

Meyer Enters Race For Congressman

ALVIN P. MEYER Alvin P. Meyer, 54, of Van Meter, announced that he will contest for nomination and election as congressman in the Fifth Iowa district on the Democratic ticket.

A successful farmer, oilman and businessman, Meyer said that he is entering the Congressional race because "I'm interested in giving all of the people in this district good and proper representation in Congress."

This is Meyer's second try for a political office. Two years ago he was defeated, along with three other candidates, for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate. Al Loveland won the party nomination that year.

Meyer was born and raised on a farm near Van Meter. In addition to owning and operating a farm, he operates gasoline service stations in six counties—Polk, Warren, Dallas, Madison, Adair and Guthrie. His company also maintains a 100,000 gallon bulk plant at Van Meter. The Meyer's also own and operate a cafe at Winterset.

He became actively interested in politics, quite by accident. Back in 1948 he wrote speeches and bought radio time himself to campaign for Democratic ticket. Since that time, Meyer has been taking an active part in party politics.

The Meyer's have five children: Mrs. William Bucklew, Van Meter; Alvin Carroll at Winterset, Frederick William at home, and Barbara Ann and Karen Kay at home.

An ardent campaigner, and a fellow who likes to meet people, Meyer will spend his time from now

Anti-Segregation Charter Adopted

Buck Hill Falls, Penn.—Complete elimination of segregation and discrimination from every activity of the Methodist church is the aim of a "charter of racial policies" adopted here by the denomination's Woman's Division of Christian Service.

The charter was adopted at the final session of a nine-day annual meeting of leaders representing more than 1,500,000 Methodist church women in the nation.

The 10-point charter calls for opening church facilities and opportunities to everyone without discrimination. Where law prohibits or custom prevents realizing the immediate objective, it specifies, workers and local boards should create "a favorable public opinion" for changing these laws and customs.

The program explicitly provides that all positions in the church organization and on the staff be filled and missionaries and deaconesses be chosen on the basis of qualification and without regard to race or national background.

until primary election day touring the district.

The Fifth congressional district includes the following counties: Story, Dallas, Polk, Madison, Warren and Marion.

Indict Walker In Wife's Death

Alexander Walker, 49, last Friday was indicted for murder in the slaying Dec. 30 of his estranged wife.

The county grand jury's indictment accused Walker of shooting his wife, Beatrice, 38, in front of her mother's home at Oralabor, north of Des Moines.

Walker told sheriff's deputies he objected to his wife's working at Roy's Lunch, 427 E. Walnut street, where she was employed as a waitress. He left his home after an argument with her over the job, Walker said.

Walker moved from his residence at 427 1/2 E. Fifth street, to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mamie Frith, after the row with his wife, officers said.

On Dec. 30, Mrs. Walker and her

Look For Wilt

Keep an eye on your oak tree this Summer. If the leaves begin to brown progressively from their tips toward their stems and yet remain rigid rather than shriveled, Federal and State entomologists would like to know about it. It might be oak wilt. Such symptoms are characteristic of the new disease, says Dr. Rush P. Marshall, director of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories. Oak wilt is a killer. From an entrenched position in the Midwest, it is now known to have spread eastward to two areas in Ohio, one in central Pennsylvania and is as far south as the Ozarks.

Texas Taters

If you are in the lookout for an idea which will put a little in the food dollar try Texas Taters.

Instead of serving potatoes as a meat accompaniment for dinner, start them as the main dish dressed up as Texas Taters. This potato innovation is designed to stretch a quarter-pound of ground beef into six servings. Scooped-out potato pulp is whipped together with milk and fortified margarine to a smooth, rich fluffy mixture. Hot browned beef, drippings, grated sharp cheese and seasonings are folded in to finish off the tasty filling for the potato shells.

Glazed tiny golden carrots, a simple tossed salad, crisp crushed rolls served with margarine for spreading complete a dinner course that is bound to eat corners on your food costs.

TEXAS TATERS

6 medium-sized potatoes 2 tablespoons minced onion 6 tablespoons fortified margarine 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 cup milk 1/4 teaspoon pepper 1 cup grated sharp cheese 1 tablespoon minced parsley 1/2 cup minced celery

Hot browned ground beef and drippings; Melt 2 tablespoons fortified margarine in a skillet over low heat. Add 1/4 pound ground beef, season to taste with salt and pepper and cook until done. Stir occasionally.

Cut a thin slice off the flat side of the potato. With a spoon remove as much as you can of the potato without breaking the skin. Mash the pulp. Add margarine, milk, cheese, onion, salt, pepper, parsley, celery, browned beef and drippings. Fill potato shells with the mixture. Place 1/2 teaspoon fortified margarine on top of each filled potato. Place the Texas Taters on a broiler rack and broil 4 inches from the source of heat until the tops are delicately browned, about 5 to 7 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

End Color Bar, Church Urged

Minneapolis, Minn.—Racial segregation in the nation's Lutheran churches last Sunday was called a major obstacle to progress of missionary activity among the non-white populations of the world.

The Rev. Elmer R. Danielson, Lindsborg, Kan., told a national Lutherans conference here that the Lutherans of America "must cleanse their congregations of color-bar as quickly as possible by the power of the living Christ."

Dr. Danielson, a veteran missionary in Tanganyika, British East Africa, for the Augustana Lutheran church, was not able to attend the conference. His statement was read.

He said the race question has created "a great, disturbing, paradoxical situation in Africa today. On the one hand is the openness of the African soul to the Saviour in any which I daresay does not exist on any other continent in the world today."

"But on the other hand, there is a fast growing mistrust of the white man's political power, and especially economic power, over the peoples and resources of Africa. And there is most certainly a fast growing impatience, if not resentment and hatred, with the white man's racial superiority attitude."

$50,000 Scholarships Given; Georgia's A.M.E. Churches Pour $100,000 in College Yearly

By ROBERT DURR

Atlanta, Ga.—(Calvin News Service)—President J. H. Lewis of Morris Bown College, in Atlanta, Ga., says the college is filling a need in Georgia which is not being met by any other existing college for Negroes in that state.

He states that Morris Brown stands as a symbol of the ability of Negroes to operate a first rate institution of higher learning and the extent to which the Negro constituency of the A.M.E. Church in the Peach Tree State have for years put their hands in their pockets and given $100,000 annually to the support of the college which needs an additional $100,000 yearly to so broaden the basis of the service it renders in its field of major emphasis—the spiritual and moral in the area of liberal arts.

In this age of material and scientific progress it is indeed most important that equal emphasis be made in the area of the spiritual and moral realms so that we may have a continuing development of responsible leadership. Morris Brown College is doing that in Atlanta. Her graduates go out into the urban and rural areas of the South especially the state of Georgia to teach and serve as leaders and builders.

As part of its program to help worthy students, Morris Brown is giving $50,000 in scholarships and work opportunity assistances annually to ambitious boys and girls.

Peekskill Riot Suit Dismissed
New York, N. Y.—A $2,100,000 damage suit filed by Singer Paul Robeson and 29 other leftists after two riots near Peekskill, N. Y. was dismissed Wednesday by Federal District Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

The 30 plaintiffs filed suit against Atty. George M. Fanelli and 13 others.

They sued in 1949 after two concerts the Negro singers attempted to give ended in rock-throwing and disorder. They claimed the defendants organized a mob to prevent Robeson from performing and asked for amounts ranging from $10,000 to $200,000 for alleged personal injuries, assault and deprivation of civil rights.

The dismissal was made after it was held that the federal court had no jurisdiction.

Sings in Florida

MARIAN ANDERSON

Miami, Fla.—About 2,000 persons, roughly 60 percent Negro and 40 percent white, sat in alternate rows in the Dade county auditorium, which seats 2,501, to hear Marian Anderson, world renowned contralto singer, in her first recital here before a non-segregated audience.

Police gave Miss Anderson the greatest protection ever afforded a singer at Miami during her concert Friday night, Jan. 25. Sixty plainclothesmen mixed with the audience.

In Jacksonville, where the famed contralto sang Wednesday night, Jan. 23, money for some 250 tickets sold to white persons was refunded when the Duval County Army Council ruled that it could not authorize a mixed audience.

However, the concert was presented as a program for Negroes with white persons who wished to attend were permitted to do so. About 100 attended and segregation was not attempted.

In Miami, W. O. Perry, president of the Young Colored Business Men's club, sponsoring the Miami concert, said white purchasers of tickets knew of the non-segregation policy.

Miss Anderson's contract stipulates that she will not appear before segregated audiences.

Katherine Hepburn Stars As Missionary In 'African Queen'

New York—John Huston's Technicolor adventure drama, "The African Queen," starring Humphrey Bogart and Katherine Hepburn, already an Academy award contender and a leader on many "ten best" lists throughout the country even before its general release, has its eagerly awaited New York premiere at the Capitol Theatre in mid-February.

It was revealed by United Artists.

Already the subject of the most superlative critical acclaim on the basis of its London and Los Angeles pre-release engagements, this S. P. Eagle triumph captures the thrill-packed journey of a missionary and a grizzled, gin-slinging roustabout down a danger-filled African river bound on a mission of vengeance.

Critics have overflowed in their praise of the mighty performances by Miss Hepburn as the missionary and Bogart as the Canadian riverboat man hailing them as the best in the long line of hits from these two popular stars.

Love Making Too Exotic, Bride Sues

Los Angeles, Cal.—Exotic love-making of a Los Angeles man lost him his bride after only two days, according to a complaint for annulment filed in superior court this week.

Two days was enough for her and she deserted her husband, Marcus, after discovering that he was a "sexual psychopath and preferred and insisted on having abnormal relations with her," Mrs. Betty Joe Coleman charged.

Their marriage was fraudulent because Coleman "had represented himself as normal," or she wouldn't have married him, the woman complained.

Whale Meat

What a wonderful food supply the whale would be—if only people liked it. Thus lamented a young American naturalist in 1911. Americans and Europeans had only to learn the flavorsome taste of lean, red whale meat, he observed, for a huge new source of food to be in reach of great cities and their hungry poor. Forty years later, the appearance of pot roast of whale on the luncheon menu of a large industrial cafeteria in New Jersey was still a novelty worthy of detailed descriptions in New York newspapers. The beef of the greatest of all the earth's animals, however, is reaching villages to fashionable restaurants in London—and meat-hungry millions are liking it. Frozen whale steaks, ground "whaleburger," whale stew and potential pot roast are now processed in huge factory ships grinding through summer ice of the Antarctic whaling grounds. Shore stations not only in the Far East but in Norway, New Zealand, Iceland and California prepare meat for human consumption at the same time that they "try out" giant whales for their use in precision lubrication, soaps, glycerine for explosives, and cosmetics. They also grind whale-meat meal for cattle feed and dried whalebone for fertilizer.

It Takes Two To Have Fight; Child Learns Gradually

Atton Smith, Assistant Professor, Child Welfare Research Station. We cannot be sure of what is in a little child's mind when he has a tantrum or watches us out of the corner of his eye. Yet there are ways to direct his behavior without blaming him and without scolding. He may scream and even beat against us with his fists. Yet he probably is not angry at us, personally. He is no more angry at us than we are at the book which we may sium on the table.

His feelings are out of control and we happen to be handy like the book. A table or his kiddy car would serve as well for relieving his confused feelings.

If the child is too young to understand explanation, we may as well keep cheerful and direct his attention to something else.

We may teach the somewhat older child to work off his fury by helping him to solve his problem. If his blocks won't stand up, we may show him how to put the large ones on the bottom. When we must call him from his play, a few minutes' warning may help him to come cheerfully.

When he is furious we can say, "Of course you are angry. We are all like that at times." This will cool him off much more quickly than when we jerk at him and tell him how naughty he is.

If we won't fight, then the child can't fight; for it takes two to have a battle. We may pick him up and take him where he should go if he continues to resist. He then learns gradually that storms don't pay.

Any mother can think of better ways to teach her child when she understands that he does not think as she does; when she does not regard his behavior as a personal insult to herself.

Studies Show Terramycin Useful in Whooping Cough

Whooping cough, one of the most common and serious infections of childhood, can be effectively treated with terramycin, according to clinical studies made by doctors working independently at the University of Washington's School of Medicine in Seattle and the Department of Pediatrics of the Charles V. Chapin Hospital in Providence.

The Seattle doctors treated 21 children aged 3 months to 7 years, and noted clinical improvement in 18 of them. Their report concludes: "These results indicate that terramycin is as effective an agent in the therapy of pertussis (whooping cough) as chloramphenicol or aureomycin."

The Providence physicians made their study during the recent epidemic of some 1200 reported cases of whooping cough in their community. They selected 111 hospitalized cases to determine the comparative clinical effects of aureomycin, chloromycetin (chloramphenicol) and terramycin on uncomplicated whooping cough.

To complete the Providence study, a group of 28 streptomycin-treated patients and another of 21 untreated patients were chosen from the hospital records and analyzed on the same basis as the others.

The patients ranged from 3 weeks to 9 years, with the mean age just under 1 year. More than one fourth were under 6 months; among them the most severe form of the disease was seen.

Comparison of results led the doctors to conclude that the three broad-range antibiotics — terramycin, aureomycin and chloromycetin — are "of almost equal clinical value" in treating whooping cough.

LA CARMELITA CLUB REELECTS OFFICERS

La Carmelita club held election of officers at the home of Mrs. Laura Scott. All officers were reelected.

Mrs. Helen Wyatt is president; Mrs. Hobart Brent, secretary; Mrs. Laura Scott, treasurer. Mrs. Ellen Burrell is a new member. The next meeting will be Feb. 6 at the home of Mrs. Brent.

group. At their farm home, Reasnor, not far from Newton, Ia., she and her husband, John J. G., live in a beautiful home that is designed for comfort, relaxation, seclusion, devotion.

There are spacious kitchen and breakfast nook, a roomy dining room for the family dinners; a long living room with plenty of easy chairs for guests to recline while listening to Mrs. Schultz play her grand piano and her husband, his violin.

Bedrooms with charm and striking personalities surrounded a second-floor corridor which is most noticeable because in one corner is a large pipe organ upon which the mother has played many bedtime melodies for her family.

When I reached the third floor of their home, on a visit there last year, I was ready to move in—for here was the most precious room I have ever seen, a writing room, with books and lounge and lamps and windows that overlooked the beautiful rolling hills of the Schultz farm.

After reading the letter about Mrs. Schultz's cabin at Mt. Hope, it makes me want to take wings and fly to any place where a mountain creek is rushing by, because at my back door now, while the Des Moines temperature is below zero, the snow is cold and hard.

Mrs. Schultz added in her personal note that she "wonders how the world goes for you. Probably neither you nor I will see too much improvements in existing evils, but perhaps things will improve in the years to come."

"This is a wonderful country," wrote Ike Smalls from Los Angeles, Cal., on Monday.

"It's 80 above today. I'm at the edge of the Pacific Ocean. Hope you have nice weather."

Slanting-Shelf Bookcase
A BOOKCASE especially designed for a child's use has three slanting shelves which hold either books or magazines flat. On top is a conventional shelf for smaller books that are stood up in the usual way.

Just three feet high and three feet wide, this attractive piece may be built readily in the home workshop, as the construction is simple and no special tools are required. The top, bottom and sides are one-inch white pine, 12 inches wide.

The back is a panel of Masonite 3/8" Tempered Presdwood, the same material that is used in the construction of the shelves. Each slanting shelf is made by fastening the hardwood to a framework of 1" by 2" white pine, the top one being fastened to the ends with screws so that it has a slant of 65 degrees. The center shelf is similarly attached, but here the slant is 55 degrees. The lower shelf, which incidentally is the widest for the larger books and magazines, is slanted at 45 degrees.

Pieces of lattice lumber form the lips against which the books rest on each shelf. This sturdy bookcase will take considerable abuse. It will be attractive in a child's room, in the recreation room or on a porch. The bookcase should be given a prime coat and two finish coats of paint or enamel to harmonize with its surroundings.

Biscuit Ring Casserole

There's a good meal in this casserole, and a thrifty one. Meat and vegetables are well-flavored and topped with a ring of golden biscuits. Eat hearty!

Taxes are high and prices are high, but your need for substantial, nourishing meals is just the same. One excellent solution is to stretch your food dollar in meat-saving dishes which combine meat with economical enriched flour.

Such a dish is Biscuit Ring Casserole, a meal-in-one taste delight that combines meat with peas, carrots and lima beans, and tops all with biscuits. The biscuit ring makes a mighty good-looking service. It contributes B-vitamins and iron in addition to economical protein at small cost.

With this flavorful casserole, serve a crisp salad and milk or coffee. Apple pie with cheese completes a menu your family will approve. To save time and work, often you'll want to call on your baker for a luscious pie, cake or cookies for dessert.

SPORTS AND THE CHURCH MOVE UP A NOTCH

Recently, the New York Yankees, professional football team, was purchased by interests in Dallas, Texas. Since three Negro players are included in the squad, considerable speculation arose as to whether these men would play with their team in Texas.

On the heels of this decision came baseball, lengthening its season so it overlaps with baseball, and using Negro players, and baseball must meet the competition." Burnett, the manager said.

Thus, football and baseball in the South have moved out boldly on a program of integrating Negroes into the top ranks of what is offered other unaffiliated players.

Joe Louis started a crusade against discrimination against the golf association and won because his cause was right and the pressure on the officers of that organization by the public was too great.

Following these unprecedented decisions came the announcement that the Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church had adopted a "charter of racial policies" which has for its goal the full integration of Negroes in every department of the Methodist Church.

It is gratifying that in sports and the church, the leaders are coming to realize that each has a responsibility to bring democracy into his own organizations and thus progress in better human relations is being shown on every hand.

HATS OFF TO THE JUNIOR CHAMBER

The Bystander made no editorial comment last week on the selection of James B. Morris, Jr. by the Des Moines Junior Chamber of Commerce as the young man of the year because of the personal interest of its editor.

But it does desire to give the young fellows of the Junior Chamber a pat on the back for their action in the light of a new day for all men regardless of creed or color. Other Negroes have won honors in Des Moines and a lot of the older fellows know it but they have not had the courage to move out boldly and act publicly as their conscience speaks privately.

As more men rise to the occasion to do as the youngsters in the Junior Chamber did in this instance, there will be less strife and a more lasting peace among nations.

LETS NOT TRY TO PASS THE BUCK

As bad as Communism appears to be, there are entirely too many bad things charged up against it which have no basis in fact, but some accusers have fallen upon this method of condemning them as an excellent escape.

Following the racial disturbance in Cicero, Illinois, last year, some authorities charged that the whole thing was inspired by the communists. A similar statement has been made with regard to the bombing of homes and the killing of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore in Florida.

Race riots and lynchings have occurred over the years long before most people ever heard about Communism. These crimes were abetted and committed by those people who sought to intimidate the efforts of those citizens who dared to elevate the Negro to full citizenship or protect unfortunate victims who have suffered because of their race.

Negroes ought to be the last ones to attempt to help rotten race haters hide behind Communism because the cause of the later is exceedingly unpopular.

South-Wide Action

SEE FRONT PAGE Baptist Church, heard speeches from six southern state leaders, and an address by Roy Wilkins, of New York, national administrator of the NAACP. Mr. Wilkins said Harry T. Moore had been murdered because he refused to believe in the doctrine of white supremacy and worked for equality of his people.

Bankrupt

"Moore's murder," said Mr. Wilkins, "means that the doctrine of white supremacy is bankrupt. It has no more magic. Nobody believes in it. When people have to prove superiority by bomb-murders, they are not superior. Negroes are not frightened by these tactics; they are only more determined to secure their rights, as is evidenced by the attendance of 200 delegates to this conference."

A greeting to the delegates from Walter White, who was ill in New York, declared "the bomb has replaced the lyncher's rope" and called for increased activity to secure full equality.

The conference was attended by the following state presidents: Edward Davis, Florida; J. M. Hinton, South Carolina; Kelly M. Alexander, North Carolina; W. C. Patton, Alabama; and W. A. Bender, Mississippi. Presidents William Boyd of Georgia and Ullius Phillips of Tennessee sent deputy spokesmen. Leaders were present from Arkansas, Kentucky, West Virginia and Louisiana. Only Oklahoma, Texas and Virginia had no representatives present, but these sent messages and promised cooperation.

The meeting was attended by Police Chief Sherman Cannon and Sheriff Rex Sweat, who remained to the end, seated in the third pew from the front.

Far East.

Negro noncoms and officers have had "conspicuous successes" in the command and training of mixed units of draftees and, the authors say, "one of the earliest bright spots on the nonsegregation map was Fort Jackson, South Carolina."

Results thus far have been significant, THE REPORTER says: "It has given the Negro soldier a sense of intimate membership in the Army of the United States. It was wiped from the conscience of white soldiers the feeling of moral guilt that segregation inflicted on what is, after all, the Army of the United States. And it has wrested from the enemies of democracy a sharp propaganda weapon."

Publishers Hold Annual Mid-Winter Workshop in N. Y.

Detroit, Michigan—The 13th annual convention of the National Newspaper Publishers Association will be held in St. Louis on June 19, 20, and 21, at which time Publisher J. E. Mitchell of the St. Louis Argus will receive a special citation from the association, it was announced this week.

The announcement followed the annual Mid-Winter Workshop of NNPA which was held at the Gotham Hotel here last week-end. Over forty publishers, editors, and news paper executives from all over the country participated in the workshop sessions.

The opening session last Friday was highlighted by a symposium on editorial techniques which was directed by William Nunn of the Pittsburgh Courier, Charles Loeb of the Cleveland Call and Post, Enoc P. Waters of the Chicago Defender and William Matney of the Michigan Chronicle.

Symposium

A symposium on advertising at Saturday's session was presided over by Frank Stanley of the Louisville Defender and the discussions were led by Arnett Murphy of the Afro-American, Dowdal Davis of the Kansas City Call, Irving Williamson of the St. Louis Argus and John Sengstacke of the Chicago Defender.

Special reports were given by Thomas W. Young of the Norfolk Journal and Guide, Howard Murphy of the Afro-American, W. O. Walker of the Cleveland Call and Post and Carter Wesley of the Houston Informer.

Les Griner, production manager of the Detroit News, was the featured speaker at a dinner meeting during the workshop conference.

The newspaper executives were feted by the Booker T. Washington Trade Association at a luncheon and were entertained by the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. Host papers were the Detroit Tribune and the Michigan Chronicle.

HEALTH FOR ALL

SUI Doctor Describes Heart Disease

Iowa City, Iowa.—When you talk about your neighbor having heart disease, what do you really mean? According to Dr. Lewis E. January, associate professor of internal medicine at the State University of Iowa college of medicine, you might be talking about any one of 21 distinct diseases, all unrelated but all involving the circulatory system, including the heart and blood vessels.

Most likely, however, the person you describe suffers from one of the three most common forms which cause more than 90 per cent of all deaths from heart disease—rheumatic heart disease, coronary heart disease and hypertensive heart disease.

Rheumatic heart disease is caused by rheumatic fever. During the acute phase the heart may fail, sometimes leading to death. More often, however, as healing progresses, scars form in the heart valves, resulting in various degrees of chronic rheumatic heart disease.

Rheumatic Heart

Rheumatic heart disease is the leading cause of death among children between the ages of five and 19. It immobilized more than 40,000 young men in the armed forces during World War II.

Coronary heart disease, causing nearly half of the heart disease deaths after middle age, is a result of arteriosclerosis, or hardening and thickening of the vessels which supply blood to the heart muscle. The common expression "heart attack" usually refers to this type of heart disease.

When arteries harden and thicken, the size of the channel carrying blood to tissues is usually reduced. This results in a smaller supply of blood to these tissues. When the coronary arteries are involved, blood supply to the heart muscle is reduced. It is not surprising, then, that physical exertion, which increases the work of the heart, brings on attacks of pain in the chest. These attacks usually are relieved by rest.

Blood Clot

When a blood clot, or thrombus, forms in the thickened blood vessel, the blood supply to that portion of the body is completely cut off. A "heart attack" is usually caused by such a blood clot blocking an artery, supplying a segment of heart muscle.

This type of heart disease is most common in older people but also occurs frequently in middle age, at which period men are much more likely to develop it than women. Dr. January stresses that it is not necessarily fatal. Far more people survive the first attack than succumb to it, and many are able to live happy and productive lives for long periods.

Hypertensive heart disease is brought on by hypertension, or high blood pressure. It is the most common cause of heart disease in middle age.

High Blood Pressure

High blood pressure increases the load on the heart, causing it to dilate and enlarge. Since the heart has to work harder than it normally would,

Hawkeyes, Notre Dame has always had trouble with Iowa football teams.

Boxing

Golden Gloves time is just around the corner. Don't know how many Negroes will be in the business. Uncle Sam has taken most of the good boys away. Most of those who are left are to be in shape. They are to be in shape because these white boys are able to fight a lick but they are not able to fight three rounds and the only way they can be kept is by knocking them dead.

The second or third round is no round to get tired in when you tangle with one of those kids in a Golden Gloves meet.

The Champ

The heat is on Jersey Joe Walcott, heavyweight champ. The boys think he is over the hill and about ripe for picking and there is a bigger scramble to get first shot at the old man than there is to get the Republican presidential nomination because they figure the same way about the Donkey.

Joe can't go on forever. Some young hard-hitting guy like Marciano may take him. Then, we look for a series of champs of short duration like there was before Joe Louis took over. But we hope Old Jersey Joe makes a wad of dough out of the fight if he does lose.

Race Prejudice Important Factor In Soviet Propaganda

Atlanta, Ga. (Special)—John Scott of Time Magazine's staff cited American race prejudice as one of the effective weapons of the Soviet Union in building up ill will and distrust of America throughout the world.

To combat this, he believes that the United States should treat the Koreans and other Europeans as equal human beings and do everything possible to align the good will and support of nations that will cooperate with us.

Mr. Scott, speaking under the sponsorship of Time Magazine, addressed the students and faculties of the Atlanta University System last week in the first convocation of the new year.

Pvt. Artie McNair Arrives In Yakohoma, After Trip Thru Alaska and Aleutians

"After a lot of traveling, I have been assigned. Our ship arrived last Monday at Yokohama. It was a very interesting trip, but as usual, I was very glad to see land again. They took the northern route, that is, Alaska, the Aleutian Islands and then Japan," wrote Pvt. Artie R. McNair on Jan. 20.

"I found myself at the piano quite a bit on ship, as you may notice it may reach the stage where it can no longer carry the added burden and heart failure results. The big stumbling block in the path of those attempting to control heart disease is the lack of knowledge concerning its cause. True, rheumatic fever causes rheumatic heart disease, hardening of the arteries causes coronary heart disease and high blood pressure causes hypertensive heart disease. These, however, are only partial answers.

Basic causes of rheumatic fever, hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure are not known. Specific treatment or prevention of these diseases therefore must await these discoveries.

Answers to the unknowns about heart disease will be found only through costly and painstaking research. The problems pose a challenge, not only to the physician and research worker but to all people upon whose support the scientist must depend. It will not be easy, but great advances have already been made and others are sure to come.

Says Pro Football Forced Texas Loop to Use Negroes

Dallas, Tex.—R. W. Burnett last Sunday placed the burden on football for his decision to use Negroes in the Texas league this year.

The owner of the Dallas club said he would play any Negro who had the ability to make his club and that he would give any Negro desiring it a try-out.

Burnett declared that the decision of the Dallas professional football club not to bar any player because of race, creed or color, and the fact that the club had three Negroes on it at this time, meant that the color line had been removed.

"Football has been moving in on baseball, lengthening its season so it overlaps with baseball, and using Negro players, and baseball must meet the competition," Burnett said. "I am not lowering the bars because I think it will help my attendance, although I am sure it will, but because professional football came to Dallas and announced it would not bar the use of Negroes."

Others Cautious

Other Texas league clubs were somewhat cautious in their comments. Grayle Howlett, president of Tulsa, did not actually say his club would use Negroes, but he commented:

"Certainly we in Tulsa will do nothing less than any other clubs in the Texas league are doing in the quest for the winner which we all seek."

Fort Worth Vague

The comment of John Reeves, president of the Fort Worth club, was vague. Reeves said he knew of "no Negro players in the Brooklyn chain (which owns Fort Worth) who would fit into the Fort Worth club now."

He didn't say what he would do if a Negro was found who could fit in. Guy Airey, owner of Beaumont, was slightly more definite.

"If Texas league players are introduced in Dallas and other Texas league points, and I get a chance to sign an outstanding player, regardless of his color, I will do so."

There was no comment from Shreveport and Oklahoma City.
