Strike Gives Twist to School Fight

MISS DOROTHY MAYNOR, concert soprano, who sang "The Star Spangled Banner" at the inauguration ceremonies of President Dwight D. Eisenhower in Washington, D. C., Jan. 2—is said to be the first Negro citizen to participate in the inauguration ceremonies of a President at the Capitol, in the 163-year history of this country. In addition to her participation in the ceremonies at the Capitol, Miss Maynor also appeared at the Inaugural Festival at the Uline Arena Monday night, Jan. 19.

Employed During 55th Assembly of State Legislature

Negro citizens employed at the state house during the fifty-fifth general assembly of the Iowa legislature, which opened on Jan. 12 are the following:

Slain Doctor's Widow Files Suit for $100,000 Against Estate of Ruby McCollum

Live Oak, Fla.—All of the property both real and personal, owned by Sam McCollum at the time of his death is liable for a $100,000 suit brought by Mrs. Adams, white widow, against Mrs. Ruby McCollum who shot and killed Dr. C. LeRoy Adams, husband of the plaintiff, last Aug. 3.

Mrs. McCollum, facing a death sentence for the killing, faced Judge Hal Adams, not related to the deceased, Monday, and through her attorneys, Frank T. Cannon and Releford McGriff, made a motion for a new trial.

A. K. Black, attorney for the plaintiff, who prosecuted Mrs. McCollum during the trial, has resigned as State's Attorney and now represents Mrs. Adams in her $100,000 suit against the McCollum estate.

Insurance C. Involved
One of Florida's oldest highly respected and financially strong insurance companies, may have a bi-racial board of directors if Mrs. Adams wins her $100,000 suit now pending in Suwannee County's civil court against Mrs. McCollum. During the sensational first degree murder trial of Mrs. McCollum she testified that she had sexual relations with Dr. Adams since 1948 and that he is the father of her 15-month-old daughter, Loreta.

The suit avers that on Aug. 5, 1952, Sam McCollum, husband of the defendant, died and that on Sept. 11, 1952, Matthew L. Jackson and Roland J. Yates were appointed administrators of the estate of Sam McCollum.

Indebted To Her
Mrs. Adams contends that by the killing of Dr. Adams Mrs. McCollum and her late husband, and his estate after his death became liable and indebted to her for damages in the sum of $100,000, and that all the property owned by McCollum at the time of his death, both real and personal, is liable for any judgment rendered by the Court.

The McCollum estate includes large blocks of stock in the Central Life Insurance Company of Tampa of which Mr. McCollum was a director at the time of his death.

It is possible that Mrs. Adams could succeed Mr. McCollum in this position if she wins the suit and is awarded his stock in the settlement of the judgment. Should Mrs. Adams accept, she would become probably the first white director of a colored owned life insurance company.

Elks Education Committee Elects Atty. Parker Head

The Elks education committee of Iowa met at the Elks Rest Sunday, Jan. 18, in what has been called one of its best meetings. Twenty-six delegates attended, representing every lodge in the state.

Leading all the states in the union in its education reports, the five Elks lodges of Iowa collected $1,000 for the educational fund during 1952.

Community Help Needed For NAACP to Eliminate 'Enforced Segregation'

New York.—"With our goal—elimination of enforced segregation—at last in sight, our greatest need for 1953 will be expansion so that we can develop public opinion at the community level to assist the process of integration," Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said here in a message delivered at the Association's annual meeting in the Willkie Memorial Building, 20 West 40th Street.

Mr. White stressed the importance of "activating white and colored people in every community to become vocal against bigots" and said the NAACP should have trained workers who will be able to spot any possible trouble planned by diehards who would maintain segregation at any cost.

The NAACP executive said the Association would have to step up its branch organization and expand its staff for this purpose.

Frontal Attack
In reviewing the NAACP's program and activities for the past year, Mr. White listed the frontal attack against segregation in public education, culminating in the three-day argument before the United States Supreme Court of five cases challenging segregation in public elementary and secondary schools, as the greatest achievement in 1952.

The non-partisan registration and voting campaign, which doubled the number of Negro voters in the South between 1948 and 1952 presidential elections, was also among the chief accomplishments of the NAACP during the past year, Mr. White said, and the increased political power of the Negro will be helpful in the transition to an integrated society. He told members of the Association present at the meeting that intensive efforts will be made to bring the number of Negro voters in southern states to a figure between three and four million by 1956.

Developments
Other encouraging developments cited by Mr. White included the notable progress made in ending segregation in the armed services, decrease in the amount of mob violence, indictments in Florida for perjury in connection with bombings of homes and places of worship, and expansion of the NAACP, with the opening of a permanent regional office in Birmingham and the employment of several state executive secretaries.

Job Harder With Goal Near
Thurgood Marshall, special counsel, told members that as the Association comes nearer and nearer to its goal, its job becomes more and more difficult, "because the opposition solidifies and our lukewarm friends run to (SEE PAGE SIX)

150 Delegates Expected To Midwest Meeting

A total of 150 delegates are expected on April 11 and 12 to attend the Midwest regional conference of the NAACP to be held here at Willkie House.

34th President

"I, Dwight D. Eisenhower, do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve and protect and defend the Constitution of the United States." He concluded with: "So help me God."

Preceding the president's ceremony, Richard M. Nixon took the oath of vice president.

As the ceremonies took place, and President Eisenhower delivered his inaugural address, former President Harry S. Truman, who had ridden with Mr. Eisenhower from the White House to the capitol, in the traditional way, stood by and applauded.

West Point, Va., Parents Refuse to Send Children Twenty-Miles from Town

King William, Va.—The legal fight against Jim Crow in public schools took a new and complicated twist last week as NAACP lawyers challenged the validity of compulsory school attendance based on segregation laws.

Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People filed an appeal on January 9 on behalf of Negro parents of West Point, Va., who were convicted of violating the state's compulsory attendance law because they refused to send their children twenty miles out of town to a Jim Crow high school over which the town's school board has no jurisdiction.

Closed School
The so-called "West Point school strike" came about when the school board closed the Negro high school in that town and ordered parents to send their children to Hamilton-Holmes High School, twenty miles outside the corporate limits of the town.

When the Negro parents refused to do this and presented their children to the all-white West Point High School for enrollment, admission was refused on the ground that it would violate the state's segregation laws.

But, states the NAACP brief, "the school authorities of the Town have not afforded any other public seondary school to which their attendance can lawfully be required although defendants at all times have been ready, able and willing to send their children to such a school."

The parents of children under 16 years of age were arrested, convicted of violating the compulsory attendance laws, and fined $200 each. The Virginia NAACP State Conference, through attorneys Oliver W. Hill and Spottswood W. Robinson, III, is appealing these convictions on the ground that to compel the Negro children to attend a school over which the town's school authorities have no jurisdiction or control, while white children similarly situated attend a school over which the town authorities have "complete and exclusive jurisdiction and control," is to deny equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the 14th Amendment.

Attendance Laws
"If the segregation laws could not validly operate to exclude defendant's children from the West Point High School and compel them to be educated elsewhere," the NAACP contends, "it follows that the compulsory attendance laws cannot operate to render defendants criminally liable for a failure to follow an unlawful course dictated by the segregation laws." These arguments concerning the operation of the segregation laws (SEE PAGE SIX)

Florida Governor Is Asked To Consider the Hiring of Qualified Negroes in Jobs

Tampa, Fla.—NAACP leaders in Florida have called upon Dan McCarry, newly inaugurated governor of the state, to "consider . . . the hiring of qualified Negroes to fill various offices and positions left open by the present change in administration."

In a letter addressed to the governor, the NAACP cites the long exclusion of Negroes from administrative positions in the state government and urges him to "reverse this discriminatory practice and to set a precedent for other governors to follow in the future." Signing the letter were William A. Fordham, president of the Florida State NAACP Conference; Francisco Rodriguez, chairman of the conference's legal redress committee; and Robert W. Saunders, NAACP assistant field secretary assigned to Florida.

A similar appeal for employment of Negro personnel by the City of Tampa has been submitted to Mayor Curtis Hixon and the City Board of Representatives. "It has been noticed," the petition asserted, "that there are hundreds of white-collar jobs being held by whites, but not in a single instance do we find a Negro occupying such a position."

334,000 Negro Boys and Girls Enrolled In 4-H Clubs

Washington.—A total of 334,000 colored farm boys and girls are now enrolled in 4-H clubs, according to figures compiled recently by Cooperative Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They comprise approximately a sixth of the 2,004,139 white and colored clubbers in America. Colored 4-H club girls outnumber the boys by approximately 40,000. The report shows 188,010 girls and 148,361 boys.

Among the 17 Southern States, Mississippi, with 50,722 colored clubbers, has the largest enrollment. Georgia is second with 49,705; North Carolina, third with 44,204; Alabama is fourth with 37,235; and Arkansas is fifth with 31,195. Other States in the region are: Delaware, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Missouri, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Parents Need Not Feel Ashamed When Children Exhibit Fear; It's No Disgrace

Afton Smith, Assistant Professor, Iowa Child Welfare Research Station

In a study of children's fears by Jersild and Holmes, it was found that many children said they were afraid of the dark. But the parents of these same children reported that their children had no fear of the dark.

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Several fifth and sixth grade children listed the fear of making their parents "sad." All through their answers there ran a feeling of guilt and remorse because they had fears.

As parents we need not feel ashamed or "sad" when our child shows fear. It is better to recognize that everybody feels fear at some time in his life.

When we hide our fears they may remain with us. When we discuss our worries freely and frankly, they seem less serious.

Fears, relieved of guilt and shame, usually fade out of the child's consciousness if his daily life is busy and happy. Good health discourages fearfulness. Proper feeding, sleep and toilet habits keep him healthy.

We can help the child to overcome his fears if we ourselves understand that it is no disgrace to be afraid.

Snow Swirl Cup Cakes

These tempting small cakes, swirled with fluffy frosting and garnished with walnut halves, are convenient to serve large groups at a tea or coffee hour.

When it's cold outside you can make the kitchen cozy by baking breads and cakes or pies for the family supper.

Since economical enriched flour is the main ingredient, cupcakes are an ideal choice for family dessert, or as refreshments for a club or church group.

If you prefer to buy cupcakes, bakers usually have them, and often with a variety of frostings—lemon, vanilla, butterscotch, strawberry and chocolate.

Cupcakes wrapped in wax paper make good treats to complete a sandwich and fruit lunchbox meal.

SNOW SWIRL CUPCAKES

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 cup new-type shortening
3 tablespoons baking powder
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

3 tablespoons water

Combine egg white, sugar, water, salt and corn sirup in top of double boiler. Beat with rotary beater until thoroughly blended.

Morrow Reports Gain In Passports Here For 1952

Mrs. Frances Gerholdt, 28, of Nevada, is given oath by Fred O. Morrow, Jr., deputy court clerk, after she completed filing application for passport. Mrs. Gerholdt, with her two small children, plans to fly to England in about three weeks to join her husband, Airman 1/c Paul Gerholdt, who is stationed at an air force base there.

Checking on the passport "business" in the federal court clerk's office, Morrow reported a good gain for 1952. He compared 550 "customers" last year with 414 for all of 1951.

Morrow said 1952 was one of the busiest in recent years in the clerk's office as far as passport applications are concerned. He attributed the gain to the increased number of tourists and servicemen's dependents going abroad.

All passports are issued by a special division of the state department in Washington, D. C., but applications for passports can be made through the federal court clerk's office.

Actually, applying for a passport can be quite simple, Morrow explained, "if a person knows what to bring along."

Necessary Items

The necessary items, he said, are proof of citizenship, two photos and a friend.

Proof of citizenship can be made with a birth or baptismal certificate, an affidavit of birth, or in the case of naturalized citizens, naturalization papers.

The friend you bring along must be an American citizen who has known you at least two years. This friend, who acts as an official witness, cannot be a relative.

In addition, a person must also give the reasons for his visit abroad on his application, pay a $9 passport fee, and $1 local clerk's fee.

The passport fee also is waived when the applicant is a dependant of a serviceman on official duty; and, not required of civilian government employees or members of their families, or for persons visiting graves overseas of relatives killed while on duty with the American armed forces.

Morrow, a veteran of World War II, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morrow, 1060 Twelfth street. He resides at 1168 Fourteenth street place. (Photo Courtesy of Des Moines Tribune).

PERSONAL TOUCH

By MARIE ROSS

I still can hear the beat of the drums and the toot of the horns in the ten-mile inaugural parade that marched along Washington's historic Pennsylvania avenue, seemingly all day Tuesday before and after the inauguration of the country's thirty-fourth president, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

For the quiet, gray morning that nature offered, after a heavy snow that blanketed Des Moines the night before, Tuesday was a very noisy day with all of its historic importance.

Wherever there was a television set or a radio available, there were groups of people, listening, chattering and applauding.

After two or three hours of listening you felt well battered and withered—if you had been sitting in my second-floor corner, directly over a television set in the tavern below.

While editing and writing news to make the noon deadline, I would hear the announcers present the various features, floats, bands, the officials, the dignitaries, and marching groups. I would type a while, then pause and start again.

During the prayers, I would pause again, and another band would come and my typewriter would go. But,

In one of the first wedding of the new year, Miss Doloris Elaine Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo E. Harris, 1266 E. 18th street, and Paul Wendell Danforth, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Danforth, Sr., 1219 Laurel street, were united in marriage on January 1.

The Rev. John E. Hunter, pastor of St. Paul AME church officiated. The double ring ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents where an altar had been arranged in front of a softly draped picture window, decorated with white chrysanthemums and candelabra.

Maxine Moore Elected President Of Fiesta

Club Fiesta met Jan. 16 with Mrs. Dorothy Burris, 906 18th street. Election of officers was as follows: Maxine Moore, president; Emma King, vice president; Dorothy Burris, secretary; Reba Diggs, treasurer; Virginia Forrester, critic.

The next meeting will be a birthday party Jan. 23 honoring Mrs. Diggs at 789 Thirteenth street. A covered dish will be served. Uma King is reporter.

Hurrying cross town during the hustle and bustle of the evening rush hour, seemed peaceful, and I wondered where to find those juke boxes that play that popular number on the day's hit parade—"Five Minutes of Silence."

Now that the state and national inaugural ceremonies are over, all who have been saying, "just as soon as the holidays are over and all of the festivities have ended, I will go on a diet," may do so now.

In that group may be a few men, members of Corinthian Baptist church's Songfellows, who held their annual after-holiday dinner party on Monday night in the church's dining hall.

Food delicacies of many descriptions were piled high around two mammoth golden brown turkeys—and the Songfellows and their guests—after a hearty feast, should be interested in some of the current reading in the daily paper this week.

Josephine Loman in her "Why Grow Old" column that runs in the Tribune, began on Monday night, a series of exercises that will be "effective as a redistributor of poundage and a toner up for men." She must have heard about the Songfellows' dinner.

LAW ENFORCEMENT SHOULD NOT BE ONESIDED

The Bystander has said here on more than one occasion that if the civil rights laws on our statute books were honestly enforced, there would be little use for additional legislation on the same subject.

Unfortunately, this report comes rather late. But it does point up very clearly that while Mr. Truman was demanding the passage of an FEPC measure by Congress, he was not using the power of his office to carry out his own FEPC measure.

Undoubtedly the Eisenhower administration will give attention to this wholesale practice of discrimination which can be remedied without the vote of Congress.

And the Bystander might here say that the City of Des Moines, if it really means to make fair employment practices a reality, should pass an ordinance requiring the same provision in the contracts it makes.

The Bystander feels that public officials as well as laymen should make an honest effort to carry out the laws and regulations set up for the government of the city, the state and the country.

In line with this subject is the disclosure that Uncle Sam is conducting segregated schools on some of its army posts.

It is obvious that military reservations are run according to laws, rules and regulations of the US and not those local communities.

America has a new president, a new administration both of which we have known since November 4.

EISENHOWER CHARTS THE RIGHT COURSE

The Supreme Court cases against segregation in public education, Mr. Marshall described as "one of the finest examples of cooperation between liberal lawyers and scientists."

The Young Women's club will meet Jan. 23 at the home of Mrs. Barbara Robinson. Meetings have been changed from weekly to bi-monthly.

Here he chides those who would deny his neighbor equal opportunity. Most people are pretty much in accord with what President Eisenhower said, with the steps he has taken leading up to his inauguration.

SEE FRONT PAGE were included in the brief to support the NAACP contention that the segregation laws are as much involved in the case as the compulsory attendance laws, and that "extrinsic evidence" about the unconstitutionality of the segregation laws should be considered.

School Fight

Washington, — Denouncing segregation as "undemocratic" and "a violation of federal policy," Senator Hubert H. Humphrey today released the text of correspondence he has had with Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna M. Rosenberg and Commissioner of Education Earl J. McGrath, relative to the segregation of Negro school children on military posts in Texas, Oklahoma and Virginia.

Senator Humphrey's intervention followed conferences with Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington Bureau of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Mr. Mitchell had protested to the Department of Defense and the Office of Education, urging immediate abolition of segregation on all military posts.

The responsibility for the jim crow pattern was placed upon the Office of Education by Mrs. Rosenberg, who, in a letter to Dr. McGrath, said that "it is our feeling that this practice is unsatisfactory and is violative not only of the policy of the Department of Defense but also contravenes the policy set forth by the President."

On January 12, Senator Humphrey wrote to Dr. McGrath calling for clarification of the position of the Office of Education on this issue. He suggested a conference with the commissioner within the next day or two.

Community Help cover." Mr. Marshall outlined a legal program for the coming year, during which he said the fight against Jim Crow education "must move ahead and every semblance of segregation in transportation and allied facilities (including stations, waiting rooms, restaurants, etc.)
