AWARD FOR NAVY HERO SOUGHT BY NAACP

New York, N. Y.—An award for Charles Jackson French, mess attendant, first class, U. S. Navy who rescued a group of fellow seamen from a torpedoed destroyer by towing them many miles on a raft to safety was requested this week by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In answer to the NAACP inquiry as to whether the Navy planned to honor the heroic messman, Randall Jacobs, chief of Naval Personnel told the NAACP that "no recommendation for commendation or an award has been received in this case. However, the matter is under investigation and provision has been made whereby you will be informed, should a recommendation be received for French.

USDA ADDS 109 NEGRO WORKERS TO STAFF

Washington, D. C.—USDA Personnel Director T. Roy Reid revealed in his 1942 annual report to Secretary Wickard that the number of Negro employees in the Washington office was increased by 109 between July, 1941 and July, 1942. However, it is estimated that the number is now in excess of 200. The report also notes that several Negro workers had been promoted.

NAVY URGED TO TAKE NEGRO CADETS BY STATE

New York, N. Y.—The State War Council acted this week on a complaint filed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People against the barring by the Navy department of Negroes from special training courses at colleges and universities in this state. The Council's action was revealed by Governor Dewey who declined to name the institutions in which discrimination has taken place. Allegedly discrimination is being practiced in the V-1 class of courses under which students in college enlist in the Naval Reserves and are allowed to finish their college careers so that the Navy may have college-trained men for deck officers and other ranks in the Navy. Negroes are not now eligible for the Navy Officer Corps, although they can become non-commissioned officers.

The NAACP had asked for an investigation of the V-1 program in both the Army and the Navy departments but according to the Governor's office discrimination has occurred only in courses offered by the Navy department.

Des Moines Boys Make Good in Coast Shipyards

By EDWARD JACKSON
(A Welder in Richmond Shipyard)
San Francisco, Cal.—Here in San Francisco, there are quite a number of Des Moines boys, who are making good for their home front. The Negroes here in California are really doing their part in all positions and occupations in which they were trained or already had experience.

West High War Training School helped the colored boys in a big way here. All who have come out from school there have really made good.

Get Ratings

"Ben Dacus and Gayard Amos have been here a few months. They both have received their second rating. Edward Jackson has received his journeyman rating already and was one of the welders on the ship which was built in Richmond shipyard No. 2 in four days. These boys all came out of West High with good grades. Solomon Lanier and Emanuel McGee, both riggers in Sausalito shipyard which is right out of San Francisco, Dan Dennis and Cleo Johnson are chippers in Sausalito. Tom Mayberry is a burner here and he is doing good in this shipyard.

Among others here are Louis Taylor, Claude Payne, Geraldine Bates and J. D. Charles, Jack Karlington and quite a few others. The shipyards are crying for men who can work at anything. They will pay one dollar an hour to learn. All these boys make from $1.05 upward an hour.

"A Negro can work himself up to foreman here, known here as leaderman.

"The army stationed some Des Moines boys not far from here—John Long, Therman Dixon and a few others. It is surprising to see how many are here. We all hope to see more out here—to help in this war effort—so our boys who are fighting on the fronts can come home.

Plenty of Work

"With an all-out effort on our home front will save a lot of our boys' lives. There is plenty of work now—so any Des Moines boys who want to get a job can surely get it here. And—if they come out—we will show them around."

Edward Jackson, former Des Moines resident, wrote the article to inform the local citizens of the opportunities for men and boys who are seeking good jobs. In his letter Mr. Jackson informed that he has two children, the latest, a California born son, now three months old, weighing eleven pounds. He also has a radio shop. He resides at 1613 Laguna street, San Francisco, Cal., where he receives his Bystander.

Held for Stove Poker Murder of Joseph Baker

Frank R. Brown, 34, who is charged with the stove poker-murder of Joseph Edward Baker, 32, of 1169 Second place, is being held without bond for a hearing set for Feb. 9.

When arraigned before Municipal Judge Harry Grund Monday, Brown pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Baker died of a broken neck early Sunday morning after being struck with a stove poker during an altercation in a house at 822 Tenth street. Detective Chief Paul Castelline said. Shortly after the altercation, Brown who said he lived at 1040 Fourth street place, appeared at the police station and told police he struck Baker in self defense.

Brown had been released from the state penitentiary at Fort Madison, Ia., Nov. 21, 1942, after serving an eight-year term for manslaughter, and Baker attacked him with a knife during a dice game.

The manslaughter sentence followed Brown's plea of guilty to a charge of shooting Ruby Jett, 27, here in May, 1938. According to detectives, Brown said Baker became angry because (Brown) would not let him have money to enter the dice game.

Police held as material witness James (Sonny) Brown, 27, 1200 Park street, who police said operated the house where the slaying took place as a "recreation center," and Lester Jefferson, 25, 1148 First street.

Poker Bent

The iron stove poker, five feet long and nearly half an inch in diameter, was held in evidence. It was bent into a loop by the force of the blow, police said.

Police said three couples and James Brown were in the house at the time of the trouble.

The body of Baker was taken to the L. Fowler and Son Funeral home. He was a driver for a meat packing company. Funeral services were held Thursday.

Victory Gardens To Be Important

Washington, D. C.—Your Victory Garden is going to be increasingly important this year, and here's why: (1) certain foods will be scarcer, and if food is not produced at home, your family may not have an adequate diet. (2) Meat and many canned foods will be rationed, so the vegetables from your garden will stand you in good stead. (3) The armed forces are consuming larger quantities of fresh and processed fruits and vegetables than during civilian life, which means that there will be less for the home front. (4) The government will take a larger percentage of certain kinds of fruits and vegetables from the 1942 and 1943 commercial pack and less amounts of these products will appear in grocery stores.

It is not only important that farmers have Victory Gardens, but equally important that city folks, who have adequate plots, also have them. It is believed that thousands of persons living in towns and suburbs will start Victory Gardens this year. For information on how to start and care for a garden, write your County Extension agent, or consult your State Extension Service office at the State agricultural college.

Funeral rites were held Wednesday at the Estes Funeral home with burial in Glendale cemetery.

Among the survivors are: Mrs. Viola Taylor, daughter; Mrs. Julia White, sister; Charles Brown, great grandson.

Begin Fifth Annual Negro Newspaper Week March 28

Atlanta, Ga.—During the week of February 28-March 6, the Negro Newspaper Publishers Association and the Delta Phi Delta Journalists Association will cooperate with the Negro newspapers of America in the promotion of the fifth annual observance of National Negro Newspaper Week and the celebration of the One Hundred Sixteenth Anniversary of the American Negro Press. The theme of the week is to be, "Functions of a Minority Press in a Nation at War."

Cognizant of the significant role of the press in the most critical period of our national history, the sponsors of this project urge the participating papers to take this opportunity to reassure America that they are not unaware of their obligation to promote national unity and restrain from releasing information which might aid the enemy in defeating our forces in the far-flung battle areas of the world, making it possible for the axis to heap devastation upon this land. At the same time, it is hoped that the papers will re-emphasize their determination to continue to strive for the perpetuation of the democratic principles in the United States since victory on the battlefield will be without avail if the foes of decency and right are victorious at home.

Since its inception, the American Negro Press has striven for the full integration of the Negro into American life by attempting to familiarize the nation with the contributions made by the race in the development of this Republic. No movement designed to promote the welfare and progress of America has gone without the support of the Negro segment of the nation's fourth estate. Today, the Negro press stands firmly in support of war efforts while at the same time, it joins with all organizations and individuals who are struggling for the Negro's chance to work and fight for the cause in which we are engulfed.

Selected by her teacher last fall as one of two pupils in her class to write a soldier abroad, Janice Lee Wadsworth, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wadsworth, of 1310 Ascension street, and 4th student at Nash school, received an answer this week from Father Steve Kane, Catholic priest formerly of St. Ambrose cathedral here, now captain in the armed forces somewhere in North Africa.

Girl Writes to Captain in Africa

Father Kane is chaplain of the 168th Infantry, which includes many Des Moines boys. He praises their fighting ability and says they are the "finest fellows in the world." He extended his blessings to the children of the 4B class at Nash school. The youngsters prepared a box for him, which he will never receive as it was shipped on a vessel that was torpedoed enroute.

The censored letter, dated October 30, was written on a card taken from the Germany embassy during the fall of Algiers. Enclosed in the envelope was a red, white and blue holiday greeting card upon which is printed the program of religious services, the dinner menu, entertainment bill, and a schedule of athletic events and sports.

NYA GIRL WEDS

MRS. K. N. WRIGHT

Mrs. Julia Shackelford announced the marriage of her daughter, Elizabeth Ann, to Lieutenant Kenneth N. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jackson of Sheridan, Wyo.

The ceremony was performed in Kansas City, Mo., on Jan. 16, after which the couple went to Wyoming to visit the bridegroom's parents.

Mrs. Wright, a native of Des Moines, was a graduate of North high in the class of 1942. She was winner of an NYA award last year as the "youth most valuable to national defense," before being transferred to the ordnance plant.

Lieutenant Wright attended Lincoln university in Jefferson City, Mo. He enlisted in the U. S. army last March and was stationed at Camp Dodge until September when he went to officer's training school in Ft. Riley, Kas. He was commissioned second lieutenant on Jan. 14.

The bride will be at home at 1047 Fifth avenue, until she joins her husband later in his new post.

General hospital on Wednesday. Mrs. Vaughn, 1039 Fourth place, was taken to the hospital in a critical condition Saturday night, Jan. 23, when her dress caught fire from a cook stove at her home.

The mother was doing her family washing in the kitchen when she backed into the hot stove.

After rolling on the floor to extinguish her burning clothing, Mrs. Vaughn rushed to a telephone and called police. Physicians said she suffered severe burns about the legs, hands and back.

Warns 'World Cooperation Or Extermination Within Next 25 or 50 Years'

New Orleans, La.—The world is heading, after this war, toward a United Nations of the World patterned much after the United States of America, with wide powers centralized in a world congress. Each individual nation will retain autonomy except in certain specific realms, such as military power, where authority will be centered in the union government. Further, the world's white nations, and particularly the United States and Britain who as leaders are therefore the bulwarks of white supremacy, will be compelled to concede full equality and full representation in the coalition to the overwhelmingly more numerous non-white peoples of the earth's population. "Either this, or the entire white races faces literal extermination within the next 25 or 50 years" by dark races now fast learning the white man's formula for domination.

Warning

This grim warning was sounded by Dr. Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald fund, in a speech delivered at Dillard university Wednesday, January 20. On the same program appeared Dr. Will Alexander, one of the co-founders with Dr. Embree of Dillard and the institution's first head, having served as acting president until the appointment of Dr. Stuart Nelson in 1936.

Dr. Embree illustrated his talk with a map of the eastern hemisphere, and pictured graphically how and where why civilizations had risen and fallen during the past 100,000 years.

Combinations

The rise of each civilization, said Dr. Embree, had been generated by similar factor combinations: 1) rich, vitalizing blood admixtures, 2) exposure to ideas from external sources 3) favorable physical surroundings, and 4) a vital new invention. After each rise of a special civilization there was a leveling off as other peoples learned to use the vital new invention with equal skill and more aggressive effectiveness. This was true of Egypt, which invented farming; of Greece, which invented writing; of Rome, which invented the science of organization; and history was destined to repeat itself in the case of the present great Western European civilization which had surged upward into world domination on its high development of power machinery unless that civilization had the wisdom to enter into an era of cooperation on a basis of full equality with the more numerous non-white peoples who had now solved their riddle of greatness.

No Support

"There is no support, either anthropologically, historically or biologically, for the belief that a white skin denotes innate superiority," emphasized Dr. Embree. "All the peoples of the world stem from one common human family and superficial differences such as colors of eyes and skin and length of arms and size of feet, which accrued as the result of living thousands of years under different environmental conditions and eating different foods and the like, are just what they are, mere superficial capacities. And the recognition of this truth by the white peoples, the complete awareness that the dark races are fast acquiring wide skills in handling the devices which gave white nations dominance for four hundred years and permitted them, a small minority, to conquer and hold in servitude virtually the whole world are the only reasonable postulation for a new world order of permanence and common sense and progress. In the other direction lie world chaos, and extermination for the white races within the next 25 to 50 years."

Caldwell, Orangeburg, S. C.; Willia G. Cherry, Detroit, Mich.; Mildred V. Dupee, Charleston, W. Va.; Aurelia I. Harris, Kansas City, Kan.; and Dorothy H. Scott, Alton, Ill.

The members of the class will be assigned to duty immediately. They will go to all branches of the WAAC, training and supervising the work of Auxiliaries who are replacing men in non-combat army jobs.

Speaker for the exercises was First Officer Mary S. Bell, WAAC Service Command Director for the Seventh Service Command. The oath of office was administered to the group by Capt. Roy S. Entyre, assistant post adjutant. Col. J. A. Hoag, commandant, welcomed the group into the ranks of officers of the Corps.

It was the third group of officers drawn from the ranks of Auxiliaries to attend Officer Candidate School. Admission to Officer Candidate School is based upon outstanding ability, devotion to duty, and performance in previous work, as well as leadership qualities of the individual members. All members of the Corps have equal opportunity to qualify.

'Old Fuss and Feathers'

The American general, Winfield Scott, known as "Fuss and Feathers" because of his precise manners and dress, was born near Petersburg, Va., June 18, 1786. After attending the College of William and Mary for a brief period in 1805 he left and studied law in the office of David Robinson in Petersburg. In 1808 he was made a captain in the United States army and for his participation in the battles at Queenstown, Chippewa and Lundy's Lane, in the War of 1812, was advanced to the rank of major. After succeeding to the command of the army in 1841, Scott completed several difficult assignments, his greatest achievement being the Mexican expedition in which he captured at Vera Cruz, defeated Santa Anna at Cerro Gordo, took Jalapa and Puebla and on September 14, 1847, captured the Mexican capital, where the peace treaty was signed in February, 1848. The Whigs nominated him for the presidency in 1852, but he was defeated overwhelmingly by Franklin Pierce. In 1852 also the brevet rank of lieutenant general was created for him. In 1861 he retired from the army and he died five years later at West Point.

Base for Hannibal's Struggles

Sousse was a base for the Carthaginian leader Hannibal in his struggles against ancient Rome. Julius Caesar launched one of his African campaigns by landing there. The city's importance is shown by its miles of Christian catacombs still well preserved. Then known as Hadrumetum, Sousse owes its modern name to a "susa," a moth-like insect that figures in fables of the city's Arab era.

Is Iowa Bystander Appreciation Month

Just How Much Do Iowa People Appreciate The Iowa Bystander?

The Iowa Bystander is a Negro paper which for over forty-eight years has

- 1. Given the people national, state and local news which has kept its citizens abreast of the times. 2. Provided an open forum for a discussion of the news by the staff and the public generally. 3. Fearlessly championed the rights of the Negro for a full enjoyment of his civil, political, educational and economic rights. 4. Been the source of many valuable opportunities for Negro boys and girls in Iowa.

These things can best be done for Iowa people by an Iowa paper. In these unusual times, it is more necessary than ever that Iowans keep the Iowa Bystander in the forefront as a strong spokesman for the Negro in Iowa.

We are anxious that our friends, rather than the Bystander staff, sponsor this movement confining our efforts to telling them what we want them to do. Thus every organization, every individual can have a hand in this effort. The names of those who cooperate—unless otherwise directed—will be published in the paper.

- You may cooperate by: 1. Paying your subscription in advance at least to the summer of 1943 if you are delinquent. 2. If you are already paid up get some friend to do so. Use one of the coupons or both below which you may select. But we want you to handle the coupon.

Tunis' Mohammedans

Approximately 93,000 of Tunis' 219,000 inhabitants are Mohammedans. Almost 50,000 French, and an equal number of Italians, and approximately half as many Jews, are concentrated in this port city. Tunis, centuries old and many times battle-scarred, came into French hands in 1881 when Tunisia became a French protectorate.

THE HOG THAT WILL NEVER GO TO MARKET

It's a hog you don't see in this country. Landrace is the breed, a wonderful bacon hog developed in Denmark.

The Danes were just about the very best farmers in the world. They were a thrifty people. Through their farm cooperatives they produced and marketed livestock and farm products of the finest quality.

Successful and happy were these farmers—until one day the Germans came. They took the hog. They took all hogs. They took the butter and the cheese—and the cooperatives too. Like vultures, they picked Denmark to the bone.

Remember this story as you market your livestock, crops and other farm produce. Remember it and put every dollar you can into U. S. War Bonds—every dollar you can.

A note from Mrs. Pearl S. Jefferson at Tuskegee Institute, Ala., says:

"It seems that Des Moines is quite lively socially, as well as busy with war activities. We are rather busy, too." She reads the Bystander weekly. It was not cold enough for Venita Quincy last week when thermometer hit ten below. She had to cool off with an ice cream cone as she waited for a street car. And, on a similar night, Miss Mary Holmes, USO secretary, was scouring the town-looking for ice cream. "It's a shame," she lamented, "all of these stores are out of ice cream and I just got to have some." These WARM ladies!

DEAN LANIER SUCCEEDS HAMPTON HEAD

Hampton Institute, Ala.—Hampton Institute marked another unprecedented epoch in her history as Dean of Instruction R. O'Hara Lanier completed his initial week as acting president of the college.

He is the first Negro ever to direct temporarily, the affairs of the institution which General S. Armstrong founded 75 years ago.

Dean Lanier was elected acting president of the institute Tuesday, Jan. 19, following President Malcolm S. MacLean's surprise announcement the day before that he had been called into active service in the U. S. navy.

Dr. MacLean, on an indefinite leave of absence from Hampton, received the navy commission of lieutenant commander and reported to Navy headquarters in Washington for duty last Saturday.

Although the exact nature of Dr. MacLean's new duties was not known it was definitely ascertained at the college that he would not act as adviser on Negro affairs for the U. S. navy.

NEGROES ASKED TO SEND CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE PRESIDENT

New York—Negroes throughout the United States, along with all other American citizens, are being asked and urged at this time to make liberal contributions and join the "March of Dimes" to the President to continue the fight against Infantile Paralysis. Negroes afflicted with Infantile Paralysis benefit from these contributed funds as do all other Americans so afflicted.

President Roosevelt has authorized, for the tenth consecutive year, the use of his birthday, January 30, for the raising of funds to continue the nation-wide fight against Infantile Paralysis. The Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is asking all to send contributions to the President on his birthday.

Trees Continue to Grow Until They Finally Die

Ask almost any amateur gardener "How long does a tree grow?" Odds are he'll answer "until it reaches maturity, of course." But he's wrong; dead wrong, according to Dr. E. Porter Felt, director of a tree research laboratory in Stamford, Conn.

Dr. Felt says tree scientists agree that unlike humans, whose terminal growth ends as adults, trees grow until they die. Two factors determine the continual growth of twigs and trunk—the inherent nature of the species and the growing conditions, which include soil, climate, water supply, food supply, etc.

The process of change in trees is more gradual than in humans, which probably accounts for the popular misconception that trees stop growing while they are still alive.

Dr. Felt points out that a cypress of Tule, Mexico, has lived to over 4,000 years and has attained a height of 140 feet and a trunk circumference of 117 feet. This is believed to be the largest trunk girth in the world.

J. M. C.—I have made arrangements to take a welding course and go to California, to work. I am a little too old for the present draft but would like to do something to aid the war effort. Is this a wise idea?

Ans.: Since you have been practically forced out of your present employment, it would be a wise idea for you to prepare yourself for work that is in demand at the present time. The welding course should interest you as your past experience has been somewhat similar. Make the change at the appointed time.

C. M.—There are two soldiers in my life. Both say that they love me. K. L. has given me everything that my heart would wish for. C. B. is my type, he tells me the things that a girl of my age loves to hear. Which one should I wait for?

Ans.: Your friendship with both of these boys doesn't necessarily precipitate marriage—not for the present at any rate. It would be foolish to marry either of them in your present state of indecision. Better take the sweet nothings that boys tell you at face value until they are substantiated by something more serious.

J. T.—I live with my aunt who is blind. I work out all day and when I come home, you know that I have my hands full taking care of her and getting ready for work the next day. My boy friend wants me to leave her and marry him. Should I?

Ans.: When the right man comes along you should consider your happiness and marry, even though you have to go to the expense of paying someone to look after your aunt. You haven't found that right man yet. This man who is encouraging you to leave your job and your aunt has no way of supporting you. Your present set-up is no doubt unpleasant for you. But it would be even more so to marry someone whom you are not sure you love.

D. M. C.—Does my husband intend to buy the land he has promised me he would purchase and build a home? Or does he expect to live here with his brother all the rest of his life?

Ans.: It would be difficult to build at this time, due to the shortage of labor and building materials. However, it would be a good investment to go ahead and buy the land and begin truck farming. His brother has not offered him a permanent home. As soon as your husband finds a vacancy in the neighborhood, he will rent a place and put you in it.

L. R.—I am in my last year of high school, am considered very attractive, am built nicely, wear nice clothes and I am a drum majorette. My parents have given me dancing every since I was six. Should I enter dramatic school or try immediately for the stage after I graduate?

Ans.: Your chances for advancement would be much greater if you went to dramatic school for a few years. It isn't necessary for you to begin making your own living now. Girls with a nice figure and who can dance are a dime a dozen on the screen and stage—but the ones who possess these qualities plus acting ability are the ones who eventually gain recognition and success.

New Jersey Staggered

Hour Plan Is Success
First results of New Jersey's state-wide staggered hours program indicate the plan will be successful in making transportation facilities more available to war industry workers and in reducing travel time, especially in Newark and the surrounding metropolitan area where many industries are located.

In setting up the system New Jersey became the first state in which a staggered hours program was ordered officially on a state-wide basis by a governmental authority, the American Municipal Association reports.

Drawn up by the state war transportation committee, the program is administered by a state co-ordinator of transportation who has full authority to co-ordinate public transportation facilities in keeping with committee policies.

Shortly after the program went into effect, observers in Newark reported that seats in buses, trolleys and trains from the suburbs were available to many commuters who in the past were fortunate to get standing room. Travel time on buses and trolleys was reduced in many instances, and in some cases the saving in time was as much as 10 or 15 minutes.

Coffee and 'Good Neighbor Policy'

Most Americans can name Brazil as a coffee supplier. Few know this beverage bean also is imported from Colombia, Guatemala, El Salvador, Mexico, Costa Rica, Cuba, Ecuador, Haiti, Nicaragua, Puerto Rico, San Domingo, Venezuela, and other American countries. When wartime shipping cut down on coffee imports, the United States entered into an agreement—the Inter-American Coffee Agreement—with our coffee-growing neighbors to the south protecting each one's share of the reduced market in this country.

Railroad Junction

Tebessa, Algerian rail junction springboard to Axis-held coast holds tangible evidences of a life story that was being written more than 16 centuries before the United States won its independence. It is enclosed within the walls of the old Citadel of Solomon built in the Sixth century by the Byzantine General Solomon. These walls, 22 feet high and more than six feet thick, are fortified by a number of towers and cut by several gateways. Today, the town, predominantly Arab, has a normal population of between 11 and 12 thousand people. In its neighborhood are found considerable deposits of high-grade iron ore and phosphate of lime.

It Takes a Lot of TELEPHONING to Win a War

War has increased telephoning so tremendously that telephone lines and equipment in many places are overloaded with calls.

More lines and equipment can't be built now because of the wartime shortage of copper and other materials which must be used to make planes, tanks, and shells. This means we must get along with substantially what we now have.

Effect on Service

Long distance lines to war activity centers are so busy that some calls are delayed. However, essential war calls are being handled with dispatch.

In some places local service at peak hours may not always be as prompt as in normal times.

The class of service and type of telephone equipment customers may want can't always be provided.

Thank You

Whenever service has been affected, our customers have been very understanding. They know that war needs must come first. This fine cooperation is helping a lot. Thank you.

The legislator who introduced in the Iowa House of Representatives seeking to close the liquor stores for the duration of the war has good intentions, but we are inclined to feel that he is playing into the hands of the big bootleggers.

We are certain that this misguided legislation will not get very far.

WHO STARTS IT IS IMPORTANT

Speaking to the students at Atlanta (Georgia) University recently, Dr. Thomas Vernon Smith, professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago, said:

"The ideals on which a democracy is founded are just puffs of breath unless there are volunteers who are willing to be carriers through the scurrilous life."

The price that a man must pay for his ideals is discipline, and in a democracy this is achieved through the search for truth, beauty, and goodness. A scientist pays for his search for truth by long hours of research, oftentimes becoming a martyr.

Here Dr. Smith hits the nail on the head when he emphasizes that we must have volunteers who are willing to be carriers in our development of democracy. And it does take some courage to do this.

Speak with most people today about the injustices suffered by Negroes and they will all deplore them. Most of them express their desire that something ought to be done to make democracy work where the Negro is involved but the problem of who will take the leadership is the big question; too, it further happens that generally those people with influence and prestige who could take the leadership and get things done are the hardest ones to get interested.

Last week one of our public spirited white citizens wrote an article to the Des Moines Tribune suggesting a program for closer cooperation among Negro and white citizens here. We do not approve of all his suggestions; some had considerable merit. For instance he named a group of white and Negro citizens who could get together and work out a program. The men he suggested were the influential type who would certainly have great weight in the community; he further suggested that an effort be made to get all cafes to refuse discrimination rather than placing all the weight on a few places.

Here again is a program worth considering and involving a very pressing problem but who will be the "carrier" as Mr. Smith suggested? Very often if the job can be started it is not so difficult of accomplishment as we think. Fearless leadership among both races in this field is needed.

THE AFRICAN MEETING

This radio announcement that a special bulletin would be broadcast Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock was a cue that something important was to happen. And important it was for the world found out that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill had concluded another of their historical meetings.

Spectacular, daring, showmanship, all describe the meeting. A view of

The unusual site of the rendezvous, the method of reaching the spot and the important questions that were considered. Now that the United Nations are on the offensive, the necessity of mapping plans to enlarge the scope of operations becomes important.

As yet Russia and China have done most of our fighting. We have been in the preparatory stage. Some fighting aid must be given these countries otherwise they rather than the United Nations, will have actually won the war.

Then, too, the French political situation is still very unsatisfactory. And if we are to get substantial aid from them at least the leaders of the French movement, favorable to our cause, must get together and work together.

It is unfortunate that neither Russia nor China had a representative at the conference. And even though reasons have been advanced for their absence, no amount of excuses can and will possibly satisfy those people who insist rightfully so that every step in this big undertaking requires the united support of all the Allied Nations.

Unquestionably these countries are somewhat skeptical of us anyway. They know that Mr. Churchill has made some remarks that just don't go down the throat easily; that this country does not have a clean record even about some of the big things it is trying to inculcate in the hearts and minds of other nations. And for this reason, we ought to be pretty careful to assure Russia and China that not only their help but also their advice and counsel are needed to bring this conflict to a peaceful conclusion.

The Bystander hopes that the work of this great meeting will result in complete coordination of all weapons, supplies and men at our command to bring us out of this terrible conflict.

DOXEY AS SERGEANT AT ARMS CHOICE RESENTED BY NEGROES

New York, N. Y.—The NAACP expressed this week in a communication to Senator Alben W. Barkley the shock of Negroes throughout the United States at the selection of ex-Negro, Doxie as Sergeant at Arms by a Democrat caucus.

The NAACP warned that this selection coming at the time of the cancellation of the FEPC hearings on discrimination would be considered by many Negroes proof that the Democratic party does not wish Negro support. The NAACP stated that it was probable that resentment would grow since the sergeant at arms has charge of capitol police and Negroes might feel that the choice of a man who joined in leading the filibuster of the anti-poll tax bill would cause further disregard of citizenship rights of Negro visitors to the capitol. This does not seem unlikely, the NAACP said, with the capitol police under the authority of a man who expressed himself as did Doxie in the senate floor.

PVT. ARTHUR K. BUSH AT FT. LEONARD WOOD

Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.—Private Arthur K. Bush, Des Moines, Iowa, who recently entered military service, has arrived at the Engineer Replacement Training Center here for an intensive training program in preparation for combat engineer duty. He is assigned to the 7th Engineer Training Group (Colored).

Training will include basic subjects like close and extended order drill, manual of arms, rifle marksmanship, and combat principles as well as the functions of military engineering—use of tools and equipment, building of fixed and floating bridges, demolitions and construction of roads and obstacles. Soldiers go from here to tactical units or to special training or officer candidate schools.

Malaria Cure Discovered In Seventeenth Century

The first protozoan disease for which a specific therapeutic became available was malaria. The crude bark of the cinchona tree was used for the purpose beginning about 1630, but this was superseded in 1820 by quinine, one of the alkaloid derivatives of the bark.

Malaria has been known as disease of man since ancient times. Hippocrates recognized and differentiated certain fevers which undoubtedly were caused by malarial parasites. The disease represented a hazard to the progress of all the mass migrations by armies and the great conquests in the world's history, and it was one of the most important obstacles in the colonization of the New World. Many settlements in North America, especially along the coast of the southeastern

366TH BATTALION GETS VIOLINIST

Camp Wolters, Texas—Each day a soldier of neat appearance and military bearing is selected to be the Battalion Commander's Orderly. Recently it fell to a musician, Pvt. Nicholas L. Gerren, of Kansas City, who has studied violin technique and interpretation for two years at the Moscow Conservatory of Music in Russia, to undertake the assignment.

Pvt. Gerren obtained his Bachelor of Music degree from the University of Kansas, then under the expert tutelage of Isadore Berkowitz in Kansas City, this talented soldier was sent to Russia in 1935 on a scholarship sponsored by the Intercity Civic Association in Kansas. Broadcasting with the Moscow Radio Theatre Symphony Orchestra, deftly latched by such notables as Otto Klemperer, Fritz Steidy and Erich Kleiber, the 30-year-old musician was coached in violin by Boris Sibor, pupil of Leopold Auer, and in orchestral conducting by Gregory Stolyarov, both of the Moscow Conservatory.

RESUMPTION OF FEPC PUBLIC HEARING URGED

Washington, D. C.—Unless the President is ready to undertake a drastic revision of executive order 8802 providing positive sanctions covering every field to which the Fair Employment Practice Committee has been assigned no tampering with the committee's hearings or with any other of its procedures should even be considered, the NAACP declared this week in a memorandum to the president of the United States and to the FEPC.

The memorandum which stated that the recent arbitrary action of War Manpower Commissioner McNutt called for more than condemnation supplemented the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's protests against the postponement of railroad discrimination hearings scheduled for January 25th.

The NAACP recommended that the only other effective alternate to public hearings would be the increasing of the committee's authority by permitting it to require all holders of government contracts to execute an oath that the employer has not been

United States, were necessarily given up soon after their founding because of the ravages of malaria. A cure for malaria was discovered in the Americas. In the first years of the 17th century, Jesuit missionaries in Peru began to adopt the native method of treating malaria by the use of the bark of a Peruvian tree. The precise circumstances of the introduction of this method to Europe are obscure. According to one school of historians, Don Francisco Lopez Canazares, the Corregidor of Lima, had himself been cured by the treatment, sent a supply of the casca de Ribera, the second wife of the viceroy of Peru, lay ill with malaria. Her infection was also cured. So impressed was Francisco de Ribera with the curative potentialities of the bark that she carried a quantity back to Spain where, in 1640, it was employed for the treatment of persons ill of malaria on her husband's estate. The name Cinchona was applied to the tree erroneously by Linnaeus in 1742, in honor of the countess of Cinchon, the first wife of the viceroy of Peru, America. She had nothing to do with the discovery of the treatment for malaria.

Three Railroads Reaching Inland Algerian Tebessa

Rail and road facilities at Tebessa make this inland Algerian town a well-situated springboard for invading American troops headed for Axis-occupied Tunisia and western Libya.

Tebessa is less than a half hour's bomber flight from the Mediterranean and only ten miles from the Tunisian border. Three railroads reach the town. Troops from Bone, Philippeville, Bougie and Algiers, all United Nations-held Mediterranean ports in Algeria can be dispatched there by train. But so can Axis forces from Tunis and Bizerte, Tunisian ports dominated by the enemy. By road too, the town can be reached by a motor road which connects with a network of north African roads linking coastal cities and towns.

As a military position, Tebessa is repeating an ancient role. The Romans, who founded it (as Theveste) near the end of the first century, made it the hub of nine roads. Joined with Carthage and other important centers of north Africa, Tebessa reached its peak of development around the beginning of the third century, when traders came from far and near to its markets.

Two Negroes Win J.C.C. Crowns

The fight fans who went to have a look-see in the Jewish Community Center boxing meet last week—pleasantly they saw Bob Carey outclass his field to win the bantamweight title. Roland Taylor all but annihilate Paul Bassler for the middleweight crown and then they saw the veteran of them all get robbed of the featherweight honors. Bobby Carey just had too much class for the boys in his 118-pound class and really had no trouble taking care of that section.

Roland Taylor got Paul Bassler in the finals of the 100-pound class. Taylor found Bassler, a standup fighter, made to order for his looking-light swings and tied off, pitching his right hand as if he were tossing a violin by Boris Sibor, pupil of Leopold Auer, and in orchestral conducting by Gregory Stolyarov, both of the Moscow Conservatory.

GRAVES VICTIM

Morton Graves was the victim of a peculiar decision when a favorite was a win. Del Cockayne built up to the boys and lauded as a protege of Dave Fidler's would have looked bad long. As it turned out he would have looked much better losing the decision than he did getting the raw one.

The East high perched firmly on top of the city series ladder last week by dusing Roosevelt for one of the few wins the Scarlet and Black has scored over the West End boys in basketball. Lonnie Howard, Ed Palmer and Bob Wright, all playing their final city yearies game, played over their usual capacities, both offensively and defensively. Lonnie sank nine points in 22-24 win and Palmer knocked down a host of shots. Wright played his usual hard checking defensive game. It was a fine way to end a career—a victory over your bitterest rivals with each boy playing a major part.

POST EXCHANGE

Of men and women in the U. S. Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Marine and WAAC.

Sgt. F. O. Morrow of Camp Carson, Colo., is home on a leave to visit his family.

MAKES FIRST VISIT TO FORT

Pvt. Herbert Smarts, was in the city last week on a furlough from a camp at Scottfield, Ill., visiting relatives. While touring the city he was reluctant about going out of Fort Jos Moines to see the WAAC training center. "Tell me about the WAAC," he asked one of his friends.

They were just getting started when he left for camp. You know, all of the eighteen years I lived in Des Moines, I have never been out to Fort Jos Moines." Thanks to the WAAC's Private Smarts may never have put his feet on the Iowa fort.

WESTERNER BLOWS IN

Lieut. Harry L. Cox, a native Californian, who is six-foot-four, flew into town last Saturday to visit his aunt, Miss Helen Cox of San Mateo, Calif., a WAAC officer candidate. On his tour of the city, he stopped at the branch Y.W.C.A., during a fun night session. When he entered the building—nearly looting the top of the door—the gay fun-nights got so quiet, one could have heard a pin drop. Most of the girls sighed "O-o-o-o-o!" Look at that t-a-a-l man!

Lieutenant Cox is stationed at Camp Breckenridge, Ky. He stopped at the home of Mrs. H. Lawther, 952 Sixteenth street.

O. C. Graduation Saturday The thirteenth officer candidate class of WAAC's will be developed earlier than planned. Jan. 6 development and committee: that rehabilitation service shall only be rendered to members of the American Legion."
