WHITE HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS FACE LIFTING OF BAN ON NEGRO TEACHERS

Milwaukee, Wis. (C)—White students of Shorewood High school with the support of local citizens forced its Superintendent of Schools, Homer S. There is only one Negro family known to be living there and there are no Negro students in the high school. Yet 90 per cent of the student body voted in favor of a Negro teacher despite the obvious opposition of the prejudiced school board.

Father Anderson Speaks to Iowa University Students

Father Leonard Anderson, founder of Randall House, well known Chicago west-side social service, and community center, was the guest speaker at the week-end conference of Episcopalian students held in Iowa City under the auspices of the Trinity Church Canterbury Club.

His topic was "Christianity and Color," which included personal experiences of his in addition to the Biblical attitude toward the whole color question. His speech was enthusiastically received by the 30 students in attendance who represented several Iowa colleges and universities.

In an interview following his address, Father Anderson explained the function of his project and the progress that is made in its three years of existence. It is located on Chicago's West Side in the vicinity of Chicago Stadium and began with only one small house.

Today it has encompassed several additional buildings and is expanding through aid rendered by churches, social service organizations and agencies. It is designed primarily for indigent and under-privileged boys—but the scope of activities is being rapidly expanded to include a program of community service and civic advancement.

He explained that the project is unique and its task is made more difficult as it is located in a district containing some 45,000 Negroes most of whom are recent immigrants from the agricultural areas of the south. These people came to work in the war plants and now with the reconversion program and the cutbacks in government orders, there is widespread unemployment which intensifies and makes more necessary the program carried on by the Randall House.

The staff of Randall House includes some 12 to 14 Negro and white professional workers, but according to Father Anderson, he has worked for 22

DEMOCRACY IN COUNTY HOSPITAL

YOUNG REPUBLICANS CANCEL DANCE-RALLY AT TROMAR

A Young Republican league dance and rally, scheduled for Thursday evening, March 21, at the Tromar ballroom here, was cancelled last Tuesday.

Quoted from the daily press, Henry F. Grant, president of the Polk county league, said members had voted to combine the dance and rally with a statewide Young Republican meeting to be held in Des Moines at a later date in the spring.

According to Freddie Hawkins, a Young Republican, revealed that the dance was cancelled when "it was found that the owner of the Tromar ballroom wanted to insist on an unwritten and unlawful rule of his own making which would prohibit Negroes from dancing upon his ballroom floor even as invited guests at a special party."

Member of the State Central committee of Young Republicans, and one who issued the invitations to the other Negro GOP leaders with full consent of the Young GOP organization, Mr. Hawkins cognizant of "precious experience and trouble with the Tromar ballroom some five or six years ago," brought the matter up before Mr. Grant who called the ballroom manager and "was informed that such a rule was still in force."

Conference Called
A conference was called at the State Senior headquarters, in which Mr. Cook, secretary of the Senior State Central committee, said the state committee would "back any move the Young GOP would make" and advised Hawkins to investigate what legal procedure to take the County Attorney's office.

In the meantime, Mr. Grant called a central committee meeting of the Polk County Young GOP and put the matter before them. They voted to cancel the contract with the Tromar and to have the dance and rally at some "democratic place" at a later date.

County Attorney Vernon Seeburger ordered his city assistant, A. J. Renda, to contact the Tromar and also the attorney for the Tromar to advise them of their violations of three Civil Rights statutes, City, County and State, Mr. Hawkins said.

The next morning the attorney for the Tromar called the County Attorney's office and informed Mr. Seeburger that there would be no more race bias at the Tromar from now on, Mr. Hawkins said.

"This has been a very gratifying note because the Tromar has been the only place in Des Moines to continue to stick to racial bias in mixed group affairs," Mr. Hawkins commented.

He added that the Tromar has been boycotted against by GOP affairs since Former Governor Wilson's Victory Ball in 1940. All victory balls since that time have been held at the State House and other GOP activities elsewhere.

"During the 1940 Victory Ball, the Tromar admitted Negroes to the affair but later in the evening, a Mr. Archer, owner, came back from Chicago and upon a visit to the Tromar, seeing Negro couples dancing upon the floor, told his manager to find some way to get them off or consider himself fired," Mr. Hawkins recalled.

"That was about 11:30 p. m. with only one-half hour left. Most of the Negro couples left the floor after having been asked and then filed suit against the Tromar. The suit was later dropped. Senior GOP Assistant Chairman A. A. Alexander approved the way Hawkins and the Young GOP handled the whole affair," Mr. Hawkins informed.

New York City Pays Its Negro Judges $85,000 Annually

Detroit — The recent appointment of Vernon Riddick as a justice by Mayor William O'Dwyer brought New York City's judges up to seven and their salaries to over $85,000 annually.

The only woman among the seven is Justice Jane Bolin of the Court of Domestic Relations whose salary is $12,000. The two of New York's Negro judges who were first to serve on the bench, Justices James S. Watson and Charles L. Toney, each receives $10,840 per year. They and Justice Rivers hold elective offices while the other four judges were appointed of the mayor of the city. Justices Bolin, Delany, and Paige were appointed by former Mayor LaGuardia. Newest judge, Vernon L. Riddick, receives a salary of $10,000.

Fail to Develop Damaging Evidence Against Nominee For Virgin Islands Post

By LOUIS LAUTIER
For the NNPA News Service
Washington, D. C.—Senator James O. Eastland, Democrat, of Mississippi, failed to develop any damaging evidence in his cross-examination last Thursday of William H. Hastie, President Truman's nominee to be governor of the Virgin Islands.

WILLIAM HASTIE

Questioning Hastie before the Senate Territories and Insular Affairs subcommittee, which is holding hearings on the nomination, Eastland probed for subversive activity on the part of the nominee, but found only an American citizen, above the average in intelligence, who had sought to accomplish some social and economic reform in approved American ways.

Senator Owen Brewster, Republican, of Maine, who earlier had warned Hastie that he would be questioned about his official and economic views brot up the question of Hastie's political and organizational affiliations, saying he had heard some rumblings but knew nothing of them.

Hastie Testified

Under questioning, by Eastland, Hastie testified: Although he is a resident of the voteless District of Columbia, he was a member of the Political Action Committee.

He believes that the present form of government in the United States is the best "that human mind has so far been able to devise."

He recalled no activity on his part with any committee to abolish peonage, affiliated with the International Labor Defense, or he has long been interested in the fight against peonage.

He is a member and a vice president of the National Lawyers' Guild. He did not recall sponsoring a conference on constitutional liberties here in June, 1940.

He was a member of the National Negro Congress before he went to the Virgin Islands as a federal judge in 1937, but not since his return in 1939.

He has been associated with the Southern Conference on Human Welfare.

He was one of the founders of the New Negro Alliance, which sought employment for colored persons in local stores which had large colored patronage and won a Supreme Court decision sustaining its right to picket Safeway Grocery Stores.

He did not recall the Washington Scottsboro Committee or speaking under its auspices at Metropolitan Baptist church on April 6, 1936, but was deeply interested in the Scottsboro case as a member of the legal committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He was naturally interested in the pre-Pearl Harbor defense program, and, like everybody else, he hoped the country could stay out of war, but there were developments that made it appear impossible.

As evidence that he favored the national defense program, Hastie pointed out that in 1940 he became civilian aide to the Secretary of War, and having taken the oath of office, it was his duty to support the program.

He did not recall having taken part in a public mass meeting with Sidney Katz, Jack Mink and Ruby Washington to condemn Roosevelt's foreign policy.

Senator Abe Murdock, of Utah, subcommittee chairman, remarked that if Hastie had opposed Roosevelt's pre-Pearl Harbor foreign policy, he was in distinguished company with many United States Senators. (SEE EDITORIAL PAGE)

DEMOCRACY IN JOBS IN DES MOINES

Seek Employment
Do you happen to be—the fellow who keeps trouble in the air always by whispering "inside stuff" about everybody in the place?
(A gossip is in the world's most poisonous creature. The "silent" treatment by all other workers is the best treatment. He can't gossip if others refuse to listen.)
If one wants to be friendly and alert on the job, there are many ways to show it without walking on dangerous ground. THINK FIRST—say to yourself, "how will this act or word affect the other fellow, the employer, myself?" (New Jersey Urban League).

MISS EVELYN F. BROOKS

Miss Evelyn F. Brooks, daughter of Mrs. Lulu Brooks, 506 S. E. Third street, for nearly five years has been employed as stenographer in the general office of State Selective Service headquarters.

A position with civil service rating, Miss Brooks during the war transmitted selective service cards of applicants to their respective state boards. At that time he staff in the office of the headquarters frequently worked overtime trying to keep up with fast-growing number of applicants.

As a member of a staff of six stenographers, other duties that Miss Brooks performs at the state headquarters now are: the transmission of discharge information from the state board to the applicant's home town board, filing, handling correspondence and other secretarial work in the department which is headed by Miss B. G. Anthony.

Miss Brooks, who had many years of secretarial experience in city and state institutions here, transferred from the office of State Public Instruction where she had worked, on a political appointment, for about a year. On the recommendation of her efficient work to State Selective Director General Charles H. Grahl, Miss Brooks was given a position with selective service headquarters.

A native of Des Moines, Miss Brooks was educated in the public schools, having graduated from North high school, where she received her first secretarial training.

Advanced commercial and secretarial courses were taken in the adult education classes at night and special work with a private teacher.

One of the active young women in the community, Miss Brooks is Sunday school teacher at the Mount Olive Baptist church, secretary of the Iota Phi Lambda sorority, a business sorority and a member of the NAACP, in addition to her secretarial work with the other members of the staff.

Former employment held by Miss Brooks began as secretary in the office of an attorney, and from there to the office of the Iowa By-stander, secretary of the late Dr. J. Alvin Jefferson, then to the County Treasurer's and Assessor's offices, the office of the Des Moines Board of Education, and to State Department of Public Instruction.

She likes her work fine, especially the 40-hour week, her two weeks vacation time, and the pleasant association with the other members of the staff.

Health Greatest Asset Individual Can Possess

Public Control of Disease
(By Polk County Tuberculosis Association)

Health is one of the greatest assets any individual can possess. Its full value is perhaps never appreciated until illness snatches it away. Anything as precious as health is worth protecting. It is worth guarding before it begins to disappear. Whereas medical science today can do wonders in restoring health, one of the chief contributions science has made to human welfare is in showing people how to prevent illness.

Both the individual and the community have a responsibility in protecting health. The community accepts its responsibility when it provides a pure water supply, adequate sanitation, when it cleans up stagnant ponds which might breed malarial mosquitoes, when it provides for the vaccination against smallpox of all school children, when it demands that such communicable diseases as typhoid, scarlet fever and tuberculosis be reported to the health department, when it insists that all milk sold within its boundaries be either pasteurized or certified.

Protective Measures
These are but a few of the measures which the modern community takes to protect its residents from disease. It adopts and enforces health laws, not to be arbitrary, but because it has an obligation to control health hazards which are beyond the control of the individual.

Obviously, the people of a given community must depend upon their municipal government to supply them with water. They have a right to expect pure water, not germ-infested water. Likewise, the individual consumer relies upon his government for the enforcement of sound laws relating to standards for milk and other essential foods brought into the community.

Duty of Government
It is the duty of the government also to insist that cases of contagious diseases be reported to the health officer so that necessary precautions can be taken to prevent their spread. The danger of an epidemic of typhoid fever is slight where the water supply is pure and milk is pasteurized, but one case introduced in the community is a threat to the entire community. It is the responsibility of the health department to track down the source of infection and clean it up.

Public health controls might be compared with police and fire regulations. All are services provided by society for the protection of its members.

This article is presented by the Polk County Tuberculosis Association in the interest of better health.

The vows were solemnized at 8:30 o'clock on March 21, at the St. Ambrose Cathedral by Father F. T. Zuch.

Mrs. Smith wore a two-piece powder blue wool suit with a corsage of red roses. Attendants were Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Scales.

The marriage taking place during the Lenten season, wedding festivities were altered by the Catholic couple who was honored quietly by the bride's mother at a wedding breakfast; wedding supper at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Scales; a dinner party Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cunningham at Cunningham's cafe.

The couple left Saturday morning for their home in New York City where they will reside at 167 W. 136th street, Apt. 2.

Prominent in the young people's affairs of the city, Mrs. Smith had been employed as a junior social welfare worker and investigator for Polk County Old Age Assistance.

A SAILOR FOR SPRING TIME

SO YOU LOVE A SAILOR?

Hat's will always play a most important part in the life of a woman and certainly this stunning number can make your presence felt anywhere. It is so decidedly nautical—the jaunty angle, the snow-white texture, the black and white contrast assure you of being the storm-center of the affair. Wear it and watch the waves—and not just ripples—of genuine masculine interest move in your direction—especially the navy.

HERE'S WHAT YOU NEED TO MAKE THIS HAT YOUR OWN:
2 balls of white Knit-Cro-sheen thread.
One Bone Crochet Hook No. 6.
1 1/2 yards of millinery wire.
1 1/2 yards of ribbon.
Gauge: 4 stitches make 1 inch; 4 1/2 rounds make 1 inch.
Divide thread into 4 equal parts and use 4 threads throughout.

B. club met March 22 at the home of Mrs. Morris DeSleet at which time the club presented Mr. and Mrs. DeSleet with a large hammered serving tray with coasters to match in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary which they celebrated this month. THE ABBE WALLACE SERVICE

A. O. R.—I married a boy while he was in service. He was discharged last summer and he started beating and fighting me so badly that I started teaching when school opened. He left and went south. He left me with lots of debts which I had to pay. Whenever he writes he claims he loves me but I doubt it. Recently I met a very nice man who says he wants to marry me. Should I wait on the husband who fights and treats me like a prisoner or get my freedom and seek happiness?

Ans.: Better not rush out of one marriage into another. Get in touch with your husband and find out what his future plans are regarding you. If you two can't make it together, then you might begin proceedings to get your freedom. It's very hazardous to become too friendly with another man while you are still a married woman. A show-down with your husband should take place before you encourage other friends.

THIS NEWSPAPER, IOWA'S OLDEST NEGRO WEEKLY, IS AN INSTITUTION DEVELOPED FOR AND BY THE PEOPLE OF IOWA AND THE MIDDLEWEST TO PRESENT THE NEWS OF THE DAY, FOSTER BETTER RACE RELATIONS, LEAD PUBLIC OPINION AND TO CONTEND FOR THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF ALL THE PEOPLE AT ALL TIMES.

Observe National Negro Health Week

National Negro Health week will be observed March 31 to April 6. A trainchild of the late Booker T. Washington who realized the necessity of improving the health of the Negro, the movement has become one of the important cogs in the program for better health throughout the nation.

Dr. Washington often emphasized his idea by telling of the Negro wash woman in a white home who was told not come to work the next day because a child in the white family was ill with scarlet fever. The wash woman said "Madam my daughter had that same thing last week."

During the week doctors, dentists, nurses, hospitals, clinics and others who are in any way connected with the program for better health, conduct special educational programs which tend to emphasize both the prevention and care of diseases.

The United States Public Health Service, insurance companies and associations and medical units have given unstinting help in an effort to emphasize health programs. Splendid results have followed in that the death rate among Negroes from all types of diseases has decreased materially and will continue to a large degree in proportion that the people follow the program they propose.

Of course, this program is not confined to doctors, dentists and nurses alone for such things as improved housing, recreational facilities, care in dressing children, clean homes and yards, and more widespread use of public utilities add to better health. An improved economic status is important for lack of money may prevent the services of many of those very things needed for the enjoyment of those facilities which go toward enlightening people on health improvement.

Newspapers have joined wholeheartedly in support of National Negro Health Week as well the churches. Certainly, this ought to be the subject of at least one sermon in each of our churches Sunday.

THE CITY ELECTION

This week we had a city election. Most members of the city council were re-elected.

Most readers of the Bystander do not support Mayor MacVicar for reelection because they felt that he has shown little inclination to be "the mayor of all the people" when it came to his dealing with Negroes.

As a matter of fact, although a genial type of fellow, the Bystander cannot understand why he has never seen fit to include some Negroes in his official family. In fact some of the charges made against Mayor MacVicar, are serious and that as the head of our city government he ought to try to atone for them.

The day is past when groups of people can be ignored and still be expected to be happy about it. That is just why Mayor MacVicar was beaten in most precincts where Negroes live. To have defeated MacVicar would have been a splendid victory. This was not done but there is much satisfaction in the fact that a strong protest vote was registered against him.

The Bystander hopes that the mayor or will see the folly of his past and be as he says "the mayor of all the people," and that means doing something for all the people whenever and wherever the opportunity presents itself.

Judge Hastie

(SEE INSIDE PAGE)

Eastland wanted to know whether Hastie had taken part in a demonstration against the blood bank. He replied he most certainly had.

Earlier in his testimony, Hastie outlined to the subcommittee his views for reconversion of the Virgin Islands economy from a wartime to a peace basis.

Because private capital was unwilling to invest and attempt rehabilitation of a large plantation and sugar refinery, which had been the largest employer of labor in the islands and had failed, Hastie said, the only feasible thing was for the Federal Government to undertake as a public project the rehabilitation of the industry.

At the time, in 1930, Virgin Islands economy was prostrate, Hastie said, and was estimated that the Red Cross was feeding about 25 per cent of the population.

"If there had been any substantial chance of private enterprise coming in and doing that job, the Government should not have touched it," Hastie said, "but when the choice was between putting the people on a dole and supporting this enterprise as a public project, I believe the choice was sound."

He told the subcommittee he believes Virgin Islands economy can be improved in the postwar period by encouraging the people to produce foodstuffs for their own consumption and by developing a tourist trade and handicraft or needle work.

At the suggestion of Senator Brewster, Hastie was sworn when he began his testimony.

SPORTS

By ALLEN ASHBY

We took the first step towards one of our goals, to see that Negro kids get some of the same training that white boys get in the fundamentals of the various games. This time it was baseball, and we took ourselves off to Chicago to see what we could do about it. We contacted Frank Young, dean of Negro sports writers, at the Chicago Defender office. Young listened to our proposition, and then said flatly that it wouldn't work.

He said that among other things, Des Moines was too far off the regular baseball trails to pay one to bring men in to set up such a school. Then, he said that it was going to cost somebody some dough, and I don't know how you are going to get it back.

"I am listening to some kids from Howard (university) playing and singing 'The Lord's Prayer,' and 'Trees.' It makes me kind of homesick.

"Last Sunday morning, I went to the Shiloh Baptist church here and was with sermon great—by a young pastor, too. The music was simply beautiful—no loud, fast songs—but quiet ones. Just the kind of church you want to belong to.

"Say, when the 'King of Kings' gets there—be sure to see it. I found myself crying in that show and so

We put the same sort of proposition to him, and got about the same sort of reception. Made us sort of wonder if the two guys hadn't rehearsed their stories. But, we finally managed to get a promise out of the fellows to give the thing further consideration when they come here in April for the Drake Relays. We hope they can see the thing in a favorable light, because we firmly believe that it is the only way we can get our boys so they can as a group compete with the white boys on anything like an even basis.

Some day the Negro baseball magnates will wake up to this need of training youngsters instead of waiting for the kids to come to them, and wondering why they aren't finished products. Until they do, they can only yell robber when organized baseball steals a couple of their best men as Branch Rickey has done.

We hope this baseball school can get a favorable response from the guys who have the dough, and that it will be one step in our campaign to get more of these schools and clinics all around the middle west with Des Moines as the central spot.

needly, and sometimes between times whenever they have a feeling that they need more practice. Some day we would like to get out a list of all the groups that meet regularly in the building. It would surprise one if he were to see it on paper.

Mr. Ashby plans to spend Tuesday and part of Wednesday of next week in Cedar Rapids at the Iowa A.O.S.
