Truman Pledges Efforts For Peace

President Wins Election In Political Upset; Says He Will Seek Prosperity

In a smashing political upset, President Harry S. Truman, won the presidential election as Thomas E. Dewey, Republican nominee, conceded defeat.

Dewey not only conceded defeat in his second try for the presidential election, but announced at a press conference later that he would never seek the presidency again.

Late returns Wednesday showed following:

Popular vote: Truman, 20,308,873; Dewey, 18,770,581; Henry A. Wallace, 949,420; Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, 750,718.

Electoral vote: Truman, 28 states, 304 votes; Dewey, 16 states, 189 votes; Thurmond, 4 states, 38 votes.

Dewey said he had "no plans for the future," but denied that he would resign as New York governor.

President Truman pledged to the American people Wednesday from Missouri where he went to his home for the election, that he would devote all his efforts to peace and prosperity.

"I shall continue to serve the American people to the best of my ability," he said in a formal statement.

Polk County

Tuesday's victories by Democratic candidates in contests for Polk county offices leave the Republicans with a county recorder and treasurer, and three of five members of the county board of supervisors.

In the county recorder's contest, the margin of victory of County Recorder Jene Hammill was so slight it will take an official canvass and possibly an election contest to determine the winner.

On unofficial returns, Mrs. Hammill, recorder since 1936, won over her Democratic opponent, Mrs. Agnes Gibson, by eight votes. The official canvass of votes will be conducted by the county board of supervisors, starting next Monday.

Thayer Leads

Mrs. Gibson said she will leave the question of contesting the election up to the county central committee.

The Democratic victory in Polk county was led by Ed S. Thayer, candidate for county attorney, and Sheriff Howard Repper, re-elected for a second term.

Other Democratic winners were Harold E. Anderson for county recorder, Michael H. Doyle, Jr., for district court clerk and Dr. O. Edwin Owen for county coroner.

After 32 Years

Unsuccessful for a sixth term, County Auditor L. O. Linstrum leaves office Jan. 1. He came to the auditor's office as an employee 32 years ago.

Three Republicans to go down in defeat had been sponsored by the independent Republican committee of 106. They were Walter Barnes, candidate for sheriff; George (Dick) Hise, candidate for county attorney; and Deputy Clerk Clyde Fairgraves.

New York (NNPA)—Miss Camilla Williams sang the title role of Giuseppe Verdi's opera, "Aida," with the New York City Opera Company last Thursday night at the New York City Center.

He remarked that she is not a great actress, "but she is a serious artist and careful workman, and her stage personality is touching by its simple sincerity."

WHITE SLAVERY CHARGE PENDING AGAINST INGRAM

New York (NNPA)—A hearing in the white-slavery charge pending against Rex Ingram, the actor, was postponed last Friday until Wednesday by United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter when Ingram asked for additional time to secure a criminal lawyer to defend himself.

No action was taken on proceedings to remove the 53-year old actor to Kansas for trial for allegedly transporting a 15-year old white girl from Kansas to New York City for immoral purposes. Ingram's attorney said, however, that the continuance did not mean their client was fighting removal to Kansas.

Together Again in 'A Song Is Born'

Louis Armstrong, "Mr. Trumpet" in music circles, and Lionel Hampton, "Mr. Vibraharp," are two of the key players in the new Sam Goldwyn technicolor production, "A Song Is Born." These two music artists are in the same movie for the second time.

About 10 years ago "Old Satchel" gave Hamp his first movie opportunity when he asked Hampton to play the drums for his group in a Bing Crosby film, "Pennies from Heaven." In that picture he received his first national praise for his assistance to Louis in the popular, "Skeleton in the Closet" sequence.

Armstrong helped bring Lionel "out front" with his vibraharp by asking him to play the instrument on the record "Memories of You."

Today both men are at the top in the music world. Louis, with more than 20 years in show business, now heads a small group of All Stars, acclaimed the greatest jazz ensemble in the nation. Hampton is one of the few bandleaders to keep his big 17 man band intact despite the slump in the music business. (ANP)

News Briefs From Far and Near

FAMED COMPOSER URGES NEGRO YOUTH INTO SERIOUS MUSIC

Chicago—Negroes can still be pioneers in serious music, says William Grant Still in December Negro Digest, "and with the proper training and attitude can achieve hitherto unheard of successes."

Mr. Still insists, however, that he does not urge young colored people to adopt music as a profession unless they are meant for that work and for none other. And he continues in the Negro Digest feature:

"The first question an aspiring musician should ask himself is, 'Do I want to make music or do I want to make money?' For you can make money in the entertainment world with a very small amount of preparation and a great amount of personal magnetism."

On Friday, November 5, at 8 p.m., Commander Donald B. McMillan will appear at the Hoyt Sherman Place in a film lecture on the Northern polar regions. This film lecture is the fifth in the increasingly popular series presented by the Department of Adult Education of the Des Moines Public Schools.

PAIGE, DOBY AND 28 INDIANS GET $6,772.07 FOR SERIES WORK

Cleveland, O. (CNS)—For being on the team that brought home the bacon, Leroy "Satchel" Paige and Larry Doby, got the full share in the players' take-home pay from the World Series. They, and twenty-eight other Indians received $6,772.07 each as winning team-mates and thereby topped the Detroit Tigers' record of $6,544.76 back in 1935.

It had been a much debated question whether Satchel Paige would receive full share, since the veteran pitcher became an Indian when half the season was gone. But his name was there, second on the list, getting the full size cut.

In the National League, third place Brooklyn got full shares of $898.72. Thus Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella got extra checks for this amount, which will come in handy for their fast growing families.

Full amount of the world Series take for the six games came to the grand total of $1,639,685.56.

Check Pastures, Haylands, For Ferns, Farmers Urged

Livestock raisers are warned of the danger of fern poisoning if pastures become scanty as a result of hot, dry weather.

The warning, by American Veterinary Medical association, declared: "Dairy cows are likely to eat dangerous quantities of ferns when good grass becomes scarce as a result of over-grazing or unfavorable weather. An animal stricken with fern poisoning may become suddenly and acutely ill and die within one to three days. Or the condition may come on more slowly, starting with a loss of appetite and a slight fever. These cases linger on for five or 10 days, but practically all are fatal."

To guard against such losses, farmers are urged to check their pastures and hay lands for the presence of heavy growths of fern.

If a case of fern poisoning is suspected, the herd should be moved to new forage immediately, pending the results of a diagnosis to determine whether this or some infectious disease is the real cause of trouble.

Freezing of Eggs
 Only fresh clean eggs should be selected for freezing. When preparing whole eggs, stir each egg slightly with a fork—just enough to mix yolk and white. Pour into small bags, seal and freeze. When yolks are to be frozen, beat them slightly—not enough to make them fluffy. To each six egg yolks add one teaspoon of sugar or one-half teaspoon of salt. This prevents yolks from congealing during storage. A one-half pint package is convenient for freezing eggs, since all eggs in a package are used promptly after thawing. Containers should be filled only nine-tenths full to allow space for expansion during freezing.

Family Income Figures
 More than four out of every 10 non-farm families with incomes of $5,000 a year or more live in small towns—cities with populations of under 50,000 and rural non-farm areas. This is shown in data by the U. S. bureau of the census on the distribution of family income in the United States by size of place of residence. The other families in this income class live in the larger cities. Even here, however, the big cities do not have a preponderant edge, indicating that big family incomes and big cities do not necessarily go together, any popular notion to the contrary.

When Margarine Made Debut
 Margarine was first developed in 1870 in response to the demand of Napoleon III of France that someone provide a nutritious spread to safeguard the health of France's fat-starved soldiers and civilians. When the French chemist, Hippolyte Meere-moules, first manufactured margarine, he used principally beef fat churned with milk. Today's margarine is entirely different from the French chemist's original product, for margarine now is made almost totally of vegetable oils and is fortified with Vitamin A.

Blackberries in the Garden
 Some people have failed with blackberries because they did not realize that blackberries are self-sterile and that sometimes it is necessary to have more than one variety in order to insure cross-pollination. The home gardener finds also that his blackberry patch becomes unmanageable when he does not care for it properly. It becomes an impenetrable thicket and sometimes overgrows a small garden. With proper management and the possible development of better varieties in the future, the blackberry may become more important for the garden.

Trend Towards Cities
 Within little more than a century, says a Twentieth Century fund report, the United States has changed from a primitive agricultural economy to one of the most highly industrialized countries. Only 5 per cent of its four million inhabitants lived in urban communities in 1790. By 1890, with a population of 63 million, 35 per cent lived in urban territory, and by 1940 nearly 57 per cent of a population of 132 million was urban.

Tired Housewives May Need Complete Change of Habits
 "Tired" housewives may find some relief from their feeling of exhaustion from suggestions offered by home management and child development specialists.

One reason for tiredness, of course, is overwork or lack of rest. It is true physical fatigue. Few household tasks use up enough energy to cause this kind of tiredness. Work such as doing the family wash without modern equipment, canning large amounts of food, moving furniture, or constant lifting and carrying of children can cause over-tiredness.

Quite different causes result in two other kinds of "tiredness." One is fatigue caused by just plain boredom. Wives who do the same jobs such as dish washing or dusting in the same way year after year and have no interest in the tasks can become tired from the monotony.

Another kind of tiredness comes from mental conflict. Housewives who have more to do than they think they can accomplish, who have constant interruptions or who may be worrying about something, such as family illness, have a tired feeling because of all the conflicts they face.

Rest and sleep help all kinds of tiredness and are the only way of fighting physical fatigue. To overcome boredom, introduce interest in your housework by trying new methods, or trying to "beat your own time." If it's worry that's making you tired, decide what is bothering you most and try to remove it from your situation.

Sixty Ice Glaciers Glisten Amid Peaks of Montana Park

most scenic of the national parks, abuts on the adjoining Canadian Waterton Lakes park to form an unusual international vacation reserve—known as the International Peace park. Glacier has grown greatly in popularity in recent years, and most visitors to Glacier travel also in Waterton Lakes park.

Glacier is perched astride the Continental Divide, and is famed for its many glaciers and rugged peaks.

Glacier National Park is so named because in the hollow of its rugged mountaintops lie more than 60 small glaciers.

A band of 38 mountain sheep was reported near Many-Glacier hotel in the park during the past winter by a park ranger. Glacier's big-horn sheep, of which there are more than 200, faced extinction in 1935 by a threatened lung disease. The herds have dwindled in other national park areas but now are reported to be slowly increasing. A bighorn ram weighs up to 300 pounds.

Valuable Highway Hint
 When one wheel runs off the pavement, the natural inclination is to turn the car quickly back on the road again or to jam on the brakes. Neither method is safe unless you are driving slowly. A better way is to take the foot off the accelerator, hold the wheels straight and allow the car to slow down gradually until it can be brought back onto the road easily. About four or five feet in the case of a tire blow-out. A driver is instinctively inclined to jam on the brakes when a "blow," occurs. The proper way to do is just to hold the car steady, using the brakes lightly, off and on, until the safe speed is reached. Then ease the brakes gently until the car stops.

Don't Be a Victim of Contentment
 A tumble of twisted steel and shattered masonry at the end of World War II, the streets of Germany's once proud capital have been largely cleared by piling up the wreckage. Damaged houses have been repaired and some new ones built of salvaged bricks. Long before it was established in 1871, as the national capital of the united German empire, Berlin served as a government seat, first of Brandenburg, then of Prussia. As headquarters for the powerful Prussian kings, it expanded spectacularly. By 1850 nearly half a million people lived in this crowded, lively metropolis of palaces and parks. The American section of Berlin, including Tempelhof airfield, extends south and southwestward.

Facts About Oriental Rugs
 Because Genghis Khan invaded Persia with his Mongolian hordes in ancient times, many Persian rugs, even to this day, show a strong Chinese influence in their designs. Most oriental rugs have several borders. Seven is a popular number among weavers of fine Persian rugs. The famous crimson found in oriental rugs is made from the female cochineal insect; it does not contain the dye. Fifty and females are required to produce one pound of cochineal crimson.

Eggs Kept Cold, Covered, Retain Freshness Longer
Eggs need to be kept both cold and covered if they are to keep fresh and in the best condition for eating.

Extension food preservation specialists urge that eggs be gathered and immediately placed in a refrigerator or other cold place and kept there until used.

Experiments show that at ordinary room temperature, eggs lose as much freshness in three days as they do in the refrigerator in two weeks.

When eggs are stored in the refrigerator, they should be covered for two reasons. To keep them from losing moisture through the porous shell and to protect them from absorbing odors or off flavors.

Another tip is not to wash eggs until just before using them. The dull bloom on the shells is a protective film which helps prevent germs and molds from entering the egg through pores of the shell.

New controlled methods of high temperature egg washing have been developed. It is best to store eggs in a cool, dry place, away from the cool room.

Apprentices Play Major Role In England's Building Record
Britain today is building more than 20,000 new homes every month—a record unmatched by any other country.

Since the end of World War II, more than 600,000 families have been re-housed under Britain's post-war building program, and it is estimated that 2,500,000 people have been re-housed. Nearly 418,000 of these families have moved into new homes.

Helping to re-house 20,000 families every month is Britain's youth.

Research experts think that more than 8,000 boys of 15-19 are putting up some 1,800 houses over 120 acres in England and Wales.

Building while they learn, these youngsters work under teams of highly skilled craftsmen instructors—carpenters, bricklayers, painters, plumbers and plasterers. But they do everything themselves. They dig trenches, lay foundations, put down the drains and erect the scaffolding.

Fire Hazard in Sprayers
Spraying of quick-drying enamels, lacquers, paints and similar finishes in the home has become a common practice and has created a new home fire and explosion hazard.

These liquids give off vapors which are flammable and which, when mixed with air in proper proportions, form mixtures which are ready to ignite in the presence of a source of ignition such as a lighted pipe, cigar, cigarette or a static spark.

This hazard may be guarded against by adequate ventilation. However, the application of these quick-drying finishes, either by sprayers operated by hand or by those attached to vacuum sweepers, should be carried on out of doors if possible.

Proper Use of Pliers
Pliers should not be used to loosen or tighten nuts because the pliers may slip off, use a wrench of the proper size for that purpose.

Before attempting to use a pair of pliers on an electric circuit be sure the current is off, otherwise the user may receive a painful or perhaps fatal shock.

When cutting wire under tension or when cutting spring wire in coils, always take hold of the wire close to the cutter, stand so that the loose end will not fly into the face and be sure that cutting is done away from fingers. Pliers and wire cutters, like screw drivers, should not be used as substitutes for hammers.

Dampening Clothes for Ironing
How to dampen clothes for ironing. Use hot water as it penetrates the fibers more quickly.

Use a sprayer that will distribute the water in a fine spray. Fold clothes carefully to avoid introducing unnecessary wrinkles.

Fold the hems and double portions to the inside and roll up, using a slight mending pressure to help the moisture penetrate. Use less moisture for machine ironing than for hand ironing.

Dampened clothes should "season" at least half an hour in cool, dry weather, they may stand overnight. In hot damp weather, iron within an hour or two lest mildew develop.

Simplest dampening device available is a perforated metal cap which fits into the neck of a bottle. Sprayers also are used. These distribute the water in a very fine spray and are used for fabrics and materials which do not need a great deal of moisture.

Prudence Island Offered For Foot, Mouth Research
Rhode Island has taken the lead in solving the problem of where to build a United States foot-and-mouth disease research laboratory.

A congressional delegation of that state has proposed that the necessary facilities be constructed on Prudence island in Narragansett Bay, R. I.

Government acceptance of the site hinges on final approval by, and necessary arrangements with, state and local officials and livestock interests.

The island has an area of several square miles and is ample for the 500-acre establishment needed for the research work.

All things considered, Prudence island fulfills the requirements of federal legislation and meets general operating needs more fully than any other available location.

The principal federal requirement is that the laboratory must be on a coastal island separated from the mainland by deep, navigable water.

Construction costs are estimated at a minimum of 25 million dollars, annual operating costs at 2.5 million dollars or more. The project would be staffed by about 300 employees.

The main historical clue to Atchison's presidency is found in the 1913 edition of the Biographical Congressional Directory. The directory reveals that Atchison was president of the United States for one day.

According to World Book encyclopedia, President Polk's term expired on March 3, at midnight. Zachary Taylor was not sworn in as president until March 5, 1849.

At that time there was no vice president, and Atchison had claim to the presidency because he was president pro tem of the senate and next in line for the job.

The olive sauce can be used with canned white beans or red kidney beans. The beans are soaked in water until plump, then drained. Water and the olive sauce are added and heated to boiling.

The college of agriculture also has developed a canned olive sauce for flavoring stews and other meats. Chopped olives, garlic, onion, chopped pimiento and tomato sauce are mixed and heated to boiling.

The resulting sauce is satisfactory in flavor and appearance and can be used to flavor a great variety of meat dishes, spaghetti and rice.

Another sauce to flavor spaghetti, rice, stews and beans, can be made from the contents of two tall cans of pitted sliced olives, to which two small cans of hot sauce are added.

Mixed in are also six ounces of chopped onions, two ounces of chopped garlic and four ounces of chopped green peppers.

PERSONAL TOUCH

By Marie Ross

Tuesday—the first in November—was a busy day for many residents who got out early, voted for their presidential candidates, signed up at their weekly banknote theaters, attended chain grocery store birthday celebration and new store openings where prizes were given away.

Across the corner of the John Coleman home up on Harding Road Tuesday, the throngs of gift seekers and shoppers who attended the opening of the new grocery chain store, reminded one of the crowds who waited in lines to see the Freedom Train here this summer.

Saw Mrs. Gertrude North, Mrs. J. H. Shelton and Mrs. Mabel Crowder on duty at precinct No. 33 Tuesday. Downtown later ran into Mari Johnson from over on the east side of town, shopping for her two-month-old son and making for Christmas gifts. In front of a hardware store chatted with Ruth White who with Mrs. Johnson decided to go into the store just to look and "not spend a dime." The two came out loaded down with packages. Lunched with New York City model, Jacqueline Purdy, who has visited about every jewelry store in Des Moines looking at diamonds since she arrived last week. She will be demonstrating the Rose Meta cosmetics at the F. & W. Grand store until Saturday.

Parade fans who saw the Drake Homecoming floats downtown last Saturday, commended the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity who participated with an attractive float in the street show.

Thursday afternoon is always a busy one for members of the Hands of Love club who go to the YWCA

FASHION TIPS

For the NNPA News Service
New York—Changing one's personality by tinting one's hair poses a weighty problem to the average colored woman.

For although her skin is as bluish free as that of a baby, the average colored must still give due thought to the color of pigment in her skin. Just as there are colors on the color chart which complement each other, and still others which clash with each other, so it

Drawing the design for the quilting was Mrs. Lillian Simms who was being followed up by Mrs. Beatrice Greene and Mrs. Victoria Cokswell. Mrs. Leah Walker is president of the club.

Mrs. Mary Randle, who directs the activities of the Mary Star Drill girls, will have time to catch up on some needed rest—now that the political campaigns are over. During the heights of the political rushes—the drill girls were busy making highly appearances with the Brotherhood and Sisterhood band. Last Saturday they were at Ames High junior high and on Monday at East High for meetings. Fourteen pairs of boots had to be polished and drill costumes kept pressed for these engagements—and much of the work fell on the director who kept the clothing in condition while most of the girls were busy with school work. The girls enjoyed a Halloween party at the home of Mrs. Randle.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Nichols were honored at a surprise dinner party held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Danforth, Sr. by members of the St. Paul M.E. church's usher board. The couple was given tributes for their years of service to the board which was organized by Mr. Nichols. Mrs. Bob Ewing presided.

No woman with any sense of combining colors would think of wearing orange with red. Nor would she dream of combining muddy brown with a dull cream.

Yet with all this knowledge of color, many women with skin which would be classified as reddish brown, suit she takes on the appearance will insist on their hair dresser giving them a fiery red rinse. As a result a freak.

D.C.M.—For the past year and a half I have been going steady with a girl whom I love very much. Although she has never said she did not go with anyone else, I secretly felt that she didn't. But here lately another guy has horned in and when I ask her for a date she sometimes has one and I don't like that. Should I quit?

Ans: That's hardly a fair attitude. True, you have gone with the girl for quite awhile but you have said nothing that would lead her to believe that you had serious intentions. Naturally, she would encourage new friendships. Some one else will beat your time if you continue to stall.

L.S.—My second son is so different from the rest of the children. He was raised up to attend church and Sunday school but has changed his ways and now he won't obey me. He wants his money, all of it, by himself. The other boys share their money with me to help with expenses. Tell me what I must do?

Ans: He wants to be independent of thought and action and has

Eggs Kept Cold, Covered, Retain Freshness Longer

Eggs need to be kept both cold and covered if they are to keep fresh and in the best condition for eating.

Extension food preservation specialists urge that eggs be gathered and immediately placed in a refrigerator or other cold place and kept there until used.

Experiments show that at ordinary room temperature, eggs lose as much freshness in three days as they do in the refrigerator in two weeks.

When eggs are stored in the refrigerator they should be covered for two reasons. To keep them from losing moisture through the porous shell and to protect them from absorbing odors or off-flavors.

Another tip is to wash eggs until just before using them. The dull bloom on the shells is a protective film, which helps prevent germs and molds from entering the egg through pores of the shell.

New controlled methods of high temperature egg washing have been developed. It is best to store eggs to be washed at room temperature. If they are washed with lukewarm water from the food tray.

Apprentices Play Major Role In England's Building Record

Britain today is building more than 25,000 new homes every month—a record unmatched by any other country.

Since the end of World War II, more than 690,000 families have been re-housed under Britain's post-war building program, and it is estimated that 2,500,000 people have been re-housed. Nearly 418,000 of these families have moved into new homes. The rest have been re-housed in bomb-damaged homes and converted dwellings.

Helping to re-house 20,000 families every month is Britain's young

Ewing and Mr. Vernon Bucham. The Sunday School held a Halloween party Thursday at the home of the superintendent, Mrs. Ida Thompson. Thirty-five children attended. Mrs. Ursula Elliott of Ogden, Utah, and son, Mark were house guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Palsure, Mrs. Roy Johnson, Mrs. Francis Queen and Mr. Tifford Hall of Hannibal, Mo., visited Mrs. Aura Hall during the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ellis, formerly of Hannibal, Mo., moved recently to Ottumwa. Rev. Wm. Shaw of Second Baptist church preached at Union Baptist church Sunday at Des Moines. He was accompanied by Mrs. Cora Shaw, Mrs. J. O. Winston, Mr. and Mrs. John Winston and Mrs. Baugh.

army of apprentice builders. In 1947, more than 3700 boys of 15 to 19 are putting up some 1,800 houses over 120 acres in England and Wales.

Building while they learn; these youngsters work under teams of highly skilled craftsmen, instructors—carpenters, bricklayers, painters, plumbers and plasterers. But they do everything themselves. They dig trenches, lay foundations, put down the drains and erect the scaffolding.

Apprentices work a 44-hour week, spending one full day a week studying the theoretical side of their craft.

Prudence Island Offered For Foot, Mouth Research

Rhode Island has taken the lead in solving the problem of where to build a United States foot-and-mouth disease research laboratory.

A congressional delegation of that state has proposed that the necessary facilities be constructed on Prudence Island in Narragansett Bay, R. I.

Government acceptance of the site hinges on final approval by, and necessary arrangements with, state and local officials and livestock interests. The island has an area of several square miles and is ample for the 500-acre establishment needed for the research work.

All things considered, Prudence Island fulfills the requirements of federal legislation and meets general operating needs more fully than any other available location yet proposed. The principal federal requirement is that the laboratory must be on a coastal island separated from the mainland by deep, navigable water.

Construction costs are estimated at a minimum of 25 million dollars, annual operating costs at 2.5 million dollars or more. The project would be staffed by about 300 employees.

One President 'Missing,' According to Researcher

Research experts digging into history, have unearthed evidence which indicates that we have overlooked a president. Instead of 33 men holding the highest office in the land, we could, by virtue of a technicality, list 34.

As the "missing" president is also a Missourian, there is a doubt about Mr. Truman's claim to fame as the first chief executive to hail from the "Show Me" state.

The gentleman who thus far has been slighted by the historical record is David, A. Atchison, senator from Missouri, 1843-55.

The main historical clue to Atchison's presidency is found in the 1913 edition of the Biographical Congressional Directory. The directory reveals that Atchison was president of the United States for one day.

According to World Book encyclopedia, President Polk's term expired on March 3, at midnight. Zachary Taylor was not sworn in as president until March 5, 1849.

At that time there was no vice president, and Atchison had claim to the presidency because he was president pro tem of the senate and next in line for the job.

Tornadoes Are Explained

Tornadoes are like lightning—they hardly ever strike twice in the same place. H. L. Jacobson, veteran forecaster for the U. S. weather bureau in Chicago, says tornadoes usually are caused by opposing air currents during a severe thunderstorm—cold air moving downward and warm air upward. The weather man says the same principle applies to the water spouts sometimes seen in large bodies of water. The water rises through the vacuum in the center of the whirling air currents. Jacobson says no accurate wind measurements ever have been made near the center of a tornado. He explained that there are more tornadoes in the spring because there is more moisture in the air and more thunderstorms.

New Olive Sauce for Beans Suggested by Food Experts

An olive sauce which can be used in place of meat or mushroom sauce has been tested by the University of California food technology division. The sauce is made of sliced pitted olives, chopped green peppers, salt, garlic, onions and tomato sauce, cooked for several minutes. The olive sauce can be used with canned white beans or red kidney beans. The beans are soaked in water until plump, then drained. Water and the olive sauce are added and heated to boiling.

The college of agriculture also has developed a canned olive sauce for flavoring stews and other meats. Chopped olives, garlic, onion, chopped pimiento and tomato sauce are mixed and heated to boiling. The resulting sauce is satisfactory in flavor and appearance and can be used to flavor a great variety of meat dishes, spaghetti and rice.

Another sauce to flavor spaghetti, rice, stews and beans, can be made from the contents of two tall cans of pitted sliced olives, to which two small cans of hot sauce are added. Mixed in are also six ounces of chopped onions, two ounces of chopped garlic and four ounces of chopped green peppers.

Familiarity Breeds Contempt

National Safety Council figures show that three-fourths of the drivers involved in fatal accidents lived within 25 miles of where the accident took place. It is pointed out that when a person travels the same streets every day and sees the same trees and buildings, in time the familiar things may become a blur and he does not actually look at them. The same thing is true of traffic signs. It is natural for people to fall into daily habit patterns, but when they walk or drive on the street they should pay just as much attention to the familiar traffic devices as they would to those in a strange city.

PERSONAL TOUCH

By Marie Ross

Tuesday—the first in November—was a busy day for many residents who got out early, voted for their presidential candidates, signed up at their weekly banknote theaters, attended chain grocery store birthday celebration and new store openings where prizes were given away.

Across the corner of the John Coleman home up on Harding Road Tuesday, the throngs of gift seekers and shoppers who attended the opening of the new grocery chain store, reminded one of the crowds who waited in lines to see the Freedom Train here this summer.

Saw Mrs. Gertrude North, Mrs. L. H. Shelton and Mrs. Mabel Crowder on duty at precinct No. 23 Tuesday. Downtown later ran into Marjorie Johnson from over on the east side of town, shopping for her two-month-old son and looking for Christmas gifts. In front of a hardware store chatted with Ruth White who with Mrs. Johnson decided to go into the store—just to look and "not spend a dime." The two came out loaded down with packages.

Lunched with New York City model, Jacqueline Purdy, who has visited about every jewelry store in Des Moines looking at diamonds—since she arrived last week. She will be demonstrating the Rose Meta's cosmetics at the F. & W. Grand store until Saturday.

FASHION TIPS

For the NNPA News Service
New York—Changing one's personality by tinting one's hair poses a weighty problem to the average colored woman.

For although her skin is as bluish free as that of a baby, the average colored man still give due thought to the color of pigment in her skin. Just as there are colors on the color chart which complement each other, and still others which clash with each other, so it is for their quilting and sewing sessions. Watched thirty nimble fingers put tiny stitches in a very pretty fan-designed quilt recently. Drawing the design for the quilting was Mrs. Lillian Simms who was being followed up by Mrs. Beatrice Groene and Mrs. Victoria Cokswell, Mrs. Lelia Walker is president of the club.

Mrs. Mary Randle, who directs the activities of the Mary Star Drill girls, will have time to catch up on some needed rest—now that the political campaigns are over. During the heights of the political rushes—the drill girls were busy making national appointments with the Brotherhood and Sisterhood bands. Last Saturday they were at Amos Hiatt junior high and on Monday at East High for meetings. Fourteen pairs of boots had to be polished and drill costumes kept pressed for these engagements—and much of the work fell on the director who kept the clothing in condition while most of the girls were busy with school work. The girls enjoyed a Halloween party at the home of Mrs. Randle.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Nichols were honored at a surprise dinner party held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Danforth, Sr. by members of the St. Paul A.M.E. church's usher board. The couple was given tributes for their years of service to the board which was organized by Mr. Nichols. Mrs. Holman Ewing, president.

D.C.M.—For the past year and a half I have been going steady with a girl whom I love very much. Although she has never said she did not go with anyone else, I secretly felt that she didn't. But here lately another guy has horned in and when I ask her for a date she sometimes has one and I don't like that. Should I quit?

Ans: That's hardly a fair attitude. True, you have gone with the girl for quite awhile but you have said nothing that would lead her to believe that you had serious intentions. Naturally, she would encourage new friendships, some one else will beat your time, you continue to stall.

L.S.—My second son is so different from the rest of the children. He was raised up to attend church and Sunday school but has changed his ways and now he won't obey me. He wants his money, all of it, by himself. The other boys share their money with me to help with expenses. Tell me what I must do?

Ans: He wants to be independent of thought and action and has young people who will be here for the Regional Council of Children's Workers, will be guest speaker. Teachers of young people's classes are invited to attend. Mrs. Sarah E. Jett will preside.

WE, TOO ARE SURPRISED

Upsets are painful when they come even though the signs point to things which show they are coming.

Several things stand out which had a lot to do with the success of the Democratic party. It has been apparent all along that Mr. Truman was the least capable administrator of the two but the masses looked upon Governor Dewey as the rich man's candidate.

This whole theory was bound up in the labor movement, which, by the structure of the organization, was able to do a good black-work job of getting its members to the polls.

It is quite apparent that the Negro no longer fears anything, the southerners, who control the Democratic party in the South, may try to do against them thinking more of the possibility of hard times and the WPA than their civil rights.

The national Republican organization was entirely too confident, did not carry on a spirited fight and failed to perfect a united organization. For instance, there was a chairman of the National Committee and a campaign manager. That did not work well.

Republicans must learn to defeat such men as Senator Taft and Wilson in the primaries for as long as the masses remember the ramblings of the New Deal, it hates men of their type.

Of course, this is history now. The question is, where do we go from here? With the Democrats in control of congress and the executive branch of the government, all the things they promised including civil rights, rent control, OPA, housing, and a bundle of other social measures should become a law.

HEALTH FOR ALL

BCG Vaccination

Immunization against certain contagious diseases with vaccines which offer protection against them is being extended to more and more diseases. Vaccination against smallpox is so universal in this country that only rarely is a case of life disease discovered.

The question is often asked whether there is an immunizing agent effective against tuberculosis and, if so, why the entire population is not vaccinated against this communicable disease which kills nearly 50,000 Americans a year.

There is a vaccine which appears to offer some protection against tuberculosis, but knowledge about the vaccine and its effect is still too limited for authorities in this country to recommend its general use.

Known as BCG, or Bacillus Calmette-Guerin, the vaccine was developed by two French scientists from a nonvirulent strain of tubercle bacilli. While tubercle bacilli are the germs which cause tuberculosis, the disease in man is always caused by a virulent strain.

BCG works on the same principle as smallpox vaccine. That is, it causes a mild infection, enabling the body to set up defenses against the virulent form of the disease and thereby creating "artificial" immunity to tuberculosis.

When properly prepared and administered to tuberculin-negative people—people who have never had a tuberculosis infection and, therefore, have no "naturally acquired" immunity to tuberculosis—BCG is harmless, according to the American Trudeau Society, medical section of the National Tuberculosis Association, and to the U. S. Public Health Service.

However, the degree and extent of protection offered by BCG have not yet been determined. Carefully controlled studies to determine the exact value of the vaccine and also to obtain satisfactory answers to certain technical questions about its production, administration and transportation are now under way in this country.

General use of the vaccine cannot be recommended until the results of these studies are known. At the present time, BCG cannot be considered a substitute for established public health measures to control tuberculosis. It is doubtful that it ever will be a substitute for these measures, but it may prove an additional aid in bringing this disease under control.

THE ROSE I SAVED FOR YOU

The roses in the garden Which smelled of sweet perfume Have gone beyond to glory Oh, but a day too soon. The sun today came stealing Across the sky so blue Bug still it failed to waken The rose I have for you But shed no tears little loved one For the rose I saved for you Shall come again from Glory Ah, not a day too soon. —Roberta White.

Orvel Carter Writes About Trip Through Ozarks, Cotton Belt

From Biloxi, Miss., came a postcard from Orvel Carter who wrote on October 30 that: "I'm here in the South again—just for a short time. Lovely trip through the Ozarks, cotton belt, lumber district and now the pecan groves. Everything very interesting."

Well, when you got your discharge, Joe, they liquidated the USO. Now that they are calling your kid brother, Secretary of Defense Jimmy Forrestal has asked so the kid can see some cheesecake that the USO be reactivated again when he is sweating it out just as you did.

At its peak the USO conducted 3,035 operations exclusive of its Camp Shows, and it's hardly necessary to tell you that the curtains in its camp shows rose 700 times a day in the far flung outposts where Americans served.

Let's take a good look at the setup, Joe. When they organized the thing last time we were so busy learning the parts of a rifle that we didn't have time to get a good look at its organization.

To begin with the outfit is starting with $2,000,000 in its kick. That's a lot of dough. But its total budget has been set at $6,650,000. This difference of $4,650,000 is to be raised through your local Community Chest because the USO is now a member of your Red Feather Community Chest.

That brings it close to home—you are going to be asked to support it this time with your dough. From the beginning back in the early days, the USO started off just like all the other service units—sidestopping and kicking around the colored brother.

It has not been determined whether the USO was bowing to Army discrimination or whether it was discriminating against colored people.

PVT. J. A. CLAY ON OVERSEAS SHIPMENT

Fort Lewis, Washington—Pvt. James A. Clay, Battery "A" 503d Field Artillery Battalion, son of Mrs. Helen Clay, 728 E. 14th Court, Des Moines, Iowa, has been selected for overseas duty. Pvt. Clay will depart for unknown overseas destination during the month of November.

Give generously to the Community Chest and the USO, Joe, but before you give do what you can to help in the direction and spending of the $4,650,000 which they are going to be asked to help raise.

By ALLEN ASHBY

Every once in a while we write something in this corner that makes somebody mad and they go out to show us how wrong we are. It looks as if that was what Dick Atkins, Bob Trumbo, Laverne Fields and the rest of the boys at East High did last week. Atkins is perfectly capable of doing just that. One year he got mad at us and proceeded to go unbeaten in the short dashes for a whole track season, just to show yours truly that he could run a twenty. So it is perfectly possible that as he crossed the goal line on each of his touch-down sprints, Dick was saying to himself, "I'll show that Ashby guy. Trouble over here, eh? Hm?"

Bob Trumbo always was a rough little guy and all he ever needed was a little help to be dangerous. It is much after the game—so we can think better than the East signal caller who had only to make his decision under fire. But we thought that the Atkins-Trumbo combination wasn't used quite enough and that may have been the difference between defeat and a victory over Roosevelt. But the boys did well and we are proud of them.

The Chicago Crusaders brought a typical Negro team. It was a sight to see the Volinere brothers in action along with Jim Ward and Bob Vandever. It doesn't matter if Bob lives to be eighty years old and can get around, folks will pay to see him run.

Boxing

We have a new featherweight champion in the person of one Sandy Saddler who finally caught up with Willie Pep after a two year chase and belted him out in what was labeled an upset. But the experts say it was no real upset. This could happen to Joe Louis.

Football

We didn't mention it last week when two Negroes became the first of our race to play against white teams in Oklahoma. That is becoming common almost now. By the way, Nevada was the school which cancelled a game with the Negro players home two years ago.
