JIMMY EDWARDS, NUMBER ONE BACHELOR WANTS WOMAN 'WITH BRAINS'

By DELORES CALVIN
New York City (CNS)—Jimmy Edwards, America's latest heart throb since "Home of the Brave," who's been causing near-riots among teenage and young adult fans all along his current personal appearance route, has confessed to us that he's not backing away from the altar. He will marry, he says, if he can find that "right girl."

According to Jimmy, she doesn't necessarily have to be a beauty—but "she's got to have brains." And understanding of his life—in other words, a companion with identical dreams and ideals as he.

Marian Anderson To Sing Nov. 30

New York (NNPA)—Miss Marian Anderson, contralto, announced last Wednesday that she will sing at a concert and supper sponsored by the American Fund for Israel Institutions on November 30 at the Hotel Astor to raise funds for the ninety-nine institutions in Israel supported by the fund.

At an interview arranged by the fund of the Waldorf-Astoria, Miss Anderson said she hopes to visit Israel, possibly early in 1951.

She added: "I have a bond with every person who, too, has felt discrimination. Discrimination is something that one feels but cannot easily put into words. Music is my method of saluting these people who have built a country against tremendous odds."

Army's Guard Bureau Will Go Along with What States Plan to Do on Integration

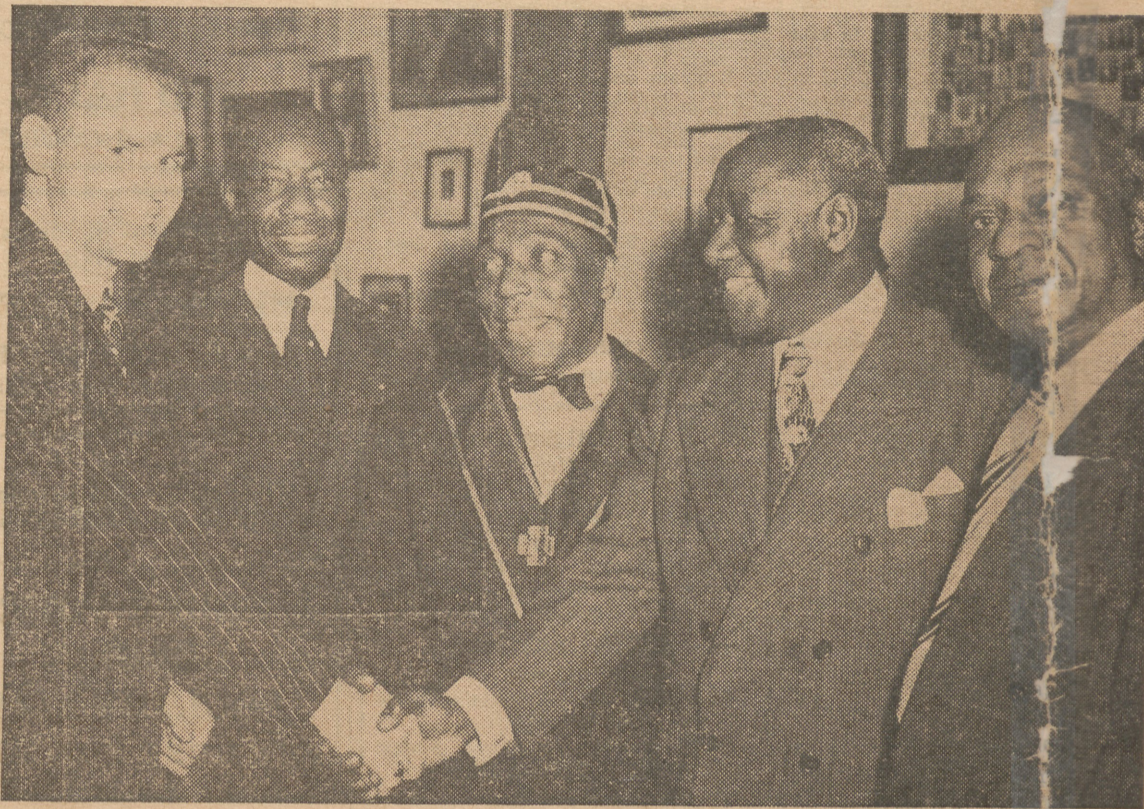

Washington, D. C. (NNPA)—The Army's National Guard Bureau will go along with whatever the individual states may decide to do on the question of integration, the NNPA was told last Wednesday.

That statement was made in reply to a question of whether the National Guard Bureau will give its sanction to the enrollment of colored men in mixed units of the Minnesota Guard.

The question was submitted to the National Guard Bureau after Governor Luther W. Youngdahl had announced at St. Paul, Minnesota, that he will issue and executive order November 22 making it possible for colored men to serve in the Minnesota National Guard.

A statement of policy of the Army Department on the subject of racially mixed National Guard units, in effect, leaves the matter up to the

FRANK POWELL CONSISTORY ENTERTAINS MASONIC BODIES

The Frank Powell Consistory No. 46 entertained members of the Masonic family Saturday night, Nov. 12, at the fraternal hall, where William Denman, regional director of the United Nations Organization, and the Rev. George A. Singleton, pastor of the African Methodist Episcopal church, were guest speakers.

Mr. Singleton, a 33-degree Mason from the Southern Jurisdiction; and Mr. Branham Hyde, a 33rd degree Mason of Des Moines and past grand master of the United Grand Lodge of the Iowa F. and A. M. License Suit Filed Against Katz Store

Suit was filed in district court Saturday asking the court to revoke the restaurant and cigarette licenses of Katz drug store for refusal to serve Negroes.

The action was filed by Mrs. Edna Griffin, wife of a Des Moines doctor, who recently was awarded $1 damages by a district court jury against the Katz firm for its alleged refusal to serve her at the store lunch counter last July.

Mrs. Griffin stated that she is bringing the action for herself and in behalf of other members of the Negro race.

She is asking the court to hold that Katz store "is a chronic law violator" because of the refusal of the store to serve Negroes.

M. C. Katz, manager of the Des Moines store, also was named as a defendant in Saturday's action.

Mrs. Lulu Brown and a brother, George Davis, of Elwood.

'America Must Clean Up Her Own Back Yard' to Secure World Unity, Pastor Says

"It is a sheer and utter impossibility for the United States to pose as a moral leader of this world when her hands are filthy and dirty back home," declared the Rev. George A. Singleton, new minister of the St. Paul African Methodist Episcopal church, whose message last Saturday night to the Masonic family followed the United Nations' speaker, William Denman.

A thirty-second degree Mason and a World War I veteran who served overseas as an army chaplain in the United States' fight for democracy, the Rev. Singleton explained that the United States cannot deny simple citizenship rights to millions of persons in its own country and pose as a world leader.

"We cannot talk about unity throughout the world unless we have unity back home," the minister continued and he called the names of leading Negro citizens—the world-renowned Dr. Ralph C. Bunche who brought about a peace to the Holy Land as United Nations' Palestine mediator; the famed world contralto, Marian Anderson, "who lives around the corner of my Philadelphia office;" Lena Horne, Bojangles Robinson and other Negroes who are great in their spheres of activity.

He pointed out that if Dr. Bunche went to the South in a day coach of a train, he would have to go in a jimcrow car.

"Clean Up" "America must clean up her own back yard and wash her dirty linen before she can stand up and tell Russia what to do," the minister said, adding that the United Nations will never have unity until that.

Negroes want unity. Negroes love this flag, he continued, pointing out that "we must love America for we

Funeral Rites For Mr. Charles Winn

Rites were held Saturday afternoon, Nov. 13, for Mr. Charles Winn, 57, of 1109 Fourteenth street, at the St. Paul A.M.E. church where he was a member. Burial was in Glendale cemetery.

Mr. Winn, resident of Des Moines 45 years, died Thursday, Nov. 10, at Clarinda after a two-year illness. He was a native of Boonville, Mo. In the Monarch club he was an organizer.

Surviving are his wife, Birdie; two daughters, Mrs. Marguerite Morton, Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. Nathaline Dixon, Des Moines; and a granddaughter.

U N Speaker Asks Citizens to Help Gain World Peace

Speaking on the desire for achievement of unity in the international world and—unity within the United Nations Organization, William Denman, regional director of the United Nations, addressed members of the Masonic family last Saturday night at an entertainment held at the fraternal hall.

His message revealed some of the accomplishments of the United Nations which recently observed its fourth birthday and held the laying of cornerstone of the new U. N. building in New York on Oct. 23, and itemized what citizens can do to support the organization's program.

Under the accomplishments of the United Nations, Mr. Denman listed the stopping of three wars—in Palestine, India and Indonesia and the prevention of a war over the Berlin blockade situation.

Tribute to Bunche

High tribute was paid by the speaker to Dr. Ralph C. Bunche, Palestine mediator, "who had been given more authority than any other person in the U. N." in settling differences between the Arabs and Jews in their 2,000-year-old Holy Land problems.

Another accomplishment Mr. Denman listed was the universal declaration of human rights, "which is a respect for the basic human and political rights for men and women everywhere. The U. N. is trying now to secure a human rights law that will give all countries a standard for treating people equally, without regard to race, religion or language.

Other successes of the U.N. were the economic progress which included long range farm-planning for the world under the Food and Agriculture agencies; the World Health organization which wiped out the cholera epidemic in Egypt; the feeding of millions of children in development.

PERSONAL TOUCH

By Marie Ross

The Hardaway's Tonsorial Parlor which recently held the twenty-first anniversary celebration, climaxed by a radio broadcast over station KSO, has finally settled down to business again.

During the week, Rozenting Hardaway, owner and manager, gave daily prizes to men and women patrons. Among the lucky patrons were Mrs. Madonna Carter, who received a beauty kit; Lewis Taylor, theater tickets; Theodore Hughes, haircut, shave, shampoo and massage; N. E. Tillman, hair tonic, powder and pomade; R. J. Nichols was victorious on two days, receiving cologne, safety razor and bottle of lotion.

Receiving a special prize as one of the oldest patrons of the parlor was George Eppright.

As I passed by a little white bungalow, high upon a hill the other evening, one couldn't help but notice a little housewife, busy painting the woodwork of her living room.

I couldn't resist the temptation to drop in on my neighbor, Mrs. Thomas W. Carl, 931 Twelfth street, and see how she was doing her interior decorating—because she and her husband have been busy since mid-summer, directing the contractors and carpenters who have done an attractive job of remodeling the Carl home.

Mrs. Carl pointed out new floors in the home, a front porch, an enlarged bedroom, a new bath room, a larger kitchen with plenty of roomy cupboards, a new back porch, a lengthened basement and around the rear of the home, new cement walks and drainage way for the water from rains and snows.

Are the Carls happy? They certainly are—even though they have plenty more inside redecorating to do to be ready for the holiday season.

Thanksgiving Holiday Thursday. Get news items in before Tuesday noon.

THE PUBLIC WANTS MORE ASSISTANCE

The Democratic party demonstrated in the recent elections that it continues a strangle hold on the voter; that the combination of segments of our population making up that party hold together pretty well on election day.

Take the New York situation: Dulles, one of the best informed men in America on foreign affairs was defeated for the Senate by former Gov. Lehman who held office during the days of the new deal and since under President Truman. In spite of the strained foreign situation we face, issues involving America's relations with other countries fell on deaf ears.

Then, too, the average person cares little about deficit financing of current expenses, the great magnitude of the standing debt, nor how it will be paid. He is convinced that the rich should be soaked; leave them to pay the bills.

On the other hand, there is something wrong with the Republican party leadership. Too often it has spent time criticizing the New Deal which should have been utilized to make a constructive program of their own.

The worker is getting more money for what he does than ever before. And even though high prices leave little for savings, he is glad for the change of handling more dollars.

Just how America will get its finances in order again, nobody hazards a guess but one thing is certain: the voters will continue to stand back of a party which promises the greatest chance of securing funds from the federal government.

1949 ACCIDENT RECORD IS BAD

Iowa has had an unusually large number of accidents in 1949. The theory was that as less outmoded cars were driven, the accident trend would decline, but this is not true.

All kinds of theories are advanced why accidents are on the increase. No one thing accounts for them all.

There are lots of people who should not have a drivers license, some cars are too defective to be driven on the highway, too many young pranksters with no self control and disregard for life and property are allowed to operate cars when the authorities know that they are a menace to society.

Lets have a tightening up of these things and the situation will undoubtedly improve.

If Iowa beats Notre Dame Saturday, the Bystander will say that Dr. Eddie Anderson should be retained as head football coach. He certainly has missed a golden opportunity to end the season among the top teams of the Big Ten because even with a world of good material, his boys have not learned to play football.

tonight," he apologized, and added that "I want to speak. This is a land of freedom.

"We want everything that anyone else wants. We want democracy.

"Must Do Something"

"We must do something about it—here at home," Pastor Singleton emphasized as he praised President Truman for taking a stand for human rights.

"It is ridiculous when you come to think of it," he continued. "There's no difference in people anyway—and as soon as Uncle Sam realizes that—the better he can step in front and lead the world.

"We went to war to fight for democracy—and we have to come back home and fight like Sam Hill," the speaker paused.

Inspired by hearty applause of his listeners, the minister reviewed a bit of the history of the Negro, pointing out that "we were here" before the Pilgrim Fathers landed—before Christopher Columbus discovered America.

"Our Country"

"This is our country and I'm not going anywhere," Rev. Singleton declared as he recalled some of the statements of the late Mississippi Senator Theodore Bilbo.

"I agree with Bilbo—that we should send all of the Negroes back to Africa—but I insist that we should send all of them back," and after a pause, the African Methodist Episcopal pastor added that "it would break up Congress—for none of us knows what is back of us in this family tree.

"Yes, send us all back," he smiled. "We are the backbone of American economy today—and they cannot get along without us,"—and paused the minister—"the people who would be against us going back to Africa would be the other group. They love us.

"We are a great people," the speaker commended, pointing out that the Negro's forefathers came from Egypt and Africa, from which comes most of the oil, the ebony and other valuables.

"And," he pondered, "the brother says, we have got to feed the world."

"I'm too old now to mince words and I say what I please—take it or leave it," the speaker concluded.

Marcus McCraven, commander-in-chief of the consistory, which sponsored the entertainment for all of the Masonic bodies, was master of ceremonies. James Newsome was chairman of the program committee.

Refreshments followed the addresses.

asted areas of Europe.

Under social progress, Mr. Denman cited the working of the trusteeship system for fifteen millions of people in ten countries until these people are able to govern themselves economically, spiritually and socially.

What The Citizen Can Do

The speaker listed several points which the citizen of Iowa can do for the progress of the U.N. in its efforts to bring permanent peace to the world.

He urged individuals to educate themselves and gain a "working knowledge" of the U.N.; exercise their rights as United States citizens by public opinion, writing to newspapers, their congressman, and the State Department, or the U.N. Commission—"letting them know what you think of the U.N."

"Use your influence to get the United States to spend a little more money on the U.N. for peace," he added.

"Talk about the U.N. in your churches, your schools—to your children," Mr. Denman urged.

Concluding, Mr. Denman quoted from President Harry S. Truman's address at the cornerstone-laying ceremonies of the permanent United Nations headquarters in New York City.

Mr. Truman's message emphasized the vision of "a better world in which men and nations can live together, respecting one another's rights and co-operating in building a better life for all."

"But 'faith without works is dead.' We must make our devotion to the ideals of the charter as strong as the steel in this building. We must pursue the objectives of the charter with resolution firm as the rock on which this building rests. We must conduct our affairs four-square with the charter, in terms as true as this cornerstone.

"If we do these things, the United Nations will endure and will bring the blessings of peace and well-being to mankind," Mr. Denman repeated from President Truman's address.

HEALTH FOR ALL

TEETH ARE IMPORTANT

"Teeth are important to good looks, essential to clear, pleasing speech and are necessary in chewing food well," says Dr. O. E. Hoffman, Director of the Division of Dental Hygiene of the Iowa State Department of Health. "Often your general health depends upon the condition of your teeth."

Healthy teeth are regularly formed, spaced evenly, are free from decay and are imbedded in sound tissue. Three things are important to keep your teeth healthy; eat the right foods, take good daily care of them, and make regular visits to your dentist. Tooth decay usually starts at an early age; cavities attack the teeth of many two or three year olds, so regular visits to the dentist should begin at an early age.

Many persons worry about pyorrhea. Active pyorrhea can be checked successfully by a dentist if it hasn't progressed too far. Some permanent damage results in almost every case of pyorrhea; that is why prevention is doubly important. The object of brushing teeth is to dislodge bits of food from between the teeth. Those patches of food furnish happy feeding grounds for acid-growing bacteria. Teeth should be brushed after each meal if possible, and always before going to bed. A good practice is to rinse the mouth well with water after eating if it is not possible to brush the teeth.

The health and correct position of the permanent teeth depend quite largely upon the care parents give their children's first teeth, so make every effort to take that "ounce of prevention" for your children. Milk, fresh fruit, fruit juices, fresh vegetables, meat, cheese, fish, eggs, whole grain bread and cereals, and cod-liver oil help maintain healthy gums.

More and more dentists are practicing preventive dentistry. One of the more recent measures to be employed in the field of preventive dentistry is the application of a fluoride solution to the teeth to reduce the number of new cavities. Four such treatments are known to produce an average forty per cent reduction in tooth decay. Fluorine treatments are recommended at ages three, seven, ten and thirteen years when the permanent teeth are being erupted to bring the greatest protection to the individual.

Remember to do these three things; see your dentist regularly, brush your teeth at least twice a day after meals, and have all needed repairs made promptly by your dentist.

Some Long Distance Service Being Repriced

In the interest of continuing to provide our customers good telephone service, we find it necessary to reprice some long distance calls between telephone in Iowa.

Heavy Increase in Investment

Since the end of the war we have spent $34,000,000 in Iowa to improve and extend the service—a 58 per cent increase in our plant investment in the last four years alone.

Everyone knows what has happened the last ten years to the cost of doing business. All of our costs have gone up along with the general rise in prices. We have had to pay much more for everything—copper for wires, chairs for operators, tools for linemen, etc. And wages, paid to home-town people have also increased, now amounting to two-thirds of all our operating expenses.

It is, of course, impossible to pay so much more for everything and still charge the same price for telephone service. If we tried to do that, our earnings would decline to the point where investors wouldn't put their money in the business. Good telephone service doesn't just happen. It takes efficient employees, working with good tools and equipment. But—in addition, it takes money.

There is still much to be done to assure the people of Iowa the kind of telephone service they want and need. We must get the money to do this from investors—people who are free to invest their money anywhere they want. They will invest in the telephone business, and so enable us to extend and improve the service, only if telephone rates provide reasonable earnings. Present rates are too low to meet this test.

Adjustment Moderate

The adjustment is moderate in its over-all effect. Rates for calls over many distances within the state will remain unchanged. The principal changes effective December 1, 1949, are as follows:

For all classes of calls over certain distances up to 199 miles, an increase of 5 cents in the initial period rates and 10 cents for a few distances.

For night and Sunday calls over distances beyond 198 miles, station-to-station rates are increased 10 cents in the initial period and person-to-person rates are increased 15 cents or 20 cents in the initial period.

If you have any questions regarding these changes, please call the telephone business office and we shall be glad to discuss them with you.

ALL OUR DAYS

All our days are numbered,
On winds of time they fly;
We build our golden castles,—
Then we say good-bye.
Pleasures seldom linger,
Rainbows never stay,
Twilight ends the daytime,
Seasons go their way.

When the shadow darkens,
He takes us by the hand.
As He guides us by the hand;
As He guides us with His promise,
To some fairer land.
Silently we slumber,
Slumber night and day;
On golden wings of angels,
He bears us far away.
