Randolph Says Civil Rights Struggle Must Continue Even in Time of Warfare

Minneapolis, Minn.—"The struggle for civil rights should go on relentlessly, even in time of war," A. Philip Randolph, International President of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, said at the 25th Anniversary meeting of the Twin Cities Division of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, Sunday, May 20, at Stem Hall in St. Paul.

A. P. RANDOLPH

Over 400 people heard Randolph and Milton P. Webster, First International vice-president of the brotherhood, the two principal speakers on the first day of the two day conference which was held May 20 and 21. Randolph charged that "The weakest spot in our democracy is the absence of first class citizenship for Negroes in America," and that "Russian and Chinese Communists with whom we are at war can enter our nations' capitol and receive privileges that no Negro can expect. This unfairness stands out all the more clearly now when Negroes are fighting and dying in Korea."

Outline Program

He told of the recent conferences between President Truman, secretary of state Dean Acheson and C. E. Wilson, director of Mobilization with some of the national Negro leaders where a five point program was outlined for the full integration of Negroes in the war mobilization plans.

The five points are (1) abolition of Jim Crow in Washington (2) a wartime FEPC (3) appointment of a Negro as one administrative assistant in the War Mobilization Board (4) integration of Negroes in top positions in the various war mobilization agencies (5) and a member of the president's staff who would work solely with minority problems.

"Politicians Only Do . . ."

While the President, Secretary of State and the Director of Mobilization were friendly and cooperative, Randolph warned that it may be necessary to bring more pressure on Washington and that he couldn't promise when this program will be carried out. He emphasized the fact politicians only do what they are pressed to do.

"There is no fundamental difference between the Republican and Democratic parties as far as civil rights and labor is concerned" he said.

Ask Justice Dept. Action In Birmingham Home Fires; Fighters Stood Idly By

New York.—The Department of Justice was urged this week to take immediate steps "to see to it that affirmative action be taken to protect the Negroes in the Birmingham, Ala., area from the callous disregard of their civil rights by private individuals and local law enforcement officers."

The appeal, made in a letter to Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath by Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, followed the burning this week of thirty-nine Negro homes as fire fighters stood idly by. The Birmingham branch of the NAACP had already organized a local committee to take action to prevent violence against homes of Negro residents, after nine bombings of these homes.

GEN. EISENHOWER REVIEWS NEGRO HONOR GUARD—During a four-day tour of British, French and American troops in Germany, General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Allied Commander, SHAPE, reviewed the EUCOM Honor Guard at Rhine-Main Airbase as he arrived from inspecting French Forces in Cologne. Left to right: General Thomas T. Handy, Commander-in-Chief, EUCOM; Lt. Alfred J. Dempsey, Honor Guard Commander; General of the Army, Dwight D. Eisenhower. This is a U. S. Army Radiophoto from Frankfurt.

The European Command Honor Guard is a crack drill outfit utilized to greet visiting dignitaries in Europe. It is specially equipped with distinctive uniforms including chrome-plated helmets, rifles and bayonets. The platoon is also combat-qualified as a regular infantry platoon. The unit is capable of performing 30 consecutive minutes of silent drill without command. Its drill demonstrations have thrilled thousands of U. S. military personnel, American and European civilians over the past three years. It is the only Negro unit of its kind in the Army. The platoon was organized and trained at Grafenwohr, Germany, in 1947, by Captain (then Lieutenant) H. M. Francis, 1944 Graduate of the United States Military Academy, of Washington, D. C.

Says Trenton Defendant Worked on Day of Murder

Trenton, N. J.—The former employer of one of the defendants in the celebrated Trenton Six murder case testified May 24 that the defendant, Horace Wilson, was on the job working for him on the morning of the 1948 murder of second-hand furniture dealer William Horner, with whose slaying the six Negroes are charged.

Holmes Perrine, the employer, stated on direct questioning by Raymond Pace Alexander, who heads the staff of lawyers retained by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to defend Horace Wilson and John McKenzie, that his plant records show Wilson was at work on the day of the crime. Mr. Perrine identified these records in the courtroom and also identified the handwriting of a foreman, deceased, who had entered Horace Wilson's name on a roll indicating his attendance at work on that day. The foreman's testimony at the first trial of the Six was read to the jury by Mr. Alexander.

The re-trial of the Six, whose first conviction was reversed by the New Jersey Supreme Court, began on March 5 and is now nearing the completion of its twelfth week. Mr. Alexander is being assisted in the defense of Wilson and McKenzie by NAACP attorneys J. Mercer Burrell of Newark and Clifford Moore of Trenton. The other men are being defended by other lawyers.

McKenzie Sticks to Story
Earlier this week, McKenzie was unshaken in his insistence that he played no part in the crime, and charged that he and the other defendants were drugged in intimidation before they signed "confessions." He said that he blacked out after being given a cigarette by police and flatly denied that he had been "look-out man" for the murder, as police charged. He also told the court that McKinley Forrest walked into a wall after drinking a cup of water containing a white powder.

Iowa NAACP Branches Show Progress Along Lines Of Race Relations and Jobs

Davenport, Ia.—The twelfth annual session of the Iowa State Conference of Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, convened here May 26 and 27 at the Third Baptist church with Atty. Luther T. Glanton, Jr., of Des Moines, presiding.

Thirty-one delegates of the State were in attendance to air problems which have arisen in the respective branches of Iowa.

One of the features of the program was a memorial in which eulogies were conducted for the late attorneys, S. Joe Brown and Milton F. Fields, valuable and long-standing members of the NAACP, who died during 1950.

Much activity among the branches was revealed in reports by committee members. Outstanding among the branch projects were cited by Mrs. Guy E. Greene, who told of the membership drive now under way in Des Moines; Mr. Singer, who listed civil rights progress and the gift of a community center, and a setting-up fund for educational purposes, a working FEPC ordinance and Negro children allowed in municipal pools in Sioux City.

Mrs. M. F. Fields in Waterloo listed among her branch's progress,

Conditions Made Worse By National Emergency; in Many Areas It Is Crucial

New York—America's housing problem, for years a major concern of city dwellers, has been worsened by the present national emergency to the point where in many areas it is crucial. This conclusion is based on a survey released today by the National Urban League on the "Impact of the National Emergency on 22 American Cities" during the first quarter of 1951. The League is the nation's oldest and largest interracial service agency working for equal economic opportunity.

That the nation's housing situation has deteriorated as a result of industrial expansion, allocation of materials to defense efforts, and migration of workers was reported by the cities canvassed—St. Louis, typical of many industrial centers, noted an "increase in overcrowding in Negro community in housing and public schools as a result of increased number of Negro migrants from the deep South." Denver reported an "emergency situation (in housing) created by decentralization of government agencies," and in Lincoln, Nebraska, "re-activation of Lincoln Air Base is about to evict more than 1,000 families living in the area." These patterns held true for other cities reporting.

Emergency Felt

In other elements of city-living, the emergency has made itself felt. The Seattle Urban League noted that the impact of the Korean war was "greater in this area than perhaps any area in America." In this city, the emergency has created unforeseen problems: "Since September 1950, number of Negro servicemen tripled. Penitentiaries have increased; recreational facilities overloaded; one major riot during 1950 between Negro soldiers and Negro civilians."

Industrial expansion has completely changed some patterns of employment of Negroes from what they were one year ago. Many employers today are clamoring for qualified Negro workers. A year ago it was often difficult to induce some plants to accept qualified Negro workers. Indications of the change are in the reports: Fort Wayne, Indiana—we are "faced to limit in finding workers to meet demand of industries and businesses in city. Shortage in the labor supply is evident." Louisville—"defense contracts have caused a scramble for qualified workers and the League is unable to cope with the volume of placement and employment calls received." New Orleans—"30 million dollars worth of new plants moving to area. Need for (our) industrial services already exceeds resources."

Community Problems

The heavy demand for skilled workers in expanding and in new plants has created many community problems characteristic of World War II industrial expansion. The Urban League survey in Omaha reports "alarming amount of delinquency as result of death of child care facilities and Negro soldiers."

NEGRO, BOYS' TOWN GRADUATE BECOMES CATHOLIC PRIEST

Boys' Town, Nebr.—Warren Joseph Anderson, who for years has called Boys' Town home, is the first Negro alumnus of this famous institution to become a Catholic priest.

Father Anderson was ordained May 19 at the Cathedral in Omaha. Most Rev. Gerald T. Bergan, D. D., Archbishop of Omaha, conferred the sacrament.

Father Anderson offered his First Solemn Mass in Boys' Town the following day.

The young priest studied at St. John's College, Collegeville, Minn., and at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, Mass.

Spingarn Medal Awarded to Mrs. Mabel Staupers for Work of Integrating Nurses

New York, May 24.—The thirty-sixth Spingarn Medal, awarded annually to a Negro American for distinguished achievement, will be presented this year to Mrs. Mabel Keaton Staupers for "spearheading the successful movement to integrate Negro nurses into American life as equals."

Announcement of the award was made today by Dr. Louis T. Wright, chairman of the board of directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, following a meeting of the award committee. For many years, Mrs. Staupers was executive secretary and later president of the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses, an organization which disbanded early this year because it has achieved its primary objective of integrating Negro nurses in the profession.

"Her work was characterized by wisdom, vision and courage and refusal to equivocate," the citation asserts. "Her energetic, forthright and far-sighted activities resulted in the integration of colored nurses, equalization of salaries and working conditions on all levels in this country. Upon completion of this work she was instrumental in dissolving the Association because it had completed the democratic aims to which it was dedicated. In these activities she had exemplified Negro womanhood at its selfless and insistent best."

The award will be presented to Mrs. Staupers on June 28 in Atlanta, during the 42nd annual convention of the NAACP. Mrs. Staupers will be the fourth woman to receive this award, established by the late Joel E. Spingarn in 1914. Other women medalists include the late Mary B. Talbert, 1922; Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, 1935; and Miss Marian Anderson, 1939. Last year the medal was awarded posthumously to Charles H. Houston, famous constitutional lawyer and chairman of the NAACP national legal committee.

Ardeth Perkins Wins in Oratory

Ardeth Perkins, daughter of Mrs. Musetta Perkins, won the oratorical contest at Valley High school commencement exercises Friday night.

Four seniors competed for the honor, and a medal presented by the West Des Moines Rotary club.

Forty-nine were graduated in the exercises at West Des Moines elementary auditorium. All were present except three in the army and one in a hospital.

The scholarship medal was won by Delores Bricker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bricker, with a 3.88 average. The dramatics medal was awarded Tom Hunt; while Kenneth Berry took both the athletics and music medals.

Condem Truman's Failure To Issue Executive Order For FEPC at Rights Parley

Washington.—The failure of President Truman to issue an executive order establishing an emergency FEPC and the inactivity of Congress on civil rights measures were condemned by the representatives of 31 organizations in a statement issued at the conclusion of a two-day conference here May 21.

The organizations, whose total memberships exceed 23,000,000 attended the conference on call of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for the purpose of revitalizing the civil rights movement.

They agreed that revision of the Senate rules to make it easier to invoke cloture was the primary demand. They asked also for enactment of the FEPC bill and legislation to protect servicemen against the attacks of local police officers and other civilians. The statement further urged the President to issue immediately an executive order for an FEPC and to proceed with the integration of Negro and white troops in the Army.

Charges "Surrender"

In an opening statement, Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, charged that the President's "cessation of active support for civil rights legislation and his appointment of men like Millard F. Caldwell as Federal Civil Defense Administrator and Robert Ramspeck as chairman of the Civil Service Commission can only be interpreted as surrender on this issue."

Recalling that "in the final analysis it was the vote of racial and religious minorities and organized labor which elected Mr. Truman," Mr. White said that the "Democrats must be told bluntly and without equivocation that had it not been for Truman's stand on civil rights they would not today be the majority party."

Text of Statement

The full text of the statement issued by the conference follows:

"For the past two days, we, the representatives of thirty-one democratically constituted organizations representing more than twenty-three millions of loyal Americans, have met to examine the status of the rights of minorities and the reforms which three and a half years ago the President's Committee on Civil Rights said required action then."

"Since that time there has been no congressional action on this program and very little executive implementation."

"This inaction by the Congress on the repeated recommendations of the President stems from the cynical irresponsibility of both political parties and the open operation of a reactionary bi-partisan coalition whose response is to the forces of bigotry and special privilege."

"We renew the request that has been made so often to President Truman since the Communist attack on South Korea, that he issue an executive order establishing an FEPC in defense employment, and that he obtain the same integration in the Army that is being established in the Air Corps, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, in veterans hospitals" and in military cemeteries around the world.

"We call upon the Congress to assume its responsibility to the American people through enactment of urgently needed legislation upholding the basic rights of all the people. To this end we have urged upon the leadership of both parties the following minimum program."

List Three Demands

"1. Revision of the Senate rule on cloture to facilitate breaking of filibusters. We have asked for open hearings on resolutions providing for this change as introduced by Senators Lehman, Lodge, Ives, Morse and Humphrey. This reform must be made to free the American people from rule by veto of a minority of one-third plus one of the Senate."

"2. Immediate committee action on pending FEPC legislation with a view to enactment of such a law with enforcement powers during this session of the Congress."

"3. Enactment of legislation to provide protection for members of the U. S. Army, Navy and Marine Corps from physical assault by civilians. This is essential for protection of servicemen of all races as is evidenced by the killing of two unarmed, handcuffed paratroopers by the chief of police of Hawkinsville, Georgia on May 17."

"We have presented this program to the leadership of both parties of both houses. We have been given assurance that it will be considered."

"We take nothing for granted. We will return to the people we represent and call for unceasing insistence upon the performance of this program."

He Cut it Short
When he was on the lecture platform Mr. Durant's speeches were rarely brief as to wordage; one exception, and it was undoubtedly the pithiest speech of his career, was at Kalamazoo, Michigan. Mr. Durant sat on the lecture platform and listened to his introduction as the speaker of the evening. At least he listened for a while—the introduction rambled on for more than an hour. When he finally was escorted to the rostrum the fuming Mr. Durant set his lips and bowed. Then he spoke: "Ladies and gentlemen, I have received a sum of money for speaking to you. You have paid a sum of money to hear me speak to you. I am now too tired to talk and you are too tired to listen. We shall consider this to have been my speech. Good evening."

Research Saves Cash
How research on everything from bolts to storm drains is helping cut highway costs and improving roads and bridges was told by four engineers from the University of Illinois and one from the Illinois state highway division. Among University of Illinois research projects reported were: Cheaper drainage inlet grates, saving hundreds of thousands of dollars. Better drain catch basins, the small savings on each multiplied by thousands of installations. A soil manual, of inestimable aid in planning highway construction. Better and more economical design of bridges. Use of bolts instead of rivets, offering considerable savings on small and remote bridges and their maintenance.

Philadelphia, Penn.—A woman has been ordained and given a pastorate for the first time in the 135-year history of the Philadelphia Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church.

She is Mrs. Olivia Henry, a teacher for 24 years in Frederick Douglass Public elementary school here. An evangelist with the conference for several years, Mrs. Henry was assigned to Tyree A.M.E. church, West Philadelphia.

Resident Bishop D. Ward Nichols also ordained two women as evangelists—Mrs. Mildred Spain, the daughter of a deceased clergyman, and Mrs. Katherine Smith.

New Portable Device Measures Atomic Results
A new type army signal corps portable radiac set, used in detecting and measuring the effects of atomic explosions, has been chosen as the official instrument to be used by federal and state civil defense teams according to a letter issued by James J. Wadsworth, federal civil defense administration, to state governors throughout the country. The set, designated the AN/PDR-T-1 for "portable detector radiac," was developed and designed to conform to signal corps specifications by the nuclear engineering branch of the Evans signal laboratory, one of three divisions of the signal corps engineering laboratories located at this post. In choosing the signal corps set, the letter stated, preference was given by a special civil defense radiological committee to those sets which "can be readily maintained, and will perform satisfactory under operating conditions which might be encountered in civil defense." Among agencies represented on the radiological committee were the atomic energy commission, the armed forces special weapons project of the department of defense, the United States public health service, the federal civil defense administration. Three requirements met by the signal corps set, the letter continued, were military specifications, suitability for immediate training and usefulness for low-intensity civil defense monitoring work.

Electric Pillow?
What causes the light which appears when a person moves his hand, at night, between the pillow case and a plastic pillow cover? This is due to static electricity produced on the plastic cover. The actual amount of electricity that can be generated in this manner is quite small and entirely harmless, though there may be enough to cause a small corona, which is a reddish or violet glow in the air adjacent to an electrical discharge.

Presbyterians Set Role for Negro Units at Session

"All semblance of seeming segregation" of Negroes in the church has been removed, the board of American missions reported to the United Presbyterian church's general assembly Saturday.

The assembly, meeting at the Westminster United Presbyterian church here, was in its fourth day of sessions.

New Category.

Dr. A. K. Stewart of Pittsburgh, Penn., executive secretary of the board, told the assembly, "We have placed Negro work under the heading of education."

Previously, Negro churches had been in a separate department, rather than under a general heading.

"I believe it will have a wholesome effect on these churches," Dr. Stewart said, "to know they have the same status as other churches."

'Important to Church.'

Dr. Stewart also pointed out that the expansion of the church, in the Negro field and elsewhere, is important "to the life of the church."

"Church extension must not be weakened," he said. "We must strengthen our church—the church of Jesus Christ."

One means of aiding expansion, he said, was the 10 per cent increase in salary the church gave missionaries "to more effectively carry on their work."

Cites Expansion.

Within the past year, he said, three new congregations were organized and appropriations have been made for seven new mission fields throughout the country.

"We hope the day may come," Dr. Stewart said, "when they may become self-supporting." He added that 10 mission congregations had become self-supporting the past year.

"We feel the work of church extension is progressing satisfactorily," he said. "But we know, without a doubt, it means our life at home and abroad."

The ninety-third general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America convened in Des Moines from May 23 to 26. More than 700 commissioners who were delegate pastors and elders and visitors were in attendance.

Would Regroup Negro Churches

Atlanta, Ga.—A recommendation that the Shiloh Memorial synod—the Church's only Negro synod—be dissolved will be made to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. (southern) when it meets in Orlando, Fla., June 7.

The assembly's board of church extension work will propose that the Negro presbyteries making up the synod be regrouped and placed under the jurisdiction of white synods in Georgia, Alabama and Louisiana.

Bills concerning Negro work and possible union with other Presbyterian denominations will probably take up most of the program.

To Observe Half Century of Vacation Church Schools

Announcement is made by the pastor of Burns Methodist church and its board of education that its annual Vacation Church School will begin Monday, June 11 and continue through June 22. All children regardless of denomination affiliation will be welcome from the ages of 4 years to Junior High school age.

In 1901 the Vacation Bible Schools were established in America. Like the Sabbath School these organizations came into existence because of a desire to teach the children about Christ and his doctrines of love and service.

A special program will be conducted on Friday evening, June 22, at which time awards will be given and observance of the fiftieth anniversary will be stressed. Rev. J. E. Tunstall, pastor will superintend the school. Mrs. Dorothy Hammitt, general superintendent, will be assisted by a competent staff.

Columbus' Followers Found Peanut Crop

Spanish adventurers following in Columbus' wake found peanuts growing in South America—saw 16th century Peruvians roasting them, grinding them into butter and making confections, just as we do in the United States today. Thus it was that gold, silver and spices shared with "ground nuts"—novelty of the strange new world—space in the wind and wave tossed galleons struggling homeward.

In sunny Spain they grew, flourished, became known as "Spanish" peanuts. Peanuts were carried along when the quest for rare metals, spices and ivory turned to Africa. Again they flourished, acquired a new name, "goobers," African dialect for ground nut. Finally they came here, this time in lumbering ships close packed with slaves, as food—the cheapest obtainable for human freight. Once planted in the south, peanut growing spread. So peanuts became a marketable commodity and Union soldiers, liking them, carried them north, where their popularity has never waned. The little brown nut was first cultivated in Virginia and North Carolina but gradually peanut growing pushed its way south. Today thirteen states in the south and southwest comprise the peanut belt, from where peanuts are shipped to every corner of our country.

YOUR DES MOINES COMMUNITY CHES

"The Helping Hand"

Riding on the bus to a different locality where I know my skill was needed, I could not help but wonder what the outcome of the trip would be. My wife and two year old son who were huddled in their bus seats beside me, were my responsibility. Would I make good in this new city? Was I doing the right thing by them? Would I find a job that would give me sufficient income to properly care for them? The answer to these questions had to be "Yes"—I had to make good!

It had been three weeks ago that I lost my new job when my wife needed me so desperately by her bedside. She had lain between life and death when our new daughter was born. The doctors had saved my wife, but not our little girl. All of our savings and my new job were but a small price to pay for my wife's recovery.

How strange everything looked to me as the bus wheeled through this new city. I couldn't quite picture this as being a place that I would grow to know and to love. It stood as a great mass of stone and steel with people rushing here and there.

Assuring my wife and son that all would be well, we stepped off of the bus and found our way to an inexpensive hotel. With only three dollars left in my pocket, I knew that I must find employment at once. Leaving them in the hotel to rest after their tiring trip, I went to the State Employment Bureau to check on job possibilities.

They told me that my skill was needed and that there would be job openings in the near future, but for the time being I would have to take short time employment. After explaining my dire circumstances, they suggested I might receive some assistance from Travelers' Aid.

I still remember the feeling of new confidence the skilled workers of Travelers' Aid gave me. Now, four years later that somehow seems more important than the small loan they made and the temporary yard jobs they found for me.

That four years has been most important to our little family. We now know peace of mind and security in our home town of Des Moines. Those strange people we saw on that first day all gave us a helping hand by their contribution to the Community Chest. Without that helping hand I wonder what might become of our family.

Travelers' Aid is one of the Red Feather Services of your Des Moines Community Chest.

In Memorium

MY MOTHER

In memory of my loving mother, Mrs. Fay Hayes, who departed from me July 10, 1950.

She Is Just Away

With a cherry smile,
And a wave of the hand,
She has wandered into an unknown land
And left us here, to carry on,
But her memories linger on.
I loved her, but God loved her best.
She is just away.

Sadly missed by daughter,
—Mrs. Evelyn Ritchie,
1051 W. 12th street.

IN MEMORY OF MY MOTHER

In loving memory of my mother, Mrs. Cora Moore, who departed this life July 13, 1950.

Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just, to the end of her days;
Sincere and true, in her heart and mind,
Beautiful memories, she left behind.

Sadly missed by daughter,
—Mary E. Moore,
1212 Center Street.

OUR PARENTS AND BROTHER

In loving memory of our parents, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Williams, and brother, Richard Williams, who have departed this life.

There is a link death cannot sever,
Love and remembrance last forever.
Sadly missed by children and sisters and brothers.

OUR SON

In precious memory of our darling son, John Wesley Doyle.

Gone but not forgotten
Words cannot tell how much we loved you
And how we missed you we cannot express.

—Evangelist M. E. Doyle,
1607 Buchanan street.

MOTHER

In memory of my mother, Sina J. Robinson.

Mother dear we loved you so
We know you loved us too
But God looked down on his book of time

And said, your work is through.
So come and sit around my throne
And rest in peace benign
Your worn body I lay to rest
But your precious soul is mine.

Sadly missed by daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Hall; Mrs. Margaret Yancy.

Hold Rites For Mrs. Mamie La Force

The Thrifty Man Is Being Overlooked

The saver is the "forgotten man" of our times, judged by the reward for his thrift. While all the principal segments of our $300 billion economy are enjoying a boom of record proportions, the return on invested savings has been lagging far behind, and in certain major areas is virtually at the lowest level on record. The question of a proper reward as an incentive to individual thrift is a subject of major importance at all times since over the years personal savings have been the lifeblood of the economy. It is of particular importance today because of the vital need to encourage greater savings on the part of the people at large, both to help keep inflationary forces in check and to provide investable funds needed for expanding the nation's productive facilities to speed up our rearmament program. The actual rate of return on invested savings, except for the more speculative areas involving the ownership of equities, has in itself shown no significant recovery from the record low levels established in the last few years. This is particularly true of the interest rate, which is of such basic importance to the individual and pooled savings of people of small or moderate means who can't afford to take chances with their "nest eggs" or "rainy day" funds.

Railroading in Ethiopia Proves Most Hazardous

Until recent years, railroading in Ethiopia was a hazardous business. The country's only railroad, a French-owned narrow gage line, runs 485 miles from Djibouti, in French Somaliland, to Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital. It takes three days of a train to cover the distance from one end of the line to the other. For many years the trains ran during the day time only. The reason for this was the habit natives had of jerking out sections of rails to hammer into knives and spears. And sometimes they used the ties for hut building. The engineer proceeds with caution at all times, keeping his eyes glued to the tracks ahead—to make sure that same it there.

With your help and by your support only then are we afforded a chance to succeed.

What's That Again?
From the beginning of autumn, on Sept. 23, to the beginning of spring on March 21 is 179 days, but from the latter to the beginning of autumn is 185 days. Why is this? The nearer a planet is to the sun, the faster it travels in its orbit, measured in miles per hour. Because the earth is about 3,000,000 miles nearer the sun in early January than in early July, or orbital speed is greater during autumn and winter than in spring, and summer. Hence, the time from the beginning of autumn to the beginning of spring is about six days shorter than that from the first day of spring to the end of summer.

Ancients Tried A Trick or Two
Today we all recognize the fact that cheerful colors in our surroundings are clean, smoothly painted surfaces have a definite effect on our morale and outlook on life. Among the ancients, only the ecclesiasts and temple physicians concerned themselves with the effects of color. The high priests dictated the choice of color used in the temples for the spiritual aspiration and devotion it aroused in the worshippers. The physicians applied colored salves and compresses and ordered their patients to wear clothes of certain hues.

Impressive and Distinctive
A dramatic entrance hall combines black, white and the wall color of the adjoining living room in an outstanding manner. The front door and woodwork surrounding the glass panels that flank it are painted white. The remaining area around the door and the wall at right angles to it are finished in a velvety black. Against the black wall hangs a fine portrait of a member of the family, done in life-size. The wall opposite the front door is painted in the same lively green as the wall of the living room which adjoins the hall.

Faithful Fido
Many instances of dogs waiting around railroad stations for the return of their masters have been noted. Some dogs have kept faithful watch for months, leaving their post only long enough to obtain food. One instance of this occurred some time ago in Japan, at the Shibusya station in Tokyo. This exhibition of faithfulness so impressed the Japanese that they built a statue of the waiting dog. In addition, thousands of miniatures of the statue were made and distributed to every school in Japan as a symbol of faithfulness for the small fry to strive for.

PERSONAL TOUCH

By Marie Ross

With the 90-day dog tie-up on in Des Moines and Polk County, we thought we would call a few residents to learn how they were handling their dog problems, what they were doing to make their canines happy, what member of the family had fallen heir to the chore of taking the pet for a daily or nightly airing.

So the first person we reached by phone the other evening was Mrs. Lulu Bantam, 506 S. E. Third street, who had a pet, but the animal was a cat instead of a dog.

"It is a common old cat that keeps down mine whenever he can find any. I just call her Tom. She's kinda choosy about her food and I have to buy her cat food sometimes," Mrs. Bantam said. On the east side of town, we tried the Lauren Butler residence at 1235 E. 16th street, where Gloria, answered the phone and began to tell about their family pet, another Tom cat, called "Timothy." The daughter revealed that she liked a cat as a pet because the cat was "nice" and her cat ate anything. She added that she also likes dogs, but with the dog tie-up on, they'd be too much trouble.

At the Oval Carter residence, 1180 14th street, their daughter, Frances Cule, told about their pet, a black Cocker Spaniel, named "Floppie."

"I am the dog-walker and I take Floppie walking every night about three or four blocks—depending on how tired I am.

"He's very, very particular about his food and eats rations. He especially likes buttered toast for breakfast and mother fixes it for him or if she is making toast for herself and Floppie hears the popper, he'll raise Cain until he gets some."

Mrs. Cule, who is employed daily as a salesgirl in the plastic goods department of Younkers store, informed that their main problem with their pet was keeping him from jumping up on the furniture when no one was home.

Mr. George Cliton, 725 S. E. 26th street court, dropped by the office from his city streets department job, Tuesday. He greeted the columnist with his fist balled up and shaking it at her.

"You know why I'm here. You left my name out of that fishing

Presents To Fisk University Papers From Collection Of Late Famed Poet, Countee Cullen

Nashville, Tenn.—In a ceremony last week in the library at Fisk university, Mrs. Ida M. Cullen, presented to the school a gift-loan of valuable papers from the collection of her late husband, Countee Cullen, the famous poet.

The presentation included unpublished articles, first drafts, personal copies, publishers gift editions and manuscripts for plays. The ceremony climaxed a long friendship between the Cullens, and the family of Fisk president, Dr. Charles S. Johnson.

Mrs. Cullen stayed at Fisk one week, during which she set up an Afro Arts Exhibit, read publicly from her late husband's poems and gave several talks on the contribution of Negro literature and art to the culture of our society. Mrs. Cullen has greatly increased her activity in the field of the arts since her husband's untimely death in 1946. "It was necessary," she said, "to carry on his good work, if for nothing but the encouragement of struggling young artists."

trip last week. I went to Minnesota with that trio, Franklin, Walker and Sloan. I've been going with them for years—and all of the time you either get my name wrong or leave it out." Then he smiled and said "It's alright. I just wanted you to know." He said he was going again fishing in Minnesota and he hoped to catch more than he caught the last time.

Asked if he had a pet dog, he informed that he has always had some kind of a dog. For the past two years, he has had a part Cocker which is mixed with something else which he could not identify.

Mr. Clinton said he keeps "King" tied up at his dog house, which he built especially for the dog in the back yard. For exercise he turns "King" loose in the yard which is fenced in.

"King" never gets lonesome because the Clintons have three small children who play with him.

Food is no problem because "King" eats mainly canned food and "anything."

Mrs. Nellie Esters, 1423 Center street, has a Cocker Spaniel named "Toodles". Since the dog tie-up she has had to keep her pet tied to the porch of her La Marguerita hotel. At nights and when she is working in the back yard, Mrs. Esters says she gives her pet exercise.

"Toodles" doesn't like to be tied and since, barks more at anything and everybody, Mrs. Esters has noticed.

He is not particular about his food and his "delicacy" is ice cream.

Mrs. Henrietta Condree, 1221 E. 16th street, has a dog she calls "Tom."

"He's kinda dark red in color and is getting a little gray these days. I have to keep him tied up from one year to the other and I can't get out to take him walking because of heart trouble," Mrs. Condree lamented. She revealed that her husband suffers with heart trouble and can't walk the dog, either.

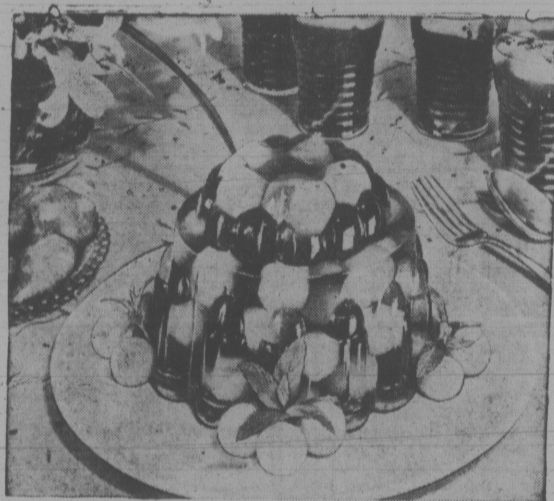

"He eats anything you give him. He can't be particular about his food," the owner said.

Called the Gus Claybrook home, 223 E. 13th street, and Mr. Claybrook informed that "I'm the only pet around here. I wash dishes and do first one thing and another for my wife."

Mrs. John M. Estes has a Duschund puppy named "Fritz." The pup is "very particular about his food and likes eggs, milk and hamburger," she informed.

"Fritz" likes to go riding and jump out of the window of the car. "He is awfully spoiled but a lot of company," the funeral director's wife said.

SOME REPUBLICANS NEVER LEARN

Occasionally, some misguided Republican leader gets the idea that a combination of northern Republicans and southern Democrats can defeat the Truman administration in 1952.

But everybody who has started to do the job has sought an alignment which even southern people could not stomach. For instance, as proof of the possibility of such, Senator Mundt points out that Republicans carried some southern states in 1928 and Democrats in 1948 as against the regular Democratic party.

And those victories have hurt rather than help the party here who tried this program, notably Presidents Taft and Hoover.

It is true that many Republicans have moved South, many southern people feel that the program of the Democratic party is not for the best interest of the country. They represent a segment of the southern voter which is worth counting.

HOPE FOR CIVIL RIGHTS SPURRED BY CONFERENCE

HEALTH FOR ALL

Accidents Among Children Thanks to progress in medical science, childhood deaths and disabilities due to disease have dropped sharply in recent years.

Although many accidental deaths are preventable, medical advances can never be expected to solve the problem. It is up to parents to teach children rules of safety which will help them avoid accidents.

Burns and scalds are a major cause of deaths and injuries among children. Most fatal and severe burns could be avoided if parents taught children the danger of fire and boiling liquids.

lies coming to the city, enrollments in heavily-populated Negro districts are mounting." In Cleveland, "large new industries . . . moving in; (we are) trying to work out the many details of migration, housing in the vicinity of the plants, and the handling of other social problems."

The effect on an industrial city's health facilities of workers moving to it is reflected in the reports: Akron—"hospitals overcrowded, turning away patients, delaying entry of others." Dayton "hit pretty hard by the loss of several of our young and most active physicians; agency's health and welfare committee forced to step up service and health education programs."

Deploring the bombings and burnings, Mr. Marshall also cited police brutality against Negro citizens and "complete lack of protection from local law enforcement officers." All of these outrages, he said, "have been called repeatedly to the attention of the Department of Justice, and the complete failure of the Department to take affirmative action . . . has been a contributing cause to the increasing temper of the lawlessness."

Reggie Atkins, strapping Scarlet football star, captured the broad jump with a leap of 21 feet 5 inches to dethrone defending champion Tom Shupe of Clarion, who was only able to get 21-1/2.

Just also made a game bid to catch Oelwein's flashy quarterback, Bobby Clark, a midget in comparison, who led his giant rival by several strides in a driving :49.5 finish, the fastest clocking of the season for the 440-yard distance.

Freddy Lucas, a third Scarlet flyer, and Atkins placed first and second, respectively, in the 100-yard dash.

Ray Kaiser, lean hurdler who had been doped to smash the 120-yard high hurdles mark, instead finished second behind Clinton's Bob Hansen, who came up with a new record of :14.7 for that event.

Kaiser hit the last two hurdles and lost stride with the River King star, who nudged the East High hurdler just at the string.

The old record of :14.8 was set by Russ Ferguson of Cedar Rapids, McKinley's Fred Eno in 1943 and Jerry Morrhead of Des Moines' Roosevelt in 1948.

Kaiser placed third in the 180-yard low hurdles, a new distance for Iowa preps this season, as Ames' Dick Fowler set the record with a :39.2 clocking in a terrific finish against Centerville's Jim Milani.

The half-mile East crew included Jack Terrell, Peters, Atkins and Lucas.

Taunted, Negro Pastor Kills Boy

Charleston, S. C.—Police said a Negro preacher admitted Thursday that he fired a shot that fatally injured a white boy Wednesday after he was taunted by a group of boys with the cry of "nigger."

Edward Davis, 13, was struck at the base of the skull with a .32-caliber bullet and died Thursday.

Police reported the preacher, Nathan Brown, 66, said the boys were throwing bricks at a post in the direction of his home, and one of the bricks hit the house.

He went to caution the boys, all 10 to 13 years old, and they taunted him with the cry of "nigger."

Then, Brown was quoted, he got the pistol. He said he neither intended to hit nor hurt anyone when he shot. He will be charged with murder.
