Bomb Thrown in Kansas City Home; First in Thirty Years; Citizens Aroused

Kansas City, Mo.—A reward of $500 has been offered by the Kansas City branch of the NAACP for information to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons guilty of the bombing of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Crittenden at 2736 Paseo on the night of May 21.

This action was taken at a special meeting of the executive committee called by Carl R. Johnson, branch president.

The leaders of an aroused community last week strongly condemned the attempted bombing early Wednesday of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Crittenden, wrote J. Delmas Escoe in The Call.

Full support and protection to the Crittendens and diligence in apprehending the perpetrators of Kansas City's first home bombing in 30 years were pledged by top law enforcement officers, city officials and leading citizens.

Escaped Death

It was pointed out that death to the occupants and complete destruction of the 8-room house might have resulted except for the quick thinking of Miss Morlene A. Johnston, 2518 Forest, who was visiting the Crittendens at the time the homemade bomb was tossed through their dining room window.

Miss Johnston seized the sputtering object and hurled it out the front door. It exploded almost instantaneously in the driveway north of the house. The blast shattered four windows in the Crittenden home and also broke windows in the homes at 2730 Paseo, 2734 Paseo and 2738 Paseo.

Police Chief Henry W. Johnson said that the police department "will not tolerate" such bombings and that every effort will be made to bring

Roy's Thumb In Cast

New York—(CNS) Still incapacitated by a fractured right thumb, Roy Campanella isn't expected to be able to join the Brooklyn lineup until the cast is removed on Saturday, just before the Dodgers head for their western tour. The doctors had wanted the cast to stay on for two weeks but a week is all Roy can take. He was hurt in a game with the Phillies when their Jack Mayo crashed into him in a play at the plate.

Efforts Renewed to Secure Freedom for Lieut. Gilbert; Koje Camp Cases Cited

New York—Citing the mild penalties imposed upon Generals Francis T. Dodd and Charles F. Colson for their roles in the Koje Island prisoner-of-war camp fiasco, and upon the "stay down" strikers in the U.S. Air Force, Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, this week renewed his request for immediate freedom for Lieutenant Leon A. Gilbert, now serving a 20-year term on conviction of "misbehavior before the enemy" in Korea.

In a letter to Major General Harry H. Vaughan, military aide to the President, Mr. Marshall challenged the general's attempt to draw a fine line of distinction between the offense committed by Lieutenant Gilbert and that of the "stay down" strikers.

General Vaughan had written to Mr. Marshall in response to the latter's letter to President Truman seeking clemency for Gilbert through reduction of his sentence to the time already served, and an opportunity for his re-enlistment in the Army.

Volunteers

As volunteers, the Air Force men, had merely "refused," the general pointed out "to do something which the perpetrators to justice.

Pictures of high school graduates are due in the office of the Bystander, 221 1/2 Locust street, not later than Monday. The picture page will be published in the paper's fifty-eighth anniversary edition on June 19. Phone the Picture Editor at 8-1904 today or tomorrow.

The S. Joe Brown Memorial Cabin Under Construction At Boone Y.M.C.A. Camp—To Be Ready For Leaders Activities By June 14

The S. Joe Brown Memorial Cabin at Boone (Ia.) Y.M.C.A. camp, a fitting monument to commemorate the unselfish work of the late S. Joe Brown, is fast becoming a reality and is expected to be completed by the opening of the Y.M.C.A. camping season on June 14.

Located at the bottom of Chapel Hill, across the street from the main lodge, the cabin which will be used by Y.M.C.A. leaders, will be complete with library, fireplace, three-quarter length windows on all four sides of the building. The Bill Ashby photo (left) shows the 30-foot ranch type structure. It will be used all seasons without regard to race, creed or color.

headed the S. Joe Brown Memorial Cabin committee for over a period of two years, pushing the drive to secure funds to build the cabin.

In the continuous campaign to raise money for the cabin, committee members pointed out highlights of the life of the late veteran Iowa attorney, who was the original founder of the Crocker branch Y.M.C.A. in 1919. Through the years until 1950, when he died, he worked tirelessly in extending his services to men and boys. He led in many other organizations in the community, serving as: grandmaster, Masonic lodges; grand patron of Order of Eastern Star; high priest of the Royal Arch Masons; grand commander, Knights of Teplar; founder of Des Moines NAACP branch; charter member of Des Moines Interracial Commission; trustee

Line-Up in Polk County After Big Primary Election

After one of Iowa's closest and largest primary elections of recent years Gov. William S. Beardsley, 51, of New Virginia, was Republican winner of a third-term nomination by a about 177,000 votes, against Joseph Schel Loveless, 41, of Ottumwa, Democratic winner by about 12,000 votes over former Congressman Otha D. Wearin of Hastings.

Beardsley's closest opponent, was former Lt. Gov. Kenneth A. Evans, 53, of Emerson, followed by the present lieutenant governor, William H. Nicholas, Mason City.

In the line-up for major Polk county offices are: Howard C. Reppert, Jr., (D) and Thomas I. Reilly (R) for sheriff; county attorney—Clyde Herring (D), Ray Harrison (R); auditor—Harold Anderson (D), T. Harry Vicker (R); County Clerk—Michael H. Doyle (D), Jene Hammill (R); Recorder—Agnes Gibson (D); Stella Barker (R); Coroner—Dr. Paul V. Hart (D), Dr. Walter D. Anderson, (R).

J. F. (Bill) Baillie, Republican incumbent, has no opposition as candidate for county treasurer.

Oris A. Todd Dies

ORIS A. TODD

Rites for Oris A. Todd, 45, of 857 Fifteenth street, were held Tuesday morning at L. Fowler and Son Funeral home with burial at Glendale cemetery.

Mr. Todd, a waiter at Hotel Fort Des Moines for 15 years, died May 31 at Veterans hospital of a liver ailment. He had been ill a year.

A lifelong resident of Des Moines, Mr. Todd at one time was a personal attendant to the late Clyde L. Herring in the Iowa Governor's chambers. He remained at the statehouse as a reception clerk for former Gov. Nels G. Kraschel.

Award to Be Accepted by Mother of Harry T. Moore At 43rd NAACP Meeting

New York—Harry T. Moore, the martyred Florida NAACP leader who was killed by a hate-bomb that wrecked his home on Christmas night, 1951, will be posthumously awarded the 37th Spingarn Medal, given each year by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to a Negro American whose achievement is judged the most outstanding of the year.

Announcement of the award to the late Mr. Moore was made by Dr. Louis T. Wright, chairman of the NAACP board of directors, after a meeting of the Spingarn Medal Committee. The medal will be presented on Friday evening, June 27, during the 43rd annual NAACP convention in Oklahoma City. Mrs. Rosa B. Moore, 83-year-old mother of the honoree, will accept the award in his behalf.

Martyrdom

Harry Moore's martyrdom, the citation accompanying the medal declares, "in the truest sense exemplifies the truth that 'Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.'"

Mr. Moore is commended for his courageous fight for greater political participation by Negroes in Florida, for the abolition of segregation at the University of Florida, for justice in the courts, for equal educational opportunities for Negro children, for the equalization of teachers' salaries, and "against all the sinister manifestations of racism which flourished in his home state."

Lived With Death

"Devoted to extending the frontiers of freedom," the citation states, "Harry T. Moore, working in an atmosphere of official indifference and oftentimes hostility, lived with death. Threats of violence and assassination never deterred him from his chosen duty. He refused to be intimidated. He rejected bribes. He turned his back on cajolery. He was a man dedicated to a cause."

Last year the Spingarn Medal was awarded to Mrs. Mabel Keaton Staupers for her outstanding work in ending segregation in the nursing profession. Other recipients have included Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Hon. William H. Hastie, Walter White, Thurgood Marshall, Marian Anderson, and Dr. Louis T. Wright.

Custodian Pleads Innocent To Charge Of Manslaughter

Ernest E. Davis, 46, custodian of the Frederick apartment house at 717 Fourth street, pleaded innocent to a charge of manslaughter before Municipal Judge Don L. Tidrick and was released under $800 bond pending a hearing June 25.

Davis told police he fired at Edward Dean Adams, 26, in self defense after Adams came at him with a knife shortly after Davis had ejected the young man from the apartment of Laura Orr, 20-year-old beauty operator.

The shooting took place at about 10:40 p.m. Adams died of a .32 bullet wound in the stomach.

Two roommates of Adams—Jack Smith, 19, and Mike Judge, 18, of 10th street, said Adams called Friday afternoon but did not come.

They said Adams returned to the apartment in late afternoon. Adams learned Miss Orr was gone. He returned a second time at about 10:30 p.m. and Miss Orr called the custodian. Davis said he took his gun along because Miss Orr warned him that Davis was armed with several knives.

Records showed that Adams had served in the army from April 1943 to May 1943, when he was discharged for epilepsy. Records at State Mental Health Institute at Clarinda last Saturday showed that Adams had been a patient there recently.

'FEPC Is A Must' Morris Tells Group At Omaha Meet

Omaha, Nebr.—Equality for Negroes never will come if "we sit back with a 'let-nature-take-its-course' attitude," a young attorney from Des Moines declared here Sunday, May 25.

James B. Morris, 33, recently named the Iowa capital city's "Outstanding Man of the Year" by the Des Moines Junior Chamber of Commerce, addressed a rally of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at Zion Baptist church.

"Our God-given right as human beings, written into the Constitution, will come to us only if we work for it," Mr. Morris said.

He called on minority groups to work for adoption of a fair employment practices commission, equal voting privileges, and removal of Jim Crow in schools and the armed forces.

"This is a must," he declared. "Without it—which would give jobs to all citizens, regardless of race, opportunity for employment commensurate with their ability—Negroes will have to continue to put up with inadequate living conditions."

He cited a 1950 study which showed that the average yearly income for white males was $2,800, double the income for non-white males.

Atty. and Mrs. James B. Morris were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Skinner, while in Omaha. The two men were classmates at the Iowa university. Mr. Skinner is the only Negro school principal in the Omaha school system.

World Movies

Most nations—the United States, Belgium, and Cuba are among the few exceptions—impose varying restrictions on the importation of commercial movies. Many are traceable to the postwar devaluation of foreign currencies and the dollar shortage. Others are the result of government attempts to foster or fortify domestic film industries. In Argentina, Spain, and Italy, for example, laws are in force which require the showing of domestic films during a certain portion of each theater's week. Other devices used to subsidize local film production are high taxes and censorship fees on foreign screenings. In spite of restrictions, the demand for American films—among the most lavish and technically superior in the world—continues to grow, keeping with a global increase in theater seats. Today, an estimated 99,600 motion picture theaters are in operation in more than 120 countries—providing about one seat for every 44 persons on earth.

Busy Shop

Hard-made items are being turned out daily on the lathes and work benches of the Woodworking Shop at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. Convalescing patients make up 75 per cent of the soldiers who are making coffee tables, bookcases and table lamps. Scrap lumber from nearby Army posts and the Center's engineering department are used as basic building materials.

Drake's Summer Session Opens June 9

Drake university's summer session will be from June 9 to August 22, Dean Harlan L. Hagman of the college of education announced. Dean Hagman is director of the summer session.

First term will be from June 9 to July 18 and the second term from July 21 to August 2. Conferences, workshops and study groups will highlight the 1952 session, Dean Hagman said.

Drake's graduate division will offer programs leading to the degrees master of arts, master of fine arts (in art and art education), master of music, master of music education and master of science in education.

The Bible college offers the bachelor of divinity and master of religious education degrees.

Also offered at Drake this summer will be a new two-year program in public school administration. It helps qualify a teacher for the new advanced superintendent's certificate.

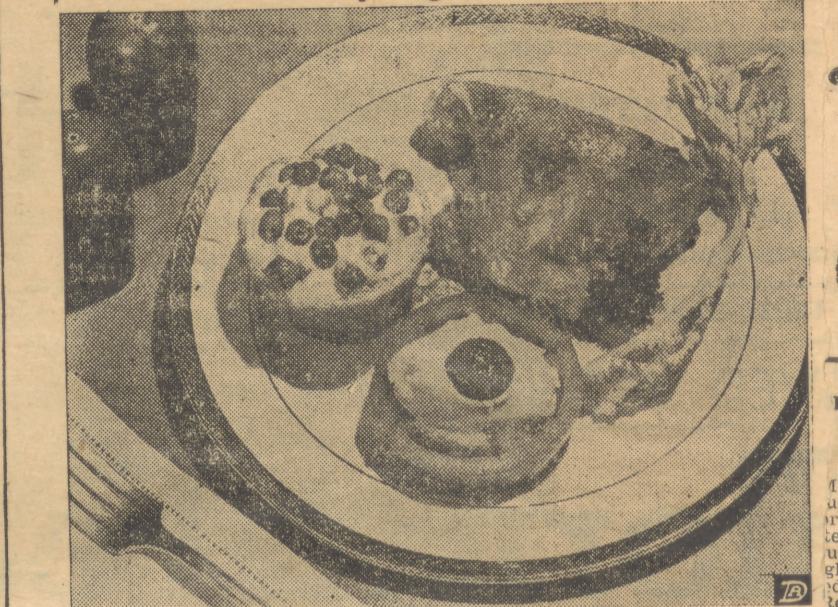

Work for undergraduate degrees may be taken in the colleges of liberal arts, education, fine arts, pharmacy, business administration, law and community college.

Creamed Peas in A Toasted Roll Are Tempting With Fried Chicken

An easy way to manage dinner for two is to "serve up" in the kitchen. Here's a suggested menu: Fried chicken, creamed peas in roll patty-cases, cheese-stuffed celery, tomato slices with mayonnaise.

CREAMED PEAS AND MUSHROOMS

1 box (12 oz.) quick-frozen green peas, cooked 1 cup pea liquid and top milk 1/4 pound mushrooms, sliced 1/4 teaspoon scraped onion 4 tablespoons butter or other fat Dash of nutmeg 2 tablespoons flour 1/2 teaspoon salt Dash of pepper

When you buy quick-frozen peas remember that you pay only for the best of the bargain. All waste is removed before quick-freezing seals in vitamins, minerals and fine, field-fresh flavor of the peas within a few hours after they are picked.

The patty-cases for the creamed peas are made by cutting off the tops of two-clover-leaf rolls, scooping out the center, buttering on the inside, and browning lightly in a hot oven. When you cream the peas, be sure to use the liquid in which they are cooked, in order to preserve vitamins, minerals and flavor.

Just as the search was about to be abandoned, Zeke was found, leaving as sole heirs an adopted daughter, Susan, and Dorsey's missing son by a first marriage—Zeke.

Cortisone Found Successful In Relief of Asthma Attack

Orally administered cortisone has been found successful for symptomatic relief of intractable bronchial asthma.

However, according to Dr. Emanuel Schwartz, cortisone should be given only after all other treatment has failed to give relief. Only the elimination of the offending factor or factors and hypossensitization where elimination cannot be carried out will offer complete success, he said. Dr. Schwartz, an allergist, is associated with the Long Island College Hospital and the State University of New York Medical Center, New York.

Dr. Schwartz gave the results of a study of 22 patients suffering from intractable bronchial asthma who were treated with the drug. They ranged in age from five to 67 years; 12 were females and 10 males, and the duration of asthma varied from four months to 35 years.

Orally administered cortisone relieved the symptoms in 26 of the 31 courses of treatment given 22 patients, Dr. Schwartz reported. Five courses in five different patients had no beneficial effects; four of these five had emphysema, a condition in which the air spaces of the lungs are dilated abnormally. One patient died during treatment, but an autopsy showed no relationship between treatment and the cause of death.

Eighteen of the patients obtained relief within 5 to 12 hours, six in 24 hours, one in 48 hours and one in 72 hours, the report pointed out. "There seemed to be an increase in the sense of well-being with most of the patients, and in several a sense of euphoria (mental buoyancy) developed," Dr. Schwartz stated. "Several of the patients showed a marked increase in physical activity while taking cortisone. The increased physical activity was mainly due to symptomatic relief."

"The results justify the use of orally administered cortisone for symptomatic relief in intractable bronchial asthma after the usual therapeutic measures have failed," Dr. Schwartz concluded.

Natural Gas

Natural gas consists of about 90 per cent of methane, also known as "marsh gas," since it is formed by decaying vegetation in marshes. The additional 10 per cent is ethane, hydrogen and other gases. Natural gas is not as poisonous as the manufactured gases, which generally contain carbon monoxide, but the hazards from fire and explosion are just as great and it should not be handled carelessly. Since natural gas has practically no smell, a small amount of some odorous substance is usually added to it, in order to make it easier to smell when there are leaks.

PERSONAL TOUCH

By MARIE ROSS

Went to Omaha, Neb., the Memorial Day week end to attend the annual convention of the National Federation of Press Women (NFPW) which convened at Hotel Fontenelle.

Missed the holiday session, but caught up with the press women at noon Saturday, after getting comfortably housed at the swanky downtown hotel. They were ending the election of officers, while in a beautiful dining hall of the Fontenelle, officers and members of Ak-Sar-Ben, that mighty organization that rules the horse-racing kingdom in Omaha, had assembled to fetete the press women at a noon luncheon.

Officers of "his majesty's" council of Ak-Sar-Ben, acted as hosts to the visiting women and one was seated at each table. The host chatted with each guest and saw to it that she had received in her pile of gifts besides her plate, an Ak-Sar-Ben jockey cap of red, yellow and green felt, and a pass to the Ak-Sar-Ben horse races. The name of the group is "Nebraska" spelled backwards.

During the luncheon, heard speeches by press women, Mrs. Editha K. Webster of Sioux City Journal, who

Mrs. Flossie Wilson of Charleston, S. C., first vice president of the National Beauty Culturist League, Inc., was afternoon and dinner guest of Mrs. Jessie Mae Johnson, 3011 Third, on May 26. A tour of the city included the state capital grounds, Crescent School of Beauty Culture, Willkie House, Drake university and Des Moines Art Center.

Mrs. Wilson was guest at a special meeting on May 27, arranged by the Iowana Mona D-S Beauticians club, 186 of the League, held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Cole, 1503 School street.

Information concerning the national convention to be held in Oklahoma City was given. Mrs. Bernice Carter is president of the local group and Mrs. Johnson is organizer and supervisor.

Mrs. Wilson was house guest of Rev. and Mrs. N. R. Olphin.

Mrs. Rufus Parker Returns From Visit In Fort Smith, Ark.

Mrs. Rufus Parker, 127 Ridge street, returned home recently from a two-weeks vacation spen in Fort Smith, Ark., with her brother-in-law and sister, Rev. and Mrs. George Stewart.

Mrs. Parker was honored by her sister at a Mother's Day dinner where 14 persons shared the courtesy. Among them were Mrs. Etta Mae Bailey and her daughter Claudella, of Kansas City, who were in Ft. Smith visiting.

Highlights of her vacation included the Rev. Wm. Bootsie, pastor of an AME church in Fort Smith. They had not seen each other since early childhood days. Mrs. Parker visited her home place in Malvern, Ark., where two aunts, Mary Allen and Arie Butler and a host of other relatives reside. The Iowan had not been in Malvern for 40 years. She also made a trip to Oklahoma where she met some of her former school teachers.

Mrs. Parker said she had a "wonderful time at a family reunion."

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Parker, 127 Ridge street, entertained as dinner guests last Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Carey of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Cal Douglas.

talked on "Once Over Lightly;" Mrs. Lois Anderson of Southern Sentinel, at Ripley, Miss., who told of her work under the title of "Job Work With a Woman's Touch;" and Miss Josephine Baumgartener of Des Moines, who brought greetings from George Bechtel, editor of Publishers Auxiliary.

Following the luncheon, the women were told to put on their jockey caps and board the waiting buses for the Ak-Sar-Ben races.

Out at the colorful race track, where thousands of spectators were standing or seated with pencils and racing booklets in their hands, we found seats in a special section that Ak-Sar-Ben had reserved for their visiting guests—and lost ourselves in the affairs of the afternoon—the horses.

Few of the women knew a lot about the horses that were running—and even with the "blue scratch sheet" that gave the winners, odds and comments, there was a difference of opinion. In one race, the sheet's tip was "Top Tiger (1st) All the Way Today." That sounded reasonable. Minnesota Press Woman Spielman, seated on my right, declared that she would have to see how the horse walked before she would make her choice of him as a winner. We two had agreed upon arrival that we did not have a dime to spend for racing—that we might be interested in popcorn.

Some Oregon press women, seated at my right, had more of an appetite for popcorn than for the betting windows. So we ate popcorn, while in the row back of us, Press Woman Anderson from Mississippi was having an exciting time pulling for horses like "Anaesthesia"—because she "thought the name was so pretty." She had some luck, too. So much for the races! It may be a violation in Iowa. It is legal in

To Address State Club Women

Principal speaker at the mass meeting Sunday afternoon, June 8, at 4 o'clock, opening the fiftieth annual convention of the Iowa Association of Colored Women, (IACW) will be Mrs. Ella P. Stewart of Toledo, Ohio, president of the National Association of Colored Women.

The mass meeting will be held at the Corinthian Baptist church, 9th and School streets, presided over by Mrs. Eltona Trosper of Sioux City, first vice president of the IACW.

Mrs. Stewart, a former treasurer of the NACW, is now a member of All Saints Episcopal church, Delta Sigma Theta and Iota Phi Lambda sororities, a life member of the National Council of Negro Women and the Douglass Historical and Memorial Association.

MRS. ELLA P. STEWART

Club Women

(SEE FRONT PAGE) with Mrs. Rose Johnson of Marshalltown, chairman, and the following consultants—Mr. Paul Travis of Iowa State Employment Service; Miss Grace Maffite and Atty. Gertrude Rush.

Reports from the Central Association, the Washington and Iowa conference on child welfare; the president's address, a pageant, "50 Years of Progress," will be on Tuesday's program.

Wednesday's session will include: election and installation of officers; education seminar conducted by Miss Mary Bannon of Marshalltown; and a fashion review, "Hour of Charm," at Willkie House.

The convention's theme is: "Progress Through Unification;" the motto—"Sowing Seeds of Kindness;" and national motto—"Lifting As We Climb."

Nebraska, and Top Tiger did win that race.

Back to the Fontenelle at sundown, the press women had a few minutes pause before time for the formal banquet in the Black Mirror room of the hotel.

The cool air at the race track had sharpened our appetites and we were hungrily awaiting the banquet menu, which started out with an "assorted seafood Momesque," celery, olives, a springtime salad with Fontenelle dressing; and then the main dish, "breast of milked chicken saute with ham and mushroom chasseur, rissole new potatoes persillade, new green beans au fine herbs, Fontenelle rolls and butter."

By that time, press women at the table with me began to wish for some plain old coffee to go along with our dinner. Press Woman Mona Kessinger of Junction City, Kas., had imagined that coffee would be "floating" at a banquet for press people.

Jane Christiansen of Manilla, Ia., called attention to the fact that our menu did include coffee, for at the bottom of the handsomely printed menu was "Coffee Brule."

Violet Lundquist of Anthon, Ia., pointed out that "Coffee Brule" was also mentioned in the banquet program as a "special feature" arranged by Mrs. May Yard, chairman of the banquet committee.

"Brule," pondered Press Woman Webster of Sioux City. "Maybe it is some kind of a brew," she suggested.

While we were eating our individual apple pie with American cheese, the dessert, the special coffee feature started as lights in the dining hall went out, all but the faint glow from a candle that centered each table. All eyes were focused on a darkened stage at the end of the dining hall. Strains of faint music filled the hall and presently a large silver vat, encircled by flames, was brought upon the stage by a brownskin showman in oriental attire, who put on a colorful act as he dashed a variety of ingredients into the flaming vat. His show went on for minutes and he took time out to bow and stretch forth his hands in praise and thanksgiving.

Then pots of coffee were emptied into the vat and the showman stirred and bowed again over his solution. The press women applauded as waitresses and waiters got busy serving the "brule" in demi-tasse cups. Finally the "brule" reached our table as each press woman waiting for the other to take the first sip.

In unison, we all sipped. Eyes rolled around and blinked and there was a licking of tongues. "What does it taste like?" someone asked.

The Joshua Stantons Of Little Rock Shown Many Courtesies

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Stanton of Little Rock, Ark., left Sunday for their home after a two-week vacation here as house guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McElroy, 1525 Stewart street.

Courtesies were extended them by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clardy, 2214 Dean, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bigsby who entertained at a dinner for eight with Mr. and Mrs. McElroy and Mrs. Josephine Knox and Mr. George Lockett as other guests; and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Garland, Jr., 1067 15th street, who were hosts.

Last Friday night at the home of Mr. Lockett, 1434 Buchanan street, the McElroys and Mr. Lockett were co-hosts at a gala barbecue with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lockett assisting. Other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hale, and son, Douglass, Miss Kay Frances Lockett, Mr. and Mrs. Clardy and son, Ricky, Mr. and Mrs. Garland and family, James Lockett, Mr. and Mrs. Bigsby and George Lockett, Jr.

New York—(Calvin News Service)—JOSEPHINE TO THE MOVIES? Lots of rumors about Josephine Baker going to Hollywood have been around but the first really likely offer came from Sol Siegel over at 20th Century Fox' film version of the stage smash hit "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

Siegel wants La Baker to the French sequence in the play but Josephine's price is very, very high. The fact that she wants to go into films very badly and the fact that Siegel wants her very much may result in them really getting together.

Sisters Attend Wedding In Ohio

MISSSES LORETTA AND VIRGIE WILCOTS

The Misses Loretta and Virgie Wilcots, 1104 17th street, spent last week end in Columbus and Dayton, Ohio, where they attended the wedding of Miss Marilee Henshaw of Dayton and Mr. Oliver Ming of New York City. The ceremony took place on May 25 at the Second Baptist church. The Misses Wilcots also visited in Dayton with Mrs. Anderson Lumpkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Morrow of Des Moines.

But, no one really could describe. There was a bitterness, a burntness, bay leaf, a bit of brandy, I believe, all with no cream and sugar. After two swallows, I was still wishing for plain coffee and later, plain water, but the tables had been cleared of all the water.

Soon the banquet program began, with speeches by Mrs. Irene Bedard, NFPW past president, on her trip to Europe last winter; and Miss Mattie M. Dykes, NFPW president, on "The World is So Full of a Number of Things."

The climax of the banquet was the presentation of the annual writing awards in the contest. That is always a tense moment if you are wondering how your entry fared in the national competition. And, when Contest Chairman Mary Turkington called my name for a first place in the radio script classification, my heart stood still. That was a happy moment for the script, "Go Ring the Bells," that was dramatized over Radio Station KWDM last December.

About midnight I left the hotel to visit Mrs. George Patterson, the former Maurice Evans of Des Moines. The first thing she offered to serve me was a good cup of plain coffee, which never tasted better.

Will be looking forward to the 1953 NFPW convention which meets in Pasadena, Cal., at the Huntington.

Drake Community College Summer Session Starting

Drake university's Community college will offer a 8-week session of late afternoon and evening classes starting June 9, Dean John H. Hutchin-son has announced.

Registration will be Friday, June 6, from 5 to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon, in the lounge of Old Main on the Drake campus.

Courses are designed to be of interest to persons working towards a degree or a certificate of attainment, and also to those who wish to take the classes solely for pleasure.

Classes meet in the late afternoon or evening, permitting employed persons in Des Moines and nearby communities to attend.

Faculty for the Community college includes members of the Drake faculty in addition to specialists in various fields from Des Moines.

Classes which will be offered this summer include the following general subjects: (usually more than one offering under each subject) accounting, English, French, history, industrial relations, law, typing, shorthand, philosophy, psychology, social science and sociology.

Offered for the first time will be "Towards a Personal Philosophy: The things that count most." Instructor will be Dr. William L. Reese, associate professor of philosophy at Drake.

Drake also is offering a six week and a five week summer session in regular day classes. The first term will start June 9; the second will start July 21. It is possible to earn 12 semester hours of credit by attending both terms.

THE OLD ORDER FIGHTS, UNSUCCESSFULLY

Some people are more worried about interracial marriages than they are about the eventual bringing about of complete brotherhood among all men in the world. This may well be illustrated by the remarks of the president of Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana, who, when he learned that an interracial romance was on the campus, termed the proposed principals "impudent."

Now just how does the decision of a man to get married become impudent? Webster's dictionary defines impudent as "shameless, wanting modesty; bold with contempt of others; saucy."

Of course, the president of Earlham College attempts to treat college students like babies. He has not climbed above the notion that young people cannot think, that the old order no longer prevails and that choosing life companions, more and more, disregards the color line.

Ten years ago, whoever thought that thousands of white boys would be marrying Japanese girls? Who thought that these boys would find a welcome home here for their brides? Yet that is happening right here in Iowa today.

These GI's have lived among the Japanese people and found that they are human beings just like the girls back home; reaching for the same goals and ideals.

The president of Earlham College and his kind can howl all they please but things are changing everyday and unless they step up or out of the way they will be trampled under foot by the onward march.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION

Iowans went to the polls on Monday and nominated candidates for both major parties who will contest in the election next fall. A large vote turned out because there were more candidates; more sharp issues. After all, these are the things that bring people to the polls.

It is apparent that the candidates for governor are on opposite sides of the liquor question. Governor Beardsley for the dries and Mayor Loveloss of Ottumwa for the wets. And, it is well to bring out this position for a showdown, for while state control of liquor has worked well, some changes in the law might be desirable which would make sale by the drink legal.

The Republican candidates polled a tremendous vote. This is understandable for undoubtedly some ex-Republicans and independents are returning to the GOP. Many Democrats and independents voted in the primary. An election worker reported that one precinct, which the Democrats carried by a large majority in 1948 and 1950, came up with a lot of the same voters in the Republican primary. If they stay in the fall, so well and good. If not, who can tell?

By and large, the Bystander supported most candidates for state offices who were nominated. And while its favorite for governor on the Republican ticket was not nominated, a good winner must be a good loser and of course on this principle the Bystander has followed consistently.

K. C. Bombing

bell who sold the home to the Crittendens. The suit has been filed in the Jackson County Circuit court.

The Crittendens are the first Negroes to live in the block.

Sergt. Flavin pointed out that it was the second bombing attempt to be made at the house. On Friday, May 2, a day before the Crittendens moved into the home, an unexploded home-made bomb, known in police circles as a "molotov cocktail," was found on the back steps of the house. It consisted of a bottle filled with gasoline, with a wick inserted into the neck of the bottle. Flavin said the wick had burned out before igniting the gasoline and the bomb had failed to explode.

The couple said they would remain in the house as long as they could be assured of protection by the city police and of support by the community.

"I am not an overly brave person," Mrs. Crittenden said, "and you don't know how it is to be afraid to go to sleep in your own house."

Victim Tells Story
Mrs. Crittenden told the following story of the attempted bombing Wednesday morning and of events leading up to it:

The couple received several warnings and threats by anonymous telephone callers before they moved into the house last May 3. They formerly lived in an apartment at 2844 Olive.

When they moved into the Paseo home they learned that an unexploded bomb had been found the day before on the back steps.

"This alarmed us," Mrs. Crittenden said, "but we decided to move in anyway. We had looked forward to our own home for a long time and we felt we had a right to buy the property."

Mrs. Crittenden said several of the neighbors had "acted nasty" when they found out that Negroes were living in the house.

"But we said nothing to them," she said. "All we want to do is to be good neighbors and to be free from molestation."

On last Tuesday, Mrs. Crittenden continued, their friend, Miss Johnston, became ill at work. Mr. Crittenden drove to get her and brought her over to their home so that she would not have to stay alone in her own apartment.

The three of them went out for about 35 minutes last Thursday night and returned to find the front window broken. They did not find a rock or other missile in the house and had no idea how the window was broken, she said.

Heroine A Visitor In Home

"On Tuesday night we were sitting in the living room talking," Mrs. Crittenden said. "We later decided to drink some coffee and I set up a card table in the living room to place the dishes on. We were seated at the table drinking coffee when we heard the crashing of glass. We saw that a towel-wrapped object had been thrown through the window and was spluttering on the floor of the dining room."

Hurls Bomb Out Door

"I became excited and told my husband to call the police, that someone had thrown a bomb into the house. Then, Miss Johnston told my husband to open the front door. She picked up the object and hurled it out the front door. It landed in the driveway and exploded."

Carl Johnson urged the Crittendens to remain in their home since they had been promised protection by the authorities.

"If we establish a practice of running when something like this occurs, it will only encourage further use of such tactics," Johnson said, "and Kansas City cannot afford to let an incident like this go unchallenged."

Mr. and Mrs. Crittenden, both 40, came to Kansas city about three years ago from Springfield, Mo. A disabled veteran, Crittenden served in the navy from Feb. 16, 1943 to Oct. 9, 1945. He spent 19 months overseas. He is now a postal transportation clerk.

They purchased their home last April 1 from a home savings corporation by means of a GI loan.

bert's case insufficient to sustain the conviction. The board was later overruled by the Judicial Council.

Punishment
The charge, "misbehavior before the enemy," while longstanding, is seldom used, and has "little connection with being in the physical presence of the enemy," Mr. Marshall asserted.

"On the other hand," he went on, "in the recent affair on Koje Island, Generals Dodd and Colson certainly misbehaved themselves in the physical presence of thousands of the enemy and deliberately gave to the enemy the written statement which has disgraced our government. Their punishment—demotion from brigadier general to colonel." He expressed doubt that Lieutenant Gilbert's action, did "as much harm to the Korean War effort as was done by Generals Dodd and Colson."

"I fully realize that it is difficult for you as an Army man to agree with us," Mr. Marshall told the general. "It was our hope that this matter could be considered by the President's Office from the broader picture of human relations in general and in particular from a civilian standpoint."

Lieutenant Gilbert had originally been convicted and sentenced to death. However, after intervention by the NAACP and others, President Truman commuted his sentence to 20 years in prison.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Dangers of Overweight

There is nothing like the approach of the "bathing suit season" to remind some of us of the resolutions we have made—and broken—to get rid of surplus weight. Summer clothes and sports outfits are seldom kind to the lumpy, overweight figure.

But surplus weight can injure more than vanity. Doctors believe that excess poundage, especially after the age of 30, can actually shorten life. Overweight, which can strain the heart and other vital organs, is often associated with such serious illness as a heart and circulatory diseases, gall bladder trouble, diabetes, and arthritis.

In most cases, overweight is simply due to overeating or indulgence in the wrong kinds of food. Overweight due to some functional disorder, like gland trouble, is comparatively rare. The majority of people, then, can maintain the weight which is best for them by sensible eating habits.

Excess weight is accumulated fat which the body manufactures from extra fuel it takes in in the form of food and which it cannot burn up in its output of energy. The obvious solution for the too-fat person is to eat only the amount of food or fuel which his body needs.

A word of caution is in order for the person who wants to lose weight. There is no such thing as "quick and easy reducing." Sudden and strenuous exercise will not chase the extra pounds in a short time. Furthermore, rigorous exercise all of a sudden is bad for a person whose heart is already strained by an extra burden of flesh.

Another dangerous method of "quick reducing" is by quack diets and "reducing tablets." Starving one's self with too little food or taking doses of pills to "burn off flesh" will injure health, perhaps permanently.

On both dieting and exercise, the doctor is the best source of advice. He can prescribe a balanced diet of appetizing, nourishing foods which will not only help remove excess pounds but also improve a person's general well-being. In many cases, he can help the overweight person change for the better the wrong eating habits which were responsible for the overweight condition to begin with.

None of us can be certain that "a short waistline means a long life," but a person who maintains the weight which is best for his height and build has a better chance for a long, happy life than his overweight neighbor.

Dodgers play and were rewarded by getting the right game of the series, the one the Dodgers won and some excellent relief pitching by Joe Black, the new Negro hurler for Brooklyn. We also saw some nice fielding by Jackie Robinson, although he failed to get a hit.

Ronzo Hayes, Willie Wells and Paul Smith were in the bunch that made the trip. Hayes and Wells set some sort of a record in a dash around the lunch counter to the washroom when it came time to pick up the checks. Yours Truly wasn't far behind. In fact we won a dish or two ourself. But we all had fun and saw a real ball game.

Tennis

The Des Moines Tennis Association has ranked Chet Williamson, Everett Newcomb and Art Propes in their men's singles in their ladder tennis meet. Thyra Johnson is ranked among the women but Coleen Martin is absent.

But the Hilltop tennis club is rolling along towards its annual open which they say nothing can stop.

We hope Grinnell's Bob Dibble, two-time singles champion, into the thing. The lad plays a lot of tennis and would have a good chance to win the men's singles. We are sure he is the first Negro to make Grinnell colleges tennis team.

There may be some Negro tennis players in the Big Ten this year.
