Marshalltown Mayor Sets Aside Special Day for Citizens to Act on FEPC

Marshalltown, Ia.—Mayor John L. Mowry, issued a proclamation which designated Monday, July 2, as Fair Employment day in the city "in order that management, labor and all other segments of our population shall be stimulated to establish and maintain fair employment practices in our factories and places of business."

He also set aside the day "in order to bring our practices in conformity with our democratic professions of faith, to promote the maximum use of our manpower skills for defense production and to assure that the equality of sacrifice of our fighting men on the battlefield will be matched by equality of opportunity at home."

The Marshalltown employers were urged to follow fair employment practices in a city council resolution passed on June 26 after representatives of the NAACP told the council that Negroes find it hard to get jobs here.

The resolution, offered by Councilman Howard Maloney and approved by Councilman Lester Swanson, approved a resolution which the NAACP passed asking President Truman to establish a national FEPC. "I raised 11 children in this town,"

James Spencer, 607 S. Sixth street, told the council. "Half of them can't find work except washing a window occasionally. We pay taxes, but we can't find work."

The Rev. Artice Maxwell, assistant Cumberland Presbyterian pastor, said his son, who was trained as a welder and machinist in World War II, couldn't get work in Marshalltown. He said Negro girls trained for office work were in many cases unable to secure positions.

"We are asking everyone who can give us help to try to break down this discrimination," he said.

Asked about municipal job openings for Negroes, Mayor Mowry pointed out that most city jobs come under civil service and are filled on a competitive basis. He said he did not believe any colored persons had applied for a civil service job since he has been mayor.

Father of Four Kills Himself with Gun

A father of four children who told his wife, "I am going to kill myself," shot himself in his home last Saturday afternoon.

Ralph L. Murray, 24, of 1222 McCormick street died of self-inflicted gunshot wounds, County Corner A. E. Shaw said.

Murray's wife, Elizabeth, told police her husband went into a bedroom of their home at about 2:15 p.m., picked up a shotgun and said he was going to kill himself.

Mrs. Murray told police he then pushed her out of the room and shot himself.

Survivors include three daughters, Sandra, 5, Marsha, 2, and Linda, 3 months; one son, Ralph, jr., 17 months; his parents Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Murray, Des Moines; and two sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Wynn, Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. Delores Spriggs, Des Moines.

Mr. Trotter Back From Y Convention In Cleveland, Ohio

A. P. Trotter returned to the city last week from Cleveland, Ohio, where he was one of the 6,500 delegates to attend the Centennial International YMCA convention, which was represented by 52 countries.

He was one of the four board members of the Des Moines Young Men's Christian Association. Others were: Judge Eskil Carlson, Ed. R. Brock, Jerry A. Jewett.

Mr. Trotter was much impressed with addresses by president of the Ford Foundation, who stressed that there will be no peace as long as one man tries to crush another; Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse college, Atlanta, Ga., whose subject was "Living is a Christian Calling;" and youth speakers, James DeGraffenreid of Wichita, Kas., who appeared on the same program with a white lad, Ray Farabee, Hi-Y president from Wichita Falls, Texas, who emphasized that "segregation was no part of good government."

Mr. Trotter stopped at the downtown Hollander hotel with Mr. Brock as roommate; and was proud to see white and Negro workers throughout the hotel: "Negroes operating Yellow cabs on the street, and busses throughout the city," he said.

committee said the estimate included "all types of drug addicts, including marijuana smokers." This figure of 25,000 startled observers who compared it with an estimate of 5,000 young addicts in New York City.

Gets 'A' Average

Among the thirty-two Drake university students who received an "A" average during the spring semester was Donald Spangler, 1183 14th street, graduate student. He is the son of Mrs. Verda Spangler.

Jackie Robinsons Attacks Beanballs; May Quit Baseball

New York.—Jackie Robinson, star second baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers, accuses Leo Durocher, his old boss, and the New York Giants of being responsible for the rash of bean balls in the National League this year. His statements appear in the article titled "Baseball's Bad Blood" published in the issue of Look Magazine just out.

"Some of (Leo's) pitchers, like Larry Jansen, don't want to do it, but they have to," says Jackie.

Robinson realizes that he will never be just another ball player; that he will always be organized baseball's pioneer Negro. He realizes, says Look, that he must avoid skirmishes.

"I don't want to spoil all I've built up," claims Jackie, "and believe me, as soon as I'm established financially I'm going to quit baseball, only because I don't want to spoil it."

He says he'll never get into arguments on the field in Chicago, St. Louis or Cincinnati "because I appreciate what terrible things could follow." In fact, Look reports, he'll fight back only against the Giants, because "they're the only ones who play it that way."

WILLKIE HOUSE PRESENTED FLAG

Willkie House has a new flag which was presented at the dedication ceremonies of the new community center building which took place on June 17, when Oval Carter, commander of Lincoln Post 126 of the American Legion, made the gift. Receiving the flag is former Willkie House board member, one of the member of the new building committee, Dr. E. Thomas Scales, who presided at the dedication program. Before the post went into its own home, regular meetings of the Legion men were held at the old community center. (Ashby Photo).

Admiring Plaque in Levitt Library

Admiring the plaque of the late Jacob Levitt, in whose memory his son, Ellis Levitt gave the library to the new Willkie House, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Wright of 920 S. E. 27th street, who were among the throng of visitors at the dedication ceremonies of the new community center building.

Mrs. Wright, the former Bernice Kelley, has participated in community center activities since her early childhood when she was a member of the center's clubs.

Now, she and her husband, a World War II veteran and law student at Drake university, have two children, Robert A., 3 and Charmaine, 1, who are looking forward to activities at the new Willkie House. (Ashby Photo).

Report $40 Stolen From D. M. Home

Police Sunday were investigating a report of a theft of $40 from the Robert D. Turner residence, 1440 Buchanan street.

Entrance to the house was gained via a bathroom window early Sunday morning and the money taken from a drawer in another room, police said.

The Turners told police a billfold and several government savings bonds have been missing from their home for three weeks.

Race Hate Another Clear And Present Danger to Democracy Says White

Atlanta.—An appeal to the South to ditch its present demagogic leadership and join the forces of freedom was voiced here July 1 by Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, at the closing meeting of the Association's 42nd annual convention. Sharing the platform with Mr. White was Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, United Nations mediator and Nobel Peace Prize winner, who spoke on the world aspects of the race problem.

Citing a recent conference of the governors of Georgia, South Carolina and Mississippi to devise plans for circumventing any U. S. Supreme Court decision invalidating segregation in public education, Mr. White asked: "When will the intelligent South awaken to the insult to its intelligence such men represent?" These governors, he said, "declare that they will never permit the abolition of segregation. They assert that the people 'will never stand for such action.' Do they brand the people of their states as being less law-abiding, less democratic than the citizens of twelve other southern states in whose colleges and universities young Negro men and women study today?"

Conspiracy

This governors' conference, Mr. White suggested, "constitutes a conspiracy to overthrow democracy through defiance of the government and threats to deprive all citizens, white as well as Negro, of education. The Supreme Court's decision that the eleven Communist leaders constitute a 'clear and present danger' shot the Court and America's attention to another 'clear and present danger which is longer-lived and equally dangerous to democracy. It is race hatred, a danger which has been both clear and present since the Civil War. The time is not far off when America may be forced to act against such conspirators against democracy and freedom."

Negro voters in the South, Mr. White indicated, could be depended upon to give substantial support to driving out the Dixie demagogues. "A million Negroes are qualified to vote in the South today. By the time of the presidential election of 1952 that number must be doubled," the NAACP official asserted.

"This vote joined with that of Negroes in 17 border and northern states, where it holds the balance of mine next Walter White, executive secretary of the United Negro College Fund, said the United States will be neither a Dixiecrat nor a reactionary Republican. For the Negro vote will stand with that of other enlightened Americans who are determined that freedom shall not be destroyed by racial, economic or political bigots."

Roy Wilkins Gives Keynote Address; Hits Atlanta's Daily Newspaper Editorial

Atlanta.—The 42nd annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which closed here July 1, was opened at a mass meeting on June 26 addressed by NAACP Administrator Roy Wilkins and Dr. Algernon Black, Chairman of the board of leaders of the Ethical Culture Society of New York and a member of the NAACP board of directors. The convention was welcomed to the city by Mayor William B. Hartsfield and by Dr. William H. Borders, pastor of Wheat Street Baptist church.

Keynoting the convention, Mr. Wilkins reviewed the record of the Association and indicated the future course in combating racial bigotry, discrimination and segregation. The NAACP official denounced an editorial appearing in the Atlanta Constitution which, while welcoming the Association to the city, charged the NAACP with "distorting the picture as it exists, for the propaganda effect."

In a challenging reply, Mr. Wilkins said "the Constitution is not telling the truth. We don't have to distort the long record of terror and cheating, of discrimination, insult and humiliation and of murder and lynching. The record speaks for itself. It requires no distortion." He cited that record and the role of the NAACP in correcting it. "We owe no apology to the Constitution or its editor, Ralph McGill," he asserted.

The issue in America, Dr. Black said, is not of race, but rather of human relations. "Those who stand for true brotherhood among all men have to recognize that the colored people are not merely asking for equal rights to education and employment, to decent housing and adequate medical care," the New Yorker asserted.

The NAACP, Dr. Black concluded, "is an organization of citizens, an agency for Americans, a means of strengthening American unity and fulfilling the promise of democratic society for all. . . . It asks Americans everywhere to take responsibility, to make sacrifices, to study and learn

Lillian Smith Awards 36th Spingarn Medal To Mabel K. Staupers

Atlanta. — Miss Lillian Smith, southern born author and lecturer, June 29 awarded the Spingarn Medal for distinguished achievement of a Negro American, to Mrs. Mabel Keaton Staupers for outstanding performance in combating discrimination against Negro nurses and successfully integrating them into American life. The presentation was made before a capacity crowd at the Wheat Street Baptist Church, at a mass meeting of the 42nd annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mrs. Staupers, the fourth woman to receive the Spingarn Medal, is the former president of the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses, which disbanded early this year after completing its primary objective of integrating Negro nurses into the nursing profession and professional nursing organizations.

Miss Smith lauded the work of Mrs. Staupers in the fruitful drive to eliminate discrimination against nurses. She also expressed appreciation of the achievement of the NAACP "not only as a human being, but also as a white southerner—for the work done by this organization has benefited the white group in the South as much as it has helped the Negro group."

The Whole World Contributes To the Making of Perfumes

Did you know that the fragrance industry calls on the art and science of the entire world in its ever constant search to develop the finest in perfume products? Raw materials are gathered from every continent for the perfume artists to create the exquisite scents which are available to all of us.

From France come many of the beautiful flower oils which form such an important part of perfumes. In the fields of Grasse, world-renowned perfume flower center, grow such aromatic blossoms as jasmine, tuberose, lavender, nymphaea and rose (the famous French Rose is called rose de mai). Bulgaria is famous for its attar of rose. Yugoslavia contributes oak moss, Italy gives bergamot. In Asia? Musk comes from Tibet and cassia (cinnamon bark) from China, while India supplies sandalwood. Civet is taken from the famous cat of that name in Ethiopia, ylang ylang from Madagascar, geranium from Algeria, Australia gives eucalyptus and Australia gives eucalyptus (rosewood).

... brings us lemon ... Peru. Our own United States supplies cedarwood oil and peppermint and citrus oils. From Canada comes castor (from the beaver) and hemlock. These are just a few of the hundreds of ingredients which are used in the making of perfume.

And how does the perfumer go about concocting the exquisite scents which are on the market today? It is a complex and highly scientific method. Before the actual perfumer—or "nose" as he is called in the perfume industry—starts his artistic blending, he must have a thorough knowledge of the thousands of aromatic substances available.

Some of these ingredients are essential oils, gathered from flowers and leaves and roots. Others are tinctures from such products as civet and musk and ambergris. Various methods are used in obtaining the essential oils for the perfumers' use... distillation, "extraction," maceration, enfleurage. Each method influences the scent of the oil. The climatic conditions under which the flowers have grown give an individual character to the final product. For instance, the Bulgarian rose is distilled, while oils from the rose de mai of France are obtained by extraction, or enfleurage. Although all have a rose smell, each has its own characteristic note.

Texas AME's Map Plans for Hugh State Congress

Waco, Texas—Seventy-five leading ministers and laymen of the AME church—the largest body of Negro Methodists in Texas—met at Paul Quinn college recently to map plans for a huge and record-shattering annual congress which embraces all phases of church activity to be held at Paul Quinn college August 14-19, to lay plans for the redistricting of the conferences of the Texas district, and to shape the program of the presiding elders' council of the state.

The Rt. Rev. Joseph Gomez, prelate of the Texas district, presided at the meeting. He said that the AME's of Texas are trying to construct a formula which will allow the church to make the most of the great opportunities that are afforded in the Texas district and to meet the challenge of the changing times.

One-Way Streets Unlogging Congested Traffic Arteries

One-way streets are growing in popularity as a means of unlogging congested traffic arteries in urban areas, the American Public Works Association reports.

Chicago is the most recent major city to unveil plans for making streets in its famed Loop area one-way thoroughfares. Initially, only two streets carrying east- and west-bound traffic in the downtown section would be affected, but at a later date four other streets would be designated for one-way traffic only. The proposed changes are designed to speed traffic and relieve congestion. Newark, N.J., has also established a series of one-way streets linking its downtown section with the Pulaski Skyway and to neighboring industrial districts.

Baltimore, which first tried one-way streets in 1939, has found through its "before and after" studies that making a street one-way results in an average of 100 per cent increase in traffic volume, a 75 to 90 per cent reduction in delays, and a 10 to 15 per cent reduction in accidents. However, the Association pointed out that the Baltimore studies did not mark the effect of one-way operations alone, but also the effect of imposing additional parking restrictions, installing additional traffic signals and substituting bus operations for street cars.

In Los Angeles, after test trials on two streets proved successful, the downtown businessmen's association endorsed a proposal to convert four streets to one-way in order to relieve the downtown traffic problem. According to traffic engineers who followed the Los Angeles experiment, the establishment of one-way streets was in no way detrimental to established businesses on the thoroughfares.

This conclusion is supported by a study made by Fresno, Cal., of merchant reaction in 50 cities of more than 50,000 population where one-way streets are being used. Merchants in 90 per cent of these cities report that one-way streets have no harmful effect on adjacent businesses. Merchant associations in only two cities felt that the one-way streets were harmful to business, although, initially, merchants led the opposition to conversion to one-way streets. The Fresno survey also showed that in 71 per cent of the cities, change-over to one-way streets had a beneficial effect on property values.

Eating Peas With Knife Was Once in Popularity

Although it may shock Emily Post, eating peas with a knife isn't unmannerly—it's just old-fashioned! According to research experts with the World Book Encyclopedia, forks have been used for cooking since ancient times, but table forks were curiosities even during colonial days.

It is believed that the table fork was first used in Italy during the 1100's. The wife of an Italian nobleman considered herself too dainty to touch the greasy food with her fingers. She used a tiny gold fork which was modeled after the long carving fork. A guest at the table wrote an account of the event and described her method of eating as "luxurious beyond belief" instead of eating like other people, she had

All Races To Attend Girl Scouts' Camp In Washington

New York.—Girls from Haiti, the Netherlands West Indies, the Canal Zone and other countries will attend the international encampment of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts to be held from July 17 to August 6, at Camp Wind Mountain, near Severson, Washington, it was announced this week at the national headquarters of Girl Scouts.

Approximately one hundred girls will attend the camp, the aim of which is to give an appreciation and understanding of one another and to help establish and maintain world friendship. The Convention will be a pioneer one, similar to the 1949 Western Hemisphere Camp at Muskegon, Mich., and the 1948 world conference at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Other countries from which Girl Scout representatives will come are Philippines, Parkistan, Costa Rica, Columbia, Australia, Brazil, Guatemala, Mexico, Canada and the Netherlands. The Juliette Low World Friendship Fund will pay part of the cost of the encampment.

The girls will live in group of ten or twelve in units, each unit having its own sleeping tents, outdoor kitchen, fireplace for cooking and table and benches for dining. This encampment will be the fourth international one sponsored by the Girl Scouts of the United States in the past five years.

South Carolina Branch Wins NAACP 1st Prize; Ike Smalls Award to Tuskegee

Atlanta.—A first prize Thalheimer award, presented annually to NAACP branches for outstanding achievement, went to Clarendon County, South Carolina, branch which initiated the first suit to abolish segregated elementary and second schools in the South. The award of $100 was presented at a dinner meeting during the 42nd annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which closed here Sunday, July 1.

The Clarendon County branch, representing a rural area, was commended for its "unsurpassed courage" in challenging the Jim Crow system in South Carolina. Its record was evaluated as the most effective of any in its class, that it, branches without paid personnel to carry out their programs. In this class, a $50 second prize went to Birmingham, Schenectady, N. Y., Stockton, Calif., and Paducah, Ky., received honorable mention awards of $25 each.

Among branches with paid personnel, Baltimore was ranked first and given an award of $100 for instituting successful suits which broke down racial barriers in the Nursing, Engineering and Graduate Schools of the University of Maryland. Houston won the second prize of $50 in this class.

To the Virginia State Conference was awarded $100 as the first prize among these state-wide units of the Association. The activity of this conference included a project for expansion of the Negro vote, and successful anti-segregation suits against the University of Virginia, against the Arlington County school board, and against the Norfolk and Western Railway Company.

The Ike Smalls award which is given annually to the branch having the largest increase in membership was presented to the Tuskegee, Alabama, branch. In 1949, the branch had a total of 184 senior members and set as its goal 500 for 1950. The branch exceeded this goal by securing

Are Average Bachelors Shy and Need Bold Girl Type?

New York—(CNS)—In a survey to discover if the average marriageable male is shy and confused and if girls who wanted to get a husband had to be the gopgetter type, two Negro women voiced their opinions. "It's been that way ever since the beginning of time" says Lynne McKay, a Brooklyn stenographer.

"It isn't that the men are shy or confused. Every woman has to pursue her man without letting him know that he's being pursued. Every woman has tricks that catch a man." "Women have always been the gopgetters" says Anne McCannon, a Harlem stenographer. "The woman has always convinced the man she wants to believe that he was missing something that he needed, and which led up to him asking the question. Any smart woman can make a man propose anytime she wants him too."

should watch for any sign of infection at each milking. Avoid possibility of spreading infection to other quarters. Hot and cold applications may be helpful. In recent years some of the sulfa drugs have been found effective in mastitis control. More recently, injections of penicillin have cured a large percentage of mastitis cases. However when these methods are used, treatment should be made by a skilled veterinarian.

New Tooth Filling

A new type of dental filling material made of resin or synthetic plastics is being used by dentists with encouraging results. The new filling material, to match the color of the tooth, was reported as more impervious to stains and more permanent than the synthetic porcelain or cement fillings in common use. "Not since silicate cement was introduced 50 years ago has any material made such an impact on operative dentistry," say prominent dentists.

KAY VAUGHN SAYS:

Get Up Off That Fat—You Can Eat And Reduce!

New York City (CNS)—A short while ago we made an amazing discovery: Louis Jordan, the famous bandleader, was rapidly losing weight. It interested us because Louie has always had a weight problem—that's because he loves to eat. With all that jumping around on stage you'd think he'd be trim as a track star, but not Mr. Jordan. He'd go out between shows and eat a big piece of strawberry short cake piled with whipped cream at Sardi's, then dine on a huge steak, fat and all, at Dempsey's where they cost close to 10 bucks a stab.

When Mr. J. was too busy to get out on his eat-and-be-merry jaunts, he'd send his Man Friday out for vanilla icecream three and four times a day, a pint each time. Finally he'd get tired of that and throw half of the last pint down the sink. For some variety, Louie even had his own aluminum cooking apparatus for hot soup in a jiffy. And he was so busy eating when company came, he wouldn't even look up to offer them any. Louie's dressing room was jokingly referred to as "Louie's kitchen."

Getting Fatter

Well, pretty soon, all the steaks, icecream, soup and cake began to show. Louie was getting fatter and fatter, filling out those purple, char-treuse and other loud suits he'd wear on stage. He began taking regular massages, at which he'd direct "Here is where I'm fat, don't rub there," etc. But it didn't help. He'd get off the table, dress and start out for a big meal right away, plus the extra ritz crackers, candy and cookies in-between meals. Finally, he resorted to wearing a specially built man's girdle for support—he'd get so tired on stage he couldn't hold his horn up throughout the show.

Now, those days are gone—forever he hopes. Louie Jordan has found the solution to reducing. When we noticed how thin he was looking, and that there weren't any cookies, soup or ice cream hanging around his dressing room, he told us what happened. "I just push myself away from the table," he said simply. "It's all a matter of will power."

So why not take Louie's advice. Only you don't have to starve yourself passing by restaurants and looking longingly in. You can have your cake—but you CAN'T eat it. The best you can do is admire it and remember how much better you'll look and feel—WITHOUT IT!

Try Mild Diet

You can honestly eat and reduce. Try this mild diet and you should lose from 1 to 3 pounds a day—providing you're in good health to start with. For Breakfast—citrus fruit (half grapefruit WITHOUT sugar, orange or lemons) No bananas today or any of your diet. A cup of tea or coffee without sugar or cream; half glass of skim milk. To get around the sugar problem, try sacrool if you detest the taste of sacchrrin. Sacrool tastes very close to sugar and it will save the day.

For lunch—just a big salad topped with homemade diet dressing or a little French dressing. A hard boiled egg sliced on top. For dessert—fruits.

For Dinner—two vegetables (spinach, stringbeans, peas, etc.), lean meat, liver, chicken, all broiled, or fish, or lamb chops. Absolutely no potatoes or rice or fried foods or pork chops. And with all that meat—no gravy. You can eat a T Bone steak—but cut off the fat. For dessert—fruit cocktail, but wash off the syrup.

Between meals—no cookies, candy, etc. Munch on celery stalks. But cut down on salt—and absolutely no sodas. For heat waves, we'd suggest pineapple drinks or any fruit drinks and if you long for sugar, put in a couple of tables of sacrool. It'll fool even you.

Of course, as in anything, don't overdo. The main thing is to eat the right foods and a normal amount. If you find you can't, just do as Louie Jordan does—push yourself away from the table!!

PERSONAL TOUCH

By Marie Ross

Mrs. Lillian Edmunds, executive director of Willkie House, is the recipient of many letters and notes of congratulations from all parts of the country since the dedication of the new building took place in June 17. Below are some of them:

"Just saw the spread the Bystander on the dedication of Willkie House," wrote James (Jimmy) Bowman, from Wiley college, Marshall, Texas.

Mr. Bowman, a native of Des Moines, who spent many years "growing-up" and working at the old community center, continued:

"You can't imagine how it made me feel to see it. Actually felt so happy for you and the Negro youth of Des Moines that I felt like cheering. I know this is the culmination of many dreams and even nightmares for you. It gives one faith in life to see such zealousness rewarded with so fine a prize as the building just erected. I have the pictures on display in my office as they will probably remain for a constant reminder of what hard work and persistence can do if one is as determined as you have always been. I still have to see it to believe it. It seems as if it must still be a dream only."

Mr. Bowman revealed that he will be coming to Des Moines to attend Drake the last six weeks, to

New Notes in Cooking

Quick and easy, hearty and substantial too, are dumplings made quick-as-a-wink with packaged biscuit mix and dropped into canned chicken soup, brought to the boiling point. Cover tightly and steam about 15 minutes.

For the maximum in chicken flavor, sprinkle Ac'cent (pure monosodium glutamate) inside the bird before stuffing, and use a little in the bread stuffing itself. It brings out those wonderful chicken flavors.

Spanish as a scrape is chicken, cut in pieces and browned first, then slow-baked with rice, canned tomatoes, green peppers and minced garlic.

Leftover cooked chicken, not enough to make another meal, stretches to six good servings when made into a baked chicken loaf. Any once-cooked meat regains its full, natural flavor when pure monosodium glutamate is used in its second preparation.

Try a curried "baste" for a roast stuffed chicken. Combine 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 to 2 teaspoons curry powder. Brush over chicken and use to baste once or twice during the roasting.

NAACP CONVENTION OUSTS COMMUNISTS

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at its annual convention in Atlanta, Ga. last week, in a resolution outlawed communists within its ranks and said local branches had the authority to exclude them from membership.

The delegates acted as they should for an organization which has attained such success in the advance toward equal justice as the NAACP has every reason to believe that the goal can and will be reached in the manner it has proceeded.

Then, too, the action proved that the NAACP is not a subversive group, a stigma which some narrow people have attached to the organization because of its militant fight for the rights of minority groups.

Some delegates wanted the subversive groups named and there is some merit to their contention. Most of these fellows deny they are communists and yet work with organizations and individuals who are known to be fellow travelers.

And this uncertainty leads to another resolution adopted branding the indictment of Dr. W. E. B. DuBois as an attempt to squelch his activities in behalf of minorities. This position seems ambiguous. A man is presumed innocent until proven guilty.

Dr. DuBois got himself into this jam and unless he can disprove the charge, there is no reason why he should be spared the consequences. He ought to know better.

YOUNG GOP'S ON SOUND GROUND

The nation's young Republicans Saturday rejected the idea of a coalition with receptive southern Democrats and elected instead to continue support of a clear 2-party system as "the best safeguard of the American way of life."

They are entitled to a bouquet for this action because many of the older heads, particularly those in Congress, don't seem to have the foresight or hind sight to do otherwise. This action is in contrast to that of Senator Mundt of South Dakota who has not only collaborated with them in Congress but has also gone into their states advocating such a program.

The young GOP's advocated a two party system all over the country but they are unwilling to compromise the principles upon which the party was founded and line up with a group of reactionaries who oppose those principles and which in the end would deliver no electoral votes anyway.

They are smart enough to know what happened as late as 1948. They know southern people are not going to vote the Republican ticket. They know that collaboration with the Dixiecrats, who deliver them no votes, drive liberal whites and Negroes away from the Republican ranks with the net result that the Republicans lose.

DITCH DEMAGOGUES, WHITE BIDS DIXIE

SEE FRONT PAGE. tement of southern demagogues are, Mr. White said, the youth of the region, certain segments of the church, the more enlightened labor unions, and the growing industrialization of the region.

"We shall continue," Mr. White said, "to ignore physical threats or anguished cries for 'more time' to remedy the inequalities which come with ill grace from those responsible for them. We fight not only to free the Negro from physical bondage but white Americans from the moral slavery which results from artificial barriers based on race, creed or national origin. We fight not only for our generation but also for generations to come."

To Expand Fight Against Local Segregation

The NAACP drive to eliminate segregation from all phases of American life will be extended to the local level, Thurgood Marshall, special counsel, announced following a closed conference of 40 civil rights lawyers attending the annual convention.

The lawyers agreed, with the concurrence of state leaders of the Association, upon priorities for attacking racial segregation in (1) public education, (2) transportation with emphasis on local streetcars and buses, (3) health, housing and recreational facilities, (4) public gatherings and (5) all places of public accommodation wherever any such segregation is required by state constitution and statutes, local ordinances, public or private regulations.

On the professional and graduate school level, Mr. Marshall said, precedents have been established. "All that remains is a problem of research on legal procedure to prevent delays in states like Georgia where time-consuming state procedures delay application for relief to the federal courts," he asserted.

On the elementary and secondary school levels, the NAACP counsel pointed out, there is need for development of legal procedure for filing one suit to cover all such schools in a given state. The fight against Jim Crow travel on the local level includes action against segregated waiting rooms and restaurants, in train stations and airports. Legal precedents already available in the school cases may also be applied in the fields of health, housing and recreation, the lawyers agreed.

To Oklahoma City

The 731 delegates from 40 states attending the annual convention voted to hold the next convention in Oklahoma City during the latter part of June.

Resolutions

By an overwhelming show of hands, the forty-second annual convention approved a resolution pointing out that local NAACP branches had the power to bounce Communists from membership.

The association observed: "The cardinal principle of those who follow the Communist line is to support whatever happens to be at the moment the foreign policy of Russia . . . while the cardinal principle of the NAACP is to support and strengthen American democracy."

The convention defeated an amendment which would have set up a list of un-American organizations. Membership in any of these organizations would have been grounds for exclusion from the NAACP.

In a series of other resolutions, the NAACP:

Called for integration of Negroes into all national guard units. Opposed any constitutional limitation on personal income taxes. Deplored the discharge of governmental employees by the loyalty review board without confronting the accused by his accuser.

Went on record in support of Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, now under indictment for failing to register as an agent of a foreign power on the grounds that it was an attempt to silence him as a spokesman for the full equality of Negroes.

Urged passage of civil rights legislation and recommended meetings before the national political conventions to seek civil rights platforms. Declared "we believe that colored farmers will gain if the power of such farm labor unions as the National Farm Labor union can be increased.

Iowans at Convention

Delegates of the Des Moines Branch of the NAACP who went to Atlanta, Ga., to attend the 42nd national convention were: Mesdames J. W. Mitchell, Clifford Bayles and E. T. Scales. Mrs. J. B. Morris attended the meeting also.

Sugar-less Sweetness

Has the doctor ordered you to "cut out sweets" while getting your weight under control? And do you still want to eat those tempting sweet desserts? Now you can do both. By the simple expedient of using saccharin instead of sugar you can enjoy such mouth-watering desserts as Lemon Snowdrift or Bavarian Cream with no worry about the calories. Saccharin, the product of chemical laboratories, is a powerful sweetener—about 400 times as sweet as sugar—yet it has no food value. Long a boon to diabetics who otherwise would have to be content with unsweetened coffee and tea, saccharin is equally effective in weight control.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Older People Can Get TB

Many people are inclined to think of the communicable disease, tuberculosis, as exclusively a disease of the young. Perhaps one reason for this is the fact that tuberculosis kills more young adults between 15 and 35 than any other disease.

But tuberculosis strikes at all ages and it is an enemy of the older age groups as well as of the young adults.

More than half of those who die from tuberculosis are over 45 year of age. Through the years, tuberculosis has increasingly become a problem of the older age groups. For example, in 1930, the average age of death from tuberculosis was 35 years; in 1948, it was 48 years.

There is a danger in the belief that a person can "outgrow" a susceptibility to tuberculosis, that a person cannot catch the disease after 40 or 45 years of age.

As people get older, they are more more inclined to shrug off a hacking cough, chronic fatigue, or loss of weight as just signs of advancing age. Yet any of these complaints may actually be symptoms of tuberculosis. And an older person who believes he is out of the TB "danger zone" will be even more likely to ignore the symptoms which may mean tuberculosis.

There are also a few older people who, without knowing they are ill, have learned to "live with their TB" by keeping it pretty well under control. It is possible for them to have a mild, chronic case of the disease for years without being seriously disabled. Yet while they escape infirmity for a time, they can be spreading their tuberculosis and they can never be sure they are completely safe themselves.

Since tuberculosis can and does strike at any age, every adult, no matter how old he might be, should have a chest X-ray at least once a year to check on the health of his lungs.

There is no "safe age," as far as tuberculosis is concerned. Chest X-rays, as part of annual physical examinations, are just as important for older people as they are for the young. There is one means of making certain that tuberculosis does not get the upper hand and prevent us from living to a "ripe" old age. This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by Polk County Tuberculosis Association.

that might become a long drawn out close affair.

The thing that keeps the Hottentots going is the presence of the veterans. They have a number of veterans, the Carter Brothers, Walt and Lawrence, Bob White, Frank Massey and one or two others who don't know when they are licked and who never give up. That makes them a tough softball team.

Ford Honored

Jim Ford of Drake was named on the All-American track team. His 9.5 hundred was the fastest in the nation during the past track season. Pretty hard to keep him off with his record of low times in the two short dashes.

Sees Danger

The nation was warned that continued color discrimination and segregation are grave threats to our democratic way of life by a Negro scholar and a young white politician who shared the platform at a mass meeting. The speakers were Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, and Philip Willkie, Indiana State legislator and son of the late Wendell Willkie.

Letters from Our Readers

A bit of prose . . . a line or two of poetry . . . a letter now and then to express thoughts in the minds of our many readers.

Send Yours Today

SINCE YOU WENT AWAY

Did you really part Thinking you would not be missed Or rather Did you say same In some faint attempt To make being apart hurt the less? To have you go Was like watching A giant surly ominous Cloud pass forth to hide the sun!

Sealing from earth Golden light man needs and loves— Yet man is helpless to Push back that ugly cloud. You are gone . . . The flowers still bloom But their stems Bend as if in a mourning— The birds song Still find a way To my ears But they be sad ditties.

Or is it I? The fir tree is sad At even-tide, Echoing in far more Picturesque and eloquent Tongue the state of my heart. You are missed so much Only a swift and safe return— The sound of your laughter Can bring from beneath That ominous cloud, Sun to the earth, Peace to the heart.

—N. S. Ellington.

and segregation, Dr. Mays saw a "new South emerging in the area of human relations." He contrasted the conditions prevailing in the South of his youth with those of today and cited the forces which had brought significant changes in this region. Foremost among these, he indicated, has been the NAACP which devised an effective way "to achieve more freedom and justice through the federal courts."

"The Negro himself," the Georgia educator said, "is more determined today to become a first class citizen" but not determined enough. "If the determination is to be measured by the number of Negroes who are willing to pay for their freedoms by fighting through the orderly process of the law and courts and by paying for it by contributing annually to organizations like the NAACP and the Southern Regional Council, the determination is not very strong."

Costs Friendship

Color discrimination and segregation is costing America the friendship and support of a billion and-a-half colored peoples throughout the world, Mr. Willkie told delegates and friends attending the session.

"If these people," young Willkie said, "join the Soviet side in the titanic struggle for world leadership, we will find ourselves an isolated island, a garrison state in a Soviet Communist-dominated world. If they join our side, we, in turn, are placed in a dominant position—a position in which we can much more easily isolate the Russians. The leadership of the darkskinned nations are, Mr. Willkie asserted, "able, well-educated, sophisticated, and frankly cynical about America's professed ideals because of our treatment of minorities."

Role of NAACP Lauded By President Truman

Atlanta.—"Cordial greetings and hearty good wishes" were extended by President Truman to the 781 delegates attending the 42nd annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which closed here Sunday, July 1. The message, read at the opening session, reminded the convention that it was "meeting at a fateful moment in the world's history."

"The forces of imperialist aggression have once again been unleashed on a smaller, weaker neighbor. But this time they have been turned back by the joint effort of the freedom loving nations. In this effort, our country has taken the lead," the President said.

"The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is numbered among the organizations which are foremost in working for the universal enjoyment of equal justice and equal opportunity to which our country is dedicated," Mr. Truman said in his letter. "With your support and assistance, much progress has already been made in the Armed Services, in the Federal government itself, and in such areas as housing, education and transportation."

The President reiterated his demand for the enactment of civil rights and welfare legislation. "We must insure," he repeated "that these rights—on equal terms—are enjoyed by every citizen."
