DR. PERCY JULIAN TELLS CHALLENGE TO AMERICAN SCHOLAR

Jefferson City, Mo.—It will be the thinking man, the scholar, not the demagogue, who will bring us out of the fear, the despair with which we are confronted today, Dr. Percy L. Julian, director of research, Glaxo company, Chicago, told an Honors convocation audience at Lincoln university (Mo.) Thursday, May 14, at 10 a.m.

Developing the subject "Today's Challenge to the American Scholar," the noted chemist lamented the godlessness of defeatism and skepticism which has spread over the world today.

ARRAIGNMENT CONTINUED

Washington, D. C. (NNPA)—The arraignment of Daniel Williams, disbarred Mississippi lawyer who ran amuck here on May 16, killing two men and wounding two others, last Thursday was continued for two weeks by United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage.

NAVY COURT MARTIAL EXONERATES GUNNER

Charlotte Amalie, Virgin Islands, (NNPA)—A United States Navy general court martial last Friday exonerated George Anthony Kirk, a naval gunner, in the slaying of Vincent Wheatley, youthful colored employee of the United States submarine base just outside Charlotte Amalie.

Kirk was charged with involuntary manslaughter after he shot and killed Wheatley, who was alleged to have been caught peeping through the window of the quarters of a naval officer last March 1.

The defense successfully claimed that the bullet which killed Wheatley ricocheted from a fencepost into his back.

During the trial the court allowed the wife of Kirk's commanding officer to testify that a colored man had attempted to rape her last December, although the trial judge advocate claimed that the testimony was immaterial to the case.

Beacon, New York; William Goines of Columbia, South Carolina, DeLores Morton of Baltimore, and Elizabeth Jean McLeod of St. Petersburg, Florida. (NNPA.)

BILLIE HOLLIDAY GIVEN YEAR IN PEN

Philadelphia, (NNPA)—Billie Holliday, 28-year old singer, was sentenced to serve a year and a day in the Federal Reformatory for Women at Alderson, West Virginia, after she pleaded guilty to charges of transporting, concealing and receiving narcotics in violation of federal law.

At her request, Miss Holliday will receive treatment for her drug addiction which made her, according to federal agents, one of the major users of the drug heroin. In exchange for this treatment, Judge J. Cullen Ganey told her, she will have to aid the government to track down her sources of supply.

Federal narcotic agents raided Miss Holliday's suite in the Attucks Hotel in Philadelphia in the early morning of May 16 after they had followed her from the Earle Theater where she was appearing. At the time she was seated outside the hotel in her automobile ready to depart for New York.

Midwest Institute Hears Dr. Logan

Rayford Logan, Howard university history professor, said here Monday. Logan spoke before about 150 persons attending the morning session of the Midwest Institute of International Relations in the Drake university auditorium.

Specifically, Logan said recognition of the sovereignty of states is as explicit in the charter as in the covenant.

Outlook Gloomy

"Since the covenant failed to keep peace, what reason then is there for believing the charter will succeed where the covenant failed?" he asked.

The one ray of hope seen by Logan is the existence of an intelligent world public opinion.

TORNADO HITS NEAR PINE BLUFF

Pine Bluff, Ark.—Fifteen Negroes were killed and nearly 200 were injured in the tornado which struck the farming community south of here Sunday afternoon, June 1. Twenty-two white were killed.

Several whole families—white and Negro—were wiped out entirely. The city of Pine Bluff itself missed most of the impact of the storm.

TUSKEGEE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Commencement speaker this year at Tuskegee institute was A. Philip Randolph, left, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, shown in academic robes with Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, Tuskegee president, on the campus just prior to the annual ceremonies. Final NAACP Membership Report June 11

The final reports of the membership drive of the Des Moines Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be made Wednesday, June 11, at the Crocker YMCA.

Up to date, workers in the drive have reported a total of 1,699 members.

The Rev. J. J. Hawkins, chairman of the drive and the majors of the four divisions, Mrs. Arzalla Mitchell, Mrs. Margaret Joseph, A. P. Trotter, and Luther Glanton have urged all of their captains, lieutenants and other workers to attend this meeting at 7:30 o'clock.

HOLD FUNERAL RITES FOR GUS THOMAS

Funeral services for Gus Thomas, 52, of 1418 Maryland avenue, were held Wednesday in Corinthian Baptist church with burial at Glendale Cemetery.

Mr. Thomas, a Des Moines resident for 25 years, died Monday at Broadlawn General hospital. Born at Waco, Texas, Mr. Thomas was a member of the Corinthian church. He is survived by Mrs. Sadie Thomas, wife.

"The power of such a developed public opinion already has been effective in the United Nations," he said. As an example, he cited the successful attack made against the incorporation of Southwest Africa into the Union of South Africa.

"Needs More Than Talk"

Still, Logan said it was his opinion that it would take more than discussion groups to convince the people of the weaknesses of the charter.

"It may take a brutal series of events to do that," he concluded. "The atomic bomb so far has done the most to show these weaknesses."

Expect Mammoth Crowd In Lincoln Memorial to Hear President June 29

Washington, D. C.—It was announced by the White House that President Truman will speak Sunday afternoon, June 29, at the Lincoln Memorial in the nation's capital, to the concluding session of the 38th Annual Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Other speakers sharing the platform with the President will be Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt; Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon and Walker White, executive secretary of the Association.

It is expected that an audience as large as that which heard Marion Anderson at the historic 1939 East-er Sunday concert, will again fill the Lincoln Memorial. One hundred thousand people filled the national shrine to hear the world-famous contralto at that time, following refusal of the DAR to allow the Negro artist to sing in Constitution Hall.

The huge audience, at the June 29 meeting, will hear another great Negro singer, Carol Brice, a youthful mezzo-soprano, who has appeared with the Boston Symphony orchestra and other orchestras throughout the nation. Critics here and abroad have been unanimous in crediting Miss Brice with possessing one of the greatest voices of modern times. Instrumental music will be furnished by the United States Marine Corps Band.

To Broadcast Speech

The President's speech, which will be broadcast over several major networks, is being anticipated in domestic as well as international circles, since it is expected that Mr. Truman will make a major declaration of government policy on racial tensions both at home and abroad.

It is known that the rise of bigotry since the war's end has been a matter of major concern to the President, as evidenced by his appointment of a Commission on Civil Rights, headed by Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric.

The front page notice and unprecedented editorial comment which the foreign press has devoted to lynching and racial discrimination in the United States, particularly when Secretary of State George Marshall issued his definition of democracy during the recent Moscow Conference, are known to have been a matter of grave concern to the President, according to sources close to the White House.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is the oldest and best known agency in the country dealing with racial problems, having been organized in 1909. It has at present 1500 branches, youth councils and college chapters with a bi-racial membership of 535,000 distributed through forty-three states and the District of Columbia. It is said to be the largest civil rights organization in the world.

The NAACP's national Board of Directors is bi-racial and includes Mrs. Roosevelt, Herbert H. Lehman, former governor of New York and director of UNRRA; Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Producers Association; Governor William H. Hastie of the Virgin Islands; Philip Murray, president of the CIO; Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas; Arthur B. Spingarn who is the Association's president; Dr. Louis T. Wright who is chairman of the Board and Fiorella H. LeGuardia, former mayor of New York.

Bush Tells of Kidnapping, Denies Rape, Does Not Want To Go Back to Rich Square

Raleigh, N. C. (NNPA)—The seven men arrested May 27 on charges of kidnapping and conspiracy growing out of their attempt to lynch Godwin (Buddy) Bush, 24-year old suspect in an attempted rape case, will be put on trial August 4 in the Northampton County Superior Court, officials announced last Wednesday.

The defendants, from whom Bush escaped after he had been taken from the jail at Jackson, North Carolina, were identified as:

Robert Vann, a pickle factory worker; Russell Bryant, filling station operator; Glenn Collier, a barber; Joe Cunningham, assistant manager of the Rich Square Theater; Linwood and Gilbert Bryan, brothers, both carpenters, and W. C. Cope, operator of a Rich Square hot dog stand.

Talking with reporters for the first time since he had surrendered to agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and local authorities, Bush said emphatically that he did not want to go back to Rich Square, the village in Northampton County, where he was arrested on a charge of attempted rape of Mrs. Margaret Allen Bryant.

Denies Crime

Bush also denied that he was guilty of the crime of which he is accused. He said he was waiting for his sweetheart on a sidewalk in Rich Square when the woman became frightened and screamed. Police Chief Frank Outland of Rich Square arrested him shortly afterward and took him twelve miles to the jail at Jackson.

His version of his abduction from the Northampton County jail at 2 a.m., May 22, and of his escape from the mob was freely told to reporter.

"Three white men, all wearing masks of red-and-white handkerchiefs, came and woke me up. They told me to put on my clothes and come along," the young lumberman's helper said.

Outside the jail, he said, he saw two other white men. At least two of the five men, he said, had pistols.

Bush said he was ordered to get into a four-door sedan.

"They put me in the back seat, but I got right out on the other side of the car. I fell getting out, but I got up and ran, but I fell again."

He said, he heard one pistol shot. "I don't know how close it came, and I never looked back."

"I didn't know where I was running or what I ran into (Officers said he ran into a chicken wire). I climbed two or three fences and just kept on running until I got lost about (day) light in some woods."

Went to Friend's Home

About daylight Sunday, May 25, Bush said he made his way to the home of a friend about three miles south of Jackson and told his story. The friend, a farmer, got in touch with the Rev. W. H. Johnson, pastor of an AME Church which Bush's family attended. The clergyman advised that Bush surrender, his father agreed, and they got in touch with

Fifty Percent of Negro Soldiers Stationed in 'Favorable' Communities

Washington, D. C. (NNPA)—More than 50 per cent of the colored soldiers in the Army are now stationed in "localities and communities where attitudes were most favorable," the War Department disclosed last Thursday.

Asked what steps had been taken to implement policy adopted on the recommendation of the Gillem Board's report on the utilization of colored manpower in the postwar Army, which called for the removal of colored soldiers from hostile communities, the War Department revealed that as of April 1, last 26,931 colored soldiers were stationed outside of the deep south.

Of its total colored strength of 48,712 colored soldiers on that date, 21,781 were still stationed at southern posts where community attitudes are regarded as unfavorable.

War Department policy now in effect states that "Considering essential military factors, Negro units will be stationed in localities and communities where attitudes are most favorable and in such strength as will not constitute an undue burden to the local civilian facilities."

Largest Number in Atlanta

The largest number of colored soldiers is stationed in the Third Army Area, with headquarters at Atlanta, comprising the States of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi. There are 12,003 colored soldiers in this area, all of which is considered hostile and lacking adequate facilities for the entertainment and accommodation of soldiers while off their posts.

In the Second Army Area more than 50 per cent of the colored soldiers are stationed in unfavorable localities. The Second Army Area has its headquarters in Baltimore and comprises the states of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky. There is a total of 7,412 colored soldiers in this area, of whom 209 are stationed in Pennsylvania, 1,049 in Maryland, 2,199 in Ohio, and seventy-seven in Indiana.

The remainder of the colored soldiers in this area, 3,828 are said to be stationed in unfavorable localities.

In the Fourth Army Area nearly all of the 6,244 colored soldiers are stationed in unfavorable localities. SEE EDITORIAL PAGE

Civil Liberties League of Elks Eyes All Legislation

The object of the Civil Liberties League, as set out by the grand lodge of the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World, is to take cognizance of all forms of injustice against the colored race and to see that law and order as they affect the people be administered impartially.

The League has undertaken the defense of the American Negro from the attacks of Eastland, Rankin and Bilbo of Mississippi; at the convention in Buffalo, the league, under Judge Hobson Reynolds was authorized by the grand lodge to take whatever course was necessary to stop Bilbo's confirmation to the Senate. The political powers were urged to see to it that Bilbo be barred from Congress for his flagrant disregard of his oath to uphold the Constitution of the United States. The Elks got Bilbo.

The league has a staff of paid experts in the capitol to keep an eye on legislation and furnish factual data to the Congress on violations of the Bill of Rights, foremost of which is the army jim crow, as practiced against officers and enlisted men of color in the armed forces, by compelling, and presenting specific instances gathered by a competent staff of investigators.

Crashes Gate

Grand Exalted Ruler J. Finley Wilson took a delegation of grand lodge officers to San Francisco in April 1945, and made history by crashing the gate of the United Nations conference, and demanded a hearing for the millions of black men of America, and the State Department made arrangements for the Elk delegation to meet as consultants and advisors to the conference, who presented the following as the Elks creed:

1. That there should be freedom of worship, of speech, of religion, and of civic association.
2. That there must be a guarantee of universal suffrage and free elections.
3. That there be representation based upon population.
4. That colonialism be abolished and autonomy given to all.

MISS DOLORES FIELDS

All of her life—and she now is 18 years old—Miss Dolores Fields wanted to be a stenographer, she revealed in an interview this week about her position as senior stenographer in the division of veterans in the state department of public instruction at the statehouse here.

She is quite happy—doing general office work, typing, taking dictation, filing and being responsible for the notification sheets that go to the veterans administration. She is the only Negro and one of the seven young women who are employed in that division, directed by Linton Hainer, and under Miss Jessie Parker who is superintendent of public instruction for the state.

Miss Fields works eight hours a day for five and one-half days per week; gets a week's vacation with pay.

In East High school where Miss Fields learned all of training for a stenographer, she held her first stenographic work as secretary to the girls' advisor, Miss Agnes Helmreich, who later recommended her for work at the statehouse.

Before her high school graduation days, January 1946, Miss Fields was active as a music teacher—teaching students to play the piano. She had studied the piano from early childhood and appeared on many programs—but now that she is a stenographer—she enjoys listening to music.

During her high school career she came into prominence when she won the Eddie Cantor national essay contest, second prize of $750 for her essay on "Juvenile Delinquency."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fields, 1533 Buchanan, Miss Fields enjoys movies, sports of all kinds. A member of the Maple Street Baptist church, she is pianist for the Sunday School and the women's chorus; and, a member of the youth council of the NAACP.

Editors of Nation's Press Say Immediate Demand for Federal Anti-Lynch Bill

(By the NNPA News Service) Washington, D. C.—The verdicts of the all-white jury in Greenville, South Carolina, acquitting twenty-eight men of lynching Willie Earle on the banks of the Saluda River on the night of February 17, were generally disapproved by the leading newspapers of the country.

Such progress may seem slight enough, but it is significant and one may believe that there is both warning and encouragement to the future in the events at Greenville.

Under the caption, "Lynch Verdict," The Washington Post said, in part:

Respect for Law
"Mr. Watt presented the case to the jury ably and compellingly. Let the world know that we have united to stamp out this blot on Greenville County," he implored. "An even more horrible crime would be for you jurors to condone this thing."

Judge Martin conducted the trial with resolute respect for the law; his charge to the jury was a model of balance and lucidity. For the sake of South Carolina's good name, let all men note these facts. But the jury chose to commit the 'even more horrible crime' against which it had been warned.

"We do not see that anything more can be done from the outside. There is no basis here for Federal intervention under the civil rights statute. Even if there were such basis, it is evident that local jury would acquit the mobsters. And, indeed, even if there were a far stronger broader Federal statute than the inadequate existing Section 52, Federal intervention would be fruitless in the face of local sentiment which condones such barbarity. The principle of local jurisdiction over crime is a vital one in the structure of our society. The people of Greenville could practice cannibalism if they chose to condone it and yet not be convicted of crime without their own consent. We of the world outside can help them only through the patient processes of economic aid to relieve their poverty and of education to lift the ignorance and bigotry this poverty produces."

The Richmond (Virginia) Times-Dispatch, under the caption, "A Jury Betrays Southern Justice," said:

Demand for Bill
"Inevitably there will be an immediate demand for a Federal anti-lynching bill. Two questions arise here. The first is whether a jury drawn from a community for service in a Federal court is more likely to be fearless and impartial than a jury drawn from the same community for a State court. Since Federal judges seem generally to be composed of more responsible type of citizenship than State juries, a Federal jury might be more fearless in the discharge of its duty. The second question which arises with respect to Federal anti-lynching legislation has to do with its constitutionality. There are grave doubts as to whether such a law would be constitutional."

"Dr. Guy B. Johnson, retiring head of the Southern Regional Council in Atlanta, addressed President Truman's recent appointed Civil Rights Committee the other day in Washington on 'Civil Rights in the South.' He suggested that 'what we really need is a constitutional amendment conferring upon Congress certain specific powers to protect human rights, implemented by a comprehensive new civil rights code.' He viewed specific Federal anti-lynching legislation with skepticism, but said that 'if a Federal statute with teeth in it can be drafted so as to stand the test of constitutionality, then we should have it.'

Travesty Upon Justice
"One thing seems certain: The South Carolina travesty upon justice will increase the demand all over the United States for some sort of Federal law to cover such cases. Unless those Southern States which have contributed to this widespread demand by their failure to stop lynchings mend their ways at once, it is highly probable that additional Federal controls will be placed on the statute books or in the Constitution, or both. If that happens, the Georgia mob which murdered four innocent Negroes last summer, when three of them were not even accused of anything, and the Greenville jury which blatantly disregarded the court's instructions and acquitted more than a score of self-confessed lynchers on Wednesday night, will have to take the responsibility."

"Such things as have happened recently in Georgia and South Carolina must stop. The enlightened opinion of the South must be mobilized to stop them. Otherwise we Southerners will have no right to criticize Soviet Russia or Nazi Germany for their obscene betrayals of civil liberties and the judicial process."

No Day for Justice
"This was no day for justice. In the able conduct of this momentous case Judge Martin insisted that there must be no thought of race, no consideration of anything but the fact that a mob broke into jail and took out a prisoner to kill him. It was an extraordinary trial, white men being asked to convict white men for lynching a Negro, and this largely on the basis of the defendants' own statements. This was a severe test in the South—there can be little doubt that the jury was following the 'unwritten law.'"

"But the case of the Greenville taxi drivers is not ended. Conscience is assembling. Mob law was at least brought to trial. The investigation in this case was alert and productive, prosecution was vigorous, and the trial proceeded in dignity and intelligence. For this much, the State of South Carolina can be commended."

Not Whole of Story
"But this jury, on which Judge J. Robert Martin grimly turned his back, is not the whole of the story. The rest of the story is that Governor Thurmond, Prosecutor Sam R. Watt, Co-Prosecutor Robert T. Ashmore, Sheriff R. H. Beardon and Judge Martin did their utmost to bring Earle's slayers to justice, and that they had the support of the local press, the local ministers and a strong body of opinion throughout South Carolina. This was no issue between Northern meddlers who disapprove of lynching and those Southerners who believe it a good thing. It was an issue between those who believe in law and those who believe that exceptions should be made when their own interests are involved or their own passions aroused."

"There has been a victory for law, even though Willie Earle's slayers will not be punished for what they did. A precedent has been set. Members of lynching mobs may now know that they do not bask in universal approval, even in their own disgraced communities, and they may begin to fear that some day, on sufficient evidence and with sufficient courage, a Southern lynching case jury will convict."

The New York Herald Tribune, under the caption, "No Day for Justice," said:

"The news from South Carolina is in. Twelve white men acquitted twenty-eight white men. On every count the defendants were declared not guilty of lynching a Negro. The judge accepted the ninety-eight separate verdicts, dismissed the jury without thanks, and sternly walked out of the courtroom. There was jubilant back-slapping among the defense, the news flashed over the waiting wires, and everybody went home in the soft rain."

Her program included: "Bless House," (Brahms); "Bird Songs at Eventide" (Coates); "The Nightingale and the Rose" (Rimsky Korsakoff); "The Legend" (Tschalkowsky); an aria "Caro Nome" from "Rigoletto" by Verdi; "Some Folks Do" (Foster); "Homing" (Del Reigga); "My Heart Ever Faithful" (Bach); "Sheep and Lambs" (Homer).

A group of spirituals included "Ain't That Good News?" "Gambler, Git Off Yo' Knees" and "The Blind Men Stood on de Road and Cried."

From Fairfield Daily Ledger

Fairfield, Ia.—Pleasing and gracious, Ivory Winston evoked the spontaneous admiration of her audience, as she opened her program Monday evening, May 19, at the Barhydt chapel, the final concert of the college series for 1946-47.

The distinguished coloratura soprano possesses a most winning personality and fine stage presence. Her program was varied, including both popular and classical selections, and a group of Negro spirituals. Her interpretation is delightfully individual.

One number, a spiritual, "For the Lord," Mrs. Winston sang unaccompanied. Her singing of Malotte's "Lord's Prayer," for her final encore was a deeply moving experience. Her audience was enthusiastic, and compelled her to sing many encores.

Mrs. Winston was accompanied by Gehard R. Bunge, of Ottumwa, distinguished pianist and organist, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church and instructor of German at Parsons college.

O. E. S. CHAPTERS HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICE

In compliance with the regulation of the grand chapter, the three Des Moines O. E. S. chapters held a joint memorial service last Thursday evening at the Fraternal temple, 11th and Center streets, in memory of four members: Mesdames Judith Wilson and Ellen Carr of Princess Oziel chapter No. 9 and Josephine Franklin and Mary Mickles of Princess Zorah chapter No. 10.

The ritualistic Chapter of Sorrow was used with the degree team from Electa Administrative Council in charge of Past Grand Patron S. Joe Brown filling the various stations. On Sunday, June 1, the three chapters attended the regular morning service at Corinthian Baptist church in honor of Esther Day, which is annually observed by them on the first Sunday in June. At this service, Mrs. Sarah E. Jett, the worthy grand matron, represented the three chapters on the program.

'KINGSBLOOD ROYAL' EXPOSES RACE BIGOTRY

New York—A violent storm of controversy is expected to rage around Sinclair Lewis' latest novel, "Kingsblood Royal," just published. Letting the chips fall where they may, sparing nobody's feelings in his desire to get at the truth, Lewis' "Kingsblood Royal" is a ruthless expose of racial prejudice—American style. (Random House, $3.00)

Neil Kingsblood is a young mid-westerner, a veteran, who discovers he is one thirty-second Negro. He could have kept the fact a secret—even from his wife and child—and maintained his "position" in upper-middle-class society. But his conscience drives him into an investigation of the Negro world, and ultimately to full disclosure of his "secret."

O. E. S. GRAND CHAPTER IN FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Just forty years ago, last month, in the month of May, 1907, W. H. Milligan, then grand master of Iowa Prince Hall Masons assembled in Burlington, representatives of subordinate chapters then operating at Burlington, Davenport, Ottumwa, Keokuk, Cedar Rapids, and organized them into

MRS. SARAH E. JETT

REV. A. R. PARKS

Electa Grand Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star of which he, himself was elected first Grand patron and Miss Ida B. Palmer of Burlington, first grand matron.

On Tuesday, June 17, representatives of the twenty subordinate chapters now operating under this grand chapter, will return to Burlington and in the mammoth municipal auditorium of that city located on Front and Jefferson streets, Mrs. Sarah E. Jett, of Des Moines, the present grand matron assisted by the Rev. A. R. Parks of Cedar Rapids, the present grand patron, will open the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of this grand chapter.

In honor of the occasion a committee consisting of Mrs. Mary Range, associate grand matron of Ft. Madison, Mrs. Maude M. Brewton, past grand matron of Mason City; Mrs. Julia E. Reed, past grand matron of Cedar Rapids; Atty. S. Joe Brown, past grand patron of Des Moines, and Grand Patron C. R. Parks, have compiled a souvenir album and program, comprising of nearly fifty pages, in which appear cuts of practically all the grand officers, many past grand officers of both this and other grand chapters, a cut of the Imperial potentate of the Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine as well as of other state officers of the Consistory and Shrine, also group pictures of a number of the subordinate chapters, as well as several of the Blue Lodges of the State and business and professional greetings from members of both races throughout the state and a condensed history of the grand chapter with the place and date of each meeting and the names of the principal officers elected at each session, as well as the detailed program of the celebration, which will include a pageant arranged by the worthy grand matron, which will be put on, on Wednesday evening, depicting the forty years' history of the Grand Chapter, a copy of which album will be furnished free to each individual and organization having a greeting in it.

The opening of the anniversary will be preceded on Monday, June 16, by the first annual meeting of the Iowa Grand Court of the Royal and Exalted Degree of Amaranth of which Mrs. Odessa Roberts, grand treasurer of the grand chapter is the royal grand matron.

Overnight, young Kingsblood's world changes. Once secure and respected in the "restricted" community in which he has been living, he now finds himself branded an imposter. He and his family become the target for race-batters, many of them his former "friends," and they are hounded day and night. In his hour of bitter trial Neil Kingsblood learns a lesson he had failed to learn during the war—a lesson in democracy. He comes to understand what constitutes real and sham Americans—a difference that does not lie in the color of a man's skin.

WINNER — Professor Quiz, radio's famous quizmaster, visited Jacksonville, Fla., recently and paused at Stanton High School to stage a quiz visit with students there. Grand prize winner, with a perfect score, was Miss Priscilla McLendon, 16, who is shown receiving her gold wrist watch from the genial Professor.

PERSONAL TOUCH By MARIE ROSS

According to the park department, Good Park swimming pool is scheduled to open this week end—if it stops raining and the weather gets warmer. We are certain there will be few swimmers if the weather is anything like last Wednesday week—when it rained, sleeted and snowed on the blooming flowers and young gardens—on May 28. The city street department has something in common with the weather. All this week on Locust street downtown crews of men covered most of the street with tar. The next day another crew of men in front of the office window—with a boring machine deafening residents as the men dug holes, near the smooth pavement.

Mrs. E. T. Scales, back from a plane trip to New York City, revealed that she went shopping on Fifth avenue with the daughter, Betty of a former Iowan, Adel Moore Wallace, and did not see anything in all of the exclusive shops that had not been emphasized right here in Des Moines—in the sewing classes of Mrs. Georgine C. Morris. Mrs. Scales declared that she is going to be right back in the sewing class—at Willkie House—when it opens again next fall.

Pictures of the Iowa high school and college graduates are expected in the office of the Bystander this week end. Phone or write the office for further information.

G.D.W.—I love my husband and want to stay with him but I don't know what to do. I found out that he has joined a matrimonial club. He receives letters from three ladies and has a picture of a lady in his wallet. I asked him about it and he insists it's for a friend of his. We are fussing about these letters. What steps should I take?

Ans: Act your age, even though he isn't. Let the issue drop and do not refer to it any more. He'll get disgusted with the little correspondence game he's playing as he doesn't enjoy letter writing anyway. As long as he thinks he's making you jealous—he'll continue.

M.K.—I left my husband and five kids about four months ago. He wants me back with him but I'm afraid to go back. We didn't get along so well. Since being away I have met another fellow. Do you think he loves me? What makes me stay so worried?

Ans: A guilty conscience—and worrying about the welfare of your children and husband. The ties that bind you to your family are too strong to break without mental anguish. You ought to go back—reach an understanding with your husband—put the past behind you and try to make up for what has happened. This fellow you met is only looking for a convenient bed-partner. Do not be misled.

C. J.—I have been keeping house for a man 3 years. He works in the upper state and comes down several times a year for a week or two. I talk to him about marriage and he tells me as soon as he gets straight we will marry. He has a living wife in another state. He doesn't seem interested in getting a divorce. He gives me support and is nice but I am beginning to worry about my future as I feel I have waited long enough. I am 33 and don't want to lose my best days waiting on him. He does not want me to leave. I conduct myself like a married woman in this town.

Ans: You're living the life of a married woman but are only receiving a few of the benefits. It isn't worth the price. The man couldn't marry you if he wanted to since he has a living wife. Under the circumstances, it would be to your advantage to find you a job and become independent and call this bargain off. Then you will be free to seek new friendships. The next time you establish yourself as a married woman, be sure to see the preacher first.

NEW FIGHT LOOMS ON F.E.P. BILL

Congress is soon to consider the many bills pending in that body barring discrimination in employment on the basis of race, color or religion. Republican and Democratic members have measures pending in both houses and therefore some of the political fighting is removed from consideration.

These bills are said to be the most controversial measures which congress has considered, the principles involved make the average southerner in Congress see red so it is fair to assume that a bitter battle will be waged against passage of any of them. Most top-ranking labor leaders are on record in favor of anti-discrimination legislation for they know that to penalize a worker because of his race, color or religion carries over a type of prejudice which worked a hardship on labor as a whole 40 years gone by. Then too, if labor means to benefit the worker and thus strengthen their cause, they cannot afford to keep out of their ranks the large number of people which anti-discrimination measures seek to benefit.

The objection that employers should not be forced to hire people against their will is not good. As a matter of fact, most of the objection comes from employees who wish to keep certain people for working in their ranks.

During the war, Negroes and whites worked together in places where such a thing was not done before with very little trouble. Some establishments have continued this policy here in Des Moines and elsewhere.

Some years ago the C.I.O. set up an interracial department which has for its object the education of the employee in tolerance and understanding of his fellow employee. It is a fine thing for there are those in the labor movement; as elsewhere, who are selfish, prejudiced and unfair. Generally speaking they are loud in their objections and, while in the minority, make more noise than those who don't take unfair attitudes.

And too, these people have little contact with Negroes or other groups which are sought to be protected but assume without attempting to get an understanding of fair play that they want those people barred.

Some method ought to be devised to teach more tolerance among the masses of employees. Interracial organizations have done little among them and the church has no record on the subject to which it can point with pride.

While we are fighting the infiltration of communism at home and among nations abroad, our own houses ought to be put in better order. Otherwise our good faith in world brotherhood becomes a farce.

REPRESENTATIVE MARTIN HELPS MAY

Representative Tom Martin of the first congressional district was a character writer for former Representative Andrew May who is on trial in Washington for using his official capacity for financial gain during the war. May was chairman of the military affairs committee in the house.

Representative Martin was a member of May's committee, served on the sub-committee which recommended that the pamphlet "The Races of Mankind" circulated among members of the armed service be discontinued.

There is nothing in the pamphlet which is untrue or detrimental to anybody. But it gives the darker races a decent place in the nations of the world. So May disapproved—and so did Representative Martin.

Mr. Martin does Iowa little credit when he attempts to help a fellow like May when his record shows that he has no respect for the trust imposed in him by the people.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Resisting TB

Man has a natural resistance to tuberculosis, a disease which never the less takes the lives of approximately 53,000 Americans a year. When the tubercle bacillus, the germ which causes the disease, enters the human body the work of resistance begins immediately. Defensive forces organize to wall off the invader in a network of cells and fibers. In many cases, especially when the invader has entered a strong, healthy body, this is the end of the battle for the time being. The enemy is made captive.

In other cases, when the victim's defenses are low or when so many germs have repeatedly infiltrated that the forces of resistance are outnumbered and disintegrated, the disease gets the upper hand and serious illness results. Pulmonary tuberculosis of the lungs, is the most common form of tuberculosis in man. Most of the 53,000 Americans who die of tuberculosis each year die of pulmonary tuberculosis and its complications. The anatomy of the lungs is such that it is easier for the germs to find entrance there than in other parts of the body, and once the germs have entered the lungs and begun their destructive work they meet fewer natural blocks than they would in other areas.

Conflict Waged

In the conflict waged between the germs and the body's resistance, resistance usually wins out. When it falters, the patient becomes seriously ill. When he goes to a sanatorium doctors and nurses use every known medical means to organize and strengthen his forces of resistance.

Since few of us go through life without coming into contact with tubercle bacilli at one time or another, we owe it to ourselves to keep our general health so sound that we can successfully resist whatever germs come our way.

This article is presented by the Polk County Tuberculosis Association in the interest of better health.

CATCHING LOCAL NEWS

The track season is drawing itself out to the climax, the national A.A.U. meet. Your humble servant has half way promised himself that he would take in that one. Not dead certain about it yet.

In Des Moines we got quite a kick out of Dick Atkins of East high. The lad says in effect that he generally runs his best races after he has become angry at something he has written about him in this column. Now we have never meant young Atkins anything but good. But if that is what makes him win races, we hope we can keep the boy mad at us until he finishes college.

Some of the kids got into the state A.A.U. track meet at Drake Friday. Atkins found the handicap of overalls, borrowed shoes and jersey along with some fancy stepping by Kaiser, too much to overcome and finished third in the hundred. He and Kaiser tied in the two-hundred. Duck Spangler tied for third in the high jump and Massey placed in the broad jump.

The Willie Hous Vets were rained out of their holiday softball schedule. We had wanted to see them and Dad's Root Beer baseball team in action.

John Estes seems to have taken up where he left off and wins in the Memorial Day golf meet. Wonder how J. Numa Johnson did?

VETERANS WHIRL

How did the colored WACS on duty in Europe feel when they saw their tan brothers and former sweethearts literally jumping over them for a chance to date a German fraulein or a French mam'selle—or one of the English dames who are now trying to get rid of their tan bimbos?

What did our girls go through when you "deserted" them on the other side, Joe? Did they roll up their bunks and cry themselves to sleep or did they go on out and date some attentive French officer?

You don't know what they did, Joe, because you were too busy with your mam'selle, but what they did is one of the more interesting stories to come out of the war, and it will soon be told in a book (much to the discomfort of a lot of us tan yankees) by a former WAC who served in England and France with Major Charity Adams' 6888 Postal Directory Battalion.

Quentin R. Mease Praises Untiring Efforts of Late Spencer Elliston in Letter

"I have been trying to get this letter off all week, but have just found time to do so this morning (Sunday)" wrote Quentin R. Mease from Chicago on May 25 to Atty. S. Joe Brown here.

"In fact, I find that I have less time for letter-writing now that I am back home than I did when I was overseas. Incidentally, speaking of overseas, reminds me that this is a sort of an anniversary for me. Just one year ago today (May 25, 1946) I arrived in San Francisco after 35 months overseas. What a glorious occasion that was. And what a short year it has been.

"I had intended writing these few lines just after getting a copy of the Crocker 'Y' Bulletin last Saturday, in which there was an article relating to the Spencer Elliston Memorial Service to be held on May 18. It was my misfortune to have received my copy of the Bulletin just the day before this observance.

BUSH DENIES CRIME

Solicitor Ernest R. Tyler. Tyler, two FBI agents and the father went to the farm. The father entered first, talked to his son, and they came out.

Bush said he had never seen Mrs. Bryant before. Bush identified one of his abductors as Joe Cunningham, an assistant theater manager at Rich Square. After he named him, Cunningham was seized by FBI agents, and named the others.

After the arrest of Cunningham and the six other men charged with abducting Bush, they were released on bond of $2,500 each signed by fifteen prominent Rich Square citizens, including Mayor Charles E. Myers and County School Superintendent N. L. Turner.

otherwise, I would have arranged to have been present for this occasion. Nothing would have pleased me more than to have been personally notified so I could have been on hand and joined in paying tribute to the memory of our great friend.

Meant Much to YMCA

"Spencer meant so much to the YMCA and the youth of Des Moines that it will be impossible to ever give him the just recognition that he so richly deserves. I can speak with complete justification in this instance, as you know, because I had the opportunity and good fortune to observe the many fine and unselfish acts he performed in behalf of others. I can also speak from the knowledge of the personal contribution he made to my own life. I know that I am a better person for having known him. I know that there are a great many others who have voiced the same sentiment. He set an example that will serve as a pattern for the lives of many in the years to come."

Later in his letter Mr. Mease wrote:

"I encountered another former Des Moines minister several weeks ago here in the lobby of the 'Y'. He was Rev. Riley, former pastor at Burns M. E. church. He was just leaving a meeting of a group of ministers as I was entering the building. He stated that he had been here for eighteen months and is the pastor of the Indiana Avenue Methodist church at 5600 Indiana avenue. He invited me over to his home but I haven't gotten around to it as yet." "I haven't seen a Bystander for several months so I can't comment on happenings back there other than what I receive through letters and occasionally running across someone from there. I had thought that I would be in Des Moines in time for the final meeting of the Interracial Commission in June, but now it appears that I shan't be able to make it. I hope that it will be a nice affair, as usual. I suppose that it will again be held at Campbell's."

"Please give my regards to all and my best wishes for your own continued health and happiness."—Quentin R. Mease, 3763 S. Wabash avenue, Chicago, Ill.
