Crowds Attend Holy Week Services at Paramount to Hear Dr. Howard Thurman

Daily noon-day crowds filled the Paramount theater this week to hear Dr. Howard Thurman of San Francisco, Cal., in a series of Holy Week services.

Though Dr. Thurman left the city Thursday, the interdenominational services, sponsored by the Des Moines Area Council of Churches will continue through Good Friday, when the theme will be "The Seven Last Words of Christ."

A widely known lecturer, author and religious leader, Dr. Thurman spoke from the theme: "My God, My God, Why . . ."

"As long as a man has a dream in his heart he cannot lose the significance of living," the pastor of the nation's only Church of Fellowship of All Peoples, prefaced his opening topic on the "Consistent Cross," Monday.

DR. HOWARD THURMAN

'Heart Rot'

"Where there is no dream, life becomes a swamp and deep within man's heart begins to rot," he discoursed briefly and then began his series on the life and teachings of Jesus Christ.

"The life Jesus lived put Him on the side of goodness and truth," Dr. Thurman said. "The center of disturbances among men, He insisted that all men were children of God—the Jew, Gentile, men, women, little children the Roman and Samaritan—all the people of His age."

"That God was doing what He was destined to do, Dr. Thurman told how "society thought that by killing Jesus they could protect themselves from the searching truth He taught and lived, but in so doing they gave wings to His message and His truth."

"What He was not able to accomplish in His life, He guaranteed by His death," Dr. Thurman said. Speaking Tuesday from the topic of the "Shared Cross," Dr. Thurman said that "society takes the very same attitude toward the very good man that it takes to the very bad one."

Challenge to Society

"The very good man is a challenge to society, urging it to spill over, to reach over and beyond. He is taking the next step. He is on the side of growth and change—and we do not want to be disturbed. We want to stay as we are," Dr. Thurman said.

"The very bad man is a constant challenge because he seeks all of the raw materials to fulfill his selfish impulses."

"Therefore, society has to protect itself from the very bad man because he undermines, and the very good,"

John R. Garland Gets 8-Year Term

John R. Garland, 33, convicted of manslaughter by a district court jury March 13, last Saturday was sentenced to eight years imprisonment at the state penitentiary in Fort Madison and fined $300.

Before Garland received the mandatory sentence from District Judge Russell Jordan, motions by his attorney, James McKeon, for a new trial and arrest of judgment were overruled.

Mrs. Garland died at Mercy hospital Sept. 21, a day after she was beaten by her husband behind the G & W hotel, 762½ Ninth street, where the couple had a two-room apartment.

Garland was placed under $10,000 bond. His attorney said he would appeal. Under the sentence Garland is eligible for parole after about one year.

Ethiopia Sends 2nd Battalion To Korea

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia—(CNS)—A new Ethiopian battalion is now on its way to Korea to replace the first battalion the country sent two years ago. The fresh battalion, after being reviewed by Emperor Haile Selassie, left the capital by rail for Djibouti, French Somaliland. There is will board an American naval transport.

Liberia-Firestone Tire Company in New Agreement

Washington.—His Excellency, Clarence L. Simpson, Liberian Ambassador at Washington, stated today that the 99-year Concession Agreement granted by his government to the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. in 1926 has just been supplemented by a new contractual arrangement.

"This new agreement which was not provided for in the original contract," the Ambassador declared, "is a most creditable action taken by farsighted management of this American enterprise in its dealings with my government."

The Liberian government requested earlier this year that consideration be given by Firestone to the changed world rubber situation which caused the price of rubber to drop from 79 to 19c a pound in a few months.

In the light of the extensive development program which has taken place in Liberia during recent years and which has made facilities and services available to offer considerable assistance to the operation of the Firestone plantations, the company in agreement with the Government will pay Income Tax at the rate of 25 per cent instead of 14 per cent for the next 11 years. Firestone officials say that their decision was also influenced by a desire to assist in making possible the continuation of the astounding progress the country has been making under the Tubman Administration.

Arrest Four in Early Sunday Morning Raid

Four persons in a raid at 408 S. E. Fifth street were arrested by police and members of the vice squad early Sunday morning, March 29.

George Cranshaw, 75, of that address, was charged with operating a disorderly house. He pleaded innocent before Municipal Judge Charles S. Cooter and was released on $2400 bond. His trial was set for April 14. Two persons were charged with lewdness and the fourth was charged with intoxication and fined $5.

Tom Lewis, Veteran Employee At West Burlington Shops, Retired

Burlington, Ia.—Relaxing in his home at 407 S. Starr, is Thomas Lewis, veteran employee at the West Burlington Shops, who began retirement recently after 31 years with the railroad company.

Mr. Lewis who left his farm home at the turn of the century, traveled with a circus, doing roustabout jobs. He came to Burlington, where he got employment with the railroad company.

Born near Palmyra, Mo., in 1885, Mr. Lewis learned to farm in the days of mules. He said he has worked in steel mills, shoveled coal, cleaned locomotives and generally, put in some good, solid work.

Now he is awaiting the start of his pension after retiring Feb. 10, and relaxing in his cozy home.

He recalled that when the late C. A. Henry was superintendent of the West Burlington shops then Lewis started. He worked for a time before that at the Burlington shops in Hannibal, Mo. Twelve-hour working days were the rule then.

Working in the power plant's heat, then out into all sorts of weather, has left a heritage of arthritis, the veteran railroad man said.

Mr. Lewis is married to Mrs. Voria Lewis. He has a brother in Des Moines. He is a member of the St. John AME church. (Photo Courtesy of Burlington Hawk-Eye Gazette).

Founder Of Apex Enterprises Dies

Atlantic City, N. J.—Madame Sara Spencer Washington, Apex enterprises head, died at Atlantic City hospital March 23, after a short illness.

Mrs. Washington began business in Atlantic City in 1920 with little capital. The business has grown to one of the world's leading manufacturing concerns. It manufactures and packages more than 200 different Apex products in its Atlantic City laboratories; and has more than 45,000 Apex agents in all parts of the world.

James B. Morris, Jr., Gets Citation For 'Outstanding Work'

James B. Morris, Jr., and Harold Leener, attorneys, and Joseph V. Ryan of the promotion department of The Register and Tribune company, were three Des Moines men to receive special awards at a noon luncheon March 25 at the Hotel Kirkwood.

The occasion commemorated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

According to Joseph I. Brody, George E. O'Malley and Ernest W. Seymour, co-chairmen of the Des Moines chapter of NCCJ, the citations were given for "outstanding work in program activities of the National Conference."

Speaker at the luncheon was Dr. L. K. Bishop of Chicago, Ill., vice president of the National Conference, and former pastor of Central Christian church of Des Moines. He spoke on the theme: "Twenty-five Years of Practical Achievement in Brotherhood."

Trial Opens For Lee Roy Billings

Lee Roy Billings, 68, of 1640 Walker street, went to trial on Monday in District Judge Joseph E. Meyer's court, on a charge of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of an "innocent bystander" in a tavern on last Christmas day.

Police said a bullet from Billings' revolver struck Charles Barnett, 21, when another man tried to take the gun away from Billings during an argument at the Welcome Inn, 1544 Walker street.

If Negroes Can Drive For Rich People They Can Drive For '15-Cent Folk', Minister Tells Transit Company

Louisville, Ky.—"If Negroes can drive for the richest people in town, surely they could drive for the '15-cent folks,'" The Rev. J. C. Oldem declared at the Mayor's "Beef Session" last Monday in protest to Louisville Transit Company's refusal to hire Negro bus drivers.

The minister said that Louisville

Negroes spend "a great deal of money with the bus company" and should get more consideration.

The Rev. Daniel Hughlett, pastor of Hughlett Temple AME Zion church, suggested that Mayor Farnley "whisper some influential words to the bus company" and should get more consideration.

Directive Is Result of Long, Persistent Drive by NAACP's D. C. Bureau

New York.—Full implementation of President Eisenhower's climax . . . the long and persistent drive" to that end by the Washington Bureau of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, said March 26.

The White House announced on March 25 that segregation would be ended in all schools run by federal agencies on Army posts. In instances in which the schools are run by state or local agencies for children of Army personnel, post commanders have been directed to make "a survey . . . designed to bring about agreement with local authorities for integrating the schools."

Other Arrangements

In a memorandum to Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of Defense, the President said, "if such integration is not achieved, other arrangements in these instances will be considered."

The directive is result of long-continued effort by Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau. He enlisted the aid of Senators James H. Duff, Herbert H. Lehman, Irving Ives, Hubert Humphrey, Wayne Morse and Robert C. Hendrickson who last month joined in a request to Dr. John A. Hannah, assistant Secretary of Defense, to end segregation in schools on Army posts.

Previously, Mrs. Anna Rosenberg,

Dr. Hannah's predecessor, had straightened out the legal difficulties involved in eliminating Jim Crow schools run by state agencies on military posts, but, according to Mr. Mitchell, had been thwarted by an anti-Negro Congressman and a prejudiced official in the U. S. Office of Education.

Unaware Of Problem

With the advent of the new administration, Mr. Mitchell renewed his efforts and pressed for an order ending segregation. At his press conference on March 19, President Eisenhower was queried on this issue by Miss Alice Dunnigan, White House correspondent of the Associated Negro Press.

In reply, the President indicated that he was unaware of the problem, but promised to look into it and to take action. His directive followed within a week.

The NAACP, Mr. White said, "welcomes the presidential directive ending segregation in schools operated by the Army on military posts. Also we hail his promise to make 'other arrangements' on those posts where schools are operated by states on a segregated basis. Through the Washington Bureau, the NAACP has conducted a long and persistent drive to end segregated education on all Army posts. The full implementation of the President's directive will climax that effort."

Virginia's Ft. Belvoir Schools Will Recall Teachers If Segregation Ends

Ft. Belvoir, Va.—(CNS)—Though the two schools here—one for the white children and one for the colored children—are operated by Fairfax County's School Board, they have already announced that if segregation ends here in compliance with the White House announcement, they will withdraw their teachers.

So far the White House has stated that the Army will end segregation in all schools on Army posts, operated entirely with Federal funds. But Army Commanders are trying also to end segregation in schools operated by states at Army installations. Such schools operate at Ft. Belvoir and at Ft. Meade, Md.

Here the 30 Negro children go to a remodeled barracks which even the Fairfax County School Board official, Robert Walker cites as a "terrible school." Still he adds that if segregation ends here he will have to recall all teachers.

"Under Virginia law, we could not supply teachers for non-segregated schools," Walker explained.

House Subcommittee Is Urged to Extend Probe of New York Police Department

New York.—The House Judiciary subcommittee investigating the reported agreement between the U. S. Department of Justice and the New York City Police Department has been urged to extend its investigation "to ascertain whether there exists any other agreements between the Department of Justice and police officials in other cities."

Under terms of the agreement with barred from investigating violations the New York police, the FBI was barred from investigating violations of civil rights by police in brutality cases.

The recommendation for further investigation was made by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in a memorandum to Chairman Kenneth B. Keating of the subcommittee.

The text of the memorandum, made public by Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, also recommended "that the committee strongly disapprove the Department of Justice taking any action in concert with state officials to withhold investigation or prosecution of any state officials accused of violation of federal civil rights laws."

Take Action

The committee was further urged to take "appropriate action to make impossible in the future any agreements of such nature between the Department of Justice and local or state officials anywhere in the nation."

The memorandum, dated March 20, reviewed briefly some of the cases of police brutality in which the New York and Brooklyn branches of the NAACP had vainly sought to get action against the offending police officers. Although complaints were filed with the Police Department, the memorandum asserted, "in no instance was any complaint found by the department to warrant disciplinary action against the officer involved."

Pendleton Hits Homer Off Brooks

Bradenton, Fla.—(CNS)—In true baseball fashion, Jim Pendleton, Negro outfielder, who was traded to the Milwaukee Braves early this year, came home to haunt his old employers this week by hitting a home run in the 8th inning, to tie up the game. Then in the ninth, the Braves' pitcher, Lew Burdette, hit the tie breaking homer. Score was 3-2, Braves.

Dr. Thurman New Professor At Boston University

Boston.—President Harold C. Case of Boston University announced this week that starting next fall the university, in accordance with its charter-stated policy, will embark upon an enlarged campus-wide program of religion for all students, faculty and staff involving the appointment of new faculty members and the division of present responsibilities within a cooperative ministry.

One development in this extended group ministry is the appointment of Dr. Howard Thurman, Baptist clergyman, currently pastor of the Fellowship Church in San Francisco, Calif., where he is leader of a successful and thriving congregation composed of colored, caucasian and oriental parishioners.

Dr. Thurman has been appointed by the Boston University Trustees as University Preacher and Professor of Spiritual Disciplines and Resources in the University's school of theology. He is the first colored full time professor at the school.

Six Man Board

Headed by Dr. Thurman, the six-man University Board of Preachers will be composed of the President of the University, Prof. Edwin P. Booth, professor of historical theology; Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers, professor of preaching and applied Christianity; Dr. Littell, professor of religion in higher education; and Dean Walter G. Mueller of the school of theology.

Dr. Thurman who has been granted an "indefinite leave" by his San Francisco congregation, is widely recognized as one of this country's outstanding preachers, President Case said. Under his direction, Boston University and San Francisco's Fellowship church will build an East-West Coast transcontinental relationship for graduates of the University's school of theology who wish to intern there.

Each summer he will return to the Bay Area in a program to maintain the effectiveness of cooperative leadership on the Atlantic and the Pacific, with orientation here as students, and a start there in their chosen profession of preaching as graduates.

Win Prizes At Elk Lodge and Temple Membership Banquet

At the recent membership banquet and dance held by Hawkeye Elk Lodge No. 160 and Rose Temple No. 33, prizes were awarded to members who signed up the largest number of applicants. They were: Wardell Coyle of the lodge who was awarded a leather travel kit and Mrs. Wilma Hunt of the temple, whose prize was a musical stationery box.

Coyle, Mr. Walker, Mrs. Emma May Anderson, Mr. Williams and Virgil Winters.

At the banquet, the guests were entertained by the Rose Temple drill team which gave a demonstration. Orville Cox and his musicians furnished the dance music. Mr. Coyle was master of ceremonies and introduced the units.

Hawkeye lodge No. 160 IBPOE of W will set the date on April 1, for a big initiation service to be held soon. All members are urged to turn in application as soon as possible. The lodge will serve refreshments. Applicants are asked to bring a basket of food.

and grass fires in state fire protection districts.

Farmers and landowners are also being asked to refrain from burning off woods and fields. This custom is not only unnecessary, but damages grass, timber, and soil fertility. Burning does not improve the soil, although it may appear to do so because of strong contrast between the new plant shoots and the black ash resulting from fire.

However, if debris or land must be burned, certain safety rules should be observed. Fires should not be set on windy days or whenever there is danger of flames spreading. Burn only on quiet days or in late afternoon when the wind has died down. Have plenty of help, burn down hill against the wind, and do not leave the area until the last spark is out.

Letter From Ohioan Recalls Many Changes In Churches Since '07

The Rev. Luther H. Smith, 904 Twenty-third street, was the recipient of a letter last week from the Rev. James M. Harris, at Springfield, Ohio.

"It recalled my very first trip to Des Moines in the summer of 1907," Rev. Mr. Smith said. "At that time the Rev. Mr. Harris was pastor of Burns Methodist church was then at the southwest corner of 12th and Crocker streets, where the carpet cleaning establishment is located; and, the St. Paul AME church was then on the river front at Second and Center streets. The late Bishop Sampson Brooks was current pastor.

"There have been many changes in Des Moines since," the Rev. Mr. Smith noted. "Corinthian Baptist church was at 15th and Linden. Rev. Griffith was pastor, and Maple Street Baptist church was on Maple street near East Ninth street. Rev. Samuel Bates was their widely known pastor.

"The Rev. Mr. Harris graduated from Gammon Theological seminary at Atlanta, Ga., in 1900. Since leaving Des Moines he has built five churches, a $30,000 structure at Springfield, Mo., also one at Sedalia, Mo. He also taught for four years

Game for Young or Old

IT'S FUN for youngsters and grown-ups alike—the tumble-bug game. For the bugs, get some capsules from your druggist. Drop a ball bearing into each, close the capsule and mark it with a colored tape, so that each player will know his own bug.

The only other equipment needed for the game is a playing board. Cut a piece of Preswood about one foot square and nail it to a block of one-inch lumber four inches wide and as long as the playing board, to form a ramp. You'll need to plane the block of wood to the proper angle to make the Preswood fit evenly.

Up to four players can participate with a board the size of the one described. Each player holds his capsule in an upright position at the top edge of the playing board. At the signal to "go," the bugs are released to tumble end over end down the ramp. The one reaching bottom first is the winner.

Arrest Eighteen In Shade Home

In an early Sunday morning raid on the home of General Grant (Happy) Shade, 51, of 830 Eleventh street, Shade and 17 other persons were arrested.

Fifteen were charged with resorting to a disorderly house and paid fines of $10 each. Five paid additional fines on charges of intoxication.

A pint of whisky and two cases of beer were seized in the raid, conducted by two detectives, two members of the vice squad and three men from the patrol division.

Shade pleaded innocent to a charge of operating a disorderly house and was released on $200 bond.

His trial was set for April 14 by Municipal Judge Charles S. Cooter, who also handled the arraignments of the othes.

A 17-year-old boy who was picked up in the group was released to the custody of his parents and ordered to appear before juvenile authorities.

New York.—(CNS)—The death of Queen Mary meant work as usual to the native Bermudians. When King George died last year, workers all got two days off to mourn.

Marian Anderson will have competition on Easter Sunday As she sings at the Metropolitan Opera House, Nat King Cole and Sarah Vaughan are teamed up at Carnegie Hall.

Only Nat and Sarah will be doing two shows for the holiday. Thus race starts will be performing at the city's two largest concert houses April 5.

The life story of Dr. Ralph Bunche got the dramatic treatment Tuesday, via radio. Thanks to the women's protests, the Marilyn Monroe flickers are not selling as anticipated. There may be a court battle over the song, "Pretend" (it's melody is similar to another hit. But it won't affect Nat Cole whose rendition of the number is in 7th place across the nation.

Brother Joe May To Sing April 13

BROTHER JOE MAY, Specialty recording artist, who will appear at West High auditorium, Monday, April 13, at 8 p.m., is a dynamic disciple of song, and is without a peer in the realm of Gospel singers.

He is being sponsored in a program of gospel songs by the New Jerusalem Church of God in Christ, Elder M. W. Goodman, pastor.

Born in Macon, Miss., of very religious parents, Brother Joe May as a small child admired the singing of a top singer in his rural community, and decided that he wanted to sing just like her. He had a natural singing ability, and would go about his duties on his mother's farm singing; the songs he had heard his idol do in church on Sunday.

In 1935, Brother Joe May and his mother moved to East St. Louis, Ill., where the great Evangelist singer Willie Mae Ford Smith heard him sing. She called him the "son of thunder." Since then he has been known by the name of "Thunderbolt of the Middlewest."

MAPLE STREET BAPTIST CHURCH

Harlem Tenement To Get 'New Look'

New York. (CNS)—The block remodeling of run down Harlem apartment houses which still have good frames, commenced this week with the 118th—119th Street block, bounded by 8th and St. Nicholas Avenues.

The program is financed by local savings banks and under the supervision of the State Housing Department. According to Commissioner Herman T. Stichtman: "Now there exists no reason why many run-down areas of the city where buildings are structurally good but violations exist, cannot be rehabilitated. With this cooperation from lending agencies, there should at last be an end to talking and a beginning of truly remedial action."

More Than Chicks Come Out Of Egg Shells Strickly Fresh Ideas For Easter

The Easter bunny took one look at the price of eggs, registered superb annoyance with a twitch of his pink nose and proceeded to hatch a strictly fresh idea.

Provoked at the silly hens who had gotten themselves all inflated, he simply refused to put their eggs in his basket. With the help of Tide Washing Clinic he concocted this year's Easter fantasia from salvage stuff like old egg shells, a pinch or so of detergent, a few drops of plastic starch.

Eggonomical!

Incredible, but these are the ingredients for making the Dresden-like fairy-folk above. Of course someone is going to have to stash away egg shells from now 'til Easter morning... but at least the family will get out of their usual Post Easter diet of hard-boiled eggs!

A half egg shell, tipped over on its side, will make a pert nose and head for the sauciest-looking rabbit. Or take a half shell and carefully, oh so carefully string a pipe cleaner through it and you have the makings of a ballet dancer! A slightly concaved piece of shell from the side of an egg can be turned magically into the shell of a turtle; flip it up and it becomes a hull of a schooner with a pipe stem mast and a paper sail!

And what about those other products that Cottontail pinched from the laundry room... the detergent and plastic starch? Oh, they go into the mixing bowl. A cup of Tide and 4 tablespoons of plastic starch get whipped into something like thick shaving lather. It's this white creamy batter (which later dries to a luminous-like plaster) that is used to solder the shells together, and that can be molded like clay into little buttons down the round shell vest of a bunny, or curlycued into locks for a doll's coiffure.

So gather the young 'uns 'round the kitchen table, give out with a

2nd NAACP Great Night Draws 12,500 to Stadium

New York.—The 12,500 patrons who attended the second annual NAACP'S GREAT NIGHT at Madison Square Garden contributed some $15,000 in cash and pledges to the Association's treasury, Rufus W. Smith, chairman of arrangements, reported March 26.

Among the larger contributors were the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, AFL, $2,500; the Liberian delegation to the United Nations, $1,000; International Business Machines, $1,000; Calvert's Distilleries, $1,000; District 4, IUE-CIO, $1,000. The contributions and pledges came in response to an appeal by the Rev. Gardner Taylor, pastor of Concord Baptist Church, Brooklyn.

Many Entertainers

The vast crowd was treated to an evening of entertainment by such topflight performers as Rosalind Russell, Eartha Kitt, Cab Calloway, Danny Thomas, W. C. Handy, Camilla Williams, the Mariners, Bill Kenny's Ink Spots, Horace Heidt, Muriel Rahn, Buddy Bowser, Harold Jackson, Thelma Carpenter, Juanita Hall, Leslie Ngams, Peg Leg Bates, Dolores Martin, Caleb Peterson, Arthur Prysock, Lil Hayes, Irene Treadwell, Ron deLuca, Elaine Malbin, Avon Long, Alice Tate, John Raitt. John Henry Faulk of CBS served as master of ceremonies for the greater part of the night.

The story of the NAACP was told in a dramatic presentation, "Jim Crow Must Go" written and directed by Dick Campbell who also produced the night's program. Ossie Davis, supported by a large and talented cast, served as narrator.

On hand to greet the audience were Oscar Hammerstein II and Lena Horne, co-chairmen of the benefit, and Walter White, NAACP executive secretary. A representative cross section of the community was present including many of New York's notable citizens.

Knocked

Soon Little Red Riding Hood knocked on the door.

"Who's there?" said the wolf.

"It's me, Gram," said Red Riding Hood. "Mother heard you were sick pick up on some ribs."

"Wild," said the wolf, "Fall in." and she thought you might like to Red Riding Hood entered and walked over to the bed.

"What a crazy pad," she said. "Sorry I didn't have time to straighten the joint up before you got here," said the wolf, "but you know how it is—What's in the the basket?"

"The same old jazz," Red said. "Baby," said the wolf, "don't put it down."

"I have to," said Red. "It's getting heavy."

"Mokay," said the wolf. "Let's get to it. I've got eyes."

Has Eyes

"I'm hip," said Red. "Grandma, what frantic eyes you have."

"The better to dig you with, my dear," said the wolf.

"And Grandma," said Red, "what a long nose you have."

"Yeah," said the wolf. "It's a gas-ser."

"And Grandma," said Red, "your ears are the most, to say the least."

"How you do come on," said the wolf. "I know my ears aren't the greatest, but what're ya gonna do? Let's just say somebody goofed."

Someone Else

"You know something?" Red said. "I don't want to sound square, but you don't look like my grandma at all. You look like some other cat."

"Baby," said the wolf, "you're flip-pin."

"No, man," said Red. "I just dug your nose again and it's the coolest. I don't want to come right out and ask to see your card, but where's my grandma?"

"Your grandma is gone," said the wolf.

"You're right," said Red. "She's the swingin'est, but where is she?"

"She cut out," said the wolf.

Heard Cries

"Don't hand me that jazz," said Red, whereupon the wolf leaped out of bed and began chasing her about the room. At that moment, as luck would have it, a hunter happened to be passing by in the forest and when he heard Red Riding Hood's cries for help he ran to her aid and dispatched the wolf forthwith.

"Dad," said Red gratefully, "your timing was like the end, you know?"

And so it was.

Latest Home Hobby Transforms Old Nylons Into Lovely Flowers

THERE'S NEW LIFE in those mislaid or torn nylon stockings you get from time to time. New hobby converts them into pretty, colorful flowers and corsages which you can use to adorn hats, gift packages and low vases—as shown in photo. They're striking also as boutonnières and as adornments for hair, wrists, dresses, jackets and coats.

Making the flowers is easy, inexpensive and full of fun. All you need besides the old nylons are a few boxes of color remover and all-fabric dye plus the usual tinting vessels, ordinary copper screening, floral tape, scissors and corsage pins. Floral centers can be colored crocheted cotton dipped in paraffin.

The Tintex Home Economics Bureau has published a free leaflet of instructions. About 10,000,000 leaflets have already been distributed, many to churchwomen eager to make the flowers for sale at fund-raising bazaars and parties, others to hospital convalescents and home shut-ins. Some alert housewives have even converted the hobby into a money-making enterprise.

You can obtain one or more leaflets from the Tintex bureau, by addressing it at 485 Fifth Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

MRS. RUTH MOORE GETS PRIZE

Mrs. Ruth Moore, 905 Laurel street, won the Campbell automatic toaster which was given by Princess O'Neil chapter No. 9 in the "Bride of Stars" contest. Mrs. Alma Morris announced.

"We have a liturgical dance group of youth and adults. We try to appeal to the fine arts," he was saying when I interrupted to ask if he taught dramatics.

Dr. Thurman stared and then he pointed to himself and laughed.

"Well, have you done a lot of oratory or public speaking?" I asked. "Just preaching," he replied and then he queried, "why do you ask?"

I told him I thought I had recognized great dramatic ability in his noon-day sermons. He chuckled and replied:

"I've just been preaching since I was ordained a Baptist minister. My union card would say 'Baptist.'"

Then I asked him if he would present his Baptist union card to St. Peter when he got ready to leave this earth.

"I fear St. Peter won't know about Baptist," Dr. Thurman said. He had explained earlier that his church taught no doctrine, that "God looks only at man's bared soul, stripped of everything."

Then I thought about various passages in the Bible upon which the Baptist doctrine is founded, and I asked Dr. Thurman about those passages, and he waived his answer, suggesting that I ask some of the other ministers who were standing by listening.

By that time, the conversation shifted back to the music in Dr. Thurman's Church of the Fellowship of All Peoples, when Mrs. Josephine Jones asked if "gospel songs" were sung in his church.

He replied that his church did not use "any syncretized music."

Asked if he thought that "jazzed-up music or gospel songs in the church destroyed the sacredness of the church service," Dr. Thurman replied: "That is my opinion."

The he went on to state that there had been a decided change in the music in many of the churches.

When I asked if he thought that "that change, which made some of the music used in some of our churches sound like the wails and jumps that come out of some of the taverns and night spots—if that had affected the church's attendance," the California minister threw up one hand.

"Well," he said, "you're crowding me." The group of tea guests laughed heartily with him.

Several guests were presented to him as "pioneers" in the city and one lady defended that she had not lived long enough to be a pioneer. He explained that time did not

Honored At Dinner

The members of the American Red Cross standard first aid class honored Mrs. Jessie M. Phillips Johnson, their instructor, with a dinner Wednesday night, March 25, in the Cloud Room at the Municipal airport.

A beautiful table decoration was arranged by Mrs. Mildred and her committee. Mrs. Johnson was presented a costume jewelry set by the class.

The honor roll students are: Mrs. H. Raiton, Mrs. Sadie E. Peters, Mrs. Bessie Matthews, Mrs. L. Smith, Miss Marion Grant, Mrs. Myrtle Taylor, Mrs. Geraldine Jackson, Mrs. Mildred Duke. Mrs. Johnson presented each a gift.

The following were guests: Mesdames Antonetta Hodgen, Sarah E. ett, Katherine Stewart, Catherine Eaves, Dorothy Taylor, Mary K. Monroe, Emma Gerry, May Frye, Messrs. Everett C. Matthews, George Wells, Russell Saunders.

The group later went to the home of Mrs. Duke, 125 Jefferson. A cake was prepared by Mrs. Geraldine Jackson and Mrs. Myrtle Taylor.

make one a pioneer. Here he had just been appointed, last week, to a full-time teaching post at Boston university, the first time in the school's 114-year-history to appoint a Negro.

"And, certainly you will be a pioneer," I commented, and Dr. Thurman nodded his head.

The tea for Dr. Thurman was initiated by the Rev. N. R. Olphing, pastor of Corinthian Baptist church. He thought that "it would have been a terrible thing to have an internationally known man of Dr. Thurman's caliber in Des Moines without having something in his honor."

The Corinthian pastor got the support of his officers and members and the cooperation of other ministers and representatives of their churches—and a lovely reception resulted. Many persons had a chance to meet Dr. Thurman and talk with him.

A fine interdenominational spirit was shown by all of the hosts and hostesses.

Tips To Some Last Minute Spring Shoppers: Navy Leads The Colors

BY KAY VAUGHN

New York.—(CNS)—Colors: By far the leading color for the '53 Spring is navy. It surpasses black which is in second place and every other color. You'll find navy dresses, navy costumes of wool crepe, navy lace evening gowns—just navy everywhere for '53 is a Navy Spring.

It's the Costume Look that dominates the Spring scene. You'll find from tailored to dressy suits all with that made-for-each-other look what with suit and stole, or blouses matched with suit linings. Smartest lines are the slim, straight ones, both with long and short jackets. The jackets, with or without trimming, are doubling up its extra toppers. Fabrics range from smooth-as-silk flannels to spongy wovens and don't be surprised to find as many as three textures to a costume.

Gloves: Spring gloves are playing a big role this year. In fact they tell their own fashion story and can make or break your white effect. So choose carefully. Sleeves will determine your glove length. For suits there are many versions of the shortie, and cuffed glove and for short and push up sleeves, there are dramatic-long ones.

Colors are muted so as to harmonize with most costumes. You'll find pale beiges, grayed neutrals, off whites when you want to play down your gloves. For color accents there are pinks, blues and gold tones.

As to the Easter bonnet, you've probably noted some cropping up already on the really smart women who wear straw long before Easter. Since hair is still closely cropped, your bonnet is likely to be on the diminutive side.

However, you are going to see a few huge hats for designers say they too can go with short hair. But whatever you desire, you'll find—profile, shell, pillbox, sailor—almost all with wispy veiling and spring flowers.

Demand For Art Teachers Today

The demand for art teachers is double the supply, Leonard Good, head of the art department at Drake university here said today.

"We could place twice as many art teachers each term, and salaries are higher than they have ever been," Good declared.

More than half the art students at Drake are majoring in advertising and design. The others are divided among painting, sculpture, interior decoration and art education.

This is largely because of the great demand for layout artist, camera, typographer and other artists to retouch and redraw illustrations for mail order catalogs, Good believes.

He explained that the field for artists is almost limitless. It ranges from cleaning and restoring pictures to designing practical little objects like cups and syrup pitchers.

DON'T MUFF ANY PEACE PROPOSALS

When Malenkov succeeded Stalin as the leader of the Russian government, the information reached these parts that the new head would be harder to deal with than his predecessor.

Recently, Chinese Premier Chou Enlai has sent a proposal to the UN for settlement of the Korean war. Of course, such a thing would not have been done without the approval of Russia. Other signs of cooperation including the election of a secretary of UN whose nomination required Russia's approval appear on the horizon indicating that Russian officials are in a mood to settle the cold and hot wars which have been in progress many months.

It is true that signs of peaceful settlement between the east and west have appeared before but nothing has come of them. Naturally the so-called free world is suspicious. It asked for specific proposals from China and they were forthcoming. Still the suspicion is there.

All kinds of conjecture have been indulged in by people outside of the administration in Washington as to why the change. One is that all is not going so well in the Kremlin. Frankly, we are inclined to talk too much. Some of this talk about the new proposals by Red China has been such as to make them dubious about dealing with this country. Fortunately none of those comments has come out of the Eisenhower official family.

We have had enough of this hot and cold war with Russia. The news reports and pictures coming out of Korea during the past few days have been discouraging. Fighting has been terrific and a lot of lives lost without making an appreciable gain in territory or position.

One of the great failings of the American people is that they talk and boast too much and in so doing belittle the other fellow's position. And that is exactly what our unofficial spokesmen are doing with the peace proposals submitted by China.

By all means, every intelligent avenue of peace should be explored to the end that the Korean mess and the constant threat of atomic war come to a halt. People are tired of sending their sons off to war and paying taxes to give to foreign countries who in turn use that money to sell goods they manufacture to our enemies.

ALL HONOR TO PRIVATE STANLEY

The heroism of Private Courtney L. Stanley, the Louisiana farm boy, who killed eight Chinese soldiers while guarding an officer and two other men for three hours until medical aid could reach them, brought a round of praise from his superior officers and the highest decoration within their power to award.

Men behave in various ways under fire. Some can't summon courage to stand up and fight; they seek safety and often find themselves branded as cowards. Others, like Stanley, have no fear and/or will fight even at great odds. They are the heroes. Some go far beyond the call of duty.

The Bystander hopes this young man can come through the war and return to this country safely. He deserves the highest honors his government can bestow upon him and it should be done while he is alive.

GENERALLY DES MOINES GETS THE BEST

When George Webber, now head of Radio Station KWDM was general secretary of the Des Moines YMCA, that organization sponsored a series of religious life emphasis weeks. Several outstanding speakers appeared on these interracial teams each year. Among those speakers were Dr. George E. Haynes, Bishop R. E. Jones, Drs. Mordici Johnson and S. Nelson, all of whom gave Des Moines an opportunity to appreciate outstanding characters among the Negroes of the country.

Much of the better racial understanding in Des Moines has been due to those meetings and the efforts of George Webber as leader of the YMCA movement in those days.

During Holy Week, the Des Moines Area Council of Churches has again brought to Des Moines and outstanding Christian leader, Dr. Howard Thurman. His messages are superb. His attentive audiences have filled the theatre to overflow at each meeting.

Most people today, enjoy good preaching just as they do good acting or good athletes without regard to race or color. It's a sign of progress. And the Area Council does a fine job in race relations when it provides Des Moines the opportunity to hear Dr. Thurman.

"Society seeks to destroy both of them for precisely the same reason: they are regarded as its enemy," he said.

"Therefore," he warned, whenever you see a son of God dying on a tree outside a city wall, look carefully. Beside him there is apt to be a thief."

His topics for Wednesday and Thursday were: "Death Is Not the Worst Thing;" and "Peace That Passeth Understanding."

He had to leave after the Thursday service in order to be in his own church in San Francisco for Easter Sunday.

Good Friday

Friday service at the Paramount theater will include meditations by Dr. Lewis Jacobsen, pastor of First Baptist church; Dr. Newton E. Moats, pastor of Grace Methodist church, and Prof. Charles B. Tuffer of Drake university College of the Bible.

There also will be a showing of color slides on the sixth word of the "Seven Last Words," from the Cross, narrated by Dr. B. C. Bobbitt of the Central Christian church.

the Police Department and the local courts led to the conviction "that the only method for redress against police brutality in New York City was through the intervention of the Department of Justice." The NAACP statement further charges that "the arrangement between the Department of Justice and the New York police was merely one of the methods used to thwart recourse by the citizens against violation of their rights by police officers."

The NAACP experience, the memorandum asserts, "demonstrates the need for strong and vigorous enforcement of federal civil rights laws in the North as well as in the South."

102 Enter Missouri Writing Contest

Jefferson City, Mo.—The Lincoln University School of Journalism has received 102 entries in the eighth annual Missouri High School Feature Writing contest. The contest was open this year to all high schools in Missouri, and the great bulk of the entries came from non-Negro schools. A first prize of $100 and a second prize of $50 will go to the winning writer of the 1,000-word composition on "What I Like About Missouri." Prizes will be awarded at the fifth annual Headliner Week banquet at the Lincoln (Mo.) campus, April 23.

THE DES MOINES BRANCH

NAACP Says:

This Midwest Regional Conference of the NAACP is meeting in Des Moines April 11th and 12th. A far reaching program has been set up which includes means and methods of handling civil rights and legislative matters as well as a review of the work of the national organization in general.

The highlight of the conference will be an address by Walter White, executive secretary, at Willkie House, Sunday afternoon.

The branch is anxious to solicit the cooperation of its members and friends to help make these meetings profitable and well attended.

Remember, your membership makes you a worker for the branch.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Cataracts

Do you feel that you are looking all the time through a cloudy window?

If familiar objects no longer appear as clearly to you as they used to, your trouble may be a cataract. This is a clouding of the lens of the eye, which grows more dense as the cataract progresses. It reduces vision much as if the eye were misted by a waterfall, from which it takes its name.

If you think you have a cataract, go to a qualified eye physician. He will give you a thorough examination and tell you what must be done.

The most common cause of cataracts is age. They can, of course, and do, occur at any age. Young people rarely develop cataracts. Cataracts also may be caused by injury to the lens and by such diseases as hardening of the arteries and diabetes, and by vitamin deficiency diseases and kidney disorders. Cataracts are most common after middle age is reached, as the eye lens gradually hardens and its focusing power is reduced.

Of course, not everything which interferes with your vision is a cataract. There are many other afflictions of the eye. The first thing to do is to find out what is wrong. Many eye troubles, including cataracts, can be cleared up, if treated in time. Delay may mean blindness.

The doctor will tell you if you have a cataract, or some other disorder which may be mistaken for a cataract. If his diagnosis is a cataract, he will probably prescribe surgery. If he does, don't be alarmed. In most cases, especially where the cataract is caused by age, this is a fairly simple operation. The surgeon merely removes the cloudy lens, while the patient is under local anesthesia. Usually, the stay in the hospital is relatively brief.

In our grandfather's day, it was the practice to allow the cataract to "ripen" or develop an advanced degree of density before removal was attempted. Today, surgery is so skilled and painless that such a delay is unnecessary. If you have a cataract, let your physician decide when, and if, an operation is needed. It may not be.

For further information, you can write to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, 1790 Broadway, New York 19, N.Y., for its pamphlet "What You Should Know About Cataracts."

Baseball and all the rest of the sports can stand still while the public gets ready for the fight between heavyweight champ, Rocky Marciano and Jersey Joe Walcott, who hopes to become the first man ever to regain that crown.

Since everybody is picking a winner, we will get on the wagon. We guess Rocky by another kavo, this time sooner, and hope we are wrong.

Track

Well, every year the track experts pick Roosevelt and North on the team to beat in track and then East High comes from nowhere and takes them.

This time they had to have an assist from George Brewer of North, who got himself temporarily ineligible for that one. With him in there, North might have won or finished a very close second.

Good Example Is More Effective Than Good Advice To Adolescents

Afton Smith, Assistant Professor, Iowa Child Welfare Research Station

Do not feel discouraged if your teen-ager seems to be getting out of hand. Do not imagine that your time, understanding and wise care of the past sixteen years is wasted. He probably will turn out well if you continue your wise guidance. But you must be wise.

There is a book called "Understanding Your Son's Adolescence." A revised edition has been recently published by Little, Brown & Company, Boston. This book will give the puzzled parent information and comfort.

The author points out that there is nothing strange or unusual in the personality of a rambunctious teenager. Nor is there anything queer about the quiet, anxious type.

Both types are growing out of childhood into adulthood, they are trying to meet the demands made on them by the grown-up world. And this world of ours does not look to them as if it's going to be an easy place in which to live. If they are expected to be grown-up, then grown-up they want to be; but they still have much to learn.

They need our help and they especially need our good example. The author says our good example is more effective than our good advice.

The author of the book is Dr. J. Roswell Gallagher, who has talked with hundreds of boys. The book is written about these boys. Dr. Gallagher hopes his book will encourage you too keep on trying to understand your son's adolescence. (Also your daughter's).

You will find pleasant reading in the book as well as encouragement.
