cavalry men stood in corners and eyed the women—up and down,—some stating—"We never heard of them before."

It took some coaxing to get them started at dancing as the women did not wish to ask the men to dance and when approached on the subject, some of the cavalry men said, "Why, they are soldiers—they can ask us." The dance soon started and by closing time was well under way.

SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF MRS. A. BOWMAN HERE FOR BIRTHDAY

Two sons and one daughter and their families of Mrs. Allie Bowman came to the city during the week end to celebrate Sunday the seventy-second birthday of their mother in a family reunion held at the home of another son, Floyd Bowman and his family at 1412 Center street.

In the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bowman and three children, Alice, Earl and Harriet, of Minneapolis, Minn.; Ms. Creola Hollingsworth and three children, Marian, Jane and Charles, of Albia; and Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bowman of Chicago. Other members of the Bowman family present were Mrs. Adelaide Bowman and James Bowman, wife and son of Mr. Floyd Bowman.

The honoree, Mrs. Bowman, has resided in Des Moines for over 25 years. She formerly lived in Albia.

Mrs. B. W. Powell, 755 Eleventh street, presented her an anniversary cake.

Out of some 1,500 applicants, William H. Henderson, a youth of 22, near Fresno, was chosen. After the great scientist's death, his disciple returned to the farm in the San Joaquin valley and began experimenting. He has developed a rose, velvet red and edged with black; a new species of gaidioli that has golden glow sweet corn that has twice as many kernels on the cob. He seems to be doing better than the boy Edison selected to take up his work.

THE HARDAWAYS ENTERTAINED ON 14th ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. George Tymony of Reynolds, Ia., entertained on Thursday, August 13, Mr. and Mrs. Rosening Hardaway on their fourteenth wedding anniversary.

REV. WHEELER ON VACATION

The Rev. W. H. Wheeler, 777 West Thirtieth street, a retired minister of the Methodist church, left the city Monday for a few weeks vacation in Missouri. He will join Mrs. Wheeler at Fulton, Mo., who has been visiting in Chicago for several weeks.

MISS GEORGE EDMUNDS TO WASHINGTON, D. C.

Miss George Edmunds left the city Sunday morning to report in Washington, D. C., for employment by the government. She came to the city the early part of the month from Nashville, Tenn., to visit with her mother, Mrs. Lillian Edmunds, and other relatives.

If You Own One

Airplane mechanics state that a careful airplane operator who has a good airplane engine overhauls it at the end of every 250 to 300 hours. (Every airplane hour represents 100 to 125 miles of flight for the average types of plane.) At the first overhaul it is usually necessary only to replace rings and grind valves. By the time for the second overhaul it usually is necessary to replace pistons, rebore cylinders and replace some other parts. At the time of the third overhaul probably the main bearings will have to be reground or replaced and the knuckle and wrist pins will have to be replaced. After 1,000 hours the engine begins to get old and requires more attention. It may last up to 1,500 or 2,000 hours, depending on other factors.

H. B. W.—I am 59 years old and have 5 children. My wife is dead. My oldest daughter is married and she and her husband live in Chicago. She wants me and the other children to move up there and live. It always has been my highest ambition to go north. I farm in the summer and teach in the winter. Should I sell out my meager surroundings and go north?

Ans.: It is not a permanent change that you need—but a vacation. A few weeks in the city with your daughter would make you appreciate the comforts of country life and the independence it offers. You are highly regarded in your community as a solid, respected citizen. You are able to do more for your children financially in the country than you would in the city. When your children are educated and put on their own, if you still have the desire to sell out and go to your daughter in Chicago, you would have nothing to hinder you.

Ashamed.—I met a friend a year and 4 months ago and fell deeply in love with him and he with me. I am sure of that. Well, we had planned to get married until I did something that wasn't right with one of his friends. He found it out of course and he said it would have to be the end of us because he couldn't forgive me. How can I win his love again?

Ans.: Can you expect your boy friend to overlook this incident when you debased yourself for a few vicarious thrills—and made him the laughing stock among his friends? You have changed his feelings of worship and admiration to disgust and revulsion. I don't doubt but that you can go with him again—but it will be strictly on a good time basis. You will find that the girl who keeps her self-respect will also keep her boy friends.

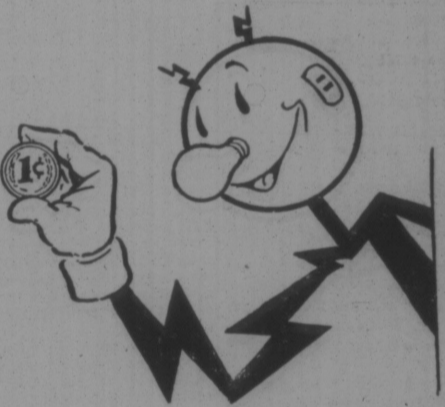

I. J.—I have been married 3 years and 8 months and I am not happy. My husband is very cruel. He drove my love away by beating and cutting me. I have left many times but didn't get a chance to stay. Should I leave again? What about this other interest I have?

Ans.: This other interest is the cause of the entire trouble in your marriage. I don't contend that your husband has had any right to beat and cut you. But, at the same time, you knew that he was very high tempered when you married him. Instead of trying to live true to him and avoid friction, you seem to have done everything possible to aggravate it. If you would let this other man alone and show your husband the same consideration that you expect of him—you will probably find that your love isn't dead after all.

S. G. D.—What must I do about the blood treatment I have in mind? Should I take them as I want to raise a child? Would it be better for me to pay for them or go to the city hospital?

Ans.: I cannot emphasize strongly enough the importance of these blood treatments—nor the immediate need for them. To delay these treatments may be disastrous to your health. If you can't afford to pay for private attention, do not hesitate to go to the clinic. To have a baby, knowing that you have a blood disease, would be an unpardonable sin. Wait until your doctor pronounces you completely well.

THE ARMY SHOW

This week Des Moines has been host to the Army show. And judging by the attendance at each night's performance, the public has been highly pleased and become more enlightened about our army.

In spite of that fact that most of the actors were boys who had been in service but a short time, the clock-like precision with which every detail, every act was carried out indicates that the men had been trained thoroughly for their tasks.

All arms of the service were on display with individual acts but the grand finale consisting of a sham battle really gives one a pretty good idea of just what these boys are up against in actual combat; the horrors that are bound to befall many who participate. The deadly destruction of which these high powered guns, tanks and planes are capable of delivering was brought out rather vividly.

In the promotion of this show, the army realizes that we must be reminded not only at the front but at home; that in order to arouse civilians to make more sacrifices, they must learn something about the sacrifices the boys are making at the front.

And here again the management did a fine thing—yet the right thing—by including a Negro cavalry troop in the exhibit.

LET'S WAIT AND SEE

Answering his critics who complained of the transfer of the Fair Employment Practice Committee from an independent status responsible only to the President, to the Man-Power Commission, President Roosevelt in a statement said the unit would be strengthened rather than weakened by the transfer. Further, he pointed out the facilities of the commission now available to the F. E. P. which it did not enjoy as an independent body.

We are one of those who oppose the move. But now the job has been done and a promise that improvement would follow. There is nothing to do but wait and see.

THIS IS ENCOURAGING

Much has been seen in the press recently about the abuse of Negro soldiers by white military police and civilians both here and abroad, that thoughtful people wondered whether this government proposed to take any steps to protect these men in uniform.

These two moves will do much to see that Negro soldiers are treated properly wherever they are stationed. The policy has been such as to lower the morale of the men and their folks back home who thought very strange of a government for which they offered their lives and at the same time received no protection in return for that loyalty.

And while discussing this question of treatment of Negro soldiers, it is rather interesting to note that the war department has turned a deaf ear to the suggestion of Senator Bankhead of Alabama who asked that the practice of sending Northern Negro troops to train in the South be discontinued. The department answered that for military reasons, these areas were selected; that they would not be changed simply because those states wanted to feel free to violate the civil rights of the soldiers.

All these things are further showings that our government wants to practice some of the things it preaches; it is fighting for. And it realizes that we cannot expect a man to contend with good grace for favors for others from which he himself is excluded.

JACK COPELAND FLOORS HIS RIVAL

Flooring his rival in the first with a furious right-handed attack, Jack (Rain King) Copeland, lanky junior high puncher, pounded out a decisive victory over Harold Lewis, young schoolboy scrapper, for the neighborhood title in the feature event of the Crocker Y. M. C. A. outdoor boxing show Wednesday night, Aug. 12.

Tom Mayberry and James Jefferson staged an exhibition semi-windup match that threatened to develop into the real thing in the heated final round.

Teddy Miller, husky West high slugger, scored a knockout over Prince Graves in the second round with a terrific left-handed clout to the jaw brought a sudden finish to the fight.

Alfred (Boopy) Shepherd, midweight battler, had his 1942 undefeated record spoiled when he ran into unexpected resistance from an upset trouncing by Alvin Weston. Johnny Jones slugged a surprise win over Robert Ewing in a three-rounder.

Other results: Donald Spangler defeated Lee Banks; Marvin Jackson defeated Stanford LeMay; Robert Brown defeated Major Ewing; Gilbert Woods defeated Kenneth Clayborn.

Smoke Menaces Trees

War is creating a new menace to America—a menace to its shade and fruit trees! Full prosecution of the war effort has increased smoke in industrial areas two to three times over normal. O. W. Spicer, tree expert, said in warning home owners to take special measures this summer to protect their trees from this new war hazard.

"The umbrella of smoke that now hangs over many industrial communities," Mr. Spicer said, "not only contaminates the air and deposits soot on tree foliage, but also reduces ultraviolet radiation necessary for healthy plant life. Destruction of trees by smoke is due partly to scorching of leaves by sulphur fumes or sulphur dioxide from burning coal. Chief offenders, however, are the smoke and dust particles which coat the leaves and branches and interfere with normal air supply."

Industrial expansion to better residential sections makes the smoke hazard more widespread than ever, Mr. Spicer said. To protect the better shade, fruit and ornamentals now threatened, wash with water sprays to remove soot deposits.

Vitamins for Victory

V stands for vitamins as well as for victory. The minute chemical substances in food, called vitamins, may decide how straight a soldier shoots, how easily he tires, how steady his nerves are, or how fast his wounds heal.

Airmen and anti-aircraft gunners have a special vitamin A-rich diet which contains plenty of yellow and green vegetables, eggs, butter, cream, fish liver, and meat liver. Vitamin A helps eyes adjust quickly from bright light to darkness and helps build up body health to resist infections, especially infections of the nose, throat, and lungs.

Science Charts Methods to Prevent Undesirable Flavors in Cream

- PREVENTION
Do not mix warm and cool cream
Thoroughly clean separator after each use
Keep cream at 50°-60° temperature
Clean utensils with fibre brush and washing powder instead of cloth and soap
Adjust separator to produce higher percent butterfat
Market cream 2 or 3 times a week
Do not expose utensils and cream to dust-laden air

Preventing off-flavors from developing in cream is the best way of getting the highest returns from it. According to federal rules, butter is judged first of all on its flavor, and the off-flavors which cut its score—and the price—are mostly those which come from the cream out of which the butter was made.

Flavor defects in cream roughly fall into two categories: fermentative flavors due to the presence of germs, and flavors due to absorption by the cream of odors from the air or food or to some derangement in the cow's normal functions. Only the former are touched on in the chart.

High-acid or rancid cream is the most common cream defect. Such cream is very sour to the taste and smell, and suggests age and putrefaction. It is caused by the use of unclean pails, dirty separator, improper cooling, by mixing warm and cold cream, or by holding at a high temperature.

Cheesy cream tastes and smells like aged cheddar cheese. Such flavor results from unclean utensils, dirty separator, low butterfat content, or holding cream too long.

Yeasty-foamy cream is fluffy in body and sharp in smell. Occurs most frequently during warm weather, which is favorable to the growth of yeast cells. Uncleanliness, failure to hold cream at a low temperature, or exposure of utensils and cream to dust-laden air, are the factors responsible for this condition.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS INSTRUCT SELECTEES

The farewell reception for the evening Negro selectees held at the Lincoln Post Home last Friday evening was attended by several prominent government officials including Congressman Paul Cunningham, a veteran of World War I; Commander F. H. Lauder of the U. S. Navy; Master Sergt. Jackson, a Negro in charge of the Negro contingent of the Quartermaster Corps now stationed at Camp Dodge; Atty. Harry Grund, chairman and Atty. S. Joe Brown, government appeal agent of selective service board No. 4, all of whom gave the boys complimentary and instructive remarks.

Later Mrs. Cora Chapman, president of the Lincoln Post auxiliary, presented each of the selectees with a pocket manual gotten out by the veterans of 1917-19 and Mrs. Frances Hall, Americanism chairman of Polk County Legion auxiliary, presented each of them with a small silk U. S. flag Refreshments were served.

The boy selectees left Saturday morning at one o'clock for Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, to begin their active service in the armed forces of their country.

GOD POOL'S SWIMMING MEET

The annual swimming meet at the Good park pool turned out some fine performances with about three contestants running away from the rest of the gang.

Charley Howard collared the fifty meter free style and back stroke by simply getting out in front and staying there. Nobody could get close enough to him to worry him much. Luther Clark pulled up second in the free style and Bobby May ran second in the back stroke. Claude Ellison pulled off his Sunday suit and got into the diving contest at the last minute to win from Alvin Crowder.

May romped off with honors in the event for the boys in the age group of fifteen and under by winning both the fifty meter back stroke and free style with Harry Johnson second in the latter race and Harold Lewis, a junior, second in the breast stroke with William Brewton in there, too. Johnson was a close second in both of May's winning events.

Harold Lewis won the junior fifty meter free style and back stroke with Louie Strothers trailing in one and we don't know who in the other. Little Toby Robinson and Strothers put on a diving exhibition worth going to see with Toby nosing out Louie for the honors. Toby's dives might have got him a place in a section of boys older than he, if he had entered.

Choose Queen Delores Martin was crowned queen of the meet and awarded the winners their medals. After taking one look at the queen, your illustrious scribbler was tempted to enter some event in which only one contestant appeared so he would be sure to get second, but there was no such animal.

On the basis of points for competing and winning in a higher age bracket and his own win in his division, Harold Lewis was awarded the all-around championship. SEEKS WHEREABOUTS OF LOST SISTER

Roy Layton Brown of Sedalia, Mo., in a letter to the Bystander, is seeking the whereabouts of his sister, Marie Brown, the daughter of Lucy and John Brown, now deceased.

"When I last saw her she was living in Des Moines," he wrote. "There was another sister, Helen, but I learned she too has passed. I have not seen my sisters in about 20 years. I do not remember the street address, but I do remember I left them there about 20 years ago. Thanking you for anything you can or will do to help me find her." Signed Roy Layton Brown, 221 Lima avenue, Sedalia, Mo.
