NEW ADULT CLASS, "THE CHILD ONE TO TEN," TO BEGIN OCTOBER 23

Do you ever think you do not understand your baby or young child? Perhaps Johnnie will never go to bed without crying, perhaps Mary will not eat her vegetables, or it may be that your child will not play with other children without quarreling.

Mothers can help their sons and daughters overcome these habits and grow into well adjusted boys and girls if they have some help. The adult education department of the Des Moines schools is starting a class on Monday, October 23 at 1:30 p. m. in the Parents' Room of the Public Library. This free class is sponsored by the P.T.A. Council and is planned to give mothers help with their child care problems.

SEAFARERS UNION SNUBS FEPC

New York (Calvin's News Service)—The Seafarers International Union has refused to take part in the FEPC investigation on the complaints that the Union's discriminatory in its hiring of Negro seamen.

Richard Cantor, attorney for SIU called the complaints "silly" and "absurd" and the FEPC a "secret" organization. Cantor's statement said the Union had no intention of participating in the hearing.

Malcolm Ross, Chairman of the FEPC, said that despite the union's defiance the Committee would follow its usual procedure in studying the case and that he hopes "to reach an agreement with the union shortly." If the union refuses to recognize the FEPC's authority, the case will be referred to President Roosevelt.

Meanwhile, six merchant seamen have been called as witnesses. They told how they had been refused jobs on ships because they were Negroes.

Iowans with Signal Corps In France Knit Allied Lines

T/SGT. J. W. DANFORTH

With U. S. Supply Forces in France —Knitting Allied lines of communication into a tight web of humming telephone wire often under the sledge hammer blows of enemy artillery and the crackle of small arms fire is the business of Negro Signal Construction companies here.

Soldiers of these outfits throw up telephone poles and string wires between many of the war's most important command posts, frequently using captured enemy equipment, in all kinds of weather.

One such unit installed the communication net for the invasion forces in one area of England. Their work drew special commendation from a brigadier general commanding the Southern Base Section. "The quality of the work," said the general, "and the spirit of the personnel, has contributed to the successful mission of our Army in mounting the cross-channel operation."

"The unit," he continued, "is commended for its diligence and devotion to duty displayed in the excellent maintenance of the wire communications in the marshalling areas."

One of the historic organizations of the United States Army, this unit was the first Negro Signal Construction Company activated, in May 1941, at Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri. It was the first unit sent overseas.

"Frankly, I think this is the best darned Signal Construction Company in the Army," declared the company commander, Captain Henry G. Shopper, Jr., of New Orleans, Louisiana.

"The first three graders show the ability of commissioned officers in handling the men and the work. I'd put this company up against any battalion."

It is from the ranks of this group that cadres for many other Negro Signal Construction outfits have been drawn. The men who organized the first Negro Signal Aircraft Warning Company also were products of this pioneer unit. No man in the company had any experience in the field prior to his army training.

"We feel we're blazing a trail," said veteran Technical Sergeant Winston R. McEmore, 25, 3411 Chester street, Little Rock, Arkansas. "Many of us, fully qualified by army training, will go into high pay civilian jobs after the war."

Iowan Has Responsible Job —One of the most responsible jobs in France—rests on the shoulders of Technical Sergeant Joseph W. Danforth, 25, 3805 Portland avenue, Minneapolis, Minnesota. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Danforth, Sr., 1219 Laurel street, Des Moines, Ia.

"We have done virtually all the cross-connecting in making circuits for the various units moving in," reported Sergeant Danforth. Over wires in his care, the voices of Prime Minister Winston Churchill and many other dignitaries have passed. Telephone connections are also under Sergeant Danforth's supervision. Much of the equipment he has used was left on the beachhead by the fleeing German army.

The honor of having set up one of the highly secret phone circuits used by General Eisenhower in England is held by Staff Sergeant Alfred Perry, 29, 994 Reer avenue, Memphis, Tenn. "As I walked out of one end of the headquarters tent, the general walked in the other," said Sergeant Perry. The phone had been installed in record time.

The men work with the most modern equipment of the American communications industry, pointed out First Sergeant Fred Miller, 48, 101 East First street, Rolla, Missouri. An old infantryman, with 24 years in the army, Sergeant Miller reported that his company is planned "according to the highest efficiency standards of the civilian communications systems. Our trucks are equipped with every type of necessary tool. Our linemen and cable-splicers have valuable individ-

The six point tax program as proposed by Governor Dewey at Albany, October 3rd, follows:

- 1) Revise the personal exemptions so that the man who makes as little as $11 a week no longer has an income tax taken out of his pay envelope.
- 2) Reduce personal income tax rates.
- 3) Change and lower the income tax on incorporated business companies until it no longer acts as a drag upon production and a barrier to jobs.
- 4) Eliminate as soon as possible all excise taxes except those on alcoholic beverages, tobacco and gasoline.
- 5) Completely overhaul our existing, confused and complicated tax laws. We must create a basic tax law which can be expected to remain simple and generally stable.
- 6) Establish and proclaim a consistent, national tax policy—one directed toward achieving full employment and a rising national income—one that will assure us of a solvent nation and the ultimate reduction of our national debt.

To Utilize Existing Camps Instead of Hotel Plan As Redistribution Centers

Washington — The War Department announced this week that its program for processing soldiers in Redistribution Centers on their return to the United States from combat areas overseas will be altered and expanded through the utilization of existing Army camps.

The expansion is necessitated by a growing volume of soldiers sent back home by the Army's Air, Ground and Service Forces. At present, hotel facilities are being utilized in the Redistribution Program, where the returning veterans are housed while resting and being processed, re-oriented, reclassified and reassigned. These hotel facilities, however, are taxed to capacity, and it is becoming increasingly difficult to find additional hotels which would be suitable

Thereafter, all returning soldiers, white and Negro, certified by a medical officer as being most in need of this type of accommodation, will be housed in hotels retained for convalescents in the same manner in which they are at present being cared for in the hospitals or convalescent centers.

Under the new Redistribution Program, certain of those Army camps which are better situated and more attractive will be selected for use as Redistribution Centers. Many such camps are becoming available through the movement of troops overseas.

LINCOLN POST

By WILLIAM T. BURNS
There are many veterans of World War II who were discharged on the "blue discharge" No. 56—Sect. 8, A. R. 615-360. A blue discharge is not a dishonorable one and it is not an honorable discharge. It is one that stops most of your eligibility due under the G. I. Veterans Bill of Rights; such as mustering out pay, veterans compensation or any claims for compensation, vocational training, apprenticeship training, G. I. loans, unemployment aid and other benefits due an honorable discharged veteran.

Blue discharges are issued for the following reasons: misconduct, disability as a result of misconduct, fraudulent enlistment, desertion coupled with fraudulent enlistment, ineptness, undesirable habits or traits of character. See section 8, Army Regulations 615-310.

Under the New Veterans service regulation a board of review has been set up to review all cases of blue discharges. For further information contact the Polk County Veterans Information Center, 311 Empire Bldg., American Red Cross, the legal department of the Veterans Administration or any veterans organization. Politics Is Everyday Business of Woman Voter Politics is your every day business—that is the way Mrs. Charles W. Weis, Jr., an assistant campaign director of women's activities in behalf of the Dewey-Bricker ticket, sums up the 1944 woman voter's responsibility.

Mrs. Weis practices what she preaches. Hard at work in the New York Republican Campaign Headquarters, Mrs. Weis makes every visitor, and every one of her thousands of correspondents the country over, sense her down-to-earth evaluation of politics "as every-day business."
She's New York State's National

Committeewoman. She'll tell you most convincingly of Governor Dewey's notable qualifications for the presidency; likewise she will describe Governor Bricker's fitness for the vice presidency. But at the same time, she'll press upon you the urgency for being interested in politics, in knowing, and talking about issues, about being a 100 percent voting citizen.
"American women have the greatest challenge in all history in this election," says Mrs. Weis, a personable mother of three, the eldest of whom is in the air corps overseas. "We cannot afford to be passive, or indifferent to passing events such as the threat of the Roosevelt-New Deal-CIO to paralyze America. Women must make politics an every day business, and keep it healthy and sound."

PERSONAL TOUCH

By MARIE ROSS

The formal dance, heralding—the full opening of the Keo-Way USO club, was in full swing on last Saturday night when civilian ladies fluttered about in their flowing gowns, W.A.C.s, sailors and soldiers were enjoying the rhythms of the orchestra.

"A lone civilian man arrived at the door wearing an apologetic expression as he entered. Greeting one of the directors, Restaurateur Trotter whispered:

"Will I be permitted to dance without formal attire?" he asked and was about ready to make his explanation with "because of—" when some one of the hostesses interrupted. "Because of what Mr. Trotter? Don't lay it on the war."

"I wasn't going to lay it on the war. I was just going to say that—because of all of this," and the cafe proprietor pointed to the region which is generally known as the "bay window." Then he added, "I just can't get into my last year's tux." So another man was added to the guest list—and did he dance?

Keo-Way USO

The second fall opening of Keo-Way USO began with the formal dance held Saturday evening, October 14. The volunteers of the club, the Senior and Junior Hostess committee, members of the Service Men's Wives Club dressed in formal and afternoon attire acted as host to the W.A.C.s of Ft. Des Moines, sailors from Hastings, Nebraska, and over 200 civilians of the city. Music for the dance was furnished by Keith Killinger. Sergeants Fred Morrow and Lonnie Howard home on furlough also attended the dance.

Open house was held at Keo-Way, Sunday, October 15 in order that civilians might learn what USO is doing and meet members of the armed services. Displayed on bulletin boards were pictures of activities carried on in Keo-Way the past two years, and each guest upon entering was given a souvenir program of Keo-Way USO activities for the month of October. The pastel fall colors of green, yellow and orange were carried out in the refreshments and floral arrangements. Many of the civilians attending expressed a desire to do volunteer work in the USO and many who have been a little lax in their duties renewed their promises to help in the future.

Four W.A.C.s and seven sailors had a home-cooked meal and a grand time at the USO, Saturday morning, October 14. The young ladies were preparing their meal and the sailors (from Hastings, Nebraska) were in various spots around the club, playing skittles, billiards and writing letters. Sailors joined them. More food was purchased and the sailors assisted in cutting up chicken, setting the table and getting the meal in general. To top it off, one sailor mopped the kitchen to be sure everything was left in tip top shape.

Saturday night the W.A.C.s made records to send home telling the folks what a grand time they had at the USO. Keo-Way USO's kitchen is available for use at all times for members of the armed services and home cooked food will be prepared for you at cost, if you will call 3-4815 and give just 24 hours notice of what you want.

Visitors at the Keo-Way USO open house were: Judge Eakle E. Carlson, chairman of the Des Moines USO Council and his wife; Miss Margaret Crist, Y.W.C.A. director of Locust Street club and Miss Hammer, associate director of the Jewish Welfare Board of Locust street.

Monday, October 16, the Area Staff Conference of Des Moines USO's was held at Keo-Way, Mrs. Mildred E. Wiley of NCCS, chairman, presiding. These meetings are held bi-monthly.

Recipes for Pork

Point-easy pork is good eating if thoroughly cooked to bring out the full, rich flavor.

Rural housewives who have modern gas ranges supplied with "bottled" or "tank" gas are fortunate, for they can easily maintain the constant low temperature necessary to cook pork so it is uniformly browned, with a crisp but not hard crust so that it slices neither crumbly nor dry.

Cooking pork is fuel-saving because of the low temperature used, and that, too, is important, for butane and propane in these gases have gone to war. They fortify high-test aviation gasoline, treat and cut metals, and make synthetic rubber and dynamite.

Here are point-wise recipes for homemakers who want to take advantage of economical pork cuts:

Drumsticks.
(Serves 6)
1 1/2 pounds lean pork, ground

3/4 cup fine bread crumbs
1 tsp. salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 egg, beaten
1 tbs. grated onion
1/2 cup milk

Combine all ingredients. Mix well. Shape into cakes resembling drumsticks. Insert a wooden skewer into each cake. Roll in crumbs or flour. Brown in hot fat. Cover. Fry over very low flame about 20 minutes longer. Brown 2 tbs. flour in 2 tbs. pan drippings. Add 1 cup hot water. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Season with salt and pepper.

Sausage Rolls.
(Serves 4)
12 link sausages
12 thin slices of bread
Broil sausages. Remove crusts from bread. Roll each sausage in slice of bread. Toast under broiler. Garnish with tomato wedges and parsley.

WHY NOW?

Last week some newspapers carried a picture showing Dr. Channing Tobias, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune and Walter White leaving the White House after a conference with President Roosevelt. The caption stated that they discussed legislation to make the FEPC a permanent agency; legislation to make it a federal crime to attack or assault anyone in the uniform of the armed forces, the segregation of returning Negro veterans in army distribution centers and received a pledge of their support by the president.

Strange things happen in politics—strange because Walter White has been the most relentless and vociferous critic of the president about these same things for the past few years, because Dr. Tobias resigned from the NPAC in protest against the failure of the president, whom the organization supports, to do anything about injustices to the Negro and of course Mrs. Betaune has been the recipient of New Deal cash and naturally acted as a decoy to pull the other two in.

But why all the pledge now? When the appropriation for the FEPC was before Congress for consideration and it looked for a time that President Roosevelt's own party henchmen would defeat it, he said absolutely nothing; now he makes a "pledge."

While a bill to make the FEPC a permanent agency of the government was being considered last month and a word from him would have assured its passage, President Roosevelt said absolutely nothing; now he makes a "pledge."

When the anti-lynching and anti-poll tax bills were up for consideration and his party henchmen made a relentless fight against them calling Negroes the most damnable names possible in a so-called public deliberative body, even though some support from him would have meant their passage, he sat in silence and did absolutely nothing. Now he makes a "pledge of support."

The Bystander is not so silly as to believe that in the light of that record, President Roosevelt's pledge of support means anything. The best proof is that he did nothing when a fine opportunity presented itself; he blocked the re-nomination of vice-president Wallace in deference to the bourbon of the south because he dared speak out against racial intolerance; his party refused to give Negroes any decent recognition in the platform upon which he is now running.

It is easy to make pledges about what will happen in the future but a man's record speaks louder than anything he can possibly say.

THE CHEST DRIVE BEGINS FRIDAY

The annual Community and now War Chest drive begins October 20. No Des Moines citizen is ignorant as to what these organizations are because in one way or another everybody has contact with them.

And it is one of the programs growing out of World War I which placed the care of our social and character building agencies on a more business like basis and at the same time made their support more definite and secure. It is safe to say that those in charge have done a good job and have succeeded in making the public's money go further.

in the outcome of the drive but also in how the money is spent and the organizations which the chest finances.

There are those who are inclined to think this the job of those people who have lots of money. That erroneous idea exists about taxes for in the long run the bulk of our taxes are paid by the average American. There is not enough rich people to bear them all. This is equally true of the chest.

Des Moines has always met its obligations and in that effort the Negro has and will do his part when the matter is brought to him in the proper way, for he is interested not only because Negroes share in the benefits but also because this job is one of all good citizens and he desires to be so included.

Press Comment

"We content ourselves in the assurance the Republicans have nominated for the presidency in this great crisis a man of high character, of demonstrated ability and of full understanding of the responsibility of his candidacy. John Bricker will be a good and useful running mate to Governor Dewey. The Republicans did a creditable job in Chicago. They do as well in the campaign they will win the support of many independents who frequently cast the deciding ballots." — Cleveland, Ohio, Plain-Dealer.

"Governor Dewey's rousing speech of acceptance last night must have sent every delegate away from the Convention with head high. The Republican nominee only touched on the issues which he will cover in the campaign, but he touched on them with so sure a hand, so directly and so convincingly that an assurance was provided of a real fighting campaign. Those who heard Governor Dewey last night heard a man with great gifts rise to the new level that opportunity and responsibility offered him." — New York Sun.

"It is a strong ticket. The Governor of New York and the Governor of Ohio, standing upon a sturdy platform, form an admirable team for the great task of freeing the American people from the bureaucratic bogs of the New Deal." — Phil, Pa., Inquirer.

WERE MUDDLING ALONG

While our American boys are giving the enemy a brave and brilliant fight on every battle front around the world, here at home we are continuing to make a most miserable and deplorable failure of winning the war. Bureaucratic government is surely making a foul mess of things at present and many are hoping, as a local business man remarked this week, that "the country will soon be given back to the people." — Milton (Ore.) TUSKEGEE BEATS WILBERFORCE BEFORE TWENTY THOUSAND

By ALLEN ASHBY
Chicago—Yours truly was among the crowd of around twenty thousand Negroes who sat in on the annual football classic between Tuskegee and Wilberforce that was held at Comiskey Park last Friday night. The Skeegee Tigers won 19 to 14, but not until the big crowd was just about ready to go home and tell the folks how Wilberforce had won because they just about seemed to be the whole cheese for three quarters.

With a couple of backs, Baylor and McNeil providing the fireworks, the Green Wave rolled out in front to the tune of 14 to 6 and it seemed as if they would stay there because they were smearing just about all the Tigers could turn loose in the way of a ground offense. But the captain of Skeegee, a long, gangling young man named Alva Tabor, got to heaven in the last quarter in a way that reminded your writer of the famous Glen Dobbs. He tossed 'em hard and he tossed 'em soft, but always seemed to find someone ready to gather the apple in. Finally he tossed one over the heads of the Greens secondary to the waiting arms of Charley Perry, and that was a touchdown which let the Tigers stand behind at 13 to 14. The total gain was about forty yards.

Forty-Yard Run

Then, with just about five minutes of the game remaining, another youngster with light feet named Charles Williams got loose behind some blocking that reminded one of the Notre Dame teams, and the net result was a forty yard run for a score that broke up the ball game with Tuskegee out ahead at 19 to 14.

There wasn't too much time after that—but the Green-Wave did try a few desperate passes, but it didn't mean a thing because the Orange and Gold players were all over the field knocking down passes until the final whistle blew, and the crowd just poured down over the field to shake hands and tell each other all about it and just how it happened.

The game was about as well played as any small college game your writer ever saw. Either team that was out there Friday night could have given the best Drake team we ever saw a real tussle, and might have benten it. The blocking was hard and sharp and the interference on end runs was a fine thing to watch. But the most astonishing feature of the Tuskegee backs was the speed of the backfield and the same speed with which they started their plays. They came out low and hard, running like jack-rabbits, and cut down anything that got in their way. Only some mighty good tackling by the Wilberforce secondary prevented some long gains and sometimes some touchdowns.

The Wilberforce fellows were well drilled, also and had good organization, but one could see that this was their first game, and they made some mistakes that they won't repeat later on in the season. Could the Cats have had as many games under their belts as had Tuskegee, three, the result might have been different. But in spite of this being the opening game for the boys from Ohio they had nothing to be ashamed of. It was a hard game, and one that they could say that their opponents had to really earn.

If all the opponents who beat the Force this year are as good as was the Tuskegee team last Friday night, they will play just about the tops in Negro football before the year is out. Another remarkable thing about the game was the lack of penalties on either team. Part of this we attributed to the fact that the linemen were a little slow getting started, and thus were hardly ever off-side, and part of it to the officials who did a good job.

Then both teams were apparently careful not to do anything to cause any penalties. This lack of aggressiveness might have cost them in a game with one of the better white teams, but it saved them both several valuable yards last week. But on the whole it was a fine game to watch, and they had a good show before the game and between halves that was worth seeing.

New Deal Has Destroyed Democratic Party, Gov. John Bricker Declares

Governor John W. Bricker, Republican vice-presidential nominee, delivered vigorous indictment of the New Deal Administration as he carried his speech-a-day campaign tour west of the Mississippi.

"I do not condemn the New Deal for its favoritism among labor groups, for playing one against another for political purposes, for bad administration of labor laws and for political adjudication of disputes between labor and management. Such tactics have resulted in strife and strikes, they have actually lessened war production."

Charging that the New Deal "is leading this nation away from American principles of government," Governor Bricker said that the Roosevelt Administration had destroyed the traditional Democratic party.

"Instead the reins of power have been turned over to such White House agents as Hopkins, Frankfurter, Rosenman, Pepper, Ickes, Kelly, Hague and the temporarily inactive Pendergast," he said. "They know little of the real life of America and they care less. They want power and jobs. Patronage is their meat and drink. Power is their passion. The American people are their victims."

"But there is now a more dangerous influence than these. As the New Deal took over the Democratic party—so now the Communists and the radicals have taken over the New Deal. The New Deal Convention in Chicago raised to the pedestal of power a man whose ideas of government are alien to the Constitution and free representative government. His name is Sidney Hillman."

"The millions of dollars collected by Hillman, PAC, often from bribery and intimidation of hard working people of America, were too much for the New Deal leaders to pass by. They saw the opportunity to evade the Hatch Act—to defy the corrupt practices act—by buying this election. A supine and political-minded attorney general helped pave the way by a purely political opinion."

Governor Bricker added that the Communists under Earl Browder had joined forces with Hillman in control of the New Deal Party. "They are seeking to tie the noose of Communism not only around the New Deal but around the whole American people," he concluded.

Governor Bricker also scored the New Deal in speeches at Bowling Green, Kentucky; Nashville, Tenn.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Central, Ill.; Ottumwa, Iowa; a Tri-City Meeting (Rock Island, Ill. and Davenport, Iowa); and Milwaukee.

LETTERS FROM MEN AND WOMEN IN THE SERVICES

You Keep Writing—They'll Keep Fighting

By MARIE ROSS

Sgt. William Clinton Tells of Living Conditions of the People in France
"You can't begin to realize the meaning of suffering unless you could see the condition of the French people," wrote Sgt. William Clinton on Sept. 27 from somewhere in France. The letter was to his wife, Mrs. Geneva Volner Clinton.

"It's terrible," the Iowan continued. "The Germans (Boche) have really cleaned them of everything. Food, one of the bare necessities of life, is unobtainable for them. During the night, the little kids and grown-ups stand around and look at your food so hungrily, that it just takes your appetite away. I really feel very sorry for the people. All the guys are soft-hearted and they give their own food to the kids, but that will probably have to stop sooner or later because our food rations are limited also."

"Shortly after we got off the boat down on the beachhead, we picked up two small French boys and they have been with us every since. They K. P. and police-up the area and we in turn give them food, clothing and shelter. They both are very likeable, little chaps. We are teaching them English and they are teaching us French. I can understand French fairly well when it is spoken slowly. I speak a little also. You should hear me."

"I've always thought we had some good cooks in our company but we had to come over here really to find out what they could do. Ole Big Clark and Logan (Iowa boys) have done a commendable job—feeding us. Sometimes it wasn't much, but it was always prepared well."

Sgt. Iver Richardson Gets Two Live Germans

The Charles Richardsons of 1527 School street, received word that Mr. Richardson's brother, T/Sgt. Iver Richardson who is somewhere in Belgium with the army, had captured two live Germans. The Iowan promised to bring back a variety of guns to add to his brother's collection.

Southern WAC Enjoys Sunday Afternoon Making Recording for Negro Service Members

A group of WACs from Fort Des Moines, Ia., and a few sailors from Ottumwa, Ia., and Hastings, Nebr., were enjoying the Sunday afternoon at the USO.

Some of these service people were making talking-letters to Mom, others were hits of romance to husbands or sweethearts and some of the messages were just—"send me a box, send me a cake, send me some money."

Then, one little Southern WAC who had been sitting silently spoke up with—"I want to make a record. I have a message to dedicate to all of the Negro men and women in the services."—This was her message:

"A MAN IS JUST A MAN
I would like to make this mention to my dear old Uncle Sam,
Simply calling the attention of his folk to who I am.
Though I am uneducated and Jim-Crowed on Southern trains,
I am really educated—not my instinct but my brain.
I am here in your employment; no one can deny that fact.
All men must have enjoyment whether they are white or black.
Color may distinguish races but what I understand is that we are all men.
Circumstances alter cases and 'A Man is Just a Man.'
People say hard things about me and many do not want me near;
If they can do without me—then why have they brought me here?
You say—what you have you gave me, this was very kind and nice,
But did you not first enslave me and force me to pay your price?
You held me uneducated and I toiled in grief and tears;
Poorly clad, unrepresented—for more than two hundred years.
Those were days of my disaster; every time you spoke I said:
Now, you are not my master and—'A Man is Just a Man.'
Is there any occupation that I do not help to do?
Am I not always expected to aid you in time of war?
Why then am I not protected by the justice of your laws?
I was here and answered present when your men called me slave;
They said millionaires or peasants—'A Man is Just a Man.'
They told me a lovely story—one that I really knew.
I was loyal to Old Glory and glad that day by day my house was haunted with the cries 'Peace for All!'
Peace—no peace was what I wanted—so I answered every call.
Filled with grief, I ceased my sleeping, knowing that life was just a chance.
Wife heartbroken, mother weeping—I left all and went to France.
I fought till my feet were taken; I fought as only Negroes can.
And now it seems that I am forsaken. Still 'A Man is Just a Man.'
For the peace of all the races, I intend daily to strive.
Though unjustly, in some places, we are lynched and burned alive,
Uncle Sam is always blinking on the Anti-Lynching Bill,
And there is no use talking—he can pass it if he will.
But let us learn to stand together, discontinue our race and skin;
Trusting God to lead the way; still achieving, still pursuing for 'A Man is Just a Man.'

This young member of the Women's Army Corps has been in the services for nine months.

The telephone also has helped to speed production of war equipment, and to urge men and materials to the battle-fronts.

As peace draws near, we are planning for postwar times, for the return of our 1,200 men and women in the Armed Forces and for construction and additions to provide adequate facilities for all who want telephone service.

In war and peace, our constant aim is to provide telephone service that is adequate for the security, welfare and comfort of the people we serve at lowest rates consistent with reasonable earnings and fair treatment of employees.
