Colored Voters Triple Number in South

Georgia Leads with Jump From 20,000 to 125,000 Since 1940, Study Shows

Atlanta, (NNPA)—The number of qualified colored voters in the South has tripled since 1940, according to a report prepared by Luther P. Jackson, professor of history at Virginia State College, for the Southern Regional Council.

"Regardless of reaction and demagoguery," Dr. Jackson declares, "it seems highly improbable that the progress made by the Negroes as voters during the 1940 decade will wane."

For the South as a whole, the report shows, the number of qualified colored voters increased from 211,000 in 1940 to 645,000 in 1947, the latter figure representing 12 per cent of the colored population of the South.

Leading the Southern States in this increase is Georgia where the enrollment is estimated to have jumped from 20,000 to 125,000 between 1940 and 1947.

The latter figure represents 18.8 per cent of the estimated 663,716 colored persons of voting age in the State.

The study, shows that the border state of Oklahoma has the highest percentage of its eligible population qualified as voters. The estimated number of colored persons of voting age in Oklahoma is 168,849. Of that number an estimated 50,000 or 29.6 per cent, are qualified to vote.

Tennessee ranks next highest in percentage. The State has an estimated 309,456 colored persons of voting age, of whom an estimated 80,000, or 25.8 per cent, are qualified to vote.

Over One Per Cent Vote

The estimated number of colored persons of voting age in Alabama is 521,000, of whom an estimated 6,000 or 1.2 per cent, are qualified to vote. Reasons given for this low percentage of estimated colored voters in Alabama are "heavy poll tax, severe restrictions in registration, inadequate statewide Negro leadership, and general apathy."

The estimated number of qualified colored voters in Arkansas is 47,000 out of an estimated 270,995 of voting age, representing 17.3 per cent.

Florida has an estimated 316,640 colored persons of voting age, of whom an estimated 49,000, or 15.4 per cent, are qualified voters.

In Louisiana

Louisiana has an estimated 563,754 colored persons of voting age, of whom an estimated 10,000, or 2.6 per cent, are qualified voters. The report discloses that slightly more than one-half of the qualified colored voters in Louisiana are in New Orleans. In a majority of the sixty-four parishes in Louisiana, the report asserts, there are no qualified colored voters because registration in rural Louisiana is very difficult and the illiteracy rate is very high.

Mississippi has an estimated 563,754 colored persons of voting age, of whom an estimated 5,000, or 0.9 per cent, are qualified voters.

CAUSES UPROAR

Philadelphia—George L. Vaughn of St. Louis who created a near sensation at the Democratic National Convention in Philadelphia, when he presented a minority report recommending that the Mississippi delegation not be seated because of a resolution adopted at the Mississippi State convention. The resolution instructed delegates to walk out of the convention unless a strong states' plank was written into the platform and repudiated President Truman's civil rights program. The minority report was rejected because of an agreement not to ask for a roll-call vote.

'People's Convention' to Begin Three Day Meeting In Philadelphia Friday

New York.—A streamlined "people's convention" of more than 2500 delegates will be called to order in Philadelphia's Convention Hall Friday night, July 23, to organize the nation's third political party and nominate Henry Wallace for president and Senator Glen H. Taylor for vice-president.

When the convention closes Sunday afternoon after some 20 hours of brisk sessions, it will have created the national organization binding together Wallace parties and committees now existing in most of the 48 states.

C. B. Baldwin, Wallace campaign manager, said the convention would be "a working convention that will dispense with the hokey, pompous, the insincerity, mock heroes and self-glorification of the Democrats and Republicans."

20-Minute Speeches

Most of the usual convention speeches will be eliminated and all will be limited to 20 minutes. All sessions will open with mass choir singing.

Open platform hearings will be held July 21 and July 22 at Convention Hall by a 53-member platform committee headed by Rexford G. Tutwell, former Undersecretary of Agriculture and former governor of Puerto Rico.

Platform committee members include Frederick L. Schuman, historian and Williams College faculty

SEEKS DIVORCE

The Rev. Henry Simmons, pastor of Mount Zion Baptist church in Cedar Rapids, July 14, asked a Polk district court divorce from his wife, Helen, "for belittling my work as a minister."

The Rev. Mr. Simmons said his permanent residence is in Des Moines. The couple married in 1926.

The Rev. Mr. Simmons further charged his wife with "constant nagging," and said she had accused him of "unduly intimate relations" with members of his congregation, a Negro organization.

The result of this treatment, the petition stated, has been to reduce him to a "constant state of humiliation and despair."

Dixiecrats Most Likely to Carry South Carolina and Mississippi in November

Birmingham, Ala., (NNPA)—Dixiecrats, who on Saturday nominated Governor J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina for President and Governor Fielding Wright of Mississippi for Vice-President on a white supremacy platform, appear unlikely to carry more than two states in the November election.

Did Not Appear

The states which they are most likely to carry are two of the most backward in the Union—South Carolina and Mississippi—where racial intolerance, suppression, lynching and Jim Crowism are still indulged in.

Governor Ben Lapey of Arkansas, one of the organizers of the revolt against President Truman because of his civil rights program, did not put in an appearance at the Municipal Auditorium where the so-called states' rights convention was held, but issued a statement warning the South against "hasty action" and urged concentration of opposition on the civil rights program.

Boss Ed Crump of Memphis, and Senator Harry F. Byrd, head of the "Byrd machine" in Virginia, declined to have anything to do with the splinter party.

Three Civil Rights Bills Ready for Floor Action in Truman's Session on Monday

Washington, D. C. (NNPA)—The Special session of Congress, called by President Truman for July 26, could set a bitter and prolonged fight-over civil rights.

Three civil rights bills, which Southerners contend infringe upon states' rights, are ready for floor action.

The anti-poll tax bill passed the House a year ago. It had been approved by the Senate Rules and Administration Committee, and a motion for Senate consideration is in order.

Both the Ives bill against discrimination in employment and an anti-lynching bill also are on the Senate calendar and may be called up.

Anti-Poll Tax

Senate Republican Policy Committee had planned to bring up the anti-poll tax bill after passage of the draft law, but the Senate ran behind schedule and it was considered useless to bring up the measure in the closing days of Congress.

If the anti-poll tax, the anti-discrimination in employment, or the anti-lynching bill is called up for Senate consideration, a filibuster is bound to ensue. Senator Allen J. Ellender, Democrat, of Louisiana, already has announced that he himself will filibuster against any civil rights bill for at least fifty days.

Other Southern Senators, embittered by adoption of a strong civil rights plank by the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia last week, are ready to filibuster.

The House Education and Labor Committee, however, has not yet any of these bills.

Anti-Lynching

On the House side, the Case anti-lynching bill has been approved by the Judiciary Committee, but the Rules Committee has not yet given it a rule which would facilitate its consideration on the House floor. A special rule, however, can be easily reported, making anti-lynching an order of business and assuring its quick passage.

The House Education and Labor Committee, however, has not yet any of these bills.

Famed Exhibition Shooter Bettered Score of Oakley

Annie Oakley, legendary sharpshooter, had an equal! The world-famous marksmanship of the woman whose steady trigger finger shot her to international renown was equalled by the late Elizabeth (Plinky) Toepferwein, outstanding exhibition shooter, according to E. B. Mann, in an article in The American Rifleman.

So thorough was the build-up given Annie that her reputation almost eclipsed all other women shooters. Plinky, with her famous marksmanship, Ad, held American audiences spellbound by feats of shotgun, rifle and revolver prowess in 40 years of barnstorming.

She was regarded as the greatest trapshooter of her time. On November 11, 1916, she established the still unchallenged woman's record in this field by smashing 1,952 of 2,000 16-yard clay targets in three hours, 15 minutes actual shooting time.

It was Ad Toepferwein, held by many experts to be the best marksman America has ever produced, who taught his wife to shoot. The day Plinky first saw him he was a quiet Texan visiting the Winchester Repeating Arms company in New Haven, Conn., where she was an ammunition maker.

Korea's Isle of Amazons Lives on Ocean Harvest

As shallow-sea divers for pearls, shellfish, edible seaweed, and various items of commerce, women of Oriental coasts for centuries have outdone the men.

Those of Cheju, 50 miles off Korea's southern tip, have been notably adept. An estimated 10,000 today live by harvesting ocean acres, while their men in some cases tend the children and prepare the meals, notes the National Geographic society.

From this feminine monopoly has grown the tradition of Cheju as an Amazon isle. It took positive form in the West about 1900 when a traveler brought back the tale that the island until 1850 had been populated solely by women and young children in storied Amazon style.

In the 1946 census, Cheju counted 276,148 inhabitants, virtually all on the coasts of the 45-by-20-mile oval of land. There were 113 women to each 100 men on Cheju in 1946, whereas on the Korean mainland men outnumbered women.

Cheju port on the north coast is the island's capital and chief center, counting 30,000 inhabitants. They live largely in crude, thatched-roof huts of mud and stone. Ancient walls to defend against pirate attack still stand along the shore.

 JESSIE JOHNSON, Defendant
 TO: JESSIE JOHNSON, Defendant.
 You are hereby notified that a petition of the above named plaintiff is now on file in the Office of the Clerk of the above named Court, which petition asks for an absolute divorce from you on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment to such an extent as to impair the health of the plaintiff and endanger his life.  For further particulars see petition now on file.

Rations for Brood Sow
 Good care and management of the brood sow and her litter may mean the difference between a small check or a large one at market time. One of the important factors is proper feeding, including access to good pasture. A good practice is to give the sow little or no practice in the pen. Provide fresh drinking water; and her first feed should be a cooling feed such as ground oats or bran. The Louisiana State university agricultural extension division. A good ration for brood sows consists of two-thirds corn and one-third ground oats by weight. To this should be added one-third pound of tankage or a half gallon to three quarts of skim milk per day.

More Cows Needed for Population
 In 1870 there was an average of four persons per cow in the United States. In 1900, four and one-half persons were served by each cow. In 1920, each cow served five persons, and by 1940, 5.3 persons per cow. The amazing thing is that in spite of the increased number of persons being served by each cow, the supply of milk products per capita has remained fairly stable. Production of milk per capita in 1947 was greater than the average for either the 1935-39 or 1925-29 periods.

Leaves YWCA Here

MISS CATHERINE LUCCHINI
 After spending three years in Des Moines as executive secretary of the Des Moines Young Women's Christian Association, Miss Catherine Lucchini left the city for home in Meriden, Conn., where she will spend a vacation on a farm with her father. Her resignation became effective on June 30.

During Miss Lucchini's administration, the Blue Triangle Branch YWCA which for years had carried on separately, YWCA activities for Negro women and girls in Des Moines, was closed at 1407 Center, and a program of integration launched.

"I think Des Moines is a swell place in which to work," Miss Lucchini commented as she talked of some of her YWCA experiences here in an effort "to make the community a better place in which to live."

More Labor on Less Wood As N. W. Forests Thin Out

Forests of the Northwest are thinning out, and the big lumber centers are "under the necessity of putting more labor into less wood to maintain their industrial communities," says J. A. Hall, director of the Pacific Northwest forest and range experiment station.

The Grays Harbor area in Washington, says Hall, shows how a cut-and-get-out sawmill center can stay in business and remain home for the Doaks family. In its heyday, there were 20 or more sawmills in the area, employing 9,000 men and producing more than a billion and a half feet of crude lumber a year.

Exhaustion of the easily accessible fir followed. Only a few of the old mills remain, but "they are doing a much closer job of manufacture." And new industries have come in. About 8,500 men are employed, almost as many as in the palmy days—but only one-third work in sawmills. Probably less than a third of the volume of wood passes through Grays Harbor than passed through 20 years ago.

Today there is much closer utilization of the forest, not only of the remaining fir, but of hemlock and spruce. Good use is being made of material which formerly went to the trash burner or the hog for fuel.

Hay Handling Discussed By Agricultural Group

Farmers who use their conventional hay handling systems, grapple and track, with a loose tine carrier fork, are able to unload and mow away more tons of hay per hour per man than by other methods of getting hay into the mow, studies recently conducted by the bureau of agriculture economics, University of Connecticut, indicate.

"More tons were harvested per hour, on both an outfit and a man basis, when unloading was done with a hay fork than with the chopper and blower," the report states. "The loose tine grapple fork is superior to others under a variety of conditions. Use of a hay hoist adds measurably to efficiency in unloading when a fork is used."

In the study, it is reported that 3.6 tons per man hour was unloaded with the grapple fork; 2.3 tons when stationary chopper and blower was used; 2.6 tons when field chopper and stationary blower were used; and 3.5 tons with a bale elevator.

Since most barns are already equipped with conventional hay unloading systems, it is practical to add the fork and hoist to increase the efficiency of the operation.

Habits of Lightning

It isn't true that lightning never strikes in the same place twice. It can and does, because certain places and things attract lightning. Lightning is chiefly a rural hazard, where nine out of 10 deaths occur, and only occasionally strike areas with many buildings. Here are some thunderstorm tips: Get inside a house. Avoid isolated outbuildings and single trees, especially on high ground. If you must stay out, seek a grove of trees or a gully. Stay away from utility poles, downspouts, wire clotheslines and metal fences. In the house, close windows and doors, stay away from stoves, fireplaces, radiators, telephones and radios.

Flooded Wells Are Unsafe

Wells that become flooded by melted snow or heavy rains are unsafe sources of drinking water. Flooding is likely to carry into the water supply impurities that have been collecting for a long time. If a well that has been flooded must be put back into operation, it should be thoroughly disinfected first. Disinfection can be carried out easily and inexpensively by pouring a half-pound of chlorinated lime into the well, states the Minnesota department of health. The chemical should be scattered over the surface of the water so that it will sink to the bottom and purify the whole supply.

U. S. Flag Merchant Fleet

U. S. flag merchant fleet as of May 1, 1948, totaled 3,542 vessels of 1,600 gross tons and over, as against 3,577 vessels in the same category on April 1, 1948. Of the total fleet, 1,948 vessels were in active service; 1,084 privately owned, 833 government owned vessels under bareboat charter, 29 government-owned vessels under G.A.A., including nine C-4 "austerity" vessels temporarily in passenger service, and two Panama railroad vessels. Inactive vessels totaled 1,594 including 48 privately owned, temporary, inactive; 138 vessels inactive under G.A.A., 1,407 vessels in the reserve fleet and one Panama railroad vessel under repair.

BUT WHO CARES?

DID it ever occur to you to rate a great performer by his race, creed, or where his parents came from?

Of course not. You don't care. You judge him on his performance, on his merits. You think of him as an individual—not as a member of some particular group.

Why judge your neighbor or fellow worker any differently? Yet—think a minute—how often do you pin a group label on someone before he has a chance to prove his own personal qualities?

All that any member of any racial or religious group in America asks is the right to be considered on his individual merits. Like him or dislike him as you choose—but do it because he's the kind of a person he is—not because of his race or religion.

There are people in this country who would have us do otherwise—who would breed disunity and trouble by damning whole groups just because they are of a different creed, color, or national origin.

Don't play their game! It's dangerous.

For our own sake—for America's sake, we can all do these three things to help the cause of unity.

- 1. Accept—or reject—people on their individual worth.
2. Don't listen to, or spread, rumors against a race, or a religion.
3. Speak up, wherever we are, at home, in business, in our school, labor, church, or social groups, against prejudice, for understanding.

Remember—that's being an American.

MRS. HERMAN GOULD MERRIWEATHER

Los Angeles, Calif.—In one of the most elaborate weddings in Los Angeles, Miss Esther Lois Griffith, former resident of Des Moines, and the Rev. Herman Gould Merrivewather, Jr., spoke their nuptial vows, at the Second Baptist church, with the Rev. J. Raymond Henderson officiating. Hundreds of friends witnessed the ceremony.

As the guests gathered for the wedding, the strains of a beautiful prelude were played by Hazel Henry, at the organ; and John Perry, on the violin. Two little girls, Greta Louise Griffith, niece of the bride, and Winifred Chester marched up the aisle to open the gates of a chancel, embellished with white delphiniums and gladiolus, to admit the hundred-voice choir, of which the bride is a member. Under the direction of Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow, the bride's sister, the choir sang "The Bridal Chorus" from "The Rose Maiden Opera. An out-of-town friend, the well known San Bernardino concert singer, Mrs. Rowena Muckleroy Savage, then rendered a vocal solo, "O Promise Me," followed by the birdlike whistling of "Because" by Benzell Graham.

The family took their places. It included Mr. and Mrs. H. Gould Merrivewather Sr., father and mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. William Walker, niece of the bride, Mrs. Anna Griffith (Mrs. Virgil) Morrow, sister, Dion and Virgil Morrow, nephews of the bride, Mrs. Jaime Williams and Mrs. Clara Jackson, lifelong acquaintances, and Mrs. Nell Haas, principal of 28th Street School, where the bride teaches.

Chosen by the bride as her maid of honor was Miss Millicent Bouey and as matron of honor, Mrs. Warner Wright. The bridegroom selected the Rev. Garford W. Hubert as his best man. Carrying out the all-white color scheme of the wedding, bridesmaids wore white taffeta dresses, white lace gloves, and white horsehair halos. The pearl and rhinestone earrings and five-strand pearl necklaces which gave the finishing touch to their beautiful attire were gifts from the bridegroom. Each bridesmaid carried a bouquet of talisman rosebuds.

Next were the flower girl, Joah Wright; candlebearer, Brenda Wright; and ringbearer, Charles Davis. As the organ pealed out "Here Comes the Bride," in came Esther on the arm of her brother, Thomas Griffith, prominent attorney and president of the NAACP. She was most exquisitely arrayed in gleaming white satin, adorned with seed-of-pearl beads and rhinestones. Her veil of illusion lace, handmade by the late Mrs. Clara C. Hulbert and worn by the bride's sister 19 years

The organ changed to the wedding march and down the two central diagonal aisles of the auditorium marched the ushers: Virgil Morrow, Discouraged—I married about 3 months ago and I love my husband and he says he loves me. But at times, he will not hardly give me a good word. Another guy has been seeing me and says he loves me. Shall I quit my husband? I want to make a success of my marriage.

Ans: Quit the other man. It is he that is making your life unhappy. Your husband has reason to swell up and pout—the thing that surprises me is that he tolerates your conduct. He feels in his heart that you are double crossing him with another man and he's worried about it. No marriage can be a success for long with one partner. If he is cheating as you are doing.
L. C. B.—I own my own farm. I have a tractor, truck, a nice car and all other necessary equipment to do well here on my place. Recently, I have been urged by a couple, was the gift of the deacons and the trustees of the church. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds. While the couple stood before the altar, just preceding the marriage service, a tenor solo, "I Love Thee," was sung by William Starks.

Reception

After the wedding, the guests repaired to the home of the bride for a delightful reception on the lawn, at which time they were permitted to view the lovely gifts. The bridal party was taken to and from the church in a fleet of 1949 packards lent by the Conner-Johnson Company. Mrs. Mozelle TeOutley directed the wedding.

Mrs. Merrivewather is a graduate of UCLA, a member of Delta Sigma Theta sorority and a member of the Hundred-Voice Choir of Second Baptist church which her father, the late Rev. Thomas L. Griffith, pastored.

The bridegroom is a student at Virginia Union University which was the alma mater of the bride's father. He is a member of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity and has been called to a pastorate in Virginia which he will fill concurrently with the completion of his training. sin to sell out and go to California. I hesitate to do so. Tell me what is best?

Ans: For years you worked and dreamed of the farm you wanted to own—now that you have it, stay on there and give it a fair trial. True, your cousin is doing fine in California but he doesn't have what you have—neither is he holding on to his money. Stay right where you are.

M. L.—I have a boy friend and he goes out and drinks with other women and takes them to the show and other places. He gives me money to go and enjoy myself but when I talk to boys of men, he jumps me about them and says he doesn't give his money to me for nothing. I want to know what to do?

Ans: Get a job and become independent. Accepting money from this man places you in an awkward position and it puts you under obligation to him. He feels that he has a right to expect and demand that you cater to his wishes even though he does as he pleases. If you want to retain your independence and freedom—do not accept money from your boy friends.

A VIEW OF THE POLITICAL SITUATION

Both major parties have selected their candidates for president. It is obvious that Henry Wallace will head the Third Party ticket, so we are off to an unusual campaign-until election day.

With the platforms of all three parties adopted and the candidates named, those people who head and run the campaigns, who persuade others to support their side or taking positions with the hope of getting others to follow.

The Dixiecrats, representing the solid south, have named their candidates. Outside of the south, the size of their vote will be negligible, but enough to help tighten the grip of the Republican party on the election. They will get no support from the Negro voters.

The Third Party movement has an appeal to the masses which would go a long way if the average voter thought it had a substantial chance of winning. It does not. The tag of Communism has been tacked on to them, and it is a difficult job to shake it off.

So far, few Negroes with influence are joining the Third Party movement. Thus, there is a dearth of material. And while the liberal attitude taken on the question of civil rights by Mr. Wallace and his organization, like the Communist, who have offered everything to the Negro, they have seen fit to come over in exceedingly small groups.

President Truman is entitled to a lot of credit for the forthright stand he has taken on the matter of civil rights. He took a chance on splitting his party; he succeeded. A majority of the delegates stuck with his position. It remains to be seen if he gained enough strength to offset what was lost when the Dixiecrats bolted.

Of course, civil rights do not constitute the whole issue in the campaign, but that question will play a great part in determining how the Negro casts his votes. It is obvious that Mr. Truman will get a substantial vote, and will have the support of a large group of intelligent Negroes. They no longer fear that the Democratic party is an enemy of the Negro.

The Republicans put their best foot forward by nominating Dewey and Warren. They adopted a good program on civil rights—not as specific as the Democratic plank, but broad enough to cover any program they wish to pursue.

The important issue in this campaign is not what each party promises, but the probabilities of having enough help to carry through and the past performances of those who, if elected, will be called upon to make their promises good.

Looking at the whole picture, the Bystander has not changed its position with respect to the Republican party. In fact, the head of the ticket adds strength to that position. And as a staunch believer in party organization and party responsibility, the editorial columns of this paper will support the Republican ticket this fall.

RUSSIA'S FAILURE TO COOPERATE SERIOUS

Judging from the news the average citizen gathers, this country and Russia are pretty close to a shooting war. It seems preposterous that two countries which fought a common enemy four years ago, find themselves at each others necks today. Of course, that cooperation existed because each needed the other help to survive; and not that the ideologies of the two countries were anything like each other.

The Bystander admired the great strides Russia made after world war I. It had hoped that country would become a real partner of the U.N. and a collaborator with other nations in making for a world peace. Instead, Russia has taken the position of an obstructionist, and as a bully, courting war and disaster. This position, of course, is unfortunate. It has brought America and the great western powers face to face with an open break which points up another war.

The Bystander hopes such a disaster can be averted, for another war would see untold destruction.

NEGRO VOTERS

See FRONT Page. per cent. are qualified voters. The report states that because of fear of intimidation and violence, there are no colored persons registered whatever in fully half of the ninety-two counties in Mississippi. The cellar championship of this State, the report adds, "is due also to the fact that no organized effort was made to qualify Negroes to vote until about 1945."

North Carolina has an estimated 493,175 colored persons of voting age, of whom an estimated 75,000, or 15.2 per cent, are qualified as voters.

South Carolina has an estimated 383,000 colored persons of voting age, of whom 50,000, or 3 per cent, are qualified voters.

Texas has an estimated 540,778 colored persons of voting age, of whom an estimated 100,000, or 18.5 per cent, are qualified voters.

Virginia has an estimated 364,114 colored persons of voting age, of whom an estimated 48,000 or 13.2 per cent, are qualified voters.

The South as a whole has an estimated 5,069,805 colored persons of voting age, of whom the estimated 610,000 qualified voters make 12 per cent.

Although seven Southern States retain the poll tax, the report declares, only in Mississippi, Virginia, and Alabama does it "constitute a significant barrier: either by the amount of money to be paid, by the time and method of payment, or by its cumulative features."

On the basis of a state-by-state inquiry into voting practices, Dr. Jackson concludes that it is registration, which is most commonly used as a means of discrimination against potential colored voters. This is accomplished, he states, by registrars who make severe application of qualification requirements against colored persons only, by policies of evasion, and by deliberate insults or threats at registration places.

It was found, however, that there is relatively little opposition to colored persons becoming registered voters in Southern cities of a population of 25,000 or more. "In Memphis, Atlanta, Jacksonville, or New Orleans," says the report "that may qualify with as much ease as they may in any Northern city."

The study points out that "it is not always the barriers to voting which disqualify the colored people; but sometimes the absence of a voting consciousness among them." The reason for this lack of interest is attributed in part to the fact that many colored churches and schools have not taken an active part in educating colored citizens in civic responsibility.

Practical benefits that have come to colored people as a result of their voting include the construction of additional colored parks, playgrounds, schools, and other public facilities and services, and the employment of colored policemen.

Dr. Jackson points to the colored vote as a healthy influence on Southern politics in general. "Holding the balance of power in many instances," he writes, "their vote has been a factor in driving out of office city machines of long duration, in favor of more liberal office-holders."

Dixiecrats

(See FRONT Page) The New Deal of the late President Roosevelt, the splinter party also includes in its ranks such defeated office holders as Alfalfa Bill Murray, former Governor of Oklahoma, and Sam Houston Jones, defeated in the recent Louisiana gubernatorial race by Governor Earl Long.

Pledged Not to Vote

Presidential electors nominated by Democrats in both Alabama and Mississippi are pledged to vote against Mr. Truman; but party regularity, the independent white vote and the increased number of colored voters are expected to be sufficiently potent to give Mr. Truman the electoral vote of other southern states, despite the Thurmond-Wright ticket.

Another factor is Gerald L. K. Smith, national director of the Christian National Crusade, who has announced his intentions to make common cause with the states' rights. The better element in the South may elect to support President Truman rather than be identified with Smith.

Both factions of the Democratic party, headed by Governor Melvin E. Thompson and Herman Talmadge, opposed a riot. Senator Tom Connally and Representative Sam Rayburn, the minority leader, are holding Texas in line for Truman.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Infantile Paralysis

A mother's worries about her child getting sick are confined to no particular season. For instance, once winter is over and there is less chance of such things as colds and influenza, there are possibilities of diseases that seem to come with warmer weather. One of her greatest "vacation-time" fears is poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis.

"Polio" strikes most frequently during the summer months, usually reaching its peak in late summer or early fall. The disease is caused by a virus so small that it cannot be seen under the ordinary microscope. It attacks nerve cells that control the muscles, most commonly the muscles of the arms and legs. These muscles may become weakened and, in the more serious cases, complete paralysis of the limb may result.

Most people think polio always brings permanent crippling, but this is not necessarily the case. More than half of those who get the disease never suffer weakened muscles or paralysis and, among those whose muscles are paralyzed, more than half recover without serious crippling.

Despite its popular name, "infantile" paralysis, the disease strikes people of all ages, although most cases reported are in children. We still know very little about preventing polio, but if the disease is occurring in your community there are some precautions that will help lessen the chances of contracting it. Fatigue makes people more susceptible to the paralyzed form of polio, so avoid exercising too hard or getting overtired. Sudden chill weakens a person's resistance to the disease, and we take chances when we stay too long in cold water or plunge into icy water after being in the hot sun. Swimming in dirty or polluted water, or allowing children to wade in it, is also dangerous.

During a polio outbreak, keep children out of crowds, away from polio patients and from all other sick children, no matter how slight their illnesses might seem, since symptoms in an unparalyzed case or early symptoms in a paralyzed case may merely be considered a "cold" or "flu." Doctors advise postponing

Mr. Ashby is a Burlington boy who after being in service, went to Michigan to work, marry, and make his home. Mrs. Arthur Martin and Mrs. Ed Williams observed birthdays on July 4. Mrs. Lulu Brown is reported quite ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams had Mr. L. A. Hill of Chicago as house guests for the recent holidays. Mrs. Emma Henderson of Oskaloosa was house guest of Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Beverly during the holidays. Do you think the draft will take effect on me? Will the time I spent in the Army get me deferred?" That's a good question, Mr. Brown. Unfortunately at the present hour there is no answer to it. By the time you read this you may have the answer, but right now the answer is tied up in the mind of a gentleman at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, in Washington, who answers to the name of President Harry S. Truman.

Here's the deal, Mr. Brown. When Congress drew up the new draft law they had the interest of the country at heart but they couldn't forget that they were politicians and that this is a year in which you will vote for President (they're gonna let you folks down there vote this year, you know.) So Congress tied a little politics on the tail end of the new draft law. Instead of deciding themselves whether or not you could be deferred from the draft on the basis of your former service or your marriage, the boys in Congress said "Let's let the President decide that." You've got to hand it to them, Mr. Brown—it was a smart political if you're happily married, have a good job, and want to stay at home, you are going to be hopping mad if you have to drop everything and go to the Crocker YMCA, not later than July 30.

back into the service. You might say so mad that you will decide to vote against the man who forces you to go back. So you'll go out and vote against the President for sending you back.

There's nothing wrong with that, Mr. Brown. It's just plain politics—a great American game.

The question was taken up with the Army's Department of Public Relations here in New York. I gave Captain John A. Santoro your case with all details.

He admitted that there is no answer to your question at the present time. The law requires all men between the ages of 18 and 26 to register. That would seem to get you, inasmuch as you are 21.

On the other hand, you have almost two years' service to your credit and the law exempts all persons who served honorably for 90 days between September 16, 1940, and June 24, 1948. That would seem to let you get by.

But the law also requires that a dropped a fine last week that she was "here attending the Fairbault Summer school of Christian Education. It is lovely here. Only the Negroes, Mrs. Wreath Maxwell of Minneapolis and myself. The conference was well attended."

The Northwest contestant was third place. Mrs. Morris said she was "here attending the Fairbault Summer school of Christian Education. It is lovely here. Only the Negroes, Mrs. Wreath Maxwell of Minneapolis and myself. The conference was well attended."

least 90 days of service must have been put in between Pearl Harbor and V-J day. You did not do that. It looks like that puts you in the draft again.

You're married. That puts the whole thing in the lap of Mr. Truman as far as you're concerned.

According to Captain Santoro the Army is waiting every day for Mr. Truman to say whether all married men will be exempt from the draft. If he hands down that kind of ruling, you won't have to worry about even registering. If he qualifies it so as to include some married men and exempt others, you may have to fall back on your other qualifications, to escape the draft.

What will Mr. Truman do with you young married men? Your guess is just as ours, Mr. Brown, but you may rest assured that he will do something soon because Selective Service can't get this draft to rolling until he acts.

We still know very little about preventing polio, but if the disease is occurring in your community, there are some precautions that will help lessen the chances of contracting it. Fatigue makes people more susceptible to the paralyzed form of polio, so avoid exercising too hard or getting overtired. Sudden chill weakens a person's resistance to the disease, and we take chances when we stay too long in cold water or plunge into icy water after being in the hot sun. Swimming in dirty or polluted water, or allowing children to wade in it, is also dangerous.

During a polio outbreak, keep children out of crowds, away from pool patients and from all other sick children, no matter how slight their illnesses might seem, since symptoms in an unparalyzed case or early symptoms in a paralyzed case may merely be considered a "cold" or "flu." Doctors advise postponing birth recently at Mercy hospital. Word has been received here of the birth of twins, a boy and a girl, to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ashby of Michigan. Mr. Ashby is a Burlington boy who after being in service, went to Michigan to work, marry, and make his home. Mrs. Arthur Martin and Mrs. Ed Williams observed birthdays on July 4.

Mrs. Lulu Brown is reported quite ill at her home. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams had Mr. L. A. Hill of Chicago as house guests for the recent holidays. Mrs. Emma Henderson of Oskaloosa was house guest of Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Beverly during the holidays.

Quarterly meeting was observed Sunday at St. John AME church. Mr. Cecil E. Rideout won first prize in a musical contest given by his teacher, Miss McAdams. The prize is a trip to Chicago.

CROCKER YMCA

The Crocker YMCA is sponsoring a softball league in two divisions which will include boys 16 through 19 and 15 years and under. The league has already started with four teams in each division. Other teams are invited to join the league. Any team desiring to enter may send its name and the name of the players to the Crocker YMCA, not later than July 30.

VETERANS WHIRL

By JAMES L. HICKS Charles Morris Brown, 493 Johnson Street, Atlanta, Georgia, has read the Veterans Whirl of July 2 on the new draft law and has written the column as follows:

"I am 21 years old, married, joined the army June 20, 1945, and was discharged February 27, 1947. Do you think the draft will take effect on me? Will the times I spent in the Army get me deferred?"

That's a good question, Mr. Brown. Unfortunately, at the present hour there is no answer to it. By the time you read this you

ESTES INJURED

No one was more sorry than we were to hear of Johnny Estes' unfortunate injury at the park last week. There hasn't been a game invented that is as rough as that combination of horseplay and baseball that the boys sometimes play. Estes' injury was, from what we could gather, one of those things that no one could really help. We sincerely hope he comes out of it all right.

BASEBALL

Boy Campanella, the new catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is hitting hard and hitting when hits mean runs. Jackie Robinson has finally hit his stride—and maybe the Dodgers will go.

Satchel Paige has proved that whatever his age is, he is still in tough company. He has turned in three good relief jobs for Cleveland.

BURLINGTON, IOWA

By MRS. ED WILLIAMS Burlington, Ia.—Word was received last week of the death of Rev. Harry Heywood of Chicago, Ill., who was some years ago pastor of St. John AME church here. He and wife had many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Newman are the proud parents of a daughter

Roberta L. Maupin Writes Of Successful YWCA Venture in Region

Atty. S. Joe Brown received a "hello and hope you are well" card from Roberta L. Maupin, YWCA regional worker, who since June has been taking care of the work in the YWCA central region office in Chicago.

Just completed executing a successful conference for Business and Professional Young Women in five states of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin at Forest Beach camp, New Buffalo, Mich. Had 190 young women present. First time a Negro has been executive of an interracial YWCA conference of this size. Only 35 Negroes present. Most successful venture.

Miss Maupin, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Maupin of 1209 E. 16th street, is expected home in August.

Sincere Appreciation From Olympian Club

Expression of thanks and sincere appreciation for the services rendered in connection with the A. A. U. sanctioned swimming and diving meet held July 11 at Good Park pool, came this week from the Olympian Athletic club. "The event was a huge success and we are looking forward to making it an annual affair," wrote Frank Robinson.

may have the answer, but right now the answer is tied up in the mind of a gentleman at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, in Washington, who answers to the name of President Harry S. Truman.

Here's the deal, Mr. Brown. When Congress drew up the new draft law—they had the interest of the country at heart but they couldn't forget that they were politicians and that this is a year in which you will vote for President (they're gonna let you folks down there vote this year, you know.)

So Congress tied a little politics on the tail end of the new draft law. Instead of deciding themselves whether or not you could be deferred from the draft on the basis of your former service or your marriage, the boys in Congress said "Let's let the President decide that."

You've got to hand it to them, Mr. Brown—it was a smart political if you're happily married, have a good job, and want to stay at home, you are going to be hopping mad if you have to drop everything and go back into the service. You might get so mad that you will decide to vote against the man who forces you to go back. So you'll go out and vote against the President for sending you back.

There's nothing wrong with that Mr. Brown. It's just plain politics—a great American game.

The question was taken up with the Army's Department of Public Relations here in New York. I gave Captain John A. Santoro your case with all details.

He admitted that there is no answer to your question at the present time. The law requires all men between the ages of 18 and 26 to register. That would seem to get you, inasmuch as you are 21.

On the other hand, you have almost two years' service to your credit and the law exempts all persons who served honorably for 90 days between September 16, 1940, and June 24, 1948. That would seem to let you get by.

"We, the Mary Star Drill Girls, wish to thank you for the fine write up about us and for the pictures. They are fine," wrote secretary of the drill girls, Chloe Mae Weathers and Mrs. Mary E. Randle, manager.

Note from Mrs. Jeanne M. Morris at Fairbault, Minn., for Summer School

On a picture postcard of St. Mary's Hall, from Fairbault, Minn., Mrs. Jeanne Morris of 1046 17th street, back into the service. You might get so mad that you will decide to vote against the man who forces you to go back. So you'll go out and vote against the President for sending you back.

There's nothing wrong with that Mr. Brown. It's just plain politics—a great American game.

The question was taken up with the Army's Department of Public Relations here in New York. I gave Captain John A. Santoro your case with all details.

He admitted that there is no answer to your question at the present time. The law requires all men between the ages of 18 and 26 to register. That would seem to get you, inasmuch as you are 21.

On the other hand, you have almost two years' service to your credit and the law exempts all persons who served honorably for 90 days between September 16, 1940, and June 24, 1948. That would seem to let you get by.

But the law also requires that a third place. Mrs. Morris said she was "here attending the Fairbault Summer school of Christian Education. It is lovely here. Only two Negroes, Mrs. Wreath Maxwell of Minneapolis, and myself." The law conference was well attended.

The Northwest contest was third place. Mrs. Morris said the school has been held here for 12 years. Mrs. Maxwell is finishing her four years and will graduate this year. People are here from 16 states.

least 90 days of service must have been put in between Peace Officer and VJ-day. You did not go into the service until after VJ-day, so it looks like that puts you in the draft again.

You're married. That puts the whole thing in the lap of Mr. Truman as far as you're concerned.

According to Captain Santoro the Army is waiting every day for Mr. Truman to say whether all married men will be exempt from the draft. If he hands down that kind of ruling, you won't have to worry about even registering. If he qualifies it so as to include some married men and exempt others, you may have to fall back on your other qualifications, to escape the draft.

What will Mr. Truman do with you young married men? Your guess is just as ours, Mr. Brown, but you may rest assured that he will do something soon because Selective Service can't get this draft to rolling until he acts.
