"CABIN BOY CALL" IS NEW COMPOSITION BY WILLIS L. JAMES

Atlanta, Ga.—"Cabin Boy Call," a Negro steamboat song written by Willis Laurence James, recently has been published by the G. Schirmer Corporation of New York. It is the first effort of Mr. James to make the Negro cry a useable form of concert art. The Negro "cry" is an irregular, often disjointed, type of musical exclamation which is used in working, selling, or in expressing a personal mood.

"Cabin Boy Call" is a series of musical cries, which were sung for Mr. James by an old cabin boy in the Louisiana lowlands. Like most Negro cries, it was seldom sung straight through or in any one order, but it has been put together by the composer into one continuous song.

WOMEN RAISE $1,000

Tuskegee (ANP)—In a country wide drive, colored women of Macon county have raised more than $1,000 for the current infantile paralysis drive. Under the sponsorship of the Tuskegee Women's club, which is headed by Mrs. Catherine Moton Patterson, wife of the president of Tuskegee Institute, every organization it was possible to touch and many individuals were canvassed during the solicitation.

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF ENSIGN'S WIFE

Albany, Ore. (ANP)—Robert Lee Folkes, Los Angeles dining car cook, was indicted by a county grand jury Thursday on a first degree murder charge in the lower berth 13 slaying of Mrs. Richard F. James, a 21 year old Virginia white woman and wife of Ensign James. Folkes is charged with slaying the girl to death aboard a limited train Jan. 23. James was one of the nine witnesses who testified against Folkes.

JOSEPH, PEW, OTHERS HONOR SCOTT AT TESTIMONIAL DINNER

Philadelphia (ANP)—Joseph N. Pew, multi-millionaire chairman of the board of directors of the Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., largest shipyard in the world, told 300 friends of Dr. Emmett J. Scott that there was nothing he could say that would do justice to the service which Dr. Scott is rendering to the nation in this time of crisis.

Pew was one of a long list of speakers who paid tribute to Dr. Scott at a testimonial banquet at the Broadwood hotel last Saturday evening.

Referring to Dr. Scott as the "personal friend of a great educator and a great leader," Pew characterized him as "a worthy example of leadership and devotion to the simple, elemental things of life that make a country great."

The Sun Shipbuilding Co.'s yard No. 4, manned largely by colored personnel and of which Dr. Scott is director of employment and personnel relations, has "gladdened our hearts," the speaker said, and is "an astonishing example of what colored men and women can do if given the chance."

Director Explains USO Program

Because of the number of queries and comments regarding the program of the Keo-Way USO in the community and groups that are admitted to the Center, Miss Ann T. Wolfolk, makes the following statement:

"The common task of USO will be to provide services in the community near camps where the young men and women of the armed forces spend their free time. In some communities where there are a number of defense workers and the community agencies can not provide any or all of the services for defense workers,

TRUE TO A FIGHTING TRADITION!

Army to Induct 100 Negro Doctors Under Age of 38

Chicago (ANP)—Immediate needs of the army medical corps call for the induction throughout the nation of not more than 100 Negro doctors under 38 years of age, preferably those who have not established themselves in practice.

This information, setting at rest widely circulated alarmist reports which have disturbed physicians, was revealed following a conference at Provedent hospital Wednesday between officials of the army medical corps, the procurement and assignment committee of selective service and representatives of the National Medical Association.

The meeting was called at the instance of Lt. Col. C. C. Johnson. Dr. Clarence H. Payne, speaking for the committee following the conference, said, "for the immediate need of the army medical corps, a number less than 100 will be inducted into the service from that group of physicians who are below 38 years of age. Most of these have just finished a year's residency in the various hospitals throughout the country. It will be the intent of the procurement and assignment committee to avoid calling men of this age who have been in the practice of medicine for some length of time, and who are vitally needed by the civilian population. In other words, most of the group will be induced from the younger physicians who have not established themselves in practice. The rank of the men inducted into the service will necessarily be that of first lieutenant. This will allow those junior officers already in the active service to be promoted to a higher grade. The army already has sufficient applications to fill the need for officers of higher grades.

Locations of Selectees Limited

The committee recognized the overwhelming need of the rural communities, where in some areas there are only two physicians to a population of 52,000. Its policy will be to select men from the larger urban centers, especially from the northern and northwestern areas where the civilian population has a much higher ratio of medical men than the smaller towns and the rural population. The civilian population in the larger urban centers has a wealth of hospitals and clinics to attend to its needs.

"All physicians of our group, and of all other groups must register with procurement and assignment. There are 600 members of our group who have not registered, and they must do so at once. They are advised to write to Dr. Clarence H. Payne, the chairman of the War Defense Committee, National Medical Association, 5 East Garfield Boulevard, Chicago.

Analysis Shows Vote Against Wm. Pickens

New York, N. Y.—The recent vote of 66 northern and border state Congressmen backing the attempted ouster of William Pickens, Treasury department employe and Dies target, prompted the NAACP this week to warn Negro voters throughout the country to keep a close check on the records of their representatives and remember those records when the representatives come up for re-election. The NAACP pointed out that in the total of 136 votes against Pickens, 50 of the 66 cast by the northern and border state Congressmen were Republican votes.

Illinois' 17 Republican Congressmen voted solidly for the dismissal of Pickens from the War Savings Staff of the Treasury department on charges of subversive activity, made by the Dies committee.

In a protest sent to the House of Representatives before the final vote of 267 against 136 which brought about the reinstatement, the NAACP outlined the career of Mr. Pickens who since his graduation from Yale in 1904 had been zealous in the fight for the rights of Negroes and other minorities. For 21 years he was an executive officer in the NAACP.

Pickens Persecuted

"Mr. Pickens and other officials are being persecuted on false and malicious charges of un-American activity, without fair or competent investigation, and without opportunity to be heard," the NAACP said. "The conduct of the men responsible for this attack would be more becoming to agents of the Gestapo than it is to those acting in the name of the American Congress."

Negro Student in Honor Society at Iowa University

Iowa City, Ia.—The highest honor that can be bestowed upon an undergraduate student came to Phillip Hubbard of Des Moines son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jones, 1318 Ascension street, when he was elected to the Iowa Beta Chapter of the Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity at the University of Iowa, recently.

Hubbard was chosen on the basis of his pleasing personality, good character and high scholarship. This is the second honor that has come to him during this scholastic year, the first, this fall when he was elected a member of the Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemical society of the university.

He is a graduate of North high school in Des Moines.

Inductee Highly Recommended for Ordnance Job

Carl M. Ross, 811 W. Fourteenth street, who left the induction center at Camp Dodge for an unknown camp was highly recommended in letters from the ordnance plant where he was employed and Capt. Frank Miles, public relations director, State Selective Service.

Private Ross, who is seeking a job in the ordnance department of the army, had been employed at the U. S. Ordnance Plant as a janitor for three months. While there he had tried to get drafting and blue printing department, he said in an interview. He received special training along those lines while attending school in Baxter Springs, Kansas.

A letter signed by C. R. Mellen, captain, Ordnance Department, Executive officer, who praised the twenty-year-old young man's work, stated that he was a "dependable, efficient, honest, hardworking employee and got along well with his associates," and that "prior to this employment with the U. S. Rubber Co. he had experience as an automobile mechanic in Marshalltown, Iowa. He has completed courses in mechanical drawing and blueprinting.

Attention was called to the fact that Mr. Ross received the honor of being chosen one out of six boys from the Marshalltown Senior high schools to attend the Hawkeye Boys State, Des Moines, during the summer of 1940.

Another note in this letter to the "classification officer" called attention to the fact that "Mr. Carl M. Ross is colored."

Captain Miles, public relations director of State Selective Service, recommended Mr. Ross highly and asked that consideration be given his request to be placed in the ordnance department of the army. "He mentioned the young man's record in Marshalltown and stated that he was 'a hard worker, morally clean, physically strong and intensely loyal.'"

Mr. Ross is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ross, and husband of Mrs. Ernestine Quincy Ross.

Willkie Urges Negroes to Continue Fight for Rights

By LOWELL M. TRICE
Rushville, Ind. (ANP)—Declaring that he fervently hopes the Negroes of America will continue their fight for social, civic, and economic equality, Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential candidate in '40, re-emphasized his belief in the fundamental rights of world minority groups in an exclusive interview with this writer Saturday afternoon.

The interview took place in the front parlor of the rambling 10 room Rushville home of Mr. Willkie's mother-in-law. It was a three man conference—Mrs. Willkie modestly remaining in another room. The third person present was Lem Jones, personal assistant and traveling companion to the man who some day might occupy the White House.

Living Conditions

"Living conditions in the United States are far superior to other parts of the world that I have visited upon my two trips abroad," he began in his typical Hoosier drawl. "However this is far from saying that they are entirely satisfactory here in our own country. We have yet to rid ourselves of the many racial injustices and inequalities before we can truthfully say that our democratic form of government is ideal."

Regarding his own political ambitions Mr. Willkie was non-committal. However he was of an optimistic mind concerning the Republican party and its future on the American political scene. He predicted a Republican victory in '44, but was emphatic in his views that such would not be obtained because of the seeming trend toward a new leadership.

"We of the Republican party must work for the achievement of the right kind of program. We must become affirmative and not remain negative, throw away the old stencils and adopt a far-seeing attitude.

"Likewise there can be no doubt," he said, "concerning our responsibilities toward the great social aims of our times. But we must take the leadership in converting those aims into realities."

13 New Names St. Paul Flag

In her own cool and deliberate manner, Capt. Charity E. Adams, only Negro captain of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, now in Iowa, and one of the four Negro captains in the army, who is commanding officer of 8th company of the 3rd regiment of the W.A.A.C. at Ft. Des Moines made a remarkable impression upon the large audience assembled in the auditorium of St. Paul A.M.E. church last Sunday night when she spoke at the re-dedication of the Service Flag. The flag was originally dedicated two months ago with twenty seven stars in honor of members of families of the church, including three W.A.A.C.s, who were then in or with the armed forces of the nation. At the service last Sunday thirteen new stars were added in honor of others who have entered the service since the first dedication.

Because of the absence of the members of the Lincoln Post of the American Legion, which was in attendance upon the State Conference of the American Legion at the Ft. Des Moines hotel, the colors were advanced by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Lincoln Post escorted by a patrol of Troop 59 of the Boy Scouts of America, in charge of Thomas Wallace and the Christian Flag borne by Miss Josie Craven, acting president of the St. Paul Christian Endeavor Society.

New Names

Mrs. Frances Hall, secretary of the Service Flag committee assisted by Mrs. Mabel Mason, the vice chairman, announced the thirteen new names that had been added to the service roll and for whom new stars had been added to the flag.

They were as follows: E. W. Perkins, Inman L. Perkins, Roy I. Perfusion, Chester A. Phillips, Marion W. Carter, Jr., Calvin T. Dacus, Kenneth Graves, Virgil Dixon, Chas. C. Johnson, Jr., Lloyd George Rowland, Fred E. Langford, Jr., Joseph Rollen and Martin Rollen, of which number only Chester A. Phillips was present. He had not yet left the induction station at Camp Dodge.

Commends Church

Captain Adams commended the church for this service, stating that the one thing that all men and women in the service appreciated was to know that the folks at home had not forgotten them and that the one thing that all could do to let them know that they have not forgotten the men and women in service was to send them a letter or even a post card.

In the absence of the pastor Rev. H. C. Boyd, the dedicatory prayer was given by his wife, Mrs. Mattie Boyd, and the invitation for membership was extended by Evangelist Es-

The Sikhs Had Word for It

Khaki comes into its own as hundreds of thousands of soldiers fight in the deserts and on the dry plains of north Africa. What is khaki? It's a color, says a National Geographic society bulletin. The name comes from the Hindustani and Persian word "khaki" meaning earth, or dust. British soldiers in India during the wars with the Sikhs, 1845-49, felt too conspicuous for comfort in their campaign whites. They needed camouflage. By dipping their uniforms in muddy water they changed them from white to—the Sikhs had a word for it—khaki. Thereafter khaki, promptly became standard for East Indian campaigning. The name attached itself to the closely twilled cotton cloth of the uniforms and stuck without regard for the shade. Since 1900, however, it has gradually regained its correct meaning and has been applied to drab shades of gray, brown and green, regardless of the material.

'Old Fuss and Feathers'

The American general, Winfield Scott, known as "Fuss and Feathers" because of his precise manners and dress, was born near Petersburg, Va., June 13, 1786. After attending the College of William and Mary for a brief period in 1805 he left and studied law in the office of David Robinson in Petersburg. In 1808 he was made a captain in the United States army and for his participation in the battles at Queens-town, Chippewa and Lundy's Lane, in the War of 1812, was advanced to major general. After succeeding to the command of the army in 1841, Scott completed several difficult assignments, his greatest achievement being the Mexican expedition in which he captured at Vera Cruz, defeated Santa Anna at Cerro Gordo, took Jalapa and Puebla and on September 14, 1847, captured the Mexican capital, where the peace treaty was signed in February, 1848. The Whigs nominated him for the presidency in 1852, but he was defeated overwhelmingly by Franklin Pierce.

Elect Senators for Six Years

U. S. senators are elected by popular vote in each state for a term of six years in accordance with the Constitution, as amended, Senator Joseph F. Guffey was re-elected to the U. S. senate in November, 1940, and began his second term on January 3, 1941, so that he will serve until 1947.

The first U. S. senate was the only one in which some of the senators served for four years. When it convened on May 14, 1789, the senators were divided by lot into three classes: the first class to serve for two years, the second for four years, and the third for six years. The lots were so arranged that no two senators from a state fell into the same class and the reason for this allotment was to elect only one-third of the senate at any time and to maintain thus a majority of experienced lawmakers in the legislative branch of the government. The successors of these first senators were elected for terms of six years.

THE BULL THAT WILL NEVER GET TO AMERICA

His name is Rajah of Oaklands. Last we heard of him, he was on the Island of Jersey, a little spot of land in the Channel between France and England.

He's a great bull and breeders over here wanted him. He probably would have been imported except that one day the devils from the Channel Islands. Where is the bull and the fine Jersey cattle? Fate unknown. And the people—everything that they have labored for is in the hands of a devouring Germany. This story repeats itself again and again in the wake of Axis conquest. We must remember in the coming weeks and months in so many, many ways. One of the ways is by buying U. S. War Bonds. You buy Bonds today for two important reasons. First, to help your Government win this war. Second, to help yourself. For they are an investment that never depreciates in value. They increase in value every year up to maturity, when they pay a third more than original cost. And you can always cash them any time after sixty days if you want to. Buy Bonds—at your bank or post office.

Just How Much Do Iowa People Appreciate The Iowa Bystander?

The Iowa Bystander is a Negro paper which for over forty-eight years has: 1. Given the people national, state and local news which has kept its citizens abreast of the times. 2. Provided an open forum for a discussion of the news by the staff and the public generally. 3. Fearlessly championed the rights of the Negro for a full enjoyment of his civil, political, educational and economic rights. 4. Been the source of many valuable opportunities for Negro boys and girls in Iowa.

These things can best be done for Iowa people by an Iowa paper. In these unusual times, it is more necessary than ever that Iowans keep the Iowa Bystander in the forefront as a strong spokesman for the Negro in Iowa. We are anxious that our friends, rather than the Bystander staff, sponsor this movement confining our efforts to telling them what we want them to do. Thus every organization, every individual can have a hand in this effort. The names of those who cooperate—unless otherwise directed—will be published in the paper. You may cooperate by: 1. Paying your subscription in advance at least to the summer of 1943 if you are delinquent. 2. If you are already paid up get some friend to do so. Use one of the coupons or both below which you may select. But we want you to handle the coupon.

PERSONAL TOUCH

By MARIE ROSS

Talking with a group of inductees who were spending an evening in town before leaving for their respective training centers last week, all of them emphasized to their friends and their families: "Please Write Me Some Home Town News—Often!"

One soldier, who knows that his family and friends will not be able to write him all the news he will want to know, said: "As soon as I get my first pay I am going to write to the Bystander and have them to send me the paper each week. Then I won't have to wait for somebody to write me about what is going on at home."

That soldier was Frank A. Fant, 1654 Maple street, who will appreciate the value of getting news regular.

Instead of sitting down and scratching your head and your writing tablet—trying to think of all the things that have happened in the home town to send to your boy in some camp—just take out a subscription and have the home town paper sent to him weekly.

Instead of passing your weekly paper on to a neighbor or a friend—if he is located in a camp within the United States, otherwise, the paper must be mailed by the publisher.

Instead of passing your copy of the paper—all through the neighborhood or all around the club members—let them subscribe and then you send your paper to that boy who is waiting for that home town news.

Try it once—especially during the fifth annual observance of National Negro Newspaper Week and the One Hundred Sixtieth Anniversary of the American Negro Press which will be held Feb. 28 through March 6.

IOWANS REGISTER FOR RATION BOOK TWO. BUYING TO BEGIN MARCH 1

HOW TO USE YOUR NEW RATION BOOK

By how most Iowans will have registered for War Ration Book Two, and the balance will have received theirs by the end of the week. On March 1, buying of canned and processed foods will start under the point rationing system. On or after that day, take your War Ration Book Two with you when you go to buy any kind of these processed foods.

Before you buy, find out how many points to give for the kind of processed foods you want. Prices do not set the points. The government has set different points for each kind and size, no matter what the price. Your grocer will put up the official list of points where you can see it, and it will also be in the newspapers. The points will not change just because the prices do.

Total of Points

Every person in your household, including children of any age, has a total of 48 points to use for all these processed foods for one ration period. This means that you may use ALL the blue stamps marked A, B, and C from all the books during the first period. You may use as many of the blue A, B and C stamps as you wish at one time. When they are used up you will not be able to buy any more of these processed foods till the next stamps are good. The government will announce the date when the next stamps are good.

Use Carefully

Use your household's points carefully, so that you will not run out of stamps. And buy with care to make your points come out even, because the grocer will not be able to give you change in stamps. Use high-point stamps first, if you can.

You may use ALL the books of the household to buy processed foods for the household. Anyone you wish can take the ration books to the store to do the buying for you or your household.

We cannot afford to waste food or give some people more than their fair share. That is why canned fruits and vegetables are rationed and that is why meat is going to be rationed. Rationing some foods is the best and fairest way to be sure that every American gets enough to eat.

When You Buy

When you buy, take the right amount of blue stamps out of the book. Do this in front of your grocer or delivery man and hand them to him. The grocer must collect a ration stamp or stamps for all the rationed processed foods he sells. Every rationed processed food will take points as well as money.

Do not use more stamps than you need to make up the right amount. For example, if the food you buy calls for 13 points it is better to tear out an 8-point and a 5-point stamp than two 5-point stamps and a 2- and 1-point stamp. Save your smaller point stamps for low-point foods. You

I. P.—We have lost our church building. Is there any way we can build again? Why do we have so much trouble with our building?

Ans.: This is war now, and it will be a dickens of a job to build a new church due to shortages of material and the like. My suggestion is that you buy a house and remodel it for a church building until the war is over. I am sure you can do this without too much trouble or burden on the members.

W. C.—I have read your column for about six years and like it. I am in prison and have been here for four years and I am expecting to go free in about four or five months if I get any good time off. Now here is my trouble. I met a family of people since I've been here and I started going with one of the girls. We were together one time. She had a baby and said it was mine and everybody says it looks like me. I want to do right but the girl doesn't care if she even writes and she writes only because her mother makes her. Her mother treats me like a wife or sister.

Ans.: That's all well and good, but it's the girl you're to marry and live with—not the mother. If she doesn't want you and makes no effort to show affection for you, then why should you worry yourself about her? If the girl wants you, it is up to her to show it.

E. T.—A friend of mine told me about this column and ask me to write your service for advice. My home has been unhappy for more than two years and I want to know if you can run this woman off so that my husband can be himself and do his home duties. I have 4 small children and you know how hard it is to be sick and worried up all the time by an outside woman.

Ans.: Run this woman off and it will only be a matter of time before your husband has another gal. You must wake your husband up. Show him that you can be independent. Put a stop to having babies every year. Prepare to get yourself an outside job just as though you were a widow with these children to look after. When your husband sees you are serious about either being treated right—or getting rid of him, he will have more respect for you and less for these other women.

T. J. P.—I am a graduate in high school and I have two girl friends whom I am very fond of. Will we be successful in getting jobs in the same city?

Ans.: You can easily get a job in the city of your choice but won't stay there long for the old guy with the whiskers will get you—OLD UNCLE SAM HIMSELF. It's the army for you and your time is growing short.

Compounds Save Fuel
Chinks around windows and window panes and cracks and open joints in walls and around doors and windows are in the front line of fuel wasters. An easy and inexpensive way to effect an important saving in fuel is to fill these openings with putty or glazing or caulking compounds, depending upon the kind of opening. Putty and glazing compounds are especially suitable for use with window glass, while caulking compounds, which may be applied either with a gun, collapsible tube, or with a putty knife, are made especially for the larger openings elsewhere in the structure of the house.

Hitler Vitamin-Starved?
The world may have vitamin starvation to blame for Hitler. Fantastic as it may seem, this speculation has plenty of scientific support. It is well known that for years Der Fuehrer not only ate sparingly, but also avoided meats. So, by now, he must have built up some choice deficiencies, if he has been depending upon food alone for his vitamins and minerals. Just on the score of being jittery and irritable, Hitler certainly qualifies as a Grade A case of vitamin deficiency. But that's not all. Recent medical research has established that lack of vitamins B1, thiamine; B2, riboflavin; and P-P, niacin, produces symptoms like those of the neurasthenia, which many psychiatrists have detected in Adolf. This leaves open only the question of whether he was born that way or starved himself into it.

Paint Supplants Galvanizing
Paint is specifically excepted in Conservation Order M-11-b as Amended by the War Production Board, restricting the use of zinc as a protective coating, including galvanizing, as well as other uses, for a variety of automobile parts, building materials and industrial materials. The order, which is a recent one, says: "No person shall apply a protective coating or plating (other than paint) of zinc to specified classifications of metal items. Paint is already being used extensively on garbage cans and other metal items which prior to the present emergency were customarily galvanized with zinc."

CONGRESS AND THE PRESIDENT

There is a battle going on between Congress and President Roosevelt. The election last fall indicated a large degree of dissatisfaction with the administration. Those results gave Congress some backbone to exercise its authority as laid down by the constitution, a thing that body has not done since President Roosevelt came into power.

The large turnover in the house has left the Democrats with a bare majority of 13. With the assistance of southern Democrats, many of whom are dissatisfied with President Roosevelt, Republicans have been able to defeat many administration measures.

One complaint voiced by members of Congress is the program followed by the administration of legislating by executive orders and commission rules and regulations which have the effect of laws. And while no mention is made in this connection, the now famous executive order No. 8802 banning discrimination in employment and training in the defense industries on the basis of race, creed or origin was handled in this measure.

The object of many of these rules, regulations and executive orders has been gratifying but the manner in which they have been brought into existence is the basis of the complaints. And frankly we are inclined to agree with them for legislation should be passed by the legislative body for fear that some day legislation by executive order will be in the hands of someone less friendly to minority groups and the rule will work the other way.

As the battle rages on between Congress and the President, it is not going to be easy to separate the good orders from the bad ones and since they owe their existence to the same procedure, all may be discarded.

From a political angle, the Republicans are lining up with some of the southern Democrats in order to defeat the president. These southern Democrats are sore with President Roosevelt, but should he get the fourth term nomination they will be on his bandwagon. On the other hand, the Republican congressmen must be pretty careful for they play with fire by putting much faith in their collaboration with the southern congressmen, only to find that not only will the electoral vote in the southern states remain in the Democratic column, but that also thousands of Negroes in the north will oppose them for just such conduct.

While the Bystander has never supported President Roosevelt at election time, it does favor some of his reforms. But on the other hand it does not favor the usurpation of the legislative by the executive branch of the government.

RATIONING GROWS

On March 1, we begin rationing many foods for the first time. Registration is in progress and with the amount of notice and preparation heretofore received, the actual mechanics of the program will not be much of a shock to the public.

The Bystander has said on many occasions that the only people who are making any real sacrifice are the boys and girls in the armed service. Even with the curtailed food and clothing supply now to be had, we are better fed and better clothed than any nation on earth. But there is no alarm to be feared. We would have gone along in our same old way allowing prices for these things to get far out of range of the average purchaser. On the other hand, those with a lot of money could buy without regard to the price leaving the small wage earner at the mercy of the speculators. As the situation stands every fellow is to be placed on the same basis. The money of the millionaire will buy no more than an equal amount from his boot-black.

Every patriotic citizen wants to do what he can to help with the war. Everybody can't go to the front, all of the service groups cannot go overseas, but everyone can contribute a bit here and there which with the aid of others goes a long way to help the forces in the field.

And it is by cheerfully accepting the new rationing program, and showing the fellow who won't why it is his duty to do so, a further contribution may be made to help in the war effort.

GANDHI IS FASTING

(By Langston Hughes for ANP) Mighty Britain, tremble! For I am your standard-bearer. Let your empire stand up straight. And I, India, in Jim crowd by you. Mr. Gandhi fasts today.

You may think it foolish— That there's not truth in what I say— Spit all of India's watching As Gandhi fasts today.

All of us are watching— And I am watching, too. For I am also Jim crowd— As India in Jim crowd by you. You know quite well, Great Britain, That it is not right To starve and beat and oppress Those who are not white.

Of course, we do it, too. Here in the U. S. A. May Gandhi's prayers help us, as well, As he fasts today.

Composer Quits; Gets Recognition

Los Angeles (ANP)—William Grant Still, noted composer who quit as music supervisor for the 20th Century-Fox film, "Stormy Weather," because he could not accept the music director's traditional attitudes toward Negro music, is now working on a new choral composition for the famous director, Leopold Stokowski, designed to emphasize Negro culture and achievement and pointing toward the brotherhood of man, it was learned this week.

Mr. Still also revealed that the same day he quit the film he received word from his publishers in New York that the Office of War Information had microfilmed the score and parts of his Afro-American Symphony to be sent to Russia and other parts of Europe for performances for official government propaganda purposes. Rudolph Dunbar, noted musician, and London correspondent for the Associated Negro Press, has conducted the work in England for the past six months.

Disagreed

His resignation as stormy weather music supervisor was the result of the attitude toward Negro music and dancing held by Al Newman, the music director. Mr. Still said that Mr. Newman discarded all his work and ignored his suggestions, insisting that Negro music had to be crude and dancing had to be sexy to be authentic. All others in the music department gave him fine cooperation, said the famous composer.

"I felt that after having worked for so many years to build up a reputation, it would be suicide to let my name go out on the screen credits as taking the responsibility for music about which Norman had let me have nothing to say," he declared.

"I decided that I would not accept the studio's money any longer under such circumstances, and although it meant a considerable financial loss I resigned after six weeks of work on Jan. 30."

LETTER TO MRS. BESBEARS

Mrs. Helen Dameron Besbears, chairman of the Des Moines Interracial Commission, was in receipt of a letter from "We, The People," which commended her for her letter on "Better Race Relations," which was published in the Des Moines Tribune on Feb. 12.

Allen Frederick Pater, New York City, co-editor of the "We, The People," year book, wrote Mrs. Besbears: "You probably will recall that some time ago you wrote a letter to the editor dealing with the above mentioned subject; because we believe that it voices an opinion of vital public interest, we have chosen it for publication in the issue of 'We, The People,' the yearbook of public opinion."

"We, The People" is published annually, and is composed of quotations from the letters that public-spirited citizens, like yourself, have written to their local newspapers; it is a medium (a pioneer in its field, and now in its fifth year) through which people in every walk of life can have an opportunity to exchange views and opinions of interest to themselves and of importance to everyone."

In keeping with Brotherhood month and approaching another Race Relations Sunday, Mrs. Besbears in her letter on "Better Race Relations," paused "to evaluate the relations among races in our own community."

New Jersey Staggered Hour Plan Is Success

First results of New Jersey's state-wide staggered hours program indicate the plan will be successful in making transportation facilities more available to war industry workers and in reducing travel time, especially in Newark and the surrounding metropolitan area where many industries are located.

In setting up the system New Jersey became the first state in which a staggered hours program was ordered officially on a state-wide basis by a governmental authority, the American Municipal Association reports.

Drawn up by the state war transportation committee, the program is administered by a state co-ordinator of transportation who has full authority to co-ordinate public transportation facilities in keeping with committee policies.

Shortly after the program went into effect, observers in Newark reported that seats in buses, trolleys and trains from the suburbs were available to many commuters who in the past were fortunate to get standing room. Travel time on buses and trolleys was reduced in many instances, and in some cases the saving in time was as much as 10 or 15 minutes.

ATHLETICS FACES WHAT?

We just wonder how much in the way of athletics will go on this coming summer. The current basketball season is a good standard to judge by. In our own league, the senior branch just couldn't get started and the play was confined to juniors and intermediates. In the central Y League the directors managed to get one league started, but barely, and the only reason the Jewish Community Center was able to go was the fact that theirs was a Sunday league.

There seems to be little prospect of getting a senior softball league underway because what seniors that are left will be working at war jobs. How much golf or tennis will be played is also a matter of conjecture. Maybe there won't be many tennis balls or golf balls to play with. Some might, if they haven't already done so, decide that the machinery used to manufacture golf and tennis balls can be used to make some part of something vital to war, and when the present supply is exhausted that will be all for the duration.

We don't know how many of our tennis players will be around to play, but we do know that the rush and bustle of war has killed one of the best organized tennis clubs ever started around here. The fellows who could have held the club together had to go early and enough of the others have gone to make the club just sort of die. Then who wants to worry about tennis, when one doesn't know whether he will be around to play?

The golf players are more fortunate. They belong to an older age group and most of them are past the present age limit, so they don't have much to worry about except finding time to play and things to play with.

Altogether it looks as if we or those of us who are left will be faced with the problem of bringing athletics back to life after the fracas is finished.

Boxing

Ray Robinson's win over Jackie Wilson bore out the critics, but your scribbler had different ideas. We thought Wilson might take Ray, but apparently the latter had different ideas. That fight did upset a popular theory that two Negroes in a main event wouldn't draw peanuts. Those lads drew as good a house as any boys in their division have pulled for sometime.

Incidentally Bob Montgomery is back in the picture again as the result of pounding out a win over Lulu Constantino Monday night.

North Set Back by Lincoln

Ken Brown was sort of stopped at high point man as Lincoln set back the North High boys last week to give the city cage title to East. Brown had one of those nights that everyone has and was just too busy gathering rebounds, knocking down shots and blocking-passes to do much of offensive work. But young Brown has enjoyed a fine year and shouldn't feel badly over one game. He is still our choice for an all city guard and we don't see how Frank Brady can pass him up.

TWO MORE WOMEN IN OFFICERS' SCHOOL

Port Des Moines, Iowa—Auxiliary Jeanne Galt Childs of Glendale, Ohio, and Evelyn S. Smith of Muskogee, Okla., have made good in their jobs as acting platoon leaders in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. They have been selected for the Twentieth Officer Candidate class at the First WAAC training center here.

These two Negro officer candidates entered training in the WAAC here Nov. 19. After completing basic training they were assigned to duty as acting leaders with responsibility for drilling new members of their platoons, arranging duties and managing other affairs of their groups.

Officer Candidate Childs, daughter of Mrs. Mamie H. Childs of North Indian Hill Road, Cincinnati, has been making her home at 1125 Jefferson avenue, Glendale.

She was a physical education instructor at Glendale public school and formerly girls' worker at a community center at Richmond, Ind. She was graduated from Glendale high school in 1935 and from West Virginia State College, Institute, W. Va. in 1939.

Officer Candidate Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Smith of 545 N. Sixth street, Muskogee, was a high school teacher before she enrolled in the WAAC.

She received her diploma from Manual Training high school in Muskogee in 1938 and her degree from Illinois State Normal University, Normal, Ill., in 1942.

Not far from the fields where heavy, clanging steel tanks from Detroit, Sheffield and Essen are fighting, France's "light tanks" of the desert—the Camel Corps—have operated for years. Recently the Camel Corps was reported operating near Djanel in southern Algeria. Low "fuel" consumption, a water supply that lasts for days, and non-slip traction contributed by wide-spreading, padded feet fit the swift-moving desert "tanks" for their jobs in rocky and sandy wastes.

Members of the Camel Corps have come in for color rather than for camouflage. Both men and mounts are decked with gay trappings. An efficient "accelerator" is the camel stick grasped in the toes of some barefoot native troopers. A short rod of wood, curved at one end, the camel stick is applied like a drumstick to the side of the camel's head.

Sensations of Heat or Cold

The Federal Housing administration, in answer to a question: "Do colors have anything to do with sensations of heat and cold?" replies: "An example of the sensibility of human beings to color is cited in a recent issue of a magazine. The color of an office was changed from a cheerful yellow to a light blue. When the colder season arrived, the employees complained of being cold, although the temperature was maintained at 72 degrees. The yellow paint was then restored as an experiment, and it was found that everyone was comfortable at the same 72 degree temperature."

A helpful hint for coping with fuel shortages and reduced temperatures in wartime!

URNS POET

Corporal Donald E. Bates of Keokuk, Ia., stationed at Ft. Leonard, Wood, Mo., has summed up some of his worries as a "company clerk" in his original poem.

THE COMPANY CLERK

He never smiles; his face is sad; The men say, "he's a jerk." He doesn't have a friend, my lad— I mean the Company Clerk. He works for them both day and night, His job is sure no trick. All right, you know it, right? The boys call him Gold Brick. For furlough—pass 'em payroll too; To transfer or promote; Allocations or insuring you; To "make" or to demote. These are the duties this guy has; In fact, they're just a few. Emergency furlough you get? He'll make it out for you. They say: "Aw, he's no soldier— Sits all day and looks as clerk." That's why he never smiles, my boy— This guy they call a jerk.

AFTER THOUGHT

After the war is over and We're home and back at work— Still making discharge papers out Will be the Company Clerk.

The sergeant was inducted at Pittsburgh, Pa., and sent to Ft. Meade, Maryland, and transferred to Camp Wheeler, Va., and then to Hampton Institute, Va., before going to North Carolina where he said "the Southern hospitality is great." They were PFC. Lawrence Davis, son of Mrs. S. Stone, and grandson of Mrs. Anna Robinson, 1308 Day; Private Wm. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isiah Brown, of Orlabor, and Pvt. Edward Anderson, son of Mrs. Goldie Anderson, Coifax, Iowa.

In January they returned to the States from the Panama Zone, and have been stationed at Camp McCain, Miss.

PFC. Davis told of living in tents for 14 months, seeing snakes—"one minute snakes which strike you and you are dead one minute later; people who live in grass huts and go bare-footed all the time." Private Anderson said, "girls were all right" but he could not get used to them. The three soldiers agreed that the "food was fine." They have been in the army 18 months.
