NAACP SCORES DAR STAND ON ANDERSON CONCERT

Washington, D. C.—Scoring the DAR for its lack of courage and Americanism displayed by its refusal to accept the "very modest conditions Miss Anderson in self respect established for the acceptance of the DAR's invitation that she sing a benefit concert in Constitution hall" the NAACP this week told the President General of the Daughters of the American Revolution:

"Americans would have respected the DAR more, even though they might not have agreed with the D.A.R.'s decision to reject Miss Anderson's terms, had the DAR not made the casual and ridiculous excuse that other artists invited to sing in the series had not imposed any conditions.

"There is no analogy in that, as far as we are able to learn, all of the other artists who were invited are white, and there has been no ban on the appearance of white artists whether they be Americans or foreign born. Only Negro artists have been banished by the DAR from use of Constitution hall.

CONSERVE ON GAS OR BILL MAY GO TO ZERO

Washington, D. C.—Keeping the gas bill down is always an incentive for a woman to use gas economically when she's cooking. But today there's even more of an incentive to save, because if gas isn't conserved, there may come a time when the gas bill is zero because there's no gas to cook with.

The first rule of economical gas cooking, so say the gas experts of the War Production Board, is to be sure that the flame is a clear blue. If the flame does not burn clear blue, it may indicate one of two things; that the burners need cleaning or that the adjustment of the burner is incorrect and too much air is entering with the gas. If after the burner is cleaned, the clear blue flame is still not obtained, then the gas company should be called to adjust the burner.

To keep burners clean, wipe them frequently with paper or a cloth. If food boils over, it may be necessary to wash the burners, with soap, or baking soda and water. If they need a thorough scrubbing, they should be taken out of the stove and immersed in the water. But never use lye on gas stove burners.

Omahans Honor Home Town Hero

Omaha, Nebr.—The swimming hero of the Solomon Islands battle area arrived in Omaha via the Burlington, Friday evening, Oct. 30, where he was met by an enthusiastic welcome committee led by S. Edward Gilbert, editor of the Omaha Star, who was in charge of the entertainment for the hero during his stay in his home town.

Following the ovation at the station, the hero was, under police escort driven to the home of his aunt and sister, Cassie McField and Viola French, respectively, who reside at 2703 North 25th street, who received him with mixed emotions, so happy were they to see again their "little" Charles.

At a homecoming football game at Creighton U Stadium last Saturday he spoke over the stadium microphone, urging approximately 11,000 spectators to "continue to buy war stamps and bonds." The ovation he received from the spectators who stood, lasted fully five minutes, so loud was it, that it smothered the popular tune of "Anchors Away."

As he left the mike, a stroke in behalf of Democracy was enacted as an excited enthusiastic white sailor rushed out on the field and embraced the messman. Holding the hand of French the sailor shouted: "Hello, Matey, you're a great guy."

Many organizations extended welcome to their home town hero. Plans are being made by the Omahans to unveil a plaque in honor of Omaha's most famous fighting son, which will hold the names of all men and women now in the U. S. services.

NAACP Head Says Negro Vote Played Larger Part in Election Than Recognized

New York, N. Y.—Declaring that the Negro vote played a larger part in the 1942 elections than is recognized by the white dailies, Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People this week in a statement to the press said that the shift in a number of Congressional districts of Negro voters from the Democratic to the Republican side is in large measure due to resentment against the domination of national policy on the Negro by the reactionary South. The mistreatment of Negro soldiers and civilians in the South particularly, continuation of Jim Crowism in the armed forces and war efforts generally, transfer of the Fair Employment Practice Committee from its independent status under the President to the War Manpower Commission and other evils made Negroes sore enough to shift their political affiliations. Mr. White stated:

"It is true that much of this is due to the attitude of voters generally to 'throw the racals out' when things do not go well. But it would be a serious mistake for the Republicans to believe that they now have recaptured the Negro vote and will continue to hold it no matter what they do. On too many fundamental issues economic military and social, there has been an unholy alliance in Congress between Negro-hating Southern Democrats and reactionary Republicans who think of the Negro only when he is forced to around election time.

"As the Norfolk Journal and Guide stated editorially on November 7 regarding the Republican party's oversight in adopting a ten-point declaration of policies and principles, Republican House leadership 'missed the bus' when it insisted that capable and trained leaders be used in the war effort 'regardless of party group, class, or section', but did not include 'regardless of race, creed, or color.' "Negroes are learning the lesson of the shifting national and international forces and utilize their strategically located political strength wisely, unselfishly, and with complete independence. Only by so doing can he cause the political leadership of all parties to know that the Negro voter is alert, intelligent, and is watching critically every word and deed of the various political parties.

"Test of the administration will be particularly severe in that congressmen from the poll tax states are unable to return to the House as much as the Democrats are, as the majority party their power increased."

Crowd Hears Quintet in Concert

An appreciative audience gathered at the St. Paul A.M.E. church Monday evening to hear a concert of Negro spirituals and work songs which was presented formally by the Victory Quintet of Boston and Atlanta. The group of singers which arrived in the city nearly a month ago had been engaged to give a concert at the Hoyt Sherman Place but the concert was cancelled when two of the singers were called into the U. S. Army.

Supplementing local talent the singers appeared under the sponsorship of the St. Paul choir. Beautiful melodies with rich voices, clear tones, were revealed as the group with Calvin Dacus as pianist, rendered numbers from the works of many of the Negro composers. Their program included "Plenty Good Room," "Deep River," "Climbing Up the Mountain," "Mandy Lee," arranged and sung by George Brewer, "Laughing Gas," "The Shadow Box," "Riding the Chariot to See My Lord."

John Chadwell of Alabama State College, in a rich tenor voice, sang "The Crucifixion," (Fisher) and "The Birth of Morn," (a poem from Dunbar). Emanuel Mansfield, first tenor and Director, a product of Boston studios, featured Will Marion Cook's "Exhortation" and Boatner's "On My Journey."

"You Better Mind" arranged by Lillian Johnson, "Poor Old Lazarus," "Little David," "Witness for My Lord," "Were You There," "King Jesus is A'Listening" and "Gt On Board" were other numbers sung by the quintet. They left the city Tuesday morning bound for Missouri for a concert. Mr. Dacus accompanied them on the tour.

Your Own Blackout Light Can Be Easily Assembled

Advice on how to devise effective lights during blackouts was given by D. L. Markle, professor of electrical engineering at the Pennsylvania State college, who has just completed laboratory tests of such lights.

"A blackout light for use both indoors and outdoors can be easily assembled," Professor Markle said. "Simply cover the glass of a two-cell flashlight of the non-focusing type, fitted with a 3.8 volt bulb, with two thicknesses of onion skin paper. This is the kind of lamp usually used with a three-cell type flashlight. Covering the glass with onion skin lowers the intensity of the light by diffusion so that a pronounced bright spot does not exist. The intensity of illumination by this assembly is approximately 2 1/2 times full moonlight on a surface two feet from the flashlight."

Such light is favorable for seeing nearby but will not be easily detected from a distance, he pointed out. If used outdoors by pedestrians, the light will not be reflected from street surfaces in sufficient quantity to be seen from any considerable height.

"It must be remembered that no light source should be pointed upward, however," Professor Markle warned. "For use outdoors a visor made of cardboard tubing or other suitable material will provide additional safety from detection." Professor Markle called attention to the fact that the war department tests demonstrated that blue lights are more easily seen from the air and less useful on the ground than any other color. Even red, if improperly used, may betray the installation if it is designed to conceal.

In the majority of cases, they found, low intensity white light is more suitable for blackout illumination.

Special Wrapping for Bread, Cake, Butter

More than 75,000,000 pounds of butter will be wrapped in specially impregnated parchment paper during the current year to protect it from losses due to mold.

Great quantities of butter are expected to be saved from spoilage as a result, thus helping to conserve stocks. Mold rarely can be recognized in butter except by an "off" taste, according to food experts. Its growth can be retarded even in warm weather, however, by wrapping the butter in paper treated with a mold inhibitor. The baking industry also

MAPLE STREET BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

By OPAL JACO. Harvest home services this week have been well attended. The final service will be held Sunday afternoon at three o'clock when the Rev. E. N. Whaley, pastor of the Burns M. E. church will deliver the message and his choir will sing.

Rev. C. Lopez McAllister spent three days in Omaha, Neb. attending the Bible Institute which was held at the Pilgrim Baptist church. Mrs. Lillian Brewer of West 16th street and Mrs. Louise Wellington of Buchanan street have been quite ill at their respective homes.

The Sunday school attendance contest will soon be in a swing. It is going to be a great campaign to have disinterested persons to attend Sunday school and to realize fully what a great opportunity there is before them for self-improvement along Bible lines.

The Ladies Chorus rendered a splendid musical program Sunday night instead of the regular preaching service. William Fields is the chorus director.

is attacking the mold problem in baked goods by incorporating mold retardants in increasing quantities of bread, pies, and cakes. It is estimated that nearly two billion loaves of bread will be protected this year.

'Day Care' Schools

Children put into day nurseries by mothers working in war industry will be protected by health and welfare safeguards in New York state through state-wide regulations recently adopted.

The regulations, made by the state board of social welfare, require that persons and agencies giving nursery care to three or more children obtain a permit from the state department of social welfare and maintain definite standards. In providing this safeguard the New York state board is acting in line with current recommendations of the United States children's bureau, the American Public Welfare association said.

Close relatives and nursery schools registered with the state department of education are exempt from the ruling. New York city day nurseries also are exempt, since they are covered under the municipal sanitary code.

California First

The gold in "them thar hills" of Colorado called many fortune hunters to the West in the quest for great riches, but there was also wealth that was found in the soil—wealth that was to outlive the gold rush. Peter Magnus, a European immigrant, prophesied in 1865, "If we had beet sugar factories in Colorado, I imagine Colorado farmers would produce more gold than all the mines in the mountains." Today the yearly output of the beet sugar industry in the West has many times the value of all the gold, silver and precious metals taken from the mountains. Colorado is second only to California in production of sugar beets. Production in 1941 in Colorado was 5,987,649 hundred-pound bags of sugar.

When Freighter Sinks

It may not be likely that Nazi planes would make a special trip across the ocean to bomb American farms, yet every time an enemy torpedo sinks an American freighter, the food production of 3,824 American farms is lost! The cargo of the average U. S. food freighter amounts to 6,000 barrels of dried eggs, 6,000 barrels of dried milk, 16,552 cases of evaporated milk, 20,000 boxes of cheese, 14,500 large cans of canned pork, 2,500 boxes of cured pork, 16,800 boxes of lard, 6,061 sacks of flour and 26,111 cases of canned vegetables, according to the U. S. department of agriculture war board. This means a whole year's production of 229,137 hens, 6,124 cows, 37,697 hogs, and 1,086 acres planted to wheat, tomatoes, snap beans and peas.

Hurry Up, Rookie!

A captain at Lawson Field, Ga. was nearly knocked down by a periscope and breathless recruit running down the line toward Hangar No. 1. The rookie was wearing a parachute. Between gasps, he apologized to the officer: "Very sorry, sir. But I was told that if I could borrow a parachute, I'd be able to get a ride to New York and back in one of the new Link Trainers." If you didn't know, Link Trainers are used in blind flying instruction—they are a fully equipped chunk of fuselage, without wings, which never leave the floor of the training hall, much less fly from Georgia to New York!

A. M. C.—I am a girl 17 years old. I have been going with a boy for some time and now I am in love with him. He says that he loves me, but doesn't act like he does. He is married and said he doesn't love his wife. That he only married her to have someone to help him with his business. Is he telling the truth?

Ans.: Men do marry for convenience. But to marry a girl in order to keep her working for him would hardly be termed convenient. For it would be far more costly to keep up a wife even though she did work than to pay an employee. There is something more on the ball than what he told you—and don't let him kid you that there isn't. Whether he stays with his wife for lucre or for love, you can be sure of one thing—he is going to stay. An affair with a married man will leave scars that time won't erase.

S. L.—Analyze my question in your column please. I would like to go to my aunt's this fall with the hopes of entering business school or secure some training that would be of help to me in the near future. Could you convince my parents to let me go at this time for women workers in every phase of industry. Women must learn to shoulder the civilian responsibilities so the men will be free to fight. Convince your parents that it is your patriotic duty as well as looking out for your personal welfare. By all means, make the arrangements to take up some kind of training to enable you to hold a responsible job.

M. C.—I am worried. Will you tell me what to do? My husband and I were gloriously happy for the first year fixing up our little home. For the past four months he has changed. He doesn't seem to care for me anymore. People tell me he is running around with other women. But he tells me he still cares. Help me.

Ans.: A house built on sand will not stand under the storm of life. A union built without the foundation of marriage cannot endure the demands that life places on it. This does not necessarily mean that your common law husband does not love you. But he doesn't feel bound or obligated to

Coffee Rationing Begins Nov. 28

Washington, D. C.—Coffee rationing, starting at midnight November 28, will set the amount of the beverage available to the coffee drinker at about 38 per cent less than his average of the last five years, according to Paul M. O'Leary, deputy administrator of OPA in charge of rationing.

But the cut need not be quite that sharp, because proper conservation measures in the home will make his coffee go considerably further than in the days of unrestricted use, Mr. O'Leary said.

The individual ration is one pound for five weeks, which is at the rate of 10.0 pounds per year. Adding the amount of coffee consumed by the public through restaurants and other institutions, the average American coffee drinker under rationing, will use at the rate of about 13 pounds per year, which is about 38 per cent less than the amount he averaged over the five-year period from 1937 to 1941. The coffee ration, of course, may be changed from time to time to meet the varying conditions of supply.

Here are some of the things that can be done in the home to make coffee go further, and still have coffee of good quality:

1. Use fresh coffee. Buy less each time, and more frequently.
2. Keep your coffee in a tightly covered container.
3. Keep it in the refrigerator or some other cool place. It deteriorates less rapidly when cool.
4. Keep your coffee pot immaculately clean.
5. Have your coffee ground as fine as possible for the pot you intend to use. Finely ground coffee goes further than coarsely ground coffee.
6. Use accurate measurements instead of "heaping tablespoons."
7. Don't boil coffee. It drives off the very elements you want.
8. Serve the coffee as soon as it's made.
9. Make only the exact amount you want to use. Left-over coffee is wasted coffee, though it can be stored in the refrigerator for use as flavoring—or for a cup of warmed-over coffee if you like it that way.

PERSONAL TOUCH
By MARIE ROSS

The new minister at Burns Methodist church will have another reason for which to be extra thankful at the Thanksgiving season this year. He was quite proud and happy last week when he became the father of his fifth child. "I have big news," he informed, of the birth of another daughter. "That makes four girls and one boy."

"What will you name her?" the Rev. Mr. Whaley was asked. "Well, I don't know yet—I might call her AMEN," he laughed, meaning that she was the last—for a while at least. But the Rev. and his wife decided to call her "Patricia."

Latest in the new lighting fixtures to enhance one of the business places on Center street is the installment of the soft fluorescent lights—which brighten every corner in the tonsorial parlor at 1004 Center.

The holiday party-goers will be greeted by a redecorated Billiken hall. The pastel art designs that sweep about the walls add a very artistic finish.

The Blue Triangle Y.W.C.A. is being redecorated. Even the Bystander office is getting retouched here and there.

Summer's Perspiration Hard on Your Clothing

Perspiration is the enemy of fabrics. That is why summer is particularly hard on clothes. If perspiration is left in the material for any length of time, it weakens fibers and causes them to rot.

To wash underwear nightly is doubly important in hot weather. Vests, panties, shorts, and undershirts, whether of cotton, rayon, silk or a combination of fibers, if they are to give longest service, should not be crammed into a hamper to await the weekly washday. If they are soiled as well as perspiration-soaked, and there isn't time to wash

To Clean Water-Paint Walls
Walls painted with modern water-thinned washable paints may be washed by sponging the surface lightly, using a soft sponge or cloth and plenty of water. A small amount of mild soap may be used if necessary to loosen the dirt. If it is the first time the wall has been washed since being painted, it is a good practice to add 2 to 3 per cent of ordinary 40 per cent formaldehyde to the washing water. This will prevent the paint film from absorbing water and will toughen its resistance to abrasion. Always start at the bottom of the wall, working up, so that dirty water, running down from the sponge, will not wet the dry wall below in streaks.

WHY AT THIS TIME?

One of the so called social groups are clinging to these days is the 40 hour work week. This law was passed when millions of men were unemployed with the hope that employers would be forced to spread the work among more people. And as a penalty for failure to observe the law, time and a half is required to be paid for overtime.

We can't pick up a newspaper today or hear a news broadcast that does not give some notice of our manpower shortage. As a matter of fact, farmers are feeling it worse because since they work long hours and pay less wages, find themselves unable to compete with large plants for labor. And in spite of this admitted shortage we hang on foolishly to a situation which does not exist at this time.

Of course, there are those who argue that men are not prevented from working over forty hours. That is true, but the catch is the time and a half for overtime.

Because of the necessity of speed, most government contracts have been let on the cost plus basis. This means the contractor simply adds up the cost of doing a job and adds on the agreed profit arriving at a figure for the total of the job. Under these circumstances of course it makes little difference about this time and a half payment. But the fellow who makes a bid on a job is not quite so fortunate.

And this very thing accounts for much of the extravagance of which we complain and which the taxpayers must dig up to pay as well as the delay in producing material and products sorely needed by the army and navy today.

Labor in other countries is working much longer hours. They are producing lots of goods and holding up well under. Are they any stronger than we? The Bystander thinks not and the sooner we get down to earth in fighting this war and quit talking about these pipe dream social gains the better off we shall be.

In fact that was the way the people voted on November 3.

When the WAAC came to Des Moines several months ago we were quite enthusiastic about it in spite of the fact that some of its policies of Jim Crowism and segregation we did not approve. We felt that even with these objections, the Negro WAAC would get everything the whites received including the commissioning of additional officers in proportion to every new class and the assurance of a very definite policy with regard to the Negro as is the case with whites.

For some reason there have been no additions to the members of Negro commissioned WAAC's since the first graduation class, even though additional graduating classes have been had for white WAAC's. Again there does not seem to be any definite policy concerning the service of Negro WAAC's; there is confusion as to what the future policy is to be.

We realize of course, that this whole program is new, that policies must be evolved from experience of short duration rather than precedents of years gone by. It has taken the war and navy a long time to come around to something definite with regard to Negro soldiers and marines. In fact, they are fumbling and faltering entirely too much now with a result that much good material is going to waste in their effort to keep whites and Negroes separated.

It looks that instead of improving on this foolish policy and going forward, the WAAC's are falling into the same uncertain policy with regard to the Negro women. The Bystander deprecates this. In fact the Negroes do generally.

Just where does the situation stand? Only Director Hobby can answer.

ARMISTICE DAY, 1942

Armistice day in 1942 finds us in the thick of the greatest war of all times. While we all rejoiced that the fighting stopped in 1918 we now pretty well agree that the job of putting down hatred, selfishness and greed had been left unconquered.

That is the past. Let us resolve that when we quit again the peace shall be made secure; that future tyrants shall not spring up to terrify the world again. And that not only means the annihilation of the existing war lords, but arranging our future in such a way that they can never rise to power again.

Then, and only then can our armistice be other than a breathing spell to prepare for more destruction.

Y.M.C.A.

ARIZONA FORT READY TO RECEIVE WAACS

Fort Huachuca, Ariz.—Anticipating the early arrival of the WAACS, and realizing the difficulty that would arise because of lack of recreational facilities for enlisted women, a group under the auspices of the women's unit of the USO, met recently at the local USO to discuss ways of alleviating this situation.

Because these women are coming to relieve enlisted men for field duty, and will not have access to officers' clubs like their civilian sisters, Miss Violette M. Hensely and Miss Lorraine Spott, director and assistant director of the USO, invited ladies from the Post who will form the nucleus of a permanent committee whose sole interest will be recreation for WAACS. The group has made plans for a dance to welcome the WAACS and further activities are in prospect.

Both Old and New Style

Food Preserving Used
Old-time as well as modern methods of food preservation are in order these days as American homemakers set out to break all food storage records. That's why the stone jar for salting food now has its place, along with the glass jar for canned food or the paper carton for freezer locker storage.

Salted or brined vegetables are classed in three divisions: those to be served as vegetables on the table, such as corn and string beans; those for pickles, such as cucumbers, green tomatoes, peppers, cauliflower and onions, and those which are made into so-called "kraut," such as cabbage, turnips, rutabagas and Chinese cabbage.

The "kraut" group of vegetables are very popular for their flavor and texture but food authorities from the University of Illinois college of agriculture report that other salting doesn't quite measure up to canning and freezing from the standpoint of appearance and food value. However, it is a practical method to employ when canning and freezing equipment is not available. It's considered an inexpensive way to take care of vegetables which might not be used otherwise.

Foods such as corn and string beans, which are heavily salted to prevent the growth of yeasts and bacteria, need to be soaked to remove the strong salt taste before being prepared for table use.

Be Happy at Home With Your Wartime Vacation

Instead of a vacation away from home this summer, why not plan to be satisfied and happy at home with neighbors and friends? It's fun for both old and young to have suppers in the backyard, using home-grown vegetables and meats, and make a big freezer of ice cream. Or, perhaps your war-time "vacation" might be a fishing trip to the nearby creek with a box lunch.

For an old-fashioned get-together, pack surprise box lunches with a variety of sandwiches and fill paper cups to the brim with several kinds of salad. Include fresh fruit and homemade cookies made of molasses or honey and nuts.

Try a slice of bacon, a thick slice of tomato and onions, and cook on a stick over a bed of coals.

For liquid refreshments, have pitchers of ice cold lemonade sweetened with white corn syrup or stick candy instead of sugar. Don't use sugar.

Use enriched bread for sandwiches—some white and some whole wheat. Enriched bread combined with many types of fillings from vegetables or sweet fruit is good. Nothing is better than homemade cottage cheese and it is easy to make.

Indian Ocean Islands

Although there are relatively few islands in the Indian ocean, several are well known. Most important island after Madagascar (fourth largest island in the world) is Ceylon, close to the southeastern shores of India. To the northeast and east, virtually in the Bay of Bengal, are the Andaman and Nicobar islands, the former seized by Japan. Among others of the better known islands are Reunion (French), and Mauritius (British), east of Madagascar; and the Seychelles, a British group north of that island. The colorful island of Zanzibar, ruled by a sultan under British Protectorate, lies close to the shores of British East Africa. The partly barren island of Socotra, off the southern coast of Arabia, is famous as the "Island of Frankincense."

Fence Post Treatment

Fence posts treated with zinc chloride not only outlast untreated posts from three to ten times, protecting them from premature decay and termite attack, but seem to discourage woodpeckers as well. In recent experiments at Clemson College, S. C., several untreated posts showed considerable damage by woodpeckers, while treated posts did not.

Pass the Shears!

An essential man in his community is Pvt. Harold Bracken, of Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Recently he enlisted in Uncle Sam's army. When he arrived at the Fort Leavenworth Reception Center, he was surprised to learn that he was immediately to return home on furlough. Seems that his employer had presented army officials with an affidavit attesting the 22-year-old soldier's peculiar talents and declaring that in convenience and loss to a large number of sheep raisers in Nodaway county, Missouri, would result if he were not granted a furlough. The furlough was granted, and Private Bracken returned to Nodaway county for two weeks, during which he sheared 5,000 sheep!

Keeping Children Cool

Many children who in past summers went daily in the family car to a nearby brook, beach, or swimming pool, are unable to do so this year. Parents may be pelted to it to find ways of keeping youngsters cool and contented, yet if there is a bathtub or shower the cooling off will not be difficult. A splash in the tub may be a poor substitute for the vigorous exercise of swimming, but it is a thoroughly effective means of soothing hot or perspiring bodies. It has at least one advantage over the old swimming hole, for when soap is used, the bath cleanses as well as cools. If daily or twice-daily periods in tub or shower are offered to children as a real privilege, and if play is permitted before or after, youngsters will welcome the bath and look forward to it with eagerness.

Air-Conditioned Baby

When a baby is both healthy and comfortable, it is usually a "good" baby even when summer days are hot. Fortunately for modern mothers and modern babies, the one-garment costume for the infant is no longer reserved for the day when baby has his picture taken. When maximum comfort comes with the minimum of clothes, all that a baby needs to be well-dressed is a diaper. Another aid in keeping him cool is to supplement the morning bath with light spongings several times during the day. This can be done by holding the baby on the lap, or placing him on a towel-covered table, or in his crib or carriage. Wrap the baby's own clean washcloth around the right hand. Dip into cool sudsy water, and squeeze out until the cloth does not drip. Then wipe lightly over the baby's body. Rinse off, and pat the baby dry. Do not rub, as this stimulates circulation and makes the infant uncomfortable.

Rubber From Poinsettias

Millions of poinsettias growing in Queensland, New South Wales and other parts of Australia may be a source of rubber. An Australian company has already obtained rubber from poinsettias and has acquired large quantities for pressing and extraction, it is said. A small bottle of sap received from a New South Wales farmer produced 10 per cent pure rubber after the moisture content had been removed. It is thought that if the method proved commercially valuable poinsettias could be grown like sugar cane. Tests also are being made on skeleton weed, also known as gum sucory, which has been regarded as a noxious weed but which has a sticky milky sap with a definite rubber content. It has been used for rubber in Russia.

Blackout Driving

What should you do if it becomes necessary to drive your car in a blackout?

- Three basic rules are suggested. They are:
1. When in doubt about what is ahead, get out of the car and investigate.
 2. Never drive faster than 15 miles per hour through a residential section, and even less while driving through an intersection.
 3. Before starting to drive wait from 10 to 25 minutes until your eyes become adjusted to the darkness.
- It should be remembered, however, that these rules are for emergency driving only. The best place for your car during a blackout is in the garage.

Drake Finale

It is the same old story at Drake. The Bulldogs got a going over from the Iowa State Teachers' College last week and now face Washington U. of St. Louis there and Oklahoma A. and M. college. Needless to say the Ewing brothers, Curtis and Bob won't be along on either of those trips. For them the season is over. We have never encouraged Negro athletes to attend Drake when the officials never try to make things easier for them. At least at any one of most of Iowa's colleges—barring possibly Iowa State, they could play the entire season. Don Welch quit the squad. We haven't discussed the matter with Don, but we can appreciate his stand and certainly endorse it. We don't know what his reasons were for resigning, but we could supply him with plenty if he happens to run short. We are thinking of University of Wisconsin officials who cancelled that school's appearance in a track meet because Missouri objected to the presence of Ed Smith hurdler. Wish more school officials had their courage.

While we are on the subject of college football we might mention that an unheard of thing happened in Louisville, Ky. last week when the Iowa Seahawks played Ft. Knox. John Moody of Morris Brown, was probably the outstanding star for the Fort Knox team. We can only read between the lines of the game, but we could gather that Moody was more than a handful of trouble for the Seahawks. The Ft. Knox team is made up of a lot of white boys from Southern schools. We don't imagine that the Southern white boys walked off the field rather than play with Moody whose bruising line backer kept the score down and whose crashing plunges made the Ft. Knox score possible. We don't think that ever happened before. Maybe some day Drake will see the light.

East High Swamped

We sat huddled up among a group of disconsolate East high rooters as Roosevelt handed the Scarlet and Black their worst parting from a long season.

How One Youngster Began Asking for Soap 'Issue'

Uncle Sam's facts and figures are usually for grown-ups, but one mother saw interest for her seven-year old in a recent announcement. When the navy stated that each year the average boy buys 24 cakes of toilet soap, she let her young hopeful figure out that most men in blue use a cake of soap every two weeks.

To this particular lad, sailors were all heroes. So mother suggested that she would "issue" soap to him, and he could see if he lived up to navy standards. He was delighted, and mother now responds that he takes his baths most willingly—and comes regularly to table with hands and face well washed.

Good habits are a matter of training. With this child, the navy appeal worked. With another, it may be the fact that a favorite baseball hero takes a shower after every game. Many a wise parent finds that hero-worship brings quicker results and happier attitudes than simple requests or than nagging or scolding.

POST EXCHANGE

Of men and women in the U. S. Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Marine and WAAC.

By RAB ROBBY

First the Army, then the Navy, then the Marines, then the Air Corp, then the Coast Guard and now the Maritime Service and E.R.C. (enlisted reserve corp) march our young Negroes of Des Moines. The Maritime Service has the distinguished honor of being the dangerous setup of any branch of service, but is the best paid. While the E.R.C. is the radio and telephone division of the Signal Corp which takes as its enlistee, Owen Edward Robinson, while the former service has enlisted and shipped to New York Tom McGregory, Eugene Brown and Marrell Quincy.

The E.R.C. offers youth a fine program, a six month deferment from the army with training at West high at a salary of $85.00 for the first three months and if successful, an additional three month training at $120.00 per month which totals six months deferment, a civilian and excellent training with good pay. Further information can be obtained at the Crocker Y.

Sgt. Harry Johnson wrote Mrs. Alice Bell, 846 Fifteenth street, with al team in about ten years. Bob Wright was the one bright light for East with his fierce end play. Even in defeat he looked good when the entire East team looked like so many wooden soldiers. History repeated itself in this game. In 1923 the East team your writer was a member of, a team that let a kickoff roll around in the ground behind the goal line until one of the old West high players came down and fell on it. We lost 19-0 and the play occurred on the kickoff at the start of the second half. Last week we could hardly believe our eyes when the same thing happened again. We began looking for Bus Davis and George Bourland, who were on the same team. It just seemed as if the calendar had been rolled back nineteen years. Lonnie Howard didn't play and we noticed that he limped badly as he came out to his seat on the bench. Jim Voltner played quite a bit and didn't do too badly on defense.

whom he formerly roomed, from Camp Carson, Colo., where he is stationed, thanking her for Bible reference she sent him. "Everybody thanks you for the verse from the Bible (Ezekiel 16:6). We had a hard time finding it in these little pocket Bibles we have—but we went to the chaplain who is the same as a preacher out here and he found it." Mrs. Bell said she had given the verse to many men and women who had found it valuable. It reads: "And when I passed by thee, and saw thee polluted in thine own blood, I said unto thee when thou wast in thy blood, Live; yea, I said unto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Live." (Ezekiel 16:6).

Mrs. Bell explained that there may come times on the battlefield when an injured soldier is bleeding internally and if he repeats this passage, it will be helpful to him.
