First CME Members Rebuild Church; Cornerstone Laying Sunday; Dr. Pittman to Speak

The cornerstone laying services of the recently rebuilt edifice of the First CME church, located at S. E. 28th and Maury streets, will be held Sunday afternoon, Sept. 14, at 3 o'clock, the pastor, the Rev. L. L. Barnes announced this week.

Guest speaker for the afternoon will be Dr. Riley H. Pittman, associate professor of religion and acting head of the Department of Religion at Drake university.

Dr. Pittman, also, is secretary-consultant of the Mayor's Commission of Human Rights and Fair Employment Practice.

Participating in the laying of the cornerstone of the building will be the Most Worshipful Prince Hall Grand lodge of the state of Iowa and jurisdiction, assisted by North Star lodge No. 2 and Doric Lodge No. 30 of Des Moines.

Work By Members

Completing one year of the expansion and remodeling program of the church, the Rev. Mr. Barnes revealed in an interview this week that "so far," about a $10,000 job has been done by members of the church and himself, working on a kind of a pay-as-you-go plan.

The young minister who received his Bachelor of Arts degrees in the past June commencement of Drake university here, came to Des Moines to a small one-room church building at First CME, in 1947 from Memphis, Tenn.

While employed at the State Traveling Library during the day and attending school at nights, the Rev. Mr. Barnes interested his members in the enlargement of their church.

About a year ago, the one-room building with no basement, eighteen by thirty feet, was increased to a floor space of 650 square feet. The membership has grown from 30 active members to about 90 now, the Rev. Mr. Barnes said.

The rebuilt building has a full basement, which eventually will be used for Sunday School room, heating, kitchen and dining room facilities.

Plans For Building

The main floor has been arranged for an auditorium with a seating capacity of 175 persons; a corner pulpit, patterned like the early American churches; a pastor's study; a new entrance with vestibule that opens out upon stone steps with decorative iron railings. Plywood paneling is throughout the building.

A bell-tower tops the front of the roof and each Sunday the ringing of the First CME bell is heard throughout the community.

The hill upon which the building was located has been excavated to street level. Landscaping of the grounds and making space for a community garden are also in the plans.

"Only two rallies have been held this year," the minister said and between them, time was taken out for a week's revival because it is necessary to take time out to devote to spiritual work.

"The members and friends in the community are to be commended for the spirit in which they have done this work," the Rev. Mr. Barnes said.

Democrats Meet Here Sept. 18

Democratic leaders from 16 states will meet in Des Moines Sept. 18, Iowa Democratic Chairman Jake More has announced.

More said that the Democratic conference which will be attended by the new Democrats' national chairman, Stephen A. Mitchell, was not arranged as a counter-attraction to the Republican presidential nominee's campaigning in Des Moines on the same day.

The date had been set before the Eisenhower plans were known he said.

Rites For Mrs. Trigg, Once Slave: Lived 105 Years

Rites were held last Friday at the Estes and Son funeral home for Mrs. Carrie Triggs, with burial in Laurel Hill cemetery.

The 105-year-old woman, a former slave in her native state of Tennessee, died Sept. 3 at the Polk county home, where she had been living since 1939. She came to Iowa in 1895.

Attendants at the Polk county home recall that Mrs. Triggs often told of appearing once in the cast of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." She had no known survivors.

Prominent Religious Leader, Rabbi E. Mannheimer Dead

Eugene Mannheimer, 71, rabbi emeritus of Temple B'nai Jeshurun and widely known Iowa religious leader, died at his home here Monday night of a heart attack.

Although he had been ill with a heart condition which forced his retirement in 1943, his death came unexpectedly, his physician said.

Rabbi Mannheimer served Temple B'nai Jeshurun, a Reformed congregation now located at Fifty-first and Grand avenue, for 38 years prior to his retirement.

He became widely known to Iowans as a member of the goodwill team of the Des Moines roundtable of the National Conference of Christian and Jews.

Action Delayed In 'Rights' Trial

Mason City, Ia.—Two cases in which Carroll Anderson, Manager of the Surf ballroom, Clear Lake, is charged with denying civil liberties to two Negroes, were continued for three days Tuesday by Justice of the Peace C. R. Servison here.

Servison said charges were filed by Charles Bennett, Mason City, brother of Bernie Bennett, State University of Iowa football player and Isadore Patterson, Jr., Waterloo.

Anderson is alleged to have refused to admit Bennett to the ballroom in July and Patterson in June. Violation of the civil liberties statute is punishable by a fine up to $100, or 30 days in jail.

"Aid came from many persons who are not members of the church and all of the work was donated with the exception of part of the building of the chimney," the minister informed.

The women of the church, headed by the pastor's wife, brought meals to the men while they worked on the building; and some of the painting in the building has been done by the women. Many of the youth were active in cleaning jobs around the church.

The Rev. Mr. Barnes and his wife go to annual conference on Sept. 17 in Kansas City, Kas.

Whether or not he is returned, the members will work to get the interior of the building completed with pews and pulpit in by next spring. Fluorescent lighting will be throughout the building.

For several years, the church has operated an eating concession at the Iowa State Fair. The members did "quite well" this year, the minister commented.

Haiti's President Reveals Traces of Uranium, Valuable Minerals Found in Mountains

New York.—Traces of Uranium and considerable deposits of bauxite have been discovered in Haiti's mountain ranges, President Paul E. Magloire revealed in an unprecedented radio interview broadcast Monday over Station WLIB in New York and affiliated stations in Dallas, Washington, Chicago, Boston, Hollywood, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Detroit.

President Magloire made known these discoveries to Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in an interview recorded at the President's desk in Haiti's magnificent presidential palace in Port au Prince.

Should deposits of uranium, manganese, bauxite and other valuable minerals prove to be of sufficient quantity and quality to justify extensive development, Haiti's economy in time will be materially benefited, the President asserted.

Students To Begin Arriving At Drake University Next Week

Drake university will start its 72nd year on Sept. 22, when classes open in the university's nine colleges.

Students will begin arriving on campus more than a week earlier, however, for orientation, registration and rushing.

As it has since founding in 1881, Drake's doors will be open to students of all lands and all faiths. The university's founding fathers provided in the articles of incorporation that "all departments be open to all without distinction of sex, religion or race."

Drake students will find their beautiful campus bustling in the greatest building program in Drake history. Under construction is a $2,600,000 project which will include three dormitories to house nearly 600 women and a central dining hall and food services building.

Bulbar Polio Is Fatal to Six-Year-Old Darby Jones

Services for Darby Jones, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jones of 722 S. E. 27th street, were held Monday afternoon at the First CME church.

The Rev. L. L. Barnes officiated. Burial was in Laurel Hill cemetery.

A victim of bulbar polio, Darby, a first grade pupil of Scott Darby Jones school, was admitted to Broadlawn General hospital on Sept. 4. He died Sept. 5.

The youth had attended the opening of the public school on Sept. 2 and complained of being sick on Sept. 3, his mother informed.

He was active in the Sunday School at First CME church, the Morning Glories and the league.

The Iowa department of health said Tuesday that 241 cases of infantile paralysis were reported to it during the week ending Sept. 6.

Admitted to Des Moines hospitals since June 30 for treatment have been 510 polio patients. Included are 189 Des Moines residents.

One Trenton 6 Is Back In Jail For $93 Holdup

Newark, N. J.—(CNS)—Pohn McKenzie, one of the famous Trenton 6, who were tried three times in the robbery-murder of Trenton shopkeeper, elderly William Horner, is now being held here without bail, on a robbery charge. He's accused by army corporal, George Jennings, of robbing him of $93 early Saturday.

McKenzie was one of the four of the Trenton 6 who won an acquittal when accused of the robbery-murder of the shopkeeper. All six were originally convicted and sentenced to death in the first trial four years ago. The case won nationwide attention as the defense sought to prove it all a frameup. The State Supreme Court upset conviction, ordered a new trial which ended in a mistrial. Finally at the third trial, McKenzie and three others won their freedom though the other two were sentenced to life imprisonment.

Now in fresh trouble, McKenzie has been pointed out by the robbed GI as taking the $93. He's been turned over to Newark police, pending investigation.

Campy Fined $100 And Robbie $5 In Boston Game

Boston, Mass.—(CNS)—Both Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson got censuring telegrams from Warren Giles, president of the National League and both were fined. Campy drew $100 fine for protesting umpire Frank Secory's call which awarded Johnny Logan first base. Campanella protested so furiously that the ball hit only Logan's bat and did not touch his shoulder as the umpire ruled, that Campy was ejected from the ball game.

Robinson drew the $5 fine for talking to umpire Bill Goetz after the controversial decision. P. S. The Braves went on to win the ball game.

Vivid Contrast to Scene Launched When Parents Made First Try Last Year

Cairo, Ill.—The opening day of school in the Southern Illinois city saw sixty Negro pupils attending formerly all-white elementary, junior high and high schools without incident—a scene in vivid contrast to the violence and terror launched when Negro parents tried to enter their children in these schools last January.

Admission of the children to the schools nearest their homes without regard to race as the term started on September 2 is the result of a concerted drive carried on by the Cairo branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which refused to be intimidated into abandoning its efforts to end segregation in Cairo's public schools.

Last January, only 21 of 84 Negro pupils who sought transfers to "white" schools were granted transfers, and these after cross burnings and bombings were resorted to to terrorize Negro citizens of Cairo. Local NAACP leaders active in the anti-segregation drive, and Field Secretaries June Shagaloff and Lester Bailey, were arrested and charged with "conspiracy" to jeopardize the life and health of these Negro children by "forcing" the transfers.

A first grand jury failed to return indictments against the NAACP officials, but also, failed to indict persons responsible for the violence. A second grand jury indicted five men suspected of responsibility for the violence.

In March, NAACP attorneys filed suit seeking a permanent injunction ending the segregation, asking that state funds be withheld (in accordance with Illinois state law) from schools still segregating pupils, and requesting the discharge of Leo C. Schultz from his position as Cairo school superintendent. State funds have been withheld since June 1 and the NAACP suit is pending in court.

NAACP attorneys participating in the Cairo school case are David Lansden of Cairo, W. Robert Ming, Jr., of Chicago, and George Leighton, president of Chicago NAACP branch.

Hold Successful A. M. E. Conference at Cedar Rapids; Bishop Baber Reads Charges

"One of the most successful" annual conferences of the Northwestern conference of the fourth episcopal district of the African Methodist Episcopal church (AME) closed Sunday afternoon in Cedar Rapids, Ia., the Rev. W. H. Ogleton, presiding elder of the Des Moines district stated this week.

Presided over Bishop George W. Baber of Detroit, Mich., the closing meeting was held at the high school in Cedar Rapids and adjourned to meet next year in Council Bluffs with the Rev. Theodore Hudson, pastor-host.

Among the prominent bishops and ministers who participated in the conference programs were: Bishop E. C. Hatcher, one of the recently appointed bishops who has been signed to one of the African districts of the AME church; Dean L. Stokes of Payne Theological seminary who preached the educational sermon; Dr. George A. Singleton of Philadelphia, delivered the ordination sermon; Dr. C. S. Spivey of Detroit.

Churches in the conference leading with annual dollar-money reports were: St. Paul of Des Moines, St. James of St. Paul, Minn., and St. Peter's of Minneapolis, Minn.

One of the special projects of the conference, Camp Baber, which is located in Cassopolis, Mich., on 57 acres, is scheduled to be completed by next summer, the bishop informed. An auditorium is to be built in the meantime.

For the Sunday services, two busloads of AME members from Des Moines churches motored to Cedar Rapids.

Appointments

Bishop Baber made one change as he read the annual appointments Sunday afternoon, when he transferred the Rev. E. C. Collins from the church in Waterloo to the Chicago conference.

The Rev. Nelson Pryor was returned as presiding elder of the St. Paul (Minn.) district. The pastors in this (SEE PAGE SIX)

Black Very Tired Getting Third Loss

Boston Mass.—(CNS)—It was a very tired Joe Black who got tagged for his third loss against 12 victories for the season, and his final defeat since July 26th. He blamed only himself, though he had pitched six innings of shutout ball the previous night and was blanking the Braves again from the 7th inning, when he relieved, to the 11th. "I was just tired, very tired," he explained. "I felt sure I could get Gordon to pop up. But I couldn't get the ball where I wanted to. It just wasn't supposed to be there and he hit it."

Have Plenty of Home-Canned Peaches!

Home-canned peaches make sure-hits—peach upside-down cake, or heaped on angel food cake and topped with whipped cream, baked in pie or cobbler, or even served plain. They are also delicious in salads. With plenty of them on your shelves, you are ready to serve a dish which will win acclaim from family and guests.

When you can peaches, get everything ready you will need and examine your fruit jars, being sure that there are no nicked edges on the tops to prevent perfect sealing. Follow directions for getting jars and lids ready for use.

If fruit is not juicy, make sirup by boiling 1 or 2 cups sugar with 2 cups water for 5 minutes. For juicy fruit use just enough water to melt sugar and boil until sugar dissolves.

Wash, rinse and drain, firm, sound, ripe, full flavored fruit. Dip 8 or 10 evenly ripened peaches in boiling water 1 or 2 minutes, then dip into cold water and drain. Cut peach in half, remove pit and skin and drop fruit into water containing sirup.

spoons each—vinegar and salt to the gallon. (Do not allow the fruit to stay in this water over 20 minutes.)

Drain fruit, then cook it in sirup until boiling hot to the center. (Note: Peaches may be packed without heating but they are more likely to float and discolor when packed raw. Unevenly ripened fruit should be peeled with sharp knife.)

Pack hot fruit, cut-side down, into hot Ball Mason Jars. Leave one-half inch space at top of jar. Cover fruit with sirup in which heated. Run a knife between peaches and side of jar to bring air bubbles to the surface. More sirup may be needed to cover fruit after air bubbles are removed. The top layer of peaches is likely to darken if not covered with liquid.

Wipe top of filled jar with swab made by wrapping clean cloth around fork. Dip swab into boiling water before using. Tongs are nice, but not necessary, for taking lid from water and placing on jar. Screw metal band tight enough to press the sealing compound into the top of the jar, but not so tight as to crush down evenly all the way around. Don't force band as tight as it can be turned. A snug fit is all you need.

Stand jars on rack in canner of steaming, not boiling water. Water should cover tops of jars. Put lid on canner. Start counting processing time when water reaches a rolling boil: Process pints and quarts of hot packed freestone peaches 20 minutes, cling-25 minutes. It takes 5 to 10 minutes longer for fruit packed raw. When processing time is up, take jars out of canner. Stand them out of a draft and several inches apart to cool.

After jars have cooled about 10 hours, take off the bands and test seal by pressing on lid. If the Dome is down or goes down and stays down when pressed with the finger, the jar is sealed. Don't put the bands back on the jars. They have finished that job of sealing and are ready to start over with a new batch of lids. Leaving the bands on the jars will neither help nor hurt a vacuum seal, but they are not needed and may be hard to get off later on.

Life Insurance Ownership More than Double 1941 Total

Life insurance owned by American families in the nation's more than 600 life insurance companies increased to a record $253,200,000, 100 in 1951, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

This is $131,000,000 more than was owned at the end of 1941, $101,000,000 more than at the end of 1945.

"Life insurance ownership has expanded more rapidly than population, both as to aggregate amount owned and number of owners," Holzar J. Johnson, Institute president, commented. "This has been true not only over the past ten years, but over the entire first half of this century. The nation's policyholders now number 86,000,000, they own 209,500,000 policies and the average insurance per policyholder has reached $2,900. Such figures combine to make a huge aggregate of life insurance outstanding."

"The many social services of life insurance, in evidence from the outset of the business over a century ago, will be amplified materially in the years ahead through this widening ownership."

Another record figure attained in the past year is the $4,000,000,000 of payments to American families by their life insurance companies.

These payments brought to $30,000,000,000 the aggregate paid out to policyholders or beneficiaries in the past decade. The 1951 total is 58 percent greater than the 1941 figure, a rise of $1,475,000,000.

Death benefit payments increased to $1,725,000,000, some $125,000,000 more than the year before and $715,000,000 more than in 1941. The large total was chiefly a reflection of the wider ownership. The death rate among policyholders remained at a very low level during 1951.

New, Safer Method of Blood Transfusion Is Reported

A new and safer method of giving blood transfusions to elderly patients and to other persons with heart diseases and associated disorders has been described in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The procedure consists of giving sedimented red blood cells with the patient in a sitting position, instead of whole blood with the patient in a horizontal position.

The frequency of complicating conditions in transfusions led to the development of the technique, according to Drs. Victor Ginsberg, Nathan R. Frank and Richard S. Guber, of the blood bank and department of medicine of the Kings County Hospital, Brooklyn, N.Y.

"In situations requiring transfusion of large amounts of blood, a practical difficulty is frequently imposed by associated disorders which restrict the ability of the heart to accommodate an increased blood volume," the doctors said.

Under the new procedure, red blood cells are allowed to settle in bottles in a refrigerator for approximately 48 hours. The plasma is then siphoned off with the aid of an empty vacuum bottle, leaving only the necessary red blood cells which are used in the transfusion. The sedimented blood is administered with the use of gravity at an elevation of four feet by means of an 18- or 17-gauge needle.

The important advantages of this method include the reduction of the volume of fluid administered by practically one-half, the elimination of three-quarters of the sodium content of the blood, and the averting of the air vesicles and tissues of the lung becoming filled with serous fluid, according to the report.

Accelerated Mining

The heavily increased requirements for nickel and copper during World War II were met by International Nickel by calling upon its underground mines and by greatly accelerating its production from its Frodo-Stobie open pits where production was started in 1939. Daily ore production from the pits was increased from the 5,000 tons-per-day, originally planned, to 20,000 tons-per-day during the war years. As a consequence of the heavy war drain upon the open pits and of their large post-war output, it is anticipated that by 1953 the only surface nickel deposits owned by International Nickel in Canada will have been exhausted. Through expansion of its underground mining capacity it is the objective of the Company to replace the pits with the equivalent underground capacity to preserve its current rate of production of nickel.

The Last Must be Tough

The swelling of the wooden last on which a shoe is made may cause the width of a shoe to be, for instance, a 9-E instead of a 9-B. Consequently, it is of the greatest importance to shoe manufacturers to prevent such variation when high humidity prevails. New moisture-repellent coatings have now been developed which make it possible to overcome this trouble. These coatings also protect the last against the rugged treatment they receive in the factories. From the time a shoe last enters the factory it is exposed to a succession of punishments that few wood products experience. It's pounded in heavy machines, nails are driven into it, steamed leather is wrapped around it, the toe and is exposed to a chemical called "box toe softener" and it's heated in a drying oven.

Quilted Glamour for Your Chair

Here's luxurious quilting you can make yourself. Cut fabric, cotton batting, and thin muslin lining to pattern, allowing for quilting 1 1/2-3 inches all around. Pin fabric, cotton batting, and lining together, placing pins a few inches apart. To guide first row, make one diagonal row of pins.

Sew on lining side, first along row of pins, using quilting guide attachment, and reversing direction of alternate rows to prevent bunching. For diamond quilting (as on chair arm at right) stitch diagonal rows further apart and repeat process in opposite direction. After quilting, trim pieces to fit.

Inland Sea

Australia has a large "inland sea" several times the size of Long Island, so shallow that occasionally it runs dry. Situated 250 miles north of Port Pirie in the state of South Australia, this body of water is known as Lake Eyre North. It is about 130 miles long and 56 miles wide. Its total area is estimated variously at 3,500 to 6,000 square miles. The highest level of water in the lake was reached late in 1950, when it extended to the shoreline as shown in maps for the first time in the memory of any living person. Some parts of the lake are believed to be as much as thirty-nine feet below sea level. Although the lake is fed by several rivers, these dry up ways dry up in exceptionally hot and dry summers. As a result, the water level in the lake also drops. The remaining water retreats to the lake gradually shrinks in size. If the dry spell is unusually prolonged the lake disappears altogether.

School Enrollment

Enrollment data reported by the U.S. Office of Education reflect the relationships which have existed for more than half a century between population growth and school attendance. In 1870 only 57 per cent of the children and youth between the ages of 5 and 17 years were enrolled in public schools. By 1890 the percent had grown to 65.5; by 1930, to 68.6; and by 1950, to 72.4. The steady climb in percent of children enrolled in public schools continued until about 1930, since when it has remained consistently near to 80 per cent of the 5- to 17-year olds.

Zoological Gardens
The custom of keeping savage beasts in captivity is almost as ancient as recorded history. The Chinese king Wen had a special zoo where he housed animals captured from all parts of ancient China as early as 1200 B.C. In Egypt in the time of the Pharaohs, menageries were kept as adjuncts to the temples and the Empress Hatasu even sent out expeditions to bring back alive dogs, monkeys, leopards and giraffes for her own private zoo. Some of the reigning monarchs of biblical days kept animals. Monkeys and peacocks were King Solomon's pets; lions were kept in captivity by Nebuchadnezzar. In ancient Greece, many of the prominent citizens collected birds and mammals; the Romans went in for mass capture of scores of lions, leopards and tigers for use in their gladiatorial battles. Octavius Augustus had a vast menagerie of tigers, lions and African animals.

Workshop Fire Hazard
Workshop safety is impossible if gasoline for blow-lar-chet and other purposes is kept in glass jars or other makeshift containers, not to mention the constant hazard to the home and its occupants. Common sense dictates that such inflammable fluids be kept outside the home. But no matter where kept, a safe container such as a galvanized steel fuel can should be used. These fuel containers have screw-on lids and spout caps to prevent the escape of dangerous fumes.

Fly Spray

Industrial research has developed a self-sprayer for range or feed lot beef or dairy cattle. The sprayer is built in a chute through which cattle pass on the way to water or feed. The cattle step on a floor treadle which pumps a small amount of anti-fly spray on each animal's back and sides. Tests show that biting flies, by sucking a pint of more blood per day, and by making the cattle restless, cost farmers nearly a pound of beef or animal per day, and in dairy herds, three or more pounds of but fat per animal per month.

Visiting around Iowa by Joe Marsh

Europe or Iowa?

Two European students visited our town last week, and what do you think surprised them most? "Look at that big car, standing beside such a little house," said one student. And those kids kept right on pointing out the big cars.

"Well," Edna explained, "Americans like to go places and do things. Every person has the right to his preferences, whether it be in cars, or what not."

It brought home to me what American freedom of choice really means to us. In Europe a laboring man would scarcely think of buying a big car. Here, he can drive one bigger than the banker's, and no one lifts an eyebrow. Sure we have lots of different opinions . . . in everything from the social club we join, to our preference for coffee, soda pop, or a moderate glass of beer. But let anyone question our right to choose for ourselves and we'll quickly show him that we not only believe in democracy, we really practice it.

Drake's Community College Opens Week Of Sept. 22

To help relieve the present critical shortage of elementary teachers, Drake university's Community college this fall is inaugurating a program of evening courses for prospective teachers, Dean J. H. Hutchinson has announced.

Courses are planned to provide an opportunity for persons with or without previous college training to complete a large part of their certification requirements through evening classes.

Those with 55 hours of previous college work may earn a temporary teaching certificate by taking an additional nine hours in selected subjects.

These nine hours will be offered by Drake, four in the fall semester and five in the spring, making it possible to qualify for a teaching position by next fall.

Persons who have had no previous college training will be able to fulfill the major part of the requirements in evening classes, with supplemental work in Saturday classes and summer school to complete the program.

It will be possible for them to complete requirements in 3 to 4 years of such part-time study.

Two beginning teaching courses will be offered Thursday evenings. "Introduction to Education" will be from 6:20 to 8 p.m. and "Directing Learning" will be from 8:10 to 9:50 p.m. Both will be taught by Ellen Hartnett, assistant professor of education at Drake.

Other evening education courses will be for upper division and graduate credit. They include remedial educational research, advanced educational psychology, history of American education and a course in public education at mid-century.

Community college classes begin the week of Sept. 22.

India Made Great Advances In Surgery Centuries Ago

The West is familiar with India's contribution to philosophy and religion, to poetry and art. Less known is the fact that India was one of the pioneers in medicine and surgery and in many developments was far ahead of other countries.

The greatest period of ancient Indian medicine came almost 200 years before the birth of Hippocrates, the Greek "Father of Medicine." The old texts contain references to operations that were not mentioned in the Hippocratic writings and were not to be found in other countries until hundreds of years later. The ancient Indians had developed types of surgical instruments that are still to be found in modern operating rooms—scalpels, lancets, saws, scissors, forceps, catheters and even a remarkably modern rectal speculum.

The Indian surgeons were able to amputate limbs, checking bleeding by cauterizing or pressure. A splint for broken bones was so effective that it was adopted hundreds of years later by British Army surgeons as the "patent rattan cane splint." Among the operations described in the ancient writings are removal of bladder stones (lithotomy), Caesarian section, removal of tumors. The Indian method of removing cataracts from the eye is still used today.

Bluefin Tuna Spawning Area Is Discovered

Baby bluefin tuna have been discovered drifting in the Gulf Stream off Miami, the first time they have ever been found in the western Atlantic.

"The specimens show clearly that spawning must take place not very far south of Miami, possibly in the northern part of the Caribbean," the National Geographic Society announces. "From there, the young fishes drift north in the currents that eventually join the Gulf Stream."

Bluefin tuna are giants among salt water game fish, growing to a thousand pounds or more. Found in all warm seas, and caught as far north as Newfoundland, the tuna has rarely been taken during the early stages of its life. Very few individuals have been found weighing less than 10 pounds.

Hitherto, the area of spawning of the giant bluefin in the western Atlantic has been a matter of conjecture.

Back To College After Summer Of Hospital Work And Travel To New Mexico

Back to school after an interesting summer vacation period of work and travel is Bryon Wiley, son of Mrs. Mildred Wiley of 1180 Thirteenth street.

Twenty-one-year old Wiley left Wednesday to return to Creighton university in Omaha, Neb., where he will begin his senior year, after which he plans to go into a school of medicine and walk.

"I get more responsible work each year and I have been subject to call to other parts of the hospital."

Wiley revealed that he earned $175 per month and might have earned more money elsewhere, "but the excitement for the profession of a doctor."

Manly, Iowa

Manly, Ia.—Mr. and Mrs. Willis Haddix entertained Mr. and Mrs. James Clardy and son of St. Paul, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. John Page, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Harper and daughter, Wiley, a Dowling High school graduate, spent most of his vacation working as an orderly at Mercy hospital for his second summer. His work hours varied from early morning shifts to afternoon and evening work.

"I have found my work at the hospital very interesting and I am very fond of it. I have been called upon to see that a male patient was ready for surgery. After operations, I have stayed with patients until they came out from under an anesthetic. I've helped other patients get out of bed perience I have been getting is worth more than money," he said. With his money, he said he saved a portion and used some to buy clothing and other necessities for school.

He spent ten days of his vacation in Santa Fe, New Mexico, at a government Indian school that is under the supervision of the father of his roommate at Creighton, George Spruce, an Indian. In Santa Fe, Wiley visited Indian villages, saw dances and ceremonials. (Photo Courtesy of Des Moines Tribune).

PERSONAL TOUCH

A frantic note arrived this week from Chicago, Ill., penned by former Iowan Helen Dameron Beshars who married Joseph W. Wimberly on July 19, and after a honeymoon fling through Iowa and on up to Idilewild, Mich., finally arrived at their Chicago home, only to find that they have received some beautiful gifts that bore no names of the senders.

"My most difficult task has been finding time to write the many 'thank you' notes that I owe."

"It seems that the role of housewife involves more tasks than that of an employed woman," she is discovering.

Not wanting any of their friends to think that the Wimberlys were negligent in acknowledging the receipt of some beautiful gifts, many of which were mailed to their Chicago address, the Chicagoans are anxious to let some unknown Des Moines resident know that they have received a beautiful hand-painted China cigarette set, that was delivered from Younker's store.

"Is there any way you can locate the donor. We'd appreciate it," Mrs. Wimberly pleads.

So, any Des Moines friend who has been watching the daily mail and wondering why you don't get a note from Helen, just drop her a line at 448 E. 49th street, Chicago, 15, Ill.

and let her know that you sent that lovely gift.

Many times brides are blamed for not thanking all of their friends in and out-of-town, who sent gifts, when on many occasions, the gift card of the sender fails to accompany the gift, especially when it is mailed by some of the stores.

On my news desk last week, Mrs. Travis Bailey, Sr., who recently returned from a 3,000-mile vacation trip, left a practical little souvenir, a handsome leather-bound name-and-address book, which came all the way from the Rainbow bridge at Niagara Falls, Canada. Thanks to her.

At the home of Mrs. Susan Ridgell, 1144 17th street, were visitors from Freeport, Ill., her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Thurston, who spent several days of their vacation here.

In a chat with the Thurstons, they were asked if their city, Freeport, was as free as its name, and they laughed and informed that, not since the early days of the city, has anything been free in it.

Mrs. Thurston revealed that it cost "just about as much to live there as it does any place."

Mr. Thurston, who has a contract with the government to haul the city's postoffice mail from the building to the trains, said that his is one of the responsible jobs that Negroes have in Freeport—and that he and his brother secured the job through bids in Washington.

"We have to meet all of the trains to handle the out-going and incoming mail," he said, describing his work as around-the-clock hauling job.

At one time, Mrs. Thurston managed a downtown drugstore's soda fountain, she revealed.

Corn Kernel Muffins

For breakfast, brunch or lunch—here is a menu to please all corners. It's so delicious, nobody believes that it's a "breeze" to make!

Pamper your family with these easy-to-make Corn Kernel Muffins. They are so quickly prepared you may wonder why you long ago didn't adopt the Southern practice of making quick breads.

Corn Kernel Muffins have many hidden assets, too—especially when you use enriched flour. Enriched flour contains extra B-vitamins and food iron. And these "extras" are available at no added cost to you.

With Corn Kernel Muffins, bring on baked eggs topped with bacon strips. A good starter is cantaloupe wedges or chilled tomato juice. Don't limit Corn Kernel Muffins and baked eggs to breakfast time. This menu is an easy and "fun" way to entertain at brunch. Serve it with a fruit salad, coffee and assorted cookies for dessert. Buy the cookies at the bakery when time is limited.

Corn Kernel Muffins and baked eggs make a hearty lunch for school children. Accompany with a tossed salad and milk, followed by fresh, sliced peaches and cream.

CORN KERNEL MUFFINS

1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour 1 egg, beaten
2 teaspoons baking powder 1/4 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt 1 1/2 cups whole kernel corn (fresh or canned)
2 tablespoons sugar 2 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Combine egg, milk, corn and shortening. Add to flour mixture. Mix until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin pans 3/4 full. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 25 minutes. Makes 12 3-inch muffins.

JIM CROW IN WASHINGTON ON WAY OUT

In the civil rights section of the Republican platform the following plank appears:

"We will prove our good faith by: 'Appropriate action to end segregation in the District of Columbia.'"

Certainly the Jim Crow system is an evil which is a blot on the nation and a source of embarrassment to visitor and local people alike.

It is surprising that at the seat of world democracy from which comes all sorts of propaganda about the glories of our system, Jim Crow practices which are the opposite of democracy flourish in most places.

And seeing the way the wind is blowing, several stores down town are offering equal accommodations to Negroes. It all goes to show that if tangible efforts are put forth to do away with discrimination, it will go.

The Republicans should be congratulated for having recognized this injustice. If successful, it is hoped that they will do something tangible about cleaning up "this mess."

RABBI MANNHEIMER

In the death of Rabbi Eugene Mannheimer, Des Moines has lost an able, understanding citizen.

He was interested in making this community a democracy in deed as well as words and therefore gave a lot of his time and energy to that end.

In 1924 when the Des Moines Interracial Commission was established, Rabbi Mannheimer became one of its first members. He was a member of the Des Moines branch NAACP for many years and at the time of his death served on the Mayor's Committee on Human Rights.

There are many beautiful things that might be said of this fine character, much of which appeared at other times and in other places. But the Bystander emphasizes these interests which are too often overlooked.

RECOGNIZE AN EVIL THEN TAKE ACTION

Speaking before the Des Moines Interracial Commission Tuesday night at North High School, Paul Cooksey, an attorney and a member of the legislature from Clay county, said the greatest obstacle to securing any civil rights legislation in Iowa is the apathy of members of that body and the public who either from ignorance or otherwise believe there is no race problem here.

Iowa has a civil rights law and yet a lot of people know nothing about it; a lot of people, public officials particularly, are glad it is not used for fear their position on the subject will be brought out in the open.

Many communities have no Negro citizens or other minorities and simply assume everything is alright and nothing needs to be done. But we do have a problem, one which requires that public officials and decent people of every community must see that the laws guaranteeing equality for all citizens are enforced. It is not fair that visitors should go into a community and find no decent place to eat or sleep. It is not fair that work is available and simply because a man's skin is black he won't be hired.

Iowa does better than some states but as Mr. Cooksey says, we cannot answer that our shirts are clean when all around the state some are flaunting civil rights laws.

Achieved Results
Haitian health experts, aided by the World Health Organization have tackled and measurably solved tropical disease scourges. Penicillin and other modern miracle drugs, drainage of swamps, mosquito control and other means have achieved notable results, the chief executive of the western hemisphere's only Negro republic disclosed.

President Magloire voiced his pleasure at the more than doubling of the number of tourists to Haiti from the United States during the past four years and the anticipated increase of at least 30% in 1952 and stressed the fact that Haitian laws and customs strictly forbid any discrimination whatever on account of race, creed or color.

In reply to questions by Mr. White as to unfavorable rumors that prospective investors in Haiti have been forced to pay for concessions and privileges, President Magloire cited recent legislation enacted by the Parliament guaranteeing equal protection to both Haitian and foreign capital on identical bases.

Several cabinet members and other Haitian officials were present at the broadcast, including Minister of Commerce and Agriculture Jules Dumond. In addition to Station WLIB in

Letter To Editor

Strategy Employed by the Two Major Parties

In my about 16 Presidential campaign experiences, I can not recall the word "strategy" having been frequently. If it (strategy) can be employed without sacrificing honor, justice and honesty, I see nothing wrong in it.

Reading unbiased between lines of the two recent conventions (Republican and Democrat) especially bearing upon the FEPC you will discover the reason why they have employed strategy in presenting their views to the voters.

In the issue of the Des Moines Tribune Aug. 14, 1952, under caption viz. Stevenson Will Campaign on Truman's Fair Deal Record. In his first paragraph viz. "Continuity of Policy", Mr. Lawrence writes, I quote: "Truman administration would move out in Jan. 20, next and the Stevenson administration would move in and the only thing that would change would be personalities." End quote. Mr. Lawrence in Aug. 16 issue is still talking in a sense along the same lines.

We concede that some good has been accomplished during the 20 years of Democratic Administration, but does this argue that the Democrats should remain in power without coming to an end, life time tenure? I say no—and it is high time for a change. Otherwise the two party system would fade away which would throw our country into a very unsatisfactory state. We need the two or more party system.

Both parties different in their approach have endeavored to hold the Negro vote to break or to hold the solid south, also to hold the Labor and Farmer vote.

Both parties have strong and able nominees, but the Republicans have much the advantage because they represent a change in some of the basic tenants, while the Democrats advocate a continuation of the Truman Administration on a whole which we do not want.

Voters, it is high time to awake and by our votes and work in His Name, cause the much needed change in our administration in Washington, D. C.

Walcott Shows Slugging Powers In Drill

Atlantic City, N. J.—(CNS)—On putting on his gloves for the first time since he successfully defended his title against Ezzard Charles last June, Jersey Joe Walcott showed himself still a master by kayoing his sparring mate in the 2nd of three rounds.

The victim, 180 pound Billy Pozza, was not only down from Walcott's left hook in combination with a right to the jaw, but had to be lifted to a stool and given a rest before going on with the final round. Jersey Joe is here to tune up for his September 23rd meeting with Rock Marciano.

Jackie Takes Up For Manager In Minor Rhubarb In Philly

Philadelphia, Pa.—(CNS)—The last meeting between the Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phillies caused a minor rhubarb. The Phillies' Granny Hammer, who had to hit the dirt a couple of times to escape high and tight pitches, snarled at the Dodgers' manager Charles Dressen: "The next time one of your pitchers knocks me down, I'm coming after you."

Wherein, the Phillies' pitcher, Karl Drews, who was bawled out recently for a near beating of Roy Campanella, joined in the argument with teammate Hammer. This incensed Jackie Robinson, who well remembered Drews' record for hitting at batters and he shouted to Drews: "If you're looking to charge anyone, come and get me. I'm more your size." Robby explained his remark as this: "I didn't like Drews sticking his neck into something that didn't concern him. He's half Charley's age and twice his size."

JACKIE HAS HIT 17 HOMERS

Brooklyn, N. Y.—(CNS)—Jackie Robinson has 17 home runs to his credit and all are against right handed pitchers. Against such a tough as Robin Roberts (Phillies) who has beaten the Dodgers five times, Jack has two homers.

New York, Mr. White's interview with President Magloire was carried by these radio stations: WWDC, Washington; WCFL, Chicago; WMBS, Boston; KIP, Philadelphia; KLIS, Dallas; KSWB, Hollywood, KWK, St. Louis; and WWJ, Detroit.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Caution—School Street

With the opening of school this month, a well-known character reappears on the American scene. He is a small, sturdy boy wearing a white armband and Sam Browne belt who fills the honorable post of traffic monitor or junior policeman for his school. Many a motorist watching him as he holds back a restless crowd of youngsters at the curb smiles with amusement and says "Isn't he cute?"

As long as the motorist watches the young man's actions carefully and obeys his signals, there's no harm in thinking he's cute. He is an important factor in preserving the lives of our children who are trooping back to school these days. Along with his appearance on the scene, bright yellow signs blossom out; caution, stop signs, and speed limits that mean what they say. And, of course, at the crossing in front of the school there is the policeman who is every child's friend and protector.

Yet with all these efforts to guard the safety of our children, hundreds will be killed or permanently injured in traffic accidents during this school year. And statistics show that most accidents to young children are the result of adult carelessness. This disgrace to America can be wiped out. Every adult can do something about it.

If you have school age children, reinforce the school's safety teachings with teaching of your own. Know that your child understands the dangers of traffic before he starts out that first day of school. Know that he stops and looks at every crossing, however quiet, between your home and the school or the place where he is picked up by the school bus. If you are not perfectly confident, go with him yourself or put him in the care of a responsible older child. Know that he obeys the instructions of the traffic monitors as well as those of the "real" policeman.

Don't allow older children to drive or ride in unsafe "jalopies." If your youngsters "ride bicycles, be sure they know and follow the rules of the road.

If you drive a car, be doubly careful near schools or wherever children play. Don't just slow down at a stop sign and take a quick look. Stop and look carefully. Watch for school monitors and school crossing police men and obey their instructions. Stop dead when a school bus is stopped. Have your brakes, tires, and lights checked regularly. Check windshield wipers and defroster. Avoid skidding by having good tire

High School

The local high schools will soon trot out their teams and the battle will be on for keeps. East isn't supposed to have much this year, but the Lee Townshippers have a flashy back named McQuerry who could make his team awful tough.

Don't know what North has, but they will be tougher than they were last year, and may have a big full-back named Forester around.

Tech has Don Graves, Kirby McGuire, Don Simmons, Jack Grant and maybe some more we haven't caught yet. O yes, Bill Weathers. They won't be a door mat, Lincoln has a big rough guy who doesn't have any football experience but who can throw a football into the next county.

Of course, all he has to do is make the team. Then you will hear from him.

With the pennant races drawing to a closer than ninety-nine is to a hundred, we can look for frayed tempers, and all sorts of stunts. The recent Giant-Brooklyn Dodgers series was a good example.

No matter which club wins the national, Negroes will be happy, and are the ones I know even dyed-in-the-wool Yankee fans are pulling for

EASTER FRONT PAGE NEWS IN CLEVELAND

Cleveland, Ohio.—Everything Luke Easter does as well as the doings of the rest of the Cleveland Indians, makes the front pages of the daily newspapers. When Luke hit his 25th home run against Detroit, he merited a 2 column headline on the front page. The fact that Cleveland beat the Tigers 2 to 0 got banner headlines across daily newspapers.

D-Day On Squirrels As Season Opens Sept. 15

A lot of Iowans will be missing from work and school on September 15. An unimportant date to most people, it's D-Day to Iowa squirrel hunters, who will be unlimbering their rifles on squirrels for the first time since last November.

The 1952 season, extending from September 15 through November 15, promises to be a good one. State Conservation Commission biologists predict a slight increase in squirrel populations, although added hunting pressure will probably take care of the surplus.

The two-month season includes both fox and grey squirrels, and the entire state is open. The daily bag limit is six, and after the opening day the possession limit is twelve.
