5,000 Babies From Britain to U.S. for Homes

LONDON, (NNPA)—Five thousand babies fathered by colored troops stationed in England during the war will be sent to the United States soon on a chartered liner, according to a story published here last Saturday by the London Daily Mail.

"The children, from one to five years old, were left behind by colored United States troops stationed in Britain during the war," the newspaper said. "Their mothers are British."

"To save them from growing up social misfits and from possible stigma, the Negro Welfare Society of London and Liverpool are finding homes for them in colored communities of the United States."

The newspaper quoted E. B. Kendall, Jr., of the society as saying: "There are 10,000 illegitimate colored children in this country at present. We propose to send half of them

OUT FOR EASTER SUNDAY SERVICES

Mrs. Mary E. Turner, 78-year-old resident at the Moore's Nursing home at 1212 Center street, found the weather cold and windy on Easter Sunday—but she had an urge to go to church—and while on her way—was "caught by the photographer," as Mrs. Cora Moore attended her in the wheelchair. (Bill Ashby Photo).

Learning of Mrs. Turner's desire to go to church on Easter Sunday, Ike Smalls of the Medical Aid Society, offered the aged woman the use of a wheelchair. The society will be ten years old in July, but Mr. Smalls, founder, has been in the medical aid work here for 23 years.

The Medical Aid Society which is financed by public donations, well known for the many blood donors it furnishes, has on its file over 250 regular blood donors.

The society during 1946 furnished: 71 pairs of crutches, 21 canes, an invalid walker, five back rests, two hospital beds, a wig for a sick girl, abdominal corset, trusses, rubber cushion, artificial limb, stump stocking, pair of glasses, and a variety of other services to person. Transportation was furnished for 20 sick persons; information given to 73 clients; 60 cases referred to other agencies; 77 persons sent to hospitals; 60 personal calls made to home of sick and crippled. About fifteen percent of the persons helped are Negroes, Mr. Smalls revealed.

Father of Student Asked To Leave Negro School to Go to Court with Matter

WASHINGTON, D. C., (NNPA)—A Gaines case in reverse, involving a 22-year old white girl whom the District of Columbia Board of Education last Wednesday ordered to withdraw from the Margaret Murray Washington Vocational School, appeared last Saturday to be headed for the courts.

The girl, Miss Karla Rosel Galarza, daughter of Dr. Ernesta Galarza, former educational adviser to the Pan American Union, sail last Friday she is determined to fight the action of the school board.

She and her father sent an answer to the board declaring "we decline to accept as final and valid the action of the board."

It is the contention of Miss Galarza and her father that the course in dress and costume designing offered at the Margaret Murray Washington Vocational School is not available in any other public school in the District of Columbia.

Mrs. Cordella Wharton, the instructor of the course, has studied in Paris and New York.

Enrolled at School

Miss Galarza enrolled in the Margaret Murray Washington Vocational School last February. Upon learning of her enrollment, Garnet C. Wilkinson, first assistant superintendent of schools, suggested to her and her father that she should withdraw because she is white.

After conferences with school officials, Miss Galarza declined to withdraw and her father backed up her position. But last Wednesday afternoon the school board ordered her to transfer to the Burdick Vocational High School which is attended by white pupils only. The action of the board followed recommendations of Mr. Wilkinson, who is in charge of colored schools, and Dr. Hobart M. Corning, superintendent of schools.

Corning, in his report, found that Miss Galarza for purposes of school classification is white and that a course similar to the one offered at the Margaret Murray Washington Vocational School is offered white pupils at the Burdick Vocational School. The board ordered her to transfer immediately to the white school.

Vote for Board's Action

John H. Wilson, an attorney, one of three colored members of the nine-member school board, made the motion for adoption of the report: The other two members, George E. C. Hayes, an attorney and member of the board of directors and ex-president of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Mrs. Velma Williams, a native of Mississippi, voted with white members for the adoption of the report.

Mr. Hayes explained that "We as a board are obligated to determine whether children are white or colored. I realize it is the law but I am voting against my personal feelings."

Mrs. Williams added that "Because of the existing law, I am voting favorably. However, I regret deeply that in this democracy of ours there has to be separation in education." Miss Galarza was born in Sacramento, Calif. Her parents came to Washington from New York in 1936.

Entrance salaries range from $3397 to 4149 per annum.

Getting on-the-job veteran training for a career in the field of photography is Isaac Lewis of 911 Sixteenth street, who has been working and learning at Tyler Studios here for a year. He is one of the few Negro veterans here who is learning the theory and getting the practical experience under the G.I. bill.

In an interview this week Mr. Lewis revealed how difficult it was for a Negro veteran to get into a school of photography. He said he had written to several schools in Chicago, and not until he visited them last summer did he learn that the schools did not accept Negro veterans. Only one of the four Chicago schools of photography, one operated by a Japanese, would accept Negroes—and that school was not recognized by the Veterans' Administration and therefore a veteran could get no financial aid while attending this Japanese school, he said.

Here at the Tyler Studios, where he is one of the ten employees, Mr. Lewis said he has learned and is still studying various steps in the process of taking and developing pictures, enlarging, blocking, touching, copying, toning, picture-framing, dry mounting and oil and water coloring of pictures.

The course originally set for 6,000 hours or three years, has been cut down by the VA to 4,000 hours or two-year training.

The training at the Tyler Studios takes him from banquet halls, photographing groups of people, to foundries—getting scenes for catalogues. He goes along with the instructing photographers of the studios.

Easter Sunday was impressive at St. Paul's. The congregations of four west side churches worshipped at St. Paul's for the sunrise service. Trustee Custodian Lester Benning had the rostrum and chancel railing draped in white and illuminated with electric candles. Installed upon the platform over the choir loft was a realistic reproduction of the "women at the tomb," life-sized wax figures representing the two Marys and the angel announcing the resurrection. At this service the Easter message was brought by the Rev. H. R. M. Hardiman of the Burns Methodist church.

At 11 o'clock pastor Rev. A. J. Irvine presided. The large congregation was augmented by the entire delegation to the Central Regional Conference of Delta Sigma Theta, sorority women. Miss Alice Monroe of Kansas City, Mo., regional president, spoke. At this service Mrs. Rhoda Bass, united in membership. The Lord's Supper was administered at 3:15 p. m., the primary and junior departments of the Sunday School under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude North, Mrs. Anna Ringo and Mrs. Helen Carter, put on an Easter program. The pastor baptized seven infants: Maurice Rhodes Bates Arthur Prope, Jr., Sophony Robinson, James Charles Lockett, Rowena Prkey, Darlene Cooper and Lois Ann Jordan.

At the evening hour the junior chorus under the direction of Robert Ewing, presented a musical program. Miss Leona Wesley, the mistress of ceremonies, introduced Atty. S. ole Brown, who spoke briefly, and the Southern Singers who gave two spirituals. The pastor administered again the Communion.

PERSONAL TOUCH

By MARIE ROSS
Mrs. Phern Rhodes White of 830 14th street, in the office this week, brought in one of her very popular recipes for which she said there is a great demand. It is called "Scripture Cake" and the ingredients are as follows:

- 4 1/2 cups of Kings 4:22
- 1 1/2 cups of Judges 5:25 (last clause)
- 2 cups of Jeremiah 6:20
- 2 cups of I Samuel 30:12
- 2 cups of Nahum 3:12
- 1 cup of Numbers 17:8
- 2 tablespoons of I Samuel 14:25

The beginning of the week found some of the Delta Sigma Theta sorority members—"very tired souls"—after their regional conference meeting which carried them at a merry rate of speed during the week end. Still "walking around in her sleep" Tuesday was Soror Adah Johnson who hoped to "catch up" sometime this week. Making a beeline home early Monday evening—"beat to the socks" was Clara Webb Bayles and another sorority member who "hit the hay" at sundown Monday evening was Sarah Tucker who had arranged and checked the housing for all of the forty or more visiting Deltas here for the conference. Though the local Deltas were "a mighty tired"—they agreed that the regional conference was one of their best—and the cooperation given them by community and other Greek letter organizations could not be surpassed.

"Thank you for the Guide. I am very glad to have it and will continue to follow your advice for I know I will make it all right and you have given me new faith. I really have confidence in your. Thank you so much.—H.C."

L.H.M.—I was going with a very nice boy until about a year ago. I stopped dating him and started going with another fellow who asked me to marry him. I didn't. Last December I started back dating my old loved one and he seems to care a lot for me and I care a lot for him. Shall I marry this new guy or continue with my old boy friend?

Ans: You aren't enough in love with either of these fellows to be seriously considering marriage. String along with both suitors. A single, attached girl who "goes steady" with one boy at a time cuts down her chances of finding the ideal mate. It's more fun to play the field and date all nice boys until you find the one who fits your requirements for a husband. Then you can go steady and use your charms to lure him to the altar. Meantime, send 25c for Happier Living Lesson No. 4, "How to Win a Man".

THIS NEWSPAPER, IOWA'S OLDEST NEGRO WEEKLY, IS AN INSTITUTION DEVELOPED FOR AND BY THE PEOPLE OF IOWA AND THE MIDDLEWEST TO PRESENT THE NEWS OF THE DAY, FOSTER BETTER RACE RELATIONS, LEAD PUBLIC OPINION AND TO CONTEND FOR THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF ALL THE PEOPLE AT ALL TIMES.

WE HAVE NOT SOLVED LABOR TROUBLES

In years gone by before the advent of regulatory bodies set up by federal and state governments, managers of many public utilities because of their strategic position, ran their companies as they chose regardless of the welfare of the people they served.

As a result, stringent laws were made regulating rates charged for service, etc. which in the beginning seemed unreasonable. Now nobody thinks much about them. The interest of the public and the companies is protected.

The present telephone strike is a reminder of those old days when the companies treated the public as they chose. The telephone workers and the companies cannot agree and they both stand back and tell the public to take it or leave it.

During the past few months, the uncontrolled and unreasonable action upon the part of some labor unions have demonstrated clearly that some definite program must be worked out which will prevent the recurrence of serious work stoppages such as have occurred. Legislators have not had the courage to pass laws which they knew were necessary to protect the interest of the public all because of fear of reprisals by the labor vote.

As the situation stands today, we don't have a comprehensive labor code to handle labor disputes satisfactorily. Any system of compulsory arbitration with binding obligation with teeth in them requiring both parties to accept the awards have been successfully fought off upon the ground that it would lead to forced labor.

Certainly when nation wide industries involving public transportation, fuel, communications and the like cannot proceed without interruptions by strikes, some system should be worked out whereby labor troubles might be settled in the same manner as rates are made.

Unfortunately, entirely too much politics enter labor relations. And laws and regulations which depend upon personal charm and smooth negotiating, rather than a set of rules which each party can keep in mind and know he must follow, will continue to make our system of labor relations chaotic.

UN SHOULD NOT BE BY-PASSED

It was a forgone conclusion that Russia would oppose President Truman's plan to aid Greece and Turkey. Now that its prime minister and delegate to the UN have spoken,

WHITE STUDENT TO GO TO COURTS TO ATTEND NEGRO SCHOOL

(SEE FRONT PAGE)
She went to Macfarland Junior High School and then to Washington-Lee High School in Arlington County, Virginia. The family then moved to Sacramento and Miss Galarza was graduated from a high school there in 1939. They returned here last fall.

To Go to Court
In notifying the school board of his intention to take the matter into the courts, Mr. Galarza gave two reasons. The first was that the course at Burdick dealt with trade aspects of dressmaking, while the course offered at the Margaret Murray Washington Vocational School aimed to develop "basic skills into the field of creative design in costume."

His second contention was that race segregation in itself should not operate to deprive his daughter of the opportunity to prepare herself

HEALTH FOR ALL

Typhoid Fever

Typhoid fever, one of the major diseases of the last century, has been all but conquered in the U. S. by modern preventive measures. There has been a 99% drop in mortality from the disease in this country since 1900, and a 75% drop in its prevalence in the past decade. Actually typhoid fever is a disgrace to any community in which it is found, because it means that the sanitary facilities of that community are inadequate.

When typhoid fever occurs, it is a serious disease, marked by a high fever, great prostration, severe intestinal irritation and an eruption of rose-red spots on the chest and abdomen. Treatment is mainly non-medical—careful nursing, a proper diet and hydrotherapy are the essentials. Convalescence is long, lasting six to 12 months.

Medical authorities say that the prevalence of typhoid fever is an index of the "sanitary intelligence" of a community. When typhoid fever occurs it means that the victim has swallowed a germ, the typhoid bacillus. Typhoid bacilli abound where there is a contaminated water supply. Such a condition is apt to occur in cities where there is imperfect sewage and in rural areas where there are no sewage systems. The germs can be carried from an infected person to other by fingers, food or flies.

Disease Declines

The great decline in the disease, a decline which has occurred primarily in cities, is attributed to modern preventive measures. These include the modernization of sewer systems, the filtration and chlorination of water supplies, the pasteurization of milk (typhoid bacilli develop rapidly in milk), inspection of food supplies, examination of food handlers, and supervision of typhoid carriers. Antityphoid inoculations become necessary when these preventive measures break down.

Typhoid carriers are people who, with no outward symptoms of typhoid, are carrying typhoid bacilli, left over from past disease or caught in close association with typhoid patients. Since these people do not know they are carriers, they may escape treatment for years. If such people handle food they are, of course, an especial danger to the community. That is one reason why examination of food handlers is so important.

RIDING BIKE TO STATE LIGHTWEIGHT TITLE

Morton Graves, 31-year-old father of four children is Iowa's lightweight boxing champion. Before 3,000 fans at the Coliseum Thursday night, April 3, the 135-pound veteran of World War II, won a decision over Billy Cornwell, 130, as the two former Des Moines Golden Gloves champs fought a blistering exchange over the eight-round distance.

Graves who has had more than 200 amateur fights and only six professional bouts, has never been knocked off his feet. Studying a course in radio at the Des Moines Tech, Graves will receive his diploma next month.

"The fact that race segregation prevailing in the District of Columbia is historic," he declared, "does not lessen the harshness with which it is being enforced by the board in a manner which deprives my daughter equal protection under the law." He added that it would take a decision of the Supreme Court "to persuade me that I am legally in error."

In the celebrated Gaines case the United States Supreme Court ruled that if a qualified colored person wished to take a course not offered in the colored public-supported institution but offered in the comparable white institution, substantially the same course had to be put into the colored school or the colored person could be admitted to the white school.

Some legal authorities here say that the case of Miss Galarza is the Gaines case in reverse.

Mr. Bryant Writes That Jobs Vanished When Employers Saw He Was Colored

"I have answered more than twenty advertisements here where men were needed and the job was open until the employer saw that I was a colored man. Then after he saw my face—the job was filled—or 'we don't hire colored,' wrote William Bryant of 1500 Buchanan street, who said he has been in the city two months or more as a chief investigator of the Christian Intelligence Society of California.

"When I was in the South Pacific," continued Mr. Bryant, a veteran of World War II, "I never heard any one say 'we don't have colored people in these fox holes.' No not one. We don't need you any more Mr. Colored Man. The war is over. But the war is not over."

Mr. Bryant said he holds a third class engineer's license in the city of Des Moines and has a rating with the civil service commission as an engineman maximum—that being the highest rating in the engineman's class.

Calls for Special Prayers

"The Christian Intelligence of California is calling to all ministers for special prayer service in the city of Des Moines to move some of these stumbling blocks out of the way so that some of these poor vets can get jobs—so that he can work and no man can hinder him.

"I call upon you mothers who have worked so hard to bring your child up so he or she wouldn't have to wash and scrub kitchen floors as you did. Pray that God will give that child a chance to enjoy the many blessing that have been promised him or her during the bad time of war.

"I call upon you fathers to resist every disunion that may arise to deprive you of your civil rights. A dog is entitled to food and shelter. Your tax is just as high as the next man's—a similar title a year or so ago fighting out of Pittsburgh.

AFTER EASTER PARADE

The Easter Parade—it was great. I mean the kids were right up to date. Some wore green, some wore blue. I like the little girls who look so trim. —And hats made from a bunch of grapes. Or for long coats and extreme drapes.

There was one little girl dressed in green. The most beautiful little trick I've ever seen. The hat she wore was on the greater side. Even hers wasn't had on the eyes.

As she walked along she seemed to glide. With her long strap purse hanging at her side. I would have been tempted to say "hello" But she happened to be with another beau.

Even the smaller kids dressed in pink and white. Seemed to give Easter a new light. With their Easter baskets they walked in pairs. With pig tail ribbons hanging in their hair.

There's something about Easter that does something to me. I know not what it could be. But as I stood and watched the crowd go by. A little tear trickled down from my eyes.

The feeling it filled me so soft—I'm almost choked to see such lovely looking folk. They moved along carrying Easter in their arms. Like the steady "chirp," "chirp," of the robins' lyrics.

So, let's put up our bonnets and baskets too. Which made our Easter feel so true. So that next year they won't be worn and torn.

When again we can worship that New Star that was born.

SPORTS

By ALLEN ASHBY

So Morton Graves is the new Iowa lightweight champion? This in our opinion is one case where hard physical labor paid off. While Mort was in the navy he put in long hours at hard labor. Then after he got out, he kept at his work, hauling coal and doing other jobs helping on a truck. It was this hard muscle work that gave the new champion the extra strength and stamina that he needed to pull out those last rounds. He must have really whaled Cornwell to gain a decision, a thing we
