High Court Tells Lower Tribunal to Review Decision

Washington, D. C.—The supreme court Monday told a lower tribunal to review a decision that the U. S. civil rights law may not be used to punish a state prison guard for beating convicts who attempted to escape.

The decision was given by U. S. District Judge William J. Barker, of Tampa, Fla.

It was appealed to the supreme court by the Truman administration on Jan. 19, the day before President Eisenhower took over.

On March 2, the justice department said it felt the case should have been appealed first to the U. S. circuit court in New Orleans. The supreme court sent it back to the circuit court.

Interpretation

Judge Barker decided to dismiss an information filed by the justice department against J. P. Jones, captain in charge of a state road prison camp in Pinalas county, Florida.

Barker said he interpreted the information as meaning the beatings were for the purpose of disciplining the convicts because of their escape attempt.

He said the information charged no offense against any federal law.

Returned

In an unsigned opinion the supreme court said the "critical issue" raised by the government's appeal involved the correctness of the district court's construction of the information and not the district court's interpretation of the scope of the civil rights act.

In this status of the case, the supreme court said unanimously, the appeal had to be sent to the circuit court first.

Baby Seven Weeks Old Suffocates In Crib

Charles Watkins, Jr., seven-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watkins, 1145 Fourteenth place, was found suffocated in his crib about 10 a.m. Tuesday, Dr. Walter D. Anderson, Polk county coroner, said.

Dr. Anderson said the baby became entangled in sheets and clothing in the crib.

The parents said they had seen the baby alive about 3 a.m. and when they awakened at 10 a.m. they found the baby with its head under some of the material. A fire rescue squad was called, but the baby was dead when it arrived.

Delegates From Four States Attend Midwest Regional NAACP Conference Here

Delegates from branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) which held its Midwest Regional Conference here last week end at

Willkie House posed for the photographer during the Saturday session. Seventy-seven attended from Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas for the annual leadership training conference of Region Four. The theme of the conference was "Developing New Techniques in Our Program to Wipe Out Segregation and Discrimination."

The meeting closed on Sunday afternoon when Walter White of New York City, executive secretary of the NAACP, addressed the meeting. (See Story)

NAACP Will Fight Until Jimcrow Wiped Out, Walter White Tells Mass Meeting

"What would be the condition of the Negro in America if there was no NAACP to fight? What would happen to the gains that have been won?"

How long do you think those gains would last?

These were some of the queries Walter White made Sunday afternoon as he addressed the mass meeting which ended the Midwest Regional conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which met at Willkie House.

Leader of the NAACP, an organization in which he has devoted over thirty years, Mr. White reviewed some of the progress that the NAACP has made in its constant fight for the human rights of peoples in America and throughout the world.

Though "we do not have the burnings at stake and the blatant and open injustices," there are more subtle ones and "far too many people are willing to sit down and say the problem is being solved and I don't have to do anything."

Listing some of the recent NAACP battles, Mr. White commented upon the Jimcrow educational suits heard before the supreme court last winter. The supreme court delayed its opinions which are expected to be handed down soon.

Hopes for Victory

"I have been asked how I thought the supreme court would rule. I don't know. Some believe that we will win all five suits. Some think that not—that the court will rule with us on some of the cases in Kansas and the District of Columbia—and that it will give a breathing space to other states."

"I don't want you to think that the fight will be over—that all segregation in public schools will be ended," Mr. White said as he hoped for a victory in the wiping out of Jimcrow in the public schools.

"That is not true," he commented as he pointed out how "the pattern of segregation in housing will play a big part in public school integration."

"Even if we should win a complete victory, it does not mean that our enemies are going to give up," he said as he related that some of the enemies have "threatened everything to mob violence and the abolishing of education for Negroes and Whites."

"Don't let that worry you," Mr. White consoled as he told how the same threats were made during the NAACP's campaign for the rights of Negroes to vote in many places in the South.

"Your NAACP will never stop fighting until every vestige of segregation is wiped out."

Mr. B. Fails To Charm Traffic Court; Pays $300 Fine

New York. — (CNS) — Mr. Billy Eckstine, for whom many a teenager will swoon, found New York's Traffic Court a bit chilly this week and the Chief Magistrate—John M. Murtagh—actually in a lecturing mood. Thus for his six traffic offenses, Mr. B. had to part with $300, a maximum fine.

Billy pleaded guilty to the six traffic offenses—one for speeding and the other five for illegal parking—which were dated as far back as August 1950. But he insisted that friends must have been using his car for he himself didn't remember them. He did remember the speeding ticket and said he left for Europe the day after he got it and that was why he was so long answering the charges.

The unimpressed Magistrate rapped: "We waited for you nearly three years and sent out dozens of notices. Our traffic courts were almost destroyed by public conduct of this kind."

David Shaw, Retired Railroad Man Dies

Services for David Shaw, 87, who died at his home in West Des Moines April 12, were held Wednesday at the West Des Moines First Baptist church. Burial was at Glendale cemetery.

Mr. Shaw had been ill a year. He was born at Sedalia, Mo., and had lived in Des Moines 36 years. He was retired janitor for the Rock Island railroad and had been a deacon of the First Baptist church.

Survivors include his wife, Lola, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Jeorgina Davis of Des Moines.

The motion finally adopted instructed Dr. Riley H. Pittman, secretary-consultant, to investigate the civil service rule, decide whether it appeared to be discriminatory, and report back to the commission.

FUND BEING SOUGHT TO GAG WITNESSES IN COP'S KILLING

New York. — (CNS) — As if it weren't rotten enough that three Negroes are being held for killing a very likable cop, Patrolman Samuel Katz, as he broke up a holdup of a Harlem crap game, the news is out that a $20,000 slush fund is being organized to "buy off and frighten" witnesses in the case. The money is believed being raised by drug addicts and dealers.

Assistant District Attorney Alexander Herman made these charges after noting that one of his witnesses is in deadly fear of the defendants. He said: "We have it from a reliable source that certain persons are organizing a fund to buy off and frighten off certain witnesses in this case so that they won't be available when we need them."

Mrs. Jane Morrow Spaulding Selected Aide To Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby

Washington, D. C.—Mrs. Jane Morrow Spaulding of Charleston, W. Va., April 14 was appointed assistant to Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare.

Mrs. Spaulding, an executive board member and chairman of finance of the National Association of Colored Women, has more than 20 years experience in social welfare work.

She served four years as state director of Negro relief in West Virginia and represented the United States Council of Women at a conference of the International Council of Women in 1951 at Athens, Greece. She founded an institution for child care in West Virginia and was instrumental in establishment of other institutions in that state.

During the 1952 presidential campaign, she served in the women's division of national headquarters of Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon.

Mrs. Spaulding is a native of Kentucky and graduate of Fisk university. She succeeds Mrs. Anna Arnold Hedgeman who will remain with the department a month, to assist in the transfer of duties.

Rules Against Southern Pacific's Segregation of Passengers Going South

Los Angeles. —The practice of the Southern Pacific Railroad in segregating south-bound Negro passengers boarding trains in California has been declared "an illegal denial of equality" under California law by Municipal Court Judge Lucius T. Green.

In response to a suit brought by the Los Angeles branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People on behalf of four plaintiffs, Judge Green filed an opinion and an order on April 7 banning the railroad's discriminatory practice. In so doing he overruled 15 jurisdictional objections raised by attorneys for the railroad. The ruling was on the company's motion to dismiss the NAACP complaint.

On its Sunset Limited, Southern Pacific has followed a practice of segregating Negro passengers out of Los Angeles in a single car apart from white passengers. Resenting an effort to so segregate them, J. E. Whitmore, Carrie Williams, James Martin, Sr., and Mae E. Dupont appealed to the branch and filed a complaint against the company. They were represented by Herbert W. Simmons, Jr., a member of the branch's legal redress committee.

"The basic violation charged is a denial of equal treatment," Judge Green's opinion asserted. "This comprehends in the broader sense every factor—physical, psychological or otherwise that such denial may conceivably produce. It has been held unqualifiedly by the courts of this state that racial segregation is discriminatory and a violation of said civil rights section."

"In our minds and to our way of thinking upon existing laws in this state the full and equal provisions of the said civil rights section are not at all satisfied by separate and otherwise equal accommodations. Anything short of a full measure of equality upon exactly the same conditions and restrictions applicable alike to all other passengers regardless of race, creed and color, is an illegal denial of equality."

Denying a motion to strike, Judge Green gave the railroad company ten days in which to file an answer.

Noted Psychiatrist Finds No Unpleasant Incidents In Delaware Integration

New York. —The admission of Negro students to previously all-white schools in Delaware created no unpleasant incidents, reports Dr. Frederic Wertham, noted psychiatrist and director of the LaFarge Clinic in New York City.

"Despite all the adults' dire forebodings and despite the mistaken theories of some psychologists, Negro and non-Negro children adjusted on the whole constructively and in a friendly manner to the new situation," he writes in the March issue of the Journal of Educational Sociology.

"The abolition of segregation removes a handicap that interferes with the self-realization and social adjustment of the child," asserts Dr. Wertham in his article, entitled "Psychiatric Observations on the Abolition of School Segregation."

Dr. Wertham describes experiments conducted in connection with disturbing the peace, and one man with intoxication.

the suit against segregation in public schools in Delaware, one of the five school segregation cases argued before the United States Supreme Court last December by attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. As a result of tests given in 1951 to children in the schools involved, Dr. Wertham says, segregation was found to create potential mental disorders and thus to constitute a public health problem.

In February of this year, a research team of staff members of his clinic went to Delaware and retested twenty-two children who had been transferred from segregated to integrated schools. "All of the Negro children of this study who changed from segregated to integrated schools made distinctly better academic progress," the psychiatrist reveals. "The most potent reason is emotional motivation. The conflicts caused by state-ordained segregation were removed."

Council Asked to Require Bidders for City Business To Eliminate Hiring Bias

The city council was asked Friday to require that bidders for municipal business do not discriminate in hiring employees because of race, color, creed or national origin.

The request came from the mayor's commission on human rights and fair employment practices as part of a broader statement of policy it wants the city council to make.

Adopts Policy

Sometimes called the Des Moines FEPC, the commission recently met with council members to discuss a renewed expression of support by that elective body and a "reaffirmation of policy."

Friday the commission adopted a 4-page statement along lines suggested by Dr. Riley H. Pittman, its secretary-consultant.

The council will be asked to follow proposals in the statement in drafting and approving an official resolution of support for the commission, which it created in January, 1951.

Six Objectives

City bid specifications against discrimination by contractors or their sub-contractors is one of six objectives the council is asked to set up for the commission.

Harold A. Goldman, president of Thriftway Stores, Inc., told fellow commission members he thought it provided a concrete means of moving against discrimination in the city.

Others of the objectives would have to do with encouraging employers, labor unions and employees to eliminate discrimination.

One would seek the aid of civic, social, educational and religious groups in educating their members and the general public against unfair practices and attitudes.

Another recommendation by the commission is that its seven members be appointed to staggered instead of simultaneous 3-year terms.

Quiz City Civil Service About Request for Photos With Exam Applications

The mayor's commission on human rights and fair employment practices (FEPC) Friday asked the city civil service commission why it requires photographs with examination applications.

But it voted down a motion by Member James B. Morris to ask the commission to defer a Wednesday written promotional examination for police sergeant because of the photographs rule.

Morris, an attorney and publisher of the Iowa Bystander, a weekly newspaper, said the federal civil service long ago had dropped the picture requirement.

Calls It Subterfuge

He charged the local rule was a "subterfuge" practiced by the civil service commission to avoid certifying as eligible for appointment persons to whose appearance they objected.

Morris attacked the picture rule generally, but said he was particularly concerned with its inclusion in promotional exam applications.

"Why in the world," he asked,

"should a man already working for the city be required to provide a picture of himself?"

Morris said several Negro policemen have the five or more years of service necessary to make them eligible for the sergeants' examination.

(Part of the civil service examination procedure is oral. Applicants who have passed written tests must appear before the commission for questioning. Oral as well as written examination results figure in the candidate's final grade.)

Asked Delay

Morris moved that the city council and civil service commission be asked to withdraw the picture rule, and that the commission be asked to defer the sergeants' examination.

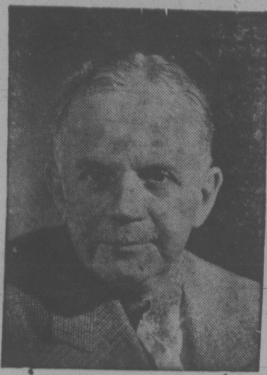

His idea was that it could be scheduled later, with no application picture required.

Other commission members opposed the motion, saying they believed the civil service body should be given a chance to explain the picture rule.

"Their reasons may be perfectly gation is ended—is wiped out wherever it may exist in America. "People have asked me where the Negro teachers are going to teach," Mr. White said as he told of threats being made in some states to fire the Negro teachers if the jimcrow school suits are won.

"Don't let that worry you. Unless a Negro teacher is qualified to teach a child of any race, she has no ability teaching Negro children."

"Teachers are going to teach on the basis of their abilities in the schools all over the United States," Mr. White assured.

He read statistics from a recent survey regarding the lack of teachers which was made by a committee from the National Education Association's commission of teachers and professionals.

The survey revealed that over one million new pupils will be enrolled in school this fall; that there will be a need of 160,000 new teachers.

Of the 35,636 new teachers who will graduate this June, many will be drafted; some will go into other higher paying professions.

"Here is a tremendous need," Mr. White pointed out. He explained that the Negro teacher will be teaching because other jobs in other avenues of work are not open to him and many will be forced to teach. "So they will have to use these school teachers."

"To provide equal but separate school facilities in southern states would cost millions of dollars, and the South cannot pay this. The people of Iowa and other states will be forced to pay for the deep prejudices of the south."

Shortcomings

Mr. White told how democracy's shortcomings are being "thrown back in our faces by the dark-skinned peoples of the world."

In his world tour with the Town Hall group, he found "tremendous skepticism, even cynical disbelief, of anything said by an American about civil rights."

A consultant to the American delegation at the San Francisco, Cal., conference at which the United Nations was founded, Mr. White strongly criticized the administration's announcement last week through Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, that the U. S. would not sign the U. N. human rights treaty.

"This means we are saying to the world that we are reneging on a moral obligation and giving up entirely our stand for civil rights, he said."

"It is one of the greatest setbacks to democracy I have seen in my 34 years of work with the NAACP, he added, and described the withdrawal of American support from the treaty "perfect propaganda for the Communists."

'Works On Paper'

"Some people get the idea that democracy really works—and it does on paper," said Gloster B. Current of New York City, director of NAACP branches.

He said that the NAACP had spent the past 44 years "improving democracy," and that the 77 delegates who attended the regional conference had been "devising ways and means of getting the work done."

Herbert L. Wright of New York City, national secretary for the NAACP, urged adults to work with young people, encourage them to go to state universities and to prepare to live in integrated societies.

"Assure the future of an NAACP program by having an active, well-informed body of young people participating," Mr. Wright said.

Makes Award

Mr. Smalls, who gives two national trophies to spur memberships in the NAACP adult and youth branches, awarded gold NAACP pins to Mrs. Bessie Greene, publicity and housing chairman for the Des Moines branch and the regional conference, and Miss Marie Ross of the Iowa By-stander in "recognition of outstanding work" for the NAACP.

Other Features

The Rev. Ben C. Bobbitt, pastor of Central Christian church, gave the invocation; Miss Ruby Holton, City Council woman, a welcome address.

Musical numbers were offered by the Catholic Women's League chorus and the St. Paul AME church choir. Mrs. Clifford Bayles led an anthem. Guest soloists were Mrs. Ivory Winston of Ottumwa and C. R. Ahern of Des Moines.

The financial appeal was led by Luther T. Glanton, Jr. The Rev. John E. Hunter gave the benediction.

RED FEATHER PEN

C.W. SCHNEIDER

This year for the first time, the Golden Age Clubs of Des Moines are sponsoring a Golden Age Week. This is being done in an effort to acquaint more senior citizens with programs now being offered in their behalf.

PROCLAMATION.—In a proclamation signed by Mayor Allan W. Denny, designating April 12 through 18 as Golden Age Week, he stated,

"Whereas, it is an established fact that Iowa ranks second in the nation having persons over 65 years of age, and that the census figures show that throughout the country, one in 13 is past 65 years of age.

Whereas, older citizens should have an opportunity to participate in community life and express themselves in some form of creative activity, to assist, according to their ability, in projects for their own and others welfare, and to work together as a group, and with other groups in accomplishing these ends.

Now, therefore, I, Mayor of the City of Des Moines, Iowa, do designate the week of April 12 to 18, 1953 as Golden Age Week and do urge that our older citizens in Des Moines be given appreciation by all individuals, groups, agencies and organizations in the future and that special recognition be noted during this week."

The 11 Golden Age Clubs are sponsored by the City Recreation Commission and the Community Chest and Council of Social Agencies. These Golden Age Clubs are open to all older men and women in the Greater Des Moines area.

The Clubs meet weekly during the daytime, affording an opportunity for the older people to meet friends and enjoy a social afternoon. There is a wide range of activities such as checkers, dominoes, card games, handicraft, square dancing, music movies, hobby shows and parties. No dues are charged for participation in the Golden Age Clubs.

Spiritual Column

By Elder Charles W. McClain
Spiritual Israelite Minister

"Don't You See?" Jesus answered and said unto Nicodemus: Marvel not that I said unto thee, ye must be born again.

Except a man be born of water and spirit, he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God. Not only he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God, but he cannot even see the Kingdom of God.

That which is born of flesh is flesh: And that which is born of the spirit is spirit.

The wind bloweth where it listeth and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh and whither it goeth: so is everyone that is born of the spirit.

We must become new creatures in Christ Jesus, when we are born in the spiritual birth. For Spiritual means pure and Holy and Heavenly minded.

Apostle Paul said: Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: Old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. II Corinthians 5: 17. AMEN

For this weeks Spiritual uplift, Read Galatians 5: 22 to 26.

'On Records'

By MARY RUTLEDGE

Hello—did you digest Little Red Hooding Ride—Bopped Yet? Well, back to the usual—new—by the stax yet—you know—Records. Follow Me:

Bill Doggett—on organ—yeah—and nice. Moondust—smoother than Basie—and to finish up the last few bands, some mellow sax work, real moody. Early Bird, livelier tune—moves. Swallows—sheer boys from the outside. They Laugh, though they feel like crying. For why? Our Love Is Dying, for real.

Fats Domino invites you—where—Mardi Gras in New Orleans, while there, We're Going To The River. Jandy Jackson's Got His Application, Baby! Line forms to the left, chicks. Application for what? Trouble. That's what the sign says. And it sure brings you down.

Lloyd Price wants to know What's The Matter Now? Lost love—that's news? Drop it, catch one and say So Long. Even up, that way.

Sonny Thompson is all set. He's got an Insulated Sugar. Lucky dad. And with this, he does it. Clean Sweep.

King Pleasure, the original. He's jumpin' With Symphony Sid. He's been jumpin' so hard he's even spinning like a top—Red Top.

T. J. Fowler—Have you ever seen a Camel Walk? Well, listen! He can do it, and, too, he makes the Gold Rush. Watch it—fun, huh!

Roy Milton—keeps askin' her. Don't You Remember Me, Baby? Shake loose and give it a thought—cause Someday you will remember. Memories play trix. Kenzie Moore can't figure it. I Don't Know Why, either. I ain't sheer, I guess. Oh-Well, just Let It Lay. Let's have a ball and worry later.

To change the mood, let's look in on the quieter side for a moment. We hear the Soulstirrs doing a very fine job on Blessed Be The Name Of The Lord and on the reverse, they sing Jesus Paid The Debt.

Enough is enough. Later, MARY.

What is a Baby's Rattle For, If Not To Be Pounded Against Side of His Crib?

Afton Smith, Assistant Professor, Iowa Child Welfare Research Station

"I never let my baby bang his rattle against his crib," said a young mother. "I think he should be taught from the beginning to respect property; and the younger the child, the better he learns everything."

These are something wrong with this well-intentioned mother's reasoning. A baby is not ready to learn everything. Children are only ready to learn certain things at certain ages.

Suppose the rattle is taken from his hands every time he starts to pound it joyously against the side of his crib. He may cry lustily every time he sees mother coming with that determined expression in her eyes. He may, perhaps, give up trying to find out what he can do with the things around him. It is pretty discouraging when everything a baby handles roughly is taken from him.

He is denied the opportunity for practice in the control of his muscles. He misses the sense of mastery which is the first step toward satisfaction in the achievements of later years. These experiences are more important in babyhood than respect for property.

This does not mean that the baby should be allowed to destroy everything he touches for the pure joy of mastery. Only those toys which are intended for hard usage should be given him. We may buy a crib with one of the modern hard finishes which resists hammering and is also safe for the baby to lick and bite.

Save the fragile things for the age when he can understand the meaning of respect for property. If he begins to kick his truck around at 2 years or before, he can be taught to use it properly.

What is a baby's rattle for, if not

Some choice speeches were made during workshop sessions of the Midwest Regional NAACP conference which met at Willkie House during the week end.

Harvey Parham of St. Louis, Mo., president of the Missouri State NAACP branches:

"In Missouri, the problems there you don't have to get a range-finder to see. For, everything you see is a problem—housing problems, hospital problems, school problems, public accommodations and many others."

Mr. Parham told of a recent case, who was found shot not far from the Negro hospital. He was carried five miles to the white hospital, and upon arriving there was discovered to be a Negro. He was taken back to the Negro hospital to be pronounced dead.

About public schools, Mr. Parham said that "in some places in Missouri there are no public schools. Children ride 35 to 50 miles each way to go to a school."

"Those are some of the problems we have in this great democracy of the U.S.A. What are we to do? This is the $64 question."

"So we are here in the city of Des Moines because Des Moines is a fine place to have a conference," spoke Gloster B. Current of New York City, director of NAACP branches, as he "sounded a keynote" to help put America in tune.

"We are here because in this area of the country, we find a confused pattern—a mixed pattern. We find great progress and no progress."

"After you leave Des Moines and go into the rural areas you will find some of the same patterns of Jim Crow as you will find in Arkansas, Missouri and Kansas."

"In the smaller cities, people do not do as much about their problems as they do in big cities," he said as he pointed out public housing as the "number one problem in this section."

Mr. Current talked about "Jim Crow that exists in community after com-

Community in America" and urged that something be done.

Turning to racial stereotypes, he commented:

"One would have thought that the minstrel show would have been buried long ago in America."

Mr. Current listed that minstrel shows were still in the American Legion, Methodist and Baptist churches—"when national bodies have come out to say stop insulting people."

"These stereotypes and these notions that we find on radio and television sets and in high school acts are no longer accepted as the way to treat our brother."

N. P. Dotson of Chicago, Ill., a member of the Federal Housing Authority, was one of the speakers on the housing panel of the conference.

Ranking housing as the "number one problem" of the minority groups, Mr. Dotson remained in Des Moines to interview real estate dealers and builders this week.

"It will be difficult for integrated education to work with Negroes and minority groups forced to live in segregated areas."

To take part in the housing panel Saturday, Mrs. Ann Robinson of the federal housing offices, ate breakfast at her home in Washington, D. C., Saturday morning, caught the 8:30 a.m. plane; ate lunch in Des Moines, addressed the housing panel at Willkie House, caught the 5:15 p.m. plane and was due back in Washington at 2 a.m. Sunday.

"Oh, I couldn't spend the night in Des Moines. I have two teen-agers and I'd like to spend part of my weekend with them," she told local hostesses who tried to persuade her to stay over for the Saturday night of fun and fashion at the Billiken.

One of the shortest speeches at the opening of the conference was made by NAACP Vice President Ike Smalls who said:

"I believe in talking less and doing more." Then he presented among new members for the NAACP, the membership of his eight-month-old granddaughter.

THE FIGHT FOR EQUALITY MUST GO ON

Not only must men fight to obtain rights but they must also fight to maintain them. Walter White, speaking at the Region IV Conference of the NAACP Sunday, said that there was great danger that people might relax in their fight against discrimination and injustices because the goal to be attained seemed almost in sight.

This has been suggested by the Bystander before for it has observed among the younger group coming along a lack of enthusiasm to keep the pressure on for full citizenship and equality.

The Youngster today has a better chance in every respect: better and more jobs, more pay, a better chance for an education and to improve himself, a better chance to enjoy what he earns.

These things have come about because of the work which pioneers began years ago. One generation after the other has taken up the torch and carried it high. The present generation must be no exception.

Of course what Walter White said was true in all communities. But this apparent apathy must not be allowed to continue because enemies of democracy are not all Communists by any means.

DON'T EXPECT MIRACLES AT ONCE

There is a disposition upon the part of even NAACP officials to accuse President Eisenhower of moving too slow on civil rights. Democrats are expected to use such criticism even though they know that in comparison with what the late President Roosevelt and former President Truman did, he is moving like an express train.

Mr. Eisenhower has been in office three months and has struck down one type of discrimination—Army school segregation—which has been fought for years. President Roosevelt's first act affecting Negroes came with the order banning discrimination in employment on the basis of race and occurred in 1941—eight years after he had been in office.

Just as was the case with President Roosevelt, Mr. Eisenhower has a host of matters involving world and national problems which must be solved and like the labor and farm issues we are not suffering.

BETTER LEADERSHIP NEEDED ON CAPITOL HILL

The people of Iowa have had a pretty good opportunity to observe the present legislature and after adjournment on April 21 will evaluate just what it has accomplished.

Much time has been spent in the battle over colored oleo, the sale of beer for consumption off the premises and a few other measures which should have been disposed of long ago.

For the past three sessions, an FEP measure has been introduced. The first two got nowhere. The one this year rated a public hearing before the labor committee but the committee never took a vote on reporting it out; in fact it is understood that the chairman could not get a meeting to take up the bill nor did the sub-committee to which it was referred do anything other than sit on it until all bills were referred to the sitting committee for burial as is true of most bills.

The majority in the legislature is composed of farmers and small town people but the laws passed seem to be controlled by the big interests who lobby liberal legislation like FEP and law cost having to death.

Frankly, the liberal people need strong liberal leadership on capitol hill in both the legislature and executive branches of the government. And until there is a change the real estate boards and the like will continue to tell the little boys how to vote—and they do call the tunes.

Iowa Bounty Payments Show Strong Increase

Fox, coyote, crow, and other bounties netted Iowa hunters and trappers $145,663 last year, the State Conservation Commission announced today. This is nearly a 50 per cent increase over the 1951 bounty figure of $99,496.

Leading the list of bounty payments were the 58,483 foxes that were submitted for payments of $120,508. Coyotes were second in importance, with $12,570 paid for 1,851 of the little wolves.

Pocket gophers brought a total of $9,285 and $1,451 was paid for crows. A figure that may be surprising to many Iowans is the $436 paid for rattlesnake bounties.

Soph Jinz To Plague Joe Black?

New York.—(CNS)—Nothing seems to be going right for Joe Black these days. Just this weekend in the first game with the Yankees, Joe was sent in as a pinch runner. The fleet of foot athlete got cut down trying to stretch a double into a triple. Then when Duke Snider hit his two run homer, the game could have been all tied up had not Joe gotten erased from the base. So the Dodgers lost by a score 5-4.

Black has not been getting his lumps only as a pinch runner. Its his pitching for which he's famous and which has been sadly amiss all Spring. Dressen and all Dodger brass keep telling you not to worry but still Joe's hit and hit solidly.

"All Black needs is more work and I haven't been able to give it to him," explains Charlie. "He'll be all right. There's nothing wrong with his arm. We'll give him plenty of batting practice work and he'll be just as tough as he was last year when the games count."

But so far Joe has allowed 13 runs and 27 hits in just 25 innings. This is not only a far cry from last year's form but it's got everyone bringing up the sophomore records of Jim Konstanty and Joe Page, the brilliant relievers who did so miserably their second year. Black himself isn't too worried. After all, he says, he's a late starter and was so last year. Just wait until the season's on its way and everything will be okay.

How to Cut Square Opening

TO CUT a square or rectangular opening with round corners in a piece of wood or similar board, holes of the proper radius should be drilled at the corners. Then you can saw straight down from one hole to the next. This will assure that the opening will be of the dimensions wanted and that the corners will have the correct radius. To cut a similar opening with square shoulders, use a similar technique, drilling small-diameter holes at the corners with their outer edges tangent to the sides of the rectangle. Proceed as above. Then square off the small arc in each corner with a file. — Illustration, courtesy of Popular Mechanics.

THE DES MOINES BRANCH

NAACP Says:

It happens all too often that individuals play tricks on the honest when the latter, in an attempt to be charitable, are hoodwinked into following foolish programs. And dictators are good governors as long as they are good but it is too much of a chance to take to let dictators govern.

This week, the Civil Service Commission is giving an examination for promotion in the police department. And in spite of the fact that an applicant must have been on the police force five years, he must accompany his application with a photograph.

Over the years, liberal groups have fought the use of photographs for the purpose of identification in competitive examinations. The state-bar examination procedure is by numbers. History has taught that in a great many instances qualified persons have been flunked in an examination because those in authority did not want them to pass. U. S. Civil Service examinations make no such requirements. Just why the Des Moines Civil Service Commission should continue this antiquated method of identification which breeds suspicion among whites as well as Negroes alike of the honesty of an examination when the city itself is a creature of fair employment practices has not been explained satisfactorily.

The NAACP realizes that our civil service commission today is far ahead of some of those in the past in the matters of impartial examinations and decisions, but it cannot understand why the present commission continues to hang on to the dead cats which tend to keep people suspicious. A burnt child dreads fire. We have been burnt by this and similar fires long enough.

The branch takes this opportunity to thank all of its members and friends who helped to make the Regional Conference a success. It was one of the best in history.

HEALTH FOR ALL

MEASLES

By the first week in April there were 3,206 cases of measles reported to the Division of Vital Statistics of the Iowa State Department of Health. This number, compared with the 1,524 cases for the same period last year indicates that 1953 is a measles year in Iowa.

We are now at the peak of the epidemic, said Dr. Ralph Heeren, director of the division of preventable diseases of the Iowa State Department of Health, but cases will probably occur on into May. He said the disease may be a very serious one and can cause death.

Measles is most serious in children under one year of age and in children weakened by diabetes, rheumatic fever, and other diseases.

In these cases it is advisable to give injections of gamma globulin which can ward off the disease if given within three days after exposure to measles. Later than three days, the injection can lighten the case but not prevent it altogether.

Dr. Heeren warns, however, that there is a limited supply of gamma globulin available and it must be divided between cases of measles, infectious hepatitis, and later, it will be used for poliomyelitis prophylaxis. He said doctors should be careful in limiting the use of the serum to persons to whom measles probably be a serious illness.

The first signs of measles are a cold and slight fever. Three or four days later a rash appears. A cough usually accompanies measles and may last longer than the cold or rash.

If a child has symptoms of measles, he should be put to bed in a room by himself, not only to prevent the spread of measles but to prevent other infections from reaching him which may be carried by apparently well people. Measles weakens the matches at KRNT you have seen
