HERALD STARTS THIRD 'MIRACLE IN HARLEM'
New York.—"Miracle in Harlem," Herald Pictures' third all-Negro feature, goes into production next Monday (Sept. 8) at the Filmcraft Studios (Bronx). According to Jack Goldberg, president and producer of Herald Pictures, the feature marks the entirely new departure in the Negro field of screen entertainment. "As the title implies," said Mr. Goldberg, "the action is laid in Harlem, but unlike other Negro pictures, the plot is very heavy drama and mystery, with strong religious overtones."

FORTY-ONE PRISONERS SAW WAY TO FREEDOM
Houston, Tex.—(NNPA).—Taking advantage of a tropical storm that formed off the Texas coast and struck Galveston, Houston and Texas City and plunged inland about 100 miles before blowing itself out in rain squalls, forty-one prisoners at Ramsey prison farm, near here, last Sunday sawed their way to freedom. Five were recaptured, but the others were believed to have headed for Houston.

MARCUS RAY IS TROOP ADVISOR
Frankfort, Ky.—(NNPA).—Army headquarters here announced last Saturday the assignment of Lieutenant Colonel Marcus Ray, formerly civilian aide to the Secretary of War, as colored troop advisor to General Lucius D. Clay in the United States Army's European command. Before the war, Colonel Ray was a clerk in the Chicago post office and director of the South Central Clinical Laboratory in that city.

Has Difficulty In Carrying Out Wish of Member

Peoria, Ill.—(NNPA).—The Rob B. Tiddell Post of the American Legion—locked out of its home after its charter was suspended for alleged communist activities—arranged to carry out the dying wish of one of its members for a Legion funeral, Clifford A. Hazelwood, commander, disclosed last Saturday.

Henry Graves, 60, World War I veteran and a charter member of the post, died in the Veterans' Administration Hospital at Hines, Illinois. His last request was to be buried from the Legion hall. Services were to be held from the sidewalk form in front of the hall. "We won't be able to use the hall because the State Legion Department has changed locks on us," Mr. Hazelwood said. We'll have to borrow flags, rifles and everything else. Our equipment is locked inside.

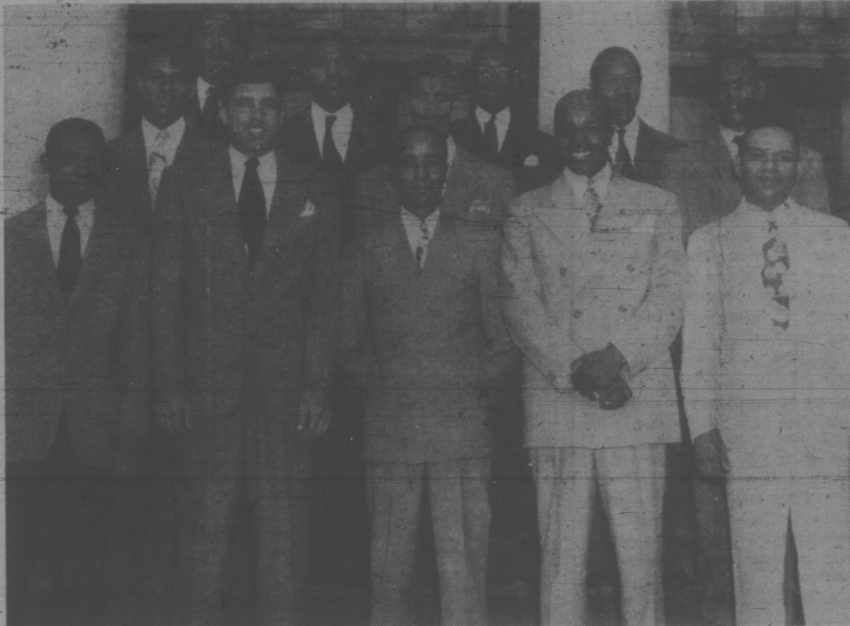

He said he hoped the town's white Legion Post, Peoria Post No. 2, would consent to let Graves be buried on Legion Hill at the local cemetery.

"Else, we'll all chip in and buy a separate plot of ground. He'll get a 'Legion' burial," he said. "Wherever we have to bury him, we'll fire our shotgun volley."

The Illinois Department of the Legion revoked the post's charter early this month, charging it harbored communists and "brought the good name of the American Legion into disrepute." The home was padlocked August 11.

Students in Non-Segregated Schools Have Big Job to Do Before Claiming Equality

Madison, Wis.—(NNPA)—Students in non-segregated schools above the Mason and Dixon Line, have a big job to perform before they can claim to have achieved equality of educational opportunity for colored people. Dr. R. O. Johnson told the 1,000 delegates to the constitutional convention of the United States National Student Organization here last Monday.

Dr. Johnson, who is head of the division of education and psychology at Morris Brown University but is on loan to the United States Office of Education, Washington, D. C., working on the adult education project sponsored by that office spoke 70 years ago. He is a product of Wiley college and Meharry Medical college. (ANP) on the subject, "Educational Opportunities for Negroes." Identity of courses of study should not be confused with equality of educational opportunity, he declared. He warned the students of northern, eastern and western institutions against assuming a "holier-than-thou" attitude toward students in the District of Columbia and the seventeen southern states which maintain separate schools.

Before assuming such an attitude, he said, residents of those areas must rid themselves of restrictive covenants which perpetuate residential segregation, and must see to it that people are employed on the basis of proficiency without regard to race.

Quota Systems
"You must get rid of your quota systems in your colleges and universities," Dr. Johnson declared. "You must see to it that the vicious practice of discouraging Negroes to prepare for certain jobs because Negroes are not now employed in those jobs is stopped."

Dr. Johnson advocated federal aid to education to equalize educational opportunities between the poorer and richer states. Taking the country as a whole, he said, approximately three million persons, 25 years old and over, have not attended school for even a year, and more than 10,000,000 have less than five years of schooling, and the District of Columbia, Dr. Johnson said, four times as many colored people as native whites do not have at least a year of schooling and three times as many colored people have less than five years schooling.

In the same area, he said, there are five times as many white doctors in proportion to the white population as colored doctors in proportion to the colored population, there are three times as many white dentists proportionately as colored dentists, there are proportionately thirteen times as many white pharmacists, proportionately thirty-five times more white lawyers, and 202 times as many white engineers.

Mississippians In Scramble for Seat in Senate

Jackson, Miss.—(NNPA).—White Mississippians are in a mad scramble to succeed Theodore (The Man) Bilbo, who left a vacant seat in the United States Senate.

Under provisions of the state election laws, Bilbo's successor will be chosen at the coming November election without any intervening primary to nominate candidates. Any person, who meets the requirements as to age, residence and citizenship and can get nomination papers signed by fifty voters in each county of the state is eligible to run.

At present, it appears that the colored vote will be an important factor. Without a party primary, it is not likely that strenuous efforts will be made to keep colored voters from participating in the election. On the contrary, the colored vote may be covertly sought and canvassed by the deciding factors. Candidates to succeed Bilbo will remember that a letter which he wrote June 16, 1946, to other four candidates in Mississippi requesting that they join him in making every effort to prevent colored voters from participating in the primary. A report of Senators Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire, and Bourke B. Hickenlooper, of Iowa, Republicans, denounced this letter as a violation of the federal civil rights statute making it a federal offense to conspire to injure persons in the exercise of their civil rights.

DILETTANTE CLUB MEETS SEPT. 9

Ban on Immigration of Colored Americans for Settlement in Country

Washington, D. C.—(NNPA).—The State Department has taken a hands off policy respecting Australia's ban on the immigration of colored Americans for settlement in that country, it was learned last Thursday.

This attitude is in marked contrast with the position taken by the United States Government regarding the admission of Chinese and East Indians into the United States and their eligibility for naturalization.

Both the Chinese and East Indians were completely barred from migrating to the United States. On December 17, 1943, an act was approved making Chinese persons racially eligible for naturalization and granting them a quota which allows 105 to enter the United States each year.

A law also has been enacted authorizing the admission into the United States of persons of races indigenous to India and making them racially eligible for naturalization.

Bitter Resentment

With respect to the admission into the United States of both Chinese and East Indians, the State Department took the position that enactment of law permitting their immigration and naturalization would "remove an outstanding inequity in American immigration and naturalization laws" and one which causes bitter resentment against the United States Chinese and East Indians.

Aside from the State Department, the late President Roosevelt urged enactment of legislation removing the bars against Chinese immigration into this country and both the President Truman urged favorable action on removal of the bars against East Indians.

But Secretary of State George C. Marshall has informed the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that the United States has nothing to do with Australia's policy toward immigrants, it was learned last Thursday.

Secretary Marshall wrote the NAACP in reply to a letter from that organization, protesting Australia's exclusion of colored persons.

Australia's Right

Mr. Marshall reportedly based his conclusion on the fact that the United States is free to admit or bar any race which it sees fit and recognizes Australia's right to do likewise—a doctrine which conflicts with the United Nations Charter which provides for the promotion of "universal respect for, and observance of, human rights and fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race."

The NAACP protested to the State Department after Arthur A. Calwell, Australian Minister of Information, urged immigration of British subjects and other people of European descent to Australia but declared that colored people were so foreign to Australians that it was not felt that they could be readily absorbed into the country.

Elks of World Conose 47th Convention in Philadelphia

Philadelphia.—(NNPA).—The forty-seventh annual convention of the Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World, closed here last Saturday after what is believed to have been one of the most successful sessions that the order has ever held.

The coveted vacancy in the position of treasurer of the order was won by Theodore E. Greene of Akron, Ohio, in a close contest with Loyal Randolph of Baltimore. The office became vacant when Dr. Marcus Westland, grand treasurer, died in the early summer.

There were two other contestants for the post but they withdrew before the balloting began. They were William P. Webb, chief attender and a founder of Leonard C. Irvin Lodge, and Robert Johnson, exalted ruler of O. V. Catto Lodge, both of Philadelphia.

A mad scramble for the office was expected. There were candidates from every section. It was believed that Grand Exalted-Ruler Wilson would lead the candidates fight it out on their merits, popularity and vote-getting abilities. But after much campaigning and wire pulling, the word got around that Greene was the man.

Wilson Re-elected
J. Finley Wilson, who has held the office of grand exalted ruler for nearly 25 years, was re-elected for another two-year term by acclamation.

Joseph A. Brown of New York City was re-elected grand esteemed leading knight. He has held the office for twelve years.

Also re-elected were Hérbert E. Jons, of Washington, D. C., grand esteemed loyal knight, and Robert Johnson, of this city grand esteemed lecturing knight.

Samuel D. Halsey of Reading, Pennsylvania, was elected grand tyler, and Dr. Simpson E. Smith, of Huntington, West Virginia, was elected grand inner guard.

William C. Hueston of Washington, D. C., was re-elected commissioner of education, and Magistrate Hobson R. Reynolds of Philadelphia was re-appointed director of the Civil Liberties Commission.

The delegates voted a $3,000 budget for the health department which is under the direction of Dr. Carter Marshall of New Haven, Connecticut.

At the grand ledge session last Thursday delegates were asked to

Argentina Anniversary
This year marks the 137th anniversary of Argentina's historic May revolution, in which the citizens of Buenos Aires overthrew the Spanish viceroy of the provinces of La Plata and set the stage for Argentine independence. Curiously, the citizens' junta which spearheaded the 1810 revolt did so in the name of Ferdinand VII, claimant to the Spanish throne then occupied under the shield of French arms by Napoleon's brother, Joseph Bonaparte.

Use by the rebels of the deposed Spanish monarch's name, later termed by Argentine writers "the mask of Ferdinand," lent dignity and legality to an audacious movement for freedom which drew much of its inspiration from the French and American revolutions of the 18th century.

Dirt Removing Method
Dirt often is held to a fabric by electrical attraction. To remove the dirt, the electrical attraction must be broken. Soap and detergents do this.

British Launderers Research association is trying high-frequency inaudible sound waves, on the theory that they will shake out the dirt particles, emulsify them in the cleansing solution and thus prevent re-deposition on the fabric.

Don't Replenish—Conserve
Here are the classic rules for conserving household linens: Rotate the use of sheets, putting the fresh ones on the bottom of the pile which you sort the laundry each week, then using off the top. Rotate their use on the bed, too, by putting the bottom hems at the top of the bed every other week, for the hard wear comes where shoulders and elbows dig in. Look out for sharp points on bedstead or springs and cover them so they won't snag sheets and pillowcases. Pull torn or worn sheets and cases out of circulation at once and mend when the bad place is still small. If you do your own laundry, use mild soaps, rinse well—and don't soak overnight. If you send your things out, never bundle your laundry into a sheet or pillowcase. In getting your laundry together, don't jerk the sheets off the bed. Above all—remember that face creams and lipstick take a lot of hard wearing washing to get out and that sharp hair curlers often start holes in pillowcases.

Farm Population Drop
In 1870 half of the total workers in the United States were engaged in farming. Today less than one-fifth of the workers are needed to produce all the food and fiber that the nation uses, the other four-fifths is free to make the other things and to supply services which have created a high standard of living in America.

Coffee Industry Started By French Naval Officer

In the year 1720, a French naval officer, Monsieur Gabriel Mathieu de Clieu, sailed for the Caribbean Island of Martinique with three small coffee bushes he had obtained from the Paris botanical gardens. The voyage was a hard one. Supplies ran short and it was necessary for M. de Clieu to share his water ration with his precious plants in order to keep them alive. Only one bush survived the voyage. It was planted in Martinique and began the coffee industry in the New World. Sixteen years later the first coffee bush was taken to Puerto Rico. Seeds from Martinique had been taken to Santo Domingo and from there to Puerto Rico.

In the fertile clayish soil of the Puerto Rican mountains, warmed by the tropical sun and cooled by the ever present trade winds, these first coffee bushes found an ideal environment. They thrived and multiplied. By 1758, coffee was an export product of great importance.

If, however, a strongly built, modern airplane is dropped from the same distance, it probably will be damaged. The experience of army air forces pilots flying the newest jet fighter planes has indicated that, regardless of how well the aircraft are built, the human body still is capable of greater strain for very brief periods than the aircraft and, in order to reduce the possibilities of structural damage, all fighters are being equipped with accelerometers to warn the pilots whenever a critical "G" force is being approached. AAF aircraft engineers have pointed out that the jet fighters are built to withstand successfully a 12 "G" force, or a force 12 times the force of gravity, which is much more than an airplane develops generally while performing acrobatics. This is also much greater than a pilot would be able to withstand for more than a few seconds, even with a G-suit.

Of Vets Getting Training On GI Bill, Less Than 4 Per Cent Colored, Says VA

Washington, D. C.—(NNPA)—Of the 620,444 veterans going to school or taking on-the-job training under the G. I. Bill of Rights as of April 30, 1946, less than 4 per cent were colored, according to a series of research studies compiled by the office of coordinating and planning in the Veterans' Administration and kept secret.

These latest available figures showed that 586 male and 12,560 female white veterans were being trained under the GI bill of rights, as compared with 17,391 male and 292 female colored veterans. The study listed 4,197 veterans as being other than white or Negro.

Compared to white trainees, much larger proportions of Negro trainees were taking industrial courses, mortuary science courses, and music," the study revealed. "Fewer Negroes proportionately were enrolled in the following courses: accounting, engineering, management and supervision and salesmanship."

The study showed that of the 17,685 colored veterans receiving training under the GI bill, 7,175 men and 121 women were between the ages of 20 and 24. Only 2,793 colored male veterans and forty-seven colored female veterans were under 20 years of age.

The study also revealed: One hundred seventy colored veterans were studying accounting; 530; agriculture and related training courses; twenty, architecture, 144, art; six, aviation courses; fifty-nine courses in chemistry; 922 business and business administration.

More than 3,000 colored veterans were enrolled in mechanical courses, 876 in construction courses, and 523 in metalworking courses; 105, theology; more than 200, mortuary science; 445 music; fifty-two, medical courses; seventy-eight, dentistry; ninety-eight, pharmacy; thirteen, optometry, and seventy-eight, printing and publishing courses.

More than 1,000 colored veterans were in high school and six were in elementary school. Although a breakdown by race is not available, the Veterans' Administration said there are now 1,840,000 veterans studying under the GI bill, as compared with last year's 620,444.

others were Senator Glen H. Taylor, Democrat, of Idaho; former Representative Hugh Delacy of Washington, former representative Ellis E. Patterson of California, former Representative William A. Rowan of Illinois, former Representative Charles R. Savage of Washington, Democrat, and Representative Vito Marcantonio, American Labor party, of New York.

"This so-called report is non-sense as usual," the congress said in a statement issued last Sunday from its headquarters, 205 East Forty-second Street. "It is pot-pourri of hearsay, falsification of fact and hostility to the processes of democracy. This report is presumably a campaign document for Representative Rankin (John E. Rankin of Mississippi) in his announced candidacy for the seat of the late Senator Bilbo. It is not at all impossible that the democratic forces would be as successful in barring Rankin from Bilbo's seat."

THE CHARM OF YOU

by NATALES T. SCURLOCK For the NNPA News Service

Speaking of what you plan to take off to school, whether you realize it or not, the proper attitude is as important as anything else—perhaps even more so. You should like inventory of yourself as well as your wardrobe.

If you have any tendencies toward snobbishness leave them at home. The process of being taken down a buttonhole or two is not very pleasant.

If you're the timid, shy, self-conscious type, forget it right now. Just remember that everyone you will meet feels, or at one time has felt, just as uneasy as you. Become interested in others and you won't have time to think so much about yourself.

Steer close of gossips and don't become one yourself. That is the easiest way in the world to lose friends and make enemies. There is a difference between harmless chit chat and malicious gossip and anyone with half a brain can detect that difference. Repeating what you have heard is as bad as having said it yourself. And heaven sake leave your girl friends boyfriends alone or at least wait until they, of their own free will, have called it quits. These little "victories" can add up to your eventual defeat. And anyway, if he's interested he'll look you up sooner or later.

Eating Habits Earn James Title of 'The Wisest Fool'

Mary, Queen of Scots, history relates, had very indifferent eating habits which may have affected the course of history. When she bore her son, James, he was a sickly child, from the start. In fact, he was the victim of what we today call rickets. Not until he was six years old, did he learn to walk. As soon as he was weaned, his mother hired the best pastry cooks in her kingdom to prepare the sweet starchy foods she thought a future king deserved. Anything young James did not like, was not offered him again. By the time he was 14, the lad suffered from catarrh and almost all of his teeth were decayed. He soon developed rheumatism. His life became one long round of illness. His pictures testify the typical malformed facial features of an adenoidal, pinched nose, mouth breather.

Long before he reached manhood, James was feared for his nasty disposition. He became nervous and so disagreeable that his subjects lost their respect for him. One wonders whether if he'd had more sunshine, shared the fare of his peasants as a child, he might not have later earned for himself a more euphonious title than, "The wisest fool in all Christendom."

Gold From Colonies

The afflux of precious metals from the Americas had a decisive effect on European finances. From 1493 to 1544 Portugal had been able to finance the era of discoveries with the 15 million pounds of gold from Africa. In 1500 the total gold coin in Europe did not exceed 50 million pounds. Brazil sent 194 million pounds to Portugal between 1500 and 1803. While the gold production of Brazilian mines was declining, new discoveries were being made in North America, Australia, Russia and South Africa. Meanwhile, the American continent had sent 1 billion 300 million pounds worth of gold and silver to Spain and Portugal. And this represented nine-tenths of all the precious metals sent to Europe between 1493 and 1803. The total amount of gold sent from the Spanish and Portuguese colonies during that period was 300 million pounds, of which 94 per cent, or one thousand tons, had been sent from Brazil, a considerable amount for that time. Since then, other sources have been exploited, so that the gold contribution of Brazil has lessened, and now represents only about 4 per cent of world production.

Mineral Oil in Food Mineral oil, an excellent laxative, is not a deleterious or harmful substance when used in accordance with sound medical practice. When the quantity of oil entering a food in its preparation is extremely small, the Council on White Mineral Oil believes there is no objection to the use of mineral oil in food processing or preparation. Since mineral oil is not a food, the council does not favor substitution of mineral oil for edible oils in the preparation of foods where the amount of oil represents a liberal proportion of the finished product.

G. G.—Here are my troubles. I am 18 and have been going with a married man for two years. He is older than I but seems to care for me. I won't thing I love him. Now everybody in town knows about us and I am not popular any more with young boys. They only stare at me. Please tell me what I should do? Ans: Leave the married man alone—refuse to date him again. Your flirtation has caused you to lose nearly all of your friends as they refused to associate with you while you ran around with this man. They will welcome you back as one of the gang if you adhere to the code of morals becoming a girl your age.

W. M. J.—Will my husband help me to pay for this home I have started buying? Will we live happy together or live like we have for the past four years. Ans: He's bitter because his name was not put on the deed—he won't help you at all unless you favor him in this way. The indifferent attitude you and your husband are taking is a sad mistake. You won't find any peace in the home until you show more concern for each other.

M. R.—I hope things with poor me will improve soon. Will you please tell me something that will stop my old feeble daddy from gambling? Our home is full of sin. Ans: Your papa is going to do just about as he pleases and spend his change as he likes. True, he's throwing his money away gambling. Yet, there are other habits he could form that would be more objectionable to you. Set a good example in the home and try not to worry about his actions.

G. M. C.—I lived with my husband one month before he left for overseas. He has been gone a year and 2 months. Several months ago, I started going around with a married man and had control of myself until recently. Now I can't see enough of him. My husband and this man are two of my kind. Should I still go around with him or stop before it is too late? Ans: You've made a mess of things but you had better begin trying to redeem yourself—in the eyes of your friends before your husband returns. Surely, you realize that your unfaithfulness is sufficient grounds for your husband to get a divorce and cut off your income. Give up the man friend as you are headed for trouble and a big heart ache.

S. A. F.—Bridely speaking, I am doing like the bear, making tracks and not getting anywhere. I can't keep any money now and I work hard every day. Are there evil influences lurking about me or what is my trouble? Ans: You're living beyond your means. As long as this state of affairs exist, you will show no progress and will gradually slip backward. Clear management of your income is essential if you prosper. Send for Hamper Living Lesson No. 9 HOW TO GAIN AND HOLD MONEY. Price 25c. It will show you how to begin a program for getting ahead.

D. S.—I have been married 21 1/2 years. My husband is 76 and am 68. He is getting very nervous and doesn't want to pay me simply because he can't will property and can support on of new all of this before. But now he is getting tight. He doesn't like Conference Lay with someone will be in charge. What should Presiding will be? Ans: Talk Appearing in the and remain will be the Corin-change wiple's choir, St. Paul and you at. Peter's sextet of want to me Bethel sextet and anent. Youfers, the children of dent and R. Kinard of Port-live with your circumstances.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Tuberculin Tests for School Children

Thousands of children are trooping off to school this week, many of them exposed for the first time to organized learning and to the mental and emotional strains this process involves.

Young children do not get TB as often as adolescents and grown persons, yet the disease kills more than 1,500 children under 15 years of age in the United States annually.

This simple test is not a protection against TB, but it does tell whether the germs have entered the body. A small amount of tuberculin is injected into the skin through a tiny needle.

If the tuberculin test is positive, the doctor will immediately follow up with a chest X-ray and other tests to determine whether the germs have taken hold.

Would You Spend $18.50 TO PROTECT $10,000? This inexpensive Alarm System Gives Immediate Warning... A warning that could result in a savings of many thousands of dollars for you. With the first sign of fire an alarm is sounded, enabling you to reach the scene of the fire before serious damage has resulted. HOW IT WORKS YOU ARE VERY WISE to be well covered by insurance. But insurance alone is not protection—until it can do a replacement of the cash value of the fire loss. Your only real protection against the damage of fire is to get there in those first few minutes—in time to put that fire out. The New Andy alarm has been thoroughly tested, built on sound electrical principles and is now on guard over lives and property in many localities. The alarm box is placed in some location that is always occupied. Ordinary wires run to the danger area where a sensitized wire takes over, enclosing the property to be guarded. This wire disconnects when a flame as small as a match flare strikes it, tripping the alarm. New Andy Fire & Burglar Alarm Co. 220 EAST FIFTH STREET TELEPHONE 2-2728 Patronize Our Advertisers

Negroes have chafed under this unfair treatment for a long time, feeling that the secretary of labor, as one of the friends of labor officials connected with the federal government would rectify this injustice but to no avail. Thus it became necessary that week for one or two Negroes for themselves and thousands of others similarly situated to bring suit in the United States District Court in the Eastern Missouri District for four million dollars Thursday.

Under the Fulbright Act you can go to school in a foreign country and have that country pay for your transportation there, your tuition and maintenance and any other expenses incident to your scholastic activity.

These are a few hitches, of course. Aren't there always? One of them concerns transportation to the country where you wish to study.

In order to go there free you must sail to that country on one of its ships. This means, of course, that you must get on the ship and get a line on when and where that nation's ships hit the United States. But after finding women in the jungles of New Guinea (how about that you Red Cross workers?) You shouldn't have any trouble with a ship schedule.

So to briefly sum up the Fulbright Act: It's tailor made to permit you to study abroad. It is constructed to permit you to travel to the school free. While in school you will receive your tuition, maintenance and other expense from the foreign government.

And last but not least, it is handled not by the VA, but by the State Department and all your questions should be addressed to the Division of International Exchange of Persons, Department of State, Washington, 25, D. C.

MRS. BETHUNE URGES COUNCIL MEMBERS TO ATTEND TRIENNIAL Washington—Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune has issued a call from the headquarters of the National Council of Negro Women, 1218 Vermont Avenue, Northwest, to all Council members scattered throughout the United States, urging them to attend the Triennial International Council of Women in their first post-war conference to be held at the University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania from September 5 through 12.

Some of you are writing to the Veterans Administration asking for information on how to study abroad under the Fulbright Act and some of you are writing to the State Department asking how to get in a foreign school under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act. (And a lot of you are writing to us asking about both of them!)

Let's get 'em straight.

THE FULBRIGHT ACT Remember all those trucks and weapons-carriers and supplies which you left in foreign countries overseas?

Well, the United States has not forgotten them either but after considering how much dough it would take to bring all that stuff home (and how badly those people over there needed it), Uncle Sam decided he would work a deal with those countries by letting them keep the supplies if they would pay for it by allowing you to attend school in some of their better universities.

This is known as the Fulbright Act. It is handled by the State Department and is one of the best ways in which you can acquire an education in a foreign school at the expense of the government.
