SEMI-CLASSICS, NOT BOOGIE OR SPIRITUALS PUT PATIENTS TO SLEEP

Brooklyn, N. Y.—(CNS)—A well established dentist, Dr. Terry Charry, has been wooing his patients to sleep with something besides the usual gas. For over five years it has been soft musical strains of classics and semi-classics and the experience has brought wonderful results. When a patient enters he is at once equipped with earphones and before he knows what's happening, he is being lulled off to dreamland. Then Dr. Charry begins his work.

However, there are two taboos in the repertoire. Patients usually relax to strains of "Clair de Lune," "I Only Have Eyes For You" and the "Moonlight Sonata." They can go to what they ask for—except—no boogie and no spirituals. Why? "Because" says Dr. Charry, "boogie excites them, and with spirituals they think they're dying."

Supreme Court Asked to Outlaw Segregation Which Violates the Constitution

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Attorney General J. Howard McGrath asked the supreme court Monday to outlaw segregation of the races as "a form of inequality and discrimination" which violates the Constitution.

Arguing in a major case dealing with the racial issue, McGrath urged the court to strike down the 54-year-old doctrine that "separate but equal" facilities for Negroes are permissible.

Appealed by Negro

"Facilities segregated on the basis of race or color are not, and never can be equal in any full sense of the word," he said.

The case was appealed to the high court by Elmer Henderson, a Washington Negro. He said that, when serving as a representative of the fair employment practices commission (FEPC), he was unable to get a meal on a Southern Railway Co. diner during a 1942 trip to Birmingham, Ala.

Set Aside Tables

Southern railroads later adopted a policy of setting aside with curtains or ropes one or two tables for Negroes in their dining cars. This was approved by the interstate commerce commission. That brought the ICC into opposition to the justice department. ICC has asked the high court to affirm its ruling.

Outlaw Jim Crow Schools

Washington. — Challenging the whole concept of segregated education on the graduate and professional school levels, Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, completed argument before the United States Supreme Court in the Sweatt and McLaurin cases.

Associated with Mr. Marshall in the cases was a distinguished battery of NAACP attorneys including Robert L. Carter, W. J. Durham, William R. Ming, Jr., James M. Nabrit and Amos T. Hall.

Mr. Marshall and his associated urged the Court to reverse its 54-year-old ruling that the states may provide "separate but equal" facilities for white and Negro citizens and to declare that to segregate is to discriminate and accordingly is unconstitutional.

The Supreme Court was asked to direct the University of Texas to admit Heman Marion Sweatt to its Law School, from which he has been barred solely because of race, and to order the University of Oklahoma to cease segregating G. W. McLaurin in the use of the university facilities.

Writing in the magazine "The Reporter," Douglas Cater observes that a decision for Sweatt and McLaurin "might tumble the walls of segregation in education once and for all." Alarmed by this prospect,

Other Freedmen's Hospital Doctors, on Way to Clinic In Tuskegee, Ala., Injured

Washington.—Dr. Charles Richard Drew, the man who gave the world blood plasma, which in World War II, saved the lives of hundreds of thousands of soldiers and civilians, was killed in an automobile crash near Burlington, N. C. last Saturday morning.

Dr. Drew, accompanied by Drs. John R. Ford, Walter R. Johnson and Samuel Bullock, associated with him at Freedmen's hospital in Washington, was enroute to the annual Andrews clinic at Tuskegee, Ala., when the tragedy occurred.

Drs. Ford, Johnson and Bullock were injured. Dr. Drew died about three hours later in the Almalnce County hospital.

Dr. Drew was driving his own car traveling south on highway 86, between Burlington and Haw River, N. C., when the accident happened.

Funeral services were held in Washington on Wednesday.

According to Dr. Ford and to Highway Patrolman S. T. Mullin, Dr. Drew, apparently dozed as the car left the road and in trying to regain control of the machine, cut it too sharply back on the road. It turned over and was completely demolished.

Heart Attack Fatal To Dr. Carter G. Woodson, Historian

Fatal to Dr. Carter G. Woodson, foremost Negro historian in America, who was found dead here on Monday.

Car Destroyed By Fire; Delegates Come By Bus

Enroute to Des Moines to attend the Midwest Regional conference of the NAACP, the motor car which Rev. C. H. Copeland was driving, caught fire early Saturday morning, 29 miles out of Cedar Rapids, his home town.

The group of delegates riding with the minister had to finish their trip by bus. The motor car was destroyed.

With the Rev. Mr. Copeland, A.M.E. pastor, were: his wife, Mrs. Viola Gibson and Mrs. Emma Turner.

Midwest Delegates Hear of NAACP Battles To Improve Opportunities of Negroes

"We have been lynched, educationally, in this country for years and years," Roy Wilkins of New York City, acting executive secretary of the NAACP, told a mass meeting of Midwest Regional delegates who ended a two-day conference here Sunday afternoon at St. Paul AME church.

"The NAACP which you have employed in the McLaurin and Sweatt cases, scheduled to be decided this week by the Supreme Court, "may wipe out the entire system of segregated schools in the United States," he continued.

"Then we will find the black children and the white children — who have no prejudices except what they learn from their parents—in mixed schools.

Mr. Wilkins cited an example of a Negro youth who had received inferior education in Arkansas. The youth's brother joined the army—for better opportunities — but instead was sent by the army to Mississippi.

Telling how these youths realized "what the state of Arkansas had done to them and their family, educationally," Mr. Wilkins pleaded for support of all to "help us to see that no more will be cheated."

Mr. Wilkins went into detail to explain the "political action" that the NAACP has used—"to change the pattern for Negroes in the United States." He told of the powerful emergency action in Washington, when 5,000 persons came to push civil rights in congress.

People, representing 33 states, at the emergency conference in January made "civil rights become the liveliest issue in history," he said.

"There has been a lot of talk about mobilization," Wilkins recalled the complaints that mounted during registration difficulties. "But, any movement that gets that many people in Washington—it is a success," he declared.

"I'd like to get rid of one ridiculous idea, and, that is that the C.I.O. pulled the strings and we jumped.

"That is the funniest thing that has ever gotten out. The C.I.O. has not contributed one cent in the mobilization," he informed, adding that "if you want to know who pulled the strings? We did!" he answered and went on to tell of the many "tricks in the house" after the bill finally came up on Feb. 22.

After calling roll on the senators and representatives in the midwest region—and how they voted for and against the bill, he urged the delegates to get behind their congressmen.

Glouster B. Current, national director of branches, said at the opening meeting Saturday morning at the Y.W.C.A. that the association is now at "the crossroads."

national fair employment practices act.

Part of the resolution reads: "The membership of the NAACP and friends of civil rights represented at this conference of over 200 delegates representing 50,000 citizens in 10 states . . . reaffirms their determination to obtain passage of an FEPC bill with strong enforcement powers.

"We call upon the senators from the states in this region to uncompromisingly support every legislative move necessary to secure the enactment of the McGrath bill (S. 1728)."

Saturday afternoon, the delegates heard discussions of FEPC laws operating in several midwest cities, and how those laws came into being.

Debate Issue

During the discussion, Willard B. Ransom, president of the Indiana state conference, urged that a fight be made for a real FEPC bill.

Franklyn H. Williams, assistant in the legal department of the association, made it clear that "what we want is the McGrath-Powell bill and nothing else." He informed that those who supported the McConnell were not opposed to a strong FEPC.

James B. Morris, Sr., of the legal committee of the Iowa state conference, informed that "I'm for a strong FEPC now—but it is far better to get what we can."

Mrs. Carrie D. Jacobs, of Indianapolis, informed the conference that Indianians had made the mistake of supporting a "toothless FEPC" but (SEE PAGE SIX)

Why Seretese Khama, Young African Prince, Tricked Into Leaving White Wife

By W. E. B. DuBois
(This is the second and last of two series on why the young African Chief was tricked into leaving his white wife to come to England, by the eminent authority on Colonial history, Dr. Du Bois, written exclusively for Atlas News Service.)

NEW YORK.—The English sought some reason to keep the young Chief, Seretse Khama from ruling. They tricked him into leaving South Africa for England, and then refused a visa to return. He was to stay in exile for five years, and on a salary furnished by the British government. This, Seretse refused to do, and declares that he is going to return to his kingdom.

This series of incidents marks the beginning of independence of Africa, which is coming in this century. All over Africa, the tribes are stirring; in West Africa, they are demanding independence of Britain; in French

Question Hospital Nurses In Search of Unclad Baby Missing from Incubator

BRONX, N. Y.—(CNS)—With mystery shrouding an incident of a missing baby, all of New York has made much fuss over the disappearance of a 10-day-old Negro girl who isn't where she should be, in an incubator at the Lincoln hospital.

The baby, Chaneta Holden, weighed only two pounds and 11 ounces. Why anyone would want to take the unclad infant from an incubator and how they escaped with her are the two questions baffling local police.

Already they have thoroughly checked laundry chutes, opening sewer drains, incinerators, pipes and what not. They have taken the 500 bed hospital apart in a futile search. But there is no trace of Chaneta.

Two hospital attendants are being related with a shudder, "was when held for questioning. They are Doris Williams, a nurse, and a Mrs. Spencer who was on duty in the baby's ward. Both are Negroes. Miss Williams was the last person to see Chaneta, at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The baby's mother, Mrs. Anna Holden, 24, of 131 W. 116th street, Harlem, had been released from City hospital, where her daughter was born, just one day before the disappearance. However, she went to Lincoln hospital to see the child but was told it was feeding time. One hour later the alarm was sent out.

"Worst Shock"
"The worst shock," Mrs. Holden

Police believe Chaneta is still within Lincoln hospital walls as it would be impossible to spirit her away without being seen. Especially since no blankets were missing. However, the doctors fear that without her incubator, Chaneta may not be alive.

ASKS GOVERNOR TO PROBE RACIAL BIAS IN OXFORD

NEW YORK.—Governor James H. Duff of Pennsylvania was urged to institute a special grand jury investigation of violations of civil rights in Oxford, where members of the Lincoln University chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have been conducting a campaign to break down racial barriers in the theaters, restaurants and other places of public accommodation.

In a letter to the Governor, Mrs. Ruby Hurley, NAACP youth secretary, charged that the efforts of the Lincoln students "to secure equality of treatment have been frustrated by the restaurant and theater owners with the active and open cooperation of local police and law enforcement authorities."

Employment Opportunities

With the approach of the outdoor season, a call was issued for men to perform duties connected with the Federal government's fish and wildlife refuge programs.

N. J. Oganovic, director of the Eighth Region, U. S. Civil Service Commission, announced that applications will be accepted until May 1, for examinations for the positions of fish culturist, paying $2200 to $2875 per year, and refuge maintenance man, with salaries ranging from $22-50 to $2930 per year.

Other civil service examinations currently open for receipt of applications include the following: agricultural and civil engineer; bacteriologist (medical), conservation aid, dietitian, draftsman, engineering aid, farm management supervisor, librarian, marketing specialist, medical officer, medical technician, occupational therapist, physical science aid, range conservationist, serologist, social worker, soil conservationist, soil scientist and physical therapist.

'I WON'T RETIRE' SAYS EZZARD; CHAMP INSISTS HE 'FEELS FINE'

Cincinnati, O. — (CNS) — Ezzard Charles has no intention of turning over his heavyweight title to anybody. And this includes Jersey Joe Walcott and all the rest who may think they have a claim. He won it the hard way, he says, and he'll fight it to the end.

"I won't retire," the Champ stated in his Cincinnati home here. "I've just begun to fight." Charles insists the stories about his "damaged heart muscle" were exaggerated and the injury isn't half as bad as it sounds. With two months rest, he'll feel "good as new" again. Though thoroughly examined by eminent physicians in Buffalo and New York before the Freddy Beshore bout was officially postponed March 27th, Charles felt "fine" after the fight.

According to plans shaping up, Ezzard is readying for a June fight. The contender for the crown hasn't yet been named but the first crack will be offered—for the third time—to Freddy Beshore, who's pretty upset over the postponements, will accept is another question. Both he and promoter Michaels have already voiced their feelings that the Buffalo fight has been "jinxed."

Meanwhile, Charles is expected in New York next week to clear up a few business matters around IBC with his manager, Jake Mintz. Then he'll return to Cincinnati to begin two months of seclusion whereby he'll follow doctor's orders and rest up for the June fight.

PROTEST AGAINST SERETSE EXILE

New York.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People this week accepted an invitation to join the Seretse Khama Fighting Committee, a group organized in London to fight for reversal of the British government's decision to ban Chief Seretse from Bechuanaland, where he heads the Bamangwato tribe.

Expressing the "outraged" feeling of the NAACP at the ruling in the case, Roy Wilkins, acting NAACP secretary, wrote Nii Odoi Annan, joint secretary of the Committee, that the Association is with the fighting group "in spirit."

The Committee further accused the British government of "in effect weakening the cohesion of the tribe, thereby opening the way to incorporation by the Union of South Africa."

'We Must Keep Fighting Until We're Dying' Sings Paul Robeson at Rally

New York City. (CNS).—Paul Robeson returned to Harlem in a blaze of glory and triumph as more than 5,000 enthused fans welcomed him to the Golden Gate Ballroom Thursday night, where they were assembled for a rally in a Labor salute to the Negro people. Approaching the platform amid storming cheers as his recording of "The Ballad For Americans" was heard over the loudspeaker, Robeson had to but wave his hand from the platform and there was silence.

At once he broke into song—"Let My People Go"—followed by "Scandalize My Name"—a Yiddish and American union song and "Ole Man River". Here he changed the closing words to "We must keep fighting until we're dying while Ole Man River—he just keeps rolling along."

Ovation

After a tremendous ovation, Robeson whipped out a pair of black horn rimmed glasses and a 12 page handwritten speech. "Many times have I appeared here at the Golden Gate" he began in a booming voice. "It is a great privilege to be present tonight in this Salute to Labor—to the courageous leaders Negro and white—of the working people of this great land. Our history has called forth great figures, devoted and never tiring, in the long and challenging struggle for human freedom. But perhaps, at no time has there been greater need for men like we honor than at this historic moment."

The honored men were Ferdinand Smith, Maritime leader who put up a powerful defense at Ellis Island against deportation, and Ben Davis, Jr., one of "The Twelve" accused Communists who was defeated in the recent election for Councilman. Smith, standing on the platform with many others, refused to sing "The Star Spangled Banner" as every other voice rang out. Davis, looking tired and smoking constantly, used "unity" as the theme of his talk.

Cinnamon Bread Sandwiches

Thought for a backyard supper or a spur-of-the-moment picnic are flavorful sandwiches made with enriched cinnamon bread.

Because sandwiches are so popular for everyday meals as well as for picnics, make them with a variety of breads to keep them interesting.

Most people like cinnamon loaf, with its wonderful spicy taste. It contributes the same good food values provided by enriched white bread.

When making several sandwiches at a time, cream the butter or margarine slightly so that it will spread easily and go further. Spread butter or margarine to edges of bread, then apply filling with spatula and distribute it evenly over slice. Cover with another slice of bread and cut as desired. Sandwiches keep fresh for picnics or lunchboxes when wrapped and sealed in waxed paper or aluminum foil.

Here are suggested fillings for cinnamon bread:

Mix an equal amount of raisins and peanut butter for a rich, crunchy filling. Fill with sliced American cheese or cheese spreads, which blend well with the cinnamon-flavored loaf. Slice thin apple wedges for filling, or spread slices with apple butter. Jams and jellies are also good.

LENA HORNE

Hollywood, Calif. — (Atlas)—Lena Horne and Metro-Goldwyn Mayer have parted company after nine years. It is reported her contract had more than a year to run. No reason has been given for her leaving. The glamorous singer has in mind a series of bookings in Europe, winding up in September with four weeks at the London Palladium.

Pioneered Printing

Philadelphia was the nation's pioneer in the fields of printing and publishing, business and finance, science and education. For example, the first U. S. paper mill was put in operation there around 1693 by William Rittenhouse, a Mennonite preacher-immigrant. The first American bank, the Bank of North America, was organized there in 1782.

Study of Healthy People Reveals Interesting Facts

Do you want to avoid heart trouble and hardening of the arteries, get rid of that "spare tire" around your middle, throw off that tired feeling and have more pep, feel years younger?

Prof. T. K. Cureton of the University of Illinois school of physical education has some information for you. It will take time and a proper conditioning program, but many have done it and shown what he terms "good improvement."

While medical doctors have been studying sick people, Prof. Cureton has been studying healthy people. For 25 years he has studied thousands of athletes and people of middle age and beyond. The work is still going on.

In George Huff gymnasium at Urbana he has a roomfull of gadgets ranging from treadmills to special callipers for measuring the thickness of fat of your body. But it isn't the gadgets that are important, it's what he and his associates have found out.

Boiled down, that is this: "Your cardiovascular system—medical jargon for heart and blood vessels—is all important. Keep it up to snuff and you avoid a lot of things. And doing this is not so hard. Here's the formula:

1. Walk, rhythmically and briskly, at least two miles every day, or go swimming for a half-hour at least every other day.

2. Along with this, be sure you get a proper diet, with plenty of vitamins, and do not eat too much. Avoid large quantities of animal fats and excesses in starches and sugars. Eat more soy beans and green and yellow vegetables.

That's the nub of it. In walking or swimming, the big muscles, as in your legs, push the blood back toward the heart. Rhythmic exercise gets all the blood in your body going. This helps to make your heart strong. It tones up your cardiovascular system, Professor Cureton explains.

St. John Baptist for covenant, communion and baptism. Four baptized were: Miss Shirley Schuler, Mrs. Harriet Thompson, Mr. De Norris and Mr. Harold Kipper. The B.T.U. met with Miss Alice Jeffries as president. Elder and Mrs. R. C. Cottonman of the Church of God in Christ were visitors.

Sunday evening, Rev. G. M. Williams preached on "Thy King Cometh." Restored to the church were Mrs. Eva McGruder and Mr. Charles Jackson. Visitors were Rev. and Mrs. B. J. Parker and Rev. and Mrs. Jordan Ray.

Miss Barbara Elkins of St. Paul, Minn., visited with Mrs. O. H. Burrell and family and Mrs. R. Mace and family.

NEW FIELDS TO BE INVAD
By Science, Chemists Hear

The next hundred years will bring tremendous advances through extension of scientific methods to fields now considered outside the realm of science, a distinguished New York chemist predicted in an address to the American Chemical society at Meadville, Pa.

Deploing the efforts of laymen, philosophers, and even some scientists to "erect boundaries circumscribing the domain of science," Dr. Henry B. Hass, manager of research and development of the General Aniline & Film corporation, said the techniques of science are so new that no one can possibly know what limits, if any, there are to potential scientific achievement.

It was little more than a half century ago, Dr. Hass pointed out, that pioneers who tried to introduce scientific thinking into psychology were "sneered at by all of our best people" for advancing the theory that sex problems were involved in mental disturbances.

Today, he noted, psychology is generally accepted as a useful science, although still in its "early evolutionary stage."

Dr. Hass, whose subject was "The Unfinished Task of Science," also forecast revision of some of the basic aspects of man's view of the universe, explaining that "we do not know, for example, whether we live in an expanding, a stationary, or a pulsating universe."

"New textile fibers will compete with present ones," he said. "The further diminution of infectious disease as a major cause of human death appears nearly certain as newer antibiotics bring under control whole families of microorganisms. Now that effective chemical agents are known for the control of diabetes, pernicious anemia, and arthritis, we may even regard the degenerative diseases with more hope. Atomic research will make wars more terrible and alleviate the problems of peace."

British Research

Research in Britain has, in recent years, produced a number of notable drugs for the protection of human health and the world's food supply. During 1949, a new pain-killing drug, heptalgin, was developed, which is six times more effective than morphine. Britain, pioneer of penicillin and the sulfa drugs, has also produced a new drug which will protect cattle in Africa from the dread tse-tse fly, and may therefore open up a great new meat-producing area to the world.

Television

The television industry continues to employ increasing amounts of nickel and nickel alloys in various component parts of transmitting and receiving equipment. Pure nickel is used extensively for cathodes in the camera and picture tubes, as well as in all the receiving and many of the transmitting vacuum tubes for cathodes and structural parts. Long life tubes with nickel internal parts are employed in the amplifiers of the long cable networks which link the studios and transmitters.

PERSONAL TOUCH

By

Marie R. C. S.

It was a moment of pleasure at noonday Monday to hear the East High school chorus of forty or more voices, directed by Sigrid Greenhill, sing some fine pre-Easter music, a capella, for the Holy Week program at Paramount theater, where 1,500 persons had assembled.

It was a feeling of satisfaction to see in the center of the chorus, one stalwart brownskin lad.

On the Paramount stage for the Tuesday noonday religious services marched the North high school chorus, directed by Ruth Richards. Scattered through the large group of youth were four Negro singers.

Always a source of great enjoyment is the organ prelude of hymns, chorales, and music from the masters, played by Mrs. Bessie Gaskins Young. Like most organists, who play preludes, her identity remains unknown until the end of the Holy Week services—but her performance of "Finlandia," "Meditation" from Thias or Bach choral are worth arriving early to hear.

Of course, everyone knows that the speaker has the leading part at these services.

Beautiful Easter cards—like frosted cathedral windows where lilies are in full bloom—have been received this week by friends of Mrs. Salema Morris, 1206 School street, who gets much happiness by sending season's greetings throughout the year.

In her recent mail, Mrs. Charles Carl, 3013 Amherst, found a belated Christmas card which wished her a happy Easter.

Mrs. A. E. Crosswhite of Columbia, Mo., had a very happy but breath-taking experience in town while attending the Midwest Regional conference.

A stranger, Mrs. Crosswhite had been invited out to dinner Saturday evening, in company with another Missourian who had some good friends here. When Mrs. Crosswhite returned to the YWCA later that evening for the night session, she discovered that her billfold with all of her money and other valuables was missing from the purse she carried.

"I'm sure I left it where I ate dinner," she commented as she dialed the phone.

"Will you see if I left a billfold on the dresser in the bedroom?" the delegate asked. While waiting for a reply, the delegate wiped perspiration and chastized herself — "What would mother think of me?"

Then her face beamed. The billfold was there—where she left it while powdering her nose.

"I'll take a cab and come for it," her voice rushed. "No?" she paused and thanked her host heartily. With that good neighborly spirit that Missourians have—Mr. Mack Carson found it no trouble to drive from way out on 23rd street to the YWCA to see that the delegate got her billfold. Mrs. Carson had accompanied Mrs. Crosswhite to the session but did not hear of the visitor's predicament until later.

"I have written you before and believe me things worked out just as you said. I want to know if it is wise for me to stay on alone here in this big house since my husband passed or marry some old man like myself? I am not too anxious to marry. Born June 3, 1880."

Ans: Give up the idea of marriage. You're independent financially and you have many friends in the community—so don't feel compelled to go "husband hunting." It isn't necessary for you to live alone. Rent out part of your home. Your niece would jump at the chance to live there with you.

"Do you feel you could help poor little me? I feel like my future is dark. Several months ago I was satisfied, filled with the spirit and happy. But now I feel like I've lost everything. Nothing interests me. I was the life of my small town but everybody is worried about me and I'm worried about myself. Born—1932."

Ans: Be of good cheer little lady, the world isn't going to end. You are experiencing the bitter tea that goes with romance. Life isn't always a bed of roses when you're in love—you're taking the situation too much seriously. Be gay, have fun and be your old self again.

"Two years ago I opened a little sewing shop and to my surprise I have made wonderful progress. I have had more work than my helper and I could do. I want to know if I should invest in another sewing machine and get another girl to help us. Sept. 4, 1915."

Ans: Another machine would be a good investment. You have some mighty good customers and they like your work—your business will thrive this year. With the coming of spring sewing will be more in demand and you can use extra help and a new machine.

SOME MISTAKE THE FUNCTIONS OF A NEWSPAPER

Some people mistake the principles and objectives of a newspaper which seeks to serve ALL the people. In thoughtless moments, they feel that bad news about them should not be published; about others it should be published; some feel that they must monopolize the columns of a paper using a lot of space under the guise of news, but which is pure advertising and must be paid for as such.

The newspaper business is a highly competitive field and whether it is fully realized or not the small weekly has competition with the large daily paper in some instances.

It is the policy of the Bystander to print the news as it sees it after checking the facts, to serve ALL the people, to favor no organization or individual over another, to publish the paper every week and to produce the best paper possible commensurate with its resources and the backing of its friends both white and black.

If it finds it is in error, a correction will be printed gladly and promptly.

This, we shall continue to do because it is fair. And our rules cannot be changed simply to suit the whims of anybody who does not wish to abide by them.

HARD HITTING NAACP GETS RESULTS

Anyone who heard Roy Wilkins speak at the closing meeting of the Midwest Regional Conference of the NAACP Sunday must have been impressed with the fact that the NAACP has made Negroes more civil rights conscious than ever before, that the organization has the know-how to fight for these rights and fair minded white people have concluded more than ever before that if America expects to lead the world as a democratic nation, it must clean out the things that negative her position such as segregation, jim-crow and the practice of other discrimination which keep Negroes from enjoying their full citizenship.

Discussing this matter with a publicity agent in Des Moines after the speech, this man said that civil rights was a minor issue, that Negroes should turn their attention to the job of defeating communism and thus prevent this government from being taken over lock, stock and barrel by fosters of a socialistic state.

More and more the thinking Negroes feel, and rightly so, that no issue is more important than civil rights; that there must be no compromise on civil rights and the proverbial log rolling in legislative halls definitely is out of order, that no political party or candidate who hedges on and-or opposes civil rights will get their support.

Of course this fellow wants to use the fight on socialism to delay the Negro's enjoyment of civil rights just as during each world war he has been asked to help win the victory and his civil rights would be assured.

It must be admitted that the NAACP has done a swell job of kicking the props out from under those bigots and ignorant creatures who would deny any man his rights simply on the basis of race, creed, color or religion; that it is limited only by funds which the people give to do the job; that it has the respect even of its enemies because the job is being done in an intelligent orderly manner.

that "we are determined to get a strong FEPC."

Atty. C. P. Howard, who headed the Iowa NAACP's Emergency drive, asked what the national office's plan was for the continuance of the committee set up for mobilization. Current informed that "it is not the NAACP's purpose to create a new organization;" that the emergency committees are still working under the leadership of their state conference branches.

"Municipal FEPC Laws" were discussed by Ashby Gaskins, president of the Minnesota State Conference.

Membership Drive

Miss Lucille Black of New York City, national membership chairman, reviewed the rise and fall in memberships during the past ten years. Back in 1940 the NAACP had 355 branches and 50,000 members.

The membership totals increased during the war years as follows: 1941—401 branches, 72,000 members; in 1942—401 and 121,170; 1943—584 and 205,072; 1944—893 and 324,939; 1945—894 and 351,131; 1946—1,073 branches and 394,909 members, hitting the wartime peak; 1947—leveling off with end of war industries, 1070 and 369,571; 1948—1113 and 353,267.

In 1949, when membership fees went up to two dollars the branches fell to 1100 and the membership to 230,100.

A strenuous campaign is on to send the memberships up to the 300,000 mark with a goal of 42,600 for the midwest, Miss Black told.

"So many people enjoy the advantages that the NAACP has fought for," she commented.

Delegates aired their community problems and techniques in securing members.

East St. Louis Story

During the evening session Saturday, Atty. Billy Jones of East St. Louis, Ill., told of the political and social action taken by the local branch and its militant president, David Owens, in banishing jim crow from the public school system in East St. Louis.

Negro and white students went into six schools together for the first time in 85 years. Then, the fight moved to Alton, Ill. The action was planned and mothers took their children to the white schools and stayed with them all day, filling up the empty seats in the rooms on the first day of the fight, Mr. Jones related.

The next morning when the mothers and children returned to school—waiting to be enrolled—they found that the empty seats had been moved from the rooms, the speaker related, to reveal that the fight to break down the discrimination was not an easy one.

The whites touched certain buttons putting pressure on the mothers who worked as domestics and fathers who were in plants. White parents blocked the rest rooms at the schools preventing the waiting Negro students from using them. KKK crosses were burned.

The colored children had to be withdrawn "as our forces were not organized so that we could last much longer," and an injunction was filed in Madison County, asking that the Alton schools be restrained from state funds and the judge denied it.

"The thing is too hot," Attorney Jones continued, informing that a hearing is scheduled to be argued April 10, "Locally, the courts are prejudiced," he added.

"You heard about the cross burning on the Mississippi side of Alton. Another cross was burned on the Negro side of Alton.

"Though the flaming crosses are burning in the home state of Abraham Lincoln, we are not going to be frightened. The leaders are here tonight."

The fight for integrated schools has moved on to Edwardsville, and Cairo, Ill., he said.

Urging more action for better public accommodations for the Negro, Attorney Williams, NAACP special Counsel, told of the fight that he and a group of American Veterans Committee (AVC) made in Des Moines several years ago when they went to a "greasy spoon" to eat and were refused service. They had the proprietor arrested.

"If you belong to NAACP that is dying for lack of action, then send some members down to some of those restaurants and be refused and start your own case.

"You have never lived if you have not walked in a picket line," the young attorney said.

Heaven Around Corner

"All of the gains that the NAACP has made in 40 years have been made by fighting. No one has given us anything. We shall see that we continue to fight. All we need is your support and your money.

"The walls are tumbling all over the country. Let them continue and heaven for the Negro in this country will be just around the corner."

Over $479 in pledges and cash contributions were contributed at the mass meeting.

Smalls Gets Citation

Ike Smalls, national vice president of NAACP, former president of the Des Moines and Iowa State conference branches, was presented an award from the Midwest Regional conference by veteran Atty. S. Joe Brown, which honored "the native son of Russia, adopted son of America," as the "most outstanding member" of the NAACP's fourth region.

Atty. Luther T. Glanton, Jr., president of the Iowa conference, presided at the mass meeting. Participating on the program were former Mayor Heck Ross, Brig. Gen. Charles Grahl, Mrs. Clifford Bayles, Mrs. Byron Kunsman, Mrs. Joburness Kelso, Rev. I. E. Metcalf, Rev. G. A. Singleton, and the St. Paul AME church choir.

Mrs. Vera Morrow, Des Moines branch membership chairman, presented her candidates for the Queen's contest.

HEALTH FOR ALL

APRIL MONTH OF SPRING

April is the month of spring—a season when a young man's fancy, and a maid's too, if the truth were known, lightly turn to thoughts of love. Young lovers planning for a lifetime of happiness together give little thought to the cares and sorrows that may afflict their future and less to the illnesses and disabilities that may attend their old age. How many a romantic couple launching upon their married life will too soon be separated by illness? In the past too many of them encountered in cancer a deadly obstacle to the completion of their happy married lives.

The American Cancer Society conducts its membership campaign. Primarily this is a campaign for funds, much needed funds, which will be wisely spent in a well-planned attack against cancer.

Secondly, and of quite as great importance, the American Cancer Society during the same period intensifies its educational program so that the public may be made aware of their responsibility in the program of Cancer Control, and learn that cancer is curable by means presently available in about half of all cases. Not that many are cured, but they could be if they recognized the early signs of cancer and received medical attention at a stage when treatment could be effective in saving life.

Such a program is worthy of support. It could be effective in promoting a long, happy and healthy life for the youth of today. It surely will be effective in saving some lives now, and speed the day when cancer deaths will be as rare as those from diphtheria, typhoid, and the other health hazards of former years.

During April, which has been designated both by Act of Congress and Proclamation of owa's Governor as Cancer Control Month, the Amer-

CHANGE MADE IN POLEVAVLT RUNWAY AT DRAKE RELAYS

What looms as perhaps the finest polevault field in the history of the Drake Relays will be on hand for the 41st renewal of that track classic, April 28-29 here in Drake stadium.

And the star-studded assortment of sky-scrapers will get a big lift from a change made in the polevault runway for this year's Relays.

The southern approach to the polevault pit has been lengthened by 20 yards, giving the high-soaring gents and additional 60 feet in which to gather momentum for their flights over the crossbar.

First to take advantage of this improvement engineered by Tommy Deckard, boss of the Drake carnival, will be a field including some of the nation's leading vaulters.

Delegates and friends met national officers at a reception which followed.

FAIR EASTER MORNING

Roses in the garden
Angels softly sigh;
Sweet angelic voices,
Whisper from paradise
Fair Easter morning,
Easter lilies wave,
Holy Thou art holy,
Echoes from the grave.
Call me in the morning,
With a melody divine;
Lily of the valley,
Round my heart entwine.

Holy Easter morning,
Blessed Easter day;
Holy Thou art holy,

All the angels say,
Now the Lord is risen,
Shadows flee away;
Holy thou art Holy,
That's why I love Easter day.
—Manuel S. Pickett, 1004 16th street, Des Moines, Iowa.

Where but in the temple
Can we hear thy love
Sweetly extolled by men
Moved by thy greatness glowing?

O CROSS

O cross
Where but in the sky
Can we look to catch
A glimpse of the two trees
And its sainted burden?

O cross
Where save in the hearts
Men bear can thy love
And pain take root and Bloom to do His work?

—N. S. Ellington.

WHY SERETSE KHAMA WAS TRICKED INTO EXILE

world has invested, does not believe anything of this sort can possibly happen. They depend on white investors to stop it. But this last stand of colonial and financial imperialism in Africa is about to end and today it is a greater threat of war than the Iron Curtain, or the Atom Bomb.

Johannesburg, South Africa—Seretse Khama, exiled chief-designate of the Bamangwato tribe, returned to his native Bechuanaland Friday and was greeted by welcoming cries from his tribesmen.

The British refused, however, to let him go to the territory of his tribe. British officials, fearing that his loyal supporters would attempt to kidnap him at the Gaberones airport, where he alighted, order a heavy police guard but there was no disorder.

Authorities also reversed a previous decision to let Seretse have his traditional tribal welcome.

The cries of greeting—"pula-pula"—for the 28-year-old Oxford educated Seretse came from hundreds of his Bechuanaland followers. It was their way of expressing their disapproval of the British government's order forbidding Seretse from assuming the chieftainship of the Bamangwato tribe because he married a white English girl.

Ten minutes after the plane landed, he was served by British officials with the order forbidding him to enter Bamangwato territory.

Then he left by automobile for Lobatsi, near the border of Transvaal, where he will be joined by his wife, the former London typist, Ruth Williams, 25, who is expecting a baby in June.
