Mrs. Bass Sees 'No Hope' In Major Parties; Seeking Civil Rights For 80 Years

A mixed group, largely composed of white members of the Progressive party of Iowa, Sunday afternoon at Willkie House auditorium, greeted Mrs. Charlotta Bass of Los Angeles, Cal., veteran newspaper editor and publisher, who is campaigning through the country as the party's national candidate for vice presidency of the United States.

Mrs. Bass, who is running on a ticket with Vincent Hallinan, the Progressive Party's candidate for president of the United States in the coming election, informed her listeners that Mr. Hallinan was in prison, at the time, not because he committed any sort of crime, but because he had the courage to defend, "Harry Bridges, West Coast labor leader.

MRS. CHARLOTTA BASS

Tells of Convention
She opened her speech, telling of the political conventions, the Progressive party's which preceded the Republican convention in Chicago and comparing it with the Democratic convention now in session.

"Our convention was the greatest since the founding one in Philadelphia," she commented as she told of the lack of funds the organization had to try to get its program to the public.

At the recent Republican convention, she pointed out that twenty million of dollars were spent in the financing of a "great general," Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"I can describe him in two words," she said.

Knows Nixon

Mrs. Bass passed on to Senator Richard M. Nixon of California, the GOP's candidate for vice president in the coming election.

"I'll tell you about Nixon. I happen to know him. I'm going to tell you about Nixon's voting record," she said and she began to list the bills he had voted against and for.

"He voted against the medical training bill, to train doctors and nurses," she began and then she went on to "New York City where four million people live in one block. He voted against a bill to authorize 40 thousand new homes in defense areas.

Included in this list of bills she said Nixon had voted against were: bill to roll back prices, price control,

Unknown Fire in Coffin with Body

Ottawa, Ill.—A casket containing the body of a Negro caught fire last Tuesday night, and Fire Chief Emmett Burke said Wednesday the cause of the fire is a mystery.

He entered "cause unknown" in his report on the fire. The casket of William Lambert, 77, was found in flames in the rear of an Ottawa funeral parlor operated by white persons. Lambert died Tuesday of a heart ailment.

Burke said he found no electrical wires or faulty equipment that might have caused the fire.

Although some authorities at first speculated the fire was set deliberately, Sheriff Clayton C. Harbeck of LaSalle county said he knows of no motive for such an act.

Investigate Group Called 'The American Confederate Army for White Christians'

New York—Reports of the organization of a group called "The American Confederate Army," which threatens to bear arms to prevent enforcement of Supreme Court anti-segregation orders, was strongly urged of Attorney-General James P. McGranery today by Thurgood Marshall, special counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In his letter to the Attorney-General, Mr. Marshall noted that Associated Press dispatches of July 15 indicated that Bill Hendrix, self-styled "Florida Grand Dragon for the Southern Knights of the Klan, announced that the organization, "limited to white Christians," will bear arms to "uphold our Constitutional right." Hendrix stated the group would consider Supreme Court rulings against segregation a violation of these rights.

A gathering at Orlando last weekend, at which the new outfit was organized, denounced the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Anti-Defamation League as "hate groups" and said a drive would start to have all members of these organizations listed.

"Hendrix was convicted in February of this year for mailing scurrilous postcards and fined $700 and given a one-year suspended sentence,"

New GI Bill Gives Veterans Free Education and Training

Washington, D. C.—President Truman's signature last Wednesday cleared the way for veterans discharged since fighting began in Korea to share in benefits amounting to about a billion dollars a year.

The veterans administration reported there were 870,000 such veterans on May 31.

The law gives new veterans an education and training program on the order of that received by World War II veterans, but there are some changes—in the amounts of money available and in the way the program is to be run.

The new program eliminates from federal payments courses like barbering and personality development, which were highly criticized under

German Woman Wants No More GIs Sent There

Chicago, Ill.—Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Tuesday called "silly and presumptuous" a request by a German woman that the United States army stop sending Negro soldiers to Germany.

Dr. Elizabeth Meyer-Spreckels, chairman of the Protestant Women's Clubs of Bavaria, Monday told an anti-racial discrimination conference in Nuernberg, Germany:

"In West Germany a Negro child is positively the son of an American soldier."

The conference was sponsored by the United States high commission. Said White:

"The high command ought to use somewhat greater discretion in selecting its speakers, and certainly not choose as speakers people who still have their Nazi views as to race.

"She obviously is not worried about the morality of German women since she seems to have no objection to the siring of 50,000 children by white American fathers.

Church Ordered to Pay Former Pastor

Sheriff Thomas L. Rielly's office Friday ordered to work on Sunday, if necessary, to collect $385 which the Union Baptist Church, Inc., owes a former pastor.

District Judge C. Edwin Moore signed the order after the Rev. J. D. Wilkerson complained that the church has refused to pay the money, awarded him last April, in a judgment. He also said that he had checked all banks in Des Moines and could find no accounts in the church's name.

He told the court "the only manner in which the funds can be reached" is by having the sheriff seize the money on Sunday during services. The judge's order complied with that.

The Rev. Mr. Wilkerson brought his original suit when the church, at E. University and McCormick street released him as pastor before his contract expired. He contended the church owed his $385 in salary.

At Democratic Convention Dawson Says Republicans 'Did Nothing But Talk'

Chicago, Ill.—Representative William L. Dawson of Illinois, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, told the Democratic convention Tuesday that President Truman "swept the cobwebs" off equality laws while Republicans did nothing but talk.

"The people know what Truman has done and is still doing about civil rights.

Five Speeches

"They know that President Truman swept the cobwebs off of constitutional equality under the law and made it a revitalizing principle in the heart of every black American.

"High-sounding phrases by Republican spellbinders have not undone, nor can ever undo . . . what Franklin D. Roosevelt, Truman and the Democratic party have done . . ."

Dawson's speech was one of five prepared for Tuesday's early session. It came as delegates were thrashing out in committee the civil rights plank of their platform—the issue that split the party in 1948.

Not more than 100 delegates were in their seats in the convention hall at the announced starting time of noon. When temporary Chairman Paul A. Dever

Democratic Convention Hears Plea for Strong Civil Rights Plank in Platform

Chicago.—Pressing for a more advanced civil rights platform than the one adopted by the Democratic National Convention in 1948, Walter White, chairman of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights and executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, July 17 submitted a nine-point civil rights plank to the platform drafting committee of the Democratic National Convention in session here.

Mr. White, supported by spokesmen for various organizations among the 54 which comprise the Leadership Conference, urged adoption without change in the language of the plank which had been drafted by representatives of the affiliated organizations.

The NAACP leader also spoke in behalf of 22 national Negro organizations which had adopted a statement of political objectives which had been adopted by the organizations and which he presented to the Democratic Committee.

Speaking in support of Mr. White's presentation were James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer, Congress of Industrial Organizations and president, I.U.E.—C.I.O.; Philip M. Klutznick, vice-chairman, Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith; Stanley Gewirtz, chairman, executive committee, Americans for Democratic Action;

William H. Oliver and Paul Sifton, UAW—CIO; Theodore Brown, Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, AFL; Max Kopstein, vice-president, American Jewish Congress; Henry Kohn, national executive committee, American Jewish Committee; and Abraham Hagiwara, Japanese American Citizens League.

Same Plank

The plank presented to the Democrats was the same as the one presented to the Republicans on July 1. It calls for revision of Senate Rule 2 to permit stopping of filibuster; enactment of an FEPC with enforcement powers; elimination of segregation from all federally operated or aided facilities, services and institutions; passage of an anti-lynching bill; abolition of the poll tax and protection of the right to vote; expansion and strengthening of the civil rights section of the Department of Justice; establishment of a permanent United States Commission on Civil Rights; statehood for Alaska and Hawaii; and home rule for the District of Columbia.

In making his presentation, Mr. White called upon Democrats "to stop quailing before the threats of a Dixiecrat bolt." The election of 1948, he said, demonstrated that "the Democrats can win without yielding to the 'white supremacy' demands of reactionary elements in the South. Political realism dictates rejection of these racists demands today."

Important Role

The chairman of the Leadership Conference recalled the important role of the Negro vote in recent elections. It was this vote, he said,

Rules in Iowa Indian Burial Case that Private Concern May Show Discrimination

Sioux City, Ia.—A ruling that private corporations in Iowa may practice discrimination against minority groups in certain instances was on file in district court here last Thursday.

District Judge Ralph Cray made the ruling in connection with one portion of an $180,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Evelyn Rice, Winnebago, Neb., against a cemetery that declined to permit burial of her Indian war hero husband.

Burial rites last August for Sgt. John Rice, Winnebago Indian killed in the Korean War, were halted when the Memorial Park Cemetery association said the interment contract with the widow could not be carried out because its regulations forbade burial of non-Caucasians.

Arlington Burial

President Truman made the incident a national affair when he arranged for Sergeant Rice's burial in Arlington National cemetery with his own honor guard taking part.

Judge Cray, in ruling Wednesday on Mrs. Rice's contention that the racial discrimination clause in her contract violated Iowa law, the United States constitution and the United Nations charter, held that discrimination by a privately owned cemetery was "not a matter of public policy."

The judge held further, however, that the courts cannot be used to effect enforcement of restrictions even though such discrimination is legal in Iowa except in cases of restaurants, hotels and places of amusement.

Plan Appeal

Attorneys for Mrs. Rice said they would appeal to the Iowa supreme court.

The judge dismissed two officers of the cemetery as defendants in the suit but continued the litigation against the cemetery corporation as concerns contentions by Mrs. Rice. Her petition said the suit was brought to compensate her for "humiliation and embarrassment." She said she bought the cemetery lot without being informed by the salesman that burials were restricted to Caucasians.

The widow's petition also contends she was humiliated because her husband's body was moved around in the cemetery and that she was damaged by a letter distributed by the cemetery association concerning the burial incident.

Scientists Can Determine Ages up to 20,000 Years

A Yale University scientist has described an "atomic calendar" based on Carbon 14 that enables scientists to determine the age of objects as old as 20,000 years.

Edward Deevey, Jr., associate professor of biology and director of the Yale geochronometric laboratory where tests with Carbon 14 are being conducted, said that scientists now for the first time have an accurate method of dating such events as the melting of the great ice sheets and the origin of agriculture.

The method is based on the discovery by Willard Libby of the University of Chicago that natural carbon is radioactive. Carbon 14, the radio-active form of carbon, occurs in animals and plants, and after their death disintegrates at a steady rate.

Since the rate of disintegration is known, scientists can measure the age of fossil as well as the geologic or archeologic event that led to its preservation, according to Mr. Deevey.

The Yale scientist said that Carbon 14 tests at Chicago have already verified past estimates by archeologists of the age of various fossils. Wood from Egyptian tombs estimated at about 4,500 years have proved to be that age when tested by radiocarbon.

Most Primitive Insects May Inherit the Earth

Earth's most primitive insects are the proturans—blind, wingless, six-legged creatures found under bark and in soil.

They presumably are the earliest insects in evolution and thus are one form of the type of animal which, it has been said, may succeed man in dominion over the earth.

Few kinds of proturans are known to entomologists. They are seldom seen, and when they are noticed they might be mistaken for larvae of some other insect. So obscure are the creatures that the order Protura itself was not discovered until 1907. One of the few species known has just been described by Miss Grace Glance, Smithsonian Institution entomologist. It is the second proturan known from South America, the first from that continent having been discovered 14 years ago. Adults of the new species, about a millimeter long, are dark yellow and covered with a protective shell of chitin.

Sluggish and slow-moving, proturans have three pairs of legs but only two pairs are used for locomotion. The front pair is held up in front of the insect as it moves. These legs apparently serve the purpose of the antennae found in all higher insect orders, and are provided with primitive sense organs of touch.

Lightning Protection

Lightning protection equipment isn't something to be installed by anyone who is "handy around the house." It should be designed by experts and installed by someone who has previous experience. When it is finished, it should carry the master label from the Underwriters' Laboratories, which certifies approval of its materials and construction. Good protection last year may not be so good now. Some systems are subject to corrosion, and any system that has been in service several years should be checked carefully. Lightning has a particular love for television antennas. To discourage any romance, home owners should be sure the antenna is well grounded and that an approved lightning arrester is installed at the lead-in to protect the television receiver.

Mexico Cotton Crop

The importance of Mexico as a cotton-producing country is becoming more evident each year. The 1951 crop, estimated at 1,300,000 bales, was the greatest in the country's history. For 1952, despite severe drought in some areas, the crop is expected to be even larger than the one in 1951. The 1951 crop of 1,300,000 bales was almost 13 times greater than the Mexican crop of 1932. With adequate irrigation facilities planned for 1952, Mexico peak production will be more than 10 times the output of ten years ago.

Can Green Beans at the Peak of Their Growing Season

Always Process Them in a Steam Pressure Cooker

Green beans provide a nutritious green vegetable dish enjoyable the year around. The best time to can them is at the peak of their growing season. They should be tender, meaty and crisp.

Wash the beans, string them if necessary, and break or cut into one or two-inch pieces. Cover with water and boil for five minutes. Pack loosely into hot Ball Mason Jars and add a teaspoon of salt to each quart. Cover with the water in which they were cooked or with fresh boiling water.

As with all low-acid vegetables, it is most important to process beans in a steam pressure cooker. If they are just right for canning as described above, process quarts 30 minutes and pints 20 minutes. If they are near the "shell out" stage, process them 15 to 20 minutes longer.

Using loose gloves with padded palms is a safe, easy way to handle your pressure cooker cover. Always lift the far side of the cover from the cooker first so that the steam will escape away from you.

Fatigue Accident Factor

Last year in the U.S. 37,500 persons were killed and more than 1,100,000 others were injured in traffic accidents. Fatigue was a factor, particularly on long motor-trips, and safety officials are now urging drivers to make a coffee stop at least once each 90 minutes. Such coffee stops afford an opportunity to shake off drowsiness and fatigue, reducing the accident probability factor, the officials say.

Father and Sons Enjoy Sights at the Des Moines Airport

Under the heading of "Fathers Richest Hour," Robinson, when interviewed told the writer, Lillian McLaughlin, that his sons "want to go everywhere I go—and to tell the truth, I like to have them along."

Robinson, a Drake graduate and navy veteran now is a mail carrier and partner in Hammitt-Robinson funeral home. He was photographed above at the airport where he goes often to see the planes.

The Robinson family is well known in Des Moines where the late Rev. G. W. Robinson, father and grandfather, was pastor of the Corinthian Baptist church for 31 years until his death in 1948. The mail carrier's mother still resides at the family home at 1009 12th street.

Republican party "has been promising," she said "certainly Eisenhower has already declared that the states should have the control of "The greatest hope that the Negro people have is their labor." Mrs. Bass said that "when anyone begins to speak out for his rights, he is called a 'Red.'" "I don't know what they mean by calling us 'Red', she said of her Party and then informed that when she went to Russia in 1950, she never "heard anything being said about war with America." At this point she took stock of her audience and commented: "There may be a FBI man here, so I'll say this: When they ask me about being a Communist, I say, if you will explain to me what a Communist is, I will tell you whether or not I'm one. "If fighting for the rights of my people, if fighting for the equality in education of my people, make me a Communist, then I plead guilty," she said.

GOP 'Promises'

She told of the "promises" that were made in the GOP platforms in 1944, and in 1948 and those made in the 1952 one, and then she commented "It is certain to be a colossal and even greater disappointment than we have ever had." She said the "Negro people must not sit by and wait. I feel that they see the handwriting on the wall." The speaker listed the many contributions that Negroes have been making to America. She called attention to Benjamin Banneker, "who laid out the city of Washington and gave to the American people the first time-telling clock," to the Negroes who fought in the American Revolutionary war, to Frederick Douglass, "who led the fight against slavery," to women like Harriet Tubman who "led the fight for freedom," down through the years. "Yes, there was a Republican party that came up, known as the Whig party, which changed its name to Republican," Mrs. Bass informed. "After the election of Lincoln, the first Emancipator," and she digressed with a reference to the recent GOP convention. "At this convention last week, most disgusting thing was the flashing of the picture of Lincoln every five minutes," Mrs. Bass noted.

'Party Died With Lincoln'

"Lincoln has been dead a long time and the Republican party that elected him, died with him," Mrs. Bass declared. "When the people directed the fight to eradicate slavery, that is the time the Republican party died—and now it is a slave party." About the Democrats "I predict that this will be the death knell to the Democratic party," she said of the present convention in Chicago. "I know that the Negro people in 1939, when Franklin Delano Roosevelt was elected had hope. FDR was a friend of the people. He built homes for us. He gave us food. I was a GOP at that time," Mrs. Bass recalled, as she praised Roosevelt for "making it possible for us to live better lives."

"At the time, when the hands of death came upon Roosevelt, we were thinking of Henry Wallace, but instead we got a little man, a milk and water president," Mrs. Bass said of President Harry S. Truman.

"I can't think of him as anything else," she commented and asked: "What did we get from Truman, a man who is willing to make promises?"

Went Fishing

"He offered Congress a civil rights bill without teeth. When the bill came up he had gone fishing. I don't think for a moment he didn't know what was going to happen to the bill. Hence, Mr. Truman hasn't done a thing for the people since he was elected."

"Yes, I'll tell you you have no hope in either of the major parties," Mrs. Bass said.

"Just as the Republican party was born out of the Whig party, a new party is coming on the scene," she spoke.

"For thirty years I was a Republican. My last job was to work for the late Wendell Willkie. In 1940, I was elected to represent the GOP at the convention."

"I believed in Willkie because Willkie believed in one world. But when I went to the convention that year in Chicago, I found two worlds—one for white and another for colored. I was bewildered like the children of Israel. So I walked out of the party."

"I knew that I was not going to be a Democrat. I couldn't see the difference between the two parties, Mrs. Bass related as she told how she went back to her home state in California where the "grass roots of the Progressive party" got started by "people who knew no hope in either the Democratic or the Republican parties—who came together to see what they could do to be saved."

"All of the thirty years I had been a Republican, I had been taking orders. I wanted to help in making of the program."

About the Progressive party, Mrs. Bass said: "We stand for better housing for all of the people. We stand for freedom of thought. We believe in bringing freedom to all of the people in the United States."

"I don't understand how the Negro people can have any hope. I don't understand how decent thinking white people can have any faith in the GOP or the Democratic parties, she said.

"I feel that when the Donkey wiggles his tail off of the rostrum at the close of the Democratic convention, that will be his farewell," Mrs. Bass said.

"What do you hope to gain?" she asked and she predicted: "Yes, I know we are going to win. Win or lose, we will win. We believe that this is going to be a sounding note that their reign of terror will end."

"The Progressive party believes in decency. We believe in equality of rights. We believe that the lynch law is a menace." Then Mrs. Bass told of her recent investigation of the bomb-slayings of the Negro NAACP leader and his wife, the Harry T. Moores in Florida last Christmas. She called this a new form of lynching. Then she asked: "Was there an investigation made?"

"Mr. Truman has had the opportunity to pick up his pen to settle the steel strike, to settle lynching. "And you are going to vote for Mr. Truman or one of his recommended men?" she queried. "I come to you this afternoon offering to save you from the disease that is about to destroy you."

"Remember that the Progressive party was the first of the major parties to name a woman and a Negro woman at the top of the ticket. I may get in you know. Accidents happen once in a while."

To the young people, Mrs. Bass said "I have my foot in the door. It will be easier for you than for me. Win or lose, I offer myself to you," she concluded.

Mrs. Bass was presented by William R. Smith of Cedar Rapids, national committeeman of the Progressive party.

Speaks On Air

While in Des Moines, Mrs. Bass attended Sunday morning services at Corinthian Baptist church, where she made remarks; visited the Daughters of Isis and Zied Temple tea at Willkie House Sunday afternoon, following her speech to the Progressive Party group earlier.

Monday she was interviewed on radio stations, KWDM by Miss Edith Webber, at 10:45 a. m., and by Miss Betty Wells over KIOA at 11:30 a.m.

Monday evening she made a transcription at radio station WHO, interviewed by Jim Zobel. It will be heard on Sunday evening, July 27, at 5:15 o'clock.

On her radio interviews Mrs. Bass was asked to give the "meaning of a third party," race relations in America; to tell of her work as a newspaper editor and publisher for 40 years in Los Angeles.

She and her campaign manager, Miss Dale, left Tuesday for speaking engagements in Milwaukee, Wis., before returning to their party's national headquarters in New York City where Miss Dale manages the Progressive party's campaign of Vincent Hallinan for candidate for president of the United States; and Mrs. Bass, the party's vice presidential candidate.

Women More Likely to Have Tension Headaches Than Men

Women are more prone than men to tension headaches, a condition arising out of constant or periodic emotional conflicts which may be conscious or unconscious.

Tension headaches, a condition symptoms to serve as a warning. They usually occur on both sides of the head, in back or front, and may be accompanied by a variety of associated signs, including anxiety, nausea and vomiting frequency and duration are variable.

Such headaches differ from migraine in that the latter usually occur on one side of the head, are throbbing in character, brief as a rule, frequently associated with gastrointestinal symptoms and often are preceded by a warning sensation. A family history of migraine headaches is common.

Muscular headaches differ from tension headaches in that the former occur with local muscle or nerve root injury and secondarily to noxious stimulation elsewhere in the head. The clinical features of the conditions causing the muscle spasm, i.e., ocular, inflammation, cervical disc, usually serve to differentiate this type of muscular headache from spasm associated with emotional tension.

Salton Sea's Rises Menaces Birds That Cool Nest Eggs

Southern California's inland Salton Sea has been rising in recent months. If its rise continues, rare gull-billed terns and white pelicans which nest on the Sea's low islands will be forced from their rookeries by the salty water.

Because temperatures at times exceed 120 degrees and shade is sparse on these islands, pelicans and terns reverse the incubating process. They cool their eggs, instead of warming them. Nesting pairs take turns dipping into the water, wetting breast feathers, and crouching above their eggs or nestlings to shade them. Evaporation from the feathers creates a rough natural air conditioner which offsets heat that would broil the baby chicks.

The Salton Sea is the lowest sized body of water in the United States. Until 1951 its level had for years held fairly constant at around 243 feet below the level of the Pacific Ocean 80 miles to the west. It averages ten miles wide and spreads its length along 35 miles of desert. The Imperial Valley lies to its south, the Coachella Valley to its northwest.

New Canal to Carry Rhine Traffic Helps Amsterdam

Amsterdam's importance as a world port increased late in May with the opening of a new canal connecting the Dutch metropolis with the lower Rhine.

The 45-mile canal replaces an antiquated Amsterdam-Rhine waterway whose shallowness and small locks limited tonnage. The new canal reduces shipping time between the river and the port by 20 hours or more.

The canal joins the Rhine at Tiel, the Netherlands, through one of the world's largest inland locks, 1,170 feet long. It has a 190-foot vertical gate that can be operated at high speed.

Ships of up to 4,000 tons displacement now may ply between Amsterdam and Basel, Switzerland, some 500 miles up the Rhine.

Increased traffic on the new waterway is expected at least to double the annual total of 100,000 inland ships with tonnage of about 23,000,000 that passed through the old system of canals in 1951. To cope with the increased shipping, the 15-mile North Sea canal, connecting Amsterdam with the ocean at IJmuiden, is being widened.

World's Fastest Ship

The graceful superliner United States is believed to be the fastest large vessel in the world. In a recent speed trial her four massive propellers pushed the 53,000 ton black and white beauty through the water at something near 50 miles an hour. An official announcement put the speed at "considerably" in excess of 34 knots. This means that the 990 foot queen of the United States merchant marine traveled at least 37.5 miles an hour. The ship is designed for rapid conversion to a troop transport in the event of war. Even during the full power run, the rapier bow of the ship piled up surprisingly little wake. Her propellers, on the receiving end of upward of 160,000 shaft horsepower left a boiling highway of foam a mile astern. Britain's Queen Mary holds the Atlantic passenger speed record with a mark of 31.69 knots.

1,200 Drown Annually

Approximately 1,200 people a year are drowned in the United States in accidents involving small motor - driven boats, rowboats, canoes and similar craft. Sudden storms, high winds, and dangerous water conditions cause numerous accidents. Nearly one fifth of the victims lose their lives when boats are swamped, capsized, or their occupants are swept overboard. About half the drowning takes place in the three months of June through August. Males account for more than 90 per cent of the deaths and about one fourth of the victims are between the ages of 15 and 24.

Viking Tower

New measurements of Newport's controversial "Old Stone Mill," using an ancient Scandinavian "foot" lend support to the theory that the stone relic was built by exploring Vikings centuries before Columbus discovered America. Hjalmar Holand, an authority on Scandinavian architecture, has reported that using the Hanseatic foot (12.35 inches) all measurements of the structure come out even, while measurements by the English foot give fractions of inches.

Quilted Glamour for Your Chair

Here's luxurious quilting you can make yourself. Cut fabric, cotton batting, and thin muslin lining to pattern, allowing for quilting 1 1/2-3 inches all around. Fin fabric, cotton batting, and lining together, placing pins a few inches apart. To guide first row, make one diagonal row of pins.

Sew on lining side, first along row of pins, using quilting guide attachment, and reversing direction of alternate rows to prevent bunching. For diamond quilting (as on chair arm at right) stitch diagonal rows further apart and repeat process in opposite direction. After quilting, trim pieces to fit.

Visiting around Iowa by Joe Marsh

Iowa's Feather Dusters
Shortly after the Civil War, a turkey farmer walked into a broom shop at Monticello with an idea. "Why not make brooms out of turkey feathers?" he asked. Well, lots of folks might have laughed at that idea. But the Monticello broom man tinkered with those feathers and found a way to make not brooms, but feather dusters. So, today, Monticello has the world's largest feather duster factory. That's typical of how many Iowa industries started. Iowa folks like ideas, and they have open minds.
And that open-mindedness means a lot in things besides business, too. It makes for better communities, better neighbors. Neighbor Joe sits on the porch, sips his lemonade, and lets his grass get too high. I sit on my porch, sip my temperate glass of beer, and know it's Joe's right to grow his grass any height he wants. Yes, open-mindedness was a fine trait in the '60's, and it's just as important to us Iowans today.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Harper were dinner guests at the Cecil Douglas farm Thursday night.

Wampum Belt Senecas Gave To Iroquois on Display

"Sit down here, accept hospitality, and be at peace." So reads the beaver symbol appearing on an eighteenth-century wampum belt of the Wyandot Indians recently presented to the Smithsonian Institution.

Tribal tradition attributes this wampum belt to the Seneca Indians, a division of the Iroquois, who presented it to Wyandot chiefs as a token of peace and friendship following the end of the wars between the Seneca and Wyandot (Huron).

The Wyandot were then living in the vicinity of Detroit. In 1842 they sold their lands near Detroit and Upper Sandusky, Ohio, to the United States government and removed beyond the Mississippi River to Wyandotte County, Kansas.

Boyer, the aged Keeper and Reader of Wyandot tribal wampum, carried his sacred records with him when the tribe moved westward. He died the first winter after the removal. The tribal archives were parceled out among various chiefs and other conservative members of the tribe. But after the Wyandot settled in Indian Territory (present Oklahoma) in 1867, their remaining tribal records were collected and kept by Irvin P. Long and John W. Creveyes, their leading chiefs.

Ministers From Twelve States Attend Training School in Arkansas

Little Rock, Ark.—Bishop Matthew M. Clair, Jr., who was elected to the episcopacy at the Central Jurisdictional Conference of the Methodist Church in the Tindley Temple Methodist church, Philadelphia, June 22, was the speaker for the vespers during the second week of the St. Louis Area School of Ministerial Training held in Philander Smith College July 2-25. He was assigned to succeed Bishop Edward W. Kelley, Sr., as the head of the St. Louis Area.

Bishop Clair, who before his election had served as pastor of the St. Mark Methodist Church, Chicago, for twelve years, also served as a resource leader in the class of Worship. He served as Dean of the School for several years.

Undergraduates of the Conference Course of Study and supply pastors from twelve states (Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Arkansas) of the four annual conferences of the 17 states of the St. Louis Area attended the School.

Officers of the School included dean, the Rev. Maceo D. Pembroke, Chicago; registrar, the Rev. Clarence T. R. Nelson, Dayton, Ohio; treasurer, Dr. Alfred Clay, Detroit; and business manager, the Rev. Joseph D. Edwards, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

All of the officers except Dr. Clay served as instructors. Other instructors included Dr. S. M. Riley, Jr., Chicago; Dr. M. M. Wilburn, Little Rock, E. Irvin Reed, Dayton Ohio; the Rev. C. Jarrett Gray, Kansas City, Missouri, and Dr. L. L. Haynes, Jr., Little Rock.

Rome's Catacombs Defeat Costly Scheme for Subway

Rome finally has a subway after 13 years of digging and at a cost of more than 24 million dollars. It runs for a bare mile across the city, but plunges beneath the city streets for only 900 yards.

During construction the engineers and excavation gangs ran into gallery after gallery of Christian catacombs. Archaeologists were delighted, engineers distracted. Work had to be stopped while somebody decided what to do about trying to save these fascinating remains. Finally the subway was slowly driven for half a mile through subterranean Rome, the rest of the route being above ground.

The engineers frankly admit that the uncharted maze of early Christian catacombs has defeated them. They can't guarantee the safety of a tunnel, not knowing what is underneath or above.

The subway has only six two-car trains a day which rattle along at a fair clip.

Great Thoroughbred

One of the greatest thoroughbreds of American turf history is Citation, first horse to earn more than a million dollars for his owners. He was retired at the age of six, July 19, 1951. His last winning race, the Hollywood Gold Cup added $100,000 to his winning for a total of $1,085,760. In 1948, as a three-year-old he set a one-year earnings record of $709,470, and won the turf's most coveted honor, the Triple Crown (Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and Belmont stakes). Citation was out of action for 13 months as result of a series of injuries. The last caused him to require "firing" treatments. After his recovery Citation set a world record of 1:33 3/5 for the mile in winning the Golden Gate Mile, June 3, 1950.

Altitude Record Set

An altitude record of approximately 15 miles above the earth was set recently by a Navy test pilot, Bill Bridgeman, flying the Navy's Skyrocket. Although official figures were withheld, the Navy announced Bridgeman reached an altitude of better than 79,000 feet. The former official mark of 72,394 feet was established by Orvil Anderson and Albert Stevens in a balloon near Rapid City, S.D., in November, 1935. The Skyrocket on its record flight over Edwards air force base in California was dropped from the bomb bay of a Superfortress at 35,000 feet, and Bridgeman cut in its four rocket tubes to zoom upward in front of the bomber. It took him but 10 seconds to penetrate the sonic barrier at 662 miles an hour and he soon attained a speed of 1,000 miles an hour.

Dean Dixon Conducting in Europe; U. S. Offered Him Too Little Chances Here

New York City.—

The summer season and in Venice got under way on a modern, and American, note last week. In the courtyard of the Doges' Palace sat the 88-piece La Fenice Theater Orchestra; on the podium stood the U.S.'s most active musical ambassador to Europe, Manhattan-born, Conductor Dean Dixon, 37; on the racks, instead of the usual outdoor fare, was music by modern composers, e.g., Walter Piston, Bernard Herrmann. Venetians came to satisfy their curiosity, stayed to enjoy themselves. They admired the conductor's vigorous command of the orchestra, warmed to his obvious sympathy for the music. Il Gazzettino's usually acid critic praised Dixon's "technical precision . . . and sensitivity to the rhythmic values." Rarer still was the response of the musicians: they rendered their services for an extra rehearsal, and said they hoped the conductor would come back next year.

Swedish Resident

Conductor Dixon was not in Europe by chance; a Negro, he moved there in 1949 because the U.S. gave him too little chance. A dozen years ago, with degrees from the Juilliard School and Columbia in his pocket, he got high marks as guest conductor with such top U.S. orchestras as the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, Boston Symphony, Philadelphia Orchestra, NBC Symphony. But good reviews and public honors (he got the 1948 Ditson Award for his services to American music) did not lead to a full-time conducting post.

Conductor Dixon

After skirting the musical fringes with his own interracial American Youth Orchestra and a series of children's concerts for a while, he resolved to try Europe. In Paris, after his debut in a radio concert, the guest-conducting offers began to flock in. Last season he led 32 concerts, and he has conducted in nine countries, from Israel to Finland. Next season he will be a resident conductor of the Göteborg (Sweden) Symphony.

"My Very Existence"

Dixon plays his share of classics, but finds that Europeans have a high "anticipatory interest" in contemporary U.S. music. In response, he has played about 90 American scores in the past 18 months. Among the composers whose works have had European hearings under Dixon are Charles Ives (Third Symphony), Wallingford Riegger (Canon and Fugue for Strings), Howard Swanson (Short Symphony).

Dixon is no exile, hopes to conduct again in the U.S., "if I get an invitation." He thinks "minority races" can benefit by his success: "My

New Balance Test

A new test for determining the fat content of milk and cream has been announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Instead of using sulfuric acid to act upon the milk proteins and break down the oil-water emulsion, a detergent compound and other chemicals are used. And no centrifuge machine is needed. The new milk test might easily revolutionize the entire milk testing program, a department spokesman predicts. Many details, however, remain to be worked out before the process is practical for general use.

Centerville, Iowa

Centerville, Ia.—Second Baptist church, Rev. A. W. Patton, pastor. The junior choir sang last Sunday afternoon at La Grange, Mo., at the fourth anniversary program of the Rev. G. A. Sanders. Rev. Mr. Patton preached the sermon. Services are held very Sunday here at 10 a. m. and 7 p.m. Prayer service is 8 p. m. Miss Connie Jeter is reporter.

very existence as a conductor who is accepted will be the kind of stimulus that they rarely get today."

Among the new compositions Dixon played in Venice was a 20-minute Symphony Set for Piano and Orchestra by Kansas-born Gordon Parks, 39, professionally a Life photographer like Conductor Dixon, a Negro. Written in four movements (Announcement, Episode, Nocturne, Prelude and Fugue), it proved to be strongly rhythmic and melodious. It was Photographer Park's first fling at composition. Since he cannot read music he worked out each theme on the piano, recorded it on a tape recorder. Venice found the work fresh and attractive. Said Dixon: "We should hear more from Gordon Parks." (From Time Magazine, July 21).

The F. O. Morrows Visit In Alabama, Illinois and Michigan

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Morrow, of 1060 12th street returned recently from a two weeks vacation spent in Eutaw, Ala., where she visited her mother, Mrs. Ella McGee, and sisters, Miss Swanee McGee, and Mrs. Buena Walden at her farm home.

They also visited two other sisters, in Birmingham, Ala., Mrs. Essie Vandever, a nurse, and Mrs. Louise Bates, who operates a barber shop; and two brothers, Bestor and Fernan McGee who live in Eutaw.

Mrs. Morrow was very much impressed with her visit back to her home town. "Many improvements have been made, farms have been made modern, highways built; school buildings are modern and the terms have been lengthened to nine months," Mrs. Morrow noted.

After leaving Alabama, the Morrows went to Chicago to visit their daughters and their families, Mesdames William A. Walker, Jr., and Edward Harris. While there Mr. Morrow attended one of the ball games in which the Brooklyn Dodgers played.

Then the Iowans went on to Benton Harbor, Mich., where they visited Mrs. Betty Richardson, and their grandson, Fred Pierre Morrow.

The Morrows returned to Des Moines accompanied by two grandsons, William A. Walker, III, and Fred Pierre, who will spend the remainder of the summer here. Upon arriving home they were surprised to find that their sons here with the help of friends had painted the Morrow home at 1060 12th street.

VISITORS AT HOME OF MR. AND MRS. OWENS

Mr. and Mrs. Will T. Wright, and Mrs. Odessa Brown, sisters and brother-in-law, and Mrs. James Little and daughter, Dorothy, of St. Albans, W. Va., nephew and nieces of Mr. Rufus Owens, spent a nine-day vacation here with the Owens family at 945 17th street recently.

While here they were extended many social courtesies and taken on sight-seeing tours which included the new Willkie House building.

Also visiting at the Owens' home during the week end was Mr. William Owens of Minneapolis who was guest of his parents.

Employed By Loan Company Here

MRS. MARGARET WINSTON

Holding a position of cashier and clerk-typist in one of the Des Moines loan company offices, where Negroes have not been employed in such jobs, is Mrs. Margaret Winston of 805 S. E. 26th street.

A product of Des Moines public school and a graduate of East High school, Mrs. Winston has been employed since last March by the J. Barmish Loan Company, which is operated at 509 Seventh street, by Mr. and Mrs. Barmish. She is one of a staff of six persons who deal with the customers who come to the offices to transact the business of making and paying loans.

"It is very interesting work and a nice place to work," Mrs. Winston commented.

Prior to going to the loan company office, Mrs. Winston had worked for two and one-half years as a detail clerk to the buyer of the college department at the Youngkers department store.

During the past war she was an elevator operator for the Bullock's department store in Los Angeles, Cal.

Born in Portland, Mo., she was reared here. Since her graduation she has taken advanced secretarial courses in the adult education classes at night.

Mother of an eleven-year-old daughter, Blondell Madison, by a former marriage, Mrs. Winston is the wife of Emmett Winston who is employed by the Capital City Printing Company.

Mrs. Winston is a member of the Burns Methodist church and choral club. She plays golf and likes fishing at her leisure time.

Many of the visiting golfers and their wives, husbands and friends who accompanied them, seemed to be having an enjoyable time on their annual vacations, which are held at the time of the golf tournaments in this area.

Large delegations from St. Louis and Minneapolis stopped at downtown hotels.

Among the many visitors who were in the multitude of spectators at the Olympic club's swimming and diving meet at Good Park pool last Sunday evening, were many of the visiting golfers who had been entertained earlier that afternoon by the Valley Golf Club members at a picnic at Waterworks park, where "golden-brown fried chicken was plentiful, not in quarters—but in halves; where young, tender green beans had gotten well acquainted with the bacon with which it was cooked; where potato salad and other picnic delicacies made a pleasant 'welcome to Des Moines,'—all free to the golfers and their guests, one visitor described.

On Monday afternoon, women members of the Valley club were hostesses at a very pretty tea held in one of the exhibition rooms of the Des Moines Art Center, at Greenwood park.

The afternoon was ideal, for the beautiful setting of the trees, flowers, shrubs, and rolling green hills that enhance one of the finest art centers in this section of the country.

But—oh—the heat! A thermometer not far from the center registered 99 degrees, but the weatherman will tell you that it was not that hot here. Had the visiting golfers known that they could have enjoyed their tea and coffee in an air-conditioned center more, of them might have shown up.

Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Powell, first of the out-of-towners who arrived at the center, commented that their home town, St. Louis, Mo., got much hotter.

But, on the job, bright and early, was the real art center hostess, Mrs. Margaret Sorrell, 2830 Fourth street, has been preparing and arranging all of the art centers teas and dinners, since the building opened several years ago at Greenwood park. She, also, is one of the Valley Golf members.

She had set up a colorful table that was as attractive as many of the Louis Bouche paintings that were on exhibit. Centering the lace-covered table was a floral-arrangement of dark purple and yellow gladioli and speckled lily leaves. Gold tea and coffee sets graced the table. Even the pastel colored napkins were gold-inked, with letters of the club.

All of the guests, mainly St. Louisans, were "carried away" with their visit to the art center, and Valley Golf club president, Philip McGuire, was on hand to greet the guests.

There were some other teas on Sunday afternoon. The Progressive party of Iowa presented Mrs. Charlotte Bass of Los Angeles, the party's candidate for vice president of the United States, at a tea following her speech at Willkie House. She was accompanied by her campaign manager, Miss Thelma Dale of New York City.

The afternoon was hot, but the tea colorful with plenty of ice.

In library of Willkie House, the Daughters of Isis and Nobles of Zied Temple No. 90, had another kind of tea, very cooling for the hot afternoon. In reality it was more of a "frappe," (partly frozen fruit juices mixed with ice or ice cream).

Mrs. Dorothy Busch, newly elected worthy grand matron of Electa chapter, was presented.

"Miss Zied of 1952" was scheduled to be presented. A young woman from Davenport, she was to represent the two temples at the national meeting of the Shrine in Indianapolis, next month.

But something had happened, Marcus McCraven, head of Zied Temple informed Sunday when the young woman was not present. He had been told that she had "eloped and gotten married," and in order to participate in the contest, she must

Mrs. A. A. Alexander Honors Visitors At Breakfast, Canasta and Dinner Party

Mrs. A. A. Alexander, 2200 Chautauqua Parkway, was hostess at a breakfast Tuesday complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris and niece, Miss Ruth Thornton, of Denver, Colo., and their hosts, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Ritchey, and Mr. and Mrs. Medford Reynolds of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Reynolds aunt, Mrs. A. P. Trotter.

The Reynolds are here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ward, 1131 11th street.

Tuesday evening, Mrs. Alexander honored her guests at a canasta and dinner party.

Others sharing the courtesy were, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, Atty. and Mrs. James B. Morris and Mesdames Anna Mae Carter, Birdie Winn, Lulu Mae Harris, Gwendolyn Fowler and Lillian Edmunds.

Mrs. Lennie Harris, also of Los Angeles, accompanied them to visit her sister, Mrs. Everett Clay, who is ill at Mercy hospital.

GLADYS AND GLORIA LEWIS OF ST. PAUL VISITING RELATIVES

Gladys and Gloria Lewis of St. Paul, Minn., are here visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lewis, 1548 Des Moines street.

WARRANT OFFICER WHITE HERE

Warrant Officer John White of Camp McCoy, Wis., spent the week end visiting his wife and baby, at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morrow. Mr. White also visited his mother in Perry, and other relatives here be single, "I'm sick," Mr. McCraven lamented.

Tired and sleepy Monday after a week-end in St. Louis, Mo., where she accompanied the St. Paul A.M.E. church choir on its chartered bus trip, was Mrs. Samuel Miller, of 1140 14th street. Two of her children were members of the youth choir which was presented in a week-end of singing and social engagements at the St. James A.M.E. church by the St. Louis Youth.

Mrs. Miller was "quite proud" of the St. Paul youth's concert on Sunday afternoon — and she was thrilled over a visit to the St. Louis zoo.

Vacation notes are coming from Iowans who are getting about the country. From Michigan State College, at East Lansing, came the following note this week from Mrs. Korinne Jackson of 1055 Enos street:

"Tonight I feel so good. I am at Lansing in the Kellogg building. This ultra modern building was erected and opened just nine months ago for the furthering of adult education. So adults are here, I think about 300 strong for the Fred Waring Choral workshop.

"Today we registered and were assigned our rooms and then we had dinner in the beautiful air conditioned state room, a cafeteria which is open to the public.

"Following a rest period, a blank period, I should say, when others were still arriving and eating, we had a reception which was nice and allowed social time for us to become acquainted. We were presented in state groups. There are two Iowans

MR. GEORGE JACKSON OF LOS ANGELES, CAL., VISITS THE CARTERS

Mr. George Jackson of Los Angeles, Cal., spent four days here recently the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Carter, 1180 14th street.

The Carters drove him to Macon, Mo., where he and Mr. Carter were schoolmates at the old Western college.

MRS. VENDETTA LEE AND SON GUESTS OF THE J. NEWSOMES

Mrs. Vendetta Lee and grandson, Gregory, of Milwaukee, Wisc., were week end guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. James Newsome, 1315 Laurel street.

The Newsomes and Mr. and Mrs. Carol Crumb honored the visitors at a barbecue at the Newsome home.

Miss Nancy Bryant of Omaha, Neb., was week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Newsome. She was attending one of the religious meetings here.

MRS. ISAAC BAGBY RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Isaac Bagby, 2713 Cleveland, has returned after accompanying the Harmonette singers on a tour of Milwaukee and Chicago. While in Milwaukee, she stopped at the home of Mrs. Madeline Williams and the latter's daughter, Dorothy Griter, both formerly of Des Moines.

MRS. JOAN SAUNDERS TO FT. BENNING, GA.

Mrs. Joan Saunders and daughter, Sherry Lee left Saturday morning for Ft. Benning, Ga., to spend visit with their husband and father, Cpl. James Saunders of Ft. Benning, Ga.

SPEND VACATION IN MINNESOTA

Mr. Otis James and Mr. Compton Chapman returned recently from a vacation trip in Minnesota where they fished at the Patten's Goggles lake.

COMMUNITY CIVICS CLUB HAS 'COME AS YOU ARE' BREAKFAST

The Community Civics club met July 16 with Mrs. Mary Parker. The business meeting was held with a social hour following. The club's "Come As You Are," breakfast was held July 20 at Union park. Members and guests were ready to leave at 6 a.m. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Earl Turner, Ray Mays, Jr., Joyce Sanders and Mrs. Selma Williams.

All enjoyed the early morning breeze, wading, teetering and swinging. The group returned to their homes at 8:30 o'clock, in time for members to attend their churches. Another meeting was held July 23 with Mrs. Audrey Sanders.

and by the way, two Negroes. The other (one being me of course) is a young man from Michigan. I didn't inquire where.

The employees in the building are Hotel Majors at M. S. T. I was surprised, favorably so, to see a charming brown girl at the desk among those registering the conference attendants.

"Back to my lovely room—on the shady side of the building, overlooking a well-planned court, the room is equipped with indirect lighting, radio, ice water, telephone, modern maple furniture and my court wall is all windows. It's done in apple green with drapes of a brown tan and grass green pattern with black, figurines. The grass matches the studio couch which is also green. My chair is the brown of the drapes.

"Of course, there is the very well furnished bath and the closet. In other words I am having myself a time. I shall go from here to Detroit or Flint. Maybe Flint, since it is the closest; then on to Detroit, back through Chicago and Gary and finally home sometime in August."

So much from Mrs. Jackson who directs the music committee at Willkie House here and is a private music teacher.

Visits In New York City

BARBARA LOU SHEPHERD

Miss Barbara Lou Shepherd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Shepherd, 1025 13th street, returned to the city July 14 after having spent two weeks in New York City visiting relatives.

While in New York she was entertained by Messrs. James Martin, Joe Martin and Theodore Martin, formerly of this city, and Mrs. Lucile Gray and Mrs. Edna Milo, all aunts and uncles of Mr. Alfred Shepherd and brothers and sisters of the late Mrs. W. J. Shepherd.

Miss Shepherd reports visits to all points of interest, including Radio City, Statue of Liberty, Coney Island and many night spots including the famous Birdland, where the celebrated George Shearing was featured.

The Iowan had a pleasant train ride into New York City with Miss Marguerite DeSleet, also of Des Moines, who remained there to do summer work at Columbia university, on her master's degree. They were met at the station by Miss Shepherd's uncle and Miss Cleota Proctor who was awaiting the arrival of Miss DeSleet.

Miss Shepherd also went to the Palisades park, across the Hudson river in New Jersey. On her way back from New York she stopped in Chicago and visited with her aunts there. She went to the Empire State building, visited Grant's tomb, the St. John Cathedral to be the largest in the World when completed within 20 years; to Rockefeller center, the Appollo theater where Duke Ellington was playing and to the Savoy Ballroom to a dance.

In New York Miss Shepherd resided in Long Island with her uncle, James Martin, who lives "a stone's throw from Jackie Robinson and Ella Fitzgerald homes," the Iowan informed.

THE EARL WILLIAMSES HONOR THE CARPENTERS OF DETROIT, MICH.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williams, 935 14th street place, honored Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carpenter of Detroit, Mich., at a 9 o'clock breakfast last Friday. The Carpenters were here to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, Mr. William Potts.

L. A. HICKMAN OF MINNESOTA VISITS W. H. REDDICK

Mr. L. A. Hickman of St. Paul, Minn., was recent dinner guest of Mr. W. H. Reddick, 928 15th street. Mr. Hickman at one time was associated with Mr. Vivian Jones, former undertaker here.

THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY SHOULD CHANGE ITS TACTICS

Des Moines was fortunate to have seen and heard Mrs. Charlotta Bass, Progressive party candidate for president, present the platform on which she is conducting her campaign.

Frankly, Mrs. Bass is interesting for she has worked for many years in the Republican party, has been a wide awake citizen in her community and is well informed on the great questions before the world today.

To sum up her philosophy, she supports everything the New Deal and the Fair Deal have stood for except that she insists on full equality everywhere without qualifications, while the position of the last administration hedges in many instances.

Nobody who believes in the absolute equality of human beings could object to the program Mrs. Bass advocates and at the same time be consistent. In fact, what she contends for are the things all liberal people have advocated for years.

With these things the Bystander fully agrees, but it does not believe any party or its representatives can in any way collaborate with Russia in the slightest degree except through its representatives in Washington and at the UN.

Unfortunately, the U. S. and Russia are carrying on some sort of war—hot in some places and cold in others. The correctness of our position is not important in determining whether or not private individuals should in the least lend any encouragement to Russia for Americans we will and must support our country.

The Progressive party has a chance to gain support of many people who can go along with their domestic issues but find themselves out of tune when its members rub shoulders in any way with Russia.

By nominating a Negro woman for vice president, the Progressives have done something we never expected to see in this country. It shows there is some good in every group.

SENATE RULES BOG DOWN CIVIL RIGHTS

In 1948, the Republican and Democratic parties made some very definite commitments on a civil rights in their platform. The latter won the election but failed to make good on its pledge.

For more than thirty years, an anti-lynching bill has been before the Congress. In later years other civil rights measures have been in Congress and numerous hearings held but to this day the Senate has not voted on any of these measures.

The chief reason is due to the foolish rules of the Senate which make it almost impossible to even get a civil rights bill considered. In other words, in the so-called greatest deliberative body in the world, minority rule has prevailed over the years.

Rule 22, known as the Wherry compromise, provides that debate in Senate can be cut off by a two-thirds majority of the members of the Senate. And although its proponents argued that the rule would accomplish the desired results, it has not met the test in any one instance.

This year both parties will make commitments on civil rights, but unless rule 22 is changed none of these measures will ever get voted on.

The NAACP asserts that this is the top measure on civil rights which Congress must consider in January 1953.

OLYMPIAN MEET JUSTIFIES GOOD POOL

The annual swimming and diving meet, sponsored by the Olympian Club Sunday, was an event worthy of the splendid crowd which came to see it.

The record show that the income at Good Park is at the bottom of the pools in Des Moines. But if nothing further occurred, this event justifies every dime of expenditures the park board appropriates to Good Park.

The Bystander again suggests that the club establish a class in swimming and diving so that in 1953 more Negroes will compete in the meet.

Duke Ellington's Driver Gets 4 Years On Narcotics Rap

New York (CNS)—Duke Ellington's secretary and chauffeur, Willie Manning, was sentenced in Federal Court this week for four years for violating the narcotics law.

Manning had been working for Ellington for 19 years when arrested at the wheel of his employer's car. The convertible was seized when Manning admitted using it to arrange drug sales but the Duke has since recovered possession.

According to Assistant U. S. Attorney James E. Branigan, Jr., Manning arranged sales for Horace Mur-

ON-THE-JOB-TRAINING — Provision also is made for this, with a lower scale of allowances which would be subject to reduction as training progresses. On-farm training would be limited to persons who own or control their own land.

AVOCATIONAL COURSES — Courses taken for pleasure would be barred. However, a course normally considered avocational could be taken if the veteran showed it would be helpful in his work.

WORLD WAR II VETERANS — They would not be eligible for additional schooling benefits if they had used up all benefits under the World War II bill. However, veterans who did not exhaust previous benefits could get schooling benefits raised to 48 school months by serving since June 27, 1950.

LOAN GUARANTEES — The government would guarantee loans up to $7,500 on homes and lesser amounts on farms and business operations. The VA could refuse to guarantee loans on homes built by persons who previously have sold defective housing to veterans.

MUSTERING-OUT PAY — $100 for service anywhere less than 60 days; $200 for more than 60 days all in this country; $300 for more than 60 days overseas or in Alaska. Applies to those up to and including army and air force rank of captain and navy rank of lieutenant.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION — Veterans could get up to $26 a week for 26 weeks.

Democrats Hear

SEE FRONT PAGE in the key states of California, Illinois and Ohio which swung the election to President Truman in 1948.

The lessons of that election, he warned, should not be forgotten.

Mr. Sifton and Mr. Oliver stressed the importance of changing the Senate rule on cloture. Unless this rule is changed, they charged, civil rights pledges will remain meaningless.

Calling for enactment of an FEPC law with enforcement powers, Mr. Carey cited the experience in CIO of getting workers of all races, colors, faiths and nationalities to work together. Mr. Hagiwara pointed to the discriminations against Japanese Americans and others of Oriental descent, the elimination of which, he asserted, requires enactment of an FEPC law.

Mr. Brown told of the fight the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters has carried on for Negro firemen, a fight which would have been unnecessary had there been an FEPC with enforcement powers.

Other phases of the nine-point plank were discussed by Mr. Klutznick, Mr. Gewirtz, Mr. Popstein and Mr. Kohn.

The presentation was heard by a distinguished committee including Senators Herbert Lehman and John Sparkman and Congressman William L. Dawson, two representatives of labor, and other leaders of the Democratic party. Congressman John McCormack, majority leader in the House, served as chairman.

Hold Services For Miss Etta Wheels

Services for Etta Wheels, 43 of 1015 Fourteenth street, who died Saturday night, July 19, enroute to Broadlawn General hospital, were held Tuesday afternoon at Union Baptist church with burial at Glendale.

Miss Wheels was a Des Moines resident 32 years. She was a member of Union Baptist church.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Martha Rivers, Mrs. Jennie Cooper and Mrs. Myrtle Tillon; four brothers, William, Robert, Oscar and Elmo Wheels, all of Des Moines.

phy, $150,000 a year leader of the gang, which brought marijuana from Mexico to New York. Murphy has been sentenced 8 years and five others in the gang have received sentencing with five more awaiting verdicts.

Why Manning got mixed up with this gang is hard to explain, though Branigan told Judge McGohery, Manning expected a "thrill" from racketeering.

HEALTH FOR ALL

DREADS AWFUL AUGUST

Hay fever sufferers—now estimated to constitute an "ill-nosed one-fifth of the nation"—have about given up expecting any relief through medical or weed-pulling projects as Awful August approaches once more.

But spokesmen for one of the nation's newest and fastest-growing industries are sounding a confident note of hope. Air conditioning, they say, definitely is the answer.

According to John A. Gilbreath, head of the air conditioning division at Servel, all-year air conditioning will provide complete relief because the filtering system used with the equipment is guaranteed to remove 100 per cent of the pollen particles in a home.

Spot checks by Servel engineers of homes equipped with all-year air conditioning have confirmed laboratory findings, he reports, adding that the filters will remove dust particles even smaller than the pollen.

"As a matter of fact we have found that most of the people who purchased the equipment did so for the relief from hay fever and asthma rather than for luxury living," the Evansville, Ind., executive said.

Crocker Y.M.C.A. Camp

This year the Crocker "Y" Camp period for boys, will open August 21, and end August 28.

All parents who are interested in sending their sons to camp are urged to call or come to the "Y" for the necessary information. The fee this year is $17.50 not including the $2.00 interurban fare. However, several clubs, organizations, and individuals have contributed and are still contributing money to help defray the expense of those youth needing such aid.

1952 "Y" Camp Contributors: Des Moines Rotary club, Johnny Bright, Wiley D. Dixon, G. W. Scott, Sportsmen's club, Des Moines "Y" Men Club, Charles Iles, M. L. Miller, Robert W. Lindberg.

S. JOE BROWN MEMORIAL CABIN DEDICATION

Plans are being made to hold a formal dedication service for the S. Joe Brown Memorial Cabin at the Y.M.C.A. Camp Leaders, at Boone, is complete with library, fireplace, three-quarter length windows on all four sides of the building.

All contributors, along with the parents of the boys who will be at camp, are urged to attend this service in memory of Mr. Brown, the original founder of the Crocker Branch Y.M.C.A. in 1919.

Baseball Team

The Crocker "Y" Ramblers are currently in first place in the North-side Kivwanis Baseball League, for boys 14 years old and under. They have compiled a record of 7 wins and 1 loss.

James Cooper, the outstanding pitcher in the league, has pitched two no-hit games along with a two hitter. James Thomas, short stop, Jack Jackson, center field, Joe Frazier, left field, and Phil DeVan first base, supply the slugging power for the league leaders. Other players included on the team are in fielders—Maurice Eubanks, the leagues outstanding third baseman, Tommy Miller, Roy May, Lance Weston, and Charles Singleton; outfielders—Larry Morrow, Eddie Carter, Ronald McClain, Ronnie Gray, and Donald Patton; catchers—Elmer McQuitty, Claude Piggye and Vernon Sims; Pitchers—Matthew Campbell, and Tommy Williams.

League games are played every Monday and Friday evenings at the Birdland Park diamond. Game times are 6 P. M. and 8 P. M. Come out and support your team and thus aid them to the championship.

Irvin's Ready To Help Giants

Chicago (CNS)—Monte Irvin has announced that he's ready to help the Giants as of right now. He has told manager, Leo Durocher that he can serve immediately for pinch-hitting. However Durocher is going to consult first with owner Horace Stoneham and if given the green light, Monte may see action in a week.

"I can't tell when I'll be able to play regularly," Monte added, "but I certainly think I can help as a pinch-hitter right now. Anyway I found that by joining the fellows and making this trip, my leg got better much faster." He will still wear his high-laced shoes and his spikes will be sawed down to keep tension off his leg.

BE NOT AFRAID

"Be not afraid," I say. If you live in His light, He'll always be all right, He'll guide you all the way. When He is by your side, you have a steadfast friend—

ing everything. This will be the biggest of all our meets with play in all nine divisions and a beginners' scuffle that should be worth seeing.

The Hottentots are plagued by a series of injuries that have just about wrecked the club. Players are limping about on crutches or wearing bandages and slings as if they just got back from Korea instead of a softball league. Don't know what will happen in their defense of their softball title.

Water Safety Announcements

One thousand eighteen persons have drowned in Iowa in the last eleven years. Take these tips from your Iowa Safety Council. Never swim alone. Wait one hour after meals before swimming. Stay reasonably close to shore and never swim in deep water from a boat. Don't take chances!

A Hard Life

The life of a divorce court judge is not an easy one. He has to wrestle with the legality and logic of many an odd excuse for cutting the marriage tie. In Milwaukee, for example, Mrs. Leona Reuter accused her husband of turning off his hearing aid whenever she tried to talk to him. And in Brazil, Ind., Mrs. Geneva Pollum called it "the last straw" when her husband cut off her supply of popples from the corner grocery.

Last Lap

Visitors to the Franklin county fair grounds in Greenfield, Mass., were puzzled when a hearse left a funeral procession to make one slow turn around the half-mile track. They didn't know that it was a hearse for a child who had died since boyhood.
