President Truman Told to Create FEPC Measure

Washington, D. C.—Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem., Minn.) last Sunday suggested that President Truman create by executive order a fair employment practices commission as a preparedness measure.

The suggestion was made in a letter to Mr. Truman. He told the president such a commission to eliminate discrimination in defense and government employment was needed now.

"Many American citizens," he said, "are today unable to contribute their skills and abilities to defense production solely because of their color, religion or national origin."

Mr. Offutt is also asking the churches to send contributions to aid the Association in its present financial emergency.

Found Guilty of Morals Charge

After deliberating only 50 minutes, a district court jury Tuesday found Andrew Jackson, 52, guilty of a morals charge involving a 22-year-old Burlington man.

District Judge Joseph E. Meyer set Jan. 24 for sentencing Jackson. Jackson faces a term in the penitentiary not to exceed 10 years.

The jury was composed of six men and six women.

Jackson was arrested here last November on a complaint from Melvin Summers, who accused Jackson of attacking him and robbing him of $22.

Jackson was arrested a short time after being released from the men's state reformatory at Anamosa. Records show he has been convicted twice previously on similar morals charges.

Say Inductees in Alabama Segregated in Inferior, Poorly Equipped Areas

New York.—Heads of the nation's defense services have been urged by Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, to "take immediate steps to eliminate segregation and discrimination from all phases of military life and thereby make certain that all personnel under your control will be accorded the same treatment without regard to race, color or creed."

Citing complaints of discrimination received from servicemen, Mr. White, in identical telegrams to Secretary of Defense George Marshall, Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Secretary of the Air Force Thomas F. Finletter and Secretary of the Navy Francis P. Matthews, warned that "such treatment by military personnel can only succeed in adversely affecting the morale of Negro troops . . . and hamper efforts to secure full-hearted support of the American Negro for the Government's military and foreign policy program."

In his telegrams, dated January 9, Mr. White mentioned particularly conditions at Camp Rucker, Alabama, where it is charged, Negro inductees are segregated in inferior and poorly equipped areas and humiliated by military police whenever they venture into the surrounding community.

Merit Award Given To Dr. P. L. Julian

Chicago, Ill.—Dr. Percy L. Julian, 51, internationally known Chicago chemist, was announced Monday as winner of the 1950 distinguished merit award of the Decalogue Society of Lawyers.

Marshall in Japan for Month to Investigate GI Court-Martial Sentences

New York.—Thurgood Marshall, special counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, left the Idlewild Airport here Jan. 11 on the first lap of a 7,000-mile flight to Tokyo, where he will undertake the defense of accused GIs of the 24th Infantry.

Scheduled to have arrived there, January 14, Mr. Marshall will begin an on-the-scene investigation of the circumstances surrounding the court-martial convictions of 36 Negro enlisted men and officers who have appealed to the NAACP for such assistance. He will also confer with General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, the Inspector General and other top officials of the Far East Command.

Mr. Marshall expects to be overseas for about a month, returning to San Francisco on February 14. Upon his return he will begin a cross country tour, reporting to local branches of the NAACP on his findings in Japan and Korea.

Mass Action

In a press conference here before leaving, Mr. Marshall told newsmen that "information from courts-martial defendants . . . and other sources indicate that the trials were an attempt at mass disciplinary action during the daily retreats which marked the early days of the Korean conflict and that such discipline was not inflicted upon white troops."

Following receipt of such information and appeals from the convicted men, the NAACP decided to send Mr. Marshall to Tokyo to make a first hand investigation. At first his request for an entry permit was denied by General MacArthur. A direct appeal to the General by Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, opened the way for Mr. Marshall to make the trip.

The NAACP, Mr. Marshall said at his farewell press conference, believes that it is imperative that discrimination of all sorts be rooted out of the Armed Forces, especially at a time when these services are expanding and beginning to play a more important part in the lives of every citizen."

Witnesses Begin Testimony In Zelma Rollen Crawford First Degree Murder Case

The murder trial of Mrs. Zelma Rollen Crawford, 38, has been attracting crowds of spectators to the court room of District Judge Tom K. Murrow this week.

Charged with first degree murder, Mrs. Crawford will plead self-defense in the alleged stabbing of her husband, Louis, during an argument last June 10 in their home, 783 Eleventh street.

The selection of an all-woman jury, which began Monday afternoon, was completed Tuesday evening.

During the jury panel, Defense Attorney Charles P. Howard asked prospective members:

"Do you believe a woman has the right to defend herself against unnecessary assaults?"

At the time of her arrest last June, Mrs. Crawford was quoted as saying, "I was tired of him (Crawford) beating me up."

The state charges that Mrs. Crawford fatally stabbed her husband in the chest with a paring knife.

First Assistant County Attorney Ed R. Fitzgerald and Assistant County Attorney Luther T. Glanton, Jr., are prosecuting the case.

Testimony began on Wednesday morning after opening statements by the attorneys.

First Witness

First state's witness called to the stand was Mrs. Anna Barbour, 776 Twelfth street, who testified that she and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Nellie Dameron, went to 783 Eleventh street, on the night of June 10, to pick up Mrs. Dameron's husband, Hampton.

Mrs. Barber revealed that before they left the Eleventh street address, she heard Mr. Crawford tell his wife, Zelma, to "go to bed—we are going out."

Mrs. Barber said Mrs. Crawford replied that "I am not ready to go to bed," and the witness added that "that's all there was that I heard."

She said she did not see "Louie grab Zelma's wrist and twist it." She saw no knife and neither the stabbing, Mrs. Barber told the court.

At his mother's side in court is Seamon Charles Brown who is enroute to a naval base in San Diego, Cal.

Detroit NAACP Launches All-Out Attack on Discriminatory Hiring

Detroit, Mich.—An all-out attack against discriminatory hiring practices by neighborhood independent or chain markets which have predominately Negro patronage was launched this week by the Detroit NAACP.

NAACP officials stated that the drive was motivated after flagrant cases were found where at least sixty percent of trade at several stores was Negro, yet all employees filling responsible jobs were white. Three markets had no race employees except at menial jobs as janitor and stock-room boy.

"After some careful observations," said NAACP Secretary Arthur L. Johnson, "we have located a number of the so-called neighborhood super-markets where the patronage is predominantly Negro and in some cases almost all-Negro, but in spite of this fact, there is open and flagrant discrimination against Negroes in employment opportunities.

"This practice must be stopped, and we shall not relent until the situation is cleared.

"The plan of the Association," Johnson added, "is that of developing organized neighborhood groups to implement this program, and to these groups all resources of our office are made accessible.

"We urge any persons interested in this program to get in touch with the NAACP office."

Thursday evening honored the pastor, Rev. George Parish and his staff and its members. The dinner was headed by Mrs. J. P. Jones assisted by Mrs. James Hunter and members from all the auxiliaries of the church.

Pastor Parish was in his pulpit last Sunday morning. Rev. J. H. Jones preached at the evening services and the ladies chorus sang. The P.H. club met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Evelyn Bettis, entertained by Mildred Caldwell. The mission circle will meet Friday evening at the church. Youth Day will be observed Sunday, Jan. 28. Sick members are Fannie English, Clara Houston, Helen Simmons and Mr. Pat Bettis.

America's Bald Eagle
There are two sub-species of America's living bald eagle, the big northern and the smaller southern varieties, the latter ranging as far south as northern Mexico. These eagles build their often huge nests high in tall trees or on lofty, rocky crags. Almost invariably they nest near lakes and other waters, for fish and water fowl are favorite foods. Most of the fish captured are dead or spent, although some are taken from the successful hunter, the osprey, which is forced to drop its prey in flight.

Frozen Crushed Fruit

Crushed frozen fruit gives a delightful flavor to ice cream, sherberts, and beverages. With this fact in mind, food preservation specialists urge that some fruits be crushed and frozen for this purpose. They point out that the natural flavor of these crushed or pureed frozen fruits is more pronounced than that in sugar-packed halves or slices.

"FOR THE MASSES . . . AND THE CLASSES"

MORTGAGED!

... A FRANK MESSAGE TO FOLKS WHO BELIEVE IN PAYING THEIR OWN WAY!

MOST PEOPLE, in their private affairs, believe that paying their own way is the best. It's not only a matter of morality with them, either. They have found that sooner or later the "piper must be paid." The fear of excessive debt is a real fear. It is one of the main lessons taught in the "college of hard knocks."

Every year our national debt goes higher. Politicians talk economy, and then act to increase government expense. They think this pleases the citizens . . . that it gets votes. But people are beginning to doubt the idea of "something for nothing."

Our nation's future is the future of our children. When schemes for more spending . . . more borrowing . . . more debt . . . are advanced by economic dreamers, remember your children. Let's not get careless with their future. Let's pay our own way.

SOLID SUPPORT SOUNDS GOOD, BUT BACKFIRES

It is a disgrace, a subterfuge, a lie that we are fighting for democracy when at the same time that fight is officially self-peddled in America in order to get the support in Congress of a group of men whose love for democracy is no greater than that of Stalin and his cohorts in Russia.

David Lawrence, the Alsop Brothers and Stokes, writing feature articles in the Des Moines Tribune (and hundreds of other papers) say that like the late President Roosevelt during World War II who said the New Deal was held in abeyance for the duration, Mr. Truman, while his views have not changed, has been forced by party and congressional leaders and the state department to do the same thing in the interest of harmony. But Stokes, who take a more sensible view added that minority groups cannot be asked to give up their campaign for civil rights.

The situation in World War II and today are not the same. In Germany was a great movement denying civil rights to minority groups thus presenting a very clearly defined issue. It alienated the support of both majority and minority groups. But today the so-called free nations—and this very fiasco proves we are not free—are aligned against a foe which claims to offer civil rights to minority groups, to natives which have no faith in our claim to be a democracy. Consequently we must keep up the effort to show good faith.

It has been said that some Americans would rather lose the war than see Negroes attain full equality of citizenship. The refusal by some southern members of Congress to support the war effort, if the fight civil rights is not held in abeyance, proves this very clearly.

This position is certainly placing America in a bad light before the world and keeps many nations fearful that what we do is entirely different from what we say. It furnishes the Asiatics a good argument why they want the UN forces thrown out of Asia.

PRICE AND WAGE CONTROLS NEEDED

It has been amazing to watch the increased cost of everything and the failure of the federal government to take steps to halt the upward trend. Prices have gone beyond the control of a lot of people, the government is asking for billions in taxes with which to finance the defense effort but seems blind to these high prices which make the public debt higher day by day.

Price controls may be a lot of trouble but they keep the cost of things we must buy somewhat near the level between what a fellow must buy and what he makes.

'ATTACK' — SIX SECRETS YOU CAN SURVIVE ATOMIC

WHAT ABOUT SUPER BOMBS?

Should Iowa be attacked with atom bombs, you have a good chance of living through the raid. This series of articles will tell you how atom bombs operate, and how you can protect yourself. Clip these articles; the full series will be a complete reprint of the government pamphlet, "Survival Under Atomic Attack," which is available for 10 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C.

WHAT IS 'INITIAL' RADIOACTIVITY?

Broadly speaking, atomic explosions produced two different kinds of radioactivity. First—and most important in an air burst—is an extremely powerful invisible burst of rays and particles thrown off at the time of the explosion. This kind is called "initial" or explosive radioactivity. It's rays and particles fly out quickly, then promptly die.

There is danger from them only for little more than a minute. The second type of radioactivity—lingering radioactivity—will be described later.

The injury range of the explosive radioactivity from a modern A-bomb is a little over 1 mile, if the bomb is exploded about 2,000 feet in the air. If it is exploded much higher, some of the radiation may not reach the ground, so the range may be less. If it is exploded much lower, the radiation also may not reach out as far, because it would be blocked by the ground or by buildings.

A little more than a mile away, the principal efforts of the few dying rays that struck you could be seen only as temporary blood changes in a doctor's examination. You probably wouldn't even realize you had been exposed.

Less Than Mile

A little less than a mile from the explosion center, if you are unprotected, you are almost sure to suffer illness. Less than two-thirds of a mile away, those caught in the open are pretty sure to soak up a fatal dose of radioactivity.

Still, the possibility of your being caught without some protection is not very great. Even if you are on the street, there is a good chance that a building, or many buildings, will be between you and the burst, and they will partially or completely shield you.

Atomic explosions high above ground cause the most widespread damage. And, as happened in Japan,

Cinderella Story Retains Ancient Hold on Readers

The "Cinderella Story" has been a "best seller" for more than 4,000 years.

It crowds the Bible and Shakespeare for popularity, all over the world. Nearly every race has some version of the "Cinderella Story." One of the oldest stories known, it is common to countries separated by the widest stretches of land and sea and time.

A folk tale of ancient Egypt, called "Rhodopis and Her Gilded Sandals," was probably the first "Cinderella Story." "Rhodopis," meaning "the rosy-cheeked" in the Greek, is a legend that was woven around Queen Nitokris during the era of the Pyramid Builders. Told to the children of Egypt about two thousand years before Christ, it is to this day a favorite fairy tale of the land.

According to the legend, Rhodopis, "lovely as the day-dawn," was bathing in the River Nile when an eagle flew off with one of her small gilded sandals. He dropped it in the lap of the king who vowed he would wed none other than the owner of the dainty little slipper. And he did. Cinderella, or her prototype, finally developed into the story of the ill-treated but ultimately successful younger daughter which appears in the folklore of many different peoples.

The English version of the "Cinderella Story" with which all English-speaking people are familiar, came from France. It was translated into the English in 1729.

Shellac Used to Preserve Household Wood and Budget

With the price of lumber once again heading toward an all-time high, the householder and the home craftsman are faced with a pressing conservation problem. In this connection, Gordon Obrig, one of the country's top furniture designers and a fellow of the American designers' institute, offers several ideas aimed at preserving your household woods and your pocketbook.

Use of several coats of shellac on present room moldings and baseboards, as well as walls, floors and old wooden household pieces will prolong the life of each of these articles as much as 50 per cent, he points out. In addition, where slight cracks have begun to appear in your wooden possessions, they can be filled in quite handily by simply applying a shellac stick, obtainable at any hardware store.

A persistent problem with both old and new wood is the presence of knots. Here, a couple of coats of orange shellac will prevent the knot from working loose, and thus marring the surface. The glue-like qualities of shellac can be utilized if a knot has worked its way loose by simply removing the section, coating its sides with shellac and then replacing it.

SPORTS

By ALLAN ASHBY

The intrepid Eagles threatened to make headline news again last Wednesday. They led the Ross Bomber gang three quarters of their basketball game at North High. The young battlers from the East side had a small lead into the middle of the fourth quarter. Then something went wrong.

Perhaps it was the terrific pressure of the Ross gang who never did quit. Whatever it was the Eagles abandoned their basketball game while they fell to arguing first with the officials and then with each other.

The Bombers, quick to grab any advantage soon piled up a small lead and kept it for the rest of the game, winning 31-28. The kids were hurt but said they'd make it up next time. The Elks tackled the Des Moines Day outfit that made up in determination whatever they lacked in finesse. The result was a grand scramble that had the more experienced Elks hustling all the way to keep ahead of the day shooters. But couldn't find the gun—a Belgian automatic pistol—for some time. He said it was finally produced by Mrs. Jones.

"Quite Unusual."

The defendant did not take the stand.

At the end of the testimony about 3:30 p.m. Judge Cootersaid:

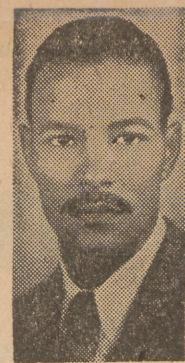

"This matter of shooting twice accidentally seems quite unusual. I'll take the case under advisement until four o'clock."

At that time, the judge announced from the bench that he thought the defendant engaged in an unlawful act but was innocent of the charge placed against him.

George Sullivan, defense attorney, then pleaded Thomas guilty of a companion charge of intoxication on which the judge assessed a fine of $25.

These are just a few of the ways in which a little maintenance effort around the house can be used to avoid extra expenditures for lumber.

HEALTH FOR ALL

RINGWORM

Several Iowa counties are preventing epidemics of ringworm of the scalp by taking quick action in schools.

Ringworm of the scalp is currently Iowa's number one school health nuisance problem, states Dr. Ralph H. Heeren, director of the division of preventable diseases of the Iowa State Department of Health.

Calhoun and Mahaska counties are the counties recently having ringworm in epidemic proportions among preschool and school children. At Lake City in Calhoun County a special ringworm clinic was needed for 6 months, supervised by physicians and staffed by two nurses.

Now special precautions are being taken in several counties to avoid future epidemics of ringworm. The Wood light, used to examine hair and scalp, will show up the early case. By the time two or three youngsters have attacks far enough advanced that the infection can be seen by the eye, ringworm has usually become widespread in the school, points out Dr. Heeren.

Use of the Wood light has been added to prevent ringworm epidemics in Poweshiek county, at Montezuma and Grinnell; in Marion county at Pella and Bussey; in Allamakee county and in Scott county.

With such widespread distribution of ringworm of the scalp in Iowa schools, nurses should add examination of the hair and scalp with the Wood light to their routine examinations. Thus children suspected of having ringworm can be sent to their own doctor for diagnosis before the case becomes advanced enough to cause an epidemic in the school, states Dr. Heeren.

Treatment of ringworm of the scalp is prolonged. Victims are usually boys between the ages of 7 and 12; about one girl gets it for every seven boys; ringworm rarely is seen after puberty.

PERSONAL TOUCH

Marie
ROSS

Familiar are some of the faces of this term's Polk County District court jurors who are listening to the civil and criminal cases, which have been drawing crowds of spectators to the courtrooms this week.

Serving her first time as a juror is well known restaurateur, Mrs. A. P. Trotter of the Community Luncheonette. She has been wearing a very pleasant and restful smile—like one who is enjoying a vacation.

This week, Mrs. George Jackson, Jr., 781 Fourteenth street, was doing her patriotic duty, as a juror. She has two boys in elementary school and she goes home at noon to feed them. Her household schedule has not been disrupted. On evenings when her husband arrives home first, he has the supper ready.

Getting quite a "thrill" out of her jury service is Mrs. Ettie Singleton, wife of Rev. G. A. Singleton. She's "lucky" to be called to jury service so soon. She has been in Des Moines just thirteen months.

"I'd like to get on a case where I would have to stay all night," she imagined.

Her homework is running along smoothly for she does most of it before she comes to court or during the evening hours. "I cook and Dad (the Reverend) has it ready on the table when I get home."

Mrs. Singleton informed that when she lived in Philadelphia, Pa., her former residence, she spent three years as a typist in the signal corps; and three years with the Department of Public Assistance as a junior clerk and had been promoted to senior clerk when she came to Des Moines.

"I just like serving on a jury," Mrs. Arthur Turner, 1424 E. 18th street commented. "It is fun and it is something different. I suppose I just like being around people."

About her work at home, Mrs. Turner said "It's no trouble. I just plan my schedule. I get home about 5 p.m. and when my husband arrives about 6 o'clock, supper is ready. Sometimes, I start cooking the night before—but, my husband doesn't eat heavy food and it doesn't take long to prepare," she informed.

The most interesting part of a jury case is hearing the judge instruct the jury, Mrs. Turner said.

"Cases are so educational and I do think every one of us who can spare the time on jury service should do so," she added.

Mrs. Eva Morton, 1169 Eleventh street, likes best about listening to cases—"the mental work" it affords. One of the interesting cases she has served on since the term began on Jan. 8, was a dog case, she said.

This was the case of the "cur" dog that killed the two Chihuahua dogs in the neighborhood. The owner had asked $1,100 damages which were denied.

"Why, the case was so interesting and I listened to intently that I was so nervous, I couldn't sleep, one night," Mrs. Morton related.

The courtrooms have had their share of spectators who have been on hand since Monday when Zelma Rolden Crawford went to trial on a first-degree murder charge, for the alleged slaying of her husband, Louie. Her

BANS OFFENSIVE WORDS FROM SONGS AT NAACP REQUEST

New York.—Herbert E. Marks, president of the Herbert E. Marks Music Corporation, this week assured the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that no publications of his company in the future will carry any terms considered to be offensive or derogatory to minority groups.

In answer to a complaint by Mrs. Ruby Hurley, NAACP youth secretary, about terms used in several songs in a community song folio published by the Marks Corporation, Mr. Marks noted that it has been the policy of his company to avoid publication of songs that are either derogatory in theme or contain offending words.

"I was really horrified," Mr. Marks wrote, "to find that one of our publications contained the obnoxious and insulting words that are to be found in 'Oh! Susanna' and 'At a Georgia Camp Meeting' . . . I have given implicit instructions to our editorial department to correct these immediately and make absolutely certain that nothing else (of the kind) is ever printed here."

attorney is Charles P. Howard. Recently appointed Assistant County Attorney Luther T. Glanton questioned the prospective jurors during the panel Monday afternoon and Tuesday. With him is First Assistant County Attorney Ed. R. Fitzgerald.

In Judge Tom K. Murrell's courtroom have been many of the relatives and friends of Mrs. Crawford.

In Judge Russell Jordan's court, the early part of the week, was former Asst. County Attorney James Brad Morris, Jr., who represented Joseph Ayers in a suit for damages.

Another crowd gathered in Judge Joseph E. Meyer's court to hear the case of Andrew Jackson, who was found guilty of a charge on a morals charge.

MARY CHURCH TERRELL CLUB INSTALLS OFFICERS; TO MEET MONDAY EVENING

Walker; chaplain, Mrs. Joan Bullock; parliamentarian, Mrs. George Jackson and reporter, Mrs. Fred Johnson.

Domestic Workes Now Under Social Security Regulation

Hundreds of locals who find employment in domestic capacities—as day workers or by 'staying on the place'—as laundresses, cooks, chauffeurs, were brought under the new social security law which became effective on Jan. 1.

Regular workers in private homes may now obtain social security cards, and their employers will be responsible for their reporting wages, along with social security taxes, to the collector of internal revenue.

To be eligible, household workers need not 'stay on the place,' nor need they be employed every day in the same household.

Any domestic worker is included if paid $50 in cash wages for work in a given home during any of the four three-month periods into which the Social Security Administration has divided the year:

24 Days

And if the worker works at least 24 different days in a household during the same three-month period, or the period just before it.

These periods are: Jan., Feb., Mar.; Apr., May, June; July, Aug., Sept.; and Oct., Nov., Dec.

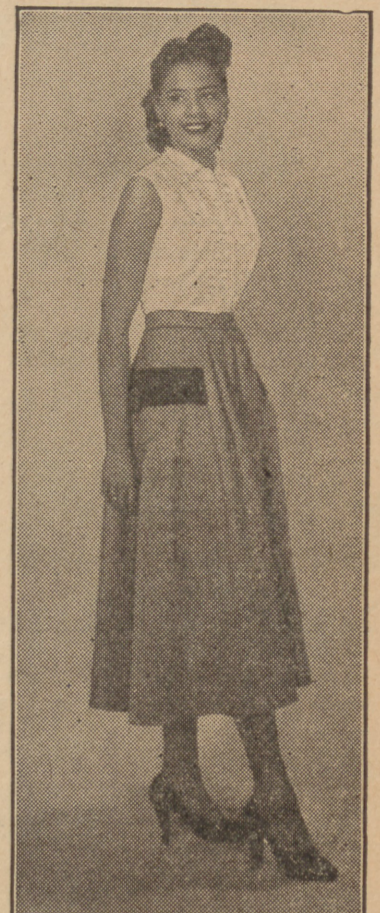

Under the terms of the new Social Security law, room and board are not counted as taxable wages. Only cash wages, and including carfare if paid in cash.

Day workers must be reported by each householder for whom they work the qualifying period.

Each employer must deduct 1½ percent from the cash wages as her employee's contribution to the social security tax; and each employer must contribute an equal amount.

The employer may obtain from the Collector of Internal Revenue a special household report form, and send the tax, with a report of the wages paid, to the bureau.

This new Federal Social Security law provides qualifying household workers with monthly payments when they are old and can work no longer.

The furnace won't start

DROPPING temperature is the signal for a hurry call for help—a call that will surely guard your comfort, and may prevent a plumbing bill! Important as such a call is, it costs no more than the general run of telephoning you do every day. How do we arrive at the price you pay?

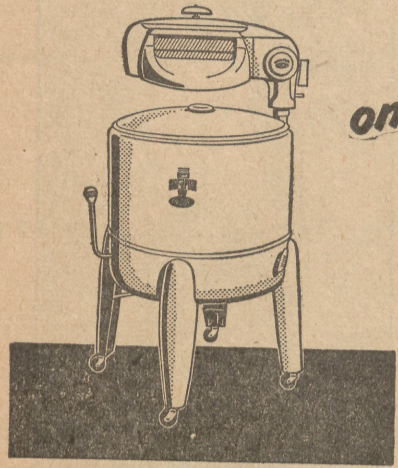

Rising demand for service is our signal for re-appraising plans for new construction. The amazing fact is that while population in our territory went up less than 3% in the last ten years, demand for service zoomed up 75%. And each telephone we put in now takes much more investment than required in 1940. Our problem, then, if we are to build up to what people want at today's high equipment prices, is to show earnings good enough to bring in the new investor money needed to pay for expansion. The only sound course is to have prices for service that will show a reasonable profit, attractive to investors.

Your telephone is worth more than it costs
