Eyes for the Blind

The blind and near-blind may soon be able to read without the aid of Braille, which has been mastered by only about one-fifth of the nation's 250,000 sightless persons, the Better Vision institute recently reported. Three new reading aids have been developed, one depending on the sense of sound, one on touch, and one on vision—the latter for the partly-blind.

TIME-LY TALES

JACK OF ALL TIME

The most complicated watch in the world was completed 16 years ago by Swiss watchmakers. Its two faces give the day and month—adjusted permanently for leap years; the phases of the moon; sidereal time (time according to the stars); the difference between star and sun time and time of sunset and sunrise.

It has a split second recorder, a chronograph (stop watch) and a panel shows the stars which can be seen each night. Four bells ring out the hours, quarter hours and the minutes. It also tells the owner when to re-wind the two mainsprings!

Shakespeare Wrote Verse To Help Guard Remains

Historians have discovered that the four lines carved on Shakespeare's tomb are a warning—and not an epitaph.

G. E. Bentley, well-known Shakespearean historian at Princeton university, explains in an article written for the new World Book encyclopedia that the verse is another example of Shakespeare's rare insight into the customs of his day.

The author relates that Shakespeare is buried in the chancel of Holy Trinity church. In English churches, people were buried under the floor of the church, year after year, for centuries, and space began to be a problem. When all the available burial facilities were exhausted, the sexton removed the remains of those who had been forgotten and tossed them unceremoniously into the carnal house, where dead bodies and bones were kept.

When Shakespeare selected his final resting place, he noted that the opening for the carnal house was only a few feet from his future grave.

Relying on the superstition of the sexton—and having a firm desire to rest in peace—Shakespeare requested a verse be placed on a flat stone over his grave. In modern English it reads:

Good Friend For Jesus Sake Forbear,

To Dig The Dust Enclosed Here; Blessed Be That Man Who Spares These Stones.

And Cursed Be He Who Moves My Bones.

Spectacular Exhibition To Be Staged by Britain

The largest and most spectacular exhibition since the New York world fair of 1940 will be held in London in 1951.

Every village and town in Britain is being invited to go gay during the 1951 festival, which will last from May to September. It will tell the story of British life—in work and play, in discovery, invention and design. It will present a coherent and imaginative picture of British achievement—past, present and to come—and of its contributions to the world in science, technology, culture and industrial design.

The central exhibition will be situated on the south bank of the River Thames, across from the Victoria embankment. Here will rise a bright and gaily colored modern city, made of fabric. The concentration of all Britain's building materials in her tremendous housing program which is making homes for people at the rate of 80,000 families a month will make it impossible to build permanent buildings on the 27-acre site.

Dyeing, Ancient Art

Ancient Egypt's sarcophagi of the year 7000 B. C. show exquisite colors, and a garment dyed with indigo, dating from 3500 B. C., has been found in Thebes. Thenceforth each of the dominant civilizations of antiquity developed further the use of fabric dyes derived from vegetable and mineral sources. It wasn't until 1856 that dyeing began to be relegated from its dependency upon vegetable and mineral sources upon vegetable and mineral sources. In that year, an English student, named William Henry Perkin, discovered that aniline derived from coal tar could be chemically treated to produce beautiful and lasting colors. But progress in the development of chemical dyes has been most pronounced and rapid during the past quarter of a century.

Rabbits in Atom Research

A pair of English lop-eared rabbits is the newest addition to the animal collection of the Atomic Energy project of the University of California at Los Angeles. The rabbits get their name from their large (eight inches long) floppy ears which have a minimum of cartilage and which the rabbits are unable to raise. The structure and size of the ears make them valuable for general cardiovascular (blood vessels and heart) research. The Atomic Energy project will use the animals specifically for studying the effect of radiation on capillaries, which are readily observable in the rabbits' large ears.

Contrasts Characterize Many-Sided Mexico City

Mexico City is a study in contrasts.

It is a city where you can stay at a swank, modernistic hotel and be awakened by roosters crowing beneath your windows in the morning. It is a city where the latest-make American automobiles jockey for the right-of-way with bicycle riders balancing giant baskets of produce on their heads and with porters carrying an entire living room suite on their backs.

It is a hurrying city of two and a half million people with an airport that turns all day with the arrival and departure of planes which link the principal cities and resorts of Mexico and put the country within a few hours of the United States.

Yet turkeys are driven through the streets by whip-cracking vendors and sold to housewives at their doorsteps. A stone's throw from modern department stores are dim holes-in-the-wall where Indian women make the ubiquitous tortilla—a thin pancake of corn which is the bread of Mexico's masses.

On any of the city's streets—downtown or residential—you'll find scores of Indians squatting on the sidewalks before piles of pottery, fruits or vegetables. Turn the corner, however, and you'll find a shining, spick-and-span supermarket—a replica of the best back home—where, unlike home, you can buy a juicy, pound-and-a-half T-bone steak for 30 cents.

Upholstered Furniture Needs Regular Cleaning

Proper care of upholstered furniture begins with its selection. Fabric should be suitable to family use, and when small children are in the family group, the home-maker might well select some of the new plastic upholstery which can be wiped clean. Slipcovers, preferably washable, help protect upholstered furniture and insure longer wear.

Custard as a Dessert

Custard has had a long and honorable career as a dessert for young and old, but its possibilities as a hot main dish often are overlooked. This is a cooked combination of egg and milk, minus sweetening and plus seasonings and other nourishing, flavorful ingredients such as cheese makes an economical, different main dish as an alternate for meat. And cheese is now in plentiful supply. Individual cheese custards, hot from the oven, turned out on a platter and surrounded with tomato sauce, make a colorful main dish. The recipe for a family of five or six calls for the following ingredients: 3 cups milk, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/2 pound sharp-flavored cheese, shaved thin, 3/4 teaspoon salt; 3 eggs; 5 drops table sauce.

Unpalatable Motorboat Wins Favor of Eskimos

You can't eat a pyrontelerak. If things get really bad in Eskimoland, however, you can eat an umiak.

Despite this fact, the umiak, the large open boat of skins and driftwood which has served the Eskimo being replaced by the pyrontelerak, or motorboat. Translated, pyrontelerak means "smell, smoke-propelled boat," says the National Geographic society.

The pyrontelerak, plying Greenland waters in increasing numbers, caused a Danish official recently to lament that "modern technique is outdistancing the national, the interesting, and the picturesque" among Greenland's Eskimos. At the other end of Eskimoland—in Alaska—the trend toward motorization started before the war. Bering Sea umiaks were fitted with outboard motors, thus combining the best of old and new.

For seaworthiness, resilient strength, shallowness of draft, ease of movement, and load-carrying ability, few boats match the umiak. From small bushes growing along Arctic coasts and from driftwood washing ashore, Eskimos build a simple framework with little distinction between bow and stern.

Then, with sinew, they sew together skins—from seals, walrus, or white whales—and stretch them over the form while still wet. As the hides dry, they shrink to make a skintight cover.

This beautiful tablecloth is yours for very little when you crochet it yourself in the easy-to-do pineapple design. For free instructions write to the Home Sewing Department of this newspaper for pattern #775, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed, legal size envelope.

President Congratulates Dr. Bunche on Obtaining Israel-Egypt Armistice

Washington, D. C. (NNPA)—President Truman last Thursday congratulated Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting United Nations mediator for Palestine, on obtaining an armistice between the governments of Israel and Egypt.

In a statement at his press conference last Thursday, the President said: "I am immensely gratified over the news from Rhodes that the representatives of Egypt and Israel have signed an armistice agreement. This act is a tribute to the restraint and statesmanship of the two governments. I wish, also, to congratulate the United Nations mediator, Dr. Ralph Bunche, whose untiring efforts have so greatly contributed to the success of these negotiations.

Formal Armistice

"I hope that now a formal armistice has been agreed upon between Egypt and Israel, this pattern for peace will be followed rapidly in the conclusion of similar agreements between Israel and other Arab states. The general armistice then I trust will lead to the attainment of permanent peace, thus freeing the talents of these Near Eastern peoples for constructive work in the development of their respective countries. As a member of the Palestine Conciliation Commission, the United States stands ready to assist the parties to the rapid conclusion to a just and honorable peace."

Commenting upon the armistices under the caption, "Bunche's Achievement," the Washington Post of last Friday said editorially:

Signed at Rhodes

"The armistice signed at Rhodes is, as President Truman said yesterday, a tribute to the restraint and statesmanship of the governments of Israel and Egypt. It is also a proof of rare qualities in Dr. Ralph Bunche, whom the U. N. had the good sense to name as acting mediator when Count Bernadotte was murdered. Without Dr. Bunche's fact and persistence, and his sense of timing, the negotiations at Rhodes would have collapsed, with disastrous results for the whole of the Middle East."

to be the chief causes of home fires, accounting for 17 per cent of the total. Improperly constructed or old deteriorated chimneys, flues and stacks combined with sparks on roofs, accounted for 14 per cent notwithstanding the fact that there are literally hundreds of products available to the homeowner for preventing fires of this type. Many of these items are made from clay, the part of the earth itself that has resisted every deteriorating factor. Clay just won't burn.

PERSONAL TOUCH

By Marie Ross

This time of the year—just before the spring season gets ready to make its entry on the calendar—home owners and flower and garden lovers sit back and do a bit of dreaming of plans for redecorating, remodeling and beautifying their places.

A few chats this week revealed some interesting dreams of residents. Mrs. Leota Slater, 1316 University avenue, is dreaming of having her kitchen painted and her hall redecorated. She loves flowers but has no luck in her yard for the many dogs that also love her yard. Mrs. Slater has to plant her flowers in pots and window boxes. But if she gets the painting done she will be happy. "If they just come true," Mrs. Slater sighed of her dreams.

Over on the east side of town Mrs. Catherine Mease of 1315 E. Nineteenth street has already been out in her yard, looking for "what was popping up" in the tulip and rose bush beds. Her tea roses she planted last fall are green and the tulips look healthy after all of the winter's snow and ice, she said.

Mrs. Mease is dreaming of a new white coat of paint on her picket fence, but "the paint is so high and by the time you pay to have some beat of W. C. Handy's "St. Louis Blues." A fast-moving start-studded floor show was featured.

one paint it or do it yourself—it's pretty expensive." Running along the fence will be the Seven Sister roses, the rambler and sweet peas.

Mrs. Mease is waiting for the frost to leave the soil and when that happens, she will be as busy as a "cranberry merchant," she said.

Way out in Rose and park Emery Jacksons are building a home at 3010 First street where they have five lots and on these lots Mrs. Jackson is dreaming of a terraced back yard, the construction of a barbecue pit and picnic tables. She also wants a garden and a few chickens to run about the lots.

Mrs. Jackson said she "loved" living out in Highland Park where all of her children were born and reared.

In the southeast section of the city Mrs. William Henry Spivey of 1516 Scott street is dreaming of newly painted walls in her home, some new rugs, a new suite of fur-

C. X. X.—My husband and I get along fine. We don't quarrel or fight. He is good natured, and pleases me all of the time and I am grateful. My only complaint is that he doesn't have that lovey-dovey romantic sweetness that moves something within me. Now do you think I have my true life mate?

Ans: I do. In fact, you have a jewel and are failing to appreciate him. He may not be the romantic type but he is true blue, a wonderful provider and a man whom you will always be proud to call your own. Be a little more demonstrative in your affection for him and you will find that he will respond enthusiastically. Don't expect him to make all the advances.

D. F.—I have taught school for the past five years and fortunately had a little income so that I have saved every cent that I have earned. I want to go to Chicago and enroll in art school. What suggestions have you?

Ans: Visit Chicago on your vacation this coming summer and look into the matter. You will certainly get a lot of personal satisfaction from attending art school as you have had your head set on it for a long, long time. I advise you to carry out this plan.

T. W.—My wife and I managed to save a little money and we are in our own home. I want to buy a second hand car and she thinks it is wrong thing right now. She says if we wait until next year, we can buy a new car.

Ans: She's right. Before you buy a car you are going to have to buy a "crib" and everything that goes along with it. The automobile can wait—at least until the new arrival gets here and you can see your way clear to make an investment of this kind.

Dear friend: I have found your Guide successfully true. I would like to have another Guide for 1949 to help lead me on to the road to higher success. I am so much better that it seems only a dream to me when I stop and think of how I used to be. When I started writing to you, doors opened for me from no where. God bless you greatly in the years to come. Mrs. J. G.

"Thank you Madam. You and your friends may order a new 1949 Guide by sending one dollar to me in care of this newspaper. T. N.—I see where you have helped others. Please help me. My husband is a gambler, although he works too. I have a small business but I can't get any where with him as he keeps me broke all of the time.

Ans: It's bad enough for him to throw his money away gambling without imposing on you. You can't afford to finance his gambling debts—so don't try. You have got to put your foot down and let him know that his days of "sponging money" off you are over. Unless you do, you will never have a dime you can call your own.

WHY NOT TRY SOMETHING NEW?

Dr. Ralph Bunche, chief UN mediator for the Palestine dispute has done a fine job settling the trouble between the Arabs and Jews. In fact, it seems to be the only real successful job American diplomats have accomplished since the war ended.

So successful has been Dr. Bunche's work that it had been rumored that he would be appointed our next ambassador to Russia. This, President Truman has denied in a press conference.

By all the rules of the game, Dr. Bunche should have the place for our representatives have done a miserable job in Russia and everywhere else. Surely, he could do no worse. At the same time, it would demonstrate to Russia and the world generally that some of the democracy America brags about is actually practiced.

RUSSIA FINDS COUNTERPART IN SENATE

The senate is engaged in a filibuster against ending subsidies. Under the rules, a few senators can hold up legislation almost indefinitely. This has been done on more than one occasion.

Southern senators, in the name of free speech and unlimited debate, trot out this undemocratic weapon every time legislation destined to give Negroes fuller protection under the constitution is before Congress for consideration. And somehow they have been able to have their way.

It is pretty well settled that unless the senate rules are changed, President Truman's civil rights program is doomed. However, the president has instructed administration leaders in Congress to meet the issue head on. Certainly, this stand is commendable and should have the wholehearted support of all well thinking Americans.

Some of the very senators who are tearing their hair and speaking until they are exhausted in favor of retaining the filibuster have criticized Russian delegates to UN for blocking efforts for peace by use of the veto. It is agreed that the tactics of the Russians were those of obstructionists; these southern senators are in the same boat.

Tactics used by the Russians and southern senators enable the minority rather than the majority to control the policies of the respective bodies. This should not be allowed to go on.

The legislation which is being fought has been before Congress on many occasions. Each time it has been finally passed over because the leaders thought further effort to break filibusters was useless. However, this crude rule has enabled many a senator to hide his real interest in what he tells his constituents he favors because it was not necessary to take a record vote.

These dilatory measures have become pretty disgusting; they shake the confidence in democratic government. It is unfortunate that most of the leaders from backward thinking states are hard to reach because of the system whereby they are able to control a small segment of the population and still manage to get elected year after year.

There is a constitutional provision whereby the states from which they come can be penalized. If this fight against the filibuster fails, the other method should be tried.

YOU CAN HELP PASSAGE OF AN FEP MEASURE

The Iowa legislature has before it a bill known as House File 348 which is aimed to make discrimination in employment based on race or religion illegal.

The measure is endorsed by a large group of individuals and organizations who recognize that in spite of our professed democracy in Iowa, much discrimination still exists. They are those who recognize such discrimination as unnecessary. They are misinformed or deliberately refuse to face facts.

On the other hand, there are strong groups that oppose the bill. They do so because fundamentally they are against any plan which would protect the civil rights of minority groups.

Such a measure was introduced in the 1947 session. But on this occasion, it has a better start, better backing and stands a good chance of passage.

Individuals and organizations can do a real service by making known to their senators and representatives that they want the measure passed not only because it is the fair thing to do but as an act of carrying out the platforms of both major political parties.

19,439 FOUND JOBS THROUGH URBAN LEAGUE ACTIVITY IN 1948

(SEE FRONT PAGE)

Members of Negroes to that area. He observed that this population shift, highlighted by the last war, will continue for the next several years and intensify the work of the Urban League in those areas where the Negro population is greatest.

In the field of employment, Mr. Granger stated that the job losses in the nation as a whole will mean sharp increases in unemployment among Negroes.

Omaha Reports

Already, the Omaha Urban League finds that out of a Negro population of 22,000 citizens, 2,500 colored workers are unemployed which means that one out of every four Negro workers is out of a job; the Detroit Urban League reports that 71% of the city's relief cases are Negro families. All of this means increased Urban League responsibility for continued work with reemployment and social security officials to make certain that the needs of a hard-pressed Negro population are being adequately cared for.

Mr. Granger continued, "The urban League must continue work with housing officials to insure recognition and care for the needs of the Negro population; we must continue work with unions to prevent retrogression in racial policies and relationships and we must certainly continue our emphasis on education, guidance and support for leadership within the Negro community."

Urban League president, Lloyd K. Garrison appealed for support for the Urban League "from all people who care about the upbuilding of this fair land of ours and the raising of its standards through the equalization of opportunity to heights which will command the admiration and justify the confidence of all the world."

FILIBUSTERING BILL

whether the President favors a two-thirds or a constitutional majority. After Senator Lucas moved that the Senate take up the Hayden-Wherry resolution, Vice President Alben W. Barkley, served notice on the Senate that he intended to enforce the Senate's rules.

Barkley told the Senate that Lucas' motion could not be amended by a motion to take up some other bill.

Enforce Rule

He indicated that he would strictly enforce the rule that a Senator having the floor can yield to another Senator only for a question. If he yields for any other purpose, and a running debate ensues, Barkley said, the Senator would lose the floor for a violation of the rule.

Barkley also told Senators that they cannot yield to allow another Senator to make the point of no return without losing the floor. If a Senator loses the floor on "this technicality and is again recognized after a quorum call, he will be making his second speech of the day on the same subject."

Senate rules provide that no Senator shall make more than two speeches in one legislative day on the same subject.

The first speaker in favor of the rules change proposal was Senator Carl Hayden, Democrat, of Arizona, chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, who is co-author of the resolution with Senator Kenneth S. Wherry, Republican, of Nebraska.

The sole issue is whether there should be any limitation of debate and, if so, what is a reasonable limitation, Senator Hayden told the Senate.

Senator Hayden said all that the Senate has to do is to make effective the existing Senate closure rule.

Hail Seventh Observance of Newspaper Week

By ERNEST E. JOHNSON, Washington, D. C. (NNPA) - President Truman last week hailed the seventh annual observance of National Negro Newspaper Week, which opened on Sunday and continues through March 5.

Recalling the founding of the first Negro newspaper in 1827, the Chief Executive noted that "we are just as much concerned with the life of the human spirit as the pioneers of the past century."

"The struggle for human freedom has many forms, and it never ends,"

HEALTH FOR ALL

CLIMATE AND TB

North, south, east or west—which is the best climate for the treatment of tuberculosis? This is a question frequently asked. But the fast, climate is not an essential factor in the treatment of tuberculosis. The important thing is bed rest under medical supervision.

Once it was popularly believed that the first consideration in the treatment of tuberculosis was climate. There was divided opinion on whether a dry, warm atmosphere, mountain air or the pine-tree country was best. Since we now know that tuberculous patients can be cured in any climate, it is not necessary for the patient to travel great distances for his treatment. On the contrary, almost any tuberculous patient can receive excellent care in a sanatorium or tuberculosis hospital in his own state, and often in the very county or city in which he lives.

Many people have wasted valuable time by postponing hospital care until they could travel hundreds of miles for tuberculosis treatment, putting a severe handicap, as well as financial strain on themselves.

Treatment in a sanatorium near the patient's home, moreover, has many advantages. For one thing, in his own state the patient may be eligible for treatment in a sanatorium which is tax-supported and where care will be least expensive for him.

The tuberculous patient must realize that his recovery may require many months of treatment. Complete mental relaxation is an important part of his cure, and constant worry over financial matters may delay the effectiveness of his treatment.

Mental rest and relaxation are easier for the patient, too, when he is comparatively close to his family and friends so that they can visit and encourage him.

DEMOCRATS BACK ATTY. GLANTON

The Roosevelt Negro Democratic club has sent out letter and speakers to organizations of the city in the interest of backing Atty. Luther T. Glanton, Jr. who is seeking appointment to a post now open, in the county attorney's office, Rev. Luther H. Smith, Sr., vice president of the club informed the press this week.

Miss Marjorie Draper, of Cleveland, Ohio, former Service Club director at Glenhausen, Germany, has been transferred to the Service Club at Kitzingen Basic Training Center. Miss Draper will be assisted at the training center by three special services hostesses; they are: Miss Muriel K. Fawcett, of Long Island, New York; Miss Augustus Augustine, of New Orleans, Louisiana, and Miss Carrie Lynch, of Columbus, Ohio.

SOLDIERS COMPLETE TOUR IN EUROPEAN COMMAND

Kitzingen Basic Training Center, Germany—Sixty-five soldiers stationed at the training center here have expense. And let us not forget that Negroes are taxpayers.

Father Heithaus points out that exclusion from the National Guard deprives colored people of "substantial benefits." He cites the fact that in his state men do enlist in the Guard and are paid about $175 a year for their services. "That sum would help many Negroes get a higher education," he said.

The father then calls attention to the fact that all our states except New Jersey either exclude colored men from their National Guard or segregate them in one or two Jim Crow units.

VETERANS WHIRL

By JAMES D. HICKS, NNPA Staff Writer

"If I were a Negro, I would never accept the subterfuge of a Jim Crow National Guard Unit, set up for the explicit purpose of segregating me as if I were a leper!"

Hey! Wait a minute, Joe! Who's that talking another Communist? No, that's not a Communist, Joe. What the man said should be just as true if he were a Communist, but in times like these we are inclined to think that Communists cannot speak the truth. So, it's quite a pleasure to state that the gent who uttered these words does not wear a red tie.

In fact, he does not wear any tie at all and he is directly on the opposite side of the fence from the Communists. That's what makes what he says sound so good.

The gentleman who uttered these remarks wears a long dignified black robe and a stiff white collar. His name is Father Claude Heithaus and he is on the faculty of Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

I've been griping about discrimination in the armed services so long that it is good to hear some other guy pick up the tune. Let's hear more of what this Catholic Father has to say about the subject, writing in the February 10 issue of the Marquette Tribune. Said Father Heithaus:

"I wonder how many citizens of Wisconsin are aware of the fact that their state government, which has a statute forbidding race discrimination, uses its authority to enforce race discrimination? I wonder how many know that the Wisconsin National Guard is not hundred percent white organization, not by chance, but because public authority in this state wants it to be that way. The fact is that, as far as the National Guard is concerned, not even Alabama or Georgia do a more thorough job of Jim Crowing Negroes than the state of Wisconsin.

Naturally those who are responsible for this situation are well armed with plausible excuses to excuse the inexcusable. Some of them deny that there is discrimination against Negroes. According to them, Wisconsin does not exclude Negroes from the National Guard. It merely 'Get tickets now for Southernaires concert, March 10, at University Church of Christ.—ADV.

received orders transferring them to the United States for reassignment. A PRAYER FOR OUR TIMES

(By John Henrik Clarke for ANP) O God, send the rain, Let it flood the battle fields, Absorb the blood and ease the pain. Probably man will again be sane, O God, send the rain! O God, send the snow, Let it choke the cannonroar, From the wars, men will go Back to the ones who love them so, O God, send the snow! O God, send the winds, Let it blow away our sin, Usury the odor of dying men, Then with music let it blend, O God, send the winds! O God, send the ice, Let it freeze each crude device, That man has made to plunder, I ask no more, this will suffice, O God, send the ice!
